Firemen Honor Poster Winners

WINNERS of the Hicksville Fire Dept. Fire Prevention poster contest at the firehouse on E. Morris St. List of winners will be published next week.

The winners of the Annual Fire Prevention poster contest were announced at the awards ceremony at Fire Headquarters, Sunday afternoon, Oct. 22. It was announced by Bureau Secretary Captain James Taxter, that a new innovation was introduced this year, to permit the winning student, upon receipt of his or her award was required to express in their own words the meaning of the subject matter depicted in their poster. Chief John Specht, upon completion of the presentation, reported that the results of the contest were most beneficial to the children inasmuch as each child was able to demonstrate that not only were they aware of Fire Prevention as expressed thru their poster, but could express themselves while explaining their Fire Prevention theme equally as well. At the ceremony were Asst. Fire Inspector Mario Misturini, members of the inspection staff, Commissioner Vince Braun, who welcomed the students and parents on behalf of the Board of Fire Commissioners, and congratulated the winners on their fine example of Fire Prevention.

A brief question and answer session directed to the fire problems of the parents present was followed with refreshments and an exhibit of apparatus and equipment on the engine room floor.

An assist must be given to Mr. Roberts, Art Director of the Public School system, as the art directors of the Parochial schools, who so generously made this contest possible.

The Bureau of Fire Prevention through the cooperation of the Hicksville School Board, this year passed out to the public and parochial school children during Fire Prevention Week, approximately 50,000 pieces of literature aimed at reducing fire hazards in the home. This Bureau urges each and every parent to consider this literature and comply as closely as possible to the recommendations and make all homes as safe as possible.

ELECTION ON TUESDAY TESTS VOTER ENDURANCE ON LEVERS

While approximately 140,000 persons are registered to vote in the 167 Election Districts of the Town of Oyster Bay, somewhat less that number are expected to exercise their civic duty next Tuesday, Nov. 7, between 6 AM and 7 PM. Voters, as the HERALD pointed out last week, have their work cut out for them -- there are 45 candidates for 20 positions and seven state constitutional amendments upon which to cast their ballots. No upsets are anticipated.

Hicksville Republicans will wind up their campaign with a motorcade and rally this Friday night, Nov. 3. The motorcade starts at the Plaza and ends at the rally in the Masonic Temple. There will also be a motorcade on every street of Hicksville on Saturday starting at 10 AM at Levittown Hall.

On a strict enrollment basis, the outcome Tuesday is not in doubt. There are more Republicans enrolled than Democrats. No substantial issues have been raised by the "outs" and Town Supervisor John J. Burns has been warmly endorsed by both Newsday and LI Daily Press.

The Mid-Island area has been a prime territory for Democratic candidates. They include John W. Peplow of Hicksville for Sheriff, Cornelius McCormack of Hicksville for Jones Fund, two Plainview men for Town Councilman and Jerome Murray of Jericho also for Town Council. Louis Schulz of Hicksville is a candidate for District Judge.

Hicksville's Republican candidates include Francis Anderson for County Clerk and Leroy Wells for Jones Fund Trustee.

The HERALD editor will be heard on WYFI (1520) on Saturday, Nov. 4, with his late commentary on the local election picture between 10 and 11:1 and 2, 4 and 5 PM.

An Editorial:

Your Vote on Tuesday

While we don't believe that editorial opinions at this late date change many voters' minds, the HERALD feels duty bound to express its views on the Town and County Elections of next Tuesday.

After a careful study of the tons of literature, press releases and what-not, there appears to be only one simple and positive verdict: Vote row A on Election Day -- vote Republican.

The Democratic candidates offer some interesting personalities and some awful duds, and this is one of the reasons why they fail to get their efforts off the ground. The Republicans are generally more selective in their choice of candidates, knowing that those they offer (and those elected) must perform. The Democrats, on the other hand, start out nobly but fumble somewhere and manage to latch on to several clowns who could do terrible damage to our local government without half trying if they were, by some fluke, elected.

The "outs" get righteous, pious, zealous and brilliant for 50 or 60 days before election (with the help of press agents and fancy printery). Then they drop out of sight (some of them forever) the other 10 months of the year. If they wish to truly earn the role of the "party in opposition", let them work around the year, and show they mean what they parrot.

We know what we have under good Republican home rule government today. We are highly suspicious of what we might wind up with under the fancy (and sometime inaccurate) sugar-coating being pushed around these days by the opposition.

Pynchon Sees GOP Victory

Voters of the Town of Oyster Bay will re-elect the experienced, capable and proven Republican team of candidates next Tuesday, Nov. 7th, it was predicted today by Thomas R. Pynchon, Town Republican leader. He reminded voters that the polls will close Tuesday at 7 PM.

"The people of our great township know that the Republican team has a plan and a program which has produced great results in the past and will continue to provide expanding services required in the future", he asserted. "In sharp contrast, the opposition offers 'no plan and no program'. The opposition views with alarm, criticizes without positive alternatives. The choice is simple and clear-cut."

"However, to keep our Township moving forward by plan, it is imperative that every enrolled voter cast his or her ballot on Nov. 7th. With many key positions in the county government and in our town government on the ballot this election, every citizen has the important obligation to vote and protect the kind of home-rule government under which Nassau County and the Town of Oyster Bay has grown and prospered." Voter information centers have been established at 13 locations in the Township.

Jr High Debate Club Winner

The Hicksville Junior High School Debate Club, under the direction of James Blake, made an outstanding showing at the first Long Island Junior High School Debate League "grand tournament." Competing against teams from all over Nassau County, the Hicksville debaters won 10 out of 12 debates, to bring home the trophy for the first place school. Arguing the affirmative side of the topic, "Resolved: That the Federal Government should give increased financial aid to the States for public schools," were Hicksville debaters, Peter Orton and Joel Sachs, Edward Boyle and James Boyle. Negative for Hicksville were Jordan Lipschutz and Alan Katz, and Stephen Tisman and Elaine Harrell.

Our operators are famous for summoning the Fire Department fast. But operator Edna Murphy is one girl who beat the firemen to a happy ending.

She received a call from a woman who was a paralytic in a wheel chair. The woman had dropped a lighted match which threatened to ignite her clothing. She couldn't reach the match, but she could reach the phone. Operator Murphy called the Fire Department, but realizing it would take the equipment some minutes to arrive, she also called a neighbor, who rushed over and saved the helpless woman from possible tragedy.

In such moments, who can truly estimate the value of telephone service?

SELL BAKED GOODS

Mrs. Eita Cramer, Ways and Means Chairman of the Hicksville Junior High P.T.A., has announced that there will be a Bake Sale on Election Day, Tuesday, Nov. 7th, starting at 10:00 A.M. Baked goods will be sold at the Fourth St. entrance to the school.

NAMED CHAIRMAN

Miss Rose Dinora, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Dinora 187 Tenth St., Hicksville has been named chairman for the 1961 Homecoming Weekend at the State University College at Oneonta.

In Self Defense

When news photographers turned up at a women's club to cover a speech by a Very Important Person, they found this warning on the bulletin board:

"Cameramen! Do not get up to photograph our speaker while he is addressing the audience. Shoot him when he approaches the platform."

HERALD READER OPINION

LET THEM SWIM

To The Editor:
It took almost 200 years and the Hicksville School Board to finally pull a "Marie Antoinette." -- In Hicksville, instead of "Let them eat Cake!", the famous comment is "Let them SWIM!"

In a demonstration of unprecedented devotion to and tender concern with the "will of the people" the School Board, at its regular meeting Friday night, Oct. 27, allocated $500.00 to engage a pool consultant, with the implied intention of placing approximately $350,000.00 on the May, 1962 ballot to build a pool.

This, in a district rife with double sessions, with a Junior High built for 1900 and accommodating 3200; for which area this Board is asking (in a November 14th referendum) additional funds for the moving of 24 temporary type rooms which are deteriorating at their present elementary school locations.

This, in a district whose High School capacity is 1600, is now housing 2100 and, by September '62 will have 2700 students!

With the pool, the Physical Education Dept., will have an additional teaching station--but what of those "supplementary areas" such as English, History, Math etc.? Obviously the Board's answer is "Bring bathing suits."

Perish the thought of taking a forceful and considerate action toward building adequate permanent secondary facilities. Instead use the 70 collective fingers of the Board to snuff the recurring holes in the dike of short term, inadequate physical plant planning.

Sure, let's have a pool, we can use it but let's cease this perpetuation of folly! Put an end to temporary planning and temporary buildings with a negligible life expectancy as instructional stations.

Concentrate on the ideas and ideals of a comprehensive education with adequate permanent facilities. Once and for all, let's give 13,000 future citizens a fighting chance!

Space station research aided by Grumman

SIX-INCH stainless steel ball was ground with diamond dust, in Plant 5 Machine Shop, to roundness within .000050 inch. Black is lacquer film used in casting depression in epoxy resin Simulator socket. The ball exactly fits into this socket with a thin layer of pressurized air between.

ROTATING inflated space station planned by NASA might look something like this. Detail view shows how crew would 'stand' on outer wall, held in place by centrifugal force. At hub of vehicle they would be weightless. Dish on top of 'doughnut' gathers solar energy for power.

Grumman recently delivered to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Langley Research Center an Inertial Simulator that will help provide the basic scientific information required before the United States can put a rotating manned space station into orbit. The contract, which was awarded by NASA to Grumman, was for an 'Inertial Simulator with a Type of Automatic Damping Control Suitable for a Rotating Manned Space Station.' An important component of the system is an air bearing, or stainless steel ball, resting on a film of air, to simulate the frictionless conditions encountered in space.

An example of one function of this control system was cited by Ernest Arena, project engineer on the Langley Simulator. He said that a crew member aboard a rotating space station would require a change from the sensation of weightlessness he would experience at the hub of the spinning vehicle. By walking around the outside rim he could enjoy a sensation something like gravity, produced by the centrifugal force that would be hurling him toward the outside of his circular room.

"But," Arena pointed out, "the (apparent) weight of the man against the outer wall will throw the craft out of balance, and the resulting wobble will continue until something happens to restore the craft to its balanced spinning position. That will be one function of the control system—to minimize wobble motion and to restore balance. Then, of course, there would be various other forces—photons from the sun, for instance—which would upset its very delicate balance.

"Our task at Grumman was to build a control system that would measure perturbations and return the space vehicle to equilibrium automatically. NASA will use our simulator at Langley Research Center both to set up numerous deviations and to study the correction of such deviations when they occur. The simulator we built is approximately 1/4 scale."

Grumman's previous experience in building simulators for the testing of OAG and other control systems was a valuable background for building this one, Arena pointed out. Approximately 80 per cent of the components were produced at Grumman.

In Plant 5 Experimental Machine Shop, a six-inch stainless steel ball was machined to a near-perfect sphere (round to within .000050 inch), with a lapping machine, (such as is used in polishing gems) achieving a surface finish of .000005 inch RMS.

Robert Nufer of Equipment & Process Engineering, Plant 12, developed a method for producing the suspension socket, using the finished steel ball as male and epoxy casting resin as the bearing surface.

The ball is supported by a film of dry filtered air at a steady pressure of 10 psi.

In NASA's forward-looking program of space exploration for peaceful purposes, a manned station is one of many projects being studied. Arena points out that the conditions it is likely to encounter must be simulated in the laboratory, and ways must be invented to solve the various problems which will be posed by vacuum, extremes of temperature, external pressures, internal conditions, etc. etc.

One of the first tasks, then, was to simulate the space station control problems; the second was to find the means of coping with them.

The Grumman-built Simulator uses a specially designed light source to simulate the sun, and two pairs of 'eyes' or photo-sensitive sun sensors, to focus on it for guidance. A recorder gives accurate and continuous measurement of its attitude. Disturbing torques are artificially produced by two jets of gaseous nitrogen inside the Simulator discharging in opposite directions at opposite sides of the table. Another set of jets, called 'spin jets,' assists the table to spin to counteract such air drag as may be encountered in the laboratory.

Unless one has seen the virtually frictionless movements of a table resting on air, one can hardly appreciate the delicate balance and response to changes of atmosphere, loads, and pressures achieved by this 'floating' Simulator. To set it spinning at 30 rpm (the maximum rate specified for its scheduled tests in the laboratory), a twist with the hand is sufficient.

Martin Oistad, Avionics staff engineer, explains that the control system uses the angular momentum stored in the rotating platform to provide the control torques necessary for attitude stabilization with respect to the sun. A gyroscopic device (a gimbaled two-degree-of-freedom flywheel) transforms internally and externally created disturbance torques into a time varying angular momentum component along the spin axis of the simulator. A sun-referenced attitude sensor and angular rate gyros provide the error signals to the flywheel, which is servo driven about each axis to produce the desired control torque.

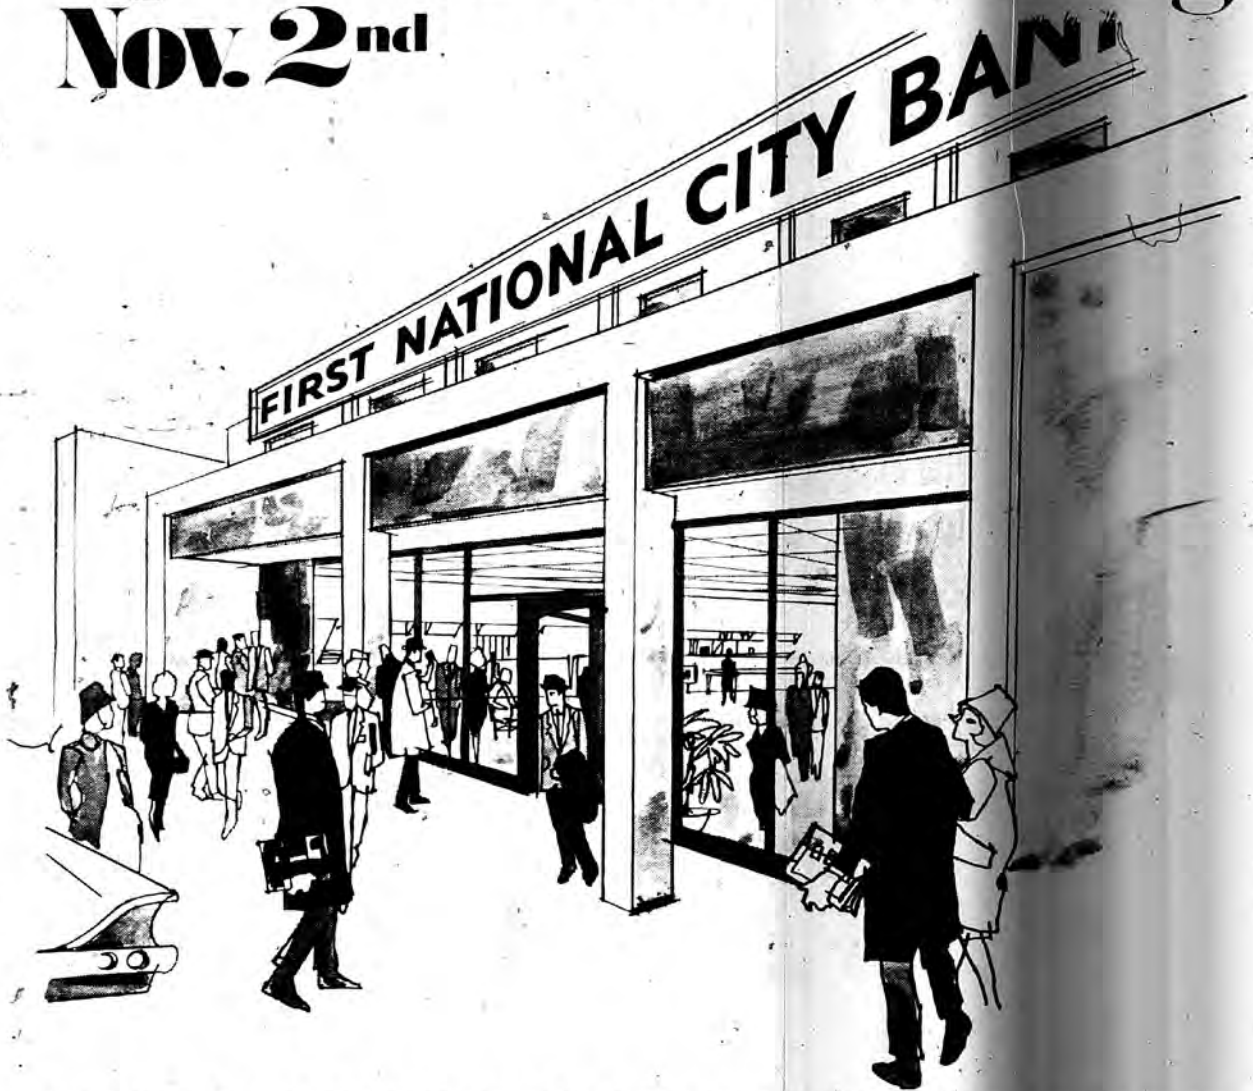

Power for the control wheel system and associated equipment is supplied by a pair of rechargeable battery packs. A small solid state inverter provides the 400 cycle supply for the rate gyros, sun sensors, and a programmer motor.

NASA's project engineer on the control system is James J. Adams. Grumman is building a second Inertial Simulator in Plant 5 on an Advanced Development budget. It will be used by Grumman for further work on stabilization and control of space stations, and for studies on component improvement.

The company also has a contract from NASA to build a 30 in. model of the manned space station. This model will be used for thermal chamber tests at Langley Research Center. It is designed to respond to simulated thermal conditions precisely as the actual space station will. This is scheduled for delivery to Langley on October 1, and it also is financed by the Grumman Advanced Development budget. George B. Patterson, Jr., and Arthur Ketz, both of Propulsion, are coordinating this project.

NASA's plan for the rotating space station, favors, at the present time, one that will be sent into space and then inflated, as pictured in the painting here reproduced.

Town Adopts 1962 Budget
 The Oyster Bay Town Board today formally adopted a $4,171,455.62 budget for the 1962 fiscal year following a public hearing held in Town Hall.
 The new budget calls for a tax rate for general Town purposes of 13 1/2¢ per $100 of Assessed Valuation. The Town tax rate for administrative purposes has been maintained at a fairly stable rate during the past three years, having been kept in the 10¢ to 14¢ range.
 The budget is $691,667.91 more than the current budget and Supervisor John J. Burns, who presided over the public hearing, noted that $496,000 of the increase is for employees' compensation, including pensions and social security costs. In addition, the unusually high cost of snow removal in the past winter makes up most of the remaining increase in the 1962 budget over the previous year.

Our Most Precious Heritage

By Herbert Hale
 As well we learn in early life there is no pathway leading back to the past. However, through learning, knowing and understanding history we have the only pathway that leads to the past and to people who lived in those days and to the great events of those times.
 At best - "Our lives are but a memory and a forgetting," and as the poet Gray says, "The paths of Glory lead but to 'the grave!'"
 Therefore unless we record events of the past, all would be lost to human remembrance of the knowledge of people, events and affairs long since effaced and erased from the earth. This is important especially with present day things, as the passing of time, mazes them and versions differ later. The Persian poet Omar Khayyam says, "A Hair perhaps divides the false from true!"
 To quote from Bnogaad-Gital "The path is one, but the way thereto must vary with the Philistin." To quote from "The Russian" again, "The moving finger writes; and having writ, Moves on; nor all they ply nor wit Shall lure it back to cancel half a line. Nor all thy tears wash out a word of it."
 As it is written so it forever more shall be. Therefore we must ever and always be recorders of affairs and events of the past, present and future!
 Historians are in demand and historical societies are always needed for posterity and all those who come after us. That seems to place the responsibility upon our shoulders.

Don of Garden Clubs, as guest speaker. Mrs. Eric LeBarron and Mrs. William Gilligan were hostesses for the evening.
 Mrs. Emil Szendy of Hicksville program chairman of the club, announced that among the coming events for the club's program for the year is the demonstration in November painting by Mrs. Olga Hiesel, well-known local artist.
 The Women's Club of Hicksville have contributed to many worthy causes in the past. Last years philanthropic project was to send a child to the Cerebral Palsy Summer Camp at Roosevelt. Also a local needy family is given assistance during the Christmas season.

AROUND THE DISTRICT

By Joe Koerner

COMETS STOP DALERS ...
From the very beginning, there was no denying the fact that this was going to develop into a whole lot of football game. Except for 1st string, Quarterback Steve Glibowski, out with a leg injury, the locals were at full strength. A good-sized crowd was on hand for the action, the visitors were in no mood to be pushed around or outbusted and even the rival bands had given the fishy to each other when they crossed columns at the head of the stretch. The Dalers came in as the underdogs ... The Comets were installed as 1 touchdown favorites. In short, the proper ingredients were well mixed for some real fine, grid fare ... This was High School football at its very best and when old time rivals such as these decided to trade line bucks and end sweeps, you could be rest assured that the role of the underdog might easily be reversed. With this thought in mind, a thought also shared by the many football buffs present, we settled down for the action about to come ... And this action didn't take very long to unfold; including an unusual number of football hi-lites not normally relegated to an individual game. This was a game that saw a fumbled ball go in 3 directions before play was finally stopped. (A Daler Fullback was hit hard enough to drop the ball, it was picked up by a Comet who set sail for his own goal line. The Comet in turn was lit dead center and the ball popped out of his hands, right into the mitts of an onrushing Daler tackler who now became the runner. The Daler made 10 yards before being dropped).

This was a game that saw a 100 yd. touchdown run nullified by an offside penalty (Chris Coletta). This was a game that saw an exact duplication of a feat accomplished last year, by the very same runner in the very same quarter and against the very same team. (Coletta vs Farmingdale, last year ... An 85 yd. kickoff return) ... And finally, this was a game that saw a perfectly executed pass play, result in an 80 yd. score. You might watch the pro's in action for a full season and not have the pleasure of seeing a pass play as perfectly coordinated as this one. The action all started, 5 plays after the opening kickoff. The Comet's took possession of the ball on their own 20 and second string Quarterback, Bruce Damm reared back and fired a 50 yard bullet, that was destined to hit, racing Halfback, Ray Strassburger, right on target. Strassburger was 10 yds. off the goal line 20 yds. behind the Daler defensemen, when he suddenly reached up and snared the ball, like an experienced chicken plucker at a turkey shoot. This was passing and receiving in its finest hour and its exact duplicate, happens once in every 10,000 tries on the High School level. In short, this game had just about everything a football buff might look for. Nothing came very easy and the hard working linemen on both sides knew they were in a football game that could go either way ... There were long, desperate passes sent out to a gluing-ered Daler end by the name of Ken May, that had the Hicksville crowd on their feet, throughout most of the game and last but not least, there was some Comet, broken field running, unmatched on any football field, on the Island. Strassburger grabbed a Daler punt and raced 35 yards for his 2nd touchdown of the day and then the amazing broken field phenomenon, Chris Coletta wrapped up the game by going for 4 straight touchdowns. This was "Crazy Legged Chris" at his very best. He racked up a 35 yarder after a 20 yard punt return by Strassburger added another 40 yarder, with a razzle dazzle end run, ran back an 85 yard kickoff for his 3rd tally and he closed out the action with a 30 yard punt return. I've watched a good number of football games over the years and I just can't seem to recall a more action packed, 4th quarter, than this one. Coletta put on a one man running show, that had the spectators shaking their heads in disbelief. To fully describe his shotgun running tactics is well above my reporting skills, and for this reason we'll sign off with a short story. (A local businessman, having heard and read so much about Coletta's running abilities, decided to watch this phenom in action and then draw his own conclusions. He closed his place of business on the busiest day of the week, knowing full well that this game was going to cost him a pretty penny in profits. He entered the field with a definite, "show me" attitude and after Coletta's 4th straight touchdown, he sat back limply and remarked for all to hear ... "It was well worth it, he opened the next time the Comet's are in town, I'll be closing up shop again". Final score Comets 41, Farmingdale 20.

METEORS DEBARK FREEMEN ...
As predicted, the Jr. High A squad is well on its way to an undefeated season, with only 2 retiring games left on the schedule. On successive Friday's, Salk Platnege and Farmingdale fell by the wayside and last week the Island Trees hosts, joined the membership of the "I lost to the Meteors Society. Score Jr. High 34, Trees 7. Steve Schuster, John Sarrafeld, Larry Wesolko, and John Malloy scored touchdowns for the locals ... Sarrafeld accounted for 2 T.D.'s, with Dennis Yarras and Wesolko getting the extra points. The Meteor league record is now 4-0 with Syosset scheduled for next week.
COMET BOOTERS SPLIT PAIR ...
It was a long hard haul for the Comet Shoemans when they managed to come up with a big win at the close of the week, to keep their chances alive in the Section 1 competition. At the start of the week, the league leading Great Neck, North squad came into Comeland and burned the locals to the tune of a 6-4 decision. Winnie Coletta and Steve Backman accounted for the Comet goals. This loss put the locals in the position of having to come up with a big win at the end of the week, and this they did, vs Syosset, by the score of 5-1. Pete DeRosa and Stu Blust scored the field goals with Winnie Coletta accounting for the penalty kick. At this stage, the Comets now have 1 remaining game with the league leading Northmen ... If they win, the race will end in a 1st place tie and result in a sudden death playoff for the title but if they lose, that's it for the season! Coach Harry Ream feels there's still a fighting chance for his squad, if they can come into the Northmen tilt at full strength. He hopes for the return of Frank Coletta, out with a knee injury, by that time and if the squad plays the game they are capable of playing, the locals should go all the way.
JAYVEES OUTBOOT SYOSSET ...
Coach Bill Roberts reported his squad closed out their season with a 3-3-1 record, wrapping up a 4-0 decision over Syosset for the seasons finale. Rightwing Bob Swinick scored both goals on assists from Kenny Bean and Joe Katagiri. Roberts next assignment will be Varsity Wrestling and we'll be nosing around for information.
MOVE OVER GEORGE! The Meteors are coming.
According to information received, 280 Jr. High students are scheduled to make a trip to Washington D.C. Saturday, Nov. 4. The itinerary will include a full tour of Mt. Vernon, Lincoln Memorial, Arlington Cemetery and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. The entourage, which will include 28 chaperones (one for each ten students) is scheduled to leave Hicksville at 7:04 AM and the return home has been established at approximately 11:30 PM that night. The cost of the entire trip has been set at $17 per student.

Stay Floyd Bennett from Erecting Tower Signs

Fast Action by Mother Of Three Averts Major Fire In Buchman Home

A tragedy was narrowly averted when a fire started suddenly and spread rapidly in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Buchman at 12 Lawrence Place just before dinner time on Oct. 20.

At home with her daughters, Miss 4, Romie 3, newly-born Aaron only 3 weeks old and her domestic helper, Alice, Mrs. Buchman was frying chicken in the kitchen, was called to the recreation room by her children. While downstairs in the recreation room she heard a spattering and rushed back. Within the 30 seconds Mrs. Buchman was gone, flames were biting hungrily up the wall and slipping towards the ceiling.

Mrs. Buchman, acting with remarkable coolness, instructed Alice to take the children from the house and have a neighbor call the Jericho Fire Dept. Then she took a fire extinguisher kept in a kitchen cabinet and sprayed the fire area from which the flames were roaring. Fortunately, the fire extinguisher did the job and the fire was out by the time the Fire Dept. arrived.

The Fire Department thoroughly checked the entire house and explained to Mrs. Buchman that if weren't for a hood over her stove and the fire extinguisher, the chances are the house would have burned to the ground.

Mrs. Buchman was high in her praises for the rapidity with which the Fire Dept. responded.

Civil Defense For Jericho

By Gilbert B. Stein

What happens when hurricanes, snowstorms or megaton H-Bombs strike Jericho's residents? 8,500 Civil Defense volunteers in the town of Oyster Bay immediately will go on emergency duty to deal with all phases of disaster help from communications and medical aid to feeding and organization. This tremendous organizational setup will emanate from the control rooms of the town hall in Oyster Bay, where town Civil Defense presently occupies a large and most impressive layout.

Monday evening Oct. 23rd saw a group of Jericho residents visit C.D. at Oyster Bay as part of a local effort to establish a Jericho Civil Defense setup. George Kunz, Deputy Town Director of Civil Defense, and several of his men took our Jericho contingent on a guided tour of inspection. Facilities, procedures and the general pattern of effective Civil Defense were demonstrated to us.

The Jericho delegates were tremendously impressed with what they were shown and what they were told. Due to extremely short notice only two of Jericho's seven civic associations were represented but (Continued on page 2A)

So now we got stop signs all over Rockland, Orange and Sullivan. The end of an era of speed in West Birchwood came suddenly on October 30 when the familiar red signs were spotted at many intersections. Chalk up another accomplishment for our Community Welfare committee, one of our best.

The big Civic Assoc. dance Saturday night at Robert Seaman School bids fair to attract the largest crowd yet. President Carl Denny states categorically that no non-members will be admitted. Members are advised not to bring friends from other villages as there simply is not enough room to accommodate outsiders. All members and residents joining at the door are cordially invited. Time is 8:30 p.m.

An order containing an injunction restraining the Board of Appeals and the Building Department from issuing any permits or in any way implementing the variances permitting Floyd Bennett Stores to erect two tower signs, was issued Oct. 23rd by the Supreme Court. The order also restrained Floyd Bennett Stores from erecting the signs pending hearing of an appeal originally scheduled for Nov. 9th. The proceeding was instituted by Ira Hyams, attorney for residents of Birchwood.

Following issuance of the order, at about 5:30 PM on Monday, Oct. 23rd Hyams received a telephone call from Louis A. Freedman, attorney for Floyd Bennett, that he would make an application the next morning to vacate the injunction. At the hearing on Oct. 24th, the Judge refused to vacate the stay, even though Floyd Bennett was willing to stipulate that they would remove the sign if the Residents of Birchwood were successful in their appeal.

It was however, agreed to advance the return date to October 30th and Floyd Bennett was permitted to make preparations for the sign except for installation of supports and letters. Mr. Hastie, attorney for the Town Board of Appeals, requested a postponement in order to permit him to review the record, and the hearing is now scheduled for Nov. 8th in the Supreme Court at Mineola.

Ira Hyams, who represents the local Birchwood residents, resides in Princeton Park, Jericho and is president of Princeton Park Civic Assoc.

EDITORIAL: Objectives for 1962

The coming year offers many challenges to our Civic Association; the dedication of one or more of the newer sections, a more effective liaison between the Board and the membership, a continuing improvement of distribution of the WEST BIRCHWOOD NEWS, pamphlets, a continued effort to insist upon another entrance to our community to avoid the usual blocking of our entrance during heavy snows.

During 1962 it should be our objective to better our relations with the builder, continue stress on street maintenance, and extend the benefits of Civic participation to newer members of our community. We cannot emphasize too greatly the need for new blood in the Community Welfare Committee. The fact that only one individual from the undedicated areas is on Community Welfare is indicative of the apathy over there with regard to street lights and stop signs.

For 1962 we will need the participation of our newer neighbors in Civic affairs. Indeed, we welcome you and wish you well!

W. Birchwood Bowling League

Siggy Levine

This week begins our eighth week of league bowling with the Continentals and Phantoms tied for first and The Derbys in third place, just five points behind.

The fine sportsmanship displayed by all, including Monroe and Siggie, is a credit to our league.

The fancy red shirts, worn by the Untouchables, and D. Druckers' red pants, to match, is too much to concentrate on bowling.

The boys are improving their bowling each week, as exemplified by Sid Litt's 183 and Nat Suckerman's 170. Congratulations to Sid by Kreisberg for his 203 game. The top three bowlers of the league are:

Ira Steifel 182, Monroe Swerdlow 176 and Siggy Levine 176.

Team Standings:

1 Continentals	60	17
2 Phantoms	60	17

Catholic Women Plan Buffet-Dance

The Catholic Women's Guild of Jericho started off the season with a very successful Anniversary Ball, held at The Huntington Town House, on Sept. 30th. Plans are now being made for the yearly Christmas Buffet and Dance, with entertainment supplied by the members.

Since there are so many new families moving into Jericho, perhaps there are Catholic women interested in joining the Guild. If so, feel free to call Helen Peterson at OV 1-8552 for information.

The next meeting will be held on Nov. 8th.

'Double Troika' Will Rule Welfare Committee in '62

The Community Welfare Committee will be headed by not one but six chairmen during the coming year.

The innovation, dubbed the "double troika" by some wags, was decided upon at a meeting on Oct. 20. Its purpose, according to John Nason, who has been chairman for the past year, is to give each of the most active members an opportunity to contribute their experience to the post.

The idea will be given a one year trial run. If successful, it will be adopted permanently by the committee. The six persons who will rotate in the chairmanship are Sam Gordon, Murray Cammeyer, Sheldon Kantor, Ed Greenberg, Kathy Kantor and Nason. Each will serve for two months and will conduct the bi-monthly meeting scheduled for that period.

Sam Gordon is designated chairman for the November-December session. At the same meeting that gave each of the chairmen, Sheldon Kantor was chosen to continue in the Secretarial post he has held down for the past year.

The next meeting of the committee is scheduled for December 15, at the home of Sheldon Kantor, 16 Sullivan Drive.

To those members who have decided to once again serve, I shall personally look forward to continuing our friendship and association. To the new members of the Board, congratulations on your interest in the community; I know that you will find that this will be a rewarding and stimulating experience.

FIRE

It was agreed that a permanent committee would be set up immediately to work through the Jericho joint council of civic associations toward the establishment of a local C.D. center. This informal group will meet on Monday, Nov. 13th, at 162 Birchwood Park Drive in Jericho at 8:45 P.M. and all Jericho residents interested in this vital community project are invited to attend. It is the intention of this committee to brief local residents on what they can do for Civil Defense. As soon as the joint civics agree to participation in this program, another delegation will visit Oyster Bay and meet with Mr. Kunze and his staff. A community wide information meeting is also being planned for the near future.

Civil Defense for Jericho is a very serious and complex problem. It needs manpower, facilities, equipment, training, coordination and public information. The leaders of our civic associations are the logical choice to coordinate and head such a civic undertaking. The time to act is now. We hope to do so on the broadest possible basis.

His Wife is Busy

Dear Sir:

We moved to suburbia 3 years ago. At the time, my wife and I thought we would really get a chance to enjoy our home and our children more than we did in the city. Before I knew what was happening, I found myself at home alone almost every evening and my wife out attending meetings of all sorts. She became an officer in almost every women's organization in the area. It's gotten to be so bad that as I'm getting home from work, she's going out the front door to a meeting. I feel more like a baby sitter than a husband.

I've talked to my wife about this organization life of hers and have gotten no place. She feels it's her duty to give time to these various organizations. I think she has overdone it but I can't convince her.

Any suggestions?

Baby Sitting Husband
PLAINVIEW

Dear Baby Sitter:

This is one of those situations where turnabout may be fair play. Apparently your wife won't listen to reason. Try staying on a few sites yourself. You might try joining the local bowling league and a couple of the men's groups for cards and perhaps a couple of sites a week at the local movies. She should catch on fast.

Too many of our suburban residents get themselves entangled with more organizational work than they have the right to. They often lose sight of the fact that their family comes first. This when leads to serious family breakage.

Assuming your share of civic responsibilities and duties by joining your local organizations is very commendable. If you assume more than your share, you become a liability to the community and your home. Of course if everyone in the community were to join an organization and do his or her share of work for that organization all the organizations would be serving people away, since they would find themselves with more work than they could handle. Unfortunately you usually find the same handful of people working in all of the local community groups and everyone eventually depends on this small handful to get the work done.

Get more people to do their share and your share will be smaller.

Jericho Bowling

By Maurice Targrove

As the Jericho League entered its second month all indications pointed to the fact that no team is going to walk away from the front of the league. The first six teams are on a string with one point separating each team from the one above.

While Carl Denny's first place Cardinals and Hank Halbersadt's tied-for-second-place Tigers were banging heads together for a 2-2 draw, Harvey Levin's Red Sox easilylobbered the Cubs for 4 points and slipped into first place.

Mike DePasquale's wild Indians really walloped the woods blasting out a 8-2. Marty Dinhofer led the team with 198 followed by Joe Krausz 174, Joe Goldberg 168, Mike DePasquale 165 and Marty Green 137. (Holy mackerel guys, take pity on the rest of the league).

Individual performances were led by Marty Dinhofer who rolled 212 and Ken Gmora and Herb Block with a 200 each.

Jerry Melner one of the most improved bowlers in the league... Albertyn Buchman and Melner came down to cheer their evergreens... A big pat on the back to Vince Saggese who is doing a great job as Secretary.

Ten Pin Talk

By Henry Dockswell

Len Wainick, 233, Tops Jack Robinson, 220, and Vince Greco, 2122.

The above flash came to us as we read Maurice Targrove's column, Birchwood Bowling, in last week's WEST BIRCHWOOD NEWS. They have a 12 team league as against our 10 team league and we hope they're having as great a time as we are. Maybe come the end of our seasons, we can sort of have a Little World Series or an All Star Game or even both.

Our league is still in a dog fight. Fred Sappo and his crew are first with 16 points and second place is shared by Norman Ney's team and Dave Batterman's group.

The league expressed its sympathy to Len Wainick, on the sudden loss of his father, when they sent a very beautiful condolence basket to his parent's home in Flushing Meadows.
