Say Foul Smog Prevents Sleep

HICKSVILLE—Residents of the north east section, particularly Zelma and Zelma developments and the area around Bethpage Rd and Grove St., were complaining this week of the "heavy foul smelling smog" apparently from the township incinerator plant in Locust Grove, particularly during the early morning hours, making "sleep impossible". Complaints have been registered with Deputy Supervisor Lewis N. Waters of Syosset.

Turns Down Plea of 6,242 For Local Referendum On Incorporation Question

OYSTER BAY—Township Supervisor Charles E. Ransom filed his decision with the town clerk's office yesterday (Monday) afternoon rejecting the plea by Hicksville property owners for the right to vote on the question of incorporation.

The five-page decision finds the petition "insufficient", lacking the consent of one-third of the property owners.

Main point of the Supervisor's verdict appears predicated upon the question of what is the "last preceding assessment roll." Ransom found the assessment total over $48 million as of May 1, 1953 and one third as $16,064,382, while the petition offered signatures representing $18,092,888. This question was raised at the public hearing by Michael J. Sullivan, attorney for the opponents to a vote.

It had been argued at the hearing that the $48 million valuation total was not known until Aug. 1 of this year while the petition was filed with Ransom on July 31. Judge Willis Carman as attorney for the proponents had argued that one third of the "last preceding assessment roll" was $12 1/4 million.

Other points cited by Ransom in rejecting the plea included a recitation of withdrawals prior to the hearing, duplication of signatures, persons who died (with Byron Rushmore and William Duffy cited by name for a total valuation of $102,680), and disallowing all signatures on behalf of corporations (representing $493,345, including Grumman and Ampex Electronic Corp.) on the grounds that corporate seals and resolutions of the stockholders are not affixed.

He also disallowed a page of signatures by McAllester Ave residents, representing $80,000, on the grounds that the signatures are not on the same form of sheet as the rest of the 700-page document. The proponents had provided an affidavit from the person who obtained that group of 11 signatures attesting that they were part of the petition.

In conclusion Ransom said he had "withdrawals" and all other disallowed signatures of $1,418,600, making the petition a million dollars short of one third of the valuation required by the village law if the 1952-53 assessment of Hicksville district were used.

Opposition to the proposal to hold a vote was made by Sullivan and David Sigerson on behalf of 35 objectors including themselves. A public hearing on the question was held Sept. 17.

MUST NOW APPEAL VERDICT IN NASSAU COUNTY COURT

HICKSVILLE—The Home Rule Committee is preparing to take an immediate appeal in Nassau County Court from the decision in denying the people of Anticipating an adverse decision by Ransom, the Home Rule Committee of more than 200 homeowners represented by Judge Willis B. Carman of Farmingdale has prepared all its arguments in the case to date on the theory that an appeal to the court would be forced upon them.

The decision to take an appeal will come as no surprise to Supervisor Ransom who said publicly at the hearing in Hicksville courthouse last month that he anticipated an appeal being taken, regardless of his verdict.

Taking the matter to Nassau County Court at Mineola will set back the date of a vote on the question at least a month, Chairman Lawrence A. Roman said last night. It had been anticipated that a vote could be held between Oct. 30 and Nov. 12 if Ransom had given approval to the petition signed by 6,242 property owners of Hicksville.

The village law provides that an appeal shall be taken within ten days of the filing of Ransom's decision with Town Clerk Henry Curran. The ten day period began yesterday (Oct. 5).

The appeal for argument before the county court at Mineola is taken upon notice of not less than 10 or more than 20 days. The county court hears the appeal and must make and file an order either upholding Ransom's decision or reversing him within 10 days after the hearing.

The decision of the court, according to the law, "is final and conclusive". There is no further appeal provided.

Father, Child Night

HICKSVILLE—The Kiwanis Club will sponsor a father and child night on Wednesday, Nov. 18, with Joseph Miller of 158 Woodbury Rd. in charge. Members will repeat the successful affair of last year. Francis Anderson of 63 East St., Jim Herrnstadt of 13 Willet Ave., and Fred Sutter of 16 Duffy Ave. are also on the planning committee.

TWO CONGREGATIONS merged here at services held at the Parkway Community Church, Hempstead Ave., near Levittown Pkwy., Hicksville, Sept. 27. Present to participate in the ceremony and reception were, left to right, Mrs. Joseph Bergold, formerly of First Reformed Church of Hicksville; John Christ, Elder; Mrs. Marion G. Gosselink, D.D., co-pastor of the new congregation; Mrs. Douglas R. MacDonald, the Rev. Douglas R. MacDonald, B.D., co-pastor; Mrs. Robert Guy and Robert Guy, Elder. Picture was taken during reception following the formal merger service. The church of the 70-year-old First Reformed parish at Jerusalem Ave. and Newbridge Rd. has been closed and the building will be sold. (Herald photo by Mallett).

CENTER CIVIC COMMENTS:

Ranks of CD Get Smaller

By GEORGE McCARTHY

As Al Smith used to say, "Let's look at the record." When the Swami took over as local C.D. director, there were 115 active members in the C.D. auxiliary police alone. That number has dwindled down to a mere 27 people to participate in the last C.D. test. Again it was mostly auxiliary police that took part, and when you consider the fact that Mineola still holds a list of 1,380 C.D. volunteers for Hicksville, this showing is miserable. To this date, not one effort has been made by the state, county, or the local unit to recruit members to rebuild this pitiful skeleton.

Look into your crystal ball Swami. We're sure you'll see that the best thing you could do for civil defense would be to resign. Your inefficiency as director, and your high-handed methods of obtaining your aims are choking the life out of unit 312. Step down and make way for someone who will rebuild this unit. Remember, last year the Auxiliary Police of Unit 312 was second to none in all of Nassau County, now with less than 27 men turning out you must agree that it has fallen out of that enviable position.

The Hicksville unit has been on a downward spiral since you took over, and you have made no move to check it's fall. It's not a pretty picture, but you painted it. You must realize, if you are honest with yourself, that you cannot handle the job, bow out, and let's have someone who can.

With the world full of threats, and every morning bringing more complications, Mineola still sleeps. Sleep on Cyril, one day you'll have a rude awakening.

MEET ON THURSDAY

The East Street P.T.A. will meet this Thursday, Oct. 6, at 8:15 P.M. in the school auditorium. "Families First," a movie, will be shown as the evening's program, followed by a discussion period conducted by Miss Winifred Barry, co-ordinator of elementary education of Oceanide.

Thursday will be Miss Barry's second appearance at the East Street School due to many member's requests.

Refreshments will be served in the school cafeteria after the meeting.

She lives on Notre Dame Ave. . . Some residents of Tenth St. off Jerusalem, now discover that what they thought was going to be a playground for children in connection with the Allied development is really slated to be a 6-acre swamp constructed by the county. The Herald published a map showing the location of this drainage pit, then planned, last December but folks say they were too busy with the holidays to notice it . . . "Home Sweet Home of 1954" on South Oyster Bay Rd in Syosset, just north of Northern State Parkway, will be officially opened to public Oct. 22. Donations by visitors will go to the L. I. Current Comment:

We'll Never Forget You

By Fred J. Noeth

SUPERVISOR RANSOM, who found it perfectly all right to hold a referendum when it did not mean anything, has decided to cold shoulder the plea made by over six thousand Hicksville property owners and refuse them the right to vote on incorporation.

It was earlier this year when a vote was scheduled among the owners of houses in Hicksville built by Levitt and Sons on whether or not they wanted to be wedged to Levittown Park Taxing District in an arrangement that was so unique that it required special action by the Legislature of the State of New York.

The vote was held by Oyster Town Board for the purpose of determining the opinion of the voters of the area. The vote took place, after being duly advertised, and the results were three to one against the proposal to create a joint district with Levittown. But the town officials went ahead anyway, following the dictates of Hempstead, and had legislation enacted to permit the joint district which officially comes into being on the first day of 1954.

On the other hand we have another discouraging display this week of the will of the people being shunted aside. A simple request was made and unbelievable obstacles surrounded to bring the matter to the point where Mr. Ransom had to say either "yes" or "no". He decided to say "no" to the plea for the right to vote on a question which has aroused the interest of every property owner in Hicksville and the county as a whole.

The Home Rule Committee will take the verdict to court but the outcome is almost any one's guess.

There is only one court decision permitted under the law and that is in Mineola—the county court. There is no higher appeal permitted.

The home owners of Hicksville who have worked diligently for the past three years to get the incorporation question this far are not daunted by Ransom's verdict. Actually, it will not come as a surprise to certain of our more pessimistic friends who could not believe that the simple justice of the plea—an honest and sincere request for a vote to settle the question—would win out. They said political influence was too strong. Looks like they were so, so right. The Home Rule Committee is prepared to take the decision into court and to seek a reversal of Supervisor Ransom's decision.

Mr. Ransom is concluding many years in public office this year. He is not a candidate for re-election as supervisor. We are willing to wager, however, that he will not quickly be forgotten by the people of Hicksville.

THE SOUTH HICKSVILLE

Sentinel

By Craig Welsh

Regardless Of Outcome

Regardless of the outcome of the campaign to incorporate Hicksville, as a village the tremendous showing made by the people of Hicksville should serve notice to the political leaders that if they wish to remain leaders, they must give a close watch to what the people want. The more than 6,240 property owners who want, or are willing to have, a referendum on incorporation, even though it is contrary to the publicly expressed wishes of the local leaders of the party in complete power, are more than a straw in the wind. It is a good sized blot of voters. And they belong to both parties.

Good Example

The concerted drive to obtain the 6,240 signatures is a very good example of what can be done in the face of entrenched politicians when a group of just plain citizens set out to improve their community. When a political machine ceases to give even lip service to community needs, such as has happened here in Hicksville, they face the risk of exactly what is happening now. And make no mistake about it, the eyes of many other communities in Nassau County are on us. If we succeed in bringing home rule to Hicksville, you can be sure that other communities will follow our example.

Garden City Celebrates Anniversary

Our nearby neighbor, Garden City, recently celebrated the 30th anniversary of its incorporation as a village. At the time of its incorporation there was much opposition. One of the reasons was that people were told taxes would go way up. But people still want to buy homes in Garden City and it is considered one of the more desirable places to live after 30 years of incorporation. Incorporation was good for Garden City. It was also good for Hempstead, Freeport, Rockville Center, and Farmingdale. And it will be good for Hicksville, too.

Of The People

It takes an occasion like this to bring it back to our minds that our government is really of the people in spite of the fact that a tight little group is in power. They are there only as long as the people permit them to be there. When they forget for too long the needs of the people they govern, it is very likely that something like our very real grass roots campaign for incorporation will take place and upset them.

BOTH SIDES OF ISSUE.

Shall We Incorporate?

In anticipation of a vote within a few weeks by the resident property owners of Hicksville on the question of "Shall Hicksville incorporate?" the following is the third in a series presenting both sides of the question:

AGAINST INCORPORATION:

In the early days of the incorporation movement, it was assumed that an incorporated village of Hicksville could control its own zoning; i.e., regulate such matters as size of residential plots, location of industrial and business areas, gas station permits, sand pit locations, etc.

It is true that other villages in Nassau County control their own zoning, but none have been incorporated since 1938. The Nassau County Charter, effective in 1938, eliminated zoning from villages which might be incorporated after its adoption. No village has since been incorporated. The proponents of incorporation never explain why.

Since it has been pointed out so many times, the incorporators now give grudging recognition to the fact that the zoning power would remain in the Town Board. They will not, however, admit it directly and sometimes imply otherwise.

A mimeographed sheet, dated 4-15-53 signed "Home Rule Committee", contained the following item to stir the incorporation fever:

"Public hearings on such vital, local matters as permits for gas stations, zone changes, parking rules, etc. are NOT HELD IN HICKSVILLE but over in Oyster Bay" (capitalized words).

That is the end of the item. It does not say that hearings on zone changes and permits for gas stations would be held in Hicksville, if we incorporate, but it is unreasonable to draw such an inference? What else can be intended?

Another mimeographed release, distributed recently, undated and signed by the "Home Rule Committee" states that we need local home rule "to get action on" (among other things alleged) "gas station control", "spot zoning". Can we imply therefrom local control of zoning and gas station permits? There would be no such local control.

Under Section 1697 of the Nassau County Charter, the zoning power over the Hicksville Community now vested in the Town Board after incorporation. It is dishonest to lead our people to believe that incorporation would bring local control of zoning.

A local newspaper, in an editorial on June 11, 1953, admitted that the County Charter controls zoning as we have indicated, but the editorial goes on to say that this is a "legalistic point". In other words, it is the LAW, called instead a "legalistic point", because the law is not as the editor would want it.

The editorial goes on to say that the state legislature delegates its zoning powers to "municipalities". The editor finds this in conflict with the Charter and states that the County Charter, which he calls a "local law", cannot "supersede the State authority." He foresees the happy outcome of the Nassau County Charter being found illegal or unconstitutional in this respect.

We take so much time on this point because it so well illustrates the twistings, squirmings and flights of illogical theorizing indulged in to try to ignore hard realities or make them fit into the argument for incorporation.

The hard truth is that the Town of Oyster Bay, too, is a municipality, and, therefore, it is recognized by the state as capable of assuming zoning powers. There is no conflict between "local" and state law in this case because our County Government Law, brushed off by the editor as "local law", was itself enacted by the New York State Legislature.

You may hear many different and novel approaches and explanations on the zoning question, but ONLY ONE ANSWER IS TRUE: ZONING POWERS WILL REMAIN IN THE TOWN BOARD OF THE TOWN OF OYSTER BAY AND CANNOT BE GIVEN TO A VILLAGE BOARD BY THE INCORPORATION OF HICKSVILLE.

FOR INCORPORATION:

It is difficult to fathom the opposition statement that in the "early days of the incorporation movement it was assumed that village of Hicksville could control its own zoning." Obviously the assumption since reversed, was on the part of some who are determined to prevent incorporation. The "early days" would mean, we believe, about June of 1950 when the movement came into full bloom. The county charter, according to the opposition, came into effect in 1938. How the opposition, could have assumed something, which they now claim was not permitted for 12 years, is difficult to figure out. Unless they seek to deliberately mislead.

On the other hand, the proponents have always contended and continue to hold that the law grants the right of zoning power to villages. Section 175 of the Village Law enacted by the state legislature is entitled Grant of power: for the purpose of promoting the health, safety, morals, or the general welfare of the community, the board of trustees of a village is hereby empowered, by ordinance, to regulate and restrict the height, number of stories and size of buildings and other structures, the percentage of lot that may be occupied, the size of yards, courts and other open spaces, the density of population, and the location and use of buildings, structures and land for trade, industry, residence or other purposes. Such regulations may provide for their application in harmony with their general purpose and intent, and in accordance with general or specific rules there in contained."

There may be a legal conflict, which the courts will have to determine, between the rights of villages and the County Charter. It must be admitted by even the opposition, however, that the County Charter has frequently been amended and is—in fact—amended in almost every session of the state legislature.

The opposition would have Hicksville property owners believe that somehow the County Charter, enacted in 1938, prevents or opposes the incorporation of villages. Nothing could be further from the truth. Section 1501 of the Charter, referring to the village school and special districts, plainly states: "Nothing herein contained shall be taken to prevent the incorporation of cities and villages under the laws of the state, nor such changes in their organizations, rights, powers duties and obligations as may be made by general law".

Further, the proponents contend that public hearings on such matters as local zone changes, applications for variances and special use permits should be held at a TIME AND PLACE CONVENIENT for the largest possible number of those interested and invited to attend.

The remote-control Town Board governments holds its public hearings on many vital zone changes in the mornings over in Oyster Bay, a 25-minute trip by automobile. Many taxpayers are therefore unable to be present to protect their own interests. It is impossible in the Town of Oyster Bay to obtain copies of local zoning maps, a fact which any realtor will substantiate.

Reference is made by the opposition to an editorial, apparently the one entitled "Gas Stations and Home Rule" published in the Herald on June 11, 1953. Unfortunately their quote was not given fully. The actual editorial said: "We have been told by those who, for some unexplained reason, are afraid to let the home rule question come to a vote that the 'county charter' prohibits a new village from controlling its own zoning, appeals, etc. On the other hand we have it upon the word of highly respected attorneys with wide experience in municipal affairs that this is a legalistic point that can be disposed of by a test in court."

Fortunately the attorneys whom we questioned are free to give frank unbiased opinions, based upon experience, unhampered by political dictation.

ALONG WOODBURY ROAD:

Charbonnet Heads Civic Group

By GENE MALJEAN
Hicksville 3-5515

The Woodbury Gardens Civic Assoc. elected a very capable group to fill vacancies in the executive staff last Wednesday. President is Pierre Charbonnet, Vice Pres. Ed Mastrella, Financial Secretary Don Drummond.

Sylvia Matthews was appointed chairlady of the road improvements. Her committee: Wes Wohl and Ed Fischer. James Matthews is now in charge of civic improvement. Remaining in office are: Tex Wareley, treasurer, and Jean Mallett, secretary. These officers terms expire in January.

The president appointed a nominating committee consisting of: Netta Powell, Tom Hogan, and Jim Surles. If you are a resident of Woodbury Gardens and desire to have such representation as our civic club—and, furthermore, desire to have the right officers in charge—you may take part in the nominations at the next meeting. If you must miss a meeting or two during the year—let it be another month because this one coming up will prove interesting to you and helpful to the good administration of the club.

Remember, also, that there is someone in charge of the department in which you may have a problem. Note the various duties of the committees in order to see the right man for your problem.

My wife and I were most happy to see that Pierre Charbonnet became president last week, and we are confident that he has certain "something" that will bring members to the meeting. Those of you who have been missing these get-togethers should drop by next time to see what I mean.

In the meantime, the dance tickets are being sold and we hope you bought yours. The committee in charge of ticket sales is: Jim Surles, Mai Gertzen, Netta Powell, and Joe Ratty. Incidentally, we have twenty-five duets to push ourselves. Give us a call and we'll supply you.

We won't even attempt to print all of the names of the people who attended the toy party at the home of the Blowers of Briggs St. Needless to say it was a tremendous success. May enjoyed herself there, too.

I'll bet you thought I had completely forgotten about that Question of the Week we asked several weeks ago. Or perhaps you have completely forgotten it. It seems that the question was—"What is your pet peeve?" We received a normal amount of answers but could not print any of them without repercussions. I'll bet there are plenty of ears ringing after the answers I received. Two "safe" replies follow:

Andy McCowan: "My pet peeve that they fail everytime to check your battery when you drive up for gas. It's a service I always must ask for."

Ruth Donner: "My husband works nights and I'll never ever get used to it—never!"

If I may be permitted an answer myself—I'd like to mention that my pet peeve is for the absence at the local polls when our referendum come up. They—literally—"stay away in droves." (That is until time comes for various complaints.)

Were any of you listening to Steve Allen when he read a classified ad from our Herald on television? "Woman with large pair of curtains wishes to meet man with bay window."

Another new resident on Fulton Ave.: Ellen Cappella born to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cappella at New Brunswick Hospital in Amityville. Six pounds 12 ounces.

And Susan Donner, of 47 Crescent St., was three years old last week. Invited to her party were: Catherine McNally, Martha Donner, Christie Kutz, Keith Callahan, Edward Berry, Eloise Mueller and Maureen Mallinckrodt. And on Sunday she had a party for the grandmas and grandpas.

NUT BREAD: 1 c white flour, 1 c whole wheat flour, 1 t soda, 1 t salt, 1/4 c chopped nutsmeats, 3/4 c chopped dates, 1 egg, well beaten. 1 c buttermilk, 2 tbs melted shortening. Sift together flour, soda and salt. Add nutsmeats and chopped dates. Combine egg, buttermilk, and melted shortening and add to dry ingredients. Turn into 3 No. 2 size greased cans. Bake at 375 degrees F for 45 minutes to 1 hour. Turn tins on their sides for last 15 minutes. To remove from tin, cut out the bottom with a can opener. Yield: 3 loaves. This recipe was donated by my aunt who—in turn—received it from a Norwegian friend, whose country finds this recipe indispensable.

Arrange Informal Talks With Parents

At the Dutch Lane School, Hicksville, on Oct. 13 and 14, Mrs. Anthony Bochieri, third grade teacher and Mrs. Gerald Kaminer, second grade teacher, will be hostesses at their teas for parents whose children attend their classes.

At these functions the parents talk informally with the teachers about various aspects of the school program. The teachers try to give the parent a better understanding of the aims of the school and help in guiding the pupil in cooperation with the school.

This is one phase of Dutch Lane's "open house" policy of coordinating the efforts of home and school into a single wholesome influence upon the growth of children.

Legion Jettings

By TOM OLIVERI
HIC 4-3518

Everything is set for the Columbus Day Dance to be sponsored by the Post. An enjoyable evening is planned for Saturday, Oct. 10 beginning at 8:30 at the clubhouse on Washington St. Chairman Carl Bertone and his committee Al Garruba and Mike Kallinyak have arranged what considers to be an evening crammed full of fun plus dancing to the music of Benny Stevens. We wish to welcome Joe Buckley as the first new member for 1954. Joe was an Army Air Corps Lieutenant and taught at the Bentley School in New York from 1946 to 1948. From 1948 to 1952 he was associated with the Robert Stevenson High School, also in New York, and appointed Principal of the school in 1953. Joe lives at 31 Miller Road in Bethpage.

Could the weekend traffic jams on Stewart Ave be attributed to the Carl Bertram Hotel? Understand Carl has more company than the entire membership combined. Also understand Mike Poules ready to really pitch in on Legion activities with his transfer to the day shift. Al Garruba needs a good man, Mike . . .

The Post is expected to get a

shot in the arm from Commander Bob Purcell. Bob declined to divulge his plans until all the details are worked out and ready for presentation. . . . Wonder what's holding up completion of the road sign project? . . . The Post mourned the passing of George Heaney of Waterbury, Conn.

See you at the meeting Thursday, Oct. 8th.

Field Club Opens Tomorrow

GLEN COVE—A complete unknown factor, the Hicksville Field Club is scheduled to play the A.A. of this village, defending Nassau semi-pro champions, in a league contest under the stars tomorrow night (Wednesday).

Floral Park upset Glen Cove 6-2 last week and Dom Sabatella's team will have the added woe of a Cover team smarting to get in the win column.

Reportedly able to count on Bill Zirk, George Wyslowski, Dan Colletta, Lou Koji, Dick Williams, Pat Henratty and Ed Stetz, the Black and White has as its outstanding point the start of a very fine line.

Your Automobile's Cooling System

In my last copy I discussed the first two of the four distinct divisions of the cooling system. I shall continue with the other two, namely, "Heat Dissipation" and "Heat Control".

"Heat Dissipation" is accomplished when the heated coolant passes thru the fluid passages of the radiator. Air drawn by the fan, passing thru the radiator, lowers the temperature of the hot coolant so that as it circulates to the bottom tank of the radiator, it is ready to re-enter the engine and carry away more heat.

"Heat Control" is accomplished by thermometers found in every cooling system. The thermostats, by controlling the rate at which the coolant circulates, maintains the engine temperature at a point that has been found most efficient.

Naturally the coolant is the "foundation" of the operation of the entire cooling system.

Now that we are familiar with the relationship of the major parts of the cooling system, I am ready to go further into more detail. If you have any question on the foregoing, please call HI 3-9702. We'll gladly help—no charge. (To be continued.) Your friendly Texaco Dealer, Broadway Service Station, Broadway and James Street, (next to the Post Office.)

DE VAUL'S BOOT MARGIN:Aerials Vital As Hicksville Contains Oyster Bay 7-6

OYSTER BAY—Hicksville High defeated its arch rival, 7-6, here Saturday afternoon, with the margin of triumph in a savage game being a true placement from the foot of Joe De Vaul. Close to 700 persons, including four busses of students from Hicksville, watched the furious encounter.

Two sparkling passes by quarterback Lou Milleville—one to right half Ed Scott for 13 yards and the other for 23 yards to left half Howard Speeding—late in the second period set up the touchdown on the two yard line.

Fullback Richard Evaschuk smashed over left tackle for the score and DeVaul converted extra point.

Recognizing from the outset that it was to be a rugged contest the Comets had called on De Vaul for a field goal attempt from the 16 yard line in the first period.

He was successful but an offside penalty wiped the first Orange three-pointer in over two decades from the books.

BAYMEN IN THIRD

Six fumbles by the Comets blocked them from pulling away from the hosts and the third one the losers recovered vaulted them to their TD.

Taking over on the Hicksville 20 the Baymen went over the goal in six plays.

vital extra point was repulsed in running tries was out on its own mass by the Comet line.

From then on the tempo became breathless in the Oyster Bay dust bowl.

Joe Pepe, Comet sparkplug, broke loose for 23 yards with his free-wheeling style but fumble once more stalled Hicksville.

Ramsey stormed over the Hicksville tackle slot and was off for a 24 yard jaunt before Milleville's deadly jaunt before Milleville's deadly tackle saved the day.

Tom Knippling snared a fourth down Oyster Bay pass play with a jarringly leap.

Milleville and Speeding then provided cutting blocks to get Evaschuk down field for 16 yards but Speeding dislocated his shoulder and will be lost to the club for at least three weeks.

An exchange of fumbles found Hicksville on the Oyster Bay 28. Eight plays moved the ball to the 4 before Oyster Bay took over.

With five minutes left Oyster Bay began to tear into the Hicksville forward wall and in seven running tries was out on its own mass by the Comet line.

A fumble ended the drive Pepe looped for 18 yards and the Comets then killed the ball for two plays.

It was Hicksville's third victory in the short but violent series. The Baymen have won two and the very first resulted in a 6-6 deadlock.

Tempera were pointed but the officials clamped down in the second period with the Bayman passing star, Steve Pillar, being ejected for slugging as he was being tackled.
