Trains Overhead By November

It will be November of this year, instead of June which had been projected early in the project, that the Hicksville Rail Road Elimination Program is completed. Town Councilman A. Carl Grunewald gave the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce the latest information on anticipated dates at a meeting, Friday morning.

Trains should be running on the elevated structure on the main line the later part of May. The switch over for the Port Jefferson branch is due in August, Grunewald noted.

Meanwhile, it was learned that the State Legislature in its closing hours passage the bill introduced by Assemblyman Edwin Fehrenbach and State Senator Henry M. Curran at the request of the Oyster Bay Town Board, providing for an escalator district. The bill is now before Governor Rockefeller for action.

The legislation will provide the financing for two sets of moving stairs to be incorporated into the new station which is part of the elaborate crossing elimination program.

The L.I. Rail Road has occupied the lower level of the new switch tower just east of the Broadway crossing.

VICAR MAURICE GOLDHAMMER of Trinity Lutheran Church on Easter Sunday presented a cross made of five Easter lilies to Mrs. Markos, supervisor, and William Buchmann, trustee of Jones Institute, Hicksville. The cross, which hung over the altar for Easter services at Trinity Lutheran Church, was presented to the residents of Jones Institute for use at their Easter services.

3 Cite Value in Local Human Rights Program

Three guest speakers, each in their own way, cited the value of a Hicksville Commission on Human Rights at a meeting of interested residents at the Hicksville Public Library, Tuesday night.

The speakers were Rev. John T. Murphy of Holy Family RC Church, V. Benjamin Louard, a social worker, of Hempstead; and Kurt Goldberger of Hicksville. Louard and Goldberger are members of the Nassau County Commission on Human Rights.

The group was also addressed by Louis Schulz, Hicksville south Democratic leader and a deputy county attorney.

Albert Chameides and Mrs. Audrey McArdle, temporary co-chairmen of the Hicksville Commission shared in presiding at portions of the meeting. Chameides opened the session and recited its brief history.

Mrs. Mc Ardle presided during a question and answer period after the three guest speakers had been heard.

Father Murphy, citing his experiences in Cleveland prior to his recent arrival in Hicksville, declared "there is a great need for this type of (Human Rights) Commission... which in time can perform great service."

Goldberger told of the development of the 27-member County Commission on Human Rights and some of its initial efforts. He said one of its basic activities was one of educating the public regarding the existence of human rights problems. He asserted that in "90 percent of the schools in the United States human rights are not taught as they should be taught in 1964". He indicated the teaching of human rights was more in the mode of 1930's.

In the struggle to solve the problems of assuring equal opportunities for all, regardless of race, creed or color, there is a need for affirmative and aggressive leadership, it was stated by Louard. He read a prepared statement.

Schulz cited from his experiences as an attorney since 1930 in asserting that he is confident the problems of human rights can be solved by informed citizens working together.

It was the third meeting of the Hicksville Commission and the best attended to date. Four people had gathered at the first session in a private home. There were about 50 present at the Library, Tuesday night. It was announced that the date and place of the next meeting will be published in the HERALD.

THE YEAR WAS 1949 and the scene was Broadway, Hicksville, in front of the Bank of Hicksville (now the Oyster Bay Town Hall Annex). The children were lined up, for blocks, for a chance to talk to Santa Claus in this mystery picture published last week. That is Phil Ilman, foreground, of Town and Country Apparel, an active member of the sponsoring Hicksville Business Men's Assoc. It was a grand and glorious day.

Operation VFW

William M. Gouze Jr. Post No. 3211
by Eddie Klebing

Officers, chairman and committees are a vital necessity to any organization. Without them orderly conduct would give way to unruly behavior, carefully laid plans would turn to confusion and in the end the organization would cease to exist.

Therefore, it is extremely important that elected officers and committee appointees show ability, sincerity and some knowledge about the job they are required to do. The man who volunteers generally shows sincerity and ability, but when unfamiliar with the task, must get his knowledge from previous chairman or members who've worked on the same committees. Records of transactions by previous committees should be carefully kept and passed on to the chairman inheriting the job at hand, thus making his task an easier one. The man who is appointed by the organizational head must have some of the qualifications or he wouldn't have been considered for the job in the first place.

No doubt all this was taken into consideration at our last meeting when Commander Jim Klueg appointed members to three important committees. The time to elect new officers is drawing near and to get things started following members to his nominating committee; Joe Gilligan, chairman, Bill Frohnhoefer, Lou Klein, Bill Kummer, Jack

New Slant Given on Life in a Convent

The St. Ignatius Loyola Auxiliary of Christian Mothers held their first Mother-Daughter meeting on Mar. 23 and it seemed to be a success from every standpoint. Sister Therese Catherine, Directress of Vocations for the Sisters of St. Dominic, lectured and with the aid of slides provided an entirely new slant on the way young girls spend their time upon entering one of the many novitiates of the order.

Sister showed how wrong is the mistaken notion that a convent is like a prison. The slides illustrated a well rounded life of balanced work and play, for to quote Sister "all work and no play would make a dull postulant". Besides the usual study routine required of anyone with teaching in their future, these girls are taught the rudiments of housework, gardening, laundry, cooking, and sewing. Then in their spare time they enjoy the relaxation provided by outdoor exercise - especially in the form of basketball and tennis. During the first few years the aspiring young sister takes a serious look at religious life and the community takes a serious look at her. A good five years elapse before any mutual agreement is reached and her vows become permanently binding. These vows can be dispensed, however, for any serious reason and no one is ever held against her will, for, as Sister put it "the doors always swing out".

There are some who feel that to hide oneself away in a convent is a waste of God-given talent, but in the diversified type of work done by this order, every talent is used to the fullest. Those with musical education in their background are even more fully trained along these lines and then become music teachers themselves. Potential artists in turn lead others in this field.

Besides the regular form of teaching in average parish schools, these sisters also have High Schools, Colleges, schools for the deaf and they go into normal schools to tutor the blind pupils in braille. They have two hospitals, a home for the aged and run retreat houses and summer camps for both boys and girls. The Sisters of St. Dominic are doing wonderful work down in Puerto Rico so the Mission field is not neglected.

Father Leo Goggin moderator said that he was grateful to Sister Therese Catherine for presenting such an effective and entertaining picture of convent life, and expressed the hope that Sister's talk and example would bear fruit.

For many members who have been wondering for some months now just what their child meant when talking about the S.R.A., the Reading Lab or whatever he chose to call it, the wonderful explanation given by Mrs. Martha Daur, a 5th grade teacher, was most welcome. She explained that the S.R.A. Reading Laboratory is a modern reading program which provides individualized reading for your child in the regular classroom. In this way there is no need to change classrooms, or send a self-conscious adolescent down to the 4th or 5th grade classrooms even though he may be reading at that level. Mrs. Daur went on to explain that the Lab is derived from the multi-level philosophy of education and uses the multi-level technique. In this way each child begins to read at his present level of ability and can progress as fast and as far as his natural gifts will allow. No longer do the able student "go ahead" in the single grade level reader while the poorer students struggle over even the simplest words.

Each grade has a color coded box consisting of 12 colors and having 12 reading selections for each color. In an initial inventory of his reading powers, Mrs. Daur said, each student is assigned a color level based on his performance. With the teacher present only as a guide or counselor, the child reads one of the 144 Power Builders. The pupil own starting time, does the comprehension and vocabulary exercises, records his finishing time, then he takes an answer key - to check his performance. Here Mrs. Daur emphasized the system of "Feedback" - which is the basis for all programmed learning. In this way the pupil can see how well he did and what errors he has made right away, not a few days later when he may have already lost interest. As he continues to score consistently well he is moved to the next color level by the teacher.

Increased listening skill, increased rate of speed, work-study skills improved, and independence from the teacher and fellow students are some other features of the Reading Lab.

Mrs. Daur pointed out that since the pupil is not in competition with anyone else and just interested in his own progress he will learn to read better, understand better and to develop deep enthusiasm for reading.

St. Ignatius School, she said has the latest reading material, the latest in program teaching, the latest laboratory teaching and for this we can be grateful to the foresight and sustained interest of our Principal, Sr. M. Venard.

An Editorial:

The Passing of a Friend

The sudden passing of Anthony J. Gorczycki, business administrator of the Hicksville School District, was stunning news to his many friends.

During the past six or more years we have felt particularly close to Tony as he was known to associates. During the months of January and February we met almost every weekend, sometimes both Friday and Saturday, as the tedious but important work of drafting the school district budget for the coming year was wrought.

Although this fact will probably not be long remembered or duly noted, Tony Gorczycki was probably one of the hardest working individuals in behalf of the community and the taxpayers of the Hicksville School District to come along this way in many, many years. He became business administrator (or business manager if you will) at a time when the School District sorely needed the talents and abilities of a real competent individual. Tony took his work home with him at night. He put in weekends at his desk to keep pace with the ever changing problems of the district in the complex and unromantic area of fiscal matters. Without disrespect to his successor, we doubt sincerely if the Hicksville School District will be able to find a replacement as competent and dedicated as he.

We feel as if we had just lost a close member of the family. We know the Hicksville School District has lost an irreplaceable friend. The burden upon his widow, Rose, and their small children must be staggering.

Jericho Men's League

from Cy Ossit

If you think Hollywood goes overboard in handing its Academy Awards, wait 'til you see what Jericho Men's League gives its bowlers at the end of this season. The word is out that this year's trophies for the top bowlers are so big, you have to use both hands to carry one out.

The league officers have already ordered over 100 trophies including those for the "200 Club," and have contracted to spend the $650 maximum allowed at a recent board meeting. Now, really guys, don't you think that our league has gone just a little overboard in this trophy business? Our trophies probably cost more than the Hollywood Oscars. Bigger, I'm sure they are! Why must the value of a trophy be determined by its size, I doubt very much if any other league around spends as much on awards (per bowler) as we do.

Certainly $300.00 for example can purchase trophies, nice enough, big enough, and I'm sure, acceptable to most everyone. Come on fellas—come up with some good ideas for spending your money....A possibility is the newly inaugurated Ten ($10.00) Dollar award given to the team that bowls the highest over their average. In the first play-for-pay session, the Colts of Gaines, Omora, Robbins, Simons, and Tuccinardi, bowled 64 pins over their average to capture the $2.00 prize per man.... Speaking of rewards, Bob Freeman, who bowled over 200 (215) in league play for his first time ever, was treated to a two week Florida vacation by his wife. Well, maybe the trip was planned before, but it worked out just right!

The Jericho Board of Education at its Mar. 19 meeting approved the use of the Jericho High School for college entrance exams.

Start Student Exchange Plan

On Monday night, March 23rd, the Jericho School District had its kick-off meeting to establish an American Field Service Chapter. Howard Jankowitz a member of the Jericho Board of Education, organized the meeting which was led by Mrs. John Walbridge, Nassau Coordinator of the A.F.S.

Mrs. Walbridge's colorful talk of what excitement and enrichment would come to Jericho with a foreign student living in the community for a year, filled those attending with great enthusiasm. Their appetites were whetted enough to take immediate steps towards obtaining a foreign student as early as September 1964.

In addition to a number of Jericho residents, those present were, Edmond Tanzl, Ass't. Principal of the High School; Miss Marian LaVine, Guidance Counselor and John Bartul, Chairman of the Social Studies Dept.

Students Attend Puppet Show

The Jericho P.T.A. Creative Arts Workshop obtained tickets to the Nassau County Parks Puppet Theater at the Sallsbury Park Lake House. The tickets were made available to Mrs. Shirley Roman's art and puppetry classes for three performances which they attended on the afternoon of March 22nd.

Geared for youngsters from five to twelve years of age, these puppet shows are presented every weekend at the Lake House under the auspices of the Nassau County Parks Dept. There are several performances a day, and the program is changed every few weeks.

Siskind Speaker On Science Study

by SELMA CONSTANT

Norman Siskind, Principal of Cantiague School, and Andrew Caruso, science teacher, participated in an excellent presentation concerning science in the Jericho elementary schools at the Citizens For Better Education meeting March 17. The Jericho School District recognizes the increasingly greater importance in science education. The challenge is being met by an imaginative program in the Jericho elementary schools which will not only introduce children to scientific concepts but also give them a tremendous amount of enjoyment in learning.

Siskind described the program that the elementary teachers follow and the highlight of the science program which is the session that each class has periodically with Caruso, who is a roving science teacher in all the Jericho elementary schools.

Siskind showed the audience how scientific concepts are reduced to simple terms by use of overhead projectors and film strips. He discussed the use of educational T.V. in the classes with a manual as a guide. Up-to-date science textbooks are available and the books are accompanied by a science kit so that simple experiments can be performed by the teacher. There is also a rolling laboratory in each school.

Caruso demonstrated some experiments he conducts for the students and exhibited some science projects that enthusiastic students have made. Among those projects exhibited were an electric question and answer board, a volcano and a generator made from a coffee can.

The audience was very impressed both with the quality of the work being done and the indication that increasing attention is being given to this very important subject.

Issue Vaccine Here 2 Sundays

On two Sundays, April 19th and June 14th, oral (Sabin) polio vaccine will be available at the Jericho High School from 9:30 AM to 5:00 PM for all residents of Jericho from four months to forty years of age.

Howard Jankowitz and William Mayhew, of the Jericho School Board, will chair Jericho's part of a county-wide effort to immunize almost 500,000 Nassau residents before the 1964 polio season begins.

The vaccine, Sabin Trivalent, will be given in two doses, one on each of the appointed Sundays, rain or shine. Both doses are necessary to achieve effective immunization. The cost is 50¢ per dose. Some pre-registration forms have already been given out through the schools but on-site registration is also allowed.

All five of Jericho's P.T.A. Units have been asked to call for volunteers as typists, recorders, nurse-assistants, cashiers, and registrars to staff the vaccine program on the two Sundays. Persons wishing to volunteer should contact their P.T.A. President.

Co-sponsors of the program are the Nassau County Medical Society, the Nassau Academy of Medicine, the Nassau Pediatric Society, the Nassau Chapter of the American Academy of General Practice, and the Nassau County Department of Health.

Board Approves School Budget

by Harold J. Brensilber
 The Jericho Board of Education unanimously approved the proposed School Budget for the 1964-65 school year at a special meeting held on March 24.

The Budget, as submitted by Dr. Thomas Carey, Superintendent, is the most detailed one ever presented to the Jericho community. While keeping proposed expenditures to a minimum it still indicates the strong desire by the Administration, Board and Community to improve the educational standards of the Jericho Public Schools.

As submitted, the proposed Budget shows a net increase of $402,660 over last year. This could result in an increased tax rate of 35 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. For a typical home in Jericho (which is assessed at $8,000) the tax increase could be approximately $2.34 per month.

According to Dr. Carey the increase is dictated primarily by three factors over which the community has little control. First, the assessed valuation of Jericho property, which normally has increased in value over the past eight years at a rate of 2 to 3 million dollars per year, has this year increased only $500,000. With less property to tax, less tax income results for the school district.

Second, the State Aid provided from Albany for 64-65 was so little that the result for Jericho was only a four cent increase. Third, pupil enrollment went from 3,300 to 3,700, an increase well above that anticipated.

It should be noted that of the 35 cent expected increase, the sum of 15 cents is the result of the bond issues approved last year.

Since many proposed budgets in other Nassau districts indicate much greater increases, some of a $1.00 per hundred or more, it is a tribute to both the Board and the Administration that their painstaking work resulted in holding the expected but necessary increase to so small an amount.

To further explain the Budget, a brochure is being prepared for mailing to all residents in the District. Open public meetings on the Budget are also being scheduled.

To Resume Sidewalk Repairs

Alfred Hicks, Nassau County Planning Commissioner, has notified the Community Services Committee that sidewalk repairs in West Birchwood will be resumed on April 15. Cracked or crumbling sidewalks that are eligible for repair will be designated by Mr. Hicks on the basis of a personal inspection trip through the community.

Repairs will be limited to those cases where the damage can be attributed to faulty materials or construction rather than misuse. Residents wishing to call attention to the condition of their sidewalks should write to Robert Kravitz, committee chairman, at his business address: 121 Old Country Road, Carle Place.

In another development, Mr. Kravitz was notified by State Traffic Engineer N. C. Parsons that a decision on northbound traffic controls at the Broadway entrance to the community will be forthcoming by May 1.

School Report Informative

The Syosset Central School District in releasing its monthly report, has changed the format into three specific sections namely: administration, instruction and business operation; The purpose for the change of format was to broaden the types of information presented and to make the report more helpful and meaningful.

Under the heading of administration the following has been extracted.

Syosset High School students are distinguishing themselves in many areas. Besides the 49 Regents scholarships and the 22 alternates, there are 14 students in the finals for the National Merit Scholarships.

The High School newspaper "Pulse" has been accorded several honors among which is being chosen as the second best newspaper in the State.

The High School Basketball Team ended in a tie for first place in its league.

Seven Syosset High School students attend the Columbia Science Honors Program every Saturday all day. They take college level science, do research work with IBM machines, and work with top scientists in the metropolitan area. The students are chosen from the results of a comprehensive examination which was given to high school students in the metropolitan area. The choice of seven students is an honor for Syosset High School since that many are not normally chosen from one high school.

Robert Manheimer, High School science teacher, had a research paper read at Stony Brook University before a symposium of scientists. The paper was in the field of cytology, a study of cells. Mr. Manheimer did the research last summer and his paper was chosen to be read by the Executive Committee of the Symposium of Scientists.

Further information on the entire report may be obtained by contacting the district office.

Ten Pin Talk

by HENRY DOCKSWELL

This is about midway through the second half and a recap of the individual statistics shows a hot battle going on in two categories.

Our weekly league sheet shows the close race for the "Most 200 Games". Leo Geyer leads with 9, but close on his heels is Sy Bruckner with 8. Then we have a three way tie for 3rd with Norman Ney, Mort Levine and Bill Kellerman sharing the honors with 7 apiece. Bill Kellerman is in really good company. As previously noted, his average of 153 is 13 points lower than any of the others and a full 21 points below Leo Geyer's league leading 174; but when you hit 'em right they all go down, and evidently when Bill is right, he's really right.

What the sheet does not show is the race for "Most Improved Bowler." This is based on the largest increase in a man's average from the end of the first half through the final week of the season. Right now Ralph Diamond is in the lead with a 9 point increase and with this being the 9th week of the second half this point a week pace is slightly terrific. Challenging him in this category is Elliot Spencer with an 8 point rise, and he is followed by Harry Shepard, Al Rizzo, Bernie Roth, Julie Gerson and Ed Peschof each with a 6 point increase so far.

There were only five extra special games this week. Bill Kellerman's 212, Herb Brody with a 213, Sid Simon's 202, Murray Gitselman's 201 and Mary Cohen who finally broke through for the first time this year with a 209.

Mort Levine's Spooks are still in 1st place. Their 5-2 victory over Morris Garelick's Spooks while Al Minoff's Bubulas were losing to Mill Goldberg's Terrors 5-2 served to increase their league lead to 4 points.

Next week looks like a breather. The top teams will meet opponents in the second division except for the Spooks and Terrors who clash in a battle for 6th place.

(Continued) HOMETOWN U.S.A. Chapter 3. This psalm's devoted to the Johnny Come Lately's who've just cleaned out the cookie jar scraping up the 12th monthly payment on a 30-year mortgage. And what with the Bobby Baker case, Rocky's 5 p.m. Plan, the upcoming Lunar Probes and the fact that the Escrowfund's a yard and a half short... things were in real bad shape.

"So what's this burg got that's worth all this mental aggravation?" wailed the guy that had only 348 monthly mortgage payments to go. And then with the aplomb of a guy that knows what he's talkin about, the local keeper of the facts comes up with some startling geographical data.

"First of all," he sez, "Hicksville is part and parcel of what is commonly known as the Hempstead Plain." We're sort of equidistant on the island and if rumor serves any real purpose, the 2-storied star hanging in the Mid' Island Shopping Plaza is situated in the exact center (width) of the Isle. But going from East to West is a hounddog in a different hutch. We're miles from the western end of the action and about 85 miles from Montauk Point. And by looking North after having a few beers in the Club Bar, you'll find a noticeable rise of about 5 feet per mile as you head for Syosset. And the tide", he rambled on like a man that had a 40 x 100 lot to sell, "depending on the tide we're 100 or 145' above sea level. So now that you're a local resident and if you've been conned into taking out high tide insurance. Drop it immediately. You're being taken."

But that's all water under the bridge" wheezed the guy that just bought the Little Inn. "And speaking of water and its component parts," a Kiwanian cut in. "A bloot needs 7 to 9 lengths of 10' pipe to hit the wet stuff in Hicksville...but it's good when he strikes it though and many of the arid spots on the globe sort of envy the abundant supply we have. The experts say we average about 43" of well distributed rainfall each year. And then of course with rainfall comes climate" he added smugly, "here again we rate a front seat at the thermometer."

"Getting closer to Florida each year" say some of the die hard Hicksvillites who believe in the theory that the Gulfstream is shifting. (Most are in Florida now living on the fruits of their S.S. Pension...Guys like Walter Zabel who spent 44 years in the Hicksville School System and watched it grow from 1 school with about 300 students to 11 with close to 14,000) "We average 60 degrees during the day and 39 at night."

"And when it comes to soil" said a former potato farmer who still yearned for the good old days in spite of a 90 hour work week... "here again we rate a back seat to none" "Ours is one of the richest east of the Great Plains. It's a combination of Plain Loam and Sassafras soil, capable of growing just about everything in the realm of vegetation." "And that concludes the Geographical data on another hometown in the U.S.A., this Buff concluded Next week... Chapter 4...TILIA PLAT-

YPHYLLOS & PUGNIPAN or ARBORETUMS & SACHEMS.

HE SPOKE...NOT WITH A FORKED TONGUE...Only those with iron innards and non-existent nerve centers manage to escape the early wrath of the reaper these days. Some make it in grand style long after the pursuit of the buck has been put to rest. Others are only half rewarded-for their health was the price extracted along the way. And still others never quite make the grade. They latch onto awesome responsibilities during their working years and only shake it with an air of finality when the reaper calls. Such a man was Anthony Gorczycki, Business Administrator for the Hicksville School District. He had watched the District grow from 6 and 7 million dollar budgets to 10 and 11 million dollar fantasy's... and through his ledgers went every penny of these fabulous sums. This was a man that knew the assets of the District like he knew the back of his own hand. He was a big man in many ways and a hidden friend to many people in spite of his often gruff manner. He was a cyclonic sort of man and very seldom walked. If to run would serve a better purpose. How seldom in the years we've known him did he leisurely find time to discuss a problem. It was always...I'm busy now...Call me later...but yet if you were insistent and you spoke softly and your problem had merit it Gorczycki would listen and come up with a solution in a matter of a few short seconds. He was that sort of man quick to a point but always available when the chips were down. He ruled his domain of facts, figures and ledgers with an iron hand and the District will sorely miss this man with the adding machine mind. His responsibilities were tremendous encompassing an 80 hour work week but yet he always found time to laugh when the occasion called for it. He was also a man that had a wealth of friends even among those who knew him not... the non-teaching staff in the Hicksville School System. From each of them the words came... "We lost a great friend...He leaves a big pair of shoes to fill" and the final phrase of complete summation... HE SPOKE...NOT WITH A FORKED TONGUE. Our sincerest sympathy to those who grieve the most... his loving wife and 3 children. May his soul rest in peace.

Legionnaire's Log

Charles Wagner Post
No. 421, Hicksville
by ARTIE RUTZ

Recently I have been asked by several new members what the greatest piece of Federal legislation enacted as a direct result of American Legion interest? . . . This is a tough question to answer unless a specific field is mentioned, i.e., Americanism, Child Welfare, Economics, Foreign Relations, Rehabilitation, and Security . . . Perhaps you may be able to decide for yourself which accomplishment was the greatest in just one area, Rehabilitation . . . Even in this area you will find that there are differences of opinion. Was it the Legion led investigation which resulted in establishment of the Veterans Bureau (now the Veterans' Administration)? Was it the original law establishing Veteran Administration Hospitals? Was it the World War Veterans Act of 1924, establishing so many principles on which cash benefits are granted? Was it the 1934 and subsequent group of laws overcoming the vicious effects of the Economy Act of 1933? Or was it the G.I. Bill of Rights, which provided for the veterans returning from World War 2 and subsequently extended in large part to the Korean Conflict veteran? I would say that in the sheer matter of timing, in the matter of its effects on all educational programs, in its effects on the National economy through its home loan program, in the number of individuals given help in reestablishing their families and places in civil life, perhaps none has done more than the G.I. Bill of Rights . . . This discussion could progress to consideration of the many other things that The American Legion "got done" for the veteran in the many other fields but the space allotted for this column does not permit such extended discussions . . . But one thing is quite clear and is that the very same veterans who saw fit to become the founders of our great organization in 1919, did more in the Legislative field than either the second or third generation Legionnaires . . . To date . . . Perhaps you have been thinking about a certain pet project that would be of benefit to the community, state and nation as well as the veteran but you haven't done anything about it . . . See your Commander and check its feasibility . . . Laws start at the Post level.

"Roll out the barrel and we'll have a barrel of fun." That is the mood of the picnic committee as they start plans for this year's "great outdoor feast." Switching activities to Roosevelt Beach in Oyster Bay this August 23rd, the picnic will be planned along the same lines as last year's. Early bird, Andy Sadowski, was appointed chairman for next year's dinner and dance. If Andy's success with past Post dances is any indication of what to expect members will be more than satisfied with the results.

This year is the 20th anniversary of the G.I. Bill of Rights. The educational assistance awarded to veterans of World War II and the Korean conflict from this benefit is starting to bear fruit. A recent survey revealed that a high proportion of the veterans educated with the help of the G.I. bill have become leaders in business, scientific, cultural and political worlds. Add to that the fact that approximately 1000 of these men were listed in the popular "Who's Who in America." The success of this bill is evident when the interest shown by educators and Congressmen saw 39 Senators joining together to sponsor a similar bill for cold war veterans (S.S.) now pending in the Senate calendar.

It was gratifying to see VFW magazine pay tribute to Congressman Olin (Tiger) Teague in its March 1964 issue. In an article titled, "A Man's Man," it tells of the Congressman's military record, his friendship to veterans and his fights to see that veterans of conflicts are properly recognized by receiving benefits they justly deserve.

Ed Shannon reaped the benefits from the raffle at our last meeting. Our next get-together is April 13 when nominations of officers for the coming year takes place. See you then.
