Marathon Session On School Budget Covers 17 Hours

In an effort to resolve a variety of wage proposals and employee benefit plans submitted by all groups working for Hicksville School District, the Board of Education held a marathon session which spanned three evenings and a full day. The session started Friday night at 8:15 PM and, with recesses, concluded at midnight Tuesday. Fifteen out of the 17 hours involved were in executive session.

While some effort has been concluded on the proposed 1966-67 school district budget which goes to a vote the first week in May, the Board and Administration agrees further progress will be stalled until decisions are made regarding salaries since employee pay appears in all remaining and undecided budget code sections.

Since last fall the professional liaison and non-professional liaison committees of the Board have been meeting with teachers, supervisors, administrators, and representatives of custodians, clerical and cafeteria workers. From these meetings have come a mass of schedules and other proposals.

It was in an effort to correlate the proposals and fit them into an overall pattern that led to the four-part meeting. It is understood that counter-proposals of the Board of Education, hammered out in its lengthy discussion, will now be made known to the various employee group representatives. The School District with about 1,000 on its payroll is one of the largest employers in the community, probably second only to the LI Lighting Co.

All seven trustees attended all sessions which were commenced on Friday night as a special open meeting for work on the budget. President Herbert Johnsen called the meeting to order and during the first hour the Board heard three representatives of the Classroom Teachers Assoc. present their views on a special situation in relation to physical education teachers. At the suggestion of Vice President George A. Jackson the Board went into executive session at 10:35 Friday night and recessed at 11:30 PM.

The executive session continued at 10 AM Saturday and concluded at four in the afternoon without a break for lunch. Sandwiches and coffee were brought into the conference. This meeting was recessed until Monday night, Jan. 17, at 8:15 PM and continued until midnight and again recessed, this time until Tuesday night, Jan. 18. It concluded at midnight.

Marvin Goldberg and Caleb Hornbostel, co-chairmen of the instructional liaison committee of the Board, scheduled a meeting of their committee last night (Wed) while Herbert H. Johnsen, chairman of the non-instructional liaison committee, planned a session for this Friday night, Jan. 21.

ACADEMY ALTERNATE

Thomas L. Voss of 99 Rim Lane, Hicksville, has been named alternate to Senator Jacob K. Javits principal nominee for the US Naval Academy for classes beginning in 1966.

Biggest Part Still to Come

The Hicksville Board of Education during its two-hour open special session, Friday, did adopt Code 00 of the proposed 1966-67 district budget which is the portion described as Board of Education. The amount adopted was $46,000 about $3000 less than the total in this area for 1965-66.

Code 800, Debt Service, in the amount of $1,200,000 was adopted Oct. 8. Adopted on Nov. 12 were Code 400, Recreation at $74,142 and Code 500, Transportation at $1,015,451.

Code 300, Instruction-Special Schools at $92,000 and Code 900, Transfers at $30,000, were adopted on Dec. 10.

Still to be acted upon are Code 100, Central Administration; Code 200, Instruction-Regular Day School; Code 600, Operation and Maintenance of Plant; and Code 700, Unallocated Expenditures. Of these, Code 200 is the largest and will probably exceed seven million dollars out of the gross budget which may reach $13 million.

November, December Tough for Volunteers

There were 165 calls for the Hicksville Fire Dept during December and November, the busiest period for the volunteers since April when the current reporting year began. There were 84 calls in December and 81 in November. Some calls in this period were particularly destructive, including a printing plant and storage warehouse.

The record of fire calls of all types, including fires, ambulances, emergency and false, was as follows: April 55, May 64, June 59, July 63, August 47, September 73, October 64, November 81, December 84.

The volunteers answered a call at 8:08 AM Wednesday when a car owned by a Levittown resident caught fire on Wantagh Parkway Extension. The fire dept ambulance transported Elizabeth Stock, 87, to Nassau Hospital on Wednesday morning.

Local Attorneys Clash In Farrington Trail

Two Hicksville lawyer-residents, both in the Town of Oyster Bay, turned out to be principal participants in the County Court case when Palmer D. Farrington, former President Supervisor of the Town of Hempstead, was tried for receiving illegal fees as a public official. Farrington was cleared on Monday when a trial judge directed the jury to acquit him for lack of evidence.

Anthony F. Correrri of 62 Cliff Dr., Hicksville, was associated with George Morton Levy in Farrington's defense. Correrri is also attorney for the Hicksville Fire District. Warren M. Doolittle, assistant District Attorney who resides at 19 Alexander Ave., Hicksville, represented the prosecution. Judge Robert E. Dempsey of Westchester who ruled that the prosecution had presented no corroborating evidence to support its charge that Farrington had accepted an illegal fee, praised Doolittle and the district attorney's office for "commendable" action in "recognizing the importance of putting friendship aside to fulfill the duty imposed by law".

7 Seeking GOP Congress Nod

Seven announced candidates for the Republican Congressional designation in the 3rd Congressional District (which includes the Mid Island area) will be interviewed and screened by the Nassau County Republican executive committee starting this Friday, Jan. 21, according to Senator Edward J. Speno, county chairman.

The candidates include William J. Casey, Glenwood Rd., Roslyn Harbor; Henry M. Curran, 98 Melbourne St., Oyster Bay; Steven B. Derouman, 15 The Fenway, Roslyn Estates; Archibald L. Gillies, 913 Cedar Swamp Rd., Glen Head; Everett L. Grant, 182 Nassau Ave., Manhasset; Kenneth Mollay, 103 Sharry Hill Lane, Manhasset; and Vincent De Paul Starace, 46 E. Williston Ave., East Williston.

The Republican nominee will probably run against incumbent Democrat Congressman Lester Wolff in the November election.

MEETING ON AGING AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Hicksville Public Library at 169 Jerusalem Ave., Hicksville, will be the scene of a grass roots meeting called by James Lundquist, chairman of the Task Force on the Aging, to obtain the opinions and suggestions of senior citizens.

When Klan Marched Here

LINDENHURST WAS REPRESENTED when Klan units of Long Island held a conference in Hicksville back about 1925. This picture was taken by a local amateur during the parade of units and Klan members and their auxiliaries as a highlight of the konklave. The negative had rested out of sight until just recently when it was discovered and printed. The picture was snapped at the corner of Jerusalem Ave. and Herzog Pl. The old LIRR water tank is visible in the background. This is another in a continuing series being published exclusively by the HERALD.

Four Languages Goal This Year

Abraham Fishman, President of STUDY, Inc., announced the formation of four committees which will undertake the responsibility for coordinating the 1966 summer-study programs abroad, which the organization is planning together with the school district.

The Committees, one for each language, are currently securing deposits from parents whose children are expected to study at the following Universities during the month of July: Spanish: University of Madrid; French: University of La Rochelle; Italian: University of Florence; and German: University of Vienna.

Fishman stated that approximate costs would run about $600 per student, with variations in each country because of special circumstances. This estimate of costs depends on securing a minimum of 25 students of warrant reduced airline fares.

Norbert Nagler, acting head of the Hicksville Foreign Language program, who, as the representative of the school district to STUDY, Inc., has assumed the responsibility for making the necessary arrangements with the universities, has advised the group that he is in the process of firming up details as to the accommodations and curriculum in each area, and that such information will be made public shortly.

Students eligible for the program are those in the Senior

High School who have been part of the pilot program, according to Nagler.

Parents whose children are eligible, and who have not yet been contacted, are advised to make their reservations with the following chairman of the various committees: Spanish: Mrs. S. Darnel, WE 1-8782; French: Mrs. S. Berkowitz, WE 1-5483; Italian: Mrs. H. Ulman, WE 1-8453; German: Francis Anderson WE-8-2167.

Bank Girl To Wed in Greece

In Greece no respectable girl goes on a date without a chaperone. This is a custom Long Islander Vicky Kretsos learned first hand.

On a recent visit to Greece, Vicky went on a date accompanied by her aunt. The man she dated, George Platellas, is presently Vicky's fiancé; they will be married in Greece this April. Vicky already has her plane ticket and is presently filling out visa papers.

American-born Vicky met George Platellas during a recent five-week visit to Greece. Vicky went on the trip with her grandmother, who was returning to her native country for the first time.

They spent a few days seeing relatives in Athens, then they went to grandmother's native village, Andrussa, in southern Greece.

"There's only one railroad going south and it's on a single track," said Vicky, smiling. "When we met a train coming in the other direction, we had to de-rail to let it through."

On the narrow, dirt roads they passed goats, women astride donkeys, and bare-foot children. When they stopped in the village square, half the village was there to greet them.

"I never knew I had so many relatives," Vicky said. "There must have been 150 of them— aunts and uncles, their children, and their children's children."

"The village seemed untouched by time," Vicky said. "The house we stayed in was only one room. The windows were simply openings in the masonry covered with boards. Cooking is done over an open fireplace. On the walls were religious pictures and a picture of President Kennedy."

One day, when they were back in Athens, Vicky and her aunt went shopping. It was a hot day and they were tired of walking. Vicky's aunt suggested they stop in at the home of a friend. There they were greeted by the aunt's friend, who mentioned her brother, due to arrive soon.

"When the door opened and he stepped in, we looked at each other for a moment," Vicky said. "Then he walked directly to me and took my hand and said he was George Platellas, the woman's brother. He kept looking at me, holding my hand. Then, as if he suddenly remembered where he was, he went to my aunt and greeted her. But he kept looking at me."

The next night Vicky and George went on their first date. "I couldn't believe it when my aunt said she was coming with us," said Vicky. "But she told me that no respectable girl in Greece goes on a date without a chaperone." So, the three of us went out, walking side by side. We went to a movie—a James Bond movie with Greek subtitles. Then the three of us went straight home."

There were other dates, but always with a chaperone. Then, a week before Vicky was to return, they were engaged. But before the engagement there was another Greek custom to be observed.

"When a couple become engaged in Greece," said Vicky, "each must kiss the hands of the other's parents. Since my parents were in America, my fiancé kissed the hands of my grandmother. And I kissed the hands of his mother and father."

Vicky will be leaving April 1st for Athens, where the wedding will take place. The couple will live part of the time in Athens and part of the time on Long Island. Her fiancé is a barber and beautician for government officials in Athens.

Vicky lives at 19 Toller Lane, Levittown, and works at the Hicksville office of the Meadow Brook National Bank.

KNOW THIS EMBLEM

The story behind this emblem began in 1953 when Linda Collins of Turlock, California, then 14, cut her finger on a rifle trigger. Her parents were abroad at the time so she had to act on her own. Frightened by the thought of infection since her father was a physician and surgeon, Linda fled from the rifle range to the small clinic where her uncle, Dr. James Collins, quickly decided to treat her with tetanus antitoxin. He made a routine scratch test for allergy with one drop of serum: Seconds later, Linda was sprawled on the floor, jerking convulsively and gasping for breath. The serum drop had set off a violent allergic reaction called anaphylaxis. For the next three days she was confined to an oxygen tent before she recovered from the anaphylactic shock that nearly took her life.

Upon his return to Turlock, her father, Dr. Marion C. Collins, realized what a close call his daughter had had. A full shot of tetanus antitoxin serum would have been fatal. That was not all, however, for no drug can cure Linda's allergy. Her parents were greatly concerned about what might happen if she were found unconscious, in an automobile accident, for example, unable to warn against use of the serum.

Dr. and Mrs. Collins considered several ways of making this information more readily available than an identification card carried in purse or pocket. Finally, Dr. Collins hit upon the idea of devising an engraved bracelet that would alert medics to the unusual condition.

Dr. Collins' experience with his own daughter inspired him to establish the Medic-Alert Foundation, a nonprofit, tax-deductible organization with headquarters in Turlock, California. This organization, which provides identification bracelets or medallions at cost, also maintains a 24-hour switchboard for receiving collect calls from anywhere in the world for additional medical information about stricken members. Today, more than 115,000 people wear the Medic-Alert emblem, warning of some hidden medical condition. Each emblem is registered and the serial number is engraved on the reverse side of the emblem as is the telephone number of the central file in California. The following medical statistics may be of interest.

- Ten percent of all persons inoculated with tetanus antitoxin develop some type of allergy to the serum.
 - A great many of the 11,000,000 arthritics and rheumatics are taking cortisone, hydrocortisone, or ACTH. After shock or injury, without one of these drugs, complications could be fatal.
 - Many of the 10,000,000 cardiovascular patients take daily medications that must be counteracted by other drugs, or continued in emergencies.
 - Most of the 2,000,000 known diabetics and 1,500,000 epileptics can be easily mistaken for drunks when their illness strikes.
- Medic Alert is endorsed by such responsible organizations as state medical associations, the International Association of Fire Chiefs, and the National Sheriffs Association. Hospitals, airlines, and other industrial organizations have taken steps to inform medical personnel of this emblem and what it represents.

School personnel and the pupils attending schools should also be informed of the meaning of this emblem and its importance to over 40 million Americans today who live in constant fear that their hidden medical problems will not be recognized in an accident or emergency.

Medic Alert has sister organizations in nine nations on three continents.

Further information about Medic Alert can be obtained from the Medic Alert Foundation, Turlock, California.

EDITORIAL OPINION

The Shadow Lengthens

During the past month three more places of business on the west side of Broadway have become vacant or are scheduled to become vacant and the prospects of these premises being quickly occupied appears remote in view of the impending widening of Broadway.

The threat of the widening of Broadway, which has hung over the business community for more than five years, has demoralized the area which was once so active and vibrant.

The Rogers Five and Ten closed its doors during the Christmas holidays. The School District moved out of the spacious Huetner corner on the first of the year, taking up quarters in its new administration building on Division Avenue next to the senior high school. Town and Country Apparel announces it is going out of business.

Positive information on just when the ax will fall is still illusive. Town officials and legislators have been unable to pin the State Dept. of Public Works down on this question but the best informed sources indicate that the state now plans to widen Broadway first and then do Newbridge Rd. later, even though Newbridge has been on drawing boards longer. The explanation we get is that both projects depend upon 90 percent of the cost being paid by the federal government and 10 percent by the state—and the federal okay for Newbridge has not come thru as yet.

Again we hear some talk of an Urban Renewal project for the down-town section and in view of the experiences in other Nassau villages where Urban Renewal projects have bottered along for years without much positive construction we almost hope the report is not correct. However, we fail to see how the ravaged west side of Broadway will ever be rebuilt as useful tax-producing property under anything but an Urban Renewal Type plan unless the assorted property owners can get together themselves—which does appear to be likely. —fjn

Danger - Do Not Enter

A sign is needed on North Broadway at the corner of E. Barclay St., Hicksville, where the traffic north bound on Jerusalem Ave feeds into Broadway. There is nothing there now to warn a west-bound on Barclay St. motorist not to enter this one-way double lane. A Herald staff member, new to the area, learned this during the week and almost had a head-on collision in the process.

The school district budget in Hicksville was $13,850 in 1910, $17,890 in 1915, $39,980 in 1920. The tax rate for those intervals was $2 in 1910, $1.75 in 1916, $2.80 in 1926.

The assessed valuation of Hicksville School District in 1911 was $70,040, grew to $1,147,475 in 1916 and $1,385,485 in 1921.

Today we are almost at $100 million assessment with a budget hovering around $13 million. Curiously, the relation between the gross budget and teachers salaries remains about constant over the years. When the budget in 1915 was $17,890, teachers accounted for $9,175. In 1920 with a budget of $39,980, teachers came in for $23,000. The same ratio appears to hold true today.

Recommend Bridge Over Sound From East Marion

A report culminating a year and a half of study and recommending the building of a 10-mile, $206 million bridge to span Long Island Sound between East Marion, Long Island, and Old Saybrook, Conn. has been received by Governor Rockefeller and channeled by him for "detailed analysis". The report was submitted to the Governor by the Long Island Study Committee and J. Burch McMorran, State Public Works Superintendent, who were authorized by legislation enacted in 1964 and 1965 to study the feasibility of a Sound crossing to link Long Island with either Rhode Island or Connecticut.

Prepared by Bertram D. Talamy Associates, consultant to the Committee and the Superintendent, the report rejects two other potential crossings given careful study.

One, a Long Island—Rhode Island crossing between Orient Point, and Graves Neck, Rhode Island, would be more than 14 miles long and is declared unfeasible because its $392 million cost would be "definitely not within the range of self-liquidation from tolls." The other, between Port Jefferson, and Bridgeport, Conn., was rejected as less "financially feasible" than the recommended location.

William M. Gourse Jr.
Post No. 3211
by Eddie Klebing

We welcome to the Post, new members: Ken Lewis, Charles Stuto and Mike Mason. We hope to see them at many future meetings and hope they feel at home just as they did on their first one. Glad to have you with us.

Elected officers and members of the Board of Directors for the Veterans Association are: Robert Obermeyer, President; Louis Klein, Vice President; Frank Bleal, Treasurer; Edward Klebing, Secretary and Arthur Fuelling, Edmund Chwalisz, William Keller, James Klug, Thomas Taddonis, Al Wengenheim and Michael Znach.

Jan. 10, was the date prescribed by the 89th Congress for its first meeting of their second session. It is a session that many veterans and future veterans look forward to as the one that passed legislation giving them a "Cold War GI Bill of Rights."

While the Senate met only fifteen minutes that day, the House stayed in session 61 minutes and within that time managed to introduce 7 new bills to provide for the readjustment assistance to veterans who serve in the Armed Forces during the induction period.

During the adjournment, we heard our elected representatives call for the need of this type of bill. Some took trips to Vietnam and assured our fighting men that a GI Bill of Rights would be passed this year. It is reported that President Johnson who previously opposed the measure is expected to recommend it in one of his messages to Congress.

The cold war bill of rights was passed by the Senate last year and is being held in the House Committee on Veterans Affairs for study along with over 50 similar bills. The committee's chairman, Olin Teague, has asserted that this should be one of the first bills to be taken up in Congress this session.

Former VA Administrator, John S. Gleason Jr., estimated that the original GI Bill for veterans of World War II which cost approximately $14.5 billion, continues to pay for itself at a rate close to $1 billion per year. This "return" comes from additional tax paid by better educated, higher paid former servicemen. Many supporters of the original bill feel that a similar bill for cold war veterans would have a similar impact.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars has gone on record in supporting such a bill and feels that the need for this type of legislation is clear and compelling. We will continue to fight for a readjustment assistance bill for the cold war veteran and those who are now serving in combat areas such as Vietnam and the Dominican Republic. It is our fervent hope that this year will see such legislation a reality.

ALL AROUND TOWN

Burns Ave School Parent Teacher Assoc. of Hicksville is holding a meeting and quickie conference night on Thursday, Jan 20, at 8:15 PM at the school.

The Town Board will hold a public hearing Feb. 1st on a recommended local law creating a Dept. of Commerce and Industry. The resolution was introduced by Councilman Edward J. Poulos, Town Board Majority Leader, at the Tuesday, Jan. 18, meeting. He explained that he felt such a department was necessary for the "continued economic growth" of the Town of Oyster Bay.

Poulos also recommended that upon creation of this new dept. the Town appoint Irving A. James of Jericho to the newly-created $10,000 a year post of Commissioner of Department of Commerce and Industry.

Poulos explained that the recommendation of James resulted from an extensive study in which a half dozen individuals were interviewed. He added that the search was for a qualified man to serve the Town in advising prospective new businesses which desire to locate in Oyster Bay and help existing businesses, particularly small businesses with some of their problems.

Among the functions of the new position will be to encourage the establishment of new industries within the borders of Oyster Bay Town and to reduce unemployment and the tax burden of the residents. He will also try to help the existing businesses, especially the small business man and advise them as to what steps they can take regarding soliciting financial aid from the Federal Small Business Administration through loans, to act as liaison between business and various governmental assistance programs and to aid the overall business climate throughout the Town.

The new dept. will also plan and develop an effective business information service, collect and disseminate information on business and industry, engage in technical studies, scientific investigations, statistical research and make recommendations to the Town Board for the improvement of any conditions that would aid the Town's business climate.

The dept. will also compile and publish data on business and industry in the Town, study trends and developments for such concerns and changes in population that would be of interest to the business community. It would also suggest policies for the development and conservation of the Town's resources.

James, 43, an attorney who lives at 130 Bounty Lane, Jericho, will assume his new full-time post on the adoption of the local law and be located in the Town's Hicksville Office at 65 Broadway. His location there was prompted by the fact that Hicksville is the reported hub of Oyster Bay's commercial enterprises.

James, a member of the firm of Sommerfield & James, is a long-time business consultant who is director of such corporations as Pickwick Organization of Plainview, a realty and building firm; Dale Systems, Inc., a Manhattan investigation and protection firm; Consolidated Capital Corp., a licensed small business investigation corporation, and Smilow-Thiele Corp., a furniture chain.

James is also a trustee of the Jericho Public Library. He is Past New York State Vice-commander of the Jewish War Veterans, Treasurer of the Jericho Citizens for Better Education, and a member of the East Birchwood Civic Association and Bnai Brith, Metropolitan Lodge F. & A.M., and Liberal Party Chairman in the Ninth Assembly District.

CYO Girls Win As Team Operation

Our Lady of Mercy, C.Y.O. Girls Blue Bantam team, won their first league game defeating St. Bernards 14 to 8. This was a team victory all the way. The girls played as a cohesive unit and made good on the few shots they took. St. Bernards, a much taller team, controlled both back boards so there was no rebounding for Our Lady of Mercy. The first time these two teams met St. Bernards won by 15 points. Flo Carney and Carol Huber can be mighty proud of the girls since they have come so far in such a short time. Our Lady of Mercy C. Y. O., White Bantam Team, remained undefeated in trouncing Holy Family, 35 to 1. Five of the girls took part in the scoring and as the score would signify the defense was brilliant. The Girls Tyro Team lost to an undefeated Holy Family Team 41-24. The loss was attributed to hustle, Holy Family just ran, and ran, and ran. The Boys Bantam A and B, both won this past week. The Bantam A team winning 26-14 and the Bantam B team won in the last second of play 32-31.

The Grammar team lost in winding up the weeks work to St. Bridgids.

The recess of the Christmas Holidays seemed to stimulate Our Lady of Mercys C. Y. O. basketball to great heights.

The Boys Grammar, Bantam A and Bantam B, along with the Girls Tyro team, all won their initial game after the New Year.

NARROW ESCAPE — Dick Brau, right, of Greenlawn, an installer for the NY Telephone Co. who works in the Hicksville area, peers at the ceiling compartment at the Las Vegas Restaurant and Lounge in Syosset where he saved Dan Mazur, co-owner of the restaurant, from death by electrocution. Mazur was connecting a new light fixture and was knocked unconscious by a massive electric shock recently. Brau was putting a new phone system into the restaurant when he heard Mazur groan loudly. He got the electric power cut off, gave first aid treatment, called an ambulance and obtained oxygen which revived Mazur. (From Long Island News)
