Litterbugging Is Newest Sport.

By CHARLES H. De SHAW
"Litterbugging" seems to be the popular sport around the West Village and Parkway Greens in South Hicksville and no apparent is being made to clean them up. Even store keepers appear to have become complacent about this condition, and only once or twice weekly do they make perfunctory passes with their brooms, for appearance sake evidently. The sidewalks, streets and grass plots, are in such deplorable condition as to give the impression that this is a slum area of Hicksville. Until this condition is remedied, the stores are losing a considerable amount of business. The West Green is the worst of the two, but the Parkway Green is getting there.

Wander when the State Highway Dept. is going to cut down all the weeds along Newbridge Rd.? Not only are they a menace to the health of the community, being the breeding place for rodents, insects, and germs, but they are also a traffic hazard. A car entering Newbridge Rd. from a side street does so at its own risk, since it is almost impossible to view traffic over the height of these weeds. Soon this situation will result in numerous accidents, and possibly loss of life. Is this what the State is waiting for?

Miss Joan Melire, a Kindergarten teacher at Dutch Lane school this year, plans to teach a Second Grade class next year, and her present class is sorry that it's not the First Grade.

"Dutch Lane school did it again recently at their Moving-Up Day ceremonies. Knowing that at best this type of ceremony usually becomes very tiring and boring to many, they decided to institute a little humor into it, and while the Glee Club was singing "Little Red School House" presented a skit on the stage to set out the words of the song. Howls of laughter greeted this presentation, and the applause was tremendous. Hats off to Dutch Lane... and keep up the good work.

Alice Scholfield, Music Teacher at Lee Ave. for the past few years, will be teaching at Fern Place School in Plainview next year. The main factor in her decision was that she could walk to school from her home, which is an asset in the winter. It is rumored that she was recommended to Plainview who after examining her background and qualifications grabbed her before she could change her mind. We are sorry to see Alice leave, and hope she will be happy in her new assignment. Our loss is Plainview's gain.

Dutch Lane Holds Moving-Up Day

HICKSVILLE — Dutch Lane School held its first "Moving-Up Day" program on June 21, for the 64 students of the Sixth Grade. The ceremonies were held in the auditorium, and Donald Apt, Principal of Division Ave. Jr. High School, was the principal speaker. To the more than 200 persons who attended, the program was both inspirational and enjoyable.

Participating in the Moving-Up Day ceremonies were the school band and Glee Club, both under the direction of Miss Helen Garvelle.

The stage was decorated with a blue backdrop with white letters spelling out "Dutch Lane Class of '66", and hundreds of flowers which had been cut by parents only that afternoon and presented to the school, while the students of honor wore boutonnières and corsages.

Howard T. Scholefield, Dutch Lane principal, in his word of welcome to the audience, said in part, that the faculty regrets the 64 leaving since they are very proud of these students, but were happy to see them advancing to a higher education.

Apt in his remarks said that perhaps the students would like him to speak on some of the things going through their mind, the minds of their parents, the minds of their future teachers, and the minds of everyone at this particular time of the year.

"You are going into Junior High thinking of yourselves as young men and young ladies," he said, "and in a very short period of time you are going to begin thinking of yourselves as adults. Both of these thoughts require that you act as such. Your parents have high hopes for all of you, as they see you moving up, and it is up to you to see that these hopes continue."

He mentioned that he had brought along the Code of Behavior drawn up by the Jr. High P-T-A, and read parts of it to those present. He also mentioned that a motion picture of the Code of Behavior would be made that week, and that it would be shown over TV Channel 11 in a few weeks.

The Sixth Grade teachers presented certificates of achievement to each student, and Principal Scholefield presented them with pins. A special award went to Linda Gridley, who was presented with a trophy awarded by the Hicksville Lion's Club, for outstanding Scholarship, Citizenship, and Leadership.

Following the ceremonies, the Sixth Grade formed a Reception Line in the corridor to accept the well wishes of parents, relatives, friends, and neighbors.

Before You Go On Vacation

The N.Y.S. Assoc. of Chiefs of Police suggests several steps to be taken by vacation-ing families: (1) Leave a lamp or two connected to an auto-matic timer to turn lights on and off regularly each night; (2) cancel all deliveries such as milk, newspapers and mail; (3) have your lawn mowed and your sidewalk swept by a neighbor at last once a week; (4) notify the police and a neighbor that you are leav-ing. Ask the neighbor to check regularly and report anyone suspicious, and (5) don't draw blinds, don't leave valuables around the house and don't ad-vertise your departure.

Goodfellow Tells Civics Of Plans

Thomas Goodfellow, President of the Long Island Railroad, was Guest Speaker at the North Bethpage Civic Assoc. meeting, June 20. The topic under discussion was Com-muter Problems.

Goodfellow began by outlining general differences which exist be-tween the LIRR and other rail-roads, especially in regard to the ratio of passenger to freight traf-fic, which has a marked economic effect upon railroad operation, he said. He pointed out that although the LIRR is one of the nation's smallest railroads in terms of trackage, having only 365 miles of track, it carries the heaviest pas-senger load, having transported about 75 million last year.

As far as the local Station is concerned, it has been cleaned and platform extended. Future plans here include extending the West-bound platform and getting rid of the team track. The freight station will be torn down and the passen-ger station will be rebuilt on the Westbound side.

WELCOME NEW MEMBERS

Members of the North Bethpage Civic Association were pleased to welcome three new members to the organization at the June 20 meet-ing. The new members are Mrs. Sybil Bergman, 57 MacArthur Ave.; Anthony Amadio, 29 Devon Road; and Rocco A. Sabino, 72 Spruce Ave.

Robert Feuss, Chairman of the Water District Problems for the NBPA, announced at this meeting that he had visited the Water Com-missioners to discuss the low water pressure which has occasionally plagued Bethpage.

The Commissioners told Mr.

Henry Rowan, Michael Stein, Dennis Tice, Thomas Vogenberger, William Walsh, Robert Woolan, Paul Zuccoli, Nancy Fox.

Also, Margaret Ahearn, Linda Aspen, Elizabeth Bopp, Linda Bow-en, Janet Carroll, Jo Ann Call, Pamela Call, Kathleen Cooke, Kathleen Dowd, Linda Echevarria, Stephanie English, Janet Fallar, Sheila Fitzpatrick, Patricia Gibson.

Also, Susan Haney, Jane Harlin, Clare Harvey, Joan Harvey, Karen Hemmer, Jean Hemmer, Sharon Kelly, Christine La Pointe, Ann Larkin, Kathleen McCawley, Eileen McGlone, Eileen McGuirk, Patricia Manly, Andrea Marusevich, Patricia Mills.

Also, Theresa O'Connor, Linda Pastel, Judith Pero, Kathleen Pyne, Susan Quarisma, Kathleen Reard-on, Patricia Slattery, Lucia Taga-riello, Annette Visser, Catherine Ward, Susan White, Mary Bondar, Ellen Butcher.

KIDS TO CAMP, the annual project of Hicksville Kiwanis Club, saw 35 youngsters leave for two weeks vacations at Camp Kiwanis on Eastern Long Island this week. Ten Kiwanians were present to see that the children were comfortable and at the same time served them with beverages from John Staryk of Fairway Farms. Club member Mainard L. Chittenden and his wife accompanied the children on the trip to camp. Kiwanians present, reading from the right, included Albert Heuer, Herman Lipschultz, Chan Henn, Joseph Oliver, James Walters, Staryk, President Sam Pace and Dr. Charles Masek (hand on child's shoulder), chairman of the project. Sea Scouts Mark New Milestone

HICKSVILLE — Scout Week marked another milestone for Sea Scouting here. 1956 makes 20 years that Ship 18 has been organized and we are looking forward to a big year of expansion. Those in Ship 18 at present are receiving as much enjoyment, pleasure, and excitement in Sea Scouting as did the fellows who were in the ship during the past twenty years.

Plans for the first quarter of 1956 were varied. We started off the year by going to the Motorboat Show. The exhibits were interesting and educational and the fellows, who went, received many ideas that will be utilized in our program.

At present, we are attempting to finish our landship so that in the next few weeks we can set the landship up and conduct our meetings on board.

In conjunction with our meetings, we are going to start teaching Morse code as well as semaphore signalling, so that members in our ship can send and receive both adequately. Ultimately we will establish a signalling team to compete with the other Sea Scout Ships in Nassau County.

With spring and the boating season almost upon us, we had the job of getting our boats ready for the water. We built two 12 foot skiffs and at present they are equipped with two sets of oars each. We have the use of several outboard motors to give us power in our skiffs.

Plans are being formulated to equip each boat with a centerboard. In addition to our boat maintenance program, we are making (Please Turn To Page 14)

HERALD WANT ADS GET RESULTS

THE OLE TIMER REMEMBERS:

Tadpoles, Frost Ice Plant

Yep, one of those people who makes surveys for the schools came up with the fact not so long ago that 85 per cent of the people living in Hicksville today have been giving Hicksville as their address for less than five years. That makes anyone who has been around for 5 years and one day a real ole timer. . . . It's kinda nice to look back a little, sometimes for only a matter of months. You kinda get the drift of things today if you know a little of what took place before as they used to say in the serials. . . . And speaking of serials, remember the old movie house on W. Nicholas St.—now a dress factory. We remember one spooky serial they ran for weeks and weeks called the "Green Archer". They even used a green light (or maybe it was a filter) while the piano music put you in the right atmosphere. . . . And we recall the night they showed a World War I movie—think it was the "Big Parade". The place was so packed we didn't get to see half the show. Just stood there in the mob and wondered if the picture was as good as the folks nearer the screen said it was. Since the picture was a non-talker, audience jabber was in order. . . . And how respectable bowling and pool have become. We remember a place on Broadway which mom and dad branded "out of bounds" because it was a "pool hall". The boys around town used to call it affectionately "the Rat Hole". . . . And who recalls the Frost Ice works—now a truck terminal—with its constant outflow of icy water along the RR where we kids caught tadpoles. . . . And if you have been around say 30 years or more you remember the steam power plant at Voight's mill and the fact that they blew a steam whistle at lunchtime every day. Refractor has his paint store in what used to be the engine room. . . . Time marches. . . .

OF LEGAL INTEREST:

Family Responsibility

By ROBERT W. CORCORAN

Member of the
New York State Bar

Law reports of recent date have seen an increase in the number of cases concerned with the question of the obligation of relatives to the support members of their immediate or distant families. Such litigation, which focuses attention upon the sociological problem dealing with the weakening or disintegration of family ties, also serves to remind the community of relatively unknown provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure and of the Social Welfare Law, which impose upon certain members of the family responsibility for the support of certain other of its members.

In rather sweeping language the statute makes the husband, wife, father, mother, grandparent or child of a recipient of public relief, or of a person liable to become in need of public assistance, responsible for such person's support. The obligation thus imposed is measured by the ability of the relatives to discharge it, and cannot be enforced when the facts establish that they are not financially able to bear the burden. In those instances where one relative is unable to wholly support the poor person, the court may direct two or more relatives to contribute according to their respective financial abilities.

The litigation which concerns itself with this question arises, in most cases, from the efforts of local welfare officials to recover for services rendered in public hospitals and institutions to persons who profess to be without sufficient funds to pay for their maintenance and treatment. As effective for many years, the law was so written and judicially interpreted that a person against whom a claim was asserted under the statute could escape the need for contribution by showing that at the time the services were rendered to the indigent person, he, the person charged, did not have financial ability to pay, even though his present finances may be adequate to pay the amount due. A recent amendment, however, specifically states that no claim of a public welfare official against the estate of a person liable under the statute shall be barred or defeated by any lack of financial ability on the part of the person against whom the claim is made during the period the assistance and care was received. This latter amendment, and the tenor of the court decisions rendered in dealing with this subject, indicates a trend to relieve public institutions from the burden of supporting persons whose relatives are capable of contributing, wholly or in part, to their support.

Proclaims Navy Recruiting

PROCLAIMING US Navy Recruiting Month in Nassau, County Executive A. Holly Patterson, left, signs the official document. Looking on are Petty Officer First Class Alfred Tanguay, representing the Hempstead US Navy Recruiting Station, and John Deming, regional director of the New York Dept. of Commerce, representing the Long Island Public Relations Assoc. The LIPRA is sponsoring two or more special "Long Island Companies" of Navy recruits this month. The recruits, from Nassau and Suffolk Counties, will be assigned to train together, and will be presented with special company banners by the Assoc. at swearing-in ceremonies to be held late this month.

HERALD READER OPINION

Maloney Refuses To Answer

To the Editor:
Dr. Joseph F. Maloney's refusal (Herald, June 7) to answer the charges against him because they were "levied partially by renegade Catholics" would be more impressive if he had not refused to answer the same charge in the Brooklyn Tablet, official organ of the Catholic diocese.

Who levied the charges makes no difference. They are either true or false. When he ran for our school board, he sought the support of people of all religions. He owes all of them an answer, not just some alleged renegade Catholics.

Inasmuch as Dr. Maloney lets it be prominently known that he is a representative of Fordham University, he should publicly answer the charges—or parents should think twice before sending their sons to study under him at Fordham.

The enclosed correspondence published in the Tablet is interesting, especially the editor's note offering space for Dr. Maloney to answer the serious charges made against him and indirectly against Fordham. No answer has appeared to date.

J. McHILL

From Tablet, June 2:
BACKGROUND ON SCHOOL ELECTION IN HICKSVILLE

Dear Sir: The editorial in THE TABLET on the Long Island school board elections and several subsequent letters in the Readers' Forum are certainly a healthy sign of the growing alertness to the left-wing activity in our half of the Diocese.

I am disappointed, however, that no one has mentioned the Hicksville situation. Here we had Fordham University students on a political science field trip who were "used" to hand out literature for two candidates who failed to distinguish themselves as anti-Communists.

One of these is Joseph F. Maloney, an assistant professor of political science at Fordham who apparently was the man responsible for getting the students involved.

He is a member of the American Association of University Professors, which recently held that members of the Communist Party shall be permitted to teach in American colleges and universities; that taking the Fifth Amendment in response to questions by government agencies regarding past or present Communist affiliations should not be grounds for dismissal; and that those colleges and universities that have dismissed professors for taking the Fifth Amendment should be censured.

When asked during the campaign if he agreed with these principles, Professor Maloney took a little Fifth Amendment of his own and refused to answer.

He was running on the same ticket with Milton G. Leavitt, a Brooklyn school teacher, who was asked if he ever opposed the State's Feinberg Law, which is used to keep Communists out of our schools. Mr. Leavitt categorically denied it and declared the implication was a "smear".

When informed his name appeared on a Teachers' Union brief to that effect, he issued a sworn statement that it was used without his permission. His signature was then produced but he didn't say he had signed it without his permission; he just cried "smear" again.

Professor Maloney came to his rescue by conducting an "investigation" with an anonymous (or was it fictitious?) Army official, which cleared Leavitt.

Meanwhile both continued to cry "smear." The smear, evidently, consisted in asking Mr. Maloney and Leavitt their feelings toward Communist and Fifth Amendment Communist teachers.

Messrs. Maloney and Leavitt had asked the taxpayers to "vote for us as a team or reject us as a team." The taxpayers, some undoubtedly conscious of THE TABLET's warning that the leftwing and ultra "liberal" fringes are threatening to capture the educational setup, did as they requested. They rejected them as a team.

By printing this little resume, you could help alert our neighbors as to what's going on. It also may prove a revelation to the Fordham students, who admitted they didn't know too much concerning the candidates they were trying to get elected.

WARREN DAUSCH.

Hicksville.

And in Tablet on June 9:
MR. MALONEY PARTIALLY SETS RECORD STRAIGHT

Dear Sir: Last week you published a grossly misleading letter purporting to give the background of the recent school board elections in Hicksville. The errors in this letter were so viciously compounded that obviously a thorough reply would be too involved.

To partially set the record straight, I would like to repeat what I affirmed in the last public meeting of the campaign: I know and understand the Feinberg Law; I endorse the Feinberg Law in that under no circumstances would I tolerate a Communist Party member teaching in the Hicksville public schools; if elected trustee, I would enforce the Feinberg Law.

Further, I believe that anyone who is a Communist is so obviously morally and mentally incompetent as to be totally disqualified to teach at the primary, secondary or college levels.

JOSEPH F. MALONEY.

Hicksville.

Editor's Note—If Mr. Maloney wishes to correct the "viciously compounded" errors page is available to him in THE TABLET.

Would Limit Guest List

To the Editor:

For years I have looked forward to the day my child would graduate from High School, only to have that day spoiled by grandstand spectators who had no more respect or appreciation for the solemn and dignified ceremony than they would have had for a dog fight. In all my life I have never seen a more rude or disrespectful audience. It began with the amateur photographers who swamped the field on the procession and obstructed the view for the other parents who naturally wanted to see their own child. Such disregard for the pleasure and rights of others was directly an act of the adults—and that is the answer for the juvenile trouble which many parents, responsible for it, decry.

After watching the actions of the people in the stands Sunday, I know where their children get their "devil-may-care" attitude. From the tree grows the branch, and if parents can't set a good pattern for the children to follow, then they have no right to become aggravated when the children act like animals, too.

My entire afternoon was spoiled by the crying babies, yammering children who were tired and wanted to go home—in loud voices—and the friends and relatives who just came for the ride. It was quite obvious that the majority of the spectators had never seen a graduation, such as the one presented by Hicksville High School before, and instead of being awed and impressed by the beauty and dignity of it, they turned it into a three ring circus.

My sympathies to Miss Farley, and her staff, who spent many hours, planning, rehearsing and dreaming of the beautiful ceremony—only to have it spoiled by a lot of boorish spectators who did not have the intelligence to appreciate it.

Perhaps the answer is—limit the guest list to parents only, and let the others find a carnival some where—for they have no place at a graduation ceremony.

About 60 members and their wives enjoyed the dancing after the dinner. It was announced at the dinner that Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stewart were married 38 years. Mr. Stewart was the first commander of the Jericho VFW. Asked for the formula for a happy marriage, he said: "marry the right woman and stick with her."

Digging Worries Neighborhood

By MARGE KERN

On June 8th Richard William Schmidt arrived to live at 75 Cedar St. He weighed 7 lbs. and joins his parents Mr. and Mrs. George Schmidt and brother Robert.

Congratulations also go to Jack Murray of 85 Cedar St. who celebrated his birthday, June 14. Morris Collock had a birthday on June 16. Robert and Richard Jones had a bout with the mumps; and Donna and Judy Cannella had the measles. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Woodworth had a 14th Wedding Anniversary June 21st.

Melissande Ranno of 2 Beech St. had a birthday party on Saturday. Her birthday was on June 5th. Her guests included Donna Lombardi, Patricia Barhold, Barbara Kosinski, Patricia Weirzbowski, Elaine Harrell, Sura Gerstenfeld, and her cousin Martha Sawager. Besides her two sisters Aurelia and Pamela. Songs, games and prizes for all made this a happy and festive occasion. Everyone enjoyed themselves.

Donna Lombardi had the cast taken off June 19th. Let's have no more falls Donna.

A patio party was held on June 17 at our home. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dison of Bay Ridge and their children, Cheryl and Jill, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Doly of Queens Village and their daughters Pat and Carol; Mr. and Mrs. H. Gwoltney and sons Herb Jr. and Bobby. We enjoyed grilled franks, salads and trimmings and also saw our family movies. (hope they weren't bored by them).

On June 25 Mr. and Mrs. Lombardi of 72 Cliff Dr. will celebrate their 17th Wedding Anniversary. Jean Figliola had a birthday on June 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Peat of Cedar St. announced the arrival of Andrew at the Mid-Island Hospital on June 12th. He weighed 9 lbs. 2 ozs. and joins two sister, Barbara and Jo Anne. Andrew will be christened Sunday, June 23rd. Congratulations!

Registration for future Brownies and Girl Scouts took place June 20 at East St. School. Everyone who wants their daughter in these activities are relieved and happy that finally they settled the registration for this, quite a few inquires about this led to nowhere.

With the arrival of summer please motorists drive slow in residential streets as more children will be playing outdoors. Observe the slow down signs and save a life! Be safe not sorry.

Francine Steltato had an accident and injured her eye. Hope you feel better soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Keough of 88 Cliff Dr. have another baby girl, named Claire Marie. She made her appearance at Mercy Hospital, Rockville Centre and weighed 7 lbs. 4 oz. Claire joins her brothers, Jack and Jimmy, and sister, Mary.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sluder vacationed at Ellenville, N. Y. Their children, Doris, Lydia, and Buster, will spend the rest of the summer with their grandparents upstate.

Lydia Sluder just recovered from the mumps. Also on the list of diseases was Barbara Jean Figliola, who had the chicken-pox, and Larry Steltato, the measles.

The cesspool that has been opened for some time now finally has been fenced in thanks to some protests by neighbors. It was reported unsafe, and one child even fell in and had to be pulled out with rope. A bulldozer hired to fill in the hole did so, but it was still collapsing after the job was completed.

Richard William Schmidt of 75 Cedar St. was christened Sunday, July 1, with quite a few guests being entertained afterwards.

Despite the fact that we have to pay to attend our local beaches, it isn't discouraging the crowds, for the past two weekends we have packed a lunch and visited them, and found it quite enjoyable.

This year, though, rubber tubes are banned. They are considered a nuisance, and too much time is spent by the life guards chasing after them.

If you are going on vacation, let me know, so I can get in my column.

Don't forget our civic picnic, July 21st. You're sure to have an enjoyable time. Come and join the fun. The afternoon is strictly for children.

Mr. and Mrs. Lombardi are entertaining Mike's parents for a while. Hope his Dad feels better in our quiet community, for he resides in the Bronx and is used to the noise that exists there.

THE GREEN THUMB:

End Of June Check Up

By ALMA W. CRAIB

This is a good time to check up on your garden house-keeping. There is still time to sow annuals, and it is not too late to move most perennials, if your border picture does not please you. That is assuming, of course, that if you shift a plant, you take a large ball of earth with it, and do it quickly, watering well and shading from the sun for a day or two.

Shrubs that have finished flowering should be pruned now, if they need it. A forsythia that stands alone as a specimen plant should have its long sweeping branches left untouched, to become a mountain of gold in early spring before anything else is in bloom. If the sprays touch the ground they must be cutback a bit or they will take roots—you can let them do that if you want more plants—but a forsythia that is pruned severely becomes a thing of stiff, ugly branches. If it is part of a hedge, prune only where it touches other shrubs.

Spirea, too, needs little pruning. Never, never, give any shrub a "crewcut", if you want a low-growing bush, there are many that are naturally dwarf in habit.

Primroses and iris should be divided as soon as they finish blooming. Primroses multiply rapidly, and it is easy to see which ones have several crowns, each of which will make a new plant. The roots are much intertwined, but with a little patience you can shake off all the earth and gently pull the roots apart. Replant them in a shady spot in ground enriched with bonemeal, and keep well watered all summer. There are such lovely things, blooming all thru April and May, in shades of yellow, orange, and red to palest pink, and increasing so rapidly that from three original plants we have in a few years two borders, each about 12 feet long and the plants three deep.

The glory of spring bulbs is gone now, and the dying foliage is an annoyance to near gardeners, but it must never be cut off until it has turned brown if you want good blooms next year. The plant is making its food for the coming season, now, and storing it in the bulb. Tulips seem to die off rather quickly, but daffodils seem to take forever to disappear. Braiding the leaves and laying them on the ground makes them less conspicuous, but putting them back of a tall plant or under the edge of shrubbery, where you don't have to look at them, is probably the best procedure.

All the perennials appreciate an extra feeding when they are coming into bloom, and it is best given in liquid form. The water-soluble fertilizers have done away with the messy liquid manure recommended for that purpose in all older garden manuals. They are simple to mix and use. A feeding now gives the plant that lift which produces lush foliage and lovely flowers.

Spraying at regular intervals all thru the season is a must. The bugs and worms are ever with us, and our humid nights on L. I. encourage all sorts of fungus diseases. Gardening is like keeping a home; constant attention to details at the proper time makes for a beautiful well kept place.

LEGEND OF IRIS

The Greeks have a legend that Iris, the goddess of the rainbow, once walked the earth, and wherever her footsteps touched the ground, there sprang up delicate,

Hults Discusses State Legislature

Sen. William S. Hults was the principal speaker at the June 20 meeting of the Plainview Republican Club held at the Fire House. Some 150 people heard the Senator review the highlights of the last legislative session.

In covering some of the important pieces of legislation which affected Nassau, Sen. Hults made particular mention of the emergency state aid bill co-sponsored by him and Assemblyman John J. Burns. This bill was designed to provide Plainview with additional emergency state aid above and beyond the regular state aid for which the district is eligible.

"It was interesting to note," Hults said, "that when this emergency state aid bill came on the floor of the Senate, the Democratic Senators voted as a bloc against it." A spokesman for the Republican Club later said that the recorded vote was 35 Republicans for and 23 Democrats against.

"The emergency bill which was specifically introduced to aid Plainview due to its tremendous population growth since last year should bring to the school district a substantial sum of additional money in excess of $100,000."

heavenly flowers in all the hues of the rainbow. This is not hard to believe as we look at a border of the lovely blossoms that look so fragile and exotic, but are actually as sturdy as a dandelion, and are easily grown by an amateur gardener.

Most of us think of iris in terms of the Paganis or bearded variety sometimes called German iris, which are most widely known. These produce huge blossoms in the most exquisite tones of every pastel color, and in rich, dark shades of mahogany red, purple, blue, brown, and shining gold. They grow from thick rhizome with many stringy roots attached, which can live for a long time out of the ground. That is probably why they are found all over the world, far from their native land in the Far East.

The Crusaders brought them to Europe from the Holy Land, and they became the "Lily of France", the fleur-de-lis. The three-petal arrangement of the blossom became a symbol of the Trinity and were much used in ecclesiastical art in the Middle Ages. The earliest American settlers brought them to the New World, and many a pioneering daughter took a clump from her mother's garden on the long covered-wagon trek, to plant it beside a log cabin or soddy, all over the western states.

These early "flats" as they were usually called, were either blue or yellow but by many cross-breeding the hybridizers have developed the exquisite colors of our modern irises and have doubled the size of the blooms. Several people have asked me what I feed my iris to get such enormous blossoms. It isn't the food; it's the variety. Personally, I like the older, smaller ones just as well and find them better for flower arrangements, but the new ones do have colors never dreamed of a few years ago.

Long Island is an ideal place to grow iris; it loves light soil, good drainage, and hot sun. Water is important in spring, but a thorough baking with little moisture is the normal condition through the summer in its native habitat. The one thing it cannot tolerate is being overgrown with grass or weeds that creep between the rhizomes. Under good conditions growth is so rapid that it is necessary to divide the clumps about once in 3 years, and that should be done between the time they finish bloom-

Huits of Port Washington (at left) with Anthony Ocker, president of the Plainview Republican Club at a meeting in the Firehouse where Huits reviewed the achievements of the Republicans in the New York State legislature. The Republican majority, Huits pointed out, passed the most sweeping aid-to-schools program in state history, increasing appropriations by a record $6.3 million to an all time high of $416 million for 1956-57. Of special interest to Plainview was the special emergency aid measure introduced jointly by Huits and Assemblyman John Burns of Sea Cliff, and enacted into law. Sea Scouts plans to construct a small boat shack that we can use for the storage of our gear. We hope to find available space near our anchorage in Oyster Bay to erect this boat shack. This will save considerable time now used in transporting our gear to and from Hicksville each time we use the boats. Thus more time will be available to enjoy ourselves afloat.

Emphasis will be placed on advancement during the next few months and portions of our meetings will be devoted to periods of instruction. Some of the necessary requirements for advancement are: Marlinspike (Knots, splices, etc.); Boat Maintenance; Ground Tackle (anchors, mooring, etc.); Sea History; Galley; First Aid; Safety; Navigation (relative bearings and compass); Boat Handling; Quarterdeck (Cannass and Sail Stitching); and Drill, put to name a few.

Plans are being made with other Sea Scout Ships in Nassau County for several overnight and weekend cruises. We are also working on some day rendezvous and a possible regatta with intership competition. During the past few months the number of Sea Scout Ships in Nassau County have risen from six to nine, and we hope that the end of the year will see number increased.

We still need additional adults for our Ship's Committee. Our program is for boys 14 years and older and should anyone desire further information concerning our program contact either Mate Walter O. Staehleor, Wells 5-2586; Skipper Otto F. Schetm Walnut 1-5594.

If you're saving for your independence...

...where you save does make a difference

Every advantage counts when you're saving for your "Independence Day." That's why it pays to put your savings in an insured Savings and Loan Association. You benefit by many important advantages. Excellent returns from your money is one advantage. Efficient service from men who know how to make your dollars work harder for you is another. And, of course, your money is safe because in insured Associations your savings are protected by sound management and substantial reserves. They are insured up to $10,000 by the FSILIC—an agency of the U. S. Government. These are the reasons why Americans are putting more of their savings account dollars in insured Savings and Loan Associations than anywhere else! Whether you're saving for an "Independence Day" or a "rainy day", visit your nearby insured Association tomorrow.
