Vets Propose Blood Bank for Community Use in Emergencies

The creation of a community blood bank for the people of Hicksville, providing a source of blood for the use of any resident in time of emergency, was proposed this week by the William M. Gouse, Jr., Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States. The idea is being presented to the community with a request for comments and reaction.

The plan was discussed at the VFW Post meeting, Monday night, and won the immediate endorsement of the ex-servicemen. They have authorized Garrett Korfitzen of 132 First St., Hicksville, to investigate the possibilities and to solicit suggestions and community opinion. Korfitzen, a past commander and World War II veteran, is in charge of the blood bank activity already in operation in the Post.

It is tentatively proposed, subject to further expressions from the rest of the community, that a credit of blood in the Queens Blood Bank at Jamaica which services 20 hospitals on the island be established by local volunteer donations of blood. Then in time of emergency, when there is a need for transfusions, residents by application through their physician would draw against the credit.

The VFW Posts of the County at present have a like set-up for members and their families. Korfitzen now proposes that a plan be developed as a truly community-wide project.

It is suggested that a Community Blood Bank Council be organized with one representative from every society and organization in Hicksville. This Council would select the leader or chairman of the group and a small, workable executive committee. The Council member would obtain the cooperation of the organizations they

LICENSE TAB OFFICE OPEN THIS SATURDAY

The Motor Vehicle Bureau at 64 Jerusalem Avenue, Hicksville, will be open Saturday, Jan. 29, until 12 noon for sale of 1949 license plate tabs. The 1948 registrations for most types of vehicles expire next Monday, Jan. 31.

A total of 6,250 '49 tabs were sold at the Hicksville bureau since the first of the year, it was learned Saturday morning.

represent, publicize the plan and obtain the volunteer donors.

It is further proposed that arrangements be made to have a local blood-letting session, much like those held in Hicksville under Red Cross auspices during the War. As a result the minimum number of plate tabs would be collected and a credit in the bank established. As withdrawals were made from the bank, more local volunteers would be encouraged to maintain the blood bank's credit.

Any individual or organization interested in the proposal of the VFW Post is asked to contact Korfitzen at Hicksville 3-1453, evenings, or the Mid-Island Herald at Hicksville 3-1400.

March of Dimes Getting Underway

The March of Dimes drives in the mid-island area got underway last week as local chairmen were named and plans to meet the Nassau County quota of $150,000 were outlined. Collection boxes have been placed in local business places and schools.

There will be no definite quotas set for Hicksville, Bethpage, Plainview, Jericho and Island Trees this year, it was announced from campaign headquarters in Garden City. Residents are requested to give generously to a cause that will help many and is at present aiding in the recovery of a local child.

An 11-year-old Jericho girl who was stricken recently with infantile paralysis has received several hundred dollars worth of medical care at St. Charles Hospital, Port Jefferson, through the March of Dimes fund. Latest reports from the hospital reveal that the Jericho child is improving rapidly.

Mrs. Arthur Aracil of 19 Underhill Ave., Hicksville, is chairman of the Hicksville drive. She will be assisted by Mrs. Francis Aracil of 15 Underhill Ave., Hicksville.

Community Concert Member Drive Concludes On Saturday

The Hicksville Community Concert Association membership drive closes this coming Saturday night and more than 100 volunteers who are now calling upon their friends and neighbors have high hopes of achieving their goal of 800 members, adult and student, before then. Early ticket sale was brisk.

The drive was officially opened with a dinner meeting of campaign workers and captains held Monday night at the Methodist Church. Donald Andrews, representative of Community Concerts, outlined the campaign procedure.

Similar drives in nearby communities have recently sold out. Oyster Bay concluded a very successful drive last week and achieved its goal of 900 members without difficulty. Previously Freeport had sold out and this week a campaign in underway in Huntington.

Contest In April For Fire Official

With two candidates nominated, a contest for the office of second assistant chief of the Hicksville Fire Department in the April election is certain, it was learned today.

Arthur Maxey, Jr., of Co. No. 1 has been named for second assistant and so has Edward Schluter, Jr., of Co. No. 3. Fred Master, Sr., is apparently not a candidate for re-election for chief and Daniel Munch has been nominated for that office.

Sanford Weiss is the unopposed candidate for first assistant chief. He is second assistant at present.

Arthur Stirrat of West Cherry Street, Hickville, was elected president of the Little Theatre Workshop at a meeting December 30. Edward Shiffert of Roosevelt Field was elected vice-president; Miss Lydia Sarli of Division Ave., Hickville, secretary-treasurer; and Dr. Philip Rubenstein of 67 Broadway, Hickville, director. Stirrat appointed Mrs. Betty Chesire of Plainview as chairman of play-finding committee and Miss Terry Gottlieb of St. Albans, chairman of publicity.

The Little Theatre Workshop was honored at a dinner, Saturday, Jan. 8, at Roosevelt Field Inn. During the dinner Stirrat, on behalf of the Workshop members, presented gifts to outgoing president, John Havens of Mineola, and Director Rubenstein. The gifts were a token of the group's appreciation for the work the two men have done toward the success of the Little Theatre Workshop during the past four years.

The Little Theatre Workshop meets every Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the Roosevelt Field Inn. More members are needed for the productions, especially men, as most of the plays call for a large male cast.

Abuse of Authority

By NICK ECONOMOULY

(The views expressed are those of the writer and not necessarily of the HERALD.—Editor.)

TO USE a slightly hackneyed but highly applicable expression, power carries with it the seeds of corruption. This holds true for the power of corporation executive, army sergeant, boy scout leader, and even the school teacher.

This isn't to say that power inevitably corrupts (there are plenty of examples to the contrary), but only that the possibility, the temptation, is always there. The biggest block to abuse of power, of course, is individual character—the realization that position carries with it extra responsibility, the humility that comes with the knowledge that in a democracy such power is granted by the people voluntarily, can be withdrawn quickly if it isn't devoted to the needs of the people.

All of this, as Mitchell Dawson points out in his excellent Who's Wrong With The Law? (The People, Politics, and the Politicians; Christensen and Kirkpatrick), holds equally true for police power: The young policeman just out of training school, idealistic, eager to advance in rank, suddenly finds himself in a situation no less frustrating than that of the reformer: he is asked, in effect, to help cure society-of-its evils (in the form of ordinance and law violations), and to do it whenever possible with tact and diplomacy. The task is still more difficult in Hicksville, which has long been in the throes of an ordinance violation habit, and in which an ordinary drive down Broadway once seemed more like a dash through an obstacle course. (It was always surprising to discover later that all four fenders were still properly attached.)

Admittedly, the job is tough. And policemen, like the rest of us, are only human. Realizing this much we can understand why abuses of police power occasionally take place. It in no way excuses those abuses, however.

WHAT I AM referring to, of course, is a series of incidents in the past few months in which Hicksville residents have been subjected to indignities ranging from being sworn at for stalling at an intersection to being threatened with a ticket, not for any apparent infraction of the law, but because, as one policeman cracked, "I have a hundred of these things to get rid of this week."

Two things should be made perfectly clear: these remarks are not to be construed as applying generally to all policemen serving in the community—on the contrary, most of the policemen here have done their job with considerable skill and devotion. It is the minority again which detracts somewhat from the overall good record of the entire force. And secondly, I am in no way objecting to efforts on the part of police to enforce the law—that's their job and more power to them. I am objecting, however, to the manner in which a few are attempting to do it.

Finally, the job of law enforcement demands that the police have the respect and confidence of the community in which they serve. The way to do this is through the use of tact and (perish the thought) courtesy, and through the conscientious effort of every policeman to gain that confidence. To arouse the undying ire and resentment of a community would seem to be the best way in the world to hamper, not help, the job of law enforcement.

I MUST ADMIT to being thoroughly intrigued by the new car situation as it has been unfolding in the past few weeks.

What interests me most is the fabulous amount of work being done by publicity men to advertise the fact that new models are rolling off the lines, and to encourage people to place their orders for the latest that automotive genius can produce. All of this while most low-priced car producers are still struggling to fill orders placed months and sometimes years ago.

From this corner, it looks as if one of two things is likely to happen: (1) steel production will finally rise and cars will be turned out at a rate approximately that of Al Capp's schmoos, or (2) car manufacturers will point to long lists of people waiting for cars, recall the law of supply and demand, and jack up prices a few more dollars.

It will be interesting to watch the situation as it develops in the ensuing months.

The Marshall Plan is a distaster because you are financing the socialization of Britain.—William Craven-Ellis, former Member of Parliament.

Whatever we may face from a long-range position, for the next year or two we are assured of business at a very big level. A tremendous volume of money is going into expansion.—Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman, General Motors Corp.

Our Readers Say . . .

SITUATION WANTED

To the Editor:

I see you have a spanking new newspaper on the stands this past week. I am an old newspaper man myself and I get very enthusiastic where brand new rags are concerned.

Let me congratulate you on your first edition. It has all the appearance of a weekly that would fit perfectly into the life of a community the size of Hicksville and its surrounding territory.

As an old pressman as mentioned above, I was wondering where you could find a small space some where for a little gossip column. Maybe you could squeeze me in between the births and deaths—which is a mighty good place to be in, come to think of it!

My qualifications stem from wide experience in writing breezy stuff, at the corner of 42nd and Fifth, and in several small communities throughout the country. You will find me equally at home writing about world affairs, the state of the nation, Joe DiMaggio's temperamental heel callosities; Mrs. Zilch's little tea and crumpit brawl and/or cake and cookie recipes, one of which I enclose. You will note that it is identical with the one on the back of Silbury's Old Granny's Little Puffs and Scrapple Flour sack, the five pound size, except for the tablespoon of patching plaster I have added.

If it is imperative for your reading public I might occasionally toss in my pick in the first at Hialeah. I am in direct communication with the phases of the Zodiac at all times; so you can readily see that I'm bound to pick a nice, juicy long price sooner or later.

From my own private morgue, here is a typical "over-the-back-fence" item which I picked a random from my old column in the Paducah, Kentucky "Morning Beck and Call." It gives you an idea of my style:

"What prominent society matron gave a Hot-what to what prominent whoist at whose buffet—what—when?"

It also gives you an idea of why I'm no longer in Paducah.

It might pop into your mind that coming from Kentucky, sah, I might be a little green on the internal affairs of the community of Hicksville. Let me assure you, however, that, in no time at all, I will have so impregnated myself into the bloodstream of your fair community that I will be as well acquainted and established there as the nematode. What am I saying?

And so, Mr. Noeth, if you can use any of my stuff, which you can see from the above, is really stuff, just send me an immediate wire.

(Signed), STEVE LINIHAN.

(Note—We're giving Linihan a chance to show his stuff. Watch next week's issue to see if it gets into print.—Ed.)

V.F.W. DINNER-DANCE TO OBSERVE FOUNDING

The William M. Gouse Jr. Post, 3211, V. F. W., will celebrate its 14th anniversary at a dinner-dance to be held at the Five Corners Restaurant, Bethpage, on Saturday, Feb. 12, at 7:30 p. m.

VFW Golden Jubilee Week will be observed nationally during the period between Feb. 18 and 19. This date was selected because Feb. 15 marks the anniversary of the sinking of the U.S.S. Maine in 1898, the event that touched off the war with Spain. It was this conflict that led to the formation in 1898 of several societies composed exclusively of overseas veterans. These groups were later merged to form the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

What About Parking?

Well, you say, what about it?

We don't propose to know the answer but we do believe that the problem is constantly changing. What was fact a year ago is not necessarily so today. With that in mind, the Herald plans the publication of a series of reports on the parking and traffic situation based as far as possible upon the conditions as they exist today and what is being done to solve them.

The Herald is pleased to have the cooperation of the Hicksville Citizens' Advisory Committee on Parking which consists of representatives duly appointed, at the request of the town fathers, by the Kiwanis, Lions, Civic Association and Business Men's Association.

We believe this report will be of interest to everyone who drives an automobile or other vehicle in the mid-island community; whether they live in Hicksville or just come here to shop or commute.

With parking—as with other matters, including community development—nothing remains unchanged. Either progress is made or the situation becomes worse. We hope the forthcoming series will help focus attention upon the situation and develop community interest to the point that immediate and long-range action will result.

Let's Go Square Dancing

The Classroom Teachers Association of Hicksville is currently sponsoring a series of monthly square dances which are a fine contribution to the cultural and social life of the mid-island community. Have you ever been to a square dance? If not, you should attend the next session, Saturday night, Feb. 5, at the high school gym and get in on the fun.

Folk dancing is almost as old as music. People found it was more fun to get together with other neighbors and move in time to the music and thus folk dancing was born. Square dancing procedure varies from one section of the country to another and as a result square dancing is really the folk dancing of a locality.

When you go square dancing you wear comfortable clothing and low heels. The dance with eight persons to a "set" encourages sociability and friendliness among the dancers. And the fun is not limited to any age group, young folks enjoy it just as much as the older people.

Let's get together for the next square dance on Feb. 5.

Every White House occupant from President Wilson to date has realized the importance of the daily habit of prayer.—Euston Thompson, former Federal Trade Commissioner.

No. Bethpage Civics Elect Lady President

MRS. MAE STRONG

Mrs. Mae Strong was elected president of the North Bethpage Civic Association at a meeting Wednesday night, Jan. 19, in the Stewart Avenue clubhouse. The first woman in eight years to head the association, she succeeds Mortimer Husted and will be installed Feb. 16.

Other officers elected are: Wayland Strong and Mrs. Margaret Kaufmann, first and second vice-presidents, respectively; Mrs. Valarie Messina, secretary; Arthur Burmeister, treasurer; Mrs. Peter Calligari, financial secretary; Mrs. John Knapp, Oscar Osmundsen and Mrs. Hans Haugen, trustees; Arnold Bedell and John Westby, executive committee.

Active in Organizations

Mrs. Strong has been a resident of North Bethpage for about eight years and is very active in local organizations. She will be installed as a trustee of the Theodore Roosevelt Republican Club of Bethpage this Friday night and is president of the WSCS of Bethpage Methodist Church. A past president of the Archie McCord American Legion Auxiliary of Bethpage, she is chaplain and county delegate of the present staff. Corresponding secretary of the County Legion Auxiliary, she is a member of the newly organized Boy Scout Mothers Club in Bethpage and is an active member of the Bethpage P.T.A.

In show business since she was 20 years of age, Mrs. Strong is well known in this area for her successful productions of Gay Nineties shows in Hicksville and Bethpage.

A minstrel show is now in rehearsal with Mrs. Strong directing for presentation next month by the Bethpage Legion.

The Grand Old Opera House, Boston, was the scene of Mae Strong's debut into the show business, a career which was to take her into every state of the Union, every province of Canada and Mexico. In Boston she danced and sang in the chorus of the musical, "Fiddle Dee."

Song and Dance Trio

Her vaudeville days are most pleasantly recalled as a member of a girl singing trio which played in many of the states. A song and dance act, their best was "Where the Red, Red Roses Grow." In stock companies most of her parts were comedy roles, such as Lil in "Broadway," but she also enjoyed success in a drama, "Sunup," as Ma Cagel.

During the peak of vaudeville Mrs. Strong wrote and leased about 60 of her own plays to more than 300 stock companies throughout the country. Two of her scripts were produced in Hollywood under changed titles and released through Columbia about ten years ago. These two plays, "The Nesters" and "Newspapers and Slippers," were produced in Bethpage by the Village Players in recent years.

Junior High Jottings

Our readers are probably anxious to hear about the recent Jr. S. C. A. elections; so here they are. . . . A Split Ticket was voted with EMMANUEL CARRERAS, president; CLAUDETTE SLAYER, vice-president; and RICHARD TEURER, secretary. . . . The officers were introduced at last week's Assembly by LAURA COLEMAN, in the absence of DENWARD COLLINS, our former president. . . . During the campaign, could be seen through the halls RICHARD TEURER and WILLIAM OCHS bearing signs encouraging the students to vote for the red and blue tickets. . . . A number of students heard part of the inaugural ceremonies when President Truman was sworn in as our President. It surely is great to experience such an event resulting from the choice of free people in a free country. Let's strive to keep it this way! Every citizen can do his part! . . . The Junior High Basketball Team played Farmingdale at Farmingdale, Saturday. . . . The children of the school were entertained by the 101 group who presented a skit in Assembly. . . . A check of $20 is being sent to the March of Dimes by the 118. . . . Four students of 101 presented MRS. MERRILL with a book and a box of candy to cheer her along the road to recovery. . . . The faculty of Junior High sent her a basket of fruit. . . . The March of Dimes envelopes have been distributed among the students for their contributions if they wish to make one. . . . Some members of the Historical Society visited two historical places in Jericho—The Meeting House and the Maine Maid. . . . MR. WELLON was expected to pay a visit to Scranton last week-end. . . . Homerooms have received "thank-you" cards from MRS. MERRILL for their kind thought during her illness. . . . DENWARD COLLINS, one of our Jotters, is not with us today. He has been ill during this past week. . . . RAYMOND DELAY attended three radio broadcasts last week. . . . A project on interior decorating is being carried out in the SB art classes. . . . A model house is being made and furnished by the students. . . . MARILYN STIERAT'S six-week-old baby sister was taken quite ill the other day. . . . Some of our teachers were seen enjoying themselves at the Square Dance, sponsored by the Classroom Teachers Association. . . . The 101 homeroom wishes to thank MRS. GLECKLER for her assistance in helping the group to present their play. . . . No doubt some of us will be at the P.-T. A. dance on Saturday Saturday night. . . . RONALD HALPERN "tripped" to Connecticut last week-end. . . . Appreciation for the kindness shown to the Austrians by the 107 group who have sent several packages to them was acknowledged. . . . This week our final examinations are being held. Promotion takes place next Monday, January 31. . . . We bid farewell and lots of success to our 8A friends who are just about ready to embark upon their high school careers. We hope they will do a fine job in their new surroundings. . . . Some of our members have helped their parents in collecting food for some needy people overseas. . . . Sorry we can't be with you next week, but the Jotters hope to have you hear from us again in the new term, if it can be arranged. . . .

EGG SEASON

Put eggs high on your shopping lists, Cornell's Food Marketing Bulletin advises. This is the season when eggs are plentiful and cheap—at least they're cheaper than they were last fall and a little below their price a year ago.

As for the rest of the year, fewer eggs will be produced compared with last year, say the farm prognosticators, and their price may go up.
Don't ever ignore eggs, though. Two or three will furnish about the same food value as a serving of meat. And don't be one of those finicky people who insist on white shells. There's exactly the same food value in brown as in white eggs.

Eggs are valuable—so treat them with respect. Be sure to store them in a covered container in the refriger-erator. At room temperature, eggs will lose as much of their freshness in four or five days as they will in the refrigerator in several weeks.

And cook eggs gently when you cook them. Use a low temperature or the protein will toughen, and remember that they continue to cook for a bit after you have removed them from the fire.

FOOT COMFORT

Are you buying your shoes intelligently? Next time you get a pair you might bear in mind that:

The widest part of the large toe joint should be directly over the widest part of the sole of the shoe.

The toe of the shoe should conform to the shape of your toes. Be sure there is enough space beyond the end of the big toe so that in walking the toe is not cramped.

The inside of the heel of a shoe should be snug so that the heel of the foot doesn't slip in walking, or rub up and down inside the shoe.

A heel height of three-fourths of an inch to one and one-half inches is scientifically practical for general use.

Farmers' Institute Re-Elects Talmage

The Long Island Farmers' Institute, Inc., which maintains headquarters at 87 Broadway, Hicksville, has re-elected Ferris G. Talmage of East Hampton as president. The LIFI annual meeting was held at Comack Hotel on Jan. 5. Peter J.
Klein of East Hampton is first vice-president Charles E. Simon of Peconic, second vice-president Joseph J.
Rhodes of New Hyde Park, treasurer;
and J. Herbert Cassidy of Southold, secretary. Simon replaces William Zeh of Calverton as an officer.

Simon and Andrew Kollmar of Munson were elected to the Board of Directors with Zeh, who succeeds himself. Reports heard at the session indicated the LIFI has completed one of its most successful years since its organization in 1944.

SPORT LITE

By HOWARD FINNEGAN

The only thing that collapsed was Hicksville.
The only thing that exploded was Jericho.

We are not going to offer an apology for selecting Hicksville as an upset winner. Frankly, we thought that the Kiwanis would come up with a haymaker. Instead the Blue took one.

We weren't surprised that Hicksville was out at the finish but we were amazed by the force of the blow that extinguished the lights for the Blue.

The Jericho team which rang up the 90-55 win was not the one that lost by 20 points to St. Dominic's. Nor could it have been the one that blew a nine-point second half lead in a 74-63 loss to Roslyn.

It is more than possible that the issue at stake zoomed the Firemen to the peak of brilliance that they reached but we are more inclined to believe that they are finally coming around the way Coach Lou Kappstatter expected them to.

For Hicksville it was a lacing designed to show it its place. It couldn't have helped but make some impression.

Two weeks ago we counted Jericho out of the race. They are still two games back of St. Dominic's and a win over Hicksville doesn't put the Firemen back in the ring. However, one break would give them a chance.

It wouldn't embarrass us any. Our face couldn't be any redder than it is now.

Those insistent rumors circulating since last November that the Hicksville Field Club would not operate next fall received a sharp rebuff Friday night.

Close to two hundred persons attended the very fine dinner and dance tendered the 1948 wearers of the Black and White by the Hicksville Sportsmen's Club and it was clearly demonstrated that the village wants and will have a football club to represent it next season.

Our conclusion was drawn from listening to many local citizens moving about the Wheatley Hills Tavern. Most were of the mind that the dinner itself, sponsored by a yet young and growing organization, served to point up community interest in the grid-iron team.

Remarks preceding the dinner were brief. President Ward Duffield of the Sportsmen's Club introduced Coach Dom. Sabarella and his Assistant Bill York to the gathering.

In the Hicksville-Sea Cliff Junior Varsity game both teams temporarily lost their sense of direction.

A Sea Cliff player took a shot at his own basket which missed. Ted Schwarting picked off the rebound nicely and filed a long pass downcourt to John Ennis, who completed the execution of a fast break which any coach could be proud of.

The confusion continued as Sea Cliff started to bring the ball offensively against its own nets. At that point Dick Swain intercepted for Hicksville and the young Comets started after their own basket again. However, an infraction of the ten second rule stopped play and time was called.

The players were befuddled by all the laughter in the stands until their coaches pointed out their need for a map.

Sea Cliff got the best of the bargain since the two points Ennis dropped in the Hicksville hoop were credited to it. The outcome wasn't effected however, since Hicksville won handily.

Cliffmen Beat Comets 32-24

Hicksville High's losing streak, spread over a three-year period in Eastern Division NSAL competition, reached 14 games, Friday, as the Comets were repulsed 32-24 when they invaded Sea Cliff.

For the Orange and Black it was the fourth loss in seven starts this season. Previous to the Sea Cliff game the Comets had rallied from a 15-5 first period deficit to sweep past and upset St. Dominics at Oyster Bay 37-34.

Hicksville led 5-4 in the first period, but Roy Gordon put the Cliffmen ahead for good with a two-pointed. Sea Cliff was in the van 13-40 at halftime and opened an 8-point advantage in the third period as it held the visitors to two foul shots.

Down 20-12, Hicksville came up with a fast rally in the opening minutes of the last period to close the gap to one point. Charles Rosengren dropped a set, John Econopouly scored on a fast break, Ted Schwarting got another on a quick opener and Al Cannon converted two foul shots to make it 21-20.

However Gordon, high man for the night with 15 points, got back in action and his three baskets helped Sea Cliff recover itself for an eight-point win.

Jericho Crushing Victor Over Kiwanis 90-55

A full house never saw the anticipated, heated struggle between Jericho and Hicksville come off, Wednesday, as the Firemen chilled the affair with 39 field goals and 18 fouls good for a crushing 90-55 victory.

Leading the Jericho quintet as it was stamping itself as the outstanding team in the Mid-Island community were Ed Coleman, Ray Halleran and the Stahurski Twins, Gene and Stan.

Hicksville and its dreams of an outstanding upset were only briefly alive. With Gene Stahurski doing most of the scoring the Firemen moved out 7-8. The Kiwanis cut it to 7-5 and later when it was 15-8 the Blue came on again.

trilled 17-14. However, it was apparent that the losers' man-for-man defense would never hold the taller Firemen and Jericho pulled away to a 27-19 quarter lead.

The knockout blow came in the second stanza when Halleran and Coleman teamed under the boards and the accurate passing of the Firemen enabled them to register ten baskets between them. The winless Kiwanis could only score four points in the period and were out of the running 48-27 at halftime.

With the issue beyond a doubt mentor Lou Kappstatter freely employed his bench in the second half and even then the Firemen's total continued to climb.
