Stalemate on Tuesday: Petito Re-Election Problem for 2 Parties

Republicans in the Town of Oyster Bay were today confronted with the problem of where they go from here? In a way, the same problem confronted the Democrats. Michael Petito, after an undistinguished two-year term, was elected by a margin of about 5,000 votes over Edwin Fehrenbach who will cease to be an assemblyman on Dec. 31. But Petito was left alone on the town board confronted again by six Republican councilmen.

The GOP problem is whom to tap to run against Petito two years from now? Fehrenbach had won re-election in the face of the Goldwater debacle with a comfortable margin of about 12,000 votes. True, there was a Liberal candidate in the picture to take away 2500 votes from the opposition. This time Petito had the Liberal endorsement and there was a Conservative candidate to take away from Fehrenbach.

The Republican candidates by and large did well in Hicksville. Julius Schwartz carried his home town with a margin of 600 votes but lost out to Stanley Harwood in the Assembly race. Harwood did better in Levittown, the other part of the District.

Fehrenbach lost by more than 5,500 votes in a substantial victory for Petito who bid for his second term as Supervisor in Oyster Bay. Michael Petito only democratic Supervisor elected to office in Nassau County, thus, also retaining the status quo on the Nassau County Board of Supervisors.

Until late in the evening it appeared as if the democrats would sweep the Town Council but as the final returns came in to election headquarters a complete Republican victory was assured. So, Supervisor Petito will again be faced with an all Republican Council.

In the Country's most controversial election, incumbent Republican-Liberal District Attorney William Cahn defeated Democrat David T. Gibbons by a margin of 10,000 votes.

Final and unofficial election returns are as follows: For Supervisor, Edwin J. Fehrenbach, (R) 45,545; Michael N. Petito, (D) 51,041; For Councilmen (3 elected), Angelo D. Romano, (R) 49,184; Ralph J. Marino, (R) 49,188; Frank J. Ryan, (R) 49,189; James A. Rosamund, (D-L), 44,944; Harry A. Bostin, (D-L) 44,947; Myron H. Steinberg, 43,768.

For Town Clerk, William B. O'Keefe, (R) 49,883; Joseph P. McPartlin (D-L), 48,794.

In the 3rd Senatorial District, Elisha Barrett (R) won with 12,728 votes; William E. Woods (D-L) received 11,881. In the 4th Senatorial District: Henry M. Curran (D-L) 49,838; Vincent B. Froniero, (D) 35,342.

In the 7th Assembly District: William L. Burras, (R) 6,018; John W. Lee, (D-L) 5,009. In the 9th Assembly District, Francis P. McCloskey, (R), 16,659; Henry A. Rigali, (D-L) 14,198. In the 9th Assembly District, Martha Ginsburg (R-L), 17,196; Murray F. Rosenthal, (D) 14,458.

In the District Attorney Race, William Cahn (R-L) received 235,290; David T. Gibbons (D) received 225,142.

Michael Senack (R) received 218,631; votes to Joseph Fisher's (D-L) 230,240 votes, in the race for Sheriff.

Dear Lynda

One of the most amusing hobbies we have is to listen to election predictions BEFORE the polls close. If the predictions we heard Tuesday night before nine o'clock came true, ED FERRENBACH would be the new town supervisor. SUSAN WILLIAMS of 5 Dikeman Court, Hicksville, is on the dean's list at Lincoln Christian College, Illinois. SIDNEY LIPSEY of Jerry Spiegel Associates Inc., Brokers Society of the LI Real Estate Board dinner meeting, Nov. 4, at the Westbury Manor. All their deliveries were made without rejection. Nov. 20 is the deadline for the used clothing drive of All Saints Lutheran Church on the campus of the LI Lutheran High School at Brookville. At noon on that date, clothing donated will be taken to the depot in Hicksville. County Clerk Orenstein will speak at the Hicksville Kiwanis on Nov. 10 regarding the procedure for license plates for 1966. Claim Satellite Stores Prosper

Many small store owners are finding that it is better business to be located next to a shopping center than in it.

According to Sid Lipsey of Jerry Spiegel Associates the stores that are satellites of the major shopping center benefit from their location while maintaining their individuality.

Lipsey points out that many times a small store will suffer in a heavily trafficked shopping center simply because they are overshadowed by the major tenants who may carry much the same merchandise as they do. Their rental in the shopping center will be higher than if they were situated just on the perimeter, thereby making it impossible for the small store to price its wares below his larger competitors.

"In addition," Lipsey asserts, "One of the best potential customers of the small store is the one-item shopper. This is the person who simply wants to purchase a particular piece of merchandise and is not interested in going on an extended shopping spree. This kind of customer will stop at a store if it is conveniently located and he can make his purchase quickly. He may think twice about driving into a shopping center, parking in a huge lot, and then having to hunt for the particular store that would carry the item he wants."

The Spiegel organization is presently completing construction on 8,000 square feet of store space that they feel ideally meets the needs of the merchant who wants to benefit from proximity to the shopping center without suffering some of the disadvantages of being in it. Occupying the entire ground floor of the new two-story office building at 260 North Broadway in Hicksville, the retail space is in the heart of the area's prime shopping neighborhood. Situated directly across from the new Sears Roebuck & Company store and within 500 feet of the Mid-Island Shopping Center, the new store space fronts on North Broadway.

Lipsey notes that this new store space will bring to more than 17,000 square feet the total amount of retail space contained in the three Spiegel office buildings occupying the majority of the North Broadway blockfront between Nevada and Princess Streets.

"Shopping centers," Lipsey states, "play significant roles in the economy of the suburbs. However, there will always be an important place for the small suburban businessman who offers fine products and reliable service at competitive prices. By leasing attractively priced space, the small shop owner is able to maintain the competitive edge that he would otherwise lose if he relied solely on purchasing power."

The Catholic Dentists Guild of the Rockville Centre Diocese will hold its next meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 17, at the Garden City Hotel. The meeting will begin promptly at 8:30 P.M. This final meeting of the year will be for the election and installation of new officers.

Elect Gaynor State President

Edward J. Gaynor, Director, Department of Engineering, Building & Zoning for the Town of Oyster Bay, was elected President of the New York State Building Officials Conference at its annual meeting in Albany, Oct. 22.

Erastus Corning, Mayor, City of Albany, presented Gaynor with a badge of office accompanied by laudatory remarks; in addition thereto Arthur J. Benline, Commissioner, Department of Air Pollution Control, New York City, commended Gaynor for his years of service to the New York State and Eastern States Building Officials. Benline paid particular attention to the Educational Programs and Training Seminars instituted by Gaynor throughout New York State.

Commissioner of the Office for Local Government in New York State, John J. Burns, and Lieutenant-Governor Malcolm Wilson both praised Gaynor for his presentation in State-wide Programs. "Gaynor's hard work with the New York State Conference of Mayors during the past year, which resulted in Publication No. 65-4 having to do with Junked & Abandoned Vehicles, is a typical example of his productive features," said Burns.

Gaynor is an active member of the joint Legislative Index Committee which is called the watchdog of the Legislature. Gaynor resides in Bethpage with his wife Florence and son Lawrence.

Surfing Proves Popular, Safe

Surfboarders proved the demand for a site so well during the five weekend test period this year that the site and necessary attendants will be considered for weekends throughout the season next year.

Councilman Edmund A. Ocler, Chairman of the Board's Standing Committee on Beaches and Waterfront, said he will support the surfboard project as long as it maintains its safety record. The recommendation was included in the preliminary 1966 annual budget for the beach department by Superintendent Edward F. Brickell.

Brickell said he contemplated a site the same as this year, a stretch of 500 feet of ocean beach about 3,500 feet west of Tobay Beach. He noted that the separation of surfing and swimming would work for the safety of both. During the short season this year there were 837 surfing permits issued.

Double Office Space

Owing to consistent growth of business since its opening last year, Controlled Manpower of L.I. Inc. has doubled its office space at 81 North Broadway in Hicksville. Continued expansion is anticipated to serve the growing needs of Long Island, according to Eugene L. Bakewell, president of the organization.

Three Date Errors in School Calendar

Three errors in dates regarding Hicksville School Board meetings on the calendar recently mailed to all residents have been noted by the Administration. In October, April and July the meeting night for the Board of Education is given as the fourth Friday instead of the last Friday.

The corrections are: Oct. 22 should be Oct. 29, Apr. 22 should be Apr. 29 and July 22 should be July 29. The Board holds its regular meetings on the last Friday night of the month.

"The trouble with opportunity is that it always comes disguised as hard work."

Telephone Installer Roger Field tells about his job.

"We try to be careful about the little things, too, when we install your phone."

"One of the ways people tend to judge the telephone company is by the kind of job we installers do for them. So, in addition to providing our customers with the best equipment and making it work well, we try to be careful about the little things, too. Like arriving at your house on time. And leaving the work area as clean as we find it. Or taking a moment to show an interested boy or girl the inside of a telephone, and how it works. When you think about it, the little things aren't so 'little' after all."

Operation VFW

William M. Gouze Jr.,
Post No. 3211
by Eddie Klebing

Prior to 1961 the Voice of Democracy contest was originally sponsored by the National Association of Broadcasters, the Electronic Industries Association, and the State Association of Broadcasters. Primary sponsorship of this annual Americanism script writing contest was assumed by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States in 1961.

After the decision of acceptance was made by the National Council of Administration (VFW) on a meeting of October 6, that year, to assume this sponsorship, the three original sponsors agreed to endorse and cooperate on the promotion of the Voice of Democracy contest. Each year since then the VFW asks the young high school students to reflect and express themselves in the fundamental aspects of our democratic process.

Participation in the contest has escalated steadily from 90,000 youths in 1959 to 262,000 in 1965 and the National scholarship awards jumped from $3,750 to $13,500. Before 1961, the theme for the Voice of Democracy contest was I Speak of Democracy, but it was during the years of VFW sponsorship the theme was changed from time to time. The theme for the last two years was The Challenge of Citizenship. The theme for 1965-1966 is, Democracy: What It Means to Me.

The contest is open to all 10th, 11th and 12th grade students in public, parochial and private schools, in the United States of America, its possessions and the children of military and civilian personnel serving with the Armed Services overseas.

At the national level, each State winner travels to Washington, D.C. during the annual Spring conference of the VFW where they are provided with a six-day tour of the Nation's capital. The trip is geared to teach these young people as much about American history as possible in the short time they are in Washington. Their busy week consists of an opportunity to see the workings of federal government at close range, attending Committee hearings, visits with their Senators and Congressmen and dining with governmental leaders.

This year it gives us great pleasure to have our Ladies Auxiliary join us in a dual sponsorship with this great contest. Their past experience in community affairs and public services, such as this one, will prove invaluable.

Past Commander Jim Klueg is the Voice of Democracy chairman at Post level. The deadline for school and community participation is December 10, 1965. The interest of the VFW in young people is indicative in this large youth program we offer the students to help stimulate Americanism in their hearts.
