Dear Friends

THE DAIRY STORE located at 169 Old Country Road on the corner of Division Avenue, won a temporary victory based on a deliberately uncorrected error in the name of the lessee, last week in District Court in Hicksville under Judge Alphonso M. LaPera. A Milton Sobel was assumed to be the lessee of the property upon which this dairy store, against which 8 violations have been filed, has been operating since last August. First of all, adjournment after adjournment was granted for various reasons that we reported to you as this interminable case progresses(?). Finally last week it came to trial and Milton Sobel took the stand and swore under oath that he was not the lessee, only an employee. For this technicality, the case was dismissed as it was a criminal case and could not then be proved beyond a reasonable doubt. This technicality could easily have been corrected at the beginning of the case, back in August, but this honorable step was not taken by those who knew better...such as Milton Sobel...or the attorney, Joseph Kaplan, who handled this case for the dairy store whose owners are at present shrouded in mystery as leases do not have to be made public. Technically, they are correct, we are sure, or Judge LaPera would not have so ruled. However, this is a temporary victory based on deliberate connivance.

Needless to say the Town of Oyster Bay officials will not stand for such unscrupulous behavior. We will have much to report to you in the near future. In the meantime, among the eight violations against this business are "no certificate of occupancy"... "improper and insufficient waste containers"... "a lack of the proper facilities for cleanliness"... and "use as a restaurant without the necessary permits". Remember, these people are selling FOOD to the unwary public as well as helping to make a slum out of this section of our community!! The sad part of the whole thing is that our laws which are designed for our protection, can also be twisted against us for the protection of those who would violate it! But not for long, we assure you. Read THE HERALD, for this matter is far from finished. Either these violations will be corrected or this dairy store will be removed from the Town of Oyster Bay.

Originally we thought that these violations would be corrected and that the business would be an asset to

TOB Town Board Considers Change Of Zoning Petitions

Exclusive to the Mid Island Herald By Nassau News Service

The urbanization of Hicksville continued on the rise Tuesday at the Oyster Bay Town Board Meeting, which had as its agenda three petitions for changes of zone to business classifications, all in the Hicksville area.

Two of the areas concerned are in the vicinity of the Mid-Island Shopping Plaza near the point where Gertz has its store. Both of these request a change from residence D to Business F. The third is on Railroad Lane, south of Carl Street, requesting a change of zone from industrial H. to Business G.

In all cases, Arthur S. Bettigole, of Bettigole Realty Co., Hempstead, presented a study in behalf of the petitioner, justified generally on the basis that property in the areas concerned were basically commercial or were in a trend of becoming so.

Also in all cases, an identical letter was read by Town Clerk William B. (Bud) O'Keefe from the Hicksville Citizens Advisory Committee for Transportation and Development stating objection to the application, and requesting a moratorium on zone changes for 90 days, at which time the Committee plans to present specific recommendations for the development and transportation in the Hamlet of Hicksville to the Town Board.

"Eat-In Restaurant"
The petition of Henig Associates, Ltd., said she represented presented by attorney several neighbors in our town. In fact, a voice on the phone who said he was Milton Sobel told me shortly after August 14th, that he was the owner of the "Hicksville Eyesore." At first he sounded upset, but when I assured him that what we expected was that he remove the violations against him and conduct his business as any other self respecting business person would. He told me that he had spent $8,000 on this old residence. I told him that if that was so he was robbed. He said he intended to be an asset to our community. I leave it to you Hicksville residents who live in this area...has this been done or is the situation even worse than it was originally? One has only to look at the old trucks parked on the corner lot and what they are used for...among other indications, to answer that question. And yet, it is not hard to drive around our area of the Town of Oyster Bay to see small, well kept Dairy Barns, which one can drive up to and shop at, at slightly lower prices...but they DO have certificates of occupancy...they ARE clean...and they DO have adequate facilities.

BEST WISHES FOR A SPEEDY RECOVERY to TOB Councilman Carl Grunewald who is now out of the intensive care section of Massapequa Hospital, we are happy to report.

WE WISH YOU ALL a very Merry Christmas. Stay well.

AURTHUR S. BETTIGOLE, of Bettigole Realty Co., Hempstead, presented studies to the Town Board regarding three properties in Hicksville for which petitions are filed for changes of zoning to business. In all cases, he stated that the property was bordering on or in the midst of business areas.

MRS. KAY MACFARLAND, of Sackett Street, Hicksville, spoke in behalf of some neighbors against a petition to change property on William Street to business. An "eat-in" restaurant is proposed for the property which is near the Mid-Island Shopping Plaza.

Michael Solomon, concerns an L-shaped property on the east side of William Street and south side of James Street south of the Mid-Island Plaza and adjacent to Newbridge Road. According to Mr. Solomon, the surrounding area is all business zoned with the exception of part of the "L" which juts into residential property. He said that an "eat-in" restaurant was proposed for the property, and that a "national company, listed on the New York Stock Exchange," had requested to lease the premises.

Mrs. Kay Macfarland, of nearby Sackett Street, said she represented posing the zoning charge, objecting to possible traffic congestion. Mr. Solomon said the majority of traffic to and from the restaurant would be in relation to Newbridge Road.

One Solitary Life

He was born in an obscure village, the child of a peasant woman. He grew up in still another village, where he worked in a carpenter shop until he was thirty. Then for three years he was an itinerant preacher. He never wrote a book. He never held an office. He never had a family or owned a house. He didn't go to college. He never visited a big city.

He never traveled two hundred miles from the place where he was born. He did none of the things one usually associates with greatness. He had no credentials but himself. He was only thirty-three when the tide of public opinion turned against him. His friends ran away. He was turned over to his enemies and went through the mockery of a trial. He was nailed to a cross between two thieves. While he was dying, his executioners gambled for his clothing, the only property he had on earth. When he was dead, he was laid in a borrowed grave through the pity of a friend.

Nineteen centuries have come and gone, and today he is the central figure of the human race and the leader of mankind's progress. All the armies that ever marched, all the navies that ever sailed, all the parliaments that ever sat, all the kings that ever reigned, put together, have not affected the life of man on this earth as much as that One Solitary Life.

Ramblin' Rose

By Rosemary Walsh

In case you expected a card from me and did not receive it consider this column an easy out. Just as it is for you—the whole season is starting to press down on me. What do we do first? Get out the cards—Buy the tree—Decorate—Shop for the gifts—Clean the house—Keep up with all other regular chores—You pick it, I can't decide.

Then there is the matter of our holiday program to consider. For the twelfth successive year our elementary courtment and the cheer leader contingents will hold forth at the annual holiday basketball tournament. Don't forget, it all takes place at the High School on Saturday, December 27th and Monday, December 29th. The finals are on Tuesday, December 30th. The opening round pits Fork and East (9:30 A.M.), Dutch and Old Country (10:20 A.M.), and Burns against Lee (11:00 A.M.). Woodland, last year's champion drew the bye. They play the Fork-East winner at 10 A.M. Monday. The other winners go at it at 11 A.M. the same day. The championship takes place at 10 A.M. Tuesday.

Meanwhile, up on the ski slopes, our high school group will be at Gore and Whiteface Mountains. Their overnight stop will be Lake Placid.

Our little people will be presenting their Christmas Show at the Junior High School Auditorium on Monday (12/29/69) at 2 P.M. If you have little ones at home bring them to the show. As usual admission is free. The name of the show is "Time Out for Christmas." Bring your small fry, it will break up the sound of crashing ornaments.

Junior highers will have their holiday dance on Friday, December 12th. The sponsors are the Italian Club. Mr. Martin Gensler and his crew of recreation leaders will be in charge. It promises to be a gay and jumping holiday affair.

Try to guess where I will be! I am not sure myself but it's going to be a busy schedule. Meantime from here in the Recreation Office we really do wish you all a very very Merry Christmas and pray that the Blessed Lord sees fit to send us a truly Peaceful New Year.

MR. BONES and Project Plan combine to give these Hicksville High School biology students—Louis Elting and Debbie Schera—insight into the structure of the human body. Project Plan's classrooms are exciting, active places to be these days.

Annual Checkup

Dr. Ralph A. Camardella, Medical Director of the Nassau County Cancer Detection Center, suggested to local residents today that their holiday season will be more enjoyable if they have their annual physical checkup by their family physician this month and get a "clean bill of health". It has been proved over the years that early detection tends to prevent serious illnesses.

For Nassau County residents who find it impractical or inconvenient to see their family physician, the Nassau County Cancer Detection Center at Village Avenue and Elmont Road, Elmont, is open each Monday, Tuesday and Thursday. Here a thorough physical examination including a chest X-ray and a proctoscopic (Procto) examination is given and the findings (completely confidential) are sent to the examinee's own physician. Many minor illnesses may be detected and prompt treatment given by the family physician. The Center is co-sponsored by the American Cancer Society, the Nassau County Medical Society and the Nassau County Department of Health.

Dr. Camardella also pointed out that the American Cancer Society's continuous education program emphasizing the importance of early cancer detection is one of the main reasons why Nassau County maintains the highest early detection and cure rate of any major County in New York State. Appointments may be made at the Nassau County Cancer Detection Center by calling General 7-1600.

TOWN BOARD

is the property on the north side of West John Street west of Maple Place, for which a zoning change was petitioned by Herman Kanfer and Burton Altschuler. According to Attorney Eric A. Roeckl, of Hicksville, who presented the petition, West John Street is occupied largely by business property up to the point. Property west of the subject one is owned by Stackler and Frank, which has next to it the West John Street entrance to the Mid-Island Plaza.

Mr. Roeckl said that a two story brick-and-masonry office building was proposed for the property.

On Railroad Lane

Mr. Roeckl also presented the petition of Solomon Widelitz for a change of zone from Industrial H to Business G District for property on the west side of Railroad Lane south of Carl Street. He did not know or did not state what type of building or business would be erected on the property, but he said that it would be kept within the restrictions of Business G zoning. According to the zoning code, Business G zoning allows a number of uses, among them a warehouse, dry cleaning establishment, a gas station, and an office building with height allowable up to 50 feet. Several of these uses were ruled out by Mr. Roeckl, because of the narrowness of Railroad Lane. An office building, he said, seemed the best use for the property.

Mr. Bettigole, in his study, said that there are some residences of long standing in this area, many of them on business zoned property. Mrs. Harriet Athenas of Hicksville appeared in behalf of her father Mr. Hawrylowicz, who owns property on the corner of Richard St. and Carl. In view of the fact the property is accessible through Richard Street or Railroad Lane, she wanted to know what was proposed to be put on it. She was not given an answer to her query. In all three petitions, the Town Board reserved decision.

Unexpected Hicksville High continued to bolt across the Nassau basketball sky this week with victories over Plainview, 75-63, and East Meadow, 87-64.

Coach Bryan's team stood 3-0 as it awaited the big assignment against Bethpage this Friday night at Hicksville.

The third quarter count went 43-33 against the orange but the Comets never lost their poise.

Don Mossey asserted control of the backboards. This allowed the offense to click. Rich Mircola came off the bench and hit four from the corner. Rich Berg threw in two goals and Massey deposited a pair.

It was a rapid 55-46 lead before the quarter turned and Plainview could not come back.

Massey had 24 points and the valuable 15 rebounds. Berg scored 15, Paul Masicello 13, Joe Zuckerman 10, and Mircola 8.

East Meadow could not contend with Don Massey off the boards and he picked up an effortless 18 points on the attack.

Joe Zuckerman was once again where the ball was and he had a strong game counting with 16 points.

Mircola moved off the bench again and found his spot for 11 points.

Joe Srieber had ten points and joined Rich Berg in bedeviling East Meadow with a pressing defense.

Hicksville pulled away at the quarter and was never pressed. Rich Berg had foul difficulty but came off the bench with 5:59 to go and sent the home crowd in an uproar.

He stole four balls cleanly and drilled in three baskets himself and passed off deftly to gain another.

With a 25 point advntage Coach Bryan called in his backup men and they played respectfully until the end.

Holy Family Bows To St. Ignatius, Gold

St. Ignatius Senior Girls Division team defeated Holy Family, 43-19, Sunday.

Patty Lang paced the winners with 19 points. Peggy Hoosack had 14 and Janet Lang 8.

Other members of the victorious team were: Sue Morris, Doreen Harvey, Irene Seery, Herald Sports Tip: Uniondale High has announced that it will not sell any tickets at the door for its game with Hicksville on December 26.

All parents and students must purchase tickets in advance at Hicksville High today (Friday) or at the game tonight against Bethpage at Hicksville. Comet fans who know of Alumni returning for the Holiday vacation should acquire tickets for them also.

The No Gate Sale at Uniondale is an absolute rule.

The Hicksville Junior Varsity basketball team has operated handsomely in its first two starts. Plainview, 57-48, and East Meadow, 64-34, has been left in the wake of Coach Ron Quartini's attack.

Brian Pinelli has expounded the offense to the fullest with 17 and 24 point outings. He gets fluid support from Mark Willey (15 and 8) and Tom Quinn (12 and 11).

Bob Malaby directs the offense and recorded 6 points and 14 in the winning games.

Richard Moeller pitched in 7 points in the demonstrated balanced attack on East Meadow.

The HHS wrestling team was rebuffed 35-13 in its first match against Island Trees.

There were three commendable points for the orange. Bruce Hirschfield, 107 pound class, won with a pin in 3:15. Tony Giacomaggio used 28 seconds to pin his man.

In a decided upset Tony De Fendis won a 6-4 decision over Al Golden.

Bernadette Seery, Judy Galgano, Sue Eaton, Pat Conors, Kathy Olsen, Diane Deacy, Diane Stolz and Carol Chunlis.

The score was 29-7 at halftime. Sister David Marie of St. Ignatius supervised and directed the winning team.

Plainview-Old Bethpage High School News

By Andy Kagan and Adam Strum

On Friday morning, December 19th, eighth and ninth grade students from both Plainview and Mattlin Junior High Schools boarded buses and made a ten minute trip to Plainview High. They saw the production "Young Martin Luther King, Jr.," presented by the Performing Arts Repertory theater Foundation. Some high school students were also invited.

The play highlights major moments in the life of Dr. King from his years at Boston University Graduate School through his assassination on April 4th, 1968. It attempts to show how wrong and caustic social prejudice and injustice can be. The play uses both music and narration.

The students enjoyed the production immensely. They clapped during most of the songs and, in general, had a good time. Nassau County is the only county in the country that offers groups such as this one, a production viewed also in Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago and Washington, D.C.

Mr. Thomas De Chalus, representing the N.A.A.C.P., spoke to Mr. Pilla's Sociology class about his organization. Later he discussed the history of the black American and his role in society. He helped the class with their project of "The Nature of Prejudice" by citing specific examples. The present goals of the N.A.A.C.P. are involved with zoning laws in suburbia. This topic led to a long, involved discussion. His viewpoints about the zoning laws were challenged by the class. He distributed many pamphlets which further enhanced the understanding of his organization.

We would like to extend to you and your families our Seasons Greetings and we'll see you next year.

Ten Pin Talk

by Henry Dockswell

What'd ya know, the third week in a row, and we still see the same team leading all the rest. The Bill Kellermans mean business. This week they met the former league leaders, the 5th place Sid Holzmans, and they smacked them with an 11-0 loss. They now hold a 5 1/2 pt. margin over the new 2nd placers, the Julie Gershens. Strong man for the Kellermans was Elliot Spencer who clipped the pins for a 213.

Everybody in the league lost ground to the Kellermans except Sid Sachs. "Markers." Once again they flew in the face of the "kiss of death" usually administered by a write-up in Ten Pin Talk, and came through on the top heavy side of an 11-0 victory. Sid Sachs came out of his 200 slump by bowling a 214 (his first one in 6 weeks) but teammates Eli Goldstein and Ed Petholt were the big guns. Eli cracked a 195 and wound up his series bowling 90 pins above his average while Ed pounded the pins for 50 points over his average. Even though Norm Ney threw a 215 for his men, Sachs' "Markers" were too much and they climbed three more rungs into a tie for 9th place.

The Leo Geyers moved from 5th to 3rd but for awhile they were tasting the bitter dregs of despair. They had taken the first game from the Hy Shapiros but in that second game they were kind of laughing with tears in their eyes when the 8th frame rolled around and 4 of their 5 men had scores of less than 100. They "amassed" a game total of 650 (this included a spot of 33 pins) and they sort of dived even starting the rubber game. But Les Goldstein picked them up. He rapped a 204 and the Geyers took the series 7-4.

There are 4 weeks left to go and next Monday the league will announce its most recent innovation. To engender more interest toward the end of a season, especially for those teams not in contention, individual weekly prizes will be awarded. For what and for how much will be announced.

Here are the others that distinguished themselves last Monday night: Bill Sussman 225 (Hi Man of the night), Les Shuman 220, Marv Kahn 212, Nat Warren 208, Fred Switzman 206, Jerry Leight 205, Julie Gershen 205, Bernie Lieberman 202, Milt Hoffman 201, and Ralph Diamond 200.

Computer Assists Studies

Syosset High School students are spending an average of 150 hours a month "talking" to a computer that's five miles away and can wage a "space war" game or square 500 numbers in four seconds.

Since last December, as the result of an initial grant by the National Science Foundation, Syosset students have been using a computer to assist in math and science studies. Some 400 students have already been certified to operate the system, which is located in Melville and tied-in to the school through a telephone-teletype cable. The computer time is leased by the school district and occupied by students and teachers virtually every minute of the school day.

According to Ward Deutschman, a teacher who has been involved with the program since its inception, the computer has been instrumental in stimulating student progress in math and science courses.

"The machine is making them think," said Mr. Deutschman. "The students discover that they themselves must clearly understand a problem before the computer will be able to help in the solution. This is one of the most potent uses of the machine, since it requires that a student thoroughly understand what he or she is doing. And that's what we want to teach."

Proof that the computer is stimulating study is found in the monthly time-used breakdown, which indicates the total number of minutes and seconds each individual student was connected with the computer, and the minutes and seconds required by the computer to solve a problem.

On an average, in commercial and business use, said Mr. Deutschman, "it's considered excellent utilization if you get one second of computer reaction for every minute you are connected. Syosset students have been getting the computer to work 2.1 seconds for every minute they are connected, which is an astounding average."

From 7:00 to 6:00 p.m., there is a waiting line of students who want to use the computer for work or games. The computer has been taught to play games, although the time utilized isn't considered a waste.

One student, Howard Fein, developed a space war game based on the television show "startrek." The student represents one "starship" and the computer represents an enemy "starship" each trying to destroy the other.

"Of course, it's a game," said Mr. Deutschman, "but it teaches students who play it to think out the problem. Most of the time, the computer wins, but a number of students have mastered the game and defeat the computer quite often."

Whether it's a game or a program to calculate a mathematical formula, any time spent by students using the TALE-TALKING: to a computer linked by cable to Syosset Senior High School are Gary Kurzweil, a Junior, and sophomore, Vic Fein, working together on a program to calculate a math problem.

BCA Opposes Petition

Downzoning Asked For Jericho Country Club

By Milton Mensch

In a move that could have far-reaching consequences for East Birchwood as well as all of Jericho, the owners of the Jericho Country Club property on Jericho Turnpike just east of Merry Lane have filed a petition for the downzoning of this property.

The owners, it is understood, would develop the twelve-plus acres that make up this property as a major office center. Preliminary plans appear to indicate parking for 1500 cars.

The property is currently zoned as "Residential C" which limits construction primarily to detached one family homes. The downzoning request was filed on November 18. That same evening, the Birchwood Civic Association voted to oppose the request, after reviewing alternatives with residents living adjacent to the Jericho Country Club.

On December 1, a letter expressing the views of the Civic Association went to the Ovster

Bay Town Board. The BCA opposition, as expressed in this letter, is based on four major points: (1) practicality of residential development; (2) effect on resale value of neighboring residences; (3) destruction of Jericho Turnpike "green belt"; and (4) aggravation of already bad traffic conditions.

At this writing, the date, on which the downzoning request will be heard by the Town Board had not been established.

Jericho Hi Students Look To The Future

The Syosset Teachers' Association and Syosset Federation of Teachers' this week announced a unique reorganization for purposes of a united teachers' front in future negotiations with the Board of Education. In a precedent setting arrangement the Syosset Teachers' Association, the bargaining agent for the district, welcomed into the Association a caucus of union members who will have dual affiliation. The Association will include the union members on its Executive Board, Executive Committee and its negotiating unit.

Both the Presidents of Syosset Teachers' Association and Syosset Federation of Teachers feel that a united effort is necessary. In making the announcement the union said, "boards of Education have become more militant in their opposition to teachers' involvement in the educational process as well as in the improvement of working conditions. The Boards of Education have established county policies, distributed and exchanged statistical data on teachers' salaries and working conditions and have hired highly paid negotiators."

There have been mergers in other states, such as Flint, Michigan. It is possible that Syosset is the forerunner of a grassroots movement in New York State.

The various workshop activities began in November and will continue through April.

Rouge is in. Wear it where your natural color would be. How to find out? Take a walk on a windy day, look in mirror ... then diagram the pattern.

Slimming exercise for uppermost part: fingertips on right shoulder ... describe circles in air with elbow ten times. Then other shoulder. Daily.

In 1770, English Parliament decreed that women who betrayed men into matrimony by using cosmetics ... perfumes ... false hair ... high-heeled shoes, would incur penalty of witchcraft.

For smooth fingernails that won't split, file like a manicurist: toward the center, in one direction (back-and-forth "ruffles" the nail).

Trick to maintain your hairstyle: use thin, pinched-together hairpins to hold curls overnight ... weaving the hairpin in and out so as not to leave marks.

THE SWEET SMELL OF CHRISTMAS

CHRISTMAS PAST: Start of a tradition, as plum pudding is brought to the groaning board.

"Whoever eats a plum pudding on each of the twelve days of Christmas, making a wish on the first mouthful each day, will be blessed by luck all year. But bad luck attends the greedy who nibble plum puddings before the Christmas feast."
—English superstition

NEW YORK (ED)—It's the sweet smell of Christmas wafting through the house—the aromas of good cooking and the good scent of pine that are as much a part of holiday pleasures as good cheer and good company.

Good cooks around the world perfume the air in their own special ways, all of them aromatic. In France, the Yule log and the cake named after it—Bûche de Noël—announce that the holidays are here. In Merrie Old England—and much of modern America—Christmas is time for plum pudding, served with cups of steaming, fragrant coffee. But the fragrance that predominates over all is pine—spreading about the house from Christmas tree to kitchen clean-up. For sparkle that also bespeaks the season, good chefs get ready for company with crisp-scented Pine-Sol—a cleaner-disinfectant that leaves everything smelling Christmasy, as well as looking that way.

This season-to-be jolly, why not spread Christmas cheer around the house, with a scent that appeals to all the senses? Just the thing to make your own plum pudding even more delicious!

CHRISTMAS PLUM PUDDING

| 1 1/2 cups seedless raisins | 1 cup packaged bread crumbs |
| 1 1/2 cups dried currants | 1/2 teaspoon baking soda |
| 1/2 cup chopped nuts | 1/2 teaspoon cloves |
| 1 cup sifted flour, divided | 1/2 teaspoon allspice |
| 2 eggs, beaten | 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon |
| 1/2 cup light molasses | 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg |
| 1/2 cup buttermilk | 1/2 teaspoon salt |
| 1/2 cup finely chopped suet | |
| 1/4 cup pineapple juice | |

Combine raisins, currants, nuts and 1/2 cup flour. Combine eggs, molasses, buttermilk, suet and fruit juice. Combine remaining flour, crumbs, baking soda, spices and salt and add to egg mixture. Add floured fruit and mix well. Pour into greased 1 1/2 quart mold. Cover and set on rack in deep kettle. Add boiling water to about one inch below cover of mold. Cover. Steam continually 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Makes 10 to 12 servings. Serve with hard sauce snowmen and fresh, hot coffee.

Liquid Tire Chain

The possibility of getting the car stuck in snow and ice is ever present during winter for people living in snow-belt areas.

New Liquid Tire Chain traction improver is available to ease motorists' minds about being snowbound. The manufacturer, The Dow Chemical Company, says it will triple tire traction on ice and snow.

A four-ounce or six-ounce can of the product in your glove compartment fits into the automotive need category like the spare tire—it's on hand if you need it but hopefully you won't.

Liquid Tire Chain traction improver is easily applied by spraying on exposed tire treads. You spin the tires briefly to give the compound a chance to mix with the water in ice or snow, forming a sticky substance that adheres to the treads. The driver can then ordinarily maneuver his car out of the icy rut. It is fast-acting and effective at temperatures as low as 20 degrees Fahrenheit. The material stays on the tire tread for up to several hours.

For effective use, motorists should use the traction improver as follows:

1. Use it as soon as you realize you are stuck—before you spin your wheels down into an ice "disk".
2. Spray thoroughly as much as possible of the exposed tread of the driving tires—front and rear surfaces on each side of the car.
3. Slowly spin wheels to activate and spread the product on the tires.
4. Wait about one minute for the resinous material to "set up" properly.
5. Drive out as slowly as possible. If the wheels spin, stop and try driving out again by slowly easing on the accelerator. Sometimes it is best to back out of a situation or to rock the car forward and backward to make tracks and to develop momentum.

Don't Approve Major Tax Reductions Now

Significant tax reductions being considered under the guise of tax reform would almost certainly throw the federal budget out of balance and bring on even more severe inflation, according to the Chase Manhattan Bank, N.A.

The economic danger is magnified by excessive wage demands on the part of labor and maintenance of an inflationary psychology by businessmen, the bank suggests in the December issue of its bimonthly economic report Business in Brief.

Unless labor, business and government all cooperate in showing restraint, the report warns, a "deep and possibly prolonged recession" could become the only avenue toward correcting the inflationary price trend.

While the bank sees signs that "the U.S. economy is indeed cooling off," the report notes that prices continue to rise. With demand still strong enough to support the rising price trend, it predicts, "price stability - the objective of the whole cooling-off process - lies many months in the future."

Even if the rate of economic growth in terms of production, income, sales and employment continues to weaken, "significant inflationary pressures will persist for many months," the report says. It cites these key factors:

The goal of relative price stability "is threatened by a prospective turn in the fiscal posture of the United States from the modest surplus of the past year to deficits after the middle of 1970."

Terming it difficult to keep the budget in balance even if Congress acts soon to continue the tax surcharge, the report warns that "tax measures now being considered would make it virtually impossible to keep the budget balanced."

The report describes tax reform as "desirable, even though there is plenty of room for honest disagreement about precisely what changes would actually constitute reforms."

"As it appears to be working out, however, 'reform' will add up to a significant tax reduction. And in the current atmosphere, the benefits even to those who receive the tax reduction could soon be wiped out by the inflation that a new series of federal deficits would make more severe," Chase says.

More than five million workers - an unusually high number - are covered by wage contracts expiring in 1970. Their union negotiators are likely to seek increases comparable to the 8% average pay boost granted on major contracts during the first nine months of 1969 - an increase twice the level that would be consistent with a non-inflationary price trend.

"While it would be impractical and inequitable to expect labor to reduce its demands immediately to the non-inflationary levels of the early 1960's, price inflation cannot be defeated unless wage settlements in 1970 fall well below the levels of the past few months," the report states.

Business continues to operate on the assumptions "that no significant interruption in the boom is in sight - that official policy will shift before any recession can develop - and therefore that prices will continue to rise at abnormal rates through 1970."

The prevalence of this inflationary psychology is seen as explaining business plans for substantially increased spending for new plant and equipment, possibly insufficient resistance to excessive wage demands and "the surprising amount of business sentiment for wage and price controls." Such controls would be "economically debilitating" and unsuccessful in curbing inflation, the bank maintains.

"Return to reasonable price stability will require restraint from all participants - labor, business and government," the report asserts. "The current attempt to reduce inflationary pressures gradually, with a minimum of disruption to the lives and business of the citizens, is a delicate operation."

"Unfortunately, failure of any major segment of society to contribute to this effort could leave only one alternative solution available - a deep and possibly prolonged recession, which would correct the price trend, but at enormous cost to other national goals."

KIWANIANS SAY "THANK YOU": In appreciation of the help given them at their various functions thruout the year, the Hicksville Kiwanis Club, Inc. entertained the nurses and athletic director of the Hicksville School system at a Christmas holiday lunch at Milleridge Inn on Wednesday.

Baptist Pastors' Fellowship To Host District Attorney

On Monday, 5 January 1970, at 7:30 p.m., the Long Island Regular Baptist Pastors' Fellowship will have as their guest the Honorable William Cahn, District Attorney of Nassau County, at the First Baptist Church, corner of Liszi Street and Pollok Place, Hicksville, New York.

William Cahn, Racket-Busting District Attorney of Nassau County, was appointed as Assistant District Attorney in 1950. He formed the Fraudulent Relief Bureau in 1951 and then was appointed Chief of the Homicide and Rackets Bureau.

In the years that followed, he investigated and prosecuted all major homicide and organized racketeering cases in Nassau County.

Mr. Cahn was elected District Attorney on 6 November 1962, and was reelected in 1965 and again in 1968.

District Attorney Cahn was named the winner of the Freedoms Foundation George Washington Honor Medal. Mr. Cahn's office was the only New York State Governmental Unit to win the Foundation's award which was presented for his "vigorous campaign to educate students about the dangers of narcotics."

Mr. Cahn was also selected by the National District Attorneys Association for the "Distinguished Service Award for Outstanding Service to the Profession". Mr. Cahn is Vice President of the National District Attorneys Association, the first Nassau Prosecutor to hold such office.

Mr. Cahn is past President of the New York State District Attorneys Association.

He was named "Man of the Year" by the L.I. Columbia Association; the first person not of Italian heritage to receive this honor.

Mr. Cahn, born in the Bronx, now resides in Lido Beach, New York, with his wife, Lynne, and their three children.

"A MERRY CHRISTMAS"

POST NOTES

A little Christmas cheer went a long way last week when members of the Post and Ladies Auxiliary visited Northport Veterans Hospital. Patients were given Christmas stockings with candy and personal needs, refreshments and a songfest of Christmas carols and music. I think the members enjoyed it more than the patients according to some reports.

FOURTH ESTATE CLIPPINGS

Glancing through some of the newspapers across the nation we came up with these items which should be of interest to veterans, old and young.

ALTOONA MIRROR - Congressman John Saylor, member of the House Veterans Affairs Committee has assured veterans receiving pensions that Congress will take action to insure veterans and their widows that loss of pension will not occur when Social Security benefits are increased. Veterans pensions are geared to need and income limitations and a light raise in Social Security and other benefits could jeopardize payments.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE - Any breakthrough on the release of American prisoners of war in North Vietnam may come through Swedish diplomats, whose contacts with Hanoi are excellent.

SAN DIEGO UNION - The Veterans of Foreign Wars and The American Legion are just two of 11 organizations in that city that have joined together and formed a coalition "to combat the dissidents in U.S. society."

MANCHESTER UNION LEADER - The Veterans Administration announced recently that two new medical benefits for service disabled war veterans have been authorized in legislation approved recently by the President. One rule entitles the war veteran in service-connected total disability status to medical care without the need for investigation as to the exact relation of a particular condition and the service connected disability. The other removes the six month time limit on providing care in private nursing homes for veterans who are hospitalized primarily for a service connected disability. Also from the same newspaper is the warning to veterans considering schooling under the GI bill that care should be made in selecting the training institution they wish to go to. The VA warns that some returning veterans are being bilked by a few unscrupulous schools who accept substantial tuition payments with the verbal promise that the ex-GI will be reimbursed by the VA when their papers are processed.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD - Congressman John Ashbrook of Ohio praised the VFW program to encourage the silent majority to speak out and support the President's policy in Vietnam. Said Mr. Ashbrook, "Operation Speak Out seeks to counteract both at home and abroad the false impression that the anti-Vietnam demonstrations here in Washington in October and November reflect the true feelings of the great majority of the American people." He then had the complete article "Let's Be Heard", written by National Commander Raymond A. Gallagher included in the Congressional Record.

In the intimate setting of this Christmas worship, we feel certain that everyone will feel affected by the Spirit of our Savior who came in humility for us."

Pastor Stammel is shown here teaching the children of the Church about the Christmas story, using the figures of the nativity scene as he will do in the service of December 21st.
