

Bank Poll Puts Johnson in Lead

The August balloting in the First Meadow Brook National Bank Community Opinion Poll indicated that among those voting President Johnson has a commanding lead over Senator Goldwater as the choice for Pres-

Goldwater as the choice for Pres-ident in the November elections. The question will be asked again in September and October. In Hicksville, Jirah D. Cole, vice president and manager, re-ported 51.8 percent of the votes cast for Johnson and 34.7 per-cent for Goldwater. Only 3.5 percent said they were unde-cided. In Plainview, Robert Finlay assistant cashier and manager, assistant cashier and manager, reported 70.9 percent for John-son and 25.1 percent for Gold-water with 4 percent indecided. In Jericho, Charles J. Bar-veis, assistant vice president and anager, reported 79.3 per eant of local votes for Johnson and 17.4 percent for Goldwater with 3.3 undecided. The overall figures in the poll in all bank offices were 65.2 for Johnson and 31.5 for Goldwater with 11,000 participating. On the question of reducing the legal voting age to 18, the majority were opposed; on year-round daylight saving time, the vast majority approved and on extension of the length of the public school year, the majority opposed, but it was close. September questions, on bal-lots now available at local bank offices, besides the presidential face are these in four of new

Rain Almost Cancelled Program

The long awaited completion of the Rall Road grade crossing elimination program, probably the most expensive ever on the Island because of its size, was achieved Saturday morning with due ceremony. A lot of people who deserved special mention were mentioned; there were also those who failed to ret the atthose who falled to get the attention they deserved. Elimination of the LIRR grade crossings had been a lively topic of conversation in Hicksville for more than 50 years. Someone has said it should have been done the day the first train arrived in 1837. The weatherman failed to co-operate and for a brief period operate and for a brief period early Saturday morning there was talk of calling off the whole show because of the rain. It began to clear up shortly before nine

Political Campaigning Warms Up

The passing of Labor Day is al-ways a sign for the pollitical wars to get underway in earnest, And so it was during the week. Curiously the buik of the fight-fight and town positions are not involved in the election this year. Democrat Supervisor Michael Petito charged that "forced poll-fical contributions" are being "levied against town employees by the Republican party." He said a number of town workers com-plained about a 1 per cent "tax" plained about a 1 per cent "tax" Republican Councilman Ed-ard J, Poulos, town board ma-portly leader, charged back that Petito had "improperly ordered members of his staff to carry out a 'moonlight' printing assignment to town hill at the close of term

An Editorial:

Misleading TaxCut Claims

There have been a number of news releases, letters to the editor, etc. claiming in effect that the Hicksville School Tax Rate is 23 cents less $100 because assessments on vacant land in the area have been increased. The reductions in this community are claimed also as 33 cents Jericho, 60 cents in Plainview, 41 cents in Bethpage, etc.

The first announcement of these "reductions" were made by the County Executive in May, apparently coinciding with school budget voting time.

The truth of 'the matter in Hicksville is, and it could be the fact in neighboring dis-tricts percentage-wise, that the School Board when it prepared its budget last January knew the school tax rate was going to increase and the facts were given to the community at budget-voting time. The final tax rate is not set until when August the assessment roll has been established by the county.

So if Hicksville taxpayers expect to see a big drop in their school tax rate they are doomed to disappointment. The final official rate was about three cents less than had been forecast in January, not 23 cents less as the publicity handouts claim.

However, since under the long established County Charter the school districts are guaranteed their revenues by the County, the school board should cut the rate by 23 cents per $100 and let Mr. Nickerson make up the difference to keep our schools running.

After years of moving from school to school and auditorium to auditorium (as the Jericho Players and West Birchwood Tbeater Groups) the newly formed Jericho Community Theater, which encompasses the combined talents and enthusiastic energies of both groups, hopes at last to have found a permanent home. During a recent interview with superintendent of schools. energies of both groups, hopes at last to have found a permanent home. During a recent interview with superimendent of schools, Dr. Thomas Carey, the Theater group' discussed the fact that it was never their intention to interfere with plans for school assembly programs, but the fact that props and scenery were set up on the stage made this situation unavoidable, Dr. Carey suggested that the facilities of the Little Theater; better known as the speech and drama room at the high school, might be the solution to our problem. While this room is utilized by the students, the state facilities generally are not. It was hearwarming to the group to bear their corpressed by Dr. Carey who said, he believes a community theater to be a strong cultural force in a com-munity, and that the J.C.T. should be an asset to the Jericho com-munity. It is their hope that successful future productions will make the possible to improve the facilities generation com-bined with our own artistic ef-forts, will make possible a com-munity theater in the Little theater, benefitting not only the J.C.T. tout all who use it. Let is rapidly becoming critical, in a feature article in the Journal American on August 23, colum-nist Newton Demarsky called attention to the belief of water authorities that the year 2010 will be the critical year in which two and a quarter million per-sons in Nassau (and perhaps as many in Suffolk) will be using up the full centred water meaning of the full natural water supply and turning to desalinization of sea water to continue satisfying do-mestic and industrial needs. It seems appropriate now, in summary, to ask "Why should the watering regulation be ob-served," They should be ob-served primarily because the duly constituted authorities have seen fit in their wisdom to im-pose these controls for the or-derly regulation of the water supply -- which has been en-trusted to them by popular man-fulate. This is the essence of trusted to them by popular man-date. This is the essence of democracy. Objections to the regulations can be expressed properly at the polls or in the courts. The staff of the Hicksville Pub-lic Library inder Oirector Kemmeth Barnes, has been busily engaged in detective work all summer. The object was to fulfill a loog felt need community need, to compile a Town Directory. The detective work consisted of tracking down the many clubs, youth organizations, service clubs etc. together with the officers, and when possible meeting time and place. and place and place, The first consideration was what to include in a Town Di-rectory. The Library staff tried to include any community infor-mation that was thought would be useful to the residents of Hicks-ville; the polifical clubs, polifical leaders, town representatives, federal state and county. There is a section on community servia section on community serv es and a list of the 15 churche

A Jae Koerner this reporter after listening to the "Who's Who" in the elon-gated boat heirarchy, The eight youngsters mentioned ... (all Hicksville Students) include Mike Grant, Pete Petrone Carl Wi-berg, Bill Willson and Tom Voss, This past summer all 5 com-bined their efforts to win two Metropolitan Rowing Titles on the Olympic course at Pelnam Lagoon Grant won the quarter mile championship over a fleid of five single scullers in the record time of 1 min, 21 secs. Petrone (bow), Wiberg (2nd), Willson (3rd) and Voss (stroke) won the championship even in the quadruple sculls. These vic-tories plus a 2nd in the double sculls and a place slot in the distance singles gave Hicksville a close 2nd in the team stand-ings competing against 10 other schools from New York, New Jersey and Conn. Add these feats to a double scull championship by the plat of 16 yr. olds (Willson by the plat of 16 yr. olds (Willson by the strait of 18 ty. olds (willson by and Yoss, stroke) competing in the North and Central Ameri-tane's, Ontario, last July 21, 23, 26 and 27 ... and then as recen-tly as Sey, oth another double sculls championship rep-rent and the stares Junior Double Sculls Championship rep-restening the Oyster Bay Rowing Assn and you have sort of a 4 way fandango in the Scullery set.

Dy ARI The summer has rolled by ra-tidy as it normally does, only the winter seems long and drawn out... Yet since the June county convention things haven't been too quiet, at least for me ... There was the Department Con-vention at syracuse that saw a few of us Hickswills boyspresent (with the wives of course!)... I think too many of our members are missing something by passing up a state with the wives of course!)... I think too many of our members are missing something by passing up a state discount of they have the opportunity ... There is al-ways much social activity at these gatherings and believe me, you meet some of the nicest people ... Besides finding out there is more to New York State than Long Island ... There was the BIG parade thru downtown Syra-suse that was worth the trip alone and H's too bad that most of the upstate bands and drum corps never make the trip down to our meek of the woods... They have many, many terrific ouffits that should be seen and heard by more people The band business is should be seen and heard by more people ... The band business is
