Bway Widening Off Two Years?

The scheduled widening of Broadway, Hicksville, somehow slipped further into the future this week as it became known that the widening of Newbridge Rd., another N. Y. state highway, is scheduled for initial action. Authoritative information on the entire question was unavailable.

A semi-official source in the Town of Oyster Bay learned of the two year postponement.

A Broadway business man planning to lease a new location was advised "to get out" and then learned after a trip to Babylon that Broadway will follow Newbridge Rd.

Another businessman told the Herald that he called the Babylon Public Works office and was advised that Broadway has been re-scheduled about two years in the future.

The Hicksville Chamber of Commerce office was interested but could supply no information.

At present no authoritative source could be reached in the state level who could answer the 10-year-old question; when, if ever?

Meanwhile, the East Hicksville Civic Assn which has been stirring interest in various Nassau County road widening projects has scheduled a meeting for Monday night, June 27, at 8:30 PM with Town Supervisor Michael N. Petito as guest. There will be a question and answer period. The East Hicksville Civic Assn has indicated that the County has massive plans for widening of Plainview Rd (including tree demolition), elimination of the Town Courthouse at Heitz Pl and Bay Ave and other projects.

The Civic Assn circular declares: "It's time for you to speak your mind. What is the township doing with your money and why? This meeting will benefit all. It is important that everyone attend. Come and voice your opinion."

Outdoor Graduation Sunday

Approximately 940 students will be graduated from Hicksville Senior High School at 5:30 PM on Sunday, June 26. The program will be held on the athletic field. This is one of the largest classes that has ever been graduated from the High School. Donald F. Abt, Superintendent of Schools, will award the prizes and scholarships and Herbert H. Johnsen, President of the School Board, will award the Diplomas.

The theme for the Commencement is "Values". Peter McMenamin, Valedictorian of the class, will speak on "Voter Responsibility and Education." Marcia Kipness, Salutatorian, will speak on "In Defense of Youth".

Rev Ballweg Leaving Parish

The St. Ignatius Auxiliary of Christian Mothers of Hicksville attended an evening Mass and received Holy Communion at the June meeting.

Rev. Lawrence F. Ballweg, Moderator, installed the next year's officers at an impressive ceremony following the Mass in the church. Father announced that he has been appointed pastor of St. Bernard's Church in Levittown and thanked Sister M. Vennard, Principal, the Sisters and the members for their co-operation in the past year. He expressed the hope that the members would continue to participate in the programs he has initiated this past year, in particular the Marycare committee of the Auxiliary. Gifts of aurora borealis rosary beads were presented by Father Ballweg to the outgoing and incoming officers.

Refreshments followed the inspiring service and the members expressed their individual good wishes to Father for his success in his new parish.

The dark horse prize of ten dollars was won by Mrs. E.R. Schrom. The Mothers Auxiliary will continue in operation after the school opening which will be Thursday, Sept. 8th, with dismissal at twelve o'clock noon.

40th Anniversary For Msgr O'Bea

The Right Rev. Msgr. Martin J. O'Bea, founding pastor of Holy Family Church, Hicksville, celebrated the 40th anniversary of his ordination on Monday, June 20.

Born in County Clare, Ireland, he studied at the National School in Tullabrack; the Franciscan College, West Meath, and All Hallows Seminary, Dublin, from which he was ordained.

Msgr. O'Bea came to the United States shortly after his ordination and was assigned to St. Mary Magdalene parish, Springfield Gardens, where he served until 1937 when he was transferred to St. Raymond's parish in Lynbrook.

In 1951, he was named pastor of Holy Family parish, which now includes 3,100 families. The church was built just two years after the parish was established and the school was constructed in 1960.

Msgr. O'Bea was elevated to a domestic prelate in 1962.

He offered a Mass of thanksgiving on June 20 at 9 a.m. A parish celebration in honor of his anniversary is planned for the Fall.

Pageantry in Brass

By the St. Ignatius Girls Cadet Corps

This year St. Ignatius Girls will compete for the first time in the State and National Legion Conventions. Friday night, June 17 the girls marched in the Nassau County Legion Parade where they were not only well received by all who saw them; but earned second place for their marching ability.

On their way down the Hempstead Turnpike the girls saluted for the first time their former Senior Curate's new parish St. Bernards.

On Saturday, June 18, the girls competed in the County Legion Contest, here they tied for first place. The numbers played were "My Little Girl" and "Do Re Mi". No sooner did they get back on the buses and they were on their way to Randall's Island to put on an exhibition at a Marching and Maneuvering Contest held by the Minisk Warriors.

A little tired but still happy the girls returned home knowing they represented their townspeople to the best of their ability.

On Sunday, June 26, both the Senior and the Junior Corps will again step down Fifth Avenue in the Annual Puerto Rican Day Parade. For those of you who are unable to see the girls in person this Parade will be televised.

Preparation is already under way for our own contest "PAGEANTRY IN BRASS", which will be held on July 30 at St. Raphael's Field. The girls are selling tickets and journal ads in the surrounding area and they are working hard in continuing this fine community youth activity.

The airman, who attended Hicksville High School, will be trained on the job as a construction specialist with the Strategic Air Command.

Dear Lynda

We cherish an old building as much as the next person but we find many "experts" pushing the time too hard. For example, the Courthouse at Heitz Place and Bay Ave. is a charming structure which may be slated for demolition by the County of Nassau. This we would oppose with all our energy. But to bear some folks talk, it is "a couple of hundred years old." Actually it dates back to the late 1800's and well run a story about its history one of these days. A handy rule of thumb regarding old buildings in the entire Mid-Island area is this: Prior to the coming of the RR from Jamaica in 1837, this entire area (except Jericho and vicinity) was just an open cattle grazing and farming land. Thus there are few structures which can claim existence of more than 127 years and even the oldest looking buildings are generally only 50 or less years old. Informed sources say that GEORGE JACKSON will probably be held the first week of July. Incidentally, that school in Jericho was NOT named in his honor. Although he gets a lot of kidding about it... MRS. FRED NOETH is resting at home. She left Central General Hospital last week-end but has to take it easy for a while. Ted of Ted's Superette thinks it would only be fair if the fire dept. would supply his dog, AJAX, with a can of dog food once a month. We had mentioned that AJAX will everytime the fire siren goes off. Being practically next to the Post Office, Ted thinks his pet does the firemen a service. Volunteers like MEL VOORHIES of the postal staff might not otherwise be informed of a fire call. AJAX hears the siren even if humans don't. It has been reported that some fellows are suggesting that AJAX be given a scholarship to the firemen's training centre in Old Bethpage. Isn't that nice? There are not too many folks around who remember when Hicksville High graduated nine students but there are many who recall when the senior class numbered 94. This weekend there will be 940 in the graduating class. CHARLES WINGATE of 17 Brittle Lane, Hicksville, a tugboat deckhand, was among those reported missing following the collision of two tankers off Staten Island late last week. We liked the postal from ELAINE and CHET ARNESTEIN this week, postmarked Bullards national park, South Dakota, where the fingerprinting is great.

Post office box rents have been inflated as of July 1. A box which used to cost $4.50 is now $6. A traffic lite is scheduled for July installation at Park Ave and Woodbury Rd where it is sorely needed. Also needed is a lite at Jackson and Dully. Sorry to hear of the death of Town Engineer FRANK O'CONNOR's father, along with the Lighting Co. NORMAN GOLDEN of 33 Hunter Lane, Hicksville, has been awarded a $1000 scholarship at the State University at Stony Brook provided by OLGA V. KALTENBORN in the area of Theatre Arts. Congressman WOLFF reports that Grumman has been awarded a $5 million modification to an existing contract for long lead time effort and materials to support FY 1966 procurement of E-2A aircraft. We don't understand it, but the work will be done at the Bethpage plant. Sounds like a lot of dough. HAROLD J. ROBBINS, former principal of Dutch Lane School, who is leaving the district in July, has received one of the two Edward P. Shaw Scholarships awarded to School of Education graduates at NYU. FRANK TERRANOVA was the president of the Hicksville Rotary Club Interact Club. He is being succeeded by T. DRUMM. Hicksville schools will be closed this Friday, June 24.

Success Starts by Candlelight

On June 30, 1866, while the city was struggling to recover from the aftermath of the bloody Civil War, 21 residents of the Williamsburg area, of what is now the Borough of Brooklyn, gathered to organize a bank so that frugal people residing there would "have a place of safe-keeping for their money."

Thus was born The Lincoln Savings Bank, which observes its 100th anniversary this month. On a wooden counter in a store front, with candles for illumination, at 84 Montrose Ave., five employees began accepting deposits — the president, two vice presidents, a cashier and a clerk. Thirty-one deposits were made the first day, totalling $4,318.30. On Aug. 4, 1866, the bank directors granted the first loan for $750.

As it approaches its 100th birthday, The Lincoln Savings Bank has more than 300,000 depositors, with assets approximating $900,000,000, and mortgage loans totalling more than $730,000,000, besides personal savings loans, loans to students and other types of loans. It is the ninth largest savings bank in the nation.

Less than five years after its founding, it reported 3,257 depositors, with deposits totalling $602,858.16. In the fall of 1875, it opened a new building at Broadway and Boerum Street, Brooklyn. On its 50th anniversary, in 1916, it had 46,972 depositors, with deposits totalling $22,432,086.

Its real expansion followed a half dozen years after World War I. In August, 1924, it acquired its first branch office at 12 Graham Ave., Brooklyn. In 1930 and 1933, in the midst of the great depression, it added two other branches by merger, in Flatbush and Bay Ridge. Another branch was opened in 1942, during World War II at Brighton Beach, and in 1958 a sixth branch at Marlboro.

With the sixties, The Lincoln Savings Bank began to spread its wings outside of Brooklyn, opening a Nassau branch at South Oyster Bay and Woodbury Roads, Plainview, and a Queens office in Sunnyside.

Together with its physical growth, The Lincoln Savings Bank expanded its services to depositors and borrowers. Joint Accounts, trust accounts, rent security accounts, trade association accounts and union and corporation pension accounts are handled, besides conventional mortgage and FHA loans. The bank also grants personal savings loans, dividend loans and student loans. Additional services for the depositors are a retirement income plan and savings bank life insurance plans.

Over 400 employees now carry on the business of the bank. During this centennial year a one million dollar addition will be made to the main office at 531 Broadway and a new bank building has been built to accommodate the growing needs of its present Marlboro office located at Avenue X and West 2nd St., Brooklyn.

Michael J. Burke, President of the bank, is a veteran of the mortgage field, having been active in that area for 40 years. Among his outstanding records was his rehabilitation of the Mortgage Corporation of New York, which he brought out from red ink into the black, resulting in two banks bidding for it in 1941. He is a member of the Brooklyn Real Estate Board and numerous other business and civic bodies.

Fred Gretsch, Jr., Chairman of the Board, has been associated with the bank, virtually from his cradle, inasmuch as he followed in the footsteps of his late father, who had been President and Chairman of the Board. Gretsch is a native of Brooklyn and President of Fred Gretsch Manufacturing Company, makers of musical instruments.

Edmond G. Murphy, Executive Vice President, started his banking career with Chase National Bank in 1925. He is a leading authority on taxation and auditing, having served as past chairman of the Committee on Taxation, Audit and Control of the Savings Banks Association of New York State. From 1939 to 1945, he was Examiner with the New York State Banking Dept.

EDITORIAL OPINION

To the Graduates

To the residents of our community who have just recently received their degrees from colleges and universities across the nation go the best wishes of all of us as they embark upon their life careers.

To the many who are about to graduate from our local high schools within a matter of days, with an increasing percentage aiming for higher education commencing with the end of summer, go heartiest congratulations upon their achievement.

Your ranks increase with the years, keeping pace with our population growth and the increased interest in the necessity for a complete education.

Herald Reader Opinion

WAKE NO MISTAKE

To The Editor:
"Now it will be easy to carry on the fight for we can call on the resources of the State, Radio and press are at our disposal. We shall stage a masterpiece of propaganda. And this time, naturally there is no lack of money."

These prophetic words from the diary of Joseph Goebbels might well have been written in the diary of William Casey as he began his campaign to destroy Steve Deroumanian.

Since then, your paper has published advertising and letters representing the "Masterpiece of Propaganda" which is intended to confuse, divide, and aid in defeating a most capable Republican Party designee.

While screaming that, "Deroumanian can't win"—the "sometime Republicans", who know no party discipline or allegiance, serve their own selfish interest by working feverishly in opposition. They willingly embrace the fear-smear tactics used by Democrats Paul Sol (1962) and Lester Wolff (1964). Their efforts bringing about the further destruction of the Republican Party.

Mr. Casey charges that few Deroumanian bills were passed. Is this not also the fault of the "sometime Republicans" who labor against their own party, and thereby insure that it remains the minority party, unable to garner the necessary votes to pass Republican sponsored legislation? BUT much of the Deroumanian sponsored legislation has been re-introduced and passed by Democrats, who then convince the unknowing public that only they are progressive minded.

My deepest concern is that too few people know that the bipartisan FAIR CAMPAIGN PRACTICES COMMITTEE in its report entitled "STUDY OF A SMEAR", condemned the soft on Birchism tactics used by Sol and then Wolff. These unfounded charges are now renewed by Casey forces. Since the committee has no means of stopping the pollution of the political atmosphere, the charges must remain moral. The only weapon against such demogogy is TRUTH.

Repr. Deroumanian established a reputation for sponsoring legislation years before it was needed. Moreover, he served all, friends and foe alike, but most of all he served the Common Man...As a member of the powerful Ways and Means Committee he was publicly praised by Chairman Wilbur Mills (D) who complimented Deroumanian's contribution as "Significant". That seat is still waiting for him....

Conditions both at home and abroad point up that both political parties have experienced a dearth of capable, highly principled men to serve our nation's needs. If Mr. Casey possesses the talents to which he lays claim, perhaps at another time he might have been able to serve both party and country. Instead he chose the role of a puppet. Willing to sing and dance when the strings are pulled in Albany, just so long as the money keeps rolling in.

Voters make no mistake... there is only one Republican candidate STEVE DEROUMANIAN, ANTHONY INFANTINO - Fordham Class of 40

From Congress

By Rep. James R. Grover, Jr.

It was two years ago, in the course of investigating a routine matter, that I ran across a report by an administration study committee which recommended that national cemeteries be phased out. Either with or without design, these recommendations had not been given much publicity. I made public this information at the time and it drew a great many complaints from veterans and their families. But it didn't change the minds of penny-wise, pound-foolish administration thinkers in Washington.

I subsequently introduced a bill calling upon the federal government to expand national cemeteries and to open new ones. This bill is securely locked in the Interior Committee.

Time is passing. Particularly for those of us on Long Island, time grows short. The casualty lists from Vietnam grow longer. But the administration appears frozen in its determination to do away with the national cemetery system.

And yet, the federal government has a very clear obligation to all servicemen and service-

BLISS AND SPENO Plan National Conference...State Senator Edward J. The Conference, scheduled for July 7th and 8th in Washington, D.C., will bring together Suburban County Republican Chairmen and public officials for a seminar and critique on winning elections in the suburbs. The Conference which is being held at Speno's suggestion is designed to bring added attention to the importance of the suburban areas of the Nation to the Republican Party.

Seek Safer Swim Program

The "Schneeweiss Plan" to improve swimming safety is in operation at the four community park pools in the Town of Oyster Bay, it was announced by Councilman Edmund A. Ocker, acting town board majority leader.

"Operation of the plan began on Monday," said Councilman Ocker, who is also chairman of the town board's standing committee on parks, beaches and recreation. "We feel that this procedure, new this season, will be an important adjunct to the water safety program heretofore operated at these community pools."

Ithaca College is sponsoring the plan throughout the state as developed by Stephen Schneeweiss, its professor of health education. The nucleus of the plan is the reporting of water accidents. Two forms are used, one to be filled out by the supervising town employee and the other, according to the plan, "by the victim, if he or she survives the accident."

Gerard P. Trotta, town park superintendent said that it is the belief of the Ithaca faculty that by the end of the summer it will be possible to discern certain patterns and characteristics of water accidents. This would lead to revising the existing water safety education and further safeguarding swimmers. The plan would lead to a uniform reporting system.

Better information will permit computerization of accidents thus making it possible to act on safety with more detailed factual knowledge. This will lead to measures which would reduce the number of fatalities and injuries.

Councilman Ocker said, "We visualize substantial benefits from this program. Professor Schneeweiss has noted that altogether, too often, people act on suppositions rather than knowledge. He pointed out that it is widely believed that swimmers are prone to cramps in cold water but there is growing evidence that more swimmers get cramps in warm water, perhaps because they stay longer in the water."

Under the new system, all participants will include in accident reports, the weather conditions, temperature, time of day and other specific factors, including the age of the swimmer and swimming ability.

view, should have the same primary calling area as Plainview. To give it the same calling privileges which Plainview has, they said, would lead to a chain reaction which could wind up with all of downstate New York becoming one big primary calling area.

The cost of transferring the prospective 2,700 main stations in Old Bethpage from Farmingdale central office into Hicksville central office was estimated at about $950,000 for changes in central office, outside plant and numbers. Old Bethpage area has 2,450 stations at present, but growth is expected to bring the number to 2,700 by the time the change would become effective. The project would take about 18 months.

Changing the rates for Old Bethpage to those in force for Zone N8 (Plainview) by assigning a new central office designation would cost approximately $125,000 for new designations, trunking, equipment and number changes.

The company indicated, however, that if such special rate treatment were given to Old Bethpage, it would probably be obliged to extend it to other communities along the Nassau-Suffolk line and elsewhere. The estimated cost of changing the rate treatment of 17,000 main stations in the Nassau County portions of the Cold Spring Harbor, Farmingdale and Amityville exchanges was $570,000.

In recommending dismissal of the Old Bethpage residents' complaint, Hearing Examiner, Edward L. Block said that while it was true the principal calling interests of most residents of Old Bethpage are in a westerly direction to Plainview, New York City, and intervening points, there is also some calling interest between Old Bethpage and Suffolk County.

"The inclusion of Old Bethpage in Farmingdale exchange was a logical step originally," Block added, "considering the extra cost of incorporating it in the more distant Hicksville exchange, the then existing community of interest between Farmingdale and Old Bethpage, and the existence of Bethpage State Parkway - a generally accepted boundary between Old Bethpage and Plainview. The company cannot be expected to transfer an area from one exchange to another or to give an area special rate treatment merely because of growth in population and the establishment of new communities of interest.

"A transfer or change in billing under such circumstances would constitute a rate reduction for a special group of customers, would increase charges for those within the area who have a calling interest in the opposite direction and for others outside the area but with a calling interest into the particular area, and would be unfair generally to customers who would have to share the cost of the change. Old Bethpage's community of interest westerly towards New York City and intervening points is recognized by giving it message unit calling to New York City and Nassau County.

"Some sections of Old Bethpage are closer to Manhattan than parts of Plainview but the cost of calls from these sections to New York City and intervening points is higher than comparable calls from Plainview.

The rate zones of the Metropolitan Exchange are not uniform since they were formed by combining existing central office exchanges.....

"The method of measuring from the rate center of one zone to the rate center of the other, coupled with the irregularity of the zones, creates the problem that some callers near the boundary areas may pay more for a call than another caller slightly farther away. Unfortunately, there is no known method of zoning or banding which would eliminate this problem."

The telephone facilities and service provided by the company for its customers in the Old Bethpage area, Block concludes, "appear to be adequate," adding:

"It also appears that the inclusion of the Old Bethpage area in the Farmingdale Exchange, rather than in the Hicksville exchange and Zone N8 of the New York Metropolitan Exchange, does not subject customers in Old Bethpage to undue prejudice or disadvantage or to unreasonable discrimination."

Gas Comes to Long Island

The following account of the beginning of the use of gas in the Nassau-Suffolk area is based on "Lighting Long Island" a history of the development of gas and electric service, by the late James W. Carpenter, a former LILCO Vice President:

Long Island, in the mid-19th century, was almost entirely an agricultural area with a considerable number of fishing schooners sailing from eastern and south shore ports. The whaling industry, once of major importance on the eastern tip of the Island, was on the decline since the recent discovery of petroleum in Pennsylvania and its increasing replacement of whale oil for lamp fuel and lubrication.

Suffolk in 1850 had a population of 36,000, twice the number of residents then living in the three towns of Hempstead, North Hempstead and Oyster Bay that made up the eastern part of Queens. The villages were small, with well defined limits and were widely scattered from north to south shores. The people thought of themselves as Roslynites, Hempsteaders, or Huntingtonians first, as Long Islanders second. Trips to neighboring villages were infrequent, but when traveling became necessary the villagers rode or hitched the old mare to the family wagon or trudged along the connecting dirt road.

Within many of the Island's villages there was a growing feeling of local pride that often became manifest in a fervent desire for modern civic improvements. It was this eagerness on the part of residents to have their village recognized as progressive and up-to-date that brought about the early establishment of the gas utility business in Hempstead, and Sag Harbor. The people of Hempstead had visions of their village becoming the business and political center of Queens while Sag Harbor was searching for a way to regain its lost prominence as a leading whaling port.

The Village of Hempstead was the largest village in the Town of Hempstead, and, as now, the township's seat of government. It had a population of some 1500 people, over 200 houses, and resembled an early day shopping center with its variety of stores. A railroad spur ran to Mineola connecting the village with the Long Island Railroad's mainline, and horse drawn coaches and carriages were able to speed to Jamaica along the new plank road.

The people of Hempstead had a right to feel and express pride in their village. However, many of them felt that their quest to become the leading community in Queens was slowly going astray. They looked with dismay at the streets of their major competitor, Jamaica, blazing almost arrogantly with new gas lights while the streets of Hempstead had to depend on the primitive light of the moons for illumination.

After a number of enthusiastic but unproductive starts, the Hempstead Gas Light Company was finally born in April, 1859.

Shortly after, a piece of property on the east side of Clinton Street, just north of Front Street, was purchased for the proposed new gas works. E.A. Coen, an engineer who specialized in constituting local gas works, was hired to build the plant. By November the building was well under way, a coal-gas making machine had been installed and a six foot high cylindrical gasometer or holder with capacity of 4000 cubic feet awaited the newly made coal gas. The laying of mains along the village's major roads was begun and the search for customers was started.

In January, 1860, the first gas flowed into the mains creating an awesome effect as the villagers watched, spellbound, the blazing light of the new gas lamps in the first few stores and homes to have this miraculous service. The Episcopal and Methodist churches of the village could boast of record attendances at their evening services, now brightly lighted with gas lamps.

The people of Hempstead, for the most part, marveled at this new change in their village. The fact that the gas rate was $5 a 1000 cubic feet and service was available only from dusk to midnight did not in the least dampen their enthusiasm. Oppositely, there began a demand for the immediate lighting of their streets and sidewalks.

In the early 1850's Sag Harbor was enjoying an established reputation as a major shipping port on the nation's east coast. In 1783, it had exceeded New York City in the amount of tonnage passing through its harbor. The primary reason for this great shipping activity was that Sag Harbor was a leading center in the whaling industry. With the discovery of petroleum this great reputation was slowly waning. By 1859 its citizens were looking for a way to return their community to a position of prominence.

A native of Sag Harbor and an old steamboat operator, Captain David Congdon, felt he had the answer to this problem. In the fall of 1858 he shut down his steamboat line and began working out plans for the establishment of an artificial gas plant. He reasoned that since the village had been a leader in lighting its own streets and those of the rest of the world with whale oil, they a modern form of lighting should represent Sag Harbor.

Congdon spent the winter months studying gas-making plants and discovered that gas could be made from either coal or resin. Resin was one of the naval stores and could easily be delivered by water, and since the Captain was an old seafaring man it was natural that he chose it over coal. He bought distilling machinery and a gasometer for storage, and put it all in the village's old candle factory, a short distance from the water front. Enough customers were found so that mains could be extended down Main, Jefferson and Suffolk Streets. Part-time help was found for the simple job of tending the "gas-machine", and the villagers awaited eagerly for the day when Sag Harbor would glow brilliantly with new gas lamps.

The day came in December, 1859, when the resin gas flowed from the holder through the mains and into the business section of the village. Everyone turned out to see the new lights; children were allowed to stay up late and the old folks left their rockers for this historic occasion. Great crowds lined the main streets not quite certain of what to expect, when all the lights burst forth together. The first reaction was open-mouthed silence followed quickly by huge roars of shouting and cheering. Impromptu parades were formed; stopping at each store or home with the new lights to applaud in the most generous fashion this new era light in Sag Harbor.

Recreation and Public

Public recreation has been prominent in the news during the past few months. Under the new city administration the recently appointed Commissioner Hoving has figured consistently in print and on television. National Parks developments such as Fire Island and Tocks Island have received much attention. Nassau County Recreation has undergone reorganization and now the Town of Oyster Bay has entered the scene with a controversy about what its role should be.

All these developments have caused Hicksville Recreation to continue re-examination of its place in this developing network. At this point it would seem that we should concentrate on activities that can best be done at the local level and try to coordinate with activities that originate at the other levels of government. As you peruse this brochure you will notice the local flavor and face to face types of cooperation with other echelons of public recreation responsibility. A good example may be found in the swimming instruction program which brings us into full cooperation with the county recreation department.

The employees of Hicksville Recreation hope that they will serve the people's recreation needs to the fullest during this summer.

Hicksville Youth Corps

Hicksville for the past nine years has had its own form of Youth Corps. Teen age boys and girls have been serving as recreation leaders. They commence service as a volunteer leader at the completion of their ninth grade. Successful service along with a qualifying exam leads them to a paid position. Many of these young people have served continuously as Volunteer, Student, College and finally full Professional Leader. Some of them are currently teaching in our Hicksville Schools as well as serving with Recreation. These young people deserve our heartfelt gratitude. They serve faithfully and tirelessly and are subjects of complete admiration from their young charges, as well as their superiors.

About Community Use of School Facilities

During the coming vacation months there will be three general classifications of approved activities taking place on the school grounds. Organizations of all varieties administered and led by dedicated citizen volunteers is one category. The offerings represented in this brochure are led by paid leaders and represent another type. The third classification is made up of those who use facilities as individuals without organization or leadership.

There is a very small segment of the population that use facilities at times and in a manner which is definitely not approved. These individuals tend to be destructive and annoying. Fortunately they comprise a fractional minority. In spite of their small number they are a hazard and nuisance to others, especially immediate neighbors of school plots.

So that you will not inadvertently be numbered in this nuisance segment may we respectfully fully remind you of existing regulations drawn up out of consideration for community people and property. Prohibited are:

1. Climbing on buildings, fences, backstops or bleachers.
2. Throwing of stones or other missiles.
3. Riding bikes, driving go-carts, autos or other vehicles.
4. Flying model airplanes, unsupervised golf.
5. Walking dogs.
6. Profane or abusive language.
7. Intoxicating beverages.
8. Playing of hard ball on softball diamonds by individuals past their thirteenth birthday (Most small diamond outfields are too short for such and present a real danger to neighbors.)

If you observe these infractions taking place we ask you to remind the violators of the regulations. Flagrant violations should be reported to school personnel. The recreation office at WE 5-9000 extensions 400 or 401 will cooperate if notified.

Tot Lot At Willet Ave

Once again Willet Avenue School will cater to the younger child. A special program supervised by selected leaders will conduct activities geared to the tastes and abilities of the little ones.

Parents interested in such a program should register their children on Tuesday, July 6th 9:30 A.M. to 11:00 A.M.

Simple arts and crafts, story telling, special trips, basic music and drama, low organized games, special films are on the schedule. The program will take place each weekday from 9:00 A.M. to 12:00 Noon starting on July 6th and continuing through Friday, August 12, 1966.

Resident children eligible to register for kindergarten may attend. The more advanced age child should attend other neighborhood playgrounds described in this brochure. All district youngsters may take part but transportation should be arranged by the parent.

On Back Page

Teen Sports And Athletics

Each weekday, beginning July 5th through August 12th, the high school gymnasiums and athletic fields will be supervised for teen sports. Secondary boys and girls are invited from 9:00 A.M. to noon. All kinds of athletics and games activities will be offered with equipment available for use.

The program allows for free use of these areas and the equipment. The recreation staff will concentrate on general supervision and assistance as requested.

This is your opportunity to try your newly learned physical education skills in a free play atmosphere. For this season elementary children must attend their own playgrounds and not the High School Center.

You may also learn about special teen trips that will be scheduled by consulting the bulletin board in the gymnasiums.

Archery And Golf Instructions

Each Monday through Thursday, beginning July 11th, there will be instruction in golf and archery at the High School. Registration is not necessary, simply appear on any scheduled day from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. all equipment will be supplied.

Volunteer Organizations

A great number of men and women devote countless volunteer hours in many recreation activities in Hicksville. The community is certainly grateful to these people who sacrifice time and energy on behalf of the youth of our town. A drive through the district any evening will witness activities, for example, such as Little League, CYO and P.B.C. These volunteers deserve much credit for their efforts. The cost of such leadership would be astronomical.

Hicksville Recreation is happy to coordinate and cooperate with the many local organizations requiring year round facilities and services.

TENNIS INSTRUCTION is planned during Summer.

Daily Trips For Playgrounds

This summer once again will feature at least one weekly trip from each playground. Destinations will include Old Museum Village, Rye Playland, United States Line, Picnic Day at Salisbury, Shea Stadium, Adventureland and Westbury Music Fair. See Trip chart for specific dates, cost, hours for your local playground. Trips are always made on a first come-first served basis, therefore youngsters should sign up as soon as your trip leader announces a particular trip. Refunds can be made on admission costs but not on bus fare as space is reserved in advance. All details can be obtained through Mrs. Walsh at Recreation Office WE 5-9000 Ext. 400 or 401.

The Old Museum Village of Smith's Cove is at Monroe, N. Y. It features more than 35 nineteenth century buildings housing Americans. Early crafts are demonstrated in which the youngsters will participate. There is a full picnic area as well as a snack bar. This should be a long, full, enriching day for Hicksville Children.

Rye Playland located at Rye, N.Y. is a delightful family type amusement area. It features both a beach, pool, park, picnic grounds as well as the rides. There are rides for all ages from tots to senior citizens. This is an annual trip which the children always enjoy.

The trip to the United States Lines Pier in New York will afford the youngsters an opportunity to board the USS United States and view its magnificent facilities.

Picnic Day at Salisbury will feature a Field Day as well as simple picnic fun for all. We anticipate bussing 400 youngsters and staff to Salisbury for this fun day.

This year we will feature 2 trips to Westbury Music Fair. The first for the youngsters from Third grade up will be to the Matinee of "Oliver" starring Walter Slezak. The second will be for a morning performance of "Rumpelstiltskin" and is open to youngsters from Pre School on up.

Adventureland is another favorite with the youngsters. It is a short trip but filled with fun rides and games.

Shea Stadium is always the big feature with our boys, but we have many girl ball fans as well. The Mets have their peculiar popularity quality, but the Stadium itself is a rather unique piece of architecture, as well as being Long Island's home ballpark.

SWIMMING TRIPS

Four trips per week will be made Monday through Thursday to Cantiague Pool for instructional swimming. Hicksville Recreation through the splendid cooperation of Mr. J. Halper of Nassau County Recreation Department has been able to obtain exclusive use of the Pool from 8-9 A.M. on these days. Buses will pick up the children at their scheduled playgrounds promptly at 7:30 A.M., proceed directly to the Park and return about 9:30 A.M.

Beach Trips for recreational swimming will be on Tuesdays and Thursdays. These trips will leave at 10:30 A.M. and return at 3:30 P.M. All swimming trips (Instruction and Recreation) will be staffed by Kenneth Kingsley, Theodore LeViness, Ronald Guatrin and student leaders.

TEEN TRIPS

Presently scheduled for Teen ages this summer are two trips. The first for Friday evening July 22 to Rye Playland. The second to Shea Stadium on Friday August 5 for game between Cards and the Mets.

Other trips will be announced and suggestions are always welcome. Contact Mrs. Walsh at the Recreation Office.

Teens may sign up for these trips at the regular Trip office at the Boys Gym of the Junior High School or at the Teen Dances on Wednesday evenings.

A SILENT PRAYER—Vietnamese mother holds her small boy while a "First Team" medic of the 1st Cavalry Division treats the youngster for a minor infection. Many of the Vietnamese people, both young and old, never before have had the opportunity for treatment from trained medical personnel

GEE, THAT DIDN'T HURT—Sp4 William T. Hensen bandages the foot of an apprehensive-looking village boy near Tuy Hoa. Medical aid stations are set up wherever possible by Army civic action teams. In addition to medical aid, the teams have instituted self-help programs such as those to improve sanitary conditions, repair and maintain roads, and build schools. The programs provide employment for many refugees who have fled from Viet Cong infested areas.

GIFT FOR AN ORPHANAGE—A Vietnamese Nun accepts a portable tape recorder for her orphanage from SFC Gary L. Smith of St. Paul, Minn., a member of the 1st Brigade, 101st Airborne Division. Many orphanages in Vietnam have received useful gifts of clothing, money, and school equipment from Army soldiers stationed nearby. During off-duty hours, some soldiers regularly visit the children or take them to see the sights in "town."

THANKS YANKS!—Happy Vietnamese schoolgirls from Qui Nhon present gifts of fruit to sky troopers of the 1st Cavalry Division (Airmobile) in appreciation of the aid given to the girl's families. In Vietnam, on-the-spot assistance by individual soldiers helps to alleviate the privations of the villagers caught in the middle of the internal conflict.

IN VIETNAM: A TOUCH OF KINDNESS

-Trying To Help-

Today in the Republic of Vietnam, perhaps more than in any previous armed conflict, the United States Army is trying to help those who, through no fault of their own, are innocently caught in the middle of a shooting war.

"Civic Action" is the name given the Army's efforts to use its skills, men and equipment in Vietnam to help the people. Although the Southeast Asian Republic has numerous aid programs for its people, the pressure and cost of its long struggle against communism has drastically cut into its ability to continue the programs on a large scale.

Every American serviceman who enters Vietnam is aware of the importance of his assisting the needy of the country. The soldier's success as helper, builder and provider is testified to by those who reap the rewards of his endeavors—the hungry, the sick and the homeless—the needy of the Republic of Vietnam. (ANF)

ENGLISH CLASS—Sp4 James Jordan, 173d Airborne Brigade, teaches English to Vietnamese children after duty hours at Bien Hoa. Army soldiers often spend from one to three hours each week during off-duty time answering questions about American ways and the English language.

IT'S THE LITTLE ONES WHO COUNT—A young Vietnamese girl clutches a box of "C" rations given her by a paratrooper of the 173d Airborne Brigade. The girl's family continues its work in the rice field as a patrol from the brigade moves through the area.

Post No. 3211
by Eddie Klebing

The new GI bill, almost one month old, is raising a lot of questions not only among the new and future veterans, but those who completed their service after January 31, 1955. From time to time this column will print facts about the new bill as an aid to the younger veteran and those interested about the benefits under the new law.

Veterans qualifying under the new bill who are interested in obtaining GI Loans can get a comprehensive report on the subject free by writing to the Army Times Service Center, Dept. G.L., 2201 M. Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20037. The Center asks those inquiring to enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope and ask for "Report 60, GI Bill Loans".

By a vote of 356 to 2, the House of Representatives approved a 3.2% pay raise for everyone in uniform. The bill OK'd by the Senate earlier in a somewhat different form will be ironed out this week by the legislators.

An interesting item that appeared in the Wall Street Journal last week was an item that the Pennsylvania Senate, in an amendment to the State Constitution, authorized a $50 million bond issue for bonus payments to veterans of the Vietnam conflict.

To clear up a point about the time limit required under the new GI bill that a serviceman must complete his education, we are advised that: The eight year time limit required to complete the veterans education is not eight years from the time of discharge but applies to those veterans discharged after June 1, 1966. Veterans discharged on or before June 1, 1966 have eight years from that date to complete training.

Veterans planning to enroll in a correspondence course will be glad to know it is allowed under the new GI Bill. The allowances received from the Veterans Administration toward their education will be computed on the basis of the established charge which the school requires non-veterans to pay.

Can't something be done about nuisance telephone calls from salesmen?

Yes.

There are things you can do, and things we are doing.

Most salespeople who use the phone are anxious to please you. But an aggressive telephone solicitor with a "pushy" sales pitch can be a real nuisance. We're concerned about the inconvenience and irritation such calls may cause you, and we're trying hard to eliminate them. But if you should receive such a call

Here's what you can do:

The best way to handle a nuisance sales call is politely, but firmly, to refuse the offer and hang up.

In a persistent case, ask for the salesman's name and company and report him to his firm. Reputable companies know it's bad business to annoy or mislead potential customers.

If you feel a call is unethical or offensive, call your telephone business office. Or report the incident to your local Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce.

Here's what we are doing:

When we're told about firms that have unethical or offensive sales practices, we call or visit them and review the complaint.

We meet with industry associations and discuss the proper use of the telephone. This includes keeping telephone selling free from deception and pressure, calling at the prospect's convenience, using only specially trained people, emphasizing good telephone manners and calling only bona fide prospects.

We are conducting a public-information campaign to eliminate undesirable practices.

We are required by law to provide telephone service for any legal purpose. Selling by telephone is legal, and, when properly conducted, is a mutually beneficial way to conduct business with customers. But, like many other things, it is subject to misuse. You should be protected against such misuse, and we are doing our best to see that you are.

CHAIRMAN, OYSTER BAY
REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE

"Oyster Bay is proud to have a man of Steve Derounian's experience and integrity representing a portion of the Township. His vigorous and sincere attention to his duties have earned him unqualified respect. Except for great issues the great bulk of federal activity is remote from our daily lives. Few of the great issues however, affect our lives as much as the thousands of lesser publicized issues which make up the work of government. It's wonderfully reassuring therefore to know a man like Steve Derounian is on the scene to represent our interests."

EVONNE KERNER will graduate as a Dental Assistant from the Mandl School for Medical and Dental Assistants, Hempstead, on June 17.

Miss Kerner is the daughter of Mrs. Pauline Kerner, of 22 Colony St., Hicksville. After graduating from Hicksville High School in 1964 where she was Business Manager of the National Thespian Society and a member of both the Chorus and Latin Club, Miss Kerner attended Queens College for a year and a half. She was President of her class at the Mandl School.

SHORT AND SWEET

An old fable has it that when God was creating the world he was approached by four questioning angels. The first asked, "How are you doing it?" The second, "Why?" The third said, "May I have it when you finish?" The fourth, "Can I help?" The first was the scientist's question... The second, the philosopher's... The third, the selfish person's and the fourth, the religious... According to a recent survey, people with higher than average education and IQ showed the greatest food preferences for celery, olives and grapefruit...

If you are 40 years old, you are not as tall as you were at 20... Furthermore, in another 20 years you will shrink another half inch... There is a 50-50 chance that one of your legs is shorter than the other... If you are a brunette you have on the average of about 120,000 hairs on your head... Blondes have about 140,000 and redheads only 90,000... Human hair is strong... If the hair on your head were shorn and woven into a rope it could support 10 tons...

Your bones are also strong... The strongest is the shin bone, which can support a one-ton weight... It is three times as strong as oak... The human brain, which weighs about three pounds can hold enough information to fill six million books... Every 24 hours your kidneys... utilize 50 gallons of fluid and 5 pounds of solids in eliminating wastes... The outside of your body is covered by about 20 square feet of skin... A postage-size strip of skin contains about 3 million cells, a yard of blood vessels, four yards of nerves, 100 sweat glands and 15 oil glands... And, the most vital of organs the heart, operates year after years with only one-sixth of a second of rest between beats...

The aim is to have a free flow of Facts to the well informed citizen. The theory behind the public's right of access to public records is that only informed citizens can make the wise decisions necessary to make our republican form of government work properly.

LIVING UNDER LAW

INFORMATION, PLEASE

The law favors open government records and papers to keep the people informed about their government.

Yet another policy makes some documents secret. For example, your income records must be kept secret to protect you when you make a full disclosure of your earnings to the tax collector.

The government keeps many public records. Your county auditor has facts about deeds, leases, bonds, auto licenses, and the like. Your county clerk keeps files of notary public commissions, lawsuits, assumed business names, and many other legal facts.

The state keeps vital statistics records of births, marriages, divorces, and of other personal information. The police keep records of arrests and like information. The public schools keep one's educational records. All of these are public records which anyone may inspect.

Some agencies report facts about professional businesses which they license, and there are public records. Other public records include the acts of the courts, public officials, and the Legislature. Adoptions, however, are confidential by law.

Some other private papers belong to the government alone and are not, as a rule, public. Preliminary investigations may not lead to action. As a rule, the public may not see an investigation of a charge against a licensed businessman unless it leads to some action. As a rule, auditors who examine private books may not lawfully tell what they find.

How would you like to have a fleet of trucks go around town paying your bills?

It's easy to arrange. All you have to do is open a Special Checking Account at First National City. Come bill-paying day, you write your checks, stick them in the mailbox and sit home with your feet up. The service charge is 50¢ a month, and it's a bargain. For it, you get a fully itemized statement every month, listing deposits you've made in the account, all the checks you've written that have come through the bank, and how much is left after each day's transactions. Your cancelled checks are proof of payment. And, with a checking account, you know you're handling your money in a businesslike, no-nonsense way. What else? Oh, yes. We give you a supply of checks free, and then you pay 10¢ for each check you use. (Some banks charge you 10¢ for every check you get, use it or not. Not us. You're not out a penny if you happen to ruin one of ours.) You don't have to keep any set amount of money in your First National City Special Checking Account. Open one at any branch of First National City and live a little.

Essay Earns First Prize

Laura Malone of 38 Croyden Lane, Hicksville, and a fifth grade pupil in the Fork Lane Elementary School, won the first prize in the recent Fireworks Safety Essay Contest sponsored by the Long Island Ophthalmologic Society.

The $50.00 award will be presented to her at the Westbury Music Fair on June 29, by Harry Belafonte, reknown singer.

The winning essay follows: The 4th of July is supposed to be celebrated as Independence Day. Some people celebrate it with the use of fireworks, which are illegal. When fireworks are used, there is a great chance of people getting injured. The doctors and hospitals are busy attending people with these injuries. The State of New York has a law forbidding the use of fireworks. When you use fireworks on the 4th of July, you are using them illegally and disobeying the law.

One 4th of July, a girl I know was involved in a serious accident. She was standing outside her house at night, and looking up at the sky, when a firecracker, which someone had thrown, came down and hit her in the eye. The eye was so badly damaged, she had to have it removed. This is just one example and if people obeyed the law this wouldn't have happened.

Congress also passed a law which prohibits shipments of fireworks from being brought into any state that prohibits the use of fireworks.

In the future, I hope fireworks will never be sold in any part of the United States.

Parents will tell a baby don't touch the stove or matches or you'll get burned. And yet, some of these parents are guilty of buying fireworks for older children, never realizing that one of them could be the next casualty. If the illegal use of fireworks is prevented, everyone will surely be able to have a safe 4th of July.

This is the backward-looking candidate...the only Republican who ever lost a Congressional election in this district. His name is Steven B. Derounian.

The New York Times says he is "a reactionary with a negative record in Congress."

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1966

The New York Times.

G.O.P. Opportunity

Typical of the general pattern of mediocrity is the Third District in the northern half of Nassau County, where former Representative Steven Derounian is trying to regain the seat he lost two years ago. He is a reactionary with a negative record in Congress. Among the men interested in the G.O.P. nomination the party can surely find one who gives promise of more progressive and constructive service in Congress than does Mr. Derounian. What is true of the Third District is true of several others around the state. There is much talk in Nassau County of rejuvenating the party.

If we Republicans run him again, he would lose again, by an even larger margin, according to a recent impartial poll sponsored by the Nassau Republican Party.

This is the highly qualified, forward-looking Republican candidate, William J. Casey. He can regain the Congressional seat Derounian lost for us in 1964.
