TOWN-WIDE CD EXERCISE:

1,000 H-Bomb Evacuees Coming Here Tuesday

HICKSVILLE—A thousand residents from the north and south shore sectors of the Township will start arriving here next Tuesday evening, Oct. 19, at about 7:30 in a large-scale Civil Defense drill and exercise in the feeding and housing of H-bomb victims. The test is being held in cooperation with the local Red Cross branch and will involve the establishment of complete evacuee facilities at the high school.

It will be assumed that an H-bomb has hit in Queens County in the late afternoon. In theory 12,558 men, women and children are coming here in all forms of transportation and they are assumed, for the purpose of the test, to be homeless, hungry and in some cases injured victims from the fringe of the bombed area, according to Col. William Godfrey, head of the local CD and Deputy Township director for the purpose of the drill.

Three months has gone into planning for the exercise. Convocations will be met at four points entering the community. They are Robert Hall Clothes on North Broadway, Carvel Ice Cream stand on South Broadway, the corner of Woodbury and South Oyster Bay Roads, and the Plainview Shopping centre on Old Country Rd. near South Oyster Bay Rd.

Mobile radio units will be established at each reception point, in contact with headquarters in the high school. Guides and auxiliary police will be available at each point to direct the "evacuees to the central point."

After registration, testing for radio-activity with actual Geiger counters, first aid, etc., at the high school, the "victims" will be theoretically clothed and then billeted in "tent cities" at the Stack-ler & Frank property, school grounds and other points. They will actually be fed coffee and doughnuts.

All visitors and victims will be invited to stop in the high school auditorium where there will be continuous showing of a 20-minute film "Operation Ivy" which tells the story of the H-Bomb, according to Col. Godfrey.

More than 150 CD auxiliary policemen will be on duty around the community, some assigned here from neighboring units. All interested CD volunteers who have no specific assignments are urged to report to the high school next Tuesday night starting at 7:30 P.M.

HERE THEY COME, old-time automobiles rolling down Broadway past the office of the Mid-Island Herald on Saturday, to celebrate the golden anniversary of the Vanderbilt Cup Races which followed the same route in 1904. The 80 ancient vehicles, riding under their own power, contrasted sharply with the modern autos lined along the curb. The entire procession was followed by two brand new AAA towing service trucks. Hundreds lined the route of the motorcade in Hicksville. (Herald photo by Frank Mallett. Other pictures are displayed in the window of the Herald office, next to the Post Office).

MAJORITY BREAKS SILENCE:

3 School Board Members Reply To Eirich And Szendy Charges

HICKSVILLE—The majority members of the Board of Education this week blasted back at Trustees Emil Szendy and Arthur L. Eirich in answer to charges of "unilateral control". Szendy and Eirich are accused by President Ed A. Kuhne Sutton, Vice President Joseph Cawley and Secretary-District Clerk R. G. Schoel of "distortion, misrepresentation and vilification".

The following is the unedited letter received by the Mid-Island Herald:

"Recent statements of two members of the Hicksville Board of Education have become so extreme, not only in their distortion, misrepresentation and vilification, but also in their irrational and intemperate nature, that we the undersigned members of the Board feel that it is our duty to respond. We have refrained from being lured into highly emotional displays, first, because they are not rational and second, because we think that members of a Board of Education should be able to consider Board problems in an atmosphere of friendly understanding and objectivity. We have had and will continue to have complete faith in the good judgement of the people of the District but we also realize that if we continue to remain silent, and the misrepresentations of two members of the Board continue, there is always the possibility that some innocent persons, unaware of the background, might be misled.

"We want the people of District 17 to know the kind of thinking that seems to animate the two dissidents. The latest attack by

Messrs Eirich and Szendy describes a recent Board decision as "unilateral rule". The issue under dispute involved the appointment of a Board member as District Clerk. This appointment was made because a tremendous volume of business had accumulated which

Finds Brengel Got Ding Dong

HICKSVILLE — The famous old school bell at Nicholas School, which for generations summoned children — today's grandparents and parents — to classes at the frame school building on W. Nicholas St has been the subject of a hunt by some interested people in the district. The tower on the school was removed recently as part of the modernization program and in the process the school bell was lowered to the ground. Trustee Arthur L. Eirich disclosed this week that he has found evidence that the bell is now in the possession of Henry C. Brengel, former president of the Board.

required immediate action and the majority of the Board felt that the selection of a District Clerk from outside the Board, if given dignified and objective consideration, would require considerable time. We who were the majority in this particular instance refused to be stampeded into employing anyone without first giving general publicity to the vacancy so that all interested persons could apply for the position. Because we voted in a certain way, this is called ordained and bitter resentment is expressed against the decision. The fact of the matter is that Section 2130 of the State Education Law provides that in a Union Free School District, the Board of Education shall have the power to appoint one of their members or some other qualified voter, as District Clerk. In addition, the attorney for the School District, after a thorough study of the problem, recommended that the Board appoint one of its members as District Clerk.

"Under the circumstances, the inability of any member to adjust himself to majority rule raises serious doubts as to his under-

Dear Jean:

The Hicksville Board of Education meeting was not held last night (Wednesday). The Herald-announcement of the meeting was based upon information from a member of the Board who said he was so informed by the President-as of Saturday. The meeting will take place tomorrow (Friday) night at 8:15 o'clock in East St. School.

The Board has a total of 15 applications, we hear, for the position of District Clerk combined with public relations work... When a surprise fire drill was held in Junior High under auspices of the Fire Dept., Dr. E. H. LeBARRON, superintendent of school, was speaking in the auditorium... He later complimented the students and nupts in the auditorium... He later complimented the students and nupts in the auditorium... He later complimented the students and nupts in the auditorium...

Thanks to BILL (Skin-Head) MOELLER for the black widow spider he brought into the Herald office this week. We're saving it to slip it under his toupee when it arrives...

The fine publication of East St. School P-TA (and we wish other schools would mail us their publications, if any) reports the P-TA membership is at 238... We see they are finally gonna put a traffic lite at the corner of Spindle Rd. and Jerusalem Ave., Hicksville. Now how about one on Old Country Rd. at the school crossing?

Town Board opens bids next week for Parking Field No. 5 in Hicksville, which is the one near the corner of Bay Ave and Heitz Pl. Field No. 4—the triangle—appears to be nearly ready for its 50 or so cars... We find it somewhat amusing to read the conflicting claims on what the heavy voter registration this year means in our area. Both parties say it spells success for their candidates... Duffy Park and Southern Home folks got excited last week when they heard a gas station was going up near the corner of Underhill Ave. and Old Country Rd. Further study revealed that the site is 2,000 feet from Underhill Ave. (which is the point of measurement) and it will wind up right about opposite Levittown Parkway... You wanna bet it will be okay? ... County American Legion thru its 62 posts demands a public retreat from Newday for its editorial and cartoons vilifying, it is charged, that fine organization... Congress in its last session passed an act changing Armistice Day to Veterans Day... It will be open house at Huntington Hospital this Sunday, Oct. 17 from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Everyone is welcome to visit the institution on Park Ave... Everyone got a good laugh out of the announcement at the football game on Saturday by LOU MILLEVOLTE when he solemnly reported "a pair of girl's dungarees had been found under the grandstand". When he heard the roars of laughter, LOU tried to correct everything by saying "they're Susan Joy's", all the time waving the parcel from the Hicksville-Painview apparel shop over his head... The Hicksville-Painview Republican Committee has gotten so large with all the additional election districts, that the area has been divided into five sectors. ERNEST FRANCKE is the local GOP Chairman or leader. The sector heads, as we hear it, are CLIFF PLACE, HENRY SCHNEPP, CHESTER KOSKE and BILL REICHERT. And for Plainview, A. C. OCKER, JR... Hicksville Firemen will take a course of training in the operation of radio in fire fighting on Jan. 18 and Feb. 7... The Hicksville Ambulance Fund drive campaign is quietly taking shape. Watch for an announcement of its start in a few weeks. Meanwhile, if you are in a hurry to donate or expected to be away the next couple of months, you can send along your contribution to CHARLES BARVELS, treasurer of the fund, at the Bank of Hicksville. He is assistant cashier of the bank... With two more civic groups organized in the past couple of weeks, Hicksville now has 15 civic associations...

DO IT YOURSELF: Helpful Hints on Painting

To homemakers, the Spring urge is to clean, and the Fall urge is to refurnish. Whatever the cause — equinox, the color of fall foliage, or just the need for a change — people seem to want to do something about their homes at this time of year. If the urge strikes you, you might consider painting a room or two.

For anyone who has ever painted a room will tell you it's the most rewarding job in the world... one of the most dramatic before-and-after stories ever told. The transformation from a drab, dreary, unattractive room to a bright, cheerful, freshlooking one is a matter of a few hours, good paint in the right colors, a little know-how that's quickly acquired, and the proper equipment. And greatest of all is the satisfaction of having been the one who wrought this miracle. No painter of a masterpiece, standing back and admiring his work, will ever feel a greater sense of accomplishment than you when you have successfully finished painting that first room. So if you have a room that would be better for a coat of paint or two, and if your budget suggests that you do the painting, then here's how to go about it:

FIRST THINGS FIRST

First of all, visit a reputable paint dealer. He will explain how to prepare your walls and tell you about paints that are easy to apply with brush or roller. He'll probably suggest for your living room walls and ceiling Alkyd Semi-Flat, a good flat paint that professional painters like to use. For wood trim, he may recommend Satin Impervo, a low-luster enamel that is hard-wearing, and easy to clean. It can be used in the kitchen, too, for walls, cupboards and furniture.

You'll also find your paint dealer helpful concerning the use and care of rollers and paint brushes. He'll show you brushes that won't shed bristles. He'll tell you how to break in a brush and how to keep it clean. He'll be of assistance in figuring out the amount and types of paint needed. And here's important advice for you: buy only the best quality paint, for in the end it will more than pay for itself in durability and superiority of color.

Like planning a trip, planning colors for a room is half the fun. Your paint dealer will help you with the aid of paint manufacturers' color cards. And, of course, you'll be guided by the color of furnishings in your room. Painted walls should blend from room to room to make your home a harmonious whole. You'll realize how important this is if you've ever been confronted with clashing colors in a home you've visited.

Some of these questions will probably occur to you: How can you please every member of the family and at the same time have colors that harmonize with your furnishings? Should your rooms have warm or cool colors? You'll

Return Of $100 Earns Her Thanks From Bank

HICKSVILLE—When Miss Joan Funfgeld of Newbridge Rd., secretary to Leon Galloway, principal of Junior High School, found an extra $100 in her pay envelope recently, she promptly returned it to the bank and earned a gift from William E. Koutensky, president of the Long Island National Bank.

The story was told to the Herald this way:

"We would never have known the story, if we hadn't seen Miss Funfgeld, admire a gift she had received from the President of the Long Island National Bank.

"Naturally, our curiosity got the better of us, so we asked upon what occasion this was presented. It was then that the story was told.

"It seems that Miss Funfgeld had given her check to Anne Merrill, Assistant Principal of Junior High, to cash. The bank put it in a sealed envelope. When Joan opened it at night, she found an extra hundred dollars. She asked Mrs. Merrill, if she knew anything about it, and since she had not, Joan called the bank and returned the money.

"Miss Funfgeld, who is secretary to Mr. Galloway, has always been an asset to the Hicksville Jr. High. She is an efficient and pleasant worker. The parents of Hicksville can feel proud that their children come in contact with one so honest as Miss Funfgeld."

Birthday For Methodist Church

PLAINVIEW — The Methodist Church here will observe its first anniversary at 11 A.M. Sunday, Oct. 17. The church was opened on Oct. 18 last year, after being closed for over 25 years.

The church was originally called the Manetto Hill Methodist Church when first organized in 1828. At that time it was in the midst of a rich farming community, but the improvement of transportation made the presence of the church less essential. The church was thus closed in the 1920's.

Last year the Brooklyn and Long Island Church Society of The Methodist Church advanced funds which enabled the church to be renovated and made worshipful once more. Friends gave contributions and the workmen kept the cost within a reasonable limit.

The members of the church have worked hard improving the church inside and out. They laid a tile floor, installed an organ, given to the church, built a storage cabinet, and have recently landscaped the church grounds.

At the service this Sunday, Dr. Theodore C. Boblin, Executive Secretary of the Brooklyn & Long Island Church Society will preach on the topic, "My Ideal Church." He and his wife have been very instrumental in the establishment and growth of the church. Their spirit is reflected in the enthusiasm and friendliness of the church members.

Present to give the Benediction will be Rev. Edgar S. Jackson, a retired Methodist minister now residing in Cold Spring Harbor, who conducted a religious survey of Plainview prior to the opening of the church, sought out the majority of the members, and assisted Dr. Boblin in the preaching program.

On Sept. 1, the church received its first full-time minister, Rev. Carl Kohn, who thus began his first full-time pastorate. He holds degrees from the University of Michigan and Garrett Biblical Institute, graduating from the latter his past summer.

The church plans to expand its facilities within the next year to provide a nursery and additional Sunday School rooms for its rapidly growing Sunday School.

Nursery School Meets Monday

Licensed nursery school teachers interested in part time positions are invited to get in touch with Meta Resnick, 19 Melony Ave., here, HI 3-6447.

DANCE SATURDAY

Members of the Post are urged to get on the band-wagon and get their 1955 cards and to bring in new members.

Flood Of Junk In Mail Boxes

By FRED J. NOETH

UNADDRESSED JUNK is really beginning to clutter up the mail boxes of mid-island homes.

Blake Clark writing in Reader's Digest this month says "It used to be fun to get the mail. Most of it was from family or friends or business associates. It meant something. Now, all too often, my real mail is drowned in a sea of circulars and 'come-on coupons' from firms 'who don't even bother to get my name and address.'"

The litter at our address last Wednesday included a circular on a new gas station (yep, another), a leaflet from a political candidate, four pages from a super market in Plainview, and 28 pages of "harvest festival extra" (whatever that means) from Levittown.

It was obviously more than anyone could pause to study — if we were that interested — because the next day's mail brought even more.

In case you are not aware of what has happened, advertisers and politicians are seizing the opportunity given them by the Postmaster General last year when the postal regulations were amended. No longer is a name and address necessary to get this rubbish delivered to every house in the community.

By the simple use of the printed line "patron, letter carrier route, local" tons of junk are now being delivered like first class mail — at third-class rates.

As the Reader's Digest points out "The argument for junk mail is that sorting requires little time — the postman simply delivers one throwaway at each home. Official reasoning seems to have been that since the carrier was coming by your place anyway, he might as well bring along whatever circulars are lying around. 'On that basis' said one housewife, 'he might as well deliver the milk, too.'"

The mail carriers don't like the junk mail. Several groups of postal workers have gone strongly on record in opposition. Numerous civic groups, particularly in Queens where the deluge has hit even harder than out this way, are on record objecting to delays caused in the delivery of the kind of mail people want to receive and in the increased costs of postal service.

The spongers using the "patron" device are not concerned with the fact that this trash does not pay its own way and that tax dollars are subsidizing this abuse of the postal service.

The best way to halt this increasing flood of circulars is to (1) refuse to buy the services or products of companies which usurp part of our tax money to ship us this unwanted advertising material, (2) refuse to vote for public officials who similarly exploit the mails, and (3) write our Congressman and protest.

Our Congressman is Stuyvesant Wainwright who can be addressed at the House Office Building, Washington 25, D.C. or at East Hampton, Long Island.

A PEOPLE MAY PREFER A FREE GOVERNMENT; but if from indolence, or carelessness, or cowardice, or want of public spirit they are unequal to the exertions necessary for preserving it . . . they are more or less unfit for liberty . . . and they are unlikely long to enjoy it. — John Stuart Mill (1806-1873).

- Q. How many feet from a railroad crossing is a rail crossing sign placed on a highway?
A. 350 feet from the rail crossing in the country; 100 feet from the crossing in the city.
Q. How many political parties are recognized in New York State?
A. At present, four political organizations are recognized as political parties in this state. Under New York State election law, a political organization which at the previous gubernatorial election polled at least 50,000 votes for its candidate for governor is recognized as a political party. Any political organization may file nominating petitions for a candidate for governor. Petitions must contain 12,000 valid signatures, with at least 50 from each county. If a candidate so nominated receives 50,000 votes, his political organization becomes a recognized political party, like the Republicans, Democrats, Liberal and American Labor Party.

3 School Board Members Reply

(Continued from Page 1) standing of the principles of Democracy. Our sorrow is that members of our own Board, behaving in such outrageous manner and distorting the facts as they do, are partners in the guidance of children to whom we should teach the lessons of faith, of charity, of patience, of understanding, and of American democracy.

"Recently the Board, in recognition of the importance of P.T.A.s in furthering education in the District, voted to ask the P.T.As to nominate individuals to membership on the Citizens' Advisory Committee. This bit of forward thinking, characteristically was opposed by Messrs. Ehrlich and Szendy. This we state positively, with full knowledge that when they realize we have told this truth to the public, they will scream hysterically with disclaimers. The record, however, is there.

"The same Board members voted against the increase in salaries for school principals. We believe that the people of our District want to pay principals adequately in order to attract and retain the best possible quality of supervisory personnel. For some reason, best understood by themselves, Messrs. Ehrlich and Szendy want lower pay for principals.

"In closing, we want to point out that members of the Board of Education are termed 'trustees' because they are literally entrusted with the education welfare of the children. We intend to continue to measure up to that definition and for verification of our efforts, we urge you to check the official record.

"Our silence over the past months is proof that ordinarily we do not consider newspapers to be the proper channel through which to air Board differences, and we have done so only in the interests of giving you the truth. We will continue to devote ourselves exclusively to Board business, and in spite of their past records, we sincerely hope to have Messrs Ehrlich and Szendy join us in promoting the educational interest of the District.

Community Concerts Provide Fine Cultural Opportunity

By HARRIET A. SPINK Dear Friends,

Coming home from a trip this summer, my mother and I happened to spend a night in the city of Elmira, which I discovered has a population of 54,000—not so many more than Hicksville. I began to think of Elmira's facilities: fine hotels, several theaters, opportunities for art, live drama and music. Suddenly it came to me that Hicksville is no longer a small town. As to size it has become a fair-sized city. But it has grown so fast that it has far outstripped its small town facilities and, most of all its small town, psychology. It is time we began to think of ourselves as a city-sized community, which should be self-contained and should offer the opportunities we want for ourselves and our children.

sional entertainment offered in the field of live music in this area. It is, I think, one of those cultural opportunities a town of our size should offer. Those of us who work for it are sometimes asked "What is it for you?" The answer is, "A lot of hard work and a very big headache once a year." But we also get the great satisfaction of working with wonderful people as well as pleasure for ourselves in the concerts. We believe in Community Concerts. We want it for our town and for ourselves. We are not trying to "sell" anything. We are trying to let and, most of all its small town, psychology. It is time we began to think of ourselves as a city-sized community, which should be self-contained and should offer the opportunities we want for ourselves and our children.

Take Community Concerts, for instance. It is the only professional entertainment offered in the field of live music in this area. It is, I think, one of those cultural opportunities a town of our size should offer. Those of us who work for it are sometimes asked "What is it for you?" The answer is, "A lot of hard work and a very big headache once a year." But we also get the great satisfaction of working with wonderful people as well as pleasure for ourselves in the concerts. We believe in Community Concerts. We want it for our town and for ourselves. We are not trying to "sell" anything. We are trying to let and, most of all its small town, psychology. Doctor Jones Says

By PAUL B. BROOKS, M. D.

Seventeen years! You know, Newsay, that's quite a while to keep even a little weekly column going—without a miss. I've been sort of looking back over those years, to recall what my pet themes have been; the things we've harped on most.

Along at first it was pasteurization of milk. Today close to 99 per cent of the milk sold in the State is pasteurized. With the advantages so obvious there're very few people left that prefer raw milk. Yet I know a fair-sized village where 20 people, more or less, are still going to a farm, in the village, with their pails and bottles, taking home raw milk. "Legally?" Yes—apparently. Have a what? Yes, they've got a board of health. But I shudder—maybe they're holding out for the distinction of being the last village in the State to get rid of raw milk.

Hearing aids for folks, including children, that're missing so much because they don't hear well. "Better living through better hearing." Mental hygiene: learning to understand ourselves so we can understand others. The relation between childhood impressions and adult neurosis. Foodborne outbreaks of sickness. Many'd be prevented if the "food handlers" would observe a few simple rules of food hygiene. Yet we continue to have 'em—big ones. Often it's embarrassing for the chief "food handler"—like several where their principles and guests at a wedding reception were suddenly taken sick from "something they ate" at the reception.

Reports of health officers and public health nurses, published in local newspapers: a favorite theme. If they're readable, interesting and moving, folks read 'em. Take the local public health nurses: human interest stories, from their experience, move readers to support their work. If they're moved by the usual statistical reports, it's to pass on to something more interesting.

One of the latest has been Alcoholics Anonymous: a wonderful organization. Starting 19 years ago with two members, today it's around 130,000. The plight of the "alcoholic" is no longer hopeless.

HAPPENINGS AROUND ALLIED AND GLENBROOK:

Organize Civic Group Monday

By RUTH CONTI
(HI 3-7612)

An organizational meeting of the Allied Community Civic Assoc. will be held Monday, Oct. 18, at 8 P.M. in the auditorium of the Fork Lane School. Preparatory meetings have been held since August. The membership committee will personally contact residents of the Allied Homes regarding the particulars of the first meeting.

Mrs. Frank Intelisano of 6 Mitchell Court who resides with Mrs. Kenwood had a baby girl named Sandra Jo at Meadowbrook Hospital Oct. 5. The baby weighed 7 lbs. 11 ounces. Congratulations to the proud parents and grandparents.

Miss Suzanne Catherine Smith of 31 Glenbrook Road was married Saturday, Oct. 9, to Frank Anthony De Rosa at Holy Trinity Church. A reception was held at The Milleridge Inn, Jericho. Good luck to both of you.

Irene Taub of 26 Croyden Lane had her mother and father down visiting her over the weekend and grandmother helped take care of the youngsters so Irene and Irving could have a day off.

Last Wednesday's meeting of the Allied Homes coffee klatch was held at Rita De John's home at 25 Croyden Lane. The regular members Milie Salvador, Terry

Collins, Helen Cieraki, and Marge Hasbrouck were present as well as a new member Virginia Franco who will be a welcome addition to that group. Speaking of the Franco's Louise Franco was 10 years old on Oct. 10 and had a party for her friends at her home at 86 Croyden Lane. Among those present were Stephanie Bennett, Rosemary Collins, Virginia Franco, Patty Kosak, Barbara Schoetzau, Joanne Mead, Gerard, Joseph and Janet Franco. A good time was had by all. May you have many more Happy Birthdays, Louise.

It seems as though fall has really arrived. Everywhere people are reseeding their lawns and men with trucks are going around selling evergreen trees. Also the youngsters in the neighborhood are busy making scooters with roller skates and boxes.

The Fire Prevention movie at the Fork Lane school was very educational, according to some of the children who saw it.

The Fork Lane P.T.A. had a very interesting meeting on Tuesday Oct. 5 with a chance for the parents to meet their children's teachers and sit down and have coffee and chat with them.

Again Seeking Traffic Signal On Jerusalem Ave.

HICKSVILLE—The Parc Community Civic Assoc. is taking further action to obtain a traffic light at the intersection of Jerusalem Ave. and Tobias St., here, following a meeting held Oct. 5 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jorgenson.

Plans for the second annual dance of the Assoc. to be held Nov. 6 in the Armvets Hall were announced by Peter Ferraro, past president and chairman of the dance committee.

The request for the traffic light was made by Mrs. Philip Brandon. The next regular meeting is set for Nov. 2 at the home of Dr. Sidney Berkowitz.

Due to a county and town regulation, trees may not be planted in the curb line, it was reported by Mr. Jorgenson and this project for the Parc Community area is being dropped.

Mr. Jorgenson also made a motion which was passed that the executive board consider an expansion program and present a suitable amendment to the constitution and by-laws at the next regular meeting.

Week-Long Church Series

HICKSVILLE—This Sunday morning, Oct. 17, will mark the beginning of a week-long evangelistic campaign at the Church of Christ at 105 Broadway, here. The evangelist for this campaign will be Foster G. Sizemore, minister of the University Heights Church of Christ, Indianapolis, Indiana. C. E. Faust, minister of the Hicksville congregation, will serve as a song evangelist; and Mrs. C. E. Faust will be the organist.

The regular Bible School hour will begin at 9:45 a.m. The morning Worship service at 11 a.m. has been set aside as "Membership Roll Call." Each member of the congregation is being specially urged to be present to answer the roll.

The evening service, which begins at 7 p.m., will be sponsored by the Christian Youth Hour. There will be services at 8 p.m. each evening through the week, except Saturday. The campaign will close on Sunday evening, Oct. 24.

Each night has been set aside for some special attendance event. Some of these will include "Family Night", "Fill-a-pew Night", "Bring your Neighbor Night", "Birthday Night", and "Women's Council Night."

A nursery will be provided each night for the benefit of those who wish to bring their children, with one of the ladies of the congregation in charge.

Display Mums

JONES BEACH—A beautiful display of chrysanthemums is one of the popular Fall attractions at Jones Beach State Park again this year. Nearly all of the 45 different varieties are in full bloom and will continue in full color for several weeks. Over 4500 specimens occupy the borders along the main walk leading from the southeast corner of Parking Field #4 to the Central Mall.

Sprague Says Democrats Would Kill Home Rule

HICKSVILLE -- J. Russell Sprague, Nassau County Republican leader, in a fiery denunciation of Tammany Hall charged that the Democratic state slate consists of "four hand-picked New York City candidates" when he spoke at a meeting of the Republican Club in the Masonic Temple, here, Friday night.

Sprague said that most people come to Nassau to get away from "corruption and inefficiency of New York City. The Democratic Party, openly admits they want to change our Home Rule Government and that, among other things, they would abolish our fine volunteer fire depts and they would like to set up one centralized school board and only the good Lord knows what would happen to state aid."

Sprague said, "if you want Tammany Hall to control the State of New York, as they control New York City, then you'll say goodbye to the wonderful privilege of having your say at Town Board meetings, your wonderful privilege of attending School Budget meetings and having your say—your wonderful privilege of electing your own Village School Trustees and of participating at Board meetings and making yourself heard, when you have personal problems."

Board of Elections Commissioner William Meisser, who is also chairman of the County GOP Committee, and County Executive A. Holly Patterson, took bows.

A spokesman for the club said that guests at the meeting "were treated to the greatest array of talented speakers, Mr. Francke, has ever assembled."

Others who spoke were Frank A. Gulletta, District attorney; State Assemblyman Joseph Carlino, Howard T. Hogan, township GOP leader, and Samuel Rabin; Hogan and Rabin are candidates for Supreme Court Justices praised for their hard work and energy in getting people registered and out to vote and reminded all that in the 1952 election, the women's vote represented 52 per cent of the total.

J. Raymond McGovern, GOP candidate for Lieutenant Governor, and Assemblyman John J. Burns were also present and spoke briefly. McGovern said that people "are so used to good government in New York state, that they just take it for granted." He urged everyone to get out and vote the straight Republican ticket.

REPORTS FOR DUTY
CHERRY POINT, N. C.—Marine Pfc. Salvatore J. Polit, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Polit of 22 Cedar St., Hicksville, reported to the Marine Corps Air Station here Sept. 30 for duty with the 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing.

CAMPAIGN HEADQUARTERS were opened in Hicksville by the Democrats this week in the former Ayrcaft Restaurant building at the corner of Broadway and Herzog Pl., Hicksville, right at the LIRR crossing. Present for the brief ceremony were William H. McCaffrey Jr. of Plainville, candidate for state assemblyman who was guest of honor (at left) with Thomas G. Evans of 39 Bobwhite Lane, campaign manager. Phone number at the headquarters is HI 3-4629.

Hults Sees Tammany Inroads

PORT WASHINGTON -- "Reapportionment may mean loss of legislative voting power in some areas of New York," State Senator William S. Hults, Jr., said this week at an interview, but it means a great gain to Nassau.

"The Constitution calls for adequate representation in Albany from every section. Nassau's bounding population means more representation. It means we will have three State Senators in Albany in January instead of two, and six Assemblymen instead of four. This total bloc of nine is important. It gives a voice we need to protect ourselves."

NEED FOR SCHOOLS
"It's my opinion that the greatest single problem facing Nassau is schools. More must be built and those we have must be staffed with the best teachers available. If we could build these new schools over a 15 year period, we wouldn't worry over taxes. But, they must go up now, when the youngsters need them. Without schools, we would have a situation like New York's, kids going wrong because there is too much crowding, not enough individual attention to individual children.

"We were able," Hults continued, "to get an additional million and a half from the state for these districts having an extra ordinary increase in attendance. This, of course, in addition to the $25-million allocated by the state. With the added Federal aid which Nassau's Republican Congressmen got, we raised the burden quite a little."

"Of course," Hults continued, "the residents of each school district individually who vote their own budgets and set their own local school taxes. I've had people blame the administration for higher school taxes. I wish more people would attend their annual neighborhood school district meetings, and vote on their own taxes. If they think the proposed new school is too big, they have the right to vote against it!"

"In all," he concluded, "in the past few years school taxpayers in Nassau have been saved over $5 1/2 million by emergency state aid. Since the retirement of the last Democratic Governor we've tripled state aid to education. Why, just last year it is $327 million."

"Tammany has no interest in Nassau schools—and precious little interest in its own, from the lack of things. They are trying to move into Nassau, in fact, Democratic county leader Lawrence McKeeven has invited the Tammany machine into Nassau. Think what that would mean. It's good for Nassau to have that increased bloc in Albany. We'll need every vote to protect ourselves. "A divided bloc would mean a terrific stumbling bloc!"

Urges All-Out Jr Crime Drive

GREAT NECK—Eastman Birkett, Democratic Candidate for State Senator in North Hempstead and the Town of Oyster Bay has called for an all-out attack on the growing problem of juvenile delinquency.

Speaking before the North Bethpage Civic Assoc. recently, he declared: "The shocking fact is that juvenile crime has increased 37 over 40% in the past five years. That we, in Nassau County, are not immune is a matter of daily record in our newspapers. It's high time that New York State took the lead in establishing a bold, comprehensive program for dealing with this vital problem."

Birkett advocated the following six-point program to be undertaken immediately under state sponsorship, guidance and financial assistance:

- (1) Amendment of present laws to provide for sharply different treatment of the "child in trouble" as opposed to the hardened young criminal. Pointing out that the New York law lumps together as juvenile delinquency everything from begging for alms, habitual truancy or profanity to the most brutal crimes of violence, Mr. Birkett urged: "Let's stop coddling the teen-age gangster. But let's continue and improve the present program of probation and guidance for the minor offender who is in trouble at home. Obviously these are not matters which should be handled under the same rules, with techniques, or even in the same courts. Yet such is now the case."
- (2) A substantial increase in the number, training and pay of parole and probation officers, and others dealing with problem children.
- (3) Expansion of recreational facilities to provide additional parks, playgrounds, youth centers and special youth projects.
- (4) A special program of education of teachers and parents to recognize and deal with the symptoms of emotional disturbance.
- (5) Education to prepare children for marriage and parenthood. "It is fantastic but true," declared Birkett, "that while our school curriculum includes courses in typewriting and shop, there is no real education for marriage and raising a family, the two most important careers of all. As a result, our youngsters too often slip into marriage and drift into parenthood utterly unprepared."
- (6) Enactment of legislation to encourage self-policing of comic books, children's TV programs and other mass media of children's entertainment, not through censorship, but through publicity, education and persuasion.

Birkett promised that, if elected one of his first acts as State Senator would be to introduce legislation to carry out this program and other measures for reversing the rising trend in juvenile delinquency.

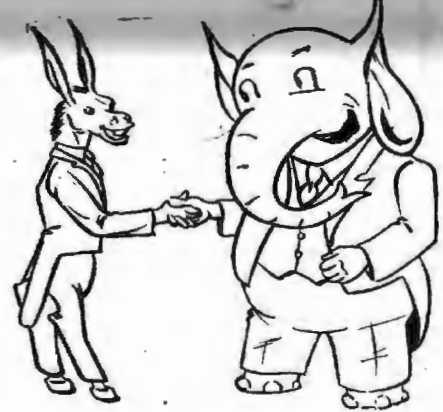

It's grand as a sauce...a salad dressing and a spread!

Do It Yourself

solve these problems with a color card in hand. Even though expert advice is available at your paint dealer's, the decision is up to you. It will take time to make the right choice, but it's worth it.
In addition to paint and roller or brushes, round up other equipment, such as spackles to fill in cracks and nail holes, a putty knife, sandpaper, turpentine or mineral spirits, sponges and buckets. And, of course, you'll need a good, sturdy ladder.

Now get into your oldest clothes and broken-down shoes, and cover your hair with an ancient hat or a bandana.

Move all furniture to the center of the room and cover it with old sheets or cloths — professional painters call them drop cloths. Or, newspapers will do. But use plenty of paper, spreading it every inch of tables and chairs and sofas. Roll up your rugs and cover.

Forget about your own ideas and short cuts in preparing the area to be painted. In making a garden, you can't have prize vegetables and perfect blossoms unless you first prepare the ground and plant good seeds; and so it is with painting. If the paint is to adhere properly you must first have clean, smooth, dry, greaseless and unwarped surfaces. "For this reason," says Benjamin Moore's famous color consultant, Betty Moore, "wash walls to be decorated with a mild solution of trisodium phosphate or a soapless detergent. Rinse them and allow to dry. When dry fill in the tiny cracks that show up like rivers on a map with spackle, using a putty knife for the work. In a few hours you can smooth off any excess spackle with sandpaper. Then your wall is ready for the paint."
On each container the paint manufacturer has printed detailed directions for use. Over long years his chemists have been testing his products to give the user the very best results, and the directions should not be taken lightly, but followed to the letter.
Read the directions concerning the use of roller and tray, too—for like any mechanical device the roller must be used intelligently to get the best results.

Now you're ready to begin the paint job and you start with the highest spot—the ceiling. Have a clean cloth handy for wiping off any paint that splatters onto walls or trim. A small brush does the edges where ceiling and wall meet—the roller does the rest. You'll find it easier than you ever dreamed it would be.

The walls come next. As you go along, apply a two-inch strip around each door and window frame and along the baseboard and ceiling of the room. Use your roller to fill in large wall spaces, taking plenty of time and moving the roller over the surface with light, even strokes.

Once you have the feel of the roller, it's no trick at all. When you have covered one wall you'll find yourself standing back to examine your handiwork and a wave of delight and accomplishment will sweep over you.

If a brush is used instead of a roller, apply the paint in wide, overlapping areas, followed immediately with parallel upward strokes. Never attempt to patch over a spot that has already begun to dry. In painting doors, the panels and beveling should be covered first.

The number of coats needed will depend on the condition and color of your walls. If you are covering a dark surface with light paint, it probably will require two coats. One coat of good quality paint is generally sufficient.

If you follow all directions carefully, you should have a job that even a professional painter would be proud of. And you can honestly say the painting has been a pleasure.

Winner four straight times of the Alliance Division championship, Nassau County Amateur Basketball League Hicksville PBC Alumni will compete in the Senior circuit of the loop during the 1955 campaign.

The decision to run with the stronger division of the league which numbers many ex-college stars came Tuesday night at a meeting of the players.

Feeling was so strong that the motion to change leagues carried 12-2 with Coach Steve Ruggiero leaving it completely to the players.

Despite the tie with the very good Linden, New Jersey club, the Hicksville Field Club still runs in front of the New York Division of the York-Jersey football league.

The standings to date:

New York					New Jersey
	W	L	T	Pts.		W	L	T	Pts.
Hicksville	1	1	1	8	Jersey City	4	1	0	8
Middletown	1	2	1	3	Plainfield	4	1	0	8
Ossining	1	3	0	2	Linden	2	2	1	5
Yonkers	0	2	1	1	West New York	2	3	0	4

The Jersey teams started a week earlier than the New York division and with Jersey City and Plainfield proving the strongest appear to have it a little over the New York teams. Jersey City and Plainfield each have lost to the other. The scores were 7-6 and 12-0.

Hicksville has November dates with Jersey City and Plainfield and hopes to gain some solid footing when Yonkers visits the high school grounds this Sunday at 2:00 p.m.

Yonkers snarled Middletown's bid for the leadership of the York division with a 0-0 tie and if the Black and White are to beat out last year's champions for a playoff berth they will have to take Yonkers into camp.

In another contest—Hicksville. 24-18.

Hicksville High will have the chance to prove it is better than just an average unit this Saturday. The scheduled invasion of Garden City on the Stewart Manor grade school field will not be an easy assignment.

The Trojans edged mighty Port Washington 7-6 and played the usually coy draw with cautious South Side 6-6.

On the record the Comets cannot watch the mark and it is doubtful that they will be able to on the field. Garden City 14, Hicksville 12.

The good fortune of local trotter followers has really come out in the open.

Those who have had faith in John Froelich's fancy pacers have received consistent good dividends.

Froelich for a great many years has been one of Long Island's biggest produce farmers. He recently moved from his Woodbury avenue home to a new house in Brookville.

Just one year in the business Froelich has realized $11,000 in winnings from his Faber Hanover. Faber reportedly cost a good deal more than Quaker Chief which has gone to the post 18 times and won nine with second place gained seven times.

In cool hard cash it represents $26,136 plus a nomination for the next twin Futurity at Yonkers which is expected to go over $75,000 worth.

We stand 18-9 on the year's football selections. This week-end we foresee: Mepham 14, Baldwin 7; Oyster Bay 21, Bethpage 12; East Rockaway 33, Woodmere 0; Farmingdale 7, Manhasset 2; Freeport 18, Lawrence 14; Mineola 12, Glen Cove 7; Great Neck 12, South Side 6; Hempstead 25, Valley Stream 13; Massapequa 14, Levittown 7; Long Beach 7, West Hempstead 0; Malverne 18, Oceanside 7; Port Washington 48, Westbury 0; Sewanhaka JV 12, Wantagh 6; Chaminade 20, Cardinal Hayes 19.

SPORT-O-GRAMS

FOOTBALL!

Football now takes the spotlight. For the next few months it will occupy the center of the sports stage.

Like all team games, it stresses the importance of the group over the individual. For that reason, those who play, can derive great benefits. Of course, it is a sport whose participants must wear the right protective equipment and have good coaching. Under such conditions, it can be quite a game. To keep your car rolling smoothly under any and all conditions, be sure it receives regular attention from reliable mechanics. Without such service, any car is a poor investment. Greenwood Claims Wainwright Neglects Duties For Publicity

SYOSSET—Ernest Greenwood, candidate for Congressman from the 1st District which includes the mid-island area, this week noted the inconsistency of the incumbent office holder and charge that Stuyvesant Wainwright gives so much time to publicity that he neglects his duties in Washington.

Greenwood endeared himself to Republicans and Democrats alike during a two-year term in office as Congressman. Speaking at a meeting of the Syosset Democratic Club, here, on Oct. 11, he recalled that in the 1952 convention campaign F. Ford Hughes, the Suffolk County Republican chairman, complimented Democratic Greenwood for his attendance to his duties in the House of Representatives.

As for Wainwright, the incumbent seeking re-election, Greenwood asserted "we think the young man talks too much and is too anxious to get his name in print. I am going to tell you something about the way our Congressman votes and how he talks. I want you to see how inconsistent he is."

Wainwright voted against a stronger Air Force on July 2, 1953 as the proposal to build 140 air wings was beaten and reduced to 120. Yet, he was in favor of sending our troops into Indo-China.

He voted against federal aid to airports. In Jan. 1954 he voted against the bill to establish an Air Force Academy, similar to West Point for the Army and Annapolis for the Navy.

QUICK CHANGE ARTIST
He entered the House and was elected as a Free Enterprise Republican, then all of a sudden became a Liberal Republican and now as you can see from this poster which I hold in my hand—and it's printed in red ink, Greenwood told the audience, "he has joined the Progressive Republicans. I can say some harsh words about this quick-change artist but I will refrain at this time."

"He had plenty to say," Greenwood continued, "about the wire tapping bill but was absent when the roll call was made. The Majority Leader, Mr. Hallock, made special reference in the House to Wainwright's absence. He had made himself especially conspicuous on that bill. On Aug. 17, 1954 on the Communist Control Act (known as the Dies Amendment), Wainwright was absent and did not vote though he had been around and answered the quorum call on that same day."

The incumbent monopolized the publicity on the question of permanency for Kings Point Academy, Greenwood pointed out, had himself placed on a Special Board created by the Speaker of the House to investigate and get all the facts, then failed to sit on the Board and did not sign the report to the House.

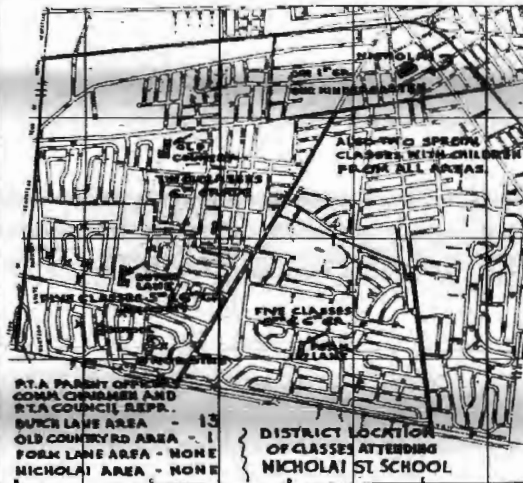

"When the Kings Point matter came before the House while I was in Congress," Greenwood recalled, "Mr. Hall, the Republican congressman from Nassau and myself worked together for the benefit of West Point."

"Wainwright had grabbed the publicity spotlight on Kings Point, to the stage of taking the play away from Becker and Danouian, in whose district Kings Point is located."

"Because of this publicity, Wainwright was placed on a special Board created by the Speaker of the House to go to Kings Point, make an investigation, get all the facts and report back to the House."

"This Board met at Kings Point and it specifically recommended that Kings Point be set up as a permanent institution. This Board report was signed by two Democrats and one Republican—Wainwright did not show up at Kings Point, did not sit on the Board and did not sign the report in

Szendy Questions Representation

THIS MAP of the southwest quarter of Hicksville School District is a part of the School Board minutes for a recent meeting when Trustee Emil J. Szendy, who had prepared it, submitted it to illustrate his contention that "geographic representation on the Citizens' Advisory Committee on Education would not necessarily be provided in selection of committee membership by Parent-Teacher Assoc." Szendy asserted that P-TA officers and committee chairman of Nicholai St. School, which serves four school sectors of the district (as illustrated) are "almost exclusively from Dutch Lane area."

He pointed out "election of officers of Nicholai PTA, included three or four who only have children in that school this term and did not have children in the school at the time the elections took place last May. Majority of parents were only notified June 20 that they would have children in Nicholai this term."

Szendy also noted that Harold Robbins, Nicholai School principal, as well as Board Trustees Joseph Cawley and Richard Schoel, who advocated P-TA selections, also live in the Dutch Lane Area. Szendy and Arthur L. Eirich both stated they opposed Advisory Committee member selection by P-TAs because they felt the "important work of the committee should be open to all interested citizens, whether they are P-TA members or not, representing as far as possible all sections of the District."

See Change In School Areas

HICKSVILLE — Assemblyman John J. Burns expressed the opinion here recently that several mid-

Island school districts may have sufficient population in the next ten years to "stand alone" on the question of providing high school education for their communities.

Speaking at a meeting of the Central Island Women's Republican Club at the VFW Hall, here Burns recalled that consolidation of Plainedge, Plainview, Island Trees and Bethpage districts had been recommended by the State

Dept. of Education in 1952. However, the subsequent development of these areas now indicates the possibility of separate high school construction and the need for enactment of special legislation to be given fiscal aid until the districts are able to "stand alone", probably by 1965, he stated.

Genesta Strong, leader of the County GOP Women's Federation and assemblyman for the district covering the town of North Hempstead, spoke of her activities in the state legislature and urged more activity by women.

He pointed out the fact that he was especially appointed.

"On July 30, 1954, he was called upon to apologize in the House about his vote on the day before, on which he confessed that he had cast his vote erroneously and earning the wrath of the other New York members who were equally in support of the Kings Point Academy."

Greenwood concluded: "Do the voters wish to continue this kind of judgement in Congress or do they believe its time for a change?"
