Wizard Comes To Hicksville

"Follow the yellow brick road... down to the Library auditorium when the Hicksville Public Library Repertory Theatre Group will present L. Frank Baum's THE WIZARD OF OZ. The dates of the performances are Wednesday, Aug. 23 and Wednesday, Aug. 30 at 7:30 p.m.

The cast and crew of this production is made up entirely of Hicksville students ranging from pre-school to high school. Jeffrey White, director of the show, is a senior at HHS. He also plays the part of Scarecrow. Theresa Tester plays the role of Dorothy Gayle. Theresa is also a senior. Dennis Carter, who just graduated HHS, is very convincing as the Tinman. Perhaps the hardest role to be cast was that of Cowardly Lion. Dave Meszaros pu' the part of the Lion across very well. Since no live Munchkins could be imported from Munchkinland, children up to the age of 10 were used as very good replacements for the real thing.

The music for the evening will be supplied by Herb Bradensten. Herb, a senior at HHS, has had only a recording of the movie to serve as a guide since there is no printed music available.

The H.P.L.R.T.G. is a non-profit organization. The materials used for the sets, props, etc., were donated by the cast and crew, and their families. If you have any old sheets, cardboard, etc., that you could let us have for future performances, please see a member of the Repertory Group after the show.

With the season drawing to a close rapidly the demand for seats is mounting. Reservations may still be made, but it is likely that there will be disappointments as was the case among late-comers in the past couple of years. Reservations should be made now.

"H.A.D." Sponsors King Brothers' Circus

Help-Aid-Direction (H.A.D.) is proud to present for the benefit of the youth and adults of the Hicksville community, the King Brothers' Circus, one of the last remaining national-known full-tented circuses. Advanced tickets for these two performances are now available at H.A.D.'s booth located at the Mid-Island Shopping Plaza mall, at the St. Ignatius Church Carnival during the weekend of August 25th through August 27th, and at the H.A.D. storefront - 87 Broadway, Hicksville. For more information, please call H.A.D. at WE 5-6858, WE 5-6867, WE 5-9643, or WE 5-9522.

It would be wise for people interested in attending either one of these performances of the King Brothers' Circus to purchase advance children and adult tickets as you will save money over purchasing tickets at the circus gate. Advance children tickets sell for $1.25 each (children under 14 years of age), advance adult tickets will sell for only $2.00 each. At the gate, children tickets will be $1.50 each, adult tickets will sell for $2.50 each.

ANOTHER OPENING: And another step forward in the Town of Oyster Bay's effort to provide housing for its senior citizens took place in HICKSVILLE last Saturday when the Town Housing Authority officially dedicated 72 additional units.

HICKSVILLE is the fourth housing complex opened since 1970 and two more will be occupied before year's end for a total of 412 units of public housing in the Town.

Neighborhood Carnival Being Held

Youngsters all over Long Island are uniting this summer in the fight against Muscular Dystrophy by staging neighborhood carnivals to benefit Muscular Dystrophy research. Local McDonald's restaurants are enlisting the help of children in the area by making its famous clown character, Ronald McDonald, a part of the Carnivals' theme. These restaurants have been assisting communities in obtaining posters, tickets, ideas for games and other carnival supplies from Muscular Dystrophy organizations.

McDonald's restaurant in Merrick will be conducting fundraising car washes during Labor Day Weekend and the preceding weekend. These people and all the others involved in the McDonald's Carnivals across Long Island will be donating 100 percent of the proceeds to the upcoming Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon.

Appreciation of McDonald's various roles in fund raising efforts was expressed a local Public Information Volunteer.

"We are deeply indebted to McDonalds for the enthusiastic and unselfish support they are giving in the battle against Dystrophy, a disease which tragically cuts short the lives of many children. There is no doubt that children are indeed Ronald McDonald's best friends."

Fair and Circus Okayed By Town Board

Town Councilman Warren M. Doolittle announced that resolutions were approved by the Town Board this week permitting two local organizations to hold fund-raising activities during the month of August.

The St. Ignatius Roman Catholic Church, located at 129 Broadway in Hicksville, will be the site of a fair on August 25, 26 and 27th.

Then, on August 29, a circus will be held by Hicksville Against Drug (HAS) in the parking lot of the Mid-Island Shopping Plaza.

Hicksville Drainage Plan Receives Town Board Approval

Councilman Warren M. Doolittle announced this week that the Town Board had approved a Department of Public Works drainage construction project in Hicksville.

Doolittle said the low-bid contractor was H.T. Schneider Inc., 90 Rome Street, Farmingdale, in the amount of $8,468, of the seven bids received.

The public works plan was recommended by Commissioner Gerard Trotta and Harold Kraft, Superintendent of the Town's Drainage Bureau, and calls for the installation of storm drains at the intersection of Kraemer Street, north of Old Country Road.

Construction is scheduled to be completed in September.

GOP Charges Teachers Group With Attempting To Buy Legislature

Nassau County Republican Chairman Assemblyman Joseph M. Margiotta today charged the political wing of the New York Teachers Association with attempting to take over the State Assembly to perpetuate its own self interest by pouring $73,000 in contributions into the political campaign coffers of six Nassau Democratic Assembly candidates.

The political wing of the Teachers Association which is known as VOTE (Voice of Teachers in Education) has reportedly contributed more than $300,000 to 42 candidates in the state and all but three of them are Democrats, according to Margiotta.

"I believe that VOTE's action is an attempt to buy control of the State Assembly to force enactment of the teachers two favorite pieces of legislation. This legislation would allow teachers the right to strike and to provide teachers with a retirement plan at half-pay after 20-years service," said the Uniondale Assemblyman.

"It is obvious that the political wing of the teachers association has been captured by a small group of politically active Democrats who want to elect Democrats who will owe an allegiance to the teachers group and vote for its special interest bills," he said.

"This political action group acted in a clandestine manner in determining the candidates it would endorse. I know for a fact that most teachers were never consulted by VOTE about endorsements for candidates," the Republican legislator charged.

In addition, Margiotta noted that active Democratic workers and committeemen were members of the interviewing teams sent out by VOTE to talk with Republican candidates prior to their endorsing candidates. "It is ludicrous to believe that Republicans were given a fair hearing in these interviews," he said.

"This group is not concerned with providing quality education in our schools. This group is a self-interested group concerned only with advancing its own interest even at the expense of destroying our school system," Margiotta said.

"I can understand teacher groups campaigning for special legislation to better their working conditions. Nassau Republican legislators are interested in helping teachers as well as all working people in bettering their working condition. That is why Nassau Republican legislators, not the Democrats, fought to block all attempts by upstate legislators to cut more than $70-million in State aid to education in the last session of the legislature," he said.

"Nassau Republican legislators will not be blackmailed by VOTE into voting for legislation to allow teachers to strike and to retire at half pay after 20-years. We do not want to be obligated to one special interest group at the expense of the taxpayers who elect us. We call upon the teachers of Nassau to reject VOTE and work to return to Albany Republican candidates who are responsible and who are pledged to support quality education for our children and progressive legislation to improve the working conditions of teachers," Margiotta said.

Library Board Institutes Legal Action Against School Board

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Hicksville Public Library on August 16th the Board unanimously agreed to take immediate legal action against the Hicksville Board of Education to compel them to resubmit the Library

Budget for 1972-73. The Executive Board of the Nassau County Library Association has announced that they will file a supportive brief.

The legal action is the result of a six week controversy between the Hicksville Public Library and the Hicksville Board of Education. The Board of Education has consistently refused to allow the library to resubmit its once defeated 1972-73 budget to the taxpayers. It was defeated on June 13th 3069 to 3034. Since that time the Library Board has made 5 different attempts to persuade the School Board to resubmit the $436,182.39 library budget to the taxpayers.

"Merit-Rate" No Fault Insurance

4th District State Senate Republican candidate Owen Johnson of West Babylon today proposed a "merit-rating" system for the no-fault auto insurance concept, expected to be adopted by next year's New York State Legislature.

Speaking to an audience of forty people at the Long Island MacArthur Airport Businessmen's Association breakfast, Johnson said, "The reason no-fault insurance failed in the Legislature this past session, was because the bill sponsored by State Senator Bernard Gordon (R-Peekskill) was a bad piece of legislation, leaving gaping loopholes and uncertainties.

Johnson, a past president of the Suffolk County Association of Insurance Agents said, "A new no-fault law should specify that any inter-company recoveries due to arbitration of claims between companies, shall become a part of a persons' loss experience record, and that the companies shall use such loss experience and consider the recovery they make from negligent parties-in order that the careful driver will not have to carry the entire cost of insuring himself and his family against all their losses, both those caused by himself and those caused by others."

Johnson commented that,

"Any no-fault plan passed in New York should contain the obviously beneficial provisions for prompt settlement of all economic loss from bodily injury, but should not tamper with traditional tort relationship concerning property damage. In this way, the poor fellow who cannot afford collision coverage, will not be further discriminated against, by losing any right to recovery which he presently has."

Johnson said he believed, the State Legislature, should not try to compare, the Massachusetts no-fault program, with the proposed New York version, because the Massachusetts insurance situation does not apply to New York, and is very unrepresentative of what might be typical here.

He said that newspaper headlines have said so many different things about no-fault insurance in recent months, that the public has no concept about what no-fault insurance really is. "All that the public really wants, is assurance of prompt insurance settlement claims."

Johnson predicted that no-fault insurance, in the end, would not save any money for the insurance consumer, and that public officials should not try to generate that impression.

Heroes Hit Hicksville August 24

The Yankees and the Mets came to Hicksville on Thursday afternoon, Aug. 24 and for some lucky fan who knows the right answer, it will mean leaving Hicksville with a companion for a never-to-be-forgotten "red carpet ride" all the way to Yankee Stadium that night.

The occasion is the annual Long Island Railroad "Station-to-Station" party and this year it will feature star personalities from both teams. Famed fireman Sparky Lyle of the Yankees, whose great relief pitching has put the team into pennant contention, will be joined by Syosset's own Ron Swoboda and broadcaster Frank Messora of the Bronx boys. From the Mets there will be the two fine relief hurlers who kept the team in contention until injuries wrecked everything—Tug McGraw, the winner of this year's all-star game and his bullpen pal, Danny Frisella, along with broadcaster Ralph Kiner, authentic old home run hero and broadcaster.

Also along to help stump the expert fans who think they know all of the answers will be personable John Sterling of WMCA's nightly sportscafe a highly-rated phone in radio show.

The train will roll into Hicksville from Huntington, the first stop on the tour, arriving at 12:35 p.m. The show will begin immediately as the players demonstrate their skills and answer questions from the audience. After an interval in which there will be a distribution of free souvenir photographs of the participants, there will be a change in procedure and the fans will be asked some fairly difficult but pertinent baseball questions.

For fans with the right answers, there will be prizes of baseball equipment and Getty tee shirts, and then the big fun begins

Supervisor JOHN W. BURKE REPORTS

Recently, I had the opportunity to review the proposed 20-Year Transportation Master Plan for New York State prepared by the Department of Transportation. As I said in my statement at the Department of Transportation's public hearing, the plan for the future more properly addresses itself to the needs of 20 years ago, being a collection of miscellaneous proposals for highway construction, unfinished projects and twice-told nostrums.

As Nassau County Comptroller Angelo Roscallo commented in his statement at the DOT hearing, the proposed plan talks of virtually one thing, highway construction, with only a perfunctory nod in the direction of expanding mass transportation facilities.

We have enough miles of super-sized parking lots like the Long Island Expressway. What is needed now, and even more so in the future, is improved, efficient and inexpensive mass transportation.

This is by no means just a local viewpoint, but it is being expressed nationally by more - and in some cases unusual - transportation-oriented firms and organizations. The need for more mass transportation is being promoted by not only such groups as the Highway Action Coalition but also by several major oil companies which derive more than half of their total sales volume from gasoline sales to cars, trucks and buses.

For example, a recent issue of a local daily newspaper quoted a Mobil Oil Corp. statement that "more and better mass transit could stop traffic jams before they start. Just one rail line has triple the people-moving capacity of a three-lane superhighway." Similarly, other oil companies and highway-related industries are beginning to recognize that the nation is being strangled by the miles of concrete and asphalt transverseing it in all directions.

With groups that have a vested interest and profit motive in highway transportation having the foresight to advocate a more balanced transportation system, how can the State Department of Transportation justify the Model-T thinking that pervades its so-called master plan?

It brings to mind Robert Moses' response a number of years ago to the suggestion that the Long Island State parkways be widened to handle the increasing burden of commuter traffic they carried. Moses refused, commenting that the parkways should be retained as scenic routes for pleasure driving. As true as this may have been 25 years ago, I doubt today that many of the drivers inching their way toward work in the morning and back in the evening derive much pleasure or benefit from the adjacent landscaping.

Congressman NORMAN F. LENT

"The Other Body"

One of the lessons taught freshman Members of the House of Representatives like myself is that, in our references to the Senate, we allude to our fellow Legislators at the other end of the Capitol Building only as "the other body." Just where the expression began is open to question, but after our experience with one Senate Committee last week, I wouldn't doubt that it developed out of sheer frustration.

In an earlier column, you'll recall, I commented on the House's passage of the Revenue Sharing Bill, which I strongly supported. Under the formula we approved, New York State would have gotten back, aside from the share planned for its local governments, some $317 million next year.

Well, the "other body's" Finance Committee had the revenue sharing proposal under consideration last week, and, dominated by Southern Democrats, the Committee decided to strip our State of some $148 million of that total, in a move to alter the House-approved formula under which highly urbanized states would have received a greater portion of federal dollars than those predominantly rural. Their committee members wouldn't buy this eminently fair formula for the return of federal money to the states, somehow rationalizing that the problems of highly populated, urban states don't expand geometrically in accordance with the density of their populations, as is so obvious to those of us here in New York.

What's worse, New York's local governments, in relatively affluent areas like Nassau County and our three Towns, will also suffer under the contemplated revisions in the program — almost as if a majority of the Committee's Members knew our problems are directly related to our proximity to a major city, and didn't care. The net loss to New Yorkers could, in any event, amount to better than $180 million, with this money presumably reapportioned by a grinning group of Democrat Committee Chairmen to their colleagues in southern and rural state governments.

Should embarrassed Senators from urban states be forced to submit to acceptance of this watered-down version of the well-intentioned Revenue Sharing legislation, there's still hope that a more rightful share of the total package will be restored to New York State when differing House and Senate versions of the bill are discussed in the Conference Committee which will be appointed to arrive at a compromise.

After months of sincere efforts at cooperation between House Republicans and Democrats to arrive at a meaningful Revenue-Sharing bill, what else can we sometimes do other than to sigh and say, "... the other body ..."

Police Conference Endorses Marino

State Senator Ralph J. Marino (R-Syosset) has won the endorsement of the 50,000 member Metropolitan Police Conference for reelection to the State Senate in the Fifth S.D.

Upon making the presentation, William F. You have been a true friend, and we will do everything within our power to ensure that you remain in the New York State Senate."

The Conference is comprised of police departments within New York City, Nassau, Suffolk, Westchester and Rockland Counties.

Roncallo Blasts N.Y. Transportation Plan

Nassau County Comptroller Angelo D. Roncallo attacked the New York State Department of Transportation's twenty-year Master Plan as totally inadequate for the long-range transportation needs of New York State.

In a statement presented at the public hearing held by the Department of Transportation at Mineola High School, he called the Plan "patently inadequate" in its present form in that it fails to offer a comprehensive prospectus for the future transportation needs of New York State in general and Nassau and Suffolk Counties in particular.

"The Plan talks, with a monotonous tedium, of virtually one thing, highway construction, with only a perfunctory nod in the direction of expanding mass transportation facilities," Roncallo said.

He noted that mass transportation, which is so much neglected in the proposed plan, is more significant to the transportation needs of Nassau and Suffolk Counties than continued gargantuan spending on highway construction.

He called for a rational combination of mass transit with some highway improvement to solve the complexities of Long Island's transportation crises.

Roncallo also opposed the inclusion in the Plan of the proposed Oyster Bay - Rye Bridge, and detailed the many objections previously raised at an earlier hearing on this project.

Roncallo offered eight specific proposals for consideration in revising the Transportation Master Plan, ranging from support for Nassau County's purchase of bus lines to the construction of a railroad bridge from Connecticut to Suffolk County.

"We cannot violate the public trust," Roncallo said, "and it is in the public interest that this Master Plan must be rejected in its present form."

Open Letter To H.A.D.

Dear Mr. Maniac,
Thank you for affording us the opportunity of meeting with Richard Gomez, Greg Navoy and yourself. Your understanding and tactful discussion of the drug problem as it relates to the high school student provided greater insight for our young people. The effectiveness of your untiring and interesting presentation on Thursday, May 4th (meeting with the students from 8:30 A.M. to 2:30 P.M. continuously) has been reflected in the numerous favorable and spontaneous comments from the students. In maintaining their interest it enabled us to bridge the gap from textbook to reality.

Your presentation was extremely beneficial to my colleagues and myself and we were all impressed by the sincerity and honesty with which you fielded the students' questions. We all feel that your program is fulfilling a need of considerable urgency.

We thank you again for making it a meaningful experience for all.

Sincerely yours,

Deadline Set For College Proficiency Exams

College Proficiency Examinations in over 25 different subjects will be administered at 17 locations across the State on October 12 and 13, the State Education Department announced today. The application deadline date is September 8. Examinations are offered in history, foreign languages, nursing, sciences, literature, education, freshman English, accounting, applied music, health education sciences, and natural sciences.

College Proficiency Examinations make it possible for individuals to earn college credit and meet teacher certification requirements, according to Donald Nolan, director of the Division of Independent Study. Now, for the first time, CPE's may also be applied directly toward the new Regents External Degrees. CPE's can be used to meet all requirements of the Regents Associate in Arts External Degree, which is available now through the State Education Department. The examinations may also be used to meet the general education requirements of the Bachelor of Business and Associate in Applied Science in Nursing External Degrees, which are presently under development.

Anyone may take a CPE, regardless of how he obtained his college-level knowledge. Individuals prepare for the tests through college courses, independent reading, on-the-job experience, adult study or correspondence courses, and in many other ways, Nolan said. Over 21,000 College Proficiency Examinations have been administered since the Program's inception in 1963, and 30,000 college credits have been awarded on the basis of CPE results. Most colleges in New York State, and many out-of-State, grant course credit for acceptable CPE grades. There are no prerequisites for taking a proficiency exam.

CPE's are developed and graded by outstanding faculty members from New York colleges and universities, under the guidance of staff in the Department's Division of Independent Study. The tests usually correspond to material covered in one or more semesters of a regular college course.

For information on CPE's and how they may be used for college credit, teacher certification requirements, and to meet Regents External Degree requirements, and for application forms, write to the College Proficiency Examination Program, New York State Education Department, 99 Washington Avenue, Albany, New York 12210.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I am sure that a large number of Hicksville residents have read the recent article in Herald's August 17th edition concerning the Hicksville School District (page 1).

I refer specifically to the paragraph which deals with the approval by the school board allowing the Hicksville Volunteer Fire Department to "use part of the Burns Avenue field for its Labor Day Tournament".

The paragraph continues to say that "the cost to the district will be $100 for clean-up. Although the fire department has agreed to leave the grounds in the same condition as they receive them, it has been found in the past that additional cleaning is necessary."

Perhaps the school board members and or the author have failed to see the disgusting condition of the districts school grounds which is present on a year round basis! How can this be?

The board surprisingly can appropriate an insignificant sum which is obviously a waste of the taxpayers money however small the amount may be.

Together with this, there is a obvious slam by the board and for author against the Hicksville Fire Department by suggesting that the department can not appropriately (for some strange reason) clean up after its activities. Is it also the feeling of the board members and or author that the department can not appropriately protect and serve the citizens of Hicksville? I should hope not! If anything, I can seriously say that I am sure that the Fire Department will leave the school grounds much better off than when they received it.

On that basis I sincerely believe that the school board owes our volunteers a public apology for its unwarranted remark in its article.

Sincerely,
J.G.
HICKSVILLE

Dear Mrs. Noeth,

It does your heart good in today's world of turbulence and strife to find people who are willing to spend the time or help teen-agers who want to have a good time. I feel it might encourage other people who have been holding back and to encourage teen-agers who might have an interest in good clean fun to read this letter.

On Sunday, August 6th, the Teen Age Republicans of Hicksville had a picnic at Eisenhower Park and were blessed with help from several people who volunteered rides, ice boxes, ice and the necessary help to start them off at 8:30 in the morning. The TARS and their guests, some 25 in all, had an enjoyable day because of the efforts of Mr. John Hill, Mr. John Gradzinski, Mr. and Mrs.

William Gaborow, Mr. Charles DiStefano, Mr. Fred Vevante, Mr. George Bub and Jim Carpinone all of Hicksville.

A special thanks should go to Mr. Joe Grishin of 31 Swing Lane, Levittown who assisted me all day on his day off. I am sure President Ronnie Willets and all the TARS will remember the help they received and certainly should be credited themselves for undertaking such an endeavor and attempting to promote good fun and good citizenship. Many thanks should go to the President of the Ernest F. Francke Republican Club, William E. Buchman, who also attended and Mr. Gerard Trotta, Republican Leader, for allowing this group to have a club of their own.

Sincerely,
Robert E. Jackson

Boy Scouts Dedicate Woodlands

More than 75,000 acres of woodlands owned by Boy Scouts across the nation were dedicated today to the permanent practice of good forestry as Scouts in 22 states joined local ceremonies in observance of National Boy Scout Tree Farm Day.

The individual celebrations marked the completion of a four-month Scout drive to meet Tree Farm standards and qualify their forest property for enrollment in the American Tree Farm System. A total of 90 properties were registered into the national program.

The American Tree Farm System is dedicated to scientific forest management which promotes the conservation and wise use of our nation's renewable forest resources. The program, now made up of more than 31 thousand private landowners with 74 million acres of woodlands, is sponsored by the American Forest Institute, Washington, D. C.

The Scouting project, begun last May, included forest-improvement work which lead to merit badge experience for individual Scouts, as well as advancement of the aims of Scouting's Save Our American Resources (SOAR) national conservation program.

At Boy Scout National Headquarters in North Brunswick, N.J., Irving Feist, past-president of the Boy Scouts of America marked the event with the dedication of a 60 acre tract of forest along side the Headquarters building.

"The Scout-owned property we are recognizing today as an Official Tree Farm is not only growing repeated crops of wood for our nation's future needs, it is also providing improved wildlife habitat, protecting our Watersheds, improving the quality of the environment, and providing recreational and educational opportunities for Boy Scouts everywhere", Feist said.

To be eligible for the American Tree Farm System, forest land must be privately owned; managed for the growth and harvest of repeated crops of wood; and adequately protected from fire, insect, disease and destructive grazing damage. Management must also include provisions for prompt reforestation following all tree harvesting.

To practice forest management, Tree Farmers should plant seedlings on understocked land; cut undesirable tree species and diseased trees; thin heavily-stocked timber stands to open the stands to more sunlight; convert marginally-productive forest stands to better quality trees; prescribe-burn under carefully controlled conditions to reduce the hazard of destructive wildlife; and harvest mature timber ready for market.

Huntington Avocational Orchestra Receives Grant

The Avocational Orchestra, one of the many community services of The Huntington Symphony Orchestra Society, has received a grant of $1,000 from The Music Performance Trust Fund (Kenneth E. Raine, Trustee), a public service organization created and financed by The Recording Industries under agreements with The American Federation of Musicians. The Avocational Orchestra was established by The Huntington Symphony Orchestra Society under the direction of Paul Rudoff, who is Assistant Conductor of The Huntington Symphony, to provide playing opportunities for all musicians who might be available during the daytime hours. Many older adults, either amateur or former professional musicians, have found it difficult to find playing opportunities during hours when other members of the community may be involved in work or educational activities.

The basic purpose of The Avocational Orchestra is to provide an organized outlet for older adults and others who have experienced the joy of making music individually and in groups. Although public performances of The Avocational Orchestra are not contemplated, interest already has been expressed by several older adult residences, special schools, and recreation centers in having The Avocational Orchestra perform. If, after the members of the orchestra have had an opportunity to play together and achieve an acceptable level of performance, and some means of transportation can be found, the orchestra may respond to these community service requests.

There is no charge to anyone caring to join The Avocational Orchestra; the activity being funded in part by The Huntington Symphony Orchestra Society and in part by individuals and businesses as well as funds such as The Music Performance Trust Fund. Anyone wishing information about The Huntington Symphony Orchestra Society or The Avocational Orchestra may call 692-4555.

They will be escorted into the buffet car that will be part of the baseball "special" and when the tour ends at Jamaica they will be chauffeured in a Datsun, possibly the "bullpen special", directly to Yankee Stadium. After time on the field when they will meet players of both teams and be photographed with them, they will receive an autographed baseball from the team of their choice, and box seats in a special VIP area for the game. When it is over, the Datsun driver will be there to take them directly to their homes right to the front door.

It should be a day-to-remember, and the big fun will be for all fans, not just the winners. Just think about it. How long has it been since you dropped down to the station as one of Long Island's "Dashing Dads" and met a real live ball player. Probably not since last year when the train also stopped at Hicksville.

Just a note for cross country experts who think they can cross up the experts on the train. The winning questions for the jackpot awards will be changed at every stop. So if you heard the answer but didn't win in Huntington, don't race to the kiosk and try to get your hand up first because the question here will be different. The same goes for the final two stops, at Mineola and Jamaica.

as the time comes for the grand award. The fan answering the jackpot question correctly will be invited aboard with a companion for an escorted trip the rest of the way.

Sponsors of the party are the L.I.R.R., Getty Oil Company as broadcast sponsor of both Yankees and Mets games, and Datsun, a Yankee sponsor. On board the train will be the pin-striped Datsun bullpen car which reliever Lyle rides all too frequently to suit American League batters.

There will be one grand prize winner at each station and because it may not be possible for the winner to make instant arrangements for the trip, he will be given an option of a later date at either Yankee Stadium or Shea Stadium for similar red carpet treatment.

But this is what is in store for winners who decide to go "right

MC KEON LUMBER, HICKSVILLE, has donated the masonite for the under flooring at the former Heitz Place Court House, future home of The Gregory Museum. Long Island Locksmith, Old Country Rd., Hicksville, and Form Rite, Holbrook, have donated the hardware for the exterior doors; and the BOCES Carpenter Shop rebuilt the main front door, which had been badly damaged by vandals.

The Drylun - Hicksville Corp. has donated asphalt shingles and other supplies to reduce the roof of the Museum's new home. The Hicksville Carpenters Union will furnish the labor to reshingle the roof and install four louvers. Larsen Roofing Co., Hicksville, is redoing the flat roofs and is putting a new roof on the jail. Repair of the rotted beams is being done by Carpenters local union 1772, Hicksville.

The Gregory Museum, Long Island's Earth Science Center, plans to occupy the display room, phase 1, of its plans to renovate the Court House sometime this fall. Prior to opening a ribbon cutting ceremony will take place. The cabinets for the main display room will be delivered by Form Rite early in September. Walter Gebhardt and Joseph Boron, members of Carpenters local union 1772, have installed the drop ceiling in the main room, and it looks fantastic. Richard Sullivan hooked up the ceiling lights and energized the electrical panels, besides having kept the lawn mowed this summer. Richard along with Robert Hughes, Hicksville, have painted the main room. Irwin Botto of Botto Mechanical, Hicksville, donated money for the cement platform for the air conditioning units, of which he is in charge of hooking up along with the electrical heat. So, as you can see, The Gregory Museum is very fortunate in having so many wonderful people, organizations and businesses helping "us" so that "we" may offer more to "you."

"Bond Act"

The New York State Environmental Health Association has announced its endorsement of the $1.12 billion Environmental Quality Bond Act which will be on the ballot on November 7. The announcement was made by Berwyn F. Mattison, M.D., of Glens Falls.

"The New York State Environmental Health Association," Dr. Mattison said, "believes that this Bond Act offers us an opportunity to make a concerted, well-financed attack on the problem of the environment during the next five years. It is clear that if these funds are not approved by the voters, we will be hard-pressed to maintain forward progress in this fight and, indeed, we may lose ground."

Dr. Mattison said that the Environmental Health Association, formed in 1970 to work on all phases of environmental problems, is especially concerned with the need for funds to reduce air and water pollution and attack the solid waste situation. "But," he added, "our interest in the total environment makes us especially happy to endorse this wide-ranging and much-needed Environmental Quality Bond Act and we hope it will receive the overwhelming support of the voters on November 7."
