KATHLEEN THOMPSON
Hicksville High

Mrs. Theodore Rosebery, of Hicksville, Regent of the Oyster Bay Chapter DAR, announced this week that Kathleen Thompson of Hicksville High and Karen Katzman of Jericho High have been named as two of the four candidates sponsored by the chapter for the 1967 Good Citizens Award.

Mrs. Rosebery, said the annual award is given to the outstanding girl in the senior class, and is based on the candidate's possession of qualities of dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism.

Miss Thompson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thompson of 23 Cloister Lane, Hicksville. She is a member of the National Honor Society, Band, secretary to the senior class, French Club president, student council representative, a staff member of "Particle," and the yearbook and was in the cast of the senior class play.

She has worked on the staff and as volunteer for the Hicksville recreation program. She plans a liberal arts college education with a major in science and French.

Miss Katzman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Katzman of 61 Moss Lane, Jericho. She is a member of the National Honor Society, is the recipient of a National Merit Letter of Commendation, Biology Award, General Music Award, Latin Award and History Award. She is business manager of the yearbook; vice president of the Blue Key Society; executive board member of the Tutorial Society; editor of the Literary Magazine, member of the student council and on the Library Service Squad. She plans to enter college this fall and would like to continue towards a masters degree in the field of political science.

Presentation of the Good Citizens Award to Miss Katzman, Miss Thompson, Judy Kahn of Oyster Bay High and Judith Durnauf of Locust Valley High will be made at the 14th annual Candlelight Tea this Friday, Feb. 17, at Raynham Hall in Oyster Bay, by Mrs. Edward F. Lear, chapter committee chairman. Special guests invited to attend the tea include the parents and teachers of the four candidates.

Each of the candidates have taken an examination for state competition. State winners, as yet unannounced, receive a $50 bond and will compete for the national prize of $1,000 scholarship.

Former Hicksville students who have been named as Good Citizens include Joan Candy Comiskey, Barbara Jane Row-sitt, Carol Fernbach, Phoebe Oliver, Victoria Rux, Wendy Tobiasian and Carol Jean Smith.

Hostesses for the Candlelight Tea are Mrs. Evelyn Kahler, Mrs. Evelyn Kavanagh, and Mrs. Weasley George Hefflin.

REQUEST TOWN ACQUIRE LAND

More than 800 persons signed petitions delivered to Oyster Bay Town Board requesting that the town acquire a plot of land 250 by 250 feet on Levittown Parkway near the Pool in Hicksville upon which a private owner plans to erect dwellings. It was announced at town hall. The petition is under consideration. Town Councilman A. Carl Grunewald told a public meeting at Levittown Hall recently that the town would direct every effort to have the town acquire the property which is at the north end of the Dutch Lane School play area.

VOICE OF DEMOCRACY contest awards were presented by officers of the Nassau County VFW Council at the 4th annual ceremony of the William M. Goussé Jr., VFW Post, Hicksville, Feb. 6. From the left are Patricia Williams, contest co-chairman; Auxiliary President Rita Aug, committeeman Michael Znacik, Post Commander Frank Blesi, first place winner Wynne Spiselman, VFW County Commander Richard Kelsch, County Voice of Democracy chairman Alphonse Villari, County Senior Vice Commander William Walsh and Post co-chairman Edward Kleibing.

THREE TEACHERS with Hicksville School Superintendent Donald F. Abt, right, confer before departure for California to begin work on a computerized system of instruction. They are, from the left, Richard Leuci, pilot math teacher; Elayne Kabakoff, first grade teacher at Woodland Ave.; and Terrence Boylan, 9th grade English teacher. They will be in Palo Alto thru Aug. 15.

Instruction by Computer Coming to Two Local Schools

The American Institutes for Research, under a two million dollar grant from Westinghouse, during a conference which opened this month and concludes Aug. 15 in California, will seek to develop ways of giving instruction by computer. Three members of the Hicksville faculty have been authorized by the Board of Education to participate.

Teachers from all over the country are being brought together at Palo Alto to develop courses of study for first, fifth and ninth grades. Following this work, two Hicksville Schools and schools in other parts of the nation will be linked by a computer to be located somewhere in the East.

School Superintendent Donald F. Abt explains that an operator will send information to the computer about each student in a given course and the computer will then select the best sequence of instruction for each pupil. The computer will also monitor the progress of each child and recommend additional work, review exercises or new sequences of study as the pupil's progress may warrant.

It is said the plan in effect provides "a truly individualized program of instruction."

In Hicksville the schools linked with the national computer will be Lee Ave and Junior High.

Dr. John C. Flanagan who recently concluded a study of the Hicksville School System is director of the American Institutes for Research. Thirty six teachers in the nation have been invited to the Palo Alto session.

Those Abandoned Park Benches

A footnote to that matter of nine park-type benches at Merrick Ave. and Front St., East Meadow, behind a wire fence there they can't even be used by bus passengers at the corner:

Hicksville Chamber of Commerce President Leland Badler got in touch with the Nassau County Office for the Aging regarding the benches which are on former Mitchel Field property now held by the County of Nassau and not in use despite a county campaign to have groups such as the Chamber raise funds for benches at $40 apiece.

Badler got this lengthy reply from Marian A. Greene, director of the Office for the Aging:

"Since the Office for the Aging shares your desire to effect economy in the implementation of our benches at bus stops program, we immediately contacted the Mitchel Air Force Base (sic) about the benches mentioned.

"These benches are owned by Nassau County and are considered surplus. We considered further on whether the benches could be used in the County Office for the Aging's benches at bus stops program and were informed by the County Office of Administrative Services that the Office for the Aging would have priority on the benches since we are a County Agency.

"The problem remained, however, of removing the benches from their permanent installations in the ground. We requested a Dept. of Parks Supervisor to inspect the benches and advise us on whether they could be removed intact. We looked them over carefully and gave the following opinion:

"The benches are so old that the concrete forms have become brittle and become bonded so firmly to the concrete bases that they could not be removed without cracking. In addition, many of the wooden slates are rotted the studs connecting them to the forms in many instances are broken off in the wood. In other words, he felt the benches were not worth salvaging.

"Incidentally, he suggested that in the future we use benches with metal legs as we did with the bench at the bus stop outside Cantiague Park (paid for by the chamber - ed) since metal forms do not bond to concrete and, therefore, do not crack if the bench has to be moved.

"I am sorry that these apparently useful looking benches at Mitchel Field can not be put to practical use elsewhere", the Director concluded.

The HERALD, which focused attention on the nine unused benches with photos in its Dec. 29 issue, wonders why they can't be used at their present location. At least then East Meadow will have nine benches at a busy bus stop.

Town Supervisor Michael Peltto had also noticed the HERALD comment on the benches and wrote to the County Office of Administrative Services requesting them for the John F. Kennedy Memorial site in Hicksville. He received this reply from Warner Davis, deputy commissioner:

"The Mid Island HERALD is correct about surplus benches being available at Mitchel Field. There are nine of them in the location which is cited by the HERALD.

"We would be pleased to make arrangements for you to have them; however, the Nassau County Office for the Aging has already submitted a request for these benches. The County Executive (Eugene Nickerson) advised me that we are unable to release surplus property to other municipalities as long as a County agency wishes to make use of that property."

Now that the County Agency for the Aging has told Badler they consider the benches unsuited for its purposes, could it still be possible to have something done to utilize the benches?

Town Bd Rejects Teen Night Spot

Oyster Bay Town Board has rejected an application for the use of a former auto showroom on 15 West Marie St., more recently a seat cover and decorating show, as a no-liquor night spot for the 14 to 18 set to be known as the Hallaballoo. The proposed use was opposed by a couple of hundred residents at a public hearing a month ago.

Town Councilman A. Carl Grunewald announced the unanimous act of the Town Board in rejecting the application by Shirley Talaferrro Brooks, owner of the property, and Harry Radland who would have managed the operation under franchise

Our Men in Armed Forces

FOR THOSE SERVING in Vietnam, The William M. Gouse Jr. Post No. 3211, Veterans of Foreign Wars, is presenting banners to families in Hicksville with loved ones serving in Vietnam. Herald Editorial Opinion: The Focus of Attention

Our comments of two weeks ago indicating a trend in group or bloc voting among members of the Hicksville Board of Education has brought some reaction, vocal and written. Despite Diane Parker's lashing attack upon our integrity as a reporter or board watcher, the material was presented as "comment on the news," or editorial opinion. She charges biased reporting, distortion of the facts. Since we levelled no indictment of TEACH, the vigor of her protests and denunciation recalls the old axiom of "if you have something to hide or defend, attack first."

The Board of Education becomes a focus of attention at this time of the year when it is preparing the annual budget which determines the school tax rate for the coming year. The budget, despite the best efforts of many board members of various affiliations, has been climbing at the rate of about one million dollars a year. Salary schedules for teachers, supervisors and administrators are pegged in some cases for as far as 20 years into the future. The annual bill for salaries, even if the schedules are not tampered with, automatically, by law, goes up. Only slightly offsetting this pace is the slight decline in enrollment which means a smaller staff. No one get fired -- if there is no longer need for a teacher, no replacement is hired when a vacancy occurs.

In every school district on Long Island there have for months, almost without exception been negotiations on the part of teacher groups to toss current schedules out the windows and revise them upwardly. Thus what would automatically be an annual pay increase of $200, $300 or $500 a year becomes a leap of $1,000 or even $2,000.

And so the annual increase in some amount is built in before the Board sits down in a near vain effort to stem the tide. In some quarters it has been heard that the Hicksville budget, now at some $13 millions for the current year, may soar to $15 or more in the next fiscal period. There are many complicated factors involved and it cannot all be written off as due to teachers salaries or other "mandated items."

The decisions the Board will make in the next several weeks will determine the budget the voters will be asked to pass judgment upon in May. If it is rejected, you can be sure it will come back again. The frame work adopted by the Board, in effect, becomes the near final document and decisions made now regarding costs and expenses and commitments could be hung around the neck of the taxpayers for many years to come, long after some of the present decision-makers have left the official scene.

True, no one wants to seek tax increases; but there are people who feel that cost is no object and if the local property owners can't or refuse to carry the load then the state and federal government must fork over more. This type of reasoning has gotten New York City into the world's biggest financial hole and some of us would just not rather do it the "New York City way."

No alert homeowner would fail to act to protect his property at the first sign of fire or other disaster. He should be expected to be alerted to self-centered factors which might destroy his property investment thru the actions of people elected to govern and administer.

tons with pride in being able to introduce to the rest of the country these organizations which his department sponsors.

Note that the work of Arnold and Burakoff is supported by no outside consultants, no computers, and no federal aid or foundation grant; nobody wrote them a course of study, the Regents have established no guidelines for them, and no community organization can claim credit for having thought of them first. Like all other good teachers they are continually discovering new capabilities in their students and in themselves. They prove that education, when it really happens, is an adventure for all concerned. Parents can't find anything to do about such runaway successes except to listen in awe, gratefully pay the bills, and cheer from the sidelines.

Everything good in Hicksville ought to be studied carefully, and the work of Arnold and Burakoff makes a delightful place to begin. No surveys, please! Use your ears this time!

Herald Reader Opinion:

WOLFF'S TRIP

To The Editor:
 The writer of your "Dear Sheila" column of 2/9/67 states that he "can't figure out why" Congressman Lester L. Wolff is going to visit North Viet Nam. He then goes on to give the answer by quoting Cong. Wolff as saying that he was making the trip "as a private citizen because he believed he needed to form an independent judgement as to the conflict of information received from that area". I can't figure out why your writer "can't figure why". Surely Congressman Wolff's quote is easy enough to understand? By his own pen, your columnist clearly admits a lack of basic intelligence that disqualifies him from any consideration as a political commentator. Further, your writer choose to overlook the fact that Cong. Wolff will make this trip with the full permission of the United States Department of State.

Finally, the "Dear Sheila" author indicated a distaste for "independent judgement", "by everyone of the 400 Congressmen on every issue". "When would they get anything done" he asked? My answer to this obvious absurdity is: the road to Fascism and Communism was paved by those who advocated the elimination of "Independent Judgement."

MADRIGAL SINGERS

To the Editor:
 In the conviction that there is more to be learned from the good and the beautiful I urge all the steering committees and study groups who want to improve local education to look up from their droll questionnaires and their Flanagan reports and note how two young men in the music department are blazing new trails in music education.

Every year Charles Arnold produces a group of about 15 Madrigal Singers, equally at ease with music as old as Lasso's and as new as Lockwood's, as solemn as Josquin's and as playful as Purcell's, whose sensitive performances set unbelievably high musical standards. And every year Gerald Burakoff produces a Recorder Consort of about 25 young flutists who casually toss off masterful performances of difficult 16th and 17th century part-music while a million other youngsters around the country are assuaging their recorder appetites with Mary's little lamb. Small wonder that these two groups have been invited to the teachers' convention in Boston this week-end. A few minutes of their music-making will raise the horizons of a thousand teachers in as many cities. Don't make fun of Joe Madden if he bursts all his but-

Non-Teaching Jobs Federation Target

William Dean, president of the Hicksville local of the Federation of Teachers, today called upon residents to contact members of the Board of Education and support the position of the Empire Teachers Federation to eliminate "non-teaching jobs" now assigned to teachers.

Dean said the Federation believes that the employment of non-teachers for certain duties would result in a better expenditure of energies for teaching jobs. Among the non-teach duties in cafeterias, playgrounds, bus arrivals and departures, parking control and patrol of restrooms. Also being ticket takers, money collectors, clerks, bouncers which the Federation local believes is a waste of taxpayers money.

The Hicksville School District has employed a number of lay people for some functions. Dean believes the plan should be expanded.

County Legion to Honor Devine Mar 4

The annual Past Commanders' Dinner of the Nassau County American Legion will honor Past County Commander Joseph J. Devine, it has been announced by Michael J. Cialdella, dinner chairman and past county commander. The affair will be held Saturday, March 4, at the Plattdeutsche Park Restaurant, the battle decorations he was

JOSEPH J. DEVINE

Franklin Square.

A veteran of World War II, Commander Devine served as a staff sergeant with the 60th Infantry Regiment of the famed Ninth Infantry Division. He participated in a number of major combat engagements in North Africa and Europe, notably the Battle of Kasserine Pass, and was the first American contingent to invade North Africa. Among awarded were the Purple Heart and the Bronze Star.

As County Legion Commander last year, he called for a mammoth parade to demonstrate support for United States Policy in Vietnam. Up to 50,000 marchers from many Long Island organizations responded to his call to show their patriotism. It was said to be the biggest parade ever held on Long Island. In addition, $7,000 was donated by County Legionnaires to the South Vietnam Relief Fund for rebuilding schools, orphanages, churches and homes destroyed by the Viet Cong.

Other significant highlights of Commander Devine's tenure of office include: opposition to the closing of veteran hospitals, call for a study of decreasing burial facilities in national cemeteries, especially Long Island National Cemetery; sought the selection of a Long Island site for a new veterans' hospital; supported R.O.T.C. program in colleges and universities; established a new record for membership in the County's 56 legion posts.

Commander Devine has served on several national and state American Legion Committees. He was vice chairman of the National Distinguished Guests Committee at the National Convention in Portland, Oregon, and the National Membership and Post Activities Committee of the American Legion under National Commander L. Eldon James of Virginia. He is now serving on the advisory committee of the Nassau County American Legion, he is chairman of the 10th District American Legion (Queens, Nassau and Suffolk Counties), distinguished guest committee and the New York State American Legion distinguished guest committee. Commander Devine resides at 38 Cynthia Court, Hempstead with his wife, Regina, and their two children, Diane and Kevin.
