Post Office Shatters All Previous Records

HICKSVILLE---With the assistance of 265 extra persons, in addition to the regular staff and carriers, the Post Office handled a staggering, all-time record volume of letters and parcels during the Dec 9 to 23 Christmas period this year, it was disclosed today by Postmaster Harry G. Cotler. As of late Monday the post office was called up on distribution of mail and parcel post.

Mail Superintendent D. Palladino disclosed some statistics: During the holiday period there were almost three and a half million incoming letters for local addresses served by the Post Office. During the same period the office cancelled approximately 2,100,000 letters and cards mailed here. Approximately 28,000 pieces of parcel post were shipped from here while about 50,000 pieces came in. Eight more extra trucks were put into service during this season.

Last year the peak day for the office was 235,000 machine cancellations about a week before Christmas. This year the peak came on Dec 18 with about 290,000 cancellations.

Postmaster Cotler paid tribute to his staff and the holiday extras for the tremendous job handled with efficiency and speed and expressed the hope that their efforts made this a brighter holiday for everyone.

Ask Industry on Cantiague Road

OYSTER BAY--The Town Board will hold a public hearing here on Tuesday morning, Jan 7, upon the application of Harold Bailey for a change of zoning from Residential D to Industrial H upon a tract of about seven acres on the west side of Cantiague Road, Hicksville. It is an irregular parcel with about 575 frontage on Cantiague and a depth of about 550 feet.

First Metered Parking Fields

HICKSVILLE---First installation of meters in public parking fields in the Town of Oyster Bay is now underway at two fields. The meter posts have been installed and Councilman Henry McInnes anticipates the meters will be operating after the first of the year. Eighty-four will be installed in the area between Marie St. and Heitz Place and 51 between Marie St and Nicholas, both east of the L.I.R.R. Patrons will have a choice of hourly parking or 10 hours for 25 cents. McInnes said the metered fields will give non-resident all-day parkers an opportunity to use the space, and in fairness to resident taxpayers who financed the fields, will be asked to pay for the privilege.

Grunewald Heads Zone Appeals

OYSTER BAY--A. Carl Grunewald of 31 Violet Ave., Hicksville, becomes chairman of the Town Zoning Board of Appeals effective Jan 1, it was learned today. He will succeed E. Floyd Griffin who served as a member of the Board for the past 29 years and retires on Dec. 31. Grunewald, former president of the North Hicksville Civic Assoc, became a member of the Board in 1955. He has been a Hicksville resident of eight years and is superintendent of the bible school of St. Stephen's Lutheran Church of Hicksville.

Cantiague Rd School Site May Cost $17,000 An Acre

HICKSVILLE---Representatives of Galop Inc. will meet with the Board of Education a week hence on Friday night, Jan 10, regarding the proposed purchase of 10 acres from the present owners of Press Wireless land for a future 14-room school in the area.

Paul Gale of Freeport, spokesman for the land development company, was present at the School Board meeting last Friday night to discuss four possible, alternate land arrangements for a school site. He said he would return in two weeks with a map and, presumably, the asking price.

School Board President Emil Szendy told the Board members in a formal report that Gale said the land cost Galop $16,600 per acre and indicated an asking price of $17,250. The School Board is prepared to go to condemnation if necessary.

Students Present Play and Pageant

by Rita Duran

No Broadway "First Night" ever derived more pleasure from a performance than the many Hicksville and Plainview people who attended the "First Night" performance of the Annual Christmas Play and Pageant produced and presented by the Sisters of Mercy in the Auditorium of Our Lady of Mercy Church on Thursday evening, Dec. 19. Playing to a capacity audience, the cast, made up of Our Lady of Mercy Cathedral School youngsters, gave an exceptional performance.

The play, "Birds' Christmas Carol," produced by special arrangement with Bakers Plays of Boston, Mass., was delightfully done. Its theme revolved around the life of Carol Bird, the lame daughter of wealthy parents, capably handled by Ellen Hodgson. As the story unfolded, her friendship with the children of the large and none too prosperous Ruggles family, was revealed as the one "bright spot" in her sheltered life. Her Christmas Dinner invitation to the Ruggles family set off a series of humorous incidents in the Ruggles home, sparked by the lack of "enough hats to go around" and the definite need for practice sessions devoted to proper table manners and behavior. The part of Mrs. Ruggles, the poor, but none the less proud mother of the problem-ridden household, was played to perfection by Mary Ann Capone.

As a matter of fact, the entire cast displayed a wealth of talent, and the well-deserved credits go to Judy Hiross, Louis Yannaco, Thomas Harold, Doris Harms, Eileen Kelly, Joseph Bobalik, Barbara Utz, Mary Ann Kelly, Donald Lineburgh, Joseph Pesinkowski, and George Treacy.

The colorful pageant, which followed the play, depicted the arrival of Mary and Joseph at Bethlehem and the subsequent visit of the Angels, Shepherds and the Three Wise Men. Throughout the Pageant, appropriate Carols were beautifully rendered by the Chorus, wearing bright red choir robes, wide white collars and soft white tie bows. The finishing touch of pale green Carol books held in the hands of the choristers was most "eye-catching."

There was never a dull moment between the acts as the Chorus and spectators joined in popular Christmas songs to the piano accompaniment of Sister Mary Stanislaus. Later in the evening, Santa Claus paid a visit, much to the delight of the many children in attendance.

At the final curtain, audience comment was most enthusiastic and parents and their tired-but-happy youngsters returned home imbued with the true Christmas spirit. The hard work of training, coaching and producing the play "showed

CURRENT COMMENT

Fast Action To Provide Park

BY FRED J. NOETH

THE COMMUNITY of Hicksville is about to miss the opportunity to provide a realistic-sized park and recreation centre for the enjoyment of future generations. Disclosures at the Board of Education meeting this week indicate that the owners of the former Press Wireless acreage in the Northwest section of the district are moving fast and unless we move with equal speed, we are going to find the last big open land areas covered with houses.

This is the story: Galop Inc. owns most of the land formerly held by Press Wireless on the east side of Cantiague Road. They are a land development organization; i. e., they lay out the streets and plots and then sell off sections to builders. They have laid out about 100 acres into about 400 home sites. They have not laid out about 45 acres which fronts along W. John St., presumably because this may go for business or industrial use.

They have already sold property on the west side of Cantiague Road where Imperial Gardens is building about 170 homes. They are most willing to sell about 10 acres to the School District for a site of an elementary school. They indicate the asking price is about $17,000 an acre. (Somebody please lift granddad off the floor).

We have found some ready response among residents to the proposal that about 50 acres of this tract be obtained by our Park District (via petition to the Town Board) for long-range development as a community park and recreation centre. The 45 or so acres left at the moment is not particularly suited for the purpose of a park because (1) as potential business or industrial land it will cost more and (2) we want the industry and/or business, and its topograph does not lend itself. It is part of Kuhl's Hollow of yesteryear, a part of a natural drainage cut in the landscape.

Right now the School Board is talking about buying 10 acres from Galop, contingent upon a referendum, etc. for a 14 room school estimated as necessary for the new homes coming to the area.

If 50 acres (for the sake of argument) is taken out for our dream-park, that means 200 fewer homes in the area. The 10-room school (which will probably cost about a million or more dollars) can be cut down to eight or ten rooms. Thus what ever is spent on acquiring this land for a park will be saved in construction of a school. And a saving in school construction is not the final saving because schools cost money TO OPERATE AND MAINTAIN, year in and year out, long into the future.

True the development of the park land will cost money, but that cost will be far less than building and operating additional classrooms. And the enjoyment from a park will be available to all ages, year round.

If we don't act upon acquiring sufficient land for a future park we will, someday, have to pay more for occupied property. This means (as we have finally learned in the parking field situation) paying more in the long run.

What is needed is firm, almost immediate action by public-spirited residents. We'll be glad to help all we can.

THAT MAN, with the long, flowing white beard and jolly manner had a big day on Sunday with innumerable Christmas parties given for the children of members of service, veteran, fraternal and firematic organizations taking place all around the town. Can you spot Santa in each of these three appearances? At the top is the Hicksville Rotary-Club party at the Milleridge Inn. In the centre is the William M. Gause, Jr. VFW Post

Villager Inquiring Photographer

IRVING BERGER ARMAND BRUNSWICK LOTTE STEIN FAY SCHWARTZ

QUESTION: How do you feel about the time your spouse devotes each week to THE VILLAGER?

ANSWERS:
IRVING BERGER, 114 Maytime Drive: I feel it's as important to build a good community as it is to build a good home.

ARMAND BRUNSWICK, 23 Hedgerow Lane: My wife derives an awful lot of pleasure from her work on THE VILLAGER, and I'm very happy that she has an opportunity to do the type of work that she enjoys.

LOTTE STEIN, 162 Birchwood Park, An informed community is a healthy community for us and our children. GI enjoys his work on THE VILLAGER. His time, though away from his family, is spent in a worthwhile endeavor from which all of us benefit.

FAY SCHWARTZ, 52 Hedgerow Lane: I object to the late hours spent at emergency meetings. However, since the newspaper in this community has been an excellent means of communication and enjoyment, I feel it has been worth the many inconveniences.

By Gloria Brunswick,
(with Sincere Apologies to Mike Wallace)

ME: You know, 1957, with your flowing white beard and wrinkled face, you look haggard enough to be a homeowner from Birchwood Park.
HE: That I am, but it was my Father, dear old patient, trusting 1956 who taught me how to age ungracefully.
ME: Was that his only legacy?
HE: No, while on his death-bed he beckoned me to creep over to him, (I was in diapers then) and first he handed me a key.
ME: Sounds like the basis for a good scenario.
HE: The saddest story ever told. That key unlocked seven trunks filled with money to be used on "Title Day. My Father seriously doubted that would occur during my lifetime.
ME: Did he leave you anything else?
HE: A sheaf of papers -- 14 in all, written on both sides, and single-spaced. Very valuable--no other human eyes have ever scanned them.
ME: Maybe some original manuscript.
HE: Not too original -- I've heard about a few other folks have these papers too. Mine starts, "Item # 1 -- Sagging balcony--"
ME: Could be from an old production of Romeo and Juliet.
HE: You mean "A rose by any other name" is still a blue list.
ME: So, 1957, after you took title, you started your boyhood comfortably ensconced in your new home.
HE: Until the pipes froze and burst.
ME: You seem to be a chronic complainer.
HE: I never did learn to tread water.
ME: I can't understand you--how many kids have an opportunity to grow up in the suburbs surrounded by the wonders of Nature?
HE: Even Nature wondered when she saw the builders' landscaping. Not that I care to disparage those 8 star shrubs guaranteed to luxuriate in Southern Rhodesia--but, gee whiz, to stick a broom handle on the front lawn and try to pass it off as a living and breathing maple tree--
ME: Come now, you're going too far. I visited your community last Spring -- just about the time you were growing into manhood--and the homes looked lovely.
HE: Did they? No, don't get me wrong -- I really didn't see anything then. You see, at that time I started to commute on the L.I.R.R. and when I left on the 4:10 it was dark and when I returned on the 11:02 it was still dark.

ME: And were you groping through darkness on summer weekends?
HE: No, it was just light enough for me to fall out the kitchen door onto my hands and knees and pick out of the lawn a species of grass that is socially unacceptable. To this day, my next-door neighbor only recognizes me from the rear.
ME: No play at all for you, dull boy?
HE: Oh yes, I had a very long chain from which I was tied to the outdoor barbecue. And after I finished serving the 1500 relatives who "just stopped by for a minute because it was such a lovely day for a drive", I could romp to my cardiac's content.
ME: You know, 1957, I'll have to excuse some of your bitterness. You were getting senile by this time.
HE: That's not true. In the Fall when the leaf fell off the tree, I'll admit to a hair or two falling off me, but I wasn't old then--that came during the Organization Hysteria.
ME: Now you're not going to censure people for doing good work?
HE: No, it was my fault. I suffered from a disease known as Civictitis and joined everything in sight. I chaired so many things I never had time to sit on one and finally I had to quit my job so I could attend daytime activities.
ME: Why couldn't you slow down a bit?
HE: I tried to pass a rule to allow no meeting to continue past 5:20 a.m. but some chippee of 63 overruled the motion. He called it a point of personal sacrilege!
ME: Say, who's that darling baby peeking out the storm door's storm door?
HE: I'd like you to meet my son, 1958. He'll have a much easier life than I've had, since I've passed so much of the way for him. He only has a 29 year mortgage!
ME: Rest peacefully, 1957. It just might be you're bound for heaven.
It's true you've been expensive, but dear, Birchwood Park will long note your year.
For all the frustrations, the million nagivins, '57, you were the beginnin of livin!

For Whom Bugles Blow

By I. Herakowitz

As an active participant of an inactive committee called, Entertainment - inactive at this time only because all our fire is being banked on our dramatic show - it may be difficult to visualize it as entertainment when I make an announcement such as: The first note has been sounded and all of Birchwood take heed and beware--the Bugle Corps of our Scout movement is now a reality. May the good Lord have mercy upon those folks who live adjacent to the homes where we conduct our rehearsals.

Cub Den 4, under the supervision of Den Mother June Adams has been selected as the guinea pig. This den has been chosen not because we bear any malice or ill will towards Mrs. Adams - (on the contrary - we hold her in the highest esteem) - however, my son, Billy, happens to be a member of that den and partially being what it is - makes it imperative that I subscribe to that human failing.

The boys in Den 4 have had their third half hour lesson and are progressing very nicely. Den meetings take place every Saturday morning and upon the conclusion of the meeting bugle instruction takes place. Formerly all meetings were being held in Den Mother June Adams' home, but in order to distribute the bugle noises in a more equitable manner, the meetings and lessons take place alternately in each boy's home.

If these boys practice diligently and conscientiously every day, in three to four months the sounds now being emitted from these bugles will undergo a complete change. Instead of the rasping and quoling sounds, that these fledgling buglers bring forth now, there will emerge a complete transformation when tones of clarity and resonance emanate from these bugles - whose calls are so deep in the tradition of the Boy Scouts of America.

Unfortunately, it is physically and emotionally impossible to give bugle instruction to more than six boys at one time. To enlarge this corps would require additional instructors. There are several other men in our community who are qualified to teach bugling. Please step forth and give a half hour of your time weekly.

Those who are proficient at playing drums please step forth and volunteer your services so that our Drum corps may get started shortly. OV 1-1307 and perform your small No excuses boys - it's only 30 minutes per week. Call me at chosen community.

Reflections By the Editor

The year of 1957 draws to a close at Birchwood and the sounds of laughter and happiness continue to grow in never ending abundance. Only now and then do we hear a howl of complaint as a new homeowner finds to his dismay some defect in his home. He does just as you and I have done in the past, he shouts and complains bitterly and wonders why he never left his former happy homestead.

It seems like only yesterday that I remember being at the Roosevelt Hotel in N. Y. C. for the first meeting of all homeowners of Birchwood Park at Jericho. I still hear the voices of the vounders of our Civic Assoc. ringing in my ears. Slowly the picture revolves and I see in passing many other important gatherings. The alert faces of newly formed committees, the religious groups beginning to organize, the good samaritans gathering as our homes take shape and slowly more and more of us begin to move into Jericho.

The real troubles of homeownership were small in comparison to the many annoying inconveniences we had to endure during the year. We often found ourselves frustrated in dealing with our children, their problems such as finding new friends, and adjusting to new school activities. Many parents found themselves eager to join in solving this vexing situation.

The fact that community friendship and cooperation still exists is due to the splendid leadership in our community. And so it is that we find ourselves ready to enter the new year, still retaining memories of the past but looking forward to 1958 with great expectations.

Grace Hershkowitz was the recipient of congratulations amidst flowing champagne, Birthday cake and 400 unknowing guests. The occasion was the dinner dance of the J.C.C. Financially both affairs were an excellent perception of rights and wrongs of any given issue. She is well able to express her feelings to the discomfort of opponents.

Gloria is community minded, but not of the back-slapping kind. Her presence adds an air of provocative penetration to issues under discussion. She is able to love, hate, laugh and pou at any given moment. Her directness is refreshing. It often supplies the needed change of pace.

Canine-news: The Stein's Dachshund, Fritzie, is convalescing nicely at home after spending one week at Lewis Animal Hospital in Huntington with a slipped disc. Seems that heavy traffic to and from Fairchild Aviation on Birchwood Park Drive keeps Fritzie dodging innumerable cars, preventing him from ever settling down to the satisfactory and necessary completion of his duties. Slipped discs and nervous dispositions among our dog population may in time become a serious community problem unless flow of traffic can be controlled.

Happy Birthday to Myra Drayson of Maiden Lane. She is celebrating with a little party of 20 girls and 28 boys.

THE DRAMATIC CORNER

Dale Berg, one of the charter members of the Entertainment Committee, reads like a who's who in the dramatic field. Having come from a theatrical family tree that embraces all aspects of the dramatic arts, Dale completely justifies her endowment.

The Dinner Dance at the Golden Slipper given by the Sisterhood of the J. J. C. was a huge success both socially and financially. Credit to Milton Worth of 45 Forest Drive who was steward and therefore responsible for superb cuisine, (Prime rib, dinner, Hor d'oeuvres etc.). Of course, the Golden Slipper went all out for the Sisterhood and special vote of thanks to them. Gifts and cigarettes to all who attended. To those who couldn't get tickets we are sorry and will try to accommodate them next time. In charge of this affair were both Mrs. Bernard Schmierer and Mrs. Stanley Klein, assisting them Dr. Bernard Schmierer. They did a tremendous job in making this affair a success.

Chanukah party was held Saturday, Dec 21, at 4 Jerusalem Ave, Hicksville, by Reform Temple Or Elchim for children of all the Hebrew classes. Grab bag prizes, dreidels, candy, cake and drinks for all. A play about Chanukah was presented. Rabbi Paul Levinson led the children in songs.

Conservative Temple Jericho Jewish Center held its annual Chanukah Party at the Roosevelt Flight Room at Roosevelt Field on Sunday, Dec 22. A play was shown and favors given to all present. Refreshments were served.

Christmas week has a few Birchwoodians celebrating their birthdays. Shirley Mescoe of Merit Lane, Ruth Burns of Maiden Lane, Adele Drayson of Maiden Lane. Little Janice Genna of Maytime Drive. These people feel cheated because of the time and presents complications. Belated birthdays to Richard Abrams of Maytime Drive. Last but not least our own Gil Stein and son, Richard, of Birchwood Pl. Drive.

time as she portrayed her role of the mother, Mrs. Wittaker, recognized the superb dramatic talent exhibited by this charming young lady. These facts came to light upon my interrogation of Dale. She attended the RCA School of Broadcasting. She had trouped with ANTA, Dale's dramatic education included courses at the New School of Social Research.

Her affiliations with dramatic groups were very extensive. Her background befits her professional demeanor most admirably.

Another of our lovelies is also a charter member of the entertainment committee, in the person of Adele Zorn. Adele's exuberance, plus her determination for perfection, has contributed greatly towards the very high morale that is so prevalent amongst the cast. One would least expect Adele to have been associated with Musical Comedies --- of which she has adorned many a stage in the "Borscht Belt". Her radio dramatic workshop in college has served her in good stead as she savors on stage in the role of sister-in-law.

Ellie Krasher, cast in the role of Mr. Wittaker's daughter, impressed me as being the Grace Kelly type in technicolor. We use the word technicolor advisedly --- her castle is not in Monaco --- it is merely a painted dream. However, that is where the dissimilarity ends. It would be suffice to say that upon observing the charm, carriage, and comeliness that exudes from the person of Ellie when she graces the stage --- dramatic ability need not be forthcoming. However, when she imparts her high school and college dramatic experiences she leaves nothing to be desired.

We have a young fellow, (incidentally, he just became the proud father of a son, after two tries, the others being girls --- congrats Jerry) by the name of Jerry Neuhaus who wears a unique distinction. He is the one and only who answered our feeble cry for assistance when our casting problems were acute. At the Robert Seaman School Civic Assn meeting while making a committee report. We sought volunteers for our dramatic group. Were it not for Jerry's volunteering we would have batted zero.

Jerry has since become an indispensable commodity with our group. He brings a world of talent with him besides the bang up job he does portraying the son-in-law of Mr. Wittaker, his other attributes are many. He is the possessor of that most envied and gifted art --- the natural ability to perform as a master of ceremonies. He sings in a Crosby style --- and it coaxed he can even resemble Bing --- He has sung club dates in Florida and New York nite clubs. He emceed a variety of army shows for Special Services in England during the war. His dramatic experiences have been many and varied. That boy just happens to be a top drawer attraction --- period.

In the next edition of THE VILLAGER we shall offer further abbreviated versions of the remaining members of our cast.

Discuss Heating System

By George J. Frankel

On Tuesday evening, Dec. 10, at the Robert Seaman School, Roy Rathe of the Federal Boiler Company, Inc., and Stanley Horowitz and William Eckart of Horowitz Brothers lectured on the plumbing and heating systems of our houses. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Home Education Committee of the C. J. Assoc., whose chairman is Norman Jacobson. It was attended by approximately one hundred residents of Birchwood.

Mr. Rathe, who was responsible for the design of our heating system, described the operation of a typical home heating plant, specified the optimum settings of the various components, and outlined the simple maintenance procedures to be followed. He then answered a considerable number of questions from the floor. The most common questions revolved around the difference between the heating system and the domestic hot water system, and how to adjust the hot water temperature without affecting the heating system.

Messrs. Eckart and Horowitz then discussed the plumbing system, demonstrated how to replace a faucet washer, and explained the operation of the Gyro Mixing Faucet.

The meeting was adjourned at approximately 11 P.M.

through" and the Sisters may well be proud of their achievement and their "would-be" thespians. It is always a refreshing experience watching children perform, giving their all, as is most characteristic of children, in all such efforts, they should have the interest and encouragement of adults. If such an opportunity presents itself in your part of town, take advantage of it. Most times, we are quick to register our disapproval when our children are directing their energies in the wrong direction. Wouldn't it be wise to be just as quick in registering our approval of their efforts in the right direction?

Science, Math Courses Told

HICKSVILLE--Algebra will be taught in the fifth grade and Chemistry in the fourth grade of the public schools for exceptionally talented students, starting in January. It was disclosed at the Board of Education forum meeting held Friday night.

Speakers at the meeting on the math program of the District were Eugene Bouchard, elementary school teacher; Mrs. Elaine Kirschner, junior high; and Joseph Lauck chairman of Senior High math department.

On the science program were John Maher, assistant principal of Dutch Lane School; Benjamin Gitlin Jr. High; and Raymond Buckley, chairman of senior high science dept.

sary. Gale said a school on 10 acres along Cantiague Road would "kill about 45 home sites" and that Galop is selling sections of the Wildfield development map at $4,625 per plot.

RECREATION DIRECTOR

The Board went into Executive Session at the end of a long evening, Friday night, on a motion of Trustee Jerry Zottler "regarding the recreation director".

There were indications that the man selected (but not publicly named) by the Board for the position is probably not going to accept after all.

Szendy said at the end of the meeting that "there is probably going to be a referendum shortly" and that he would prefer to have the recreation director question submitted to a new vote. His comment on a referendum coming up before the annual May meeting indicated an early vote on a school site on Cantiague Road although there has been no formal discussion of the matter by the Board.
