STATE OFFICIALS CLAIM:

MORE SIGNALS WOULD ADD TO CONGESTION

HICKSVILLE -- Aroused local residents were attempting this week to obtain improvement in traffic conditions in the vicinity of Mid Island Plaza, particularly on North Broadway above John St., as travel conditions became most difficult just prior to the holidays. Lawrence A. Roman, as chairman of the Public Utilities Committee of the Civic and Community Assoc., noted his efforts have been going on for the past two years.

At the same time, Allan Goldstein, as chairman of Civic Affairs for the Glenbrook Civic Assoc. was attempting to get action from the Public Service Commission and the State Traffic Commission on problems in traffic movement caused by lowered RR crossing gates near the station.

Roman pointed out that for two years he has been petitioning together with his neighbors for traffic signals on North Broadway at Notre Dame and Thorman Avenues. Mr. E. Gould, district engineer of the state Dept. of Public Works, answered that his office is "fully aware of the fact that it is difficult at times to cover the traffic stream on Broadway from these streets."

"In our study of the traffic conditions at the above mentioned intersections, we have come to the conclusion that the installation of additional signals at the present time will serve only to further congest and slow traffic in the area."

Gould wrote that studies have shown a minimum of six accidents a year where signals are installed which, he said, is more than the accident frequency at the present time.

"We propose to reconstruct Broadway as a divided highway from John St. north to the Jericho Turnpike this coming year," he added. This reconstruction will provide considerable additional highway capacity which will materially

North Shore Balladeers gave a fine performance at the Mid Island Plaza and drew an audience of over 300 despite a wet and rain Sunday afternoon. In the bottom picture, the East St. School Glee Club singings at the Mid Island Plaza also. (Photos by Frank Mallett and Jim Healy)

Stackler Answers School Board Dear Jean:

HICKSVILLE -- Walter G. Stackler and Leonard Frank, builders and owners of Mid-Island Shopping Plaza, "do not agree with the interpretation of the Town Attorney" regarding the restrictive covenant as to the closing of York, Prose and Windsor Streets, but they are willing to close the streets in question if they can arrange for an exchange of a portion of their property with that owned by the school district.

Stackler replied this week to the letter of school Attorney Harry H. Goebel and the partners "were greatly shocked at the tenor of your letter and the implications of some of the statements therein contained."

May we state unequivocally and affirmatively that we have at all times, not only in our dealings with the school district but in our everyday business dealings, been open and aboveboard in all our transactions.

Stackler said in his letter that while the Plaza owners did meet with Town Attorney Michael Sullivan and Supervisor Lewis N. Waters on Sept. 6, "it was never conceded at that time that the Town Board had any right to close these streets. In the interest of harmony and to attempt to solve the difficult problem, we volunteered to comply with their suggestion and did immediately order closing and barricading of York, Prose and Windsor Streets."

He added "we do not agree with the Town Attorney's interpretation of the restrictive covenant which has now been raised with respect to that portion of our property adjacent to these three streets. It is our contention, and it has always been our contention, that at no time was it intended to close off existing streets by fencing. If our arrangements for the exchange of school property are consummated, we will permanently fence off the three streets referred to, to prevent any traffic from entering into Burns st. and renounce any right to uphold legally our interpretation of the restrictive covenants."

He continued "we have taken the liberty of discussing this letter with the Town Attorney who has authorized us to state to you that he is in agreement with the contents of this letter."

The matter will be reported to the School Board by Goebel at its session tomorrow (Fri.) night.

In Olden Days Army Signal Corps Was U.S. Weather Prognosticator

WASHINGTON -- The "weather man" is the target of a lot of abuse. So the U.S. Army's Signal Corps is just as pleased that it no longer has the responsibility for prognosticating in a field so close to every American's life.

It did have the job from 1870, when Congress first authorized a national weather service. Until 1894 when the Department of Agriculture took over.

The logic of placing the weather service in the hands of the War Department was one of economy and efficiency.

It was chiefly because of its weather work that the Signal Corps got involved in Arctic exploration. One expedition, led by Lieutenant Adolphus W. Greely who later became the Army's Chief Signal Officer, reached the farthest point north that anyone had been up to that time. Only Greely and a handful of survivors returned after rescue in 1884 but their records were priceless and Greely became a recognized Arctic expert.

In the last century, the purely military applications of meteorology were slight and various dissatisfactions arose on both sides over military management of a function that was essentially civilian in nature. Hence the transfer of the weather reporting function in 1891.

With World War I's long-range artillery, aerial navigation, and gas warfare, complex weather study became a matter of real military urgency. Since then the Signal Corps has been back in the weather business. Its research and development for military purposes frequently result in discoveries that are useful to the civilian weather man.

HE THOUGHT HE WAS RIGHT

"I'll fix that...!" Homer was mad, pretty mad! The bright lights of the oncoming car were blinding him.

When he first saw the lights of the other car, Homer had lowered his lights, but the other driver hadn't. Homer had then flicked his lights a few times to remind him.

It hadn't done any good. The other's lights still glared into Homer's eyes.

Finally his temper snapped. At the precise moment when it would have its maximum effect, Homer turned on his brights, right in the other driver's face.

The effect was more than Homer bargained for. The other driver, blinded by the flare-up, lost control of his car and hurtled across the road!

As Homer's head hit the windshield, he saw a sudden burst of light far brighter than any headlights.

Although the other driver was wrong in not dimming his lights, that didn't make Homer's action right. Flashing his headlights in the other driver's face just as they were about to pass was an invitation to disaster. One blinded driver is bad enough. Two set up a sure accident situation.

What Homer should have done was fix his eyes on the edge of the road to his right, thus avoiding most of the glare and still having a steering guide to enable him to stay on the road.

This material prepared in the interest of safer driving as part of the Allstate Insurance Company Safety Crusade.

Cub Leaders Set Pow-Wow

LEVITTOWN - The Pow-Wow Committee of the Tri-Parkway District announced that reservations are coming in at a rapid rate for the Pow-Wow which will be held Sunday, Jan. 20, at the Division School here.

The Pow-Wow will afford all adult Cub Leaders an opportunity of becoming experts in one of the following program areas: Handicrafts, ceremonies & entertainment, pack administrations, and games. As part of the handicrafts course, which is recommended for Den Mothers, instruction will be available from the public school system and the Boy Scouts of America to cover such items as metal working, wood working, hupptery, stenciling, etc. The ceremonies and entertainment section will feature many "ice breakers" and ceremonial equipment will be made.

There will be a midway in the large Gymnasium which will feature exhibits trays and games made by every pack in the district and every Cub Scout Pack is reminded that space is being set aside for it by number for exhibits.

As part of the program which will run from 1 to 9 P. M., a Blue and Gold Banquet will be demonstrated and two Cub Scout Packs will show everyone how to run this annual affair.

Every unit leader is reminded that applications have been mailed to them which must be returned soon since attendance is limited to the capacity of the school cafeteria and reservations are going at a rapid rate, the maximum is 400 persons.

Confraternity Stages Party

BETHPAGE - The Confraternity of Christian Mothers, St. Martin of Tours Chapter, held their annual Christmas Party on Dec. 18. Mrs. Ann Hayes was chairman for the evening.

The women, under the direction of Mrs. Joan Blondo, performed a skit entitled, "The Night Before Christmas". There was a grab bag for the women and gifts were presented to the Sisters and Priests of the Parish. Mrs. Lillian Auer won the door prize and the winner of the Bride Doll was Thomas Leddi, of Farmingdale.

Refreshments were served and Christmas carols were sung. All in all, the evening was a pleasant one and a wonderful time was had by all.

OVER 400 CHILDREN were entertained by Santa Claus at the annual Christmas party of the Northwest Hicksville Junior High School, Saturday. The children and adults' stockings filled with gifts and candy.

tots escorted Santa to the tree and bid him goodbye until next year. After the entertainment, refreshments were served in the school cafeteria. Despite the bad weather, the turnout was excellent and everyone had a good time. (Herald photo by Gus Hansen).

WAC 'Li'l Abners' Given Extra Wear In Medical Course

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Tex. — "Li'l Abners." That's what members of the Women's Army Corps call their field service shoes, modified versions of the soldiers' field boots. Usually they are worn but rarely after basic training is over.

But Wacs who report to Brooke Army Medical Center here for specialized medical training dig down into the old barracks bag for those "Li'l Abners." For enlisted women, like enlisted men, now go through a few weeks of field training before taking the advanced studies that will turn them into such specialists as operating room and x-ray technicians.

Brooke, the only basic training center for combat aidmen and medical corpsmen, believes that all its graduates should have a chance to make practical application of their instruction in field medical care and hospital ward management.

Hence the participation of the medical Wacs when the problem is not too strenuous. About 75 of them have now gone through the field course — and "enjoyed" it.

Their "Li'l Abners" are getting more mileage than was originally planned, as they "practically run" in a small WAC formation to keep up with the advance group of enlisted men marching from instruction point to instruction point.

Ninety-six per cent of Army Reservists polled in a recent survey said military service had increased or maintained their faith in God.

Arrange Testimonial Tables

HICKSVILLE — A group of representative citizens are making arrangements for a testimonial dinner-dance on Thursday evening, Jan. 24, in the new Grand ballroom of Garden City honoring Miss Mabel R. Parley who has served the community for many years as a teacher and high school principal and is today a member of the Board of Education.

Henry G. Eismann is general chairman of the committee in charge and tickets are now available through members of the co-operating Hicksville Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis Clubs. Tickets are also being handled through officers of graduate classes of the High School. With sale of tickets moving briskly, Eismann today urged those planning to attend to make the irrefutable reservations of 10 without delay. Music at the dinner-dance will be provided by Paul Drake and his orchestra.

Members of the committee include Morris Rochman, Herbert Purick, Dr. Charles Masek, Francis Anderson, Patrick J. Buffalino, Ernest F. Francise, Fred J. Noeth and Vincent W. Braun, in addition to Chairman Eismann.

Joan Burello Becomes Bride

Trinity Lutheran Church, Hicksville, on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 8, was the scene of the wedding of Joan Burello and John Marano, Jr. Pastor Edward H. Stammel performed the ceremony. The brides parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Burello, 27 Clarissa Dr., Hicksville. Mr. and Mrs. John Marano, Sr., of 234 Silverlake Rd., Carle Place, are the parents of the bridegroom.

Wearing a gown of rose point lace with a chapel train, and a fingertip veil flowing from a crown head piece, the bride carried a Bible decorated with an orchard. Mr. Burello gave Joan in marriage.

Carol Ann Brady, of Hicksville, the maid of honor, wore a floor length, princess style gown of ice blue. She carried red carnations. The bridesmaids, Dolores Etzel and Judy Adamczyk, wore princess style, floor length gowns of Monaco blue. They carried pink carnations. The brides brother, Raymond was the ring bearer. Her two sisters Linda and Diane were flower girls. The little flower girls wore pink floor length gowns, and carried yellow carnations.

Fred Rohde, of Carle Place, was the best man, Thomas Pelly and Joseph Pascarella, were ushers. A reception was held at Merrick Hall.

After a honeymoon trip to Pennsylvania, the couple returned to reside in Hempstead.

Mr. Marano, a graduate of Westbury High School is employed in the construction business. Mrs. Marano, a graduate of Hicksville High School, is employed at the Long Island National Bank, Hicksville.

THE GREEN THUMB

By ALMA W. CRAIB

To primitive man, shivering in his wintry cave, the sun was the source of warmth and light, and so the time of the winter solstice when the sun began its journey northward and the days lengthened was a time of great rejoicing. From the dawn of history practically all tribes and nations have had a festival at this season, and, happily, the two most joyous feasts of our Judeo-Christian culture, Hanukkah and Christmas, come at this time, creating a universal season of happiness and goodwill that we all share.

Many pretty legends and traditions have grown up about the greens and flowers that we use in our decorations at this time, some of them coming from ancient days. The Jews used the holly, the ivy, and the mistletoe in their religious rites, although it was considered evil and never brought within the home. Holly, with its sharp thorns and blood-red berries was adopted by the early Christians as a symbol of sacrificial love, and mistletoe, having no roots, came to be associated with human love and became license for a stolen kiss.

There is a legend that the first Christmas tree was a pine that Mary and Joseph, fleeing before the soldiers of Herod, took refuge under a pine. The pitying tree bending low to shelter and protect them was forever blessed, and at Christmas time, blossoms with bright ornaments and candles to signify the coming of the Light of the World.

Another story says that St. Boniface, in the medieval forests of Germany, came upon the worshippers of the god Thor preparing to sacrifice a child at the foot of the sacred oak on Christmas Eve. In fierce anger he and his followers cut down the sacred tree, and pointing to a tiny fir that grew nearby, he bade them take it to their great hall as a symbol of the Heavenly Father's love which is everlasting and wants no sacrifice of human life.

A Spanish tale relates how a shepherdess, going to the manger at Bethlehem, went bitterly because she had no gift for the Babe. An angel changed her tears to poinsettia blossoms which she laid at the feet of the Christ-child. A similar story is told of the Christmas rose (helleborus niger) which often blossoms in December.

And so, again, we will make our homes beautiful and bright with these traditional greens, as we of all faiths, in this troubled year, celebrate here in blessed, free America the season of goodwill.

Old Country Road Celebrates Events

HICKSVILLE - The Old Country Road School P.T.A. held its Annual Christmas and Birthday Party on Dec. 19. The school was four years old.

On arriving all the ladies were presented with a beautiful Christmas Cossage. The hall was gaily decorated in the spirit of the season. The program for the evening was under the direction of Mrs. Mary Barnett.

The school band opened the celebration by playing and singing. The Koerner, head custodian for the school sang several songs and was excellent.

The Chordettes (Miss Butler, Miss Kessler, Miss Howell and Miss Opendack) all teachers, sang "Santa Claus is coming to Town". Tony Bellacera on the drums and Warren Paul on the accordion played for the singing and dancing. Before refreshments were served the guests sang "Happy Birthday" and Mr. Duncan, the principal, cut the first piece of a tremendous Birthday cake. The refreshments were delicious and everyone came back for seconds.

The evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all and a vote of Thanks should go to all those who made this the pleasant, happy evening that it was.

After the announcements, these boys received the following awards: Roger Kwiatkowski, Gold and Silver Arrows and 1 Year Pin; Richard Kwiatkowski, Bear Badge, Gold Arrow and 1 Year Pin; Ronald Tinnion, Lion Badge and Gold Arrow; George Yarr, Silver Arrow, Lion Book and 2 Year Pin; Brian McIndel, Wolf Badge, Gold Arrow and Bear Book; Frank Tedeschi, Bear Book; David Barnes, Bear Book; Richard Cherry, Lion Book and 1 Year Pin; Michael Kenney, Lion Book and 2 Year Pin; Kenneth Achulich, John Mitchell, Arthur Bellion, Walter Cerelli, Vito Brenna, Edgar Stephens, Dennis Braunfeld, Thomas McCarthy, John Carriotta, Robert Ferranti, Steven Kushner, & Harold Grossman received their one year pins.

Steven Pavony, John Coonan, Raymond Samolinski and Randal Furze were inducted into Pack 118 and all received Bobcat Pins and Books.

A Graduation Ceremony followed with Dennis Braunfeld receiving his Webelos and Graduation Certificate. He was welcomed into Troop 161 by Jack Corner and Ronald Braunfeld in place of Scoutmaster Lambertson who couldn't attend.

The skit, "History of America" was performed by the Committeemen and dads, in the form of "You are There and This is It." The narrator, Mr. Hurley, gave a brief resume of the skit to follow ending with "YOU Are There And This It."

'Mock Village' Is Thoroughly Abused In Troop Training

GRAFENWOHR, Germany — There's a wide open town near here, complete with a swinging door saloon, that's the toughest, roughest frontier town north of the Danube River.

It's the only community in Western Europe where bullets whistle up and down each of its two main streets, and not a single irate taxpayer is around to raise his voice.

The small town, setting in the middle of a vast wasteland, has been attacked, sacked, burned, smashed, and shot full of holes — but it keeps getting to its feet and asking for more.

Its only friend — and worst enemy — is the U.S. Army in Europe, which built it in 1952, has knocked it down scores of times since and has reconstructed it just as often.

"Mock Village" is an important spot within the Army's tremendous training ground in eastern Bavaria.

More than 4000 U.S. soldiers attack the village each month, pouring small arms fire into it, setting it afire, and fighting house-to-house through its narrow streets. During its unique existence, it's been attacked by more than 200,000 troops.

11 Teams Still Tied In League

HICKSVILLE - In the Holy Family Parish section of the Nassau-Suffolk CYO League, at the Market Alleys, here, Jack Loth rolled high series with 551 (203); Ray Featherston recorded, a 547; and Hugh Morganroth, in putting together his 520 series, also became the first two-timer in the 225 Club, adding 225 to his previous 245.

Other 500 series were bowled by Al Reinheimer, 518; Walt Blust, 516 (202); Bud Smith, 515; Vince Radzinski, 509; Clint Allen, 505; and John Tessitore, 501.

Eleven of the 16 teams are still involved in tie scores, and with position night coming up Friday, considerable shuffling of standings can be expected.

Adams Receives Soccer Letter

MADISON, N.J. — Richard R. Adams of 138 Fifth St., Hicksville, has been awarded a Drew University soccer letter for the recently completed fall season. A graduate of Hicksville High, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Ray Adams.

The Drew team won five, lost two, and tied one in its third intercollegiate season under Coach Robert Bannon. The record exactly duplicated that of 1955. Adams has been a member of the squad for two years.

Versatile Globe Trotter Turns to Army Career

FORT GORDON, Ga. — First Lieutenant Jose A. Fierro has been a well-known swordsman in Pan-America, a concert violinist in Mexico, a driver of racing cars in nine countries, an engineer in the U.S., and a soldier in two armies.

Now 29, the versatile globe trotter is assigned to the Signal Corps Training Center here for a while after a lifetime of shuttling between this country, Mexico, South America and Europe.

Fierro was drafted for a year's service in the Mexican Army, where an accident to his hand cut short his musical ambitions. He embarked upon an engineering career at the University of Southern California, but once again his plans were changed by the draft — this time into the U.S. Army.

Christmas Came Early For 4 Girls

HICKSVILLE - It was Christmas before Dec. 25 for four little girls here, when each became the proud owner of a beautifully dressed "Ginny" doll. No, they weren't visited by Santa ahead of time. These four girls were among the hundreds of girls who competed in the "Ginny" doll coloring contest sponsored by BROOKS STATIONERS, Inc., in the Center Shops, here.

The contest, "conducted" last month, was open to all girls up to 12 years of age, and consisted of coloring pictures of "Ginny". The response to the contest exceeded all expectations, and the entries kept the judges busy until last week when they finally arrived at their decisions.

Maureen Cawley of 2 Glow La., was first prize winner, and received a "Ginny" doll dressed as Queen of all Doll Land, complete with satin gown, velvet cloak trimmed with fur, gold crown, and scepter.

Janet Martens of 158 Division Ave.; Joyce Henstrand of 23 Glenbrook Rd.; and Barbara Plummer of 50 Sleepy La., were the other prize winners, and each received a completely dressed "Ginny" doll as their prize.

Knowing that the dream of every little girl was to have a "Ginny" doll for their very own, Brooks in keeping with the coming Holiday spirit conducted the contest to give every girl the chance to make her dream come true in time for Christmas, and it did for the four winners.

Town Hall Now Skyscraper

OYSTER BAY - Work on the new third and fourth floor additions to Town Hall here is nearing completion and both floors are scheduled for occupancy by Town personnel at the end of the year, Supervisor Lewis N. Waters reported today.

The new $212,000 wing going up to the fourth floor was added to the existing two floors and will enable Town Departments to continue to efficiently furnish the governmental services required by the more than 240,000 people now residing in the Town. In 1950, the Town's population was approximately 80,000 persons.

The original building contained 18,470 sq. ft. of office space and with the addition the total working area in Town Hall will be increased to 40,180 sq. ft. Present overcrowded office conditions will be alleviated by the increased space, a Town Board spokesman said. Supervisor Waters said the $212,000 project was undertaken as part of the administration's "pay-as-you-go policy" and has been accomplished without imposing any tax burden on the homeowners.
