Historic Rock Marking Town Boundary Near 1745 Location

HISTORIC CANTIAGUE ROCK is back near its original location on West John St. and the corner of Cantiague Road, Hicksville. The site was made available by O.E. McIntyre Co. when the Rock had to be moved because of the widening of W. John St. The County Dept. of Public Works kept the Rock in storage during the winter until the site was prepared. Admiring the stone which dated back to 1745, when it was placed to mark the boundary line between the Town of Oyster Bay and Town of North Hempstead are, from the left, Randall P. McIntyre, County Executive Eugene H. Nickerson and Town Supervisor Michael Petito. The adjacent wooded area was called Cantiague Woods and was mentioned in the Andros Patent of 1677 and in the Robert Williams Purchase of the present day site of Hicksville from the Indians in 1648.

3 Educators Study College Project

In a recent visit to Nassau Community College's Project Opportunity a trio of top Hicksville educators found the project "a worthwhile program that fills a definite community need in an area that has been too long overlooked."

The delegation included Mrs. Rachel Johnson, district supervisor of reading; Dr. John Rouse, district supervisor of English; and John Crenson, district supervisor of mathematics.

Although pointing out that their short visit precluded a complete technical evaluation, they found several facets of the project interesting.

Dr. Rouse, for example, said he was "impressed by the active student involvement and attention" in an English class he visited, and remarked that "this indicates the value of a primary educational asset — individual attention." He also commented favorably on "the detailed work on speech habits" that was being done by the English instructors.

Mrs. Johnson remarked on the importance of the project's tutoring schedule. Under this program the students spend their afternoons with tutors working on individual problems.

She added that the "college deserved high praise, not only for recognizing the need, but for doing something about it."

To Crenson an outstanding point was the rapport that the teachers were able to develop with the students.

"This is something we are not able to do in a large class," he said. "In addition, a small class also helps in developing motivation." Opportunity Project classes have about eight or nine students.

remarking about the cultural activities which are a regular part of the program, Crenson said, "It is extremely important to try to fill in the cracks in the students' background."

Dr. Robert R. Gwydir, dean of instruction at the college and co-director of the project, suggested that because of the community importance of the project, other professional educators may be interested seeing firsthand the work in "Project Opportunity."

"However," he added, "the concentrated nature of the class work at the school means we can handle only a few such visits. An advance phone call to me should be made to find if a visit is feasible."

Deputy Public Works Commissioner Robert R. Gamble announced that Gertz and the Mid-Island Shopping Plaza have agreed to sponsor three events at the new Cantiague Park in Hicksville.

Road Widening Projects Chamber Topic Aug 10

Road widening projects in Hicksville, including the state projects for Broadway and Newbridge Rd. and the county project for Old Country Rd. (due to start in October) will be the topic of official agency spokesmen when Hicksville Chamber of Commerce meets for luncheon at Frank's Alibi on Tuesday, Aug. 10, according to President Leiland Badler.

He pledges the meeting will conclude by 2 PM. Luncheon reservations may be made to the Chamber office at 111 West Old Country Rd., Hicksville. The starting dates for the state projects have been of increasing concern for many business people.

Teacher Attends Princeton Institute

Miss Runhild Wessell, teacher at Hicksville High School is among 44 secondary school teachers of German, from 16 states, who are attending an NDEA Language Institute at Princeton University this summer. All of them are experienced teachers; they are studying new methods of language instruction as well as taking courses in modern German literature, applied linguistics, and German culture. The Princeton University Language Laboratory staff gives instruction in the preparation, recording, and editing of language tapes.

Hornbostel Judge In National Award

Caleb Hornbostel of Dean St., Hicksville, a member of the Board of Education, was one of the three judges for the National Institute for Architectural Education which has chosen the year's best architectural theses.

Scale models of the Thesis Award winners will be on display at the National Design Centre, 415 East 53rd St., New York, for two weeks starting Aug. 2. Winners were selected from 42 entries representing 19 schools of architecture.

Conservatives Name Own Slate

In a move said to be calculated to "destroy liberal domination of Oyster Bay's Republican Party", the Conservative Party has completed arrangements for running a full slate of candidates throughout the town.

The announcement was made by Noel C. Crowley, Conservative town leader of Syosset.

Heading the slate is George W. Gruber of North Massapequa, named as the Conservative candidate for town supervisor to oppose incumbent Democrat Michael N. Petito and Republican Edwin J. Fehrenbach. Gruber, an officer of the East Brooklyn Savings Bank and himself a Republican, decided to run after concluding that "something is seriously wrong when a man like Fehrenbach, who consistently voted with the Democrats in the State Assembly, can continue to command Republican support."

Crowley has been named as his party's candidate for the State Senate from the 4th Senatorial District. As such, he will oppose the Democratic designee, Vincent B. Frontero, and Republican incumbent Sen. Henry M. Curran. Crowley described Sen. Curran's removal from office as "another top priority project, and an absolute necessity for the restoration of a meaningful two-party system."

For the remaining offices, Mr. Crowley explained, "all Republicans who were not avowed liberals were invited to submit their qualifications for Conservative

AIRMAN Edward Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Anderson of 53 Cable Lane, Hicksville, has completed Air Force basic military training at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Airman Anderson has been selected for technical training as an aircraft maintenance specialist at the Air Training Command (ATC) school at Amarillo AFB, Tex. His new unit is part of the vast ATC system which trains airmen and officers in the diverse skills required by the nation's aerospace force.

Dear Lynda.

Mr. and Mrs. RICHARD CROCE of 162 Haverford Rd., Hicksville, are the parents of a daughter, Diane Hope, born July 14 at Mercy Hospital. JUDGE FRANCIS DONOVAN was guest speaker at a recent Hicksville Rotary luncheon with the topic "Youthful Offenders." Incidentally, the Rotary Club phone number this year is OV 1-5840. The Nassau County Parks Youth Symphony Orchestra will give a concert at Cantlagos Park, Hicksville, at 8 PM on Saturday, July 31. Hicksville School Board when it meets this Friday night may resolve the question of whether it can reduce its meetings to one regular a month, rather than two which has been standard for about ten years. State sales tax goes into effect next week. Wonder if there will be enough pennies available to meet the need? GRACE ELTON, winner of the four-year scholarship awarded by Hicksville Kiwanis Club, was a guest of the Club on July 21. She was chosen from among 18 leading contenders. The Kiwanis will hold Kids Day on Sept. 26 and Charter Night on Oct. 30. Birthday greetings to GENE SCHILLINGER who celebrated July 18. The Hicksville Adult Education Advisory Committee has been expanded and has elected officers. FREEMAN PARR is chairman, ELERY BEAN, vice chairman, ANNE COWDEN, secretary; while JOHN ASH is program director and NEIL MCCORMACK is liaison member of the Board of Education. The next committee meeting is Sept. 9. IRENE MURPHY who resigned recently as Hicksville Postmaster is scheduled to leave for a vacation in Europe this weekend. It is reported that word about her successor may be as much as 60 days in the future. KAREN WOOD of Hicksville won first place in the 100 foot free style and 100 foot breast stroke at Jones Beach Girls' Day, July 21, and then took second place in a hole-in-one tournament. ANN LONGO, also of Hicksville, won second in the 100 ft. free style and 100 breast stroke swimming events.

Hicksville Schools have obtained four voting machines, without cost, which will be used in social studies classes, student elections, etc. New additions to Senior High and the administration building-warehouse are taking shape rapidly. Furniture is being ordered as well as window blinds, etc. Completion is scheduled for Sept. 1 before the new term begins. If you have an honorary sheriff's shield or a special deputy sheriff card from Nassau County, forget it. They have been declared no longer valid by Sheriff JOSEPH MAHER and he asks police officers to request the surrender of any special cards and honorary auto shields which have been used improperly "in an effort to gain special treatment or consideration."

endorsement. With one exception they refused to do so.

As candidates for the State Assembly to represent the various assembly districts wholly or partly within Oyster Bay, Conservatives designated the following: Robert L. Stevenson, Massapequa Park painting contractor, for 7th A.D.; Dr. Francis Wells, Massapequa dentist, for 8th A.D.; Patrick J. Murphy, New York City executive from Syosset, for 9th A.D.; John F. Nelson, salesman from Hicksville, for 10th A.D. and Walter B. Stevens of Laurel Hollow, president of a management consulting firm, for 11th A.D.

Completing the Conservative slate are: For town council, Lois A. Keenler of Syosset, Frank LoPiccolo of Bethpage and Gerald G. Ruble of Old Bethpage.

Conservatives' choice for town clerk is William F. Morando of Syosset. For trustees of the Jones Institute, they named Dr. Frank G. Back of Glen Cove, the only Republican candidate who accepted Conservative endorsement; Peter N. Kamvis of Syosset and Dorothy Stutz of Massapequa.

Republican candidates for judicial office, who need not file formal acceptances of another party's endorsement but may reject it if they choose to do so, have all received Conservative endorsement.

READER OPINION

CHARTER REVISION

To the Editor:

In the Federalist Papers, James Madison wrote that the essence of a republican form of government is that it "derives all its powers...from the great body of people." Today, the people of Nassau County and the citizens of Hicksville have the opportunity to preserve and perpetuate the fundamental principle of representative government; a principle based on the standard of "One Person, One Vote—One Vote, One Value."

In the major report of the Nassau County Commission on Governmental Revision, pertaining to Article I of the Nassau County Charter, the majority concluded that the present make-up of the County Board of Supervisors does not provide "one man, one vote," and, since this system is the only way to have equal representation, the majority advocates that the present board of six members be "replaced by a board of 15 county supervisors elected for 4 year terms from 15 districts of substantially equal populations and of compact and contiguous territory with each Supervisor having an equal vote." Under the present system, the two supervisors from the Town of Hempstead control 57% of the total weighted vote of 125, thereby making it possible, under weighted voting, for a small number of legislators from the most populous areas of the county to dominate completely the entire board of supervisors. Weighted voting preserves the existing framework of malapportionment in our county, making it impossible to pass legislation over the opposition of the Hempstead supervisors. It is time for you to become informed and for you to demand immediate reform.

We should demand that the "one man—one vote" rulings of the United States Supreme Court (WMCA vs. Lomenzo, 377 U.S. 633—; Apportionment of seats in the New York legislature failed to meet the requirements of the Fourteenth Amendment; and Reynolds vs. Sims, 377 U.S. 568—; seats in both houses of a bicameral state legislature must be apportioned on a population basis.) be applied to our county governing body—the Board of Supervisors. We should express our desire for equal representation in county affairs and abandon weighted voting, which tends to prevent the free exchange of ideas, hinders the legislative process, and denies our legislators an equal voice in representing the people of our county.

Having attended the public hearing of the commission and studied their reports, this writer strongly urges you to support the majority report for a 15 man board of supervisors, based on the principle of "one man—one vote." I also urge you to write to the commission at the Executive Office Building in Mineola for their report so that you may understand their proposals. This issue of fundamental representative government affects every citizen and in our constant vigilance to preserve and perpetuate the basic principles of American democracy, we must not fail to preserve this principle. Let us, the citizens and leaders of Hicksville understand, judge, and render a voice on this most significant issue now confronting the consciences and rights of all the people of our county.

Impressive Growth At Central Loan

The business of satisfying personal and family financial needs at Central Federal Savings and Loan Assoc. has produced another period of that institution's impressive growth: an average of over one million dollars a month for the first half of this year. Assets have increased by seven million dollars from 78 million in December, 1964, to the present position of $85-million. This announcement was made by Central Federal Savings president, Theodore Ornstein, who, on behalf of the Board, also declared another savings dividend for the period of 4.30% annually.

"We have continued to grow primarily because Long Islanders are sophisticated savers," Ornstein observed. "They know the value of higher, consistently paid dividends. This period our savers earned nearly 1 1/2-million dollars on regular, club, school, and other accounts. Central Federal's policy has always paid off in greater benefits to savers."

"Long Islanders also expect greater service and convenience. Central Federal's customers participate in practically every known banking program. We are one of the few institutions in the area to begin recently offering mortgageors exceptionally low-cost health, accident, and life insurance coverage. Homes of a significant number of families hit by tragic situations have already been saved by the program which is snowballing as more and more home owners hear about it."

"A full range of savings plans, passbook loan services, student loans, mortgage and home owners loans, gift checks, money orders, safe deposit boxes, and the Monthly Income Plan are among other services most popular with those who take their personal finances seriously."

"Assets of any savings institution are largely affected by an aggressive Mortgage Department. Central Federal's residential mortgage policy continues to provide for low-cost loans up

Rescue Service Earns Praise

A letter of commendation from a Long Beach doctor to the Town of Oyster Bay brought to light a rescue service performed by lifeguards at the Town's Tobay Beach off the Jones Beach Causeway. It was disclosed by Councilman Edward J. Poulos, Town Board Majority Leader.

Dr. Jacob J. Yarvis wrote, "My wife and I wish to inform you of the exceptional service rendered us by your lifeguards on June 27, when our boat, the Loriliss, went down off Tobay Beach. Their promptness at getting to us and their readiness for any expected emergency were greatly appreciated. The people on Tobay Beach should feel secure, knowing the calibre of this group."

Dr. and Mrs. Yarvis were cruising along off the ocean shoreline with three other boats when theirs struck an unmarked wreck about a quarter mile off Tobay Beach. The other boats hove to Chief lifeguard James McCabe of Massapequa recognized the Yarvis' plight and lifeguard captain George Doherty of Massapequa put out with the beach dory and its first-aid equipment.

Captain Doherty said that he returned to Tobay when he and his men determined that the flotilla needed no further assistance. On July 5th, another boat hit the old wreck and those aboard were transferred to other boats standing by while the Tobay lifeguards came alongside with their first-aid equipment.

The wreck, which is known to many navigators, has been there nearly 60 years and is visible at low tide but invisible at high tide. To 90% of appraised value, immediately," Ornstein noted. "We have also excelled in mortgage refinancing, home improvement loans, and loans for land development, commercial building, and apartment houses."

"I am particularly proud of our staff," Ornstein said. "Our personnel have the rare ability to be both experts in their field and good neighbors to our customers. This is another reason for Central Federal's growth in assets and increase in satisfied customers."

Herald Editorial Opinion: Polishing The Petito Image

One of the aggravations of politics is well illustrated by the picture on the front page of this week's issue of the Mid Island Herald. It is a good picture illustrating the achievement of an event for which we worked. The historic Cantigue Rock is back within inches of its location since 1745 — that was 220 years ago.

What bothers us about the picture, and we were pleased to publish it in large size to fully show the Rock, is the presence of Town Supervisor Michael Petito.

During the campaign to keep the Rock at its historic site as a boundary marker between two Townships, Supervisor Petito failed (as far as we can determine) to evidence the slightest interest. Our letter to him and the Town Board regarding the plan to relocate the Rock failed to bring a response from him (although Councilman Edward Poulos, as the majority Republican leader of the Town Board, concerned himself to interpose). County Executive Nickerson did his share to help. He referred the matter to the County Public Works Dept. (which responded, corresponded and acted) and the County Historian (who determined the Rock was worthy of attention). The O. E. McIntyre organization, which has provided the final resting place for the Rock on its property, has demonstrated its interest in things of historic significance.

But our Supervisor? It so happens his term of office expires this year and his image must therefore be stimulated. If we could have printed the picture without his presence we would have done so.

Our beef with Mr. Petito goes back to prior to his election two years ago. We believe that that was one of the dirtiest campaigns in our experience. Charges levelled prior to election day were quietly swept under the rug after the results were known.

Prior to the election — aside from the charges and claims of misdoing which never got to court or anywhere else — it was promised that the election of Petito would "distribute the tax burden", "no candidate for political office will be a political leader" (who is Louis Schulz), "influence peddling will not be permitted."

After the election and just before the start of Mr. Petito's term of office, this newspaper wrote him at his home in Plainview and requested a statement of his goals and objectives. A reply was received from a resident of Baldwin, his press representative, which stated that he and the supervisor-elect had just been so, so busy they could not produce the statement requested in time for our New Year's edition. So we waited. And today, a year and a half plus later we are still waiting for that statement.

To this date the HERALD has yet to enjoy the privilege of an answer to a written communication, a telephone conversation or a personal confrontation with the current Supervisor of the Town of Oyster Bay. He owes us none of these experiences and we don't lose sleep as a result. However, we can't help wonder about belated efforts to create an image which is based, after all, upon a shadow.—F.J.N.

How to Make Trip More Fun

Because vacation driving creates new problems for even the most skilled motorists, the Greater New York Safety Council offered advice today to those planning such trips.

"Unfamiliar road conditions, unexpected situations, a greater strain on the car as well as the driver, and a proliferation of other motorists in new and strange surroundings require special preparation, special attitudes and special driving techniques," declared Michael G. Birmingham, director of the Safety Council's traffic and transportation division.

"Vacation driving takes the average motorist beyond the areas where he has built up a familiarity with road and traffic conditions," said Birmingham. "It also involves more continuous driving time than he is ordinarily accustomed to.

"This imposes a physical effect on the car as well as on the driver. Engine breakdowns, overheating and tire failure occur more frequently during high-speed, hot weather driving. Make sure your car is checked out mechanically before such a trip. The best place to learn of a vehicle defect is in your service station—not on the road. On a long trip, start with a few extra pounds of air in your tires; this will reduce tire flexing and thus cut down heat development.

"Study maps before you set out—not when you come to a junction and don't know which way to turn. It will help to mark turning places and landmarks on the map and start watching for them as you near their location.

"Observe and be guided by road signs. The information they convey is for your safety and convenience. If you are unsure you have taken the correct turn, pull off the traveled part of the road until you have clarified the situation. Especially, if you have gone past your exit on a controlled-access highway do not attempt to back up. This is illegal and extremely dangerous. Go on to the next exit and turn around.

"Plan your trip so as to avoid urban areas during commuter hours. Avoid the vicinity of ball parks and other crowd-gathering centers just prior to or just after the events that pile up traffic congestion.

"Be especially careful when driving through areas of roadside businesses such as drive-in theaters, produce stands, souvenir shops and motels. Other drivers may stop suddenly or pull out in front of you.

"When you come to scenic overlooks do one thing or the other; either concentrate on the road and be wary of cars pulling in or out, or else pull over, park, and enjoy the view. Don't try to take in the view while steering through an unusually difficult traffic situation.

"Remember you are not the only driver in strange territory. Most of the other drivers will be vacationists and many may be somewhat confused. Be extra courteous as well as extra careful. A nasty attitude towards the confused or inexperienced driver may pay off in a nasty accident."

"Alright, everybody, write:—Dear Mom, I'm having a great time..."

Are You Taking A Vacation Trip?

If you are, there are some things you should be sure to do to assure yourself of a good time—to protect yourself.

First: Allow plenty of time to get where you're going each day. Speeding in order to make up time or to get in a few more miles in a day is one of the surest ways to ruin a vacation. Each year thousands of vacationers die and others are left stranded in strange places because of highway accidents caused by speeding.

Second: Beware of the Sun. Nothing can spoil an otherwise good time like the sting of a sunburn.

Third: Use common sense when you're swimming.

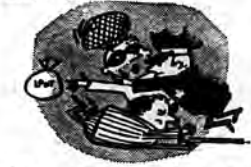

And fourth: Whether you go out for an evening, a week, or a weekend, don't invite burg-

CLOSE GARAGE DOORS

Keep garage doors closed. An empty garage, with the doors open, indicates no one is home. It's a good idea to keep garden tools and ladders locked up, too. Otherwise a prowler may use them to get into your home.

NOTIFY POLICE

Tell one neighbor and local police of the dates you'll be away. They can keep an eye on things during your absence.

LOCK ALL DOORS AND WINDOWS

Securely lock all doors and windows. Use safety latches on doors and windows, too. Don't make a burglar's job easy!

CANCEL ALL DELIVERIES

A littered porch and lawn means you're away. Arrange to have mail held and all all night, attract burglars. Use automatic safety latches on doors and windows, too. Ask a neighbor to sweep your sidewalk and mow your lawn, too.

CONNECT TIMER TO LAMP

A darkened house, or a light that burns away, attracts burglars. Use automatic safety latches on doors and windows, too. Ask a neighbor to sweep your sidewalk and mow your lawn, too.

Claim 4 of Every 5 New LI Homes Installing Oil Heat

The Oil Heat Institute of Long Island, now celebrating its 10th year of activities in behalf of more than 200 oil heating firms of Nassau and Suffolk, has reported that 4 out of 5 new homes being built in the two counties are installing oil heat.

"This," William R. Kampfer, OHILI president, points out with pride "is a glaring contrast to four years ago when an unsuspecting public was being induced to try gas heat, and 4 out of 5 new homes were being equipped with that type of fuel."

Kampfer claims "the complete turnaround in the local building industry was brought about by public enlightenment programs conducted by OHILI and a growing demand by potential buyers for oil heating homes." He added, "builders found that oil heated homes sold faster, and gave better comfort, safety and economy to the home-owner."

Kampfer, who has been in the oil heating business most of his adult life, argued that "no fuel is superior to oil, because oil delivers the most heat (British Thermal Units) per dollar; heats water three times faster; and is safe, clean and a product of a competitive market."

New and second-time buyers" Kampfer stated, "have learned from experience or from friends and neighbors that oil dealers, competing against each other (in contrast to monopolistic utilities) must render the most personalized, courteous and competent services. That's why 4 out of 5 who are building or buying homes on Long Island are joining the 90% of Long Island's residents who use oil."

Kampfer argued that "given a free choice, people will in overwhelming proportion order oil heat over all other fuels."

He stated that "a concerted educational program, conducted by OHILI with headquarters in Hicksville in recent years for both the public and the builders, utilized ads, and promotional aids which include directional signals, streamers, sign, note pads, plastic runners for model homes, and other devices."

At present, 231 builders (almost 90% of all on Long Island) are involved in OHILI's "Builders Program" designed to help the builder sell his home "easier and faster."

Kampfer claimed that "as soon as the Builders Program, with the accompanying OHILI public-relations education swung into high gear, the gas tide was stemmed. A very prominent tract builder on Long Island, erecting 180 houses, had the first 40 installed with gas. The benefits of oil heating were so forcibly brought to the attention of builders by the home buying public and OHILI, that the builder ordered oil burning equipment installed in the rest of the 140 homes."

"At the same time," Kampfer said, "schools, hospitals, multiplied dwellings, and owner-occupied industrial plants, cognizant of the economy and efficiency of oil, stuck to this fuel."

"We have been telling new home buyers that they can save as much as $5,000 during the life of their mortgage if they heat with oil," Kampfer said, adding: "Apparently the public and the builders have been convinced by oil heat's performance that we have been right."

New Approach To Lending Field

Central Federal Savings and Loan Assoc. of Nassau County has taken the initiative in educating the homeowner to the obvious advantages of larger down payments and shorter terms when borrowing mortgage money.

Theodore Ornstein, President of Central Federal Savings stated that - "the 30 year mortgage is more profitable for a lending institution but certainly more costly to the homeowner. Hence, our present advertising campaign will be aimed at presenting the dollar and cent disadvantage inherent in 30 year, 90% mortgages."

The Ways and Means committee is holding a special meeting this Monday evening at 8PM at the club house. Any person wishing to attend is welcome regarding ways and means. Got any? Bring them along.

Thousands of questions are asked by veterans and their families concerning benefits and information provided by the Veterans Administration. Some latest answers from the VA are:

A remarried widow of a veteran is not eligible for a pension because of her remarriage. However, the remarriage will not effect the eligibility of the veteran's child and application should be made for the child or children at the nearest VA office where the proper forms and assistance is available.

In answer to a recent question if a gravesite in a National Cemetery can be made in advance, the answer is no. Applications should be made only at the time of death of the veteran or that of an eligible dependent.

CYO Registration Set for Football

Registration for Holy Family R.C. Church, Hicksville C.Y.O. football, will be held at the Dutch Lane School field Saturday, Aug. 7, at 10:00 A.M. and each week day evening at 6:00 P.M. through Aug. 13.

Boys between the ages of 8 years and 13 years are eligible. Commissioner John Powers is most anxious for the older boys—sixth and seventh graders—to enroll, though all boys of Holy Family Parish are welcome.

Summer Concert Next Tuesday

Approximately 200 young musicians from the Hicksville Summer High School will present a concert on Tuesday evening, Aug. 3rd. The program is designed for easy summertime listening and will include a trombone trio and a dideland combo. Show tunes, marches and familiar classics will fill out the program.

The Intermediate Band, Symphonic Orchestra and Advanced Band will perform under their director, J. David Abt. The concert will be in the High School Auditorium at 8:30 P.M. and admission is free.

Library Starts On New Directory

The Hicksville Public Library is starting the revision of the Hicksville Town Directory for 1965.

The Directory is a booklet compiled to include information that the Library staff consider would be useful to anyone residing in Hicksville. For example, the personnel of the Library Board, the School Board, Federal representatives, State representatives, officers of Oyster Bay Town, political parties, Leader's Headquarters, community services and where to obtain them, churches, youth organizations, adult organizations, etc. are some of the items listed in the Index.

The Hicksville Town Directory 1964 proved popular, not only with residents but several out-of-towners wrote for copies. One request was received from a family in Colorado who were relocating on Long Island and were interested in settling in Hicksville. Several requests were received from Hicksville college freshmen whose first assignment in English 101 apparently was a short rundown on one's home town.

The Library welcomes any suggestions toward making this issue even more useful than the last.

Self addressed cards have been sent to all the organizations listed in last year's issue to return with the names of the new officers. If there are any newly organized groups in Hicksville, or any that were somehow overlooked, they are asked to call Mrs. Glaser at Wells 1-1417, so that all organizations can be included in the Hicksville Town Directory 1965.

Delight Park Visitors

Cantigue County Park, in Hicksville is attracting thousands daily, especially during the summer months to the new Disney Land Zoo area where huge toys are on permanent display.

Mid Island Shopping Plaza Merchant's Assoc. President S.

While not concerning itself with veterans benefits, the VA in answer to a query regarding Spanish American War veterans had this to say, "There were only 17,000 Spanish American War veterans alive on January 1, 1965, and it is estimated that number will have shrunk to about 16,300 by July 1, 1965. The average age of these veterans is 86.6 years and there are more than 2,000 of them over 90 years of age.

Anecdotes about servicemen whether true or false are always welcomed reading. One of my favorites and this is supposed to be true, deals with a young ensign who just stepped on the bridge of a destroyer and was greeted by the course voice of the commander who growled, "Stand back! I'm going to take a shot at a star." The commander raised his sextant to get the bearings of the ship. Just as he aimed the sextant a shooting star streaked across the area of the sky he sighted on. The greenhorn ensign goggled in amazement then whooped, "YOU GOT IT SIR!"

AIRMAN THIRD CLASS Kenneth J. Tormey Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tormey of 61 Bob White Lane, Hicksville, has completed U.S. Air Force basic military training at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Airman Tormey has been selected for technical training as an office equipment repairman at the Air Training Command (ATC) school at Lowry AFB, Colo. His new unit is part of the vast ATC system which trains airmen and officers in the diverse skills required by the nation's aerospace force.

The airman is a 1963 graduate of Hicksville High School.

CAPT. IRWIN GORMAN an Air Force Academy Liaison Officer from Hicksville, recently completed a two-week tour of active duty at the Academy near Colorado Springs, Colo. An Air Force Reserve Officer, Capt. Gorman acts as an official admissions counselor for the Academy in his home area. Young men, parents and high school guidance counselors may obtain information about the Academy by contacting Capt. Gorman at 60 West 55th St., Judson 6-6030 in New York City.

GOP Softball Team Victor

The Hicksville Teen-Age Republican Club softball team routed their Teen-Age Democratic counterparts by a 13 to 8 score on July 24. Despite numerous errors, the Teen-Age Republicans held a lead throughout most of the game. Sparking the victorious Teen GOP were Casey Schweinfest and Fred Sachs with three and four hits respectively; Phil Konits with four R.B.I.s, and Andy Rosenblatt with a three run homer. During the exciting seven innings game, the Teen Dems accumulated 13 hits while the Teen GOP produced 1 hit. Despite the intense rivalries, all the participants had an enjoyable day and more softball games are planned in the future.

Teachers Vote In Own Schools

School teachers will have the opportunity for the first time to "really participate" in election of delegates to the annual convention of the New York State Teachers Retirement System, under the terms of a measure sponsored by Assemblyman Edwin Fehrenbach, and signed by the Governor.

The bill provides that each school become a polling place. Formerly, balloting took place at a central location. This prevented many teachers from voting for the delegates who represented them at State conventions.

In addition, the bill provides for a secret ballot. The measure was introduced by Fehrenbach at the request of the Educational Conference Board.

Another Fehrenbach proposal signed by the Governor will enable the Hicksville Volunteer Fire Dept. to set up a training site on land owned by the Hicksville Water District on Bethpage Rd.

The Hicksville firemen have been seeking a training site for some time, but costs were prohibitive. Under the bill they will be able to construct certain training facilities.

Fehrenbach has retired from the Assembly to run this year for the post of Supervisor in the Town of Oyster Bay.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PROPOSED LOCAL LAW

TAKE NOTICE that a proposed local law, entitled:

A LOCAL LAW to amend the county government law of Nassau County in relation to the board of supervisors and repealing section one hundred four thereof in relation thereto has been introduced before the Board of Supervisors of the County of Nassau and that the said Board will hold a public hearing on said proposed local law

AUGUST 10th, 1965 at 8:00 p.m. at the TOWN HALL, Town of Oyster Bay Audrey Ave, Oyster Bay, N.Y.

Adoption of the local law would increase the size of the Board of Supervisors from 6 to 15 members and their terms of election from 2 to 4 years.

Members of the Board of Supervisors would cease to represent the towns and cities, but would run in 15 separate districts "of substantially equal populations and of compact contiguous territory" into which Nassau County would be divided by the Board of Elections.

Each of the 15 members of the Board of Supervisors would represent approximately 90,000 populations and have 1 vote on the Board, the Board of Supervisors would set the salaries of the additional supervisors and their staffs.

This is the first time in the history of Nassau County that the Board of Supervisors will hold a public hearing in the Town Hall of Oyster Bay. So important is this proposed local law to the future government of the County that I, as your supervisor, requested the local public hearing for the convenience of Oyster Bay residents. Your attendance, your participation, and your views are earnestly sought. If you cannot attend the hearing please write to me and give me the benefit of your thinking.
