Open First Indoor Ice Skating

County Executive Eugene H. Nickerson announced that Nassau's first publicly-owned indoor ice skating rink at Cantigue Park will be dedicated at ceremonies commencing at 8 P.M. on Friday evening, Nov. 11. Cantigue Park lies north of West John St., Hicksville.

The public is invited to attend the dedication ceremonies which will feature a one hour ice show by Figure Skating Clubs. This will be followed by a free skating session.

The rink, enclosed in a circular structure with a concrete dome measuring 48 feet at its apex, is the second artificial ice rink opened by the County. The first is an outdoor rink at Grant Park, Hewlett, which began operations in Dec. 1965. The Cantigue rink has a skating surface 85 feet wide by 185 feet long and bleacher seating for 1,025 spectators. During the fall and winter season it will be open seven days a week for regular skating periods, a boy's hockey league, skating instruction and ice shows. Roller skating, dances and dramatic shows are planned for the summer months. Dressing rooms, lockers and skate rentals are available.

"The success of the Grant Park rink's first season has shown that Nassau residents appreciate and support ice skating facilities which are not dependent on the vagaries of the weather," Nickerson said. "I have no doubt that the Cantigue rink, centrally located and offering protection from wind, rain and snow, will be tremendously popular."

On the dedication night, the regular rates of 50 cents for children under 18 and $1 for adults will be waived. Skaters are required to bring their own skates on the opening night.

Call for Recount In Congress Race

With an unofficial Election Night tally spread of 400 to 1,000 votes between Congressman Lester Wolff and former Congressman Steven Derounian and a recount in the offing, the political experts were beginning today to cast their eyes towards the 1967 election. Generally the Republicans were joyful and optimistic on all points except the selection of a winning candidate for Oyster Bay Town Supervisor.

Unofficially, Gov. Rockefeller in winning re-election at Albany, carried Hicksville with 9,165 to 5,861 for Frank O'Connor, 1,340 for Franklin Roosevelt Jr. and 2,701 for Paul Adams. In Jericho the vote was Rockefeller 2,241, O'Connor 1,163, Roosevelt 681 and Adams 219. Plainville recorded 5,940 for Rockefeller; 3,502 for O'Connor; 1,682 for Roosevelt and 1,148 for Adams.

Hicksville next year will be represented by Republicans in Litter bugs beware. Do not get rid of God's love. Fight for Hicksville beauty.

Don't make Hicksville Pigs-ville. Keep Hicksville nice or we'll get mice.

All I want for Christmas is a clean Hicksville.

Keep Hicksville from becoming dirtsville.

Don't drop things around-Phil D. Basket.

To make Hicksville's image neat, keep all litter off the street.

The contest deadline was Nov. 5. It was announced at a meeting of community leaders on Oct. 5. This entry did not win an award but carries a message:

Keep a cleaner Hicksville or I will move to Peekskill.

And as a finale, a puzzler: Roses are Red Reds for you Keep Hicksville Cleanville I'll do.

Oppose Tax Increase Now

Should income taxes be increased to help check inflation? "No," said 75% of the voters in the October balloting of the Meadow Brook National Bank's Community Opinion Poll.

In Jericho, 56.7% were against a tax boost, 28.8% were in favor and 14.5% were undecided according to results released today by Charles J. Barvels, manager of the Bank's Jericho office. A slight majority of the voters also were opposed to parochial private schools receiving state aid. Locally 60.8% voted such aid, 36.0% were for it, and 3.2% were undecided.

Teachers may find a little solace in these results; 52.3% in the overall voting feel that the present nationwide teacher shortage is due to low salaries, 45.3% do not, and 2.4% aren't sure.

In Jericho, 53.6% consider teachers salaries too low, 44.3% do not agree and 2.1% don't have an opinion.

Geraldine Gilchrist Becomes Bride

Geraldine Johanna Gilchrist, Hicksville, became the bride of Stanley J. Freeman, son of Mr. J. Gilchrist of Frances Lane, and Mrs. Jacob Freeman, of Oak Street, Hicksville, on Sept. 9, at a Nuptial Mass at St. Ignace Loyola R. C. Church, Hicksville.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of silk organza over taffeta. The bodice and front panel of the A-line gown was fashioned of chantilly lace lightly sprinkled with seed pearls. Her three-tiered, shoulder length veil cascaded from a double princess crown of seed pearls and rhinestones worked through a chantilly lace base. She carried white orchids and gamelias.

The maid of honor, Virginia Cabbe of Hicksville, wore a silk embroidered organza gown of blush pink and carried sweetheart pink roses and green mums.

The bridesmaids, Kathleen Pease, Geraldine Martino, Liz Freeman, the groom's sister, all of Hicksville, Susan Glavick of Levittown, and Mrs. Ronald Malone, the bride's sister of Maspeth, all wore embroidered silk organza gowns of mint green. They carried pink mums and carnations.

The flower girl, Cecelia Malone, the bride's niece, wore a floor length gown of embroidered pink organza and a wreath of flowers; she carried a basket of pink and green mini-mums.

Vincent Holzer of Hicksville was the best man. The ushers were Ray Zeitmann, Jack Lynch, Dennis Adams, Roland Fricke all of Hicksville and Ronald Malone, the bride's brother-in-law, of Maspeth.

Mrs. Freeman, a graduate of Queen of the Rosary Academy, Amityville, is employed as a secretary at RCA Communications, Inc., New York.

Mr. Freeman a graduate of Hicksville High School and Long Island Technical School, Hicksville is employed by M. Krugman Construction Corp. in Garden City Park as a construction estimator.

Dear Lynda

The Mid-Land Civic Assn. will hold a square dance at the Hicksville Masonic Temple on Nov. 19, with music by Al Lohman and his orchestra. Tickets available by calling JIM GARVEY at OV 1-7923.

Did you know that some bars staged "blackout parties" last night (Wed) to mark the first anniversary of the night when the lights went out? ... And if you don't think the holidays are approaching, take a look at those signs where restaurants are taking reservations for New Year's Eve parties. ... and the Post Office is suggesting we mail early and use zip numbers. ... Among the interesting "file and forget" facts which came out at the Hicksville School Board meeting, Monday night, in the first of a series of discussions of the Flanagan Report were these: there are 65 social studies teachers in the District (some of us remember when the total faculty of the system was about 59); there are apparently more teachers of Spanish in the foreign language program than any other subjects. The other languages apparently are German, French, Italian and Latin. Superintendent DON ABE reminded the Board he had wanted to include money in last year's budget to start studies in Mandarin (from Chinese) and Russian but was turned down. ... JOHN J. LICASTRO of 14 Cinder Lane, Hicksville, has been installed as president of the Associated Masonic Clubs of the State. ... We have a post card from Mr. and Mrs. HERBERT BACKMAN, post marked Portugal, proclaiming "having a wonderful time." He is Treasurer of Hicksville School District. In his absence Board member CALEB HORNOSTEL is acting as District Treasurer. ...

NEW MEMBERS: Latest to join Hicksville Rotary is attorney PATRICK J. CASEY. New in the Hicksville Kiwanis MURRAY MARGOLIS and BUD ROBINSON. Not to be outdone, the Hicksville Lions have welcome BILL McDONALD. ... While it could not be considered in the slogan contest open to school children, DR WALTER DUNBAR, corresponding secretary of the Hicksville Kiwanis, has come up with "We're going to have a fine community". ... The Salvation Army is installing a huge red box on the Mid Island Plaza Shopping centre parking field over near Burns Ave School where you may leave donations of clothing, according to FRANK CHLUMSKY. ... It looks like JOHN HILL will be re-elected as president of the Ernest F. Francke Republican Club. He will be nominated again this Friday night when the club meets at Old Country Manor at 9 PM. The recent election will be rehearsed and analyzed also. ... Hicksville Chamber of Commerce Executive Director STANLEY F. TURNER says the group has something to crow about and will disclose the facts at a meeting Tuesday, Nov 15 at 12:30 PM at Old Country Manor, 244 Old Country Rd. He says they have some interesting programs "hatching" and may have a guest speaker. Members are invited to bring guests. ... The streets of down town were impressive, Election Day, with the display of American flags. They were put up and removed by a committee of Kiwanians under LOU PALLADINO. ...

Seems hard to believe, but in now 10 years since Shackler and Frank opened their Mid Island Plaza in Hicksville. ... Everytime M. HONNER on Andrews Rd runs one of those snazzy full-color advertisements in the Sunday New York Times supplement, they give Hicksville a very fine plug by mentioning the address. They did it again last weekend. ... A report on new recently indicates the widening of Broadway and demolition of buildings in 1967 will cost $1,500,000 and the reconstruction of Newbridge Rd from Hempstead Tpke "to Hicksville" will be a project pegged at $3,300,000. ...

Editorial Opinion:

Digging at the Memorial

We realize that progress is no respecter of patriotic holidays or special seasons of the year, but the present construction activity at the site of the John F. Kennedy Memorial Park or Circle at Broadway and John St., Hicksville, appears to have been poorly timed.

We don't know whom to blame. We have determined that neither the water district nor the L.I. Lighting Co. are involved, although their vehicles have been observed on the scene. Spokesmen for both agencies say their men have been on hand to point out various lines and installation of their own to guide the diggers. Without confirmation, we are given to understand it has something to do with the Telephone Co.

We do hope that the exact spot chosen for the monstrous hole in the ground has some technical justification. If not, then it should have been done in the grassed area directly south and across the northbound Jerusalem Ave traffic lane.

With Friday of this week Veteran's Day, it is unfortunate that a mound of sand and soil towers over obscures the view of the monument and its tablet dedicated to the late President and all Hicksville men who have given their lives in the service of the nation, going back to World War I. A little shift and that pile of sand is going to bury the memorial stone.

And in the same area is the community Christmas tree, now partially hidden from view by vans, planking and sand. We don't know how long the project at the site will take, but the Christmas season is almost upon us.

One thing is certain, no matter what anyone does, there is not going to be much greenery around that area again for some time to come. And all this at a time when diligent efforts are being made to spruce up and beautify our sagging community landscape.

ALBANY MAYOR Erastus Corning, left, presents Edward J. Gaynor, director of the dept. of engineering and building in the town of Oyster Bay, with a gold tie clasp at a dinner in Gaynor's honor at the Hotel Ten Eyck, Albany. Dinner was given by the NY State Conference of Mayors and State Building Officials Conference for ten years consecutive service to both groups.

Congratulations

To the Library Board of Trustees:

I would like to congratulate you on your efforts to increase the library service for our community.

Specifically, you are to be thanked for having the foresight to begin maintaining library hours on four days (Columbus Day, Election Day, Veterans Day and Lincoln's Birthday) when our students and many working people are free to avail themselves of the library's resources.

I am certain that many residents will be pleased and grateful to find their library open and accessible on those days.

Re: Flanagan Report

To the Editor:

Last February the Flanagan report was loudly hailed for its generally laudatory comments on the quality of our Hicksville school system, and the complimentary part of it was widely distributed. The first opportunity the public has had to discover how our school system reacted to the criticisms contained in the back pages of that report occurred at last night's board meeting devoted to the foreign language and social studies program. The occasion provided an appropriate test of our school administrators' ability to accept mild and valid professional criticism; their performance last night deserves an unqualified F for failure. Their tone was generally one of emphatic and angry denial of the investigators' right to criticize. They lacked the wit and imagination to utilize the recommendations of the Flanagan report as a lever for progress. They cannot understand progress it seems, because to them we already have an educational edifice. I feel certain, however, that heaven is some distance from Hicksville.

I believe that most parents would agree wholeheartedly with the broad criticisms made in the Flanagan report:

a) Our foreign language program, however successful, is an expensive operation run primarily for a very few students, with an over-emphasis on preparation for regents' examinations, with mediocre results in achieving reading or speaking fluency by the end of the 9 years training which begins in the first grade. I believe it fair to accuse that program of being run for a 'show' and to ask that it be re-thought.

b) Social studies can be a much more vital and interesting study than it is now in Hicksville, and we have failed to provide appropriate experiences for track III children in particular. A dismaying sidelight to the reports last night was the inadvertent admission of how inappropriate our track III materials have been all this time.

It is discouraging to find — nine months after the Flanagan report was issued — that so little serious thinking has been done about it. By now the attitude of frozen indignation displayed by our administrators toward every little criticism should have melted into a mood of free acceptance for all that is valid, and their posture of angry defense for what we do now replaced by an eager determination to do better.

FOILED LEADERS
Coil long monofilament or wire leaders neatly then wrap in individual packets of aluminum foil. Foil folds easily, retains shape in tackle box. Leaders never tangle.

TAPED IDENTIFICATION
Deer hunters sometimes use reflective mystic tape to mark clothes for safety or identification purposes. Each member of a party puts two bands on arm or a single band down front and back, etc. Even at a distance you can instantly recognize one of your own party.

Englert Retires

FRANK ENGLERT on Saturday announced the closing, for good, of his bakery shop at Broadway and W. Marie St., Hicksville. He is going to retire. The announcement marks the end of the local baking industry, going back decades.

Hereafter we can buy those delicatessen cake items loaded with chemicals to keep them fresh-feeling for days or weeks. But no more on the spot tray cakes with lettering to mark individual feelings about christenings, weddings, birthdays, anniversaries, etc. Now we go to the supermarket freezer, the corner store and hope for the best, attaching plastic lettering for those great events.

The passing of Englert's Bakery with its fresh-baked, cut while you wait bread, after-church hot rolls and buns marks the end of an era which began back with Seb Wuchter, the Just - Rite Bakery, Gustave Bahrenburg and was related to the history an ethnic background of the community.

Englert's Bakery is in the way of the unwanted widening of Broadway thru Hicksville. At the same time, over our feeble protests, the trees come crashing down, the buildings totter and fall, are scooped up in massive jaws, dumped into trucks a half-freight car long and carted off to fill in swamplands in Queens or former local sandpits.

The old Broadway, as we knew it, withers and dies. Hopefully it will be regenerated but who can predict it with certainty? and when?

Operation VFW Appellate Court Upholds Board

William M. Gause, Jr.
Post No. 3211
by Eddie Klabian

The recent invitation by the Junior Girls Unit to Post members to sit in their last meeting in October proved interesting to all who attended. The meeting was prompt and moved along smoothly under the deft handling of its president, Christine Chwalisz.

In addition to the Ladies Auxiliary and mothers, the post members who attended were: Commander Frank Blesi, Senior Vice Commander Edward Klebing, Junior Vice Commander Michael Znaek, Quartermaster Harry Wurth, Bob Williams and Tom Taddonis.

Following the meeting the girls had a small Halloween party which included "dunkin' for apples."

It looked like 100% attendance that evening with the complete roster of the members as follows: Christine Chwalisz, Carol Jansen, Mary Sadowski, Connie Blesi, Patricia Aug, Carol Ann Chwalisz, Barbara Puelling, Frances Blesi, Eileen Aug, Kim Taddonis, Marylou Puelling, Patricia Williams, Jackie Mulligan, Cindy Woods, Cheryl Wurth and Carol Wood.

Immediately after the party, members of the Post Auxiliary and Girls Unit retired downstairs and packed gifts for the servicemen in Vietnam. This mailing was the largest ever both in number and size. The packages contained contributions from the Post in addition to some from both the Ladies Auxiliary and Junior Girls Unit.

The majority members of the Oyster Bay Town board were upheld by the Appellate Division in a unanimous vote, 5 to 0, in their efforts to present a fiscally responsible budget for 1967.

The Appellate decision upheld that of Justice Theodore Velsor in Nassau Supreme Court rejecting the contention of Supervisor Michael Petito that the Town Board had no authority under the Suburban Town Law to prepare the Town's preliminary budget.

Supervisor Petito, it is said, sought to restrain the other six members of the Town Board from changing or revising the version of a budget which he had prepared. The State Office for Local Government, the State Comptroller and the Attorney General gave opinions that the Suburban Town Law did not negate other provisions in the General Town Law giving budgetary responsibility to the councilmen. Nov. 10th was set by the Town Board for public hearings on the preliminary budget at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. in Town Hall. Once the preliminary budget is adopted and a public hearing held, the Town Board may decrease but, under normal conditions, may not increase the budget. A problem for the board was that Supervisor Petito omitted certain items of both revenue and expense, some of which were mandated by statutes and provision for them had to be made by the Town Board.

The Town Board was represented in the Appellate Division hearing in Brooklyn by Town Attorney Bernard McCaffrey.

Councilman Poulos said, "Members of the Board revised the Supervisor's budget in order to assure the Town enough funds to provide essential services during the coming fiscal year. I hope that Supervisor Petito will refrain from the institution of further needless lawsuits against the Town which are placing additional burdens on the taxpayers."

Pageantry in Brass

By the St. Ignatius Girls Cadet Corps

At East Street School last Friday night there were a number of girls learning how to stand at attention, right face, left face, about face. Were these new recruits? Well some of them were, but the rest were the "old pros" at M & M. Would you believe that after eight years of marching, some girls got stiff from holding their stomach in, shoulders back, chin in, etc. Ironically, both the Senior Corps and the newest recruit group are now working on the same thing. It only proves that you never get away from the fundamentals. Year after year, no matter how tricky the drill might get, we always take a jump back to the beginning and review all the basic movements of military marching, for the whole drill is built up upon these basics. A few older girls were shown up by a little "11" girl from the Junior Corps, (which probably made her feel great).

Presently all three groups are working hard toward a bigger and better performance next year. The newest recruits, which meet on Saturday afternoon from 1-3, are learning the rudiments of marching and soon they will be starting to learn how to read music. The Junior Corps, Saturday afternoon from 2-4 p.m., is working on some new parade music for next year. Some Junior Corps members have moved up to the ranks of the Senior Corps where they are being introduced to the music for 1967. The Senior Corps is now practicing hard with their new opening "Girls, Girls, Girls" and "I Ain't Down Yet". For those of you who saw us last year, we played "Be My Love" in a long line called a company front before kicking off. But this year the whole line will move right away on "Girls, Girls, Girls" (an appropriate introduction, since we usually compete with all boys corps). The Senior Corps has two rehearsals a week! Friday night from 7-9 for drill, and Saturday morning from 10-1 for music.

We would like to remind all the girls of this area that recruiting is going on now for 30 new girls in color guard and many new girls from the ages of 10 to 15 for learning how to play drum or bugle. The girls for color guard may next year be a banner bearer in the M & M drill of the Senior Corps. We repeat NOW IS THE TIME, not next spring, for the St. Ignatius girls are already busy for next year.

KID-PROOF PLANNING

If your youngsters are still in the smash 'n' shatter stage, take advantage of the many attractive, sturdy decorative materials—designed to be kid-proof—that are on the market. Now you can decorate your abode tastefully and at pinch-penny prices, in fabrics, finishes and wall-coverings so tough they will challenge the diabolical destructive efforts of your impossible darlings.

When you shop for upholstery fabrics, head for hardy plastics. In addition to the ones that look and wear like cowhide, there are others that resemble silk, but resist wear and staining almost as well as the leathery types. For drapes and bedspreads, consider the colorful, cast-iron-like cottons, such as denim and sailcloth, now available in an endless variety of colors and patterns.

Busy little feet can make mince-meat of polished wood floors. A more likely bet would be the long-lasting hardwood tiles, such as those made of Canadian Birch, hard northern maple or oak. Or, if you dote on carpet, stick with the synthetics—acrylics and nylon. They can take unbelievable punishment.

Laminated plastic tops, which wear like steel, in wood-grains, marble, fabric and solid finishes are great for tables and counters. A swish of a sponge and they're as bright and shiny as the day you bought them.

For walls, washable plastic coated panelling is available, but, even better—why not enjoy the beauty and warmth of real wood, by using pre-finished panels of Canadian Birch? Made from one of the hardest of hardwoods, easy to clean, almost indestructible Canadian Birch plywood stands up to the toughest treatment from tiny toddlers, malicious minors and terrible teens. Pre-finished Canadian Birch is a time-saver, and a big money-saver as well. A wipe of a cloth will remove crayon marks, grease spots and grimy hand prints made by little hands.

NEW STERLING CAPTURES SPANISH BAROQUE

To add elegance to 20th century dining, Reed & Barton, America's oldest silversmiths, have created "Spanish Baroque," the new sterling flatware which recalls Spain's age of grandeur in art and architecture.

You can bring the festive flavor of "Spanish Baroque" to your table, too, with this recipe for SPANISH DUCK: Cut into quarters 6 ripe tomatoes, cook them in 2 Tbs. butter until they are just soft, and season with salt and pepper. Keep tomatoes warm. In another saucepan brown 1 lb. mushrooms, quartered in 2 Tbs. butter. Add 2 cups shredded cooked duck meat, 2 tps. grated orange rind, and salt and pepper to taste. Heat the mixture thoroughly. Serve duck in the center of a ring of cooked buttered rice and surround rice with sautéed tomatoes. For formal dining, you might combine your "Spanish Baroque" with candelabra—to create the quiet elegance of dinner as romantic as a castle in Spain.

CREATIVE CAREERS

by Ruth Wade Ray

Ruth Wade Ray, Director of Ray-Vogue Schools, the oldest professional arts school in the U. S., now beginning its 50th year, answers high school seniors' questions about continuing their education in the creative arts.

Q. How can I tell whether I have creative talent?
A. You can test yourself or ask your high school counselor to give you a creativity test. Ask yourself: "Do I like to do things in an unusual way, bringing my own personality to bear on the project at hand? And: "Do I like to think up new ideas?" If the answer to both is "yes," you will probably do well in this field. In other words, if you feel creative you probably are creative.

Q. Where can a creative person make the most of his talents?
A. After a careful study of career opportunities for the creative person, our school concentrated on six areas that offer the best opportunities for immediate and long range financial rewards for graduates. They are shown on the chart below.

Q. If I want more information on a professional arts career, where is the best place to find it?
A. Your high school counselor will be able to help you. And, you can get help by writing to Student Counselor, Ray-Vogue Schools, 750 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60611. Specify which area interests you—otherwise you'll receive general information.

FOR A LOVELIER COMPLEXION

Did you know that over 70% of American women have dry skin? With some, it's a natural tendency. With others, it's a combination of steam-heated air in winter and too much sun in summer. Whatever the cause, lost moisture must be replaced if the complexion is to have a supple, dewy freshness.

All types of skin can benefit from a new, non-greasy night cream that is so refined in texture that it is completely absorbed. Called Deep Magic Moisture Cream, it softens and smooths the complexion, leaving it with a satin finish. Its formula is a concentration of extra-rich emollients, humectants and natural moisturizers. It should always be used in a daily routine of complexion care.

The rewards of a little time spent on skin care are a clear, soft and smooth complexion. As you know, your skin needs to be kept scrupulously clean. Use a facial cleansing lotion to remove make-up, limiting soap-and-water scrubbing to once a day. Avoid possible drying effects. After cleansing, apply dry skin conditioner before make-up for added protection. It's also a good idea to apply a dry skin conditioner all over after your bath for its softening and smoothing effects.

After cleansing the face and throat thoroughly before bedtime, apply this rich moisture cream with upward and outward strokes. Use gentle pats of the fingertips around the eyes to avoid stretching the skin. No matter how sleepy you are, don't be tempted to skip your night cream "just this one night." It does make a difference!

SECRETS OF FEMININE ALLURE

Helen of Troy

History's most exciting women haven't all been physical beauties! Helen of Troy camouflaged her wrinkles with a secret beauty formula... Cleopatra, that "Temptress of the Nile," had a nose that was a bit large by modern standards... and the Empress Josephine wasn't the ravine beauty that most people think she was. Helen of Troy, whose great beauty led to a ten-year war between the ancient Greeks and Trojans, had an extremely effective beauty mask, which among other things included bean flour, powdered hart's horn and honey! It must have

Cleopatra

A secret that may soon make many women smile mysteriously is a new perfume, Natif de France, by Sutton. Called by one group of French experts, "the finest fragrance ever created in France," it blends jasmine, rose and orange flower extracts with exotic flowers from the East Indies and Madagascar spices. It is said to last two to five times longer than other scents, and according to enthusiastic users, it doesn't wash off in the bath or shower.

It was Josephine's grace, smoothly groomed hair-do, and simple high-waisted gown worked, though, for when this Greek beauty was abducted by Paris, the son of the King of Troy, resulting in the Trojan War, Helen was—according to one authority—60 years old!

Cleopatra wasn't born beautiful, but she knew how to use the cosmetics of her time to make herself so. She also knew the value of perfume for enhancing her allure. Her favorite perfume bottle, which was a small clay horse with a broken head, is now in a museum and still emits a faint trace of her favorite fragrance—which may have been one of the charms that captivated the men of her time.

Perfume Model

that captivated Napoleon, say the historians. When Napoleon's roving eye found another beauty, Josephine learned from a talkative dressmaker what kind of gown her rival would wear to the next palace ball. Then she had the drawing room sofa changed to clash violently with her rival's gown—while, she, herself, looked like an angel upon it!

Science may scoff at some of these ancient beauty tricks, but many modern women who include a favorite scent like Natif de France among their secrets of feminine allure would beg to differ!

Aid for Recreation Grows Thru Township

The Town of Oyster Bay Dept. of Recreation and Community Activities will receive $60,900 from the State Division of Youth to expand existing recreation programs and develop new ones during 1967, Councilman Edward J. Poulos, Town Board Majority Leader says.

This money, plus additional

Town funds, will be made available to school districts for recreation personnel to stimulate the creation of new recreation programs. According to Poulos, the Town has created a formula which will permit each school district in a community park district the maximum of $7,500 and each school district (not in one of the four Town park districts) a minimum of $15,000.

"Once again, the Town of Oyster Bay is exerting leadership in the field of recreation," said Poulos. "We are proud to have started a program that we know will have an enormous effect on recreation throughout the Town and perhaps act as a guide to other Long Island towns."

Poulos said the funds are to supplement recreation programs within the Town and these school districts. Earlier this year the Town was the first on Long Island to apply for these State funds. The Town received $38,000 for the staffing of recreation programs based on 25¢ per person for those residents up to 21 years of age. This year the stipend has been raised to 40¢ per person, thereby increasing the overall grant.

Until July of this year when the Town application for recreation funds was approved by the State Division of Youth, school districts received their aid by applying directly to the State. However, the new program requires them to apply to the Town for such aid. Under the old formula, school districts only received up to $2,000 each. Now, under the State plan, and Town formula school districts will receive $7,550 - $15,000.

Poulos explained that with the monies coming directly from the Town, recreation and community services, services can be designed to augment rather than duplicate programs existing within the school district's programs and the Town recreation activities. He added that the Town Department of Recreation and Community activities, under the implementation of the program as well as act as a resource center to help provide leadership, in-service training programs and Town-wide special events.

Check Before Signing for Snow Work

Homeowners were cautioned today by the Better Business Bureau to check carefully before signing contracts for snow removal during the coming winter.

Last year the Long Island Better Business Bureau received a flurry of complaints from irate homeowners who had signed contracts with several companies who failed to live up to their promise of 24 hour fast snow removal.

Many homeowners who had signed contracts believed that their driveways would be clear all winter. However, the Bureau received many complaints about firms that did not provide the service promised and in some instances days went by before the snow was removed.

The presentation of the complaints against one company resulted in the explanation that they were unable to live up to the contract because of "circumstances beyond our control." Another firm did not respond to the Better Business Bureau's communications.

With many snow removal companies now soliciting business in the Long Island area, the Better Business Bureau advises homeowners to check with the Bureau before signing a snow removal contract.

Police Marine Bureau on Patrol

Duck hunters and winter boating enthusiasts were informed today by Nassau Police Commissioner Francis B. Looney that units of the county police Marine Bureau will be providing 24-hour-a-day patrol coverage throughout the waterway hunting season.

Two boats will be operating in North Shore waters and three on the South Shore. In addition, personnel will be manning stand-by boats during evening hours to assist regular marine patrols.

At the same time, Commissioner Looney made the following safety suggestions:

"On a duck hunting trip by boat be sure a capable and responsible person is along. Never go out alone. Leave word where you will be going, by what route you intend to navigate and the anticipated time of your return.

"Life saving devices should be available for each person in the boat or blind.

"Signaling devices such as a strong searchlight or flares should be on hand in the event of emergency.

"Clothing should be warm, but easy to discard in the water should you fall overboard. Heavy wading boots make water survival almost impossible.

"Duck hunters should avoid travelling great distances in a duck boat.

"Study weather forecasts prior to departure and remain alert for impending weather either by radio or searching for obvious visual signs of threatening weather.

"Caution should be exercised while walking on ice in saltwater areas. It may not support your weight.

"The first rule of firearms safety for duck hunting and aboard boats and/or in blinds, is to treat every firearm with the respect due a loaded gun. All shotguns carried to and from the actual duck hunting site should be unloaded, with the actions open. The shotgun, and all other firearms, should be handled so as to control the direction of the muzzle at all times."

Attends Youth Confab on Atom

William Strauss of 943 Roxbury Road, Westbury, a sophomore at W. Tressar Clarke High School, was one of three outstanding science students chosen from Nassau and Suffolk counties to attend the "1966 National Youth Conference on the Atom." Sponsored by Long Island Lighting Co., William and Sewanaka High School science teacher, Gilbert Hoffman of Floral Park represented south Nassau schools at the nationwide science conference held in Chicago Oct. 27th-29th.

The three students were picked to represent Nassau and Suffolk schools by the Long Island Science Teachers' Association on the basis of their achievements in the physical sciences. With LILCO paying all expenses, the students and teachers were flown to Chicago to join 600 other conference participants from all parts of the country.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon E. Strauss, William has won awards in school, county and regional science fairs. He expects to attend Massachusetts Institute of Technology or Remsaler Polytechnic Institute to study biochemistry.

The three day conference included lectures by distinguished scientists, group discussions and tours of the Argonne National Laboratory and the world famous Chicago Museum of Science and Industry. The 1966 meeting marked the 8th successive year that the Nation's leading high school students and teachers were brought together to discuss the peaceful uses of the atom. Each year LILCO sponsors a Long Island delegation of three students and three instructors to the conference.

First Consumer Hearing Nov. 21

The town of Hempstead has been selected for the first public hearing on consumer protection in Nassau County.

The site and date, Nov. 21, was announced by Assemblyman Stanley Harwood of Levittown, chairman of the recently created Nassau County Advisory Committee for Consumer Protection. The committee held its first meeting last week in Mineola.

"A series of three day-long public hearings will be held, one in each of the three townships," Harwood announced. "We intend especially to invite the Better Business Bureau, the Chamber of Commerce, the Health and Welfare Council, representatives of labor and consumer groups, and similar interested organizations to appear before the committee," he said.

Harwood said the basic aim of his committee, spelled out at its first meeting in the conference room of the County Attorney's office, is to advise and educate the consumer against the possibility of making fraudulent purchases.

"We intend, of course, to act as a clearing house for consumer complaints but our major purpose is to prevent people from being cheated rather than to investigate situations after they occur," he said.

"We intend, of course, to act as a clearing house for consumer complaints but our major purpose is to prevent people from being cheated rather than to investigate situations after they occur," he said.

"We hope to have the cooperation of the entire county in helping consumers to get an honest dollar's worth of merchandise for every dollar spent and we are confident that the vast majority of businesses in Nassau County will cooperate because they are run by people of integrity," he added.

Harwood said he had received an encouraging letter from Mrs. Esther Peterson, recently named head of the President's Committee on Consumer Interests and that her office had made available the first of a series of pamphlets entitled "Shopping Sense," which are being distributed throughout the county.

Among the members of Harwood's committee are Sidney Margolius, a writer on consumer affairs and a member of Mrs. Peterson's presidential panel; John Sullivan, executive director of the Nassau County Better Business Bureau; Deputy County Attorney Allan Kornfeld and Professor Harold Wattal, dean of the Hofstra University School of Business.

THE ELECTIONS

Hicksville-Plainview will be Republican Assemblyman Martin Ginsberg and State Senator Henry M. Curran, former Town Clerk.

Solomon Newborn of Plainview won election as Oyster Bay Town Tax Receiver to continue a position achieved by appointment. Hardly had the voting machine levers ceased to click, Tuesday night, when the conversation drifted toward 1967 when the office of County Executive Eugene Nickerson is up for the voters and various town positions came into focus. Nickerson, while reluctant to commit himself as a candidate, will probably be opposed by Hempstead's President Supervisor Ralph G. Caso.

The real problem for the Republicans is who to pit against Democratic Town Supervisor Michael Petito of Plainview who first defeated Thomas R. Pynchon to win the office and then repelled popular former Assemblyman Edwin Fehrenbach who sought to oust him a year ago. There are numerous "available" candidates, but the question confronting the party leadership is who can win.

As for the results on Tuesday, the unofficial tally was as follows:

STATE SENATE
Curran 62,242; Meehan 43,114; Crowley 9,471
Commonwealth 58,313; Occhiogrosso 48,446; Pleus 7,190
STATE ASSEMBLY:
Ginsberg 24,084; Connolly 12,951; Clark 3,439.
Reilly 29,101; Van Norman 12,821; Wheatley 2,798.
