Street Signs Was the Topic

IT WAS THE CORNER of E. John St. and North Broadway, Hicksville, on a pleasant morning in 1936 when Frank J. Holden took this picture which marked the planting of a sample street sign constructed by the WPA. The gentleman with the shovel and the man holding the sign are not known to the HERALD. From the left (straw hat) Mr. Larkin, head of the WPA street sign construction project at Roosevelt Field; William E. Koutensky of the LI National Bank and Fred J. Noeth, now publisher of the HERALD. Curiously, some 30 years later, the LI National Bank of which Mr. Koutensky is president, is planning to erect its new home near this very same intersection.

It was May 25, 1936, when the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce mailed a letter to residents suggesting their support of a program to raise $900 to provide the community with metal street signs. The signs were built with WPA labor and the community contributed $4.50 each for materials. That opening solicitation, over the signature of Ernest F. Francke as chairman of the street sign committee, mentioned that the project was endorsed by the Chamber, Robert L. Bacon Republican Club, Manetto Plains Post of VFW (now William M. Gouse Jr. Post), Citizens Relief Protective Assn., Business Men's Assn., Charles Wagner Post of American Legion and Independent Democratic Club.

The names on the letterhead were interesting: Francke, chairman; Dr. Elwood A. Curtis, Chamber president; Frank Chlunsky, chamber secretary; Joseph J. Ulmer, treasurer; Fred J. Noeth, publicity; Charles H. Beatty, John R. Brandt, Carl J. Karlson, Thomas Costello, A. B. Cramer, Arthur L. Crossley, August P. Deppisch, George A. Duke, Henry G. Eisemann, R. A. Esslinger, Charles A. Hafner, John Herzog, Frank J. Holden, Arthur F. Huetner, W. W. Johnston, George W. Kopp, Joseph P. Lebkuecher, Charles J. Masek, DDS; Raymond McGungie, William Mollitor, James F. Redfern, Henry Schmepf, Eugene Staehle, Dr. Walter F. Stilliger, F. N. Tallaferrero, E. A. Van Slyke and Gustave F. Wengert.

The letter announced the 13th annual concert of the Hicksville

Choral Society for June 1 at the High School (now Jr High) Auditorium with all receipts of the evening for the street sign fund.

Some of those original signs are still standing, but not many. In recent years the Hicksville Fire District under an applicable section of the Town Law has undertaken to replace them with a more modern form of sign. Unmentioned in the names on the letterhead but worthy of special mention should be that of Fred Herzog who called the availability of the WPA sign project to the attention of residents and civic leaders at the time.

The HERALD received several replies from readers attempting to identify the people in the photograph which was first published last week. The only person they seemed to agree upon (and we can't understand why) was the editor at the right.

Cyclist Killed

A truck driven by Robert Wilcox, 42, of Franklin Square was in collision with a bicycle ridden by Stephen Gay 17, of 32 Montana St., Hicksville, at Sackett St. and Mid Island Plaza Parking Lot. Stephen was pronounced dead by Dr. Malasky shortly afterward.

Fear Devices Invade Privacy

Two out of three people voting in the Meadow Brook National Bank Community Opinion Poll during August believe the growing use of electronic detecting devices poses a threat to their privacy according to results released today by George H. Steiner, manager of the Bank's Hicksville Office.

In Hicksville, 59.8% are concerned with the use of these devices, 32.6% are not and 7.6% are undecided.

Planned parenthood and reduction of property taxes for the elderly received a strong boost by those taking part in the Poll in the Bank's 66 offices. Locally, 72.4% believe planned parenthood reduces poverty 22.8% do not, and 4.8% are not sure. Residents of Hicksville voted 66.5% to 25.9% in favor of reducing property taxes for the elderly.

Legion Musicians Second in Nation

ST. IGNATIUS GIRLS CADET CORPS paraded in Washington at the National American Legion Convention under the sponsorship of the Charles Wagner American Legion Post of Hicksville and were rated 2nd in the nation. They had won first place at the State American Legion parade in Albany, also under the sponsorship of the Charles Wagner Post. At Washington, the girls led the Nassau Legion delegation in the broiling 98 degree heat. Above is a view of a section of the parade as released by the Associated Press.

Interest in Petito Livens Convention

By Fred J. Noeth

Hicksville and the mid-Island area was well represented with party delegates and interested local spectators at the respective State Party conventions this week in Buffalo and Rochester. Few were surprised when Frank O'Connor won the right to run against Gov. Nelson Rockefeller in November, an opportunity that was denied the Democrat from New York four years ago.

For the Nassau delegation of about 250 Democrats, Wednesday, Sept. 7, was day of excitement in Buffalo as they sought to win the Lieutenant Governor nomination for Oyster Bay Town Supervisor Michael Petito. The 80 delegates and like number of alternates in caucus at the elegant Park Lane Restaurant changed an early nose count to support O'Connor 75 to 5.

After County Executive Nickerson withdrew from the running and freed the Nassau delegates in the face of a strong delegation support for O'Connor, Nassau had some weeks ago voted 66 to 14 for the NY City Council president.

A motion by Harold Fertig of Syosset to pledge all 80 Nassau delegate votes to O'Connor was withdrawn and a roll call by Assembly Districts found five still unwilling to switch.

Petito presided at the caucus. County Chairman Jack English was at the head table at the Park Lane together with Mr. and Mrs. Nickerson, Mrs. Petito and Marvin D. Cristenfeld of Merrick, a vice chairman of the County Committee and a county commissioner of elections who conducted the poll of delegates.

Oyster Bay Supervisor Petito told the 150 gathered for a roast beef dinner that he and English were scheduled to meet "within the hour" with O'Connor regarding the second place on the ballot.

Mention of H. Lee Dennison, Suffolk County Executive as a possible contender, caused an unappreciative ripple roll thru the audience.

Nickerson took no part in the caucus. He was at the luncheon as a guest, not being a delegate or alternate to the convention. After English read to the delegates a proposed draft of a resolution on the conflict in Vietnam, a motion to adopt the resolution was moved by Edward Morris of Hicksville, county director of franchise, and seconded by Louis Schultz' former leader of Hicksville South Zone.

The Nassau-Long Island Republican delegation went to Rochester in a special train of LIRR cars over the NY Central rails, Tuesday. They were quartered at the Town House, outside the city of Eastman Kodak and Zerox.

Among those noted present by the HERALD representative in the upstate cities were former County Clerk Francis Anderson, Town Councilman A. Carl Grunewald and Angelo Roncallo, Parks Director Jerry Trotta, Assemblyman Martin Ginsberg and attorney Ralph Diamond of Jericho at Rochester.

Also Morris, Schultz, Ed Glanville, Chuck Johnson, George O'Leary, Fertig, Mr. and Mrs. Petito, Assemblyman Harwood and others at Buffalo.

Pictures of local people in action at both convention cities will be published exclusively in the next edition of the HERALD and BEACON newspapers.

United Fund Sets Record High Goal

The largest campaign goal set by any fund-raising organization on Long Island is announced by United Fund of Long Island President E. Clinton Towl.

Towl, who is Chairman of the Board of Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp., revealed the United Fund is mobilizing "a great army of solicitors" in preparation for a drive to raise a record $3,428,711 during UFLI's annual Fall Campaign in Nassau and Suffolk counties.

This is a 90 percent increase over the goal met by UFLI and its affiliates in both counties last year.

The money raised this year, Towl said, will be allocated by the United Fund in 1967 to help maintain 144 community services provided by 52 health, welfare and character-building agencies and 19 non-profit hospitals in Nassau and Suffolk.

Towl said the drive will begin Sept. 28 and end Nov. 10. It will be headed by Donald M. Miller, President of Airborne Instruments Laboratory, Deer Park, assisted by more than 25 community leaders including representatives of management, labor, government and the professions in both counties.

Speaking before 300 business executives at a United Fund "Heads of Industry" luncheon today (Sept. 7) at the Garden City Hotel, Towl said the 1966 goal figure was a "challenge to the humanitarian instincts of every member of our community."

"To achieve this goal," he declared, "will require a great army of 30,000 or more volunteers who will be calling on each of us to do his fair share in the campaign. We must not fail the thousands of youngsters, the invalids and the aged, our servicemen and women overseas, the hospitals and so many others in our community who are counting on us to do this job."

Last year, the United Fund and its affiliates raised $1,837,774 in a campaign confined almost exclusively to places of employment in the two counties.

This year, Towl said, UFLI will launch its first door-to-door residential campaign involving thousands of volunteer solicitors. "We already have 8,000 volunteers ready to go into the field and we're moving toward a total recruitment of 30,000," he declared.

Towl said UFLI's 90 percent increase in goal and the decision to expand UFLI's area of solicitation reflects steadily increasing demands for health and welfare services by Nassau-Suffolk's expanding population. For example, he said, there are 10 more agencies providing 60 additional services in the campaign this year.

According to Towl, all organizations affiliated with UFLI in the campaign have agreed to lend staff and volunteer assistance in a joint effort to put the United Fund drive over the top again this year.

Plan Shelters

County Executive Eugene A. Nickerson announced the appointment of a Nassau County Community Shelter Planning Advisory Committee "to assist in the development of a comprehensive community shelter plan to provide information on its implications to Nassau residents." The County Civil Defense has received authorization of funds from the Federal government to proceed with development of the plan.

"We are living in a time when international tensions vary from day to day," Nickerson said. "It is imperative, therefore, that we increase our preparedness to cope with a national emergency which we work to prevent and pray will not occur."

Time to Renew

Thirty-five thousand county residents will be receiving pre-printed renewal applications for their operator licenses which will be expiring on Sept. 30. All those whose last names begin with the letters "A" to "P" will be required to take an eye test, according to County Clerk Franklin H. Ornstein. Those who do not get the form by Sept. 7 should go to their nearest motor vehicle office where his present license will be extended and an application will be arranged for him. For information call PT 2-3000, ext 2375.

Election Centers

A target date of Sept. 15 has been set for the opening in every Republican executive area in Nassau of "Election Centers" which, says Senator Edward J. Speno, Nassau GOP chairman, will "present a cohesive Republican campaign throughout the county. They will be more than party headquarters. They are to be information centers for all voters regarding individual candidates, campaign issues and political group described as a "clearing house of women's organizations united for community progress", will hold an inaugural luncheon this Thursday, Sept. 8 at 12 noon in the Knickerbocker room of Memorial Hall, Hofstra. Phone Mrs. Donald Holden at LO 1-0115 for reservations. Admission is free.

Was Predictable?

Richard E. Tilley of Bethpage, Democratic candidate for State Senator, says the recent court decision on the state's text book law was "predictable" and that the bill's sponsor, Senator Edward J. Speno, was guilty of "reckless vote grabbing and abuse of parents whose children attend private schools." The decision of Judge Kane regarding the law is now being taken on appeal and local school boards have been directed by State Education Commissioner James Allen to proceed as if the law were still in effect and force. Meanwhile, Speno noted that the bill was co-sponsored by him with Senator Guy Mangano and Assemblyman William Ferrall of Brooklyn. He called for an immediate review of Justice Kane's decision "to prevent chaos in school administration for the new semester and that the 900,000 children involved have the use of textbooks pending the final decision of the courts."

Police Seminar

A seminar on alcoholism will be conducted by the county police, Thursday, Sept. 8, at County Headquarters, Mineola, for police administrative and command officers. Session starts at 10 AM.

Oceanography

Long Island is surrounded by sea water and so naturally would be the locale for a lot of current discussion about oceanography. Various legislators and town and county officials have been coming forward with various plans to set up water front laboratories and other underway facilities. Congressman John W. Wyder recalls that it was a year ago that he called for a concerted drive to make Long Island the "Oceanopolis" of the world.

School Time Means Time For PTA

When the children start off to school, it's prime time to join the PTA.

And in this school year, PTA's throughout the country are moving forward on programs that seek to involve all parents—and other adults interested in children's welfare—in ever better education, health and opportunity for all children.

"Never in its history has the PTA been more necessary to the well-being of children and our nation," says Mrs. Jennelle Moorhead, of Eugene, Ore., National PTA president. "Never have we had so rich an opportunity to move the nation to great decisions, for ideas that the PTA has promoted for years have come into their own."

Its goal of making preschool education available to all children, for example, is winning broad acceptance. Increasingly, too, educators realize the importance of involving parents in their children's education, something long advocated by the PTA.

This year, the PTA plans to experiment with new methods of reaching the non-participating parents—the working mother, the parent without partner, the residents of urban slums or depressed rural areas. New programs, too, will deal with children's health, safety and education.

It's off to school for Jeanette and Michael Ryan—they're first and second graders at Nettelhorst School in Chicago—and back to the PTA for Mrs. Robert W. Ryan, like millions of other Americans, a participant in PTA programs for children. Their message: It's Prime Time To Join!

One such project, undertaken in cooperation with the U. S. Public Health Service, will attempt to discourage 7th and 8th graders from starting to smoke cigarettes.

On other subjects, as well, the PTA has a full schedule of "critical issues" ripe for action.

Membership in the PTA, of course, is open to any parent or teacher or school administrator

—indeed, to all who are interested in children and willing to uphold the Objectives of the PTA. Membership dues vary among local units and state branches of the National PTA, but only ten cents of each membership fee goes to the National Office, in Chicago, for maintaining the organization and providing the services that enable PTA's to function effectively and serve children best.

The PTA Magazine, official publication of the organization, has scheduled three continuing series of articles dealing with school education, family life, and community services and intended to foster "better lives for all children."

"Your Own Project Head Start" is one subject in the preschool series, of interest primarily to parents of young children. The common blocks to learning in elementary school are scheduled for discussion in another article; and experts will also survey, for PTA Magazine readers, the problem areas of sex education and teenage drinking and use of drugs.

For every parent, Mrs. Moorhead emphasized, "the PTA has an ideal assignment—to work with men and women who share your concern for children and youth, to plan and initiate new projects, to enjoy a better understanding of yourself and your family, to take pride in working in an organization of national renown and international reputation."

Membership enrollment continues throughout the school year. But for parents who want to accomplish the most possible for their children, starting to school time is "prime time" to join the PTA.

Speno Comments On Textbook Law

State Senator Edward J. Speno of East Meadow who was co-sponsor with Senator Guy Mangano and Assemblyman William Farrall of Brooklyn in 1965 of the Fair Textbook Law this week felt compelled to comment on a ruling by Supreme Court Justice T. Paul Kane declaring the law unconstitutional.

He said he was primarily interested in the educational opportunity the legislation would bring to school children of the state and added:

"It seemed to me and still seems to me paradoxical that we spend over $1 1/2 billion dollars a year in the State of New York on primary and secondary education, and despite this vast expenditure there is no law on the books mandating that a proportion of this sum be spent on the indispensable tool of good education—the textbook.

"It seemed to my colleagues and I that a real opportunity for public service presented itself if we could secure passage of legislation that would mandate that every school child in the State of New York, both public and non-public, had the use of the most modern, comprehensive textbooks which are available. It seemed equally obvious to us that if we were sincerely interested in raising the state's educational standards we could hardly ignore the 900,000 children in the state who attend the non-public schools. From an educational standpoint alone, I feel that Justice Kane's decision is deeply regrettable.

"Next it became necessary to research the constitutional aspects involved; constitutional authorities referred me to what are believed to be the three relevant United States Supreme Court decisions in this area—the Bradfield, Cochran and Everson cases.

"In the Cochran case, 1930, the Supreme Court unanimously decided that the loan of textbooks to the non-public school child was constitutional; it expressed a child benefit view which appeared subsequently in the Everson school bus case. Chief Justice Hughes' opinion stated: One may scan the acts in vain to ascertain where any money is appropriated for the purchase of school books for the use of any church, private sectarian or even public school. The appropriations were made for the specific purpose of purchasing school books for the use of the school children of the state free of cost to them. The schools, however, are not the beneficiaries of these appropriations. They obtain nothing from them, nor are they relieved of a single obligation because of them. The school children and the state alone are the beneficiaries.

"In the Everson case, 1946, the Supreme Court held constitutional a New Jersey statute which provided that reimbursement to parents might be made out of public funds for transportation of their children to parochial schools. Justice Black's opinion stated: New Jersey cannot consistently with the establishment of religion clause of the First Amendment contribute tax-raised funds to the support of an institution which teaches the tenets and faith of any church. On the other hand, other language of the amendment commands that New Jersey cannot hamper its citizens in the free exercise of their own religion. Consequently, it cannot exclude individual Catholics, Lutherans, Mohammedans, Baptists, Jews, Methodists, Non-believers, Presbyterians, or the members of public welfare legislation.

"It is beyond my capacity to believe that to loan a child a decent Mathematics or English textbook or to furnish him with a ride to school is to do violence to our basic doctrine of separation. I believe that all religions and all groups in our pluralistic society completely support the doctrine of separation of church and state as enunciated in the First Amendment to the Federal Constitution. However, more and more Americans are becoming convinced that the true doctrine of separation can be maintained without penalizing the academic standards of 7 million American children.

Rehabilitation of existing electrified Long Island Rail Road service to Hempstead and West Hempstead is included in a $34.5 million dollar program, according to the Metropolitan Commuter Transportation Authority of the State of New York in a report to Gov Rockefeller.

At the same time electrification will be extended from Mineola to Hicksville and Huntington.

Under the same program, aimed to provide faster and more comfortable rides for commuters high level platforms will be installed to utilize the maximum capabilities of new cars with automatic doors. The high-level platforms to Hempstead are described as under the second phase of the program.

The Authority has made application for a $23 million capital grant from the Federal Dept of Housing and Urban Development, an action fully supported by the Governor.

State Button Society to Meet

The fall meeting of the New York State Button Society will be held on Sept. 16 and 17 with the Poughkeepsie Inn, Poughkeepsie, as headquarters for the event. The host club is the Mid-Hudson Button Club which Mrs. Frank B. Howell is president. Mrs. Howell is also general chairman in charge of plans for the meeting. Dealers wishing to reserve tables for this meeting should contact Mrs. Howell, whose address is 28 Townsend Blvd., Poughkeepsie 12603, not later than Sept. 12. Two button competitions are planned for this meeting. The first is on "Grapes", assorted materials and mixed sizes. The prize for this is offered by the Mid-Hudson Button Club. The other competition is on "Leaves", assorted materials and medium size. The award for this is given by Mrs. Millicent Hatch, Old Westbury, who is President of the State Society. Trays must reach the chairman of Exhibits not later than 1:00 P.M. on Friday of the show.

In addition to these features, there will be an open house on Friday evening, at which time Mrs. Edith Rodway, Somerville, Mass., President-elect of the National Button Society, will talk on "Sports". There will also be an auction of buttons contributed by state members. According to advance reports from the chairman, attendance of about 100 is anticipated at the meeting, including guests from several other states, and anyone interested in button collecting as a hobby is invited to attend. To those not familiar with the collecting of buttons, it may be interesting to note that this hobby is surpassed in popularity only by philately, and that there are local and state button societies in almost every state, as well as the National Button Society with a membership of nearly 2000.

Those planning to attend the luncheon at 12:00 o'clock on the second day of the show should make reservations through Mrs. Howell at the above address. The deadline for luncheon reservations is Sept. 12.

In this area there are two state button clubs, the First Long Island Club and the Eastern Long Island Club, whose presidents are respectively Miss Adah C. Bennett of East Setauket and Mrs. Arthur H. Wingate of Garden City. Also two officers of the State Society are residents of Long Island, Mrs. Millicent Hatch of Old Westbury who is the State President, and Miss Esther Byerly of Hicksville, who is State Secretary. Anyone interested in learning more about these clubs or about the State and National Societies may contact any of these officers.

FREEDOM OF ENTERPRISE WEEK, pioneered by Kiwanis International, was observed by the Hicksville Kiwanis Club. Left to right are Paul Donath, President; Councilman A. Carl Grunewald, who presented a proclamation signed by the Town Board; and Henry Bringle, Vice-president.

be conceived here on Long Island," Wylder says. "The machinery to plumb the ocean's depth should be built here. The imagination and determination should come from us, located as we are on the threshold of the Atlantic."

On this same theme, a college professor has come up with an idea to build dams at each end of Long Island Sound (Orient Point and near Throgs Neck Bridge) and allow the Sound to fill with fresh water from Connecticut Rivers. After a span of years, he says, the fresh water would replace the salt water and the entire Sound would become one giant reservoir for N.Y. City and surrounding counties. This might come under the heading of Soundology.

Pageantry in Brass

By the St. Ignatius Girls Cadet Corps

"We all live in a Yellow School Bus" - and this seems to be just what we did for the five days of our Washington trip. There were so many wonderful things happening. The competition was tremendous as we proudly marched to victory as the second ranking all girls corps in the American Legion National Competition. Proud as peacocks were we when we earned our highest scores of the season in drums, horns, and m & m.

After the trip the girls wrote a few sentences on what they felt was the most exciting or interesting moment in Washington. The biggest thrill of the week-end seemed to be the Saturday night drill, on which most of the girls commented. One of our members writes, "When the people came around the field and shone their headlights across the parking lot so that we could practice the night before competing, they gave us a bigger boost than we have ever had." You see at the start of practice the shopping center lights were on, but right in the middle of our color presentation, they went out. Everyone groaned, but within minutes the field was lit with the headlights of our new fans of Alexandria, Virginia. These people not only helped with their headlights, but showed their support by tooting their horns and applauding.

One of our youngest members comments "I had fun on our Washington trip. I had a wonderful time and I think we deserved our prize, because we worked very hard for it." And work we did. On Friday afternoon we held a musical rehearsal at the motel. Saturday morning we were out on a sunny parking field next to St. Louis Church, and again Saturday night we were drilling in the local shopping center. Yet we still found time for touring and loads of fun. Our quartermaster again found many little things to help keep the girls minds off the tension of the busy weekend. It seems he found an extra hair piece and there weren't many who had trouble guessing who the new girl was.

On the touring list there was the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, the changing of the guard at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, a visit to the grave of President Kennedy, and a stop at several memorials. The FBI tour was very interesting and our junior quartermaster is now the proud owner of one of the targets used on the shooting range.

There are so many things that can happen to six girls in five days that it would be impossible to describe them all in this column. But you can be sure that all the girls will never forget all the little and great things that occurred on this trip. Naturally all are proud of coming in second of all the girls corps competing, and twenty-fourth out of the fifty-five corps from big cities and small towns all over the United States. We have already begun working to be the top all girls corps next year.

Many thanks to the Charles Wagner Post #421 for sponsoring our trip to the Nationals. We would like to take this opportunity to apologize to the people of Hicksville for our absence in the Labor Day Parade, but we were unable to appear due to circumstances beyond our control. However all the girls of the Senior Corps were on hand along Broadway to cheer on our Junior Corps as they proudly stepped out leading the Oyster Bay Fire Department.

The Mid Island Senior Citizens will spend the week end of Sept. 11, 12 and 13 at Schwa-ga-Lodge in the Catskill Mts.

3-Car Collision

A three car accident occurred Aug. 28 at the corner of Marie St. and Broadway in Hicksville. A 1962 Dodge, operated by Mrs. Gertrude M. Posey of 43 Garden Blvd. Hicksville, was stopped facing east on Marie St. when it was involved in a collision with other cars.

A 1964 Plymouth driven by Edmund Bigall, 19 of 40 Sand-piper Lane, Levittown was heading south turning west onto Marie Street when he was in collision with the third car driven by Kathie Ellen Duffy, 17, of 39 Shephard Lane, Levittown, who was heading west on Marie Street. John Catalmo, 21, and Edmund Bigall suffered abrasions on their bodies.

PTA Council to Meet Sept 14

The Hicksville Council of P.T.A. Units will hold its first executive committee meeting for the school year 1966-67, on Wednesday, Sept. 14, at 8:15 P.M. at the Hicksville Junior High School, Jerusalem Ave. It will be primarily an organizational meeting, and all of the newly-elected delegates and other committee members are urged to attend.

SQUIRRELS, woodchucks and woodpeckers may be fun to observe in the zoo, but they are serious business for New York Telephone. They devour telephone poles and cable just as though they were a seven-course gourmet dinner. Their appetite is so ravenous they keep telephone crews busy repairing damage. Last year there were some 6,000 instances of animals chewing into cable throughout the statewide area served by New York Telephone. Squirrels were the worst offenders on the high wires, but woodchucks found underground cable very tasty. Some 50 cases of woodchuck damage were reported in upstate counties in 1965.

In a few instances, service was disrupted, but quickly restored. However, the struggle never ends. The telephone company keeps on its toes to develop new ways to make its cable and poles less appealing to the animal kingdom.

Now— U. S. Savings Bonds Pay More Interest

4.15% when held to maturity

Higher interest on the Bonds you already own, too!

U.S. Savings Bonds are a better way to save than ever

Because now all Series E and Series H Bonds bought after December 1, 1965, will earn the new, higher interest rate of 4.15% when held to maturity. That's only 7 years for Series E—9 months quicker than before. All H Bond interest checks will be larger beginning in June 1966.

And your outstanding Bonds will earn more, too, from now on. So, you don't have to cash in your present Bonds to get the attractive new rate. Ask about buying Bonds where you work or bank. For America's future. And yours.

"Today, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines."

"Today, above all, is a time for all Americans to rededicate themselves to the spirit that animated the Minutemen of Concord—who serve as a symbol of the Savings Bond program. For today, as at the founding of our nation, it is freedom which is again at stake. Not all of us are called upon to fight in the jungles of Vietnam, but while our men are there, in the front lines of a distant land, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines. We must all do our share—in every way we can—to support our men in Vietnam. One sure way is open to all Americans through the Savings Bond program."
