Editorial Opinion:

Un-natural Beauty

Proclaiming "Natural Beauty" day on Long Island, County Executive Eugene Nickerson was quoted as saying: "The surge of population in Nassau County within the last two decades has made it necessary that we seek in every way to preserve the natural beauty and resources with which we have been bestowed. Active participation by all citizens will make possible a balance between growth and preservation."

Other public officials, starting with President Johnson and going down the list to Supervisor Michael Petito ("he saved the trees on Jackson Ave. in Syosset") have all been going strong on the natural beauty theme, but all their pious talk seems to ignore Hicksville and the mid-Island area. If you need any reminders, just take a disgusted look at Old Country Road, Remember how W. John St., North Broadway and Woodbury Road used to look with their stately shade trees.

A group called the East Hicksville Taxpayers Civic Assn. in beating the drums for a meeting set for Monday night, June 6, at the East St. School alludes to planned widening (and tree destruction) along Plainview Road and other streets. Officials of the group have given circulation to some of the wildest reports on other projects but are vague on details, suggesting the questioner come to the June 6 meeting and "get all the facts". However, their efforts are commendable because unless somebody starts hollering, Hicksville will soon be a wasteland surrounded by "natural beauty".

Those stately trees on South Broadway in front of the Augustin home—stead are definitely slated for the road wideners' axe. You may have noticed that it is happening along Jericho Tpke, thru Old Westbury.

Supervisor Petito wants to set up bicycle trails in the township and refers to President Johnson's February Natural Beauty Message regarding the forgotten outdoorsman but does nothing, that can be noticed, regarding utility poles in the middle of local sideways making them impassable for pedestrians, baby carriages, etc.

Millions are being spent to widen and pave broad highways and before the concrete is poured, traffic signals are being installed to slow down the movement of vehicles. The widened highways often (in the case of the state) provide median traffic dividers of grassland, and then the grass is allowed to grow to weeds and collectors of debris. Thousands of fledgling road side trees are planted and then allowed to wither and turn into scarecrow sticks. Most of us will never see the day when they reach majestic proportions and by that time somebody will be ready to cut them down anyway.

Among the more ghastly reports being circulated is one to demolish the old town courthouse (now occupied as a district courthouse) at Bay Ave. and Heitz Pl. (see picture). A spokesman for the town highway division, which has jurisdiction in this area, says there are no current plans for construction in that area but you never know.

We call upon all road authorities—state, county and town—to frankly and clearly inform the community of their plans (keeping in mind their desire to preserve "natural beauty") regarding the total destruction of the community, complete with specific timetables.

Which reminds us that the LILCO News in an editorial calls upon its employees to "Keep Long Island Beautiful" with the emphasis upon anti-litter. We believe this nice utility, which incidentally maintains its electric operating centre on Old Country Road in Hicksville as a green-garden showplace, could help the local situation by getting with removal of wires along Broadway. The wires will have to be moved when Broadway is (ugh) widened, so why not do the job right and put them either behind the buildings or underground? To quote the LILCO News "Long Island's beauty is our duty. It belongs to all of us."

Harvey Schluter Was Key Aide to State Legislators

Harvey W. Schluter of Raymond St., Hicksville, who during 21 years in Albany as the legislative aide to three State Assemblymen became one of the most knowledgeable men in the state regarding the behind the scene operations of the Capitol bill mill, was buried yesterday (Wed) at Plain Lawns Cemetery in Hicksville. He had died on Sunday, May 29, at the age of 45.

Schluter, a former volunteer fireman and Naval veteran of World War II, was an unassuming young man, a wonderful friend of the community and pleasant to all whom he met. Born in Hicksville, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schluter (his dad was an ex-chief of the fire department, as was his brother Edward), he attended Hicksville Schools and graduated from Hicksville High.

He first went to Albany as a Legislative aide to the late Assemblyman David Hill. Mrs. Hill attended the funeral service for Harvey on Wednesday. He also served as aide to Assemblyman John J. Burns, later supervisor of the town and currently State Commissioner of Local Government, and as aide to Assemblyman Edwin J. Fehrenbach.

During the past year he had been in and out of North Country Community Hospital and underwent surgery.

He was unquestionably an expert on the inner workings of the legislative machinery at Albany where he was widely known and respected. He formally came into politics about 1950 under the tutelage of Henry Schnepp and the late Ernest F. Francks and when the 20th election district was split, he became a co-committee with the late Hicksville Republican leader, Francke. About two years ago he was elected an executive GOP Committeeman for Hicksville along with Julius Schwartz.

He is survived by his sister, Polly Proctor; brothers, Edward and Henry; four nieces and four nephews. He resided at Wagner Funeral Home on Old Country Rd. at Jerusalem Ave. until religious services were said Wednesday (yesterday) at 1 o'clock. The Charles Wagner Post, American Legion, held ser-

His services on Tuesday night followed by the Exempt and Benevolent Volunteer Fireman's Assn. and Masonic Lodge services.

Harvey was born on June 27, 1921 at his late residence in Hicksville on Raymond St. Always interested in the historical traditions of the community, he was a charter member and officer of the Hicksville Historical Society.

Dear Lynda

That sail boat, with full sail ready, is still being offered for sale on West Marie St., Hicksville. Mr. and Mrs. JOSEPH FOX of 17 Utica St., Hicksville, celebrate their 51st wedding anniversary on June 9. A signal light is urgently needed at Duffy Ave. and on June 9. The Glen Cove Hicksville Mercy League is making plans for its silver anniversary. Fire Commissioner HAROLD HAWK is also Hicksville water district superintendent, is HURST, who is also Hicksville water district superintendent, is HURST, who is also Hicksville water district superintendent, is HURST.

Thoughts on Memorial Day, while watching the parade go by the reviewing stand: Outragious that lawlers could collect 75 cents each for hand flags. School musicians were great and there seems to be enough units for a local inter-school competition in music and marching. It would be difficult to select a favorite; however, Lee Ave still looks great in its plaid stamp outfits.

The Juniors recently were invited to march in Brooklynn in the Norwegian Independence Day parade. Considerable time and effort must have gone into those floats, especially troop 293 and the Girls Scouts. Grand Marshal JIM SULLESS told us that he and Mrs. Sullless will observe their 25th wedding anniversary with a Mass at 2 PM on July 9 at St. Ignatius Church. SKIPPER DOW confessed his joints are getting a little stiff as he got aboard an open convertible. The Spanish War Veterans is very popular with the parade watchers. We heard a lady tell a friend that the Skipper at the head of the parade is one of the sons she watches each year. JIM SULLESS liked the idea of the Skipper riding this year because it permitted him to ride alone.

The idea of a reviewing stand in and in front of the reviewing stand was improved in appearance and in guest arrangements. Major General WM J. WHALING of the Marine Corps, with 24 decorations on his chest, came up from Philadelphia on Monday morning to be present for the ceremonies. Also in the reviewing stand was MAJOR RAYMOND G. HAND, 42nd Infantry Division, reserves, lives on Wilfred Blvd, Hicksville. It was the first year he had watched the local Memorial Day parade although he has not missed a Labor Day parade during his residence here.

JOHN NAVROT who ideal for a parade and the sun shone brightly. The weather was again handled the public address system on Broadway and has witnessed many Memorial Day parades pronounced it the biggest yet. Town Supervisor MICHAEL PETITO marched with two of his Brownie Scout daughters and Judge FRANK DONOVAN. (The announcer had a little trouble with the name). Curiously, when the County Police Dept was introduced at the head of the parade they were booed.

In other news: PVT ARTHUR NOETH graduated last weekend from parachute jump school at Fort Benning, Ga. School Trustee CORNELIUS MCCORMACK told the Hicksville School Board last Friday night (during a session in the new administration building when the air conditioners were not functioning) that the State and County have plans to condemn and demolish 250 homes in Hicksville, including the historic courthouse on Heitz Place. School Attorney JOSEPH CATALANO was asked to look into the matter.

LIBRARY NEEDS BUDGET

To the Editor:
On May 4, the budget for the Hicksville Public Library was defeated for the third time in two years. Again the people of Hicksville have seen fit to give their token support to their children's education without supplementing it with the very vital resources which are provided by a public library.

Granted, the schools of Hicksville have their own libraries, and that these facilities may be of high (or at least improving) quality; but in the existing school plants their expansion is virtually impossible. Thus, these libraries now are reaching their peak of capacity. In the high school library alone, several thousand dollars worth of books still lie unpacked because that library lacks the shelf space. A like situation exists in the remainder of the Hicksville schools.

Also, these libraries have a limited usage. Most are open only during school hours, and, at that, each child may have only one period per day (in some schools, one period of school per week) in which he is able to use the library. To make matters worse, the libraries are often used for classes or for study halls, and the librarians are often too busy keeping discipline to give their fullest attention to those who need help or to those who are unfamiliar with library facilities or procedures.

Now let us look at the Hicksville Public Library as it could be. Just last year a construction program was completed on the plant, giving the library a whole new wing with greatly increased floor and shelf space. More tables and chairs were added and the browsing area was re-installed; all of these improvements in an effort to make the library more accessible and easier to use. It could be made even more available if it were open each weekday night, rather than merely three nights a week as at present. It could be used by both adults and children, for research and for homework, as well as providing an endless array of books on all subjects.

But the library need not be a collection of only books. The record collection has been a popular feature in the past, and could be expanded. The library also has a fairly good periodical section which could also be expanded. And special programs such as children's reading hours, special film presentations, and concerts, which have been offered by the library in the past, could be sponsored by the people of Hicksville to give Hicksville the fine library it deserves. A revised budget will be offered to the voters on June 15. The budget for 65-66 has been the budget from 64-65 because of last year's budget defeat.

But the coming year is not 64-65. Prices have risen, prices for books and for services. If the library is forced to run on the 64 budget it will have to reduce its services even more drastically. Thus, by defeating the budget again, the situation will not be standing still, but moving backwards. We, students of Hicksville as well as the citizens of Hicksville, need the budget approved, so that we may start moving forward again.

Sincerely yours,

INCOMPLETE LIBRARY

To the Editor:
On May 5th the budget for the Hicksville Public Library was defeated by 74 votes. We, the staff, were appalled by this event. The budget defeat may make it necessary for the library to function on the last budget the taxpayers approved back in 1964 in these days of rising costs, it is therefore quite evident that something must go. It was necessary to buy 30 percent less books last year than were purchased in 1964. The much needed and well-used young adult section was opened to the public last November but, although the library has doubled in size, no staff was added.

What does this all mean to the library user? It means, of course, inadequate service in an incomplete library. If we could believe that the majority of the Hicksville residents wanted the budget defeated we would abide by their decision. However, those of us who directly serve the public know that this is not true. We have received the sympathy of numerous borrowers since the budget defeat. We thank them all. The time is drawing near when all of our friends and library users can help the library and by so doing, contribute to the community.

The Board of Trustees plans to have another budget vote on June 15th, from 12 noon to 10 p.m. We know that many of our library friends are not registered and did not vote. We are appealing to all of you. Please register on June 4th, from 12 noon to 10 p.m. and vote "Yes" on June 15th.

We are here at the library to serve you and your children. Please make it possible for us to have the tools to be able to serve you well.

YOU and your government

 Compiled by The Herald Staff *****

Proposes Fair Share

Former Congressman Steven B. Derounian called upon the federal government to return to New York a fair share of tax money it collects from the state on a cooperative-sharing basis. In a major policy address delivered at a meeting of Derounian volunteer workers in New Hyde Park, he said that New York has been contributing more than its fair share of federal taxes, "it does not receive comparable aid in return," he said and claimed New York taxpayers are paying 20 cents of each dollar spent by the federal government.

Medicare Changes

Assemblyman Martin Ginsberg of Plainview says he is considering amendments to the state's new medical aid law, to guarantee a fair and equitable fee schedule for doctors and to assure patients they have a free choice of doctors and hospitals.

Said Ginsberg, "I have received much mail and many phone calls from both members of the medical profession and from men and women who will come under provisions of the new law. Virtually everyone agrees on the need for some kind of medicare program but changes have been suggested to improve various aspects of the law."

Speno on TV

State Senator Edward Speno appearing on the NBC Sunday morning program, Direct Line, with Assemblyman Paul J. Curran of New York City, stressed his opposition to any commuter tax. He declared that commuters are not a burden but a benefit to Gotham. They number 500,000 strong and provide an estimated $75 million financial support to the City. His other points included: Today NY raises 35 percent of its revenue from real estate. Ten years ago it was 45 percent. The state (authorities) should take over the subways of New York so trains from LI can run directly into Manhattan. The Federal Govt should set up a bonding authority to consolidate the city's debts and place the national credit behind refunding bonds. The City should raise the subway fare and it should help itself before seeking state subsidies. Assemblyman Curran, also Republican, was in favor of the commuter tax and bemoaned the city's financial position. The city, under deficit financing, now pays $600 million annually just for debt service (interest on loans, etc.).

Boosts School Aid

Assemblyman Stanley Harwood of Levittown advises Nassau school officials that he had won his fight for additional aid for suburban school districts. Harwood, who led the battle to provide the added funds for 43 densely populated suburban school districts throughout state, prepared an amendment to the Travia aid-to-education bill containing a formula giving extra funds to districts with school populations in excess of 5,000 students.

New Town Hall

Town Presiding Supervisor Ralph G. Caso signed contracts this week for the construction of a new Town Hall in Hempstead which will cost $3,537,297. Work is scheduled to begin within two weeks, with completion expected sometime in the summer of 1968. The contracts for the new building were awarded to: D. Fortunato, Inc., Floral Park - general construction, $2,439,000; Hassett Thermo Corp., Huntington Station - air conditioning, $707,707; Charles A. Mulligan, Inc., Central Islip - electrical, $272,600; Hassett Plumbing Heating Supply Corp., Huntington Station - plumbing, $117,980. All work will be under the supervision of the Town's Department of Public Works.

The new Town Hall will be constructed of concrete, rose quartz, brick and glass. A plaza, fountain and parking fields will connect the new structure with the present two-story Georgian-style Town Hall now in use on Front St. in Hempstead.

Kick Off Campaign

Nassau's 17 Republican State Legislative candidates officially kicked off their campaign with the first of a series of regular weekly meetings on May 27.

The Republican candidates, 13 incumbents and four men running for the first time, intend to wage the most extensive and intensive program of personal contact with the voters in the history of the County, announced Assemblyman John Kingston and J. Kevin Murphy, Co-Chairman of the Legislative Campaign Committee.

Dedicate New Wing

The dedication of the new wing of the Nassau County Jail which took place on May 23rd, provided a model concept in ceremonies of its kind. The ribbon-cutting, speech-making and coffee-drinking all took place in the four classrooms of the Jail School of Instruction with many distinguished visitors and even the guest of honor, Commissioner Anna Kross, sitting at school desks.

"The use of the school area is symbolic of our goal," said Sheriff Maher. "It illustrates our approach to penology. We are not just caretakers! We feel that education is the surest way to avoid a return visit to this building - as beautiful as it is. In this spirit we look upon our new facilities to give us a greater opportunity to accomplish our purpose."

STUDENTS of the French American Ballet Academy of Hicksville will perform in a Dance Recital Saturday June 11 at 7:15 in the Hicksville High School Auditorium, Division Avenue. Dancers will be directed by Prof. Semyon Troyanoff, Choreographer of the Academy. Proceeds go to the Hicksville P. T. A. Scholarship Fund. Students are Sherry Diamond and Karen Foster in rehearsal for recital.

OUR MEN IN SERVICE

Cadet James F. Dinamore, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Dinamore, 46, Frederick Dr., Bethpage, will attend Reserve Officer Training Corps summer camp at Indiantown Gap, Pa., starting June 18. He is a student at Temple University in Philadelphia, Pa.

Pvt. Gerald K. O'Reilly, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. O'Reilly, 6 Cove Lane, Levittown, completed advanced artillery training at the Army Artillery and Missile School, Fort Sill, Okla., May 26. O'Reilly was trained as a cannoner in field artillery.

Blood Components Needed Overseas

Secretary of Defense, Robert S. McNamara, has requested the American Red Cross to collect 250,000 units of blood during the coming year for our armed forces in South Viet Nam. This blood will be processed into gamma globulin to fight hepatitis and serum albumin for treating shock.

According to Secretary McNamara, the American Red Cross, the agency named and responsible for obtaining the blood and processing it into components, has collected 60,000 units of whole blood for these vital-ly needed fractions.

The blood components Red Cross is furnishing the Defense Dept. are in short supply. The Viet Nam crisis has drained heavily on existing supplies and the need is mounting. Helping to meet this need, National Guard units throughout the country, in cooperation with the American Red Cross, are conducting a major recruitment effort within their organization.

The Red Cross urges all people who wish to participate in meeting this need to call the Nassau County Chapter at 264 Old Country Road, Mineola, at Pioneer 7-3500.

Model Space Station Winner

A satellite station similar to what American space pioneers may live in while on future space missions was the subject of a model displayed at a recent meeting of the Bethpage Flight, Nassau Composite Squadron V, Civil Air Patrol. The model built by James Gruber Jr., age 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gruber, 16 Alpine Lane, Hicksville, was entered in the recent North Nassau Science Congress. It was awarded a second place ribbon in the Space-Science Division for ninth graders. Some 500 students, grades 4 through 12 participated in the competition.

Cadet Gruber's space station has six main compartments all furnished and planned to allow efficient work to be carried out by the occupants. The project was developed out of Gruber's interests and hobbies, mainly astronomy, communications, rocketry and electronics.

Capt. John Suler, flight commander extended congratulations to Cadet Gruber and indicated experiences in CAP will no doubt help other cadets in preparing such future projects.

400 Parade Memorial Day

About 4,000 participants, representing 20 community organizations, assembled at Mid Island Plaza on Monday morning for the Hicksville Memorial Day parade and ceremonies. With ideal weather, approximately 10,000 lined the route to witness the parade.

The Sgt Ben Levitt Post, Jewish War Veterans, was in charge of the program this year which is sponsored by the United Veterans Organizations of Hicksville.

The line of March was halted briefly at the J. F. K. Memorial for Flag Raising by a U.S. Marine Color Guard and the placing of a wreath by the Parade Chairman, Alex Kriegel, J. W. V. Parade Marshal James Surless, Amvets and Honorary Parade Marshal Donald "Skipper" Dow (Hicksville's own Spanish American War Vet.) A benediction was offered by Father Murphy of the 1st Marine Division Association.

The parade continued down Broadway past the reviewing stand where the marchers were greeted by Nate Helfand, J. W. V. who was M.C. and reviewed by Maj. Gen. Wm. F. Whaling U.S. M.C. and Maj. Raymond G. Hand, U.S.A.R. and other dignitaries. Before entering the Jr. High grounds the marchers were again reviewed by the Parade Chairman, the Marshals and the Gold Star Mothers.

Upon entering the Athletic Field, the 1st Marine Division Assn. who were with us for the first time, joined with other veteran organizations in placing a wreath at the Memorial Mall. Present were 10 wounded Viet Nam returnees, who, as they passed down the line of onlookers, were wildly acclaimed.

N.Y. State Assemblyman Martin Ginsberg made a brief address on the debts we owe to our fallen heroes who gave their lives so that this country has been and will continue to be the great democracy which it is. In conclusion he reminded us that as long as the American Flag flies over our homes, we will always remain a free Nation.

A highlight of the day was the reading of a telegram sent by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy regretting his inability to be present, but wishing a meaningful Memorial Day Commemoration to the Hicksville Veteran Council.

Peter Di Zinno, a Senior High School student, delivered a teenagers true feeling of Americanism. The firing of a salute was performed by the Chas. Wagner Post of the American Legion and taps were sounded by two Hicksville H. S. students.

Trophies were awarded by Jack Landress, Area Commissioner of the B. S. A. to the following: Hicksville H. S. Band, Hicksville J. H. S. Band, All participating Elementary School Bands, American Legion Band, P. B. C. Band, Hicksville H. S. Choral Group.

For outstanding floats the following awards were given: Mid-I Council Hicksville Girls Scouts for their Brotherhood Float, Cub Scout Pack 293 for their Indian Float and Cub Scout Pack 291 for their Green Beret Float.

Trophies were also given to: Cub Scout Packs 380, 378, 381, 259 and also to Troop 378.

A special vote of thanks for cooperation in making this parade the success that it was is heartily extended by Parade Chairman Kriegel to all organizations and their officers.

JAMES A. MORABITO (left) of 64 Police Crescent, Hicksville receives the Distinguished Salesman Award of the Sales Executive Club from Daniel J. Begley, regional Sales Manager of Allstate Insurance Companies. Looking on is Mrs. Rosina Morabito. Morabito, an Allstate agent, was honored for his outstanding sales and service achievements in 1965.

List Dealers Who Cooperate

The Hicksville Chapter of the Committee for the Elimination of Indecent Literature has recently been formed. The purpose of this Committee is to work with the cooperation of the news-dealers in Hicksville in maintaining high moral standards, according to Chairman John Niederauer.

The Committee has asked support of all the churches in Hicksville, fraternal organizations, civic groups, and individuals who might feel the need to serve the Community. Most of the dealers have shown an interest by not displaying literature or magazines which are indecent or pornographic, Niederauer said.

Offer Free Course

Entitled "The Living Arts of Asia", the course will include literature, drama, poetry, comparative philosophy, music and dance. The course is open to all educational personnel (K-12) of both Nassau and Suffolk Counties. Applications may be secured from: Elliot Rabner, Plainview-Old Bethpage Junior High School, Plainview.

Each month the Committee issues a seal. This seal will be prominently displayed for all customers to see. The latest list of cooperating dealers in Hicksville follows: Holden Stationery, Penn Card & Stationery, Woodbury Luncheonette, Island Sweet Shop, West Green Drugs, Debies Record Shop, Nassau Farmers Market, Ray's Stationery, Agreeable Stationery, and Allied Candy Store.

ON BALL TEAM

Michael K. Mahoney, formerly of Manor St., Plainview, for several years, has been chosen to play on the baseball team formed by students at The College of Insurance, New York City. The students play in a league consisting of teams from various insurance companies located in the metropolitan area. Games are played at Red Hook Stadium. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Mahoney of 10 Rhoads Lane, Commack, and is a 1964 graduate of St. Anthony's High School in Smithtown. He is sponsored in the program by The Hartford Insurance Co.

NAVY AIRMAN Ronald San Chirico, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank San Chirico of 78 Center St., Hicksville, volunteered his services to the Leeward Point Air Terminal officials at Guantanamo Bay Cuba, to break a language barrier between officials and Italian-speaking survivors of the luxury liner Viking Princess. The ship caught fire some 55 miles Southeast of Guantanamo, and 492 survivors were taken off and taken to the Naval Base for shelter and transportation back to Miami, Fla., the originating point of the cruise.

San Chirico stopped at the Air Terminal after work, and discovered the problem between the survivors and Terminal personnel. He volunteered to translate Terminal instructions to the people awaiting flights to Miami, as well as answer questions in their language. His services were welcomed by Terminal personnel, and he stayed at the "job" until 5:00 a.m. the next morning when the last plane load of survivors took off.

Before entering the service, San Chirico was graduated from Manhattan College with a bachelor of science degree, and taught French as a substitute teacher in the New York Public School System for a year.

College Skydiving Club Led by Youthful Veteran

On Friday, June 3 at 6 p.m. they'll turn a bit of Mitchell Field back to the air-minded, and the reason for it is a quiet-spoken 22-year-old Nassau Community College student, Jerry Fettes of Hicksville, who developed a taste for danger during a two-year hitch in the Army.

Jerry served in an artillery outfit in Korea—at Uijongbu, about 15 miles north of Seoul. But when he was discharged about a year-and-a-half ago, Jerry realized that you can't go adventuring through life these days without the help of a college education, so he enrolled as an engineering student to study aeronautical engineering in preparation for a berth as a commercial airline pilot.

But the taste for danger remained, and Jerry took up seriously a daring hobby that attracted him while stationed at Fort Sills, Okla.

Jerry is the youngest member of the L. I. Skydivers, with a record of 73 jumps, some from an altitude of 14,000 feet. However, he is not only a practitioner, but also a "missionary," and has organized a Nassau Community College skydiving club of 18 members—including two co-eds, Virginia Kelly of Williston Park and Sue Goldman of Hicksville. The new group also has three other sports jumpers—Steve Stout of New Hyde Park, with 30 jumps; John Cullen Jr. of Mineola, with 12 jumps, and his brother Jerry Cullen with two jumps.

On Friday afternoon, June 3 at 6 p.m., the whole group will be out on the runway behind Hangar J for their first skydiving training.

Will they be jumping? "Of course," replied Jerry, laughing, "but it'll be only from an altitude of about three feet, give or take six inches."

At Nassau College, as it turns out, it happened to be easy to form such a club because the college not only has the student adventurers for membership, but also has a "built-in" air-minded faculty advisor in the person of Prof. Paul Bedell, director of student activities.

Prof. Bedell, a former wrestling coach who goes in for daredevil hobbies such as scuba diving and skiing, has done a little jumping in the past himself—and fully intends to do some "big" jumping with the College Sky-divers.

The 14,000 foot altitude from which Jerry has jumped is the maximum altitude for jumping without oxygen equipment.

"In a 14,000-foot jump," Jerry explained, "you free-fall nearly 12,000 feet before opening your chute at 2,200 feet at which point you're falling at the rate of 120 miles per hour."

"But you can go up to 190 miles per hour by altering your position," Jerry added. "Spread-eagling slows you down, compacting your body speeds you up. The only time you get a sensation of speed, curiously enough, is when you change your rate of fall."

Has Harry ever been frightened?

"Not actually," he answered. "Most of the time falling is spent in making sure that you follow instructions, so you don't have time to think of anything else. When you're doing relative work—that is maneuvering with the team—there's even less time to think of anything else. Jerry pointed out that the term free-fall doesn't completely explain skydiving, because a skydiver does have control over the fall; he can use his arms and legs as wings and rudders which enable him to aim closely for the landing spot.

"You've got to pick your spot," said Jerry. "There is a marked out 6-foot x 6-foot cross on the terrain and you have to do some careful aiming to land on that spot. From 14,000 feet, it does require control, especially when you're carrying some 35 pounds of equipment."

The basic equipment, which costs about $100, includes a back pack, which holds the main chute, a reserve chute in front, helmet, jump suit and altimeter and stopwatch to tell the chutist when to open his chute.

Jerry started jumping in Sept. 1963, and now has a B license issued by the Parachute Club of America; he needs 10 jumps to qualify for a Jumpmaster's C License. Expert's D License requires 170 to 200 jumps.

He does his jumping at the L.I. Skydivers' jumping site which has been qualified as a drop-zone by the Federal Aviation Agency. It is at East Moriches at the intersection of Montauk Highway and Sunrise Highway. "We call it The Horizon," said Jerry, "because to a skydiver, it's the plane where the sky meets the ground."

VISITOR FROM MIDWEST Gov. George Romney of Michigan, left is greeted by State Senator Edward J. Speno, center, and U.S. Senator Jacob Javits upon his arrival in Nassau County to attend a GOP Fund Raising gala. Romney's appearance attracted over 2400 Republicans to the event at $100-A-Plate. Speno, Nassau County Republican Chairman, declared the evening the most successful fund raising event in the party's history.

Says Petito Was Discourteous

Mrs. Beatrice Jeanson of Hicksville, President of the Town of Oyster Bay Unit, Nassau County Civil Service Employees Assn. this week charged the Town Supervisor "was discourteous" to the representatives of the Civil Service employees of the Town and showed an apparent "great unconcern" for the problems confronting these hard working people.

Mrs. Jeanson made the charge that after scheduling a meeting with the Salary Review Committee of the CSEA, the Supervisor failed to appear and instead sent a deputy who advised the Salary Review Committee that the Supervisor felt "the salary recommendations were excessive and should be reduced."

"The Salary Review Committee, which is composed of employees of the Town of Oyster Bay, including a representative of the Supervisors office, has spent almost a year drafting a uniform and equitable salary schedule for Civil Service employees," Mrs. Jeanson declared. "After putting all this time in the development of salary adjustments, as an officially appointed body of the Town Board, we were dismissed without a hearing and told by the Supervisor's deputy that the recommendations are excessive and should be out. He could have at least given us the courtesy of a hearing, which was scheduled at his convenience," Mrs. Jeanson added. We are greatly upset and shocked by the Supervisor's attitude and the remarks of his spokesman which clearly demonstrate a total lack of understanding of the problems of the Town's civil service employees, many of whom are struggling to support their families on annual incomes of approximately $6,000 a year."

MEADOW BROOK NATIONAL BANK
66 offices in New York City and on Long Island.

From Congress

By Rep. James R. Grover, Jr.

There have been some memorable "long hot summers" in this nation during recent years but some people predict that the warm months upcoming may be the longest and hottest ever. The powers-that-be in this administration are bracing for disorders all over the nation but what they are not saying, what they don't even dare to admit in private, is that these disorders are at least in part attributable to actions of administration members now and over the past several years.

There was a time when public demonstrations were a rarity. There were occasional labor demonstrations and then, with the advent of a militant civil rights movement, demonstrations became more frequent in a new sphere. Now, an atmosphere has been created in which those who oppose the draft feel free to block offices with sit-ins, where those who oppose the Viet Nam War block Loyalty Day Parades, where those who disagree with peace movements disrupt the rallies and meetings of pacifist organizations.

When Sen. Robert Kennedy served as U.S. Attorney General, he invited demonstrations by those who disagreed with federal law or policy. He got more than he expected. No one has satisfactorily determined when a demonstration goes beyond the bounds of reason and when legitimate dissent turns to contempt for the law and breach of peace. The unfortunate aspect of this well-publicized dissent is that too often the legitimate goal is forgotten and demonstration for its own sake becomes the goal.

Disrespect for the law and for the welfare of the public has in the past resulted in in damaging wildcat strikes, although the vast majority of labor-management disputes are settled today without public inconvenience. But the demonstration syndrome today has gone far beyond its original concept as a legitimate tool of collective bargaining and is seen in all phases of government and community life.

Only this past week, Secretary of Defense McNamara again upheld the principal of dissent over the Viet Nam War. In principle, he is correct, but in practice, neither he nor the other administration spokesmen have defined the line between dissent and anarchy.

Conclude CD Radiological Training

Resident Earns State Honors

Governor Rockefeller's Certificate of Honor was awarded to Mrs. Jessie R. Middlemast of Hicksville, Nassau County Extension Home Economist, at the annual New York State Home Economics Convention.

The Certificate, which Mrs. Ruth V. Washington, advisor to the Governor, presented to Mrs. Middlemast, read: "In recognition of your dedicated service in promoting the welfare of your community and in strengthening the bonds of human relations. May you continue to serve as a symbol of inspiration to others."

Mrs. Middlemast received her B. S. degree in Home Economics from Cornell University, and her M. A. in Administration from Teachers' College, Columbia University. She has been a home economist with the New York State Extension Service for 21 years - serving in Delaware and Jefferson Counties, the Buffalo City Extension program, and coming to Nassau County as Home Economics Division Leader in 1952. She is past president of the New York State Home Economics Association, past-president of the New York State Home Demonstration Agents Association, and a member of the Advisory Council of the College of Home Economics at Cornell University.

She has also been awarded recognition for distinguished service by the National Home Demonstration Agents Association and for an outstanding Extension program by Lambda Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Phi (Home Extension Fraternity). The Pfizer Study Award was given to her as an outstanding Extension Home Economist.

Mrs. Middlemast is a member of the American Home Economics Association, National Association of Extension Home Economists, Adult Education Association, and the National Council of Women. Locally, she is a member of the Education Committee of the County STROKE Program, the Long Island District Home Economics Association and Advisor to the Nassau County Nutrition Council.

Board Names 3 Depositories

The Town Board has adopted a resolution naming Franklin National Bank, Hempstead Bank and the Meadow Brook Bank as depositories for six Town non-interest-bearing bank accounts.

The Board acted on opinions received from the Office for Local Government and the Town Attorney which upheld its position that it had the power to designate banks as official depositories for Town funds.

Town Board Majority Leader Edward J. Poulos noted that several weeks have passed since Supervisor Pettit had promised to get an opinion from the State Comptroller on the matter. "To date, to the best of our knowledge no opinion has been received from the Comptroller and we find it unnecessary to delay this matter any further."

Poulos pointed out that the Board was exercising its legal authority to designate depositories of Town non-interest-bearing funds and was not designating the amount of money to be deposited which is the right of the Supervisor.

Fame Boychoir Arranges Concert

Once again, the now familiar bustle and stir of rehearsals, and yet more rehearsals, surround the preparations signaling the Annual St. Kilian Concert set for June 11, 17 and 18 in Farmingdale, featuring the renowned St. Kilian Boychoir, are presented together with the Men's, Women's and Girls' Choral Groups, to "showcase" locally, the talents and versatility of the Boychoir.

They have performed throughout the State, have given concerts and demonstrations in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and New Hampshire; at Tanglewood, Carnegie Hall, Colleges, radio and T. V., and the United Nations.

This year they hit a new peak with their week-long appearance at the New York Lincoln Center, with the world-renowned Leonard Bernstein directing the St. Kilian Boychoir, the Westminster Choir and the New York Philharmonic Orchestra in Mahler's 8th Symphony. They also appeared at the New York Daily News in a special Christmas program with the Metropolitan Opera star Madame Tucci. The December release of the Columbia Recording, "Andre Kostelanetz Wishing You a Merry Christmas," with the St. Kilian Boychoir and Phyllis Curtin of the Metropolitan Opera, brought them a special "Greeting" with the news that the recording was picked as "Record of the Month," enjoying world-wide distribution.

DON'T VOTE

IN THE REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL PRIMARY ON JUNE 28...UNTIL YOU KNOW WHAT'S INVOLVED.

MAKE YOUR CHOICE ON THESE ISSUES!

ISSUE #1

WHO CAN REGAIN THIS TRADITIONALLY REPUBLICAN SEAT?

Not Derounian, the only man who ever lost it. Don't give the Democratic incumbent a second chance to run against the liabilities that won for him last time. Casey's outstanding qualifications and creative ideas will insure a Republican victory in November. Don't go with a candidate like Derounian who, according to a recent survey, stands to lose 22% of the enrolled Republican vote... to lose 69% of the business vote... and who would get only 43% of the total vote against 57% for the Democratic incumbent in this November's election. That's the prospect for Derounian, according to a $7,500 depth survey paid for by the Nassau County Republican Committee, to the highly respected Quayle Organization. Let's learn from it. The New York Times and the Herald Tribune labelled Derounian negative and reactionary. Don't inflict these Derounian liabilities on our local legislators and the State ticket.

VIET NAM AND WORLD PROBLEMS

Derounian tends to be reckless and bellicose while Casey shows firmness, statesman-like responsibility and patience. On Viet Nam, Derounian has recently spoken against any negotiations now... has advocated our staying in Viet Nam even if we are not wanted, if necessary to fight China. Casey calls for strong military measures within South Viet Nam and specific diplomatic initiatives to secure a peaceful settlement as quickly as possible. Casey calls for a tough review of U.S. world strategy, in the light of changing conditions, to get our resources and our commitments in balance. Casey proposes that a stronger effort be made to get our allies, regional alliances and international organizations to share the burden we now carry. He advocates sustained procedures for disarmament and against the spread of nuclear weapons. On the other hand, Derounian has voted against measures for international health and economic cooperation, against disarmament measures and has spoken against limitations on nuclear testing, even with acceptable safeguards.

ISSUE #3

WHO CAN SERVE THIS DISTRICT MOST EFFECTIVELY?

This District was under-represented during the 12 years Derounian served in Congress. In 12 years he only initiated and had passed one very minor law. The Congressional Record during his 12 years fails to show Derounian as having offered any new or constructive proposals on the major problems and the concerns of the day. On the great issues of war and peace, taxes, inflation and family security, on the future of Long Island and the nation, Casey has already proposed more in 12 weeks of this campaign than Derounian did in his 12 years in Congress.

ISSUE #4

WHO WILL CONTRIBUTE MOST TO THE REPUBLICAN PARTY'S FUTURE?

Derounian's flip-flopping blurs and confuses the Republican image and repels the vital independent vote. Here are several examples:

On the John Birch Society: In 1962, Derounian claimed Birch Society membership was irrelevant to membership in Congress and actively campaigned for John Rousselot, now Executive Director of the John Birch Society. Derounian himself later rejected Birch support. In 1964, Derounian voted against the Romney proposal that the Republican Party reject all extremist groups. In 1966, Derounian wants investigation by House UnAmerican Activities Committee to determine the true nature of the Birch Society.

On the Conservative Party: In 1964, Derounian sponsored meeting in his office for the Conservative Party to make a pitch to New York Republican Congressmen. Now in 1966, he rejects Conservative Party endorsement but the Conservative Party shows reluctance to give up Derounian.

What is Derounian? In 1964, in his own paid ads, he proclaimed himself a conservative. In 1966, he claims to be middle-of-the-road... even liberal. If you knew what he is today, how could you be sure tomorrow?

Bill Casey has a consistent record of forward-looking, middle-of-the-road Republicanism in his association with Dewey, Eisenhower, Nixon and Javits and his clear rejection of fringe parties and extreme elements of left and right. Casey is a force for vigorous, progressive Republicanism, Derounian a continuing liability.
