Holiday Concert December 17

The Hicksville Public Library extends Holiday greetings to the entire community by presenting a Holiday Concert on Sunday, December 17 at 3 p.m. The program of chamber music will be presented by the students of the Half Hollow Hills High School Music Department, with guests.

Included in the chamber music program will be traditional Madrigal Music, and a Jazz Quartet performing their original compositions.

This group, under the direction of Mr. Louis Alcuri, appeared in last year's Annual Memorial Concert. We are pleased that so fine a group will entertain the public for the annual Holiday program.

"Hicksville Firemen Run Open House Exhibit" 5,000 Persons turned out for the Hicksville Fire Dept. Open House Sun., Dec. 10. Santa was on the scene to visit the small fry. Firemen put on demonstrations and displays on fire fighting, Fire Prevention and First Aid. A steady rain kept many away. But the kids who did show up had a ball. It is hoped that the visitors picked up some hints on Fire Safety. (More pictures on page one).

Christmas With The Singing Boys

The internationally renowned Singing Boys of Long Island will present their gala Christmas concert "Christmas with the Singing Boys" Saturday evening December 23rd, at 8:00 P.M. in the "Dome" at C.W. Post College in Brookville.

The program will feature traditional European carols from the renaissance to the modern period; songs of Spain, Germany, Austria, England and America. Highlights of the concert will be a special rendering of "Silent Night".

The Singing Boys of Long Island have made their home at the Interfaith Chapel of C.W. Post College for many years. They have sung for special Masses and weddings and have also given many concerts in the chapel. Two summers ago they travelled through Italy with their director and the Catholic chaplain of Post College. They sang Masses in the major cathedrals of the country and sang for a Papal audience of 40,000 in St. Peter's after which Paul VI personally thanked them for their singing and awarded them with a bronze medal of appreciation. This summer as they travelled through Germany and Austria they were able to sing a Mass with Joseph Cardinal Mindezentny in his private chapel in Vienna.

The Singing Boys of Long Island will give their Christmas concert under the sponsorship of the Catholic community of Post College. The concert will be held in the 3,000 seat college auditorium. The price of the tickets has been kept to one dollar ($1.00) so as to allow families to attend the concert without any substantial financial outlay. Tickets may be ordered in advance by writing to the Singing Boys of Long Island, Box 205, Hicksville, New York 11801 or telephoning WE 8-3386 or 681-0492.

The Boy's Choir and the Catholic Community of Post College in an effort to enhance the Christmas of those in need have made hundreds of complimentary tickets available to children at local orphanages and families being served by various social service agencies on Long Island.

New "Satellite Service" Consumer Program

A program to bring consumer assistance closer to the consumer is being launched by the Nassau Office of Consumer Affairs, County Executive Ralph G. Caso announced today.

Caso said the new "satellite service" program will go into operation at the county's cooperative service centers in Elmont, Freeport, Roosevelt and Glen Cove. Consumer representatives will cover the centers on a weekly rotating basis so that each center will have a representative on hand every other week.

"It is our experience that personal contact is more reassuring than mail or telephone contact with the Consumer Affairs Office in Mineola," Caso said. "The consumer representatives will not only offer advice to individuals with consumer problems, but will take consumer complaints for investigation."

Consumer Affairs Commissioner James E. Picken said that in many cases the representatives will make their own investigations on the spot and follow up with consumers until the complaints are resolved.

We also feel their records and reports on field activities will provide the Consumer Affairs Office with valuable feedback on any special problems in the area," Picken noted.

He added that the "satellite service" program has been tested in the community centers since October and the results indicated the need for instituting the program on a permanent basis. He said the majority of consumer complaints involved credit transactions, repossessions, garnishments, repair work, used car purchases and food buying.

The consumer representatives will be at the Freeport and Elmont Cooperative Service Centers next week. They will work from 9 AM to 4:45 PM Mondays through Thursdays at the centers.

Jelly Apple Sale

The Home Economics Department of the Hicksville Junior High recently held its annual "Jelly Apple Sale" for faculty and students. The hand-dipped apples were prepared by all of the Home Economics students and sold during school lunch periods.

The proceeds from the sale were donated to the Wayside School for Girls, Valley Stream.

MICKEY MOUSE works diligently while Little Bo Peep looks at Raggedy Andy. As a culmination activity of their study in child care and development the Junior High School's eighth grade Home Economics classes held a "Children's Playschool." Children from two to six years of age were invited to the Homemaking classrooms where the students had planned various activities for them. Their day included playtime, storytime, creative activity and, of course, snacktime. The children thoroughly enjoyed their "Playschool" experience as did the students who learned from observing the children in action. The program was carefully supervised under the direction of the Home Economics teachers, Mrs. Amato, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Giassante.

Supervisors Questioned On Coliseum Costs

by Janet Gossnell

A surprise sum of nearly $4 million which had to be approved for capital expenditures and issuance of bonds and notes by the Board of Supervisors this week to meet "miscalculations" in estimating costs of the Nassau County Coliseum gave rise to much criticism and questioning both during the meeting on Monday and immediately after it at a press conference held by Francis T. Purcell, Presiding Supervisor of the Town of Hempstead.

Carl Schmidt, a regular at the Board meetings and somewhat of a good-natured gadfly, asked, "What is this - a whole new Coliseum?"

Supervisor Purcell said that much of the added expense was accounted for by soaring costs for building supplies, labor, and other aspects of the construction not planned on at the outset.

An expenditure of $450,000 for ticket office, parking facilities, press room, walkways and toll booths for parking will achieve a more effective system, Mr. Purcell said. Much of the expenditure is for the central utilities plant, and to cover underestimates in plumbing, electrical work, and other engineering aspects of the plant.

Supervisor Purcell said at the time that he expected a year-end financial report would be made public on the Coliseum, which had its first event in February, 1972. Later in the afternoon, according to newspaper reports, County Executive Ralph G. Caso said an audit would be disclosed in January.

Jones Institute To Expand

by Janet Gossnell

There was no opposition, and on the contrary, there were kind words said regarding the application of the Jones Institute for the Support of the Poor, Hickville, to extend and refurbish. The petition was presented by Farmingdale lawyer Charles J. Cronin at the Oyster Bay Town Hall on Tuesday (December 12th).

Present to hear the presentation were Jones Fund trustees Robert C. Michaelis, chairman, of Massapequa; Michael J. Vittorio, Treasurer, of N. Massapequa; William Cleveland and Ray Malone; and superintendent John Bertone.

Most people know the Jones Fund as a stately Georgian mansion set on 13.22 acres of land on the corner of West John St. Charlotte St. It is surrounded by industrially zoned property, and is so zoned itself; thus the need for a special permit. The Jones Fund, originating from the will of Samuel and Walter Jones dating from 1836, serves as a residence for homeless and indigent adults referred by the Nassau County Department of Social Services. It is now home for about 70 residents, 10 of whom are women, who live dormitory style.

The Jones Fund expects to finance from $700,000. to $1,000,000. of the project, total cost of which is estimated at $1,300,000. Plans include a three story addition for about 146 residents to the east of the present building, a six-car garage, and removal of the present buildings facade, window frames, doors, etc.

The proposed addition to the home will consist of semi-private and private rooms, recreation and sitting rooms, the necessary plumbing, kitchen and dining facilities, and a place to accommodate a regular visit by barber and beautician for care of residents' hair. It will also include a residential apartment for the superintendent or his aide. Parking, deemed adequate by the Building Dept. provides for 63 cars.

The way the Jones will be set up, the Jones Fund is a quasi-governmental agency. Up until now, its trustees have been elected. Legislation was recently approved to have the trustees appointed by the Town Supervisors.

Members of the Town Board praised the Jones Institute for its good work.

At the close of the hearing, the Town Board reserved decision. Other Business

In other business, the Board set a hearing date of January 5th to consider a proposed local law establishing a code of ethics for officers, agents & employees of the Town of Oyster Bay and the disclosure of interests. It also appointed Steven R. Saunders, assistant to the Supervisor, to the post of Deputy Town Supervisor; Donald MacLean, now in office of public information to replace Mr. Saunders; and Frank De Stefano, Nassau County Republican Committee, to replace Mr. MacLean. Councilman Lewis Yevoll, the only Democrat on the Board, voted nay to all three personnel resolutions.

Fire Report

17 alarms were received by the Hicksville Fire Dept. during the period Dec. 5 through Dec. 12. 4 malicious false alarms were received 2 of them from the box at Fulton and Adams. That troublesome box has been put out of service. 4 rescue calls and 9 misc. alarms were also received.

A minor explosion blew out the windows at the E & J Printing Co. 9 W. Nicholia St. The alarm was received Dec. 6 at 12:37 pm. Workers were cleaning a printing press with solvent when it somehow ignited. No injuries were reported.

Smoke pouring off the roof of the Sears-Roebuck building prompted a general alarm Sunday Dec. 10 at 11:50 PM. The fire turned out to be the oil burner.

Firemen responded to a fire inside the Holy Trinity School on Newbridge Rd. That fire proved to be a trash fire.

Dear Friends

PLANTING FIELDS READIES POINSETTIA SHOW: at the main greenhouse at Planting Fields Arboretum in Oyster Bay beginning Dec 16, a "really great" poinsettia show is planned which you won't want to miss. The Arboretum is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., but it will be closed on Christmas Day. On weekends there is a general admission charge of $1.50 per person. Children under 12 are admitted free.

PLAINVIEW RESIDENTS will be glad to hear that the Islip section of the North Industries oil pipeline has been stopped, while company and town officials discuss ways to protect the Connetquot River from pollution. Islip Town Supervisor Peter Cobalan intimated that the Town might revoke permits that allow Northville to dig under town roads if the problem was not solved to their satisfaction. The Town is concerned about what effect this pipeline will have on its water supply. And, along with other equally serious problems, the Town of Oyster Bay, should be considering this aspect of Northville's proposed plans. We are sure that this is exactly what our Town officials are doing.

PIERRE CHARBONNET writes to let us know that Colorado is a very beautiful State and he and his family are enjoying their new home, in Colorado Springs. He has found the Nob Hill Lions Club to be a great bunch of men and sends best wishes to all his friends and neighbors in Hicksville.

FRED STELLABOTTE, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stellabotte of Hicksville is to be congratulated upon earning his commercial pilot's license last month at the age of 18. Fred, who is in his freshman year at Dowling College majoring in aeronautical administration, helped to pay the expense of earning this license by working in a pizza restaurant. Congratulations, Fred, and best wishes for a great future.

ANOTHER YOUNG MAN who is doing well in his profession is Bob Berkowitz of Plainview, who takes pictures for us whenever he is available outside of the hours of his regular daytime job. The quality of his pictures is very good and we predict a great future for Bob in the photographic field. By the way, we inadvertently omitted his picture credit line on Nov. 16 under the "Peter and the Wolf" pictures and the Newsday Marching Band Festival pictures, and on Dec. 7 under the Walt Frazier pictures. From Our Postmaster

RALPH CASCARDO

Hicksville Postmaster Ralph G. Cascardo today urged immediate mailing of all domestic Christmas cards and parcels.

"Although most of the suggested mailing dates for domestic holiday mail have passed," he said, "every effort will be made to deliver by Christmas Eve all cards, gifts and other holiday mail deposited within the next few days."

"In view of these reports and the excellent cooperation received from early mailers so far this year, we are confident that holiday mail deposited immediately will still be delivered in time for Christmas," Mr. Cascardo said.

Earlier this year, the Postal Service urged the public to mail as early as possible and announced a series of recommended mailing dates to insure delivery in time for Christmas.

The last of the suggested mailing dates is Thursday, December 21, for mailing domestic airmail greeting cards within the 48 "mainland" States. The latest suggested date for airmail to Alaska and Hawaii is December 20.

"In extending our commitment to make every possible effort to deliver all holiday mail on time—even though most suggested deadlines are now past—we hope the general public will respond accordingly," Mr. Cascardo said.

Gentlemen: I wish to express a complete and utter disappointment in both the Hicksville Board of Education and the Superintendent of Schools. Your public behavior has been in complete violation of your own rules and regulations printed on the back of each agenda.

Your recent action regarding the FLES program, the hiring of a friend, your non-action regarding assistant principals, your not allowing the public, Mrs. Galante, and Dr. Cadden to speak are all most undemocratic. The treatment of a fellow board member, the rail-roading of motions, your capricious spending of money for unnecessary items such as shrubs, trees, benches, curriculum materials center, flags, etc., was accurately described by me a long time ago in regard to another board. Look it up in the dictionary.

We no longer have education in this district—we have cosmetic surgery. It is one thing when a district has plenty of money left over and people are not concerned about their taxes to beautify the schools; it is quite

Supervisor JOHN W. BURKE REPORTS

As a prelude to public hearings in January, the Metropolitan Transportation Authority recently released its study on the environmental impact of the proposed Oyster Bay-to-Rye bridge. Not surprisingly, the report claims that the bridge would have a "minimal" impact even though it admits to a number of unavoidable factors that would be detrimental to the environment.

Last week, I toured some of the areas through which the bridge and its approaches will cut. The main approach route swings past the southern tip of the Hill Pond in Oyster Bay Hamlet. (What effect will this ribbon of concrete have on the brooks and springs that feed this body of water? Will it be gradually poisoned by the oily runoff draining from the road after each rainstorm?)

Driving up Shore Drive toward the FLES program, the proposed route paralleled me on the left. (Those marshlands and that string of ponds south of Cleft Road will have to be filled in.)

routes, one just to the right of the Bayville drawbridge, the second cutting across the widest part of Mill Neck Creek and through the new housing development at Oak Neck Point, and the third cuts a swath through the wooded hills of Mill Neck and down through residential Bayville. (The concrete bridge footings at any of these locations will obliterate wetlands and shellfish beds as well as be a blight on one of our popular summer recreation areas.)

I then headed south to pick up Route 135 along which the traffic to and from upstate will be funneled. The southern terminus of Rt. 135 will be the site of the beginning of the other half of this project, the Atlantic Expressway, which will take the traffic back where it belongs, New York City. (This expressway will level sections of every south shore village in its path.)

I strongly recommend that you take a similar drive this weekend and visualize for yourself what these masses of concrete and steel will do to our Town.

another thing to chip away at the education and welfare of our children and give us shrubbery in return. I, personally know of about $2000.00 of this kind of spending (without labor costs) and who knows how much more of this kind of spending (without labor costs) and who knows how much more of this kind of unnecessary spending is going on behind our backs?

Lately the "rumor of the week" goes something like this: "The worst is yet to come".... Gentlemen, I ask you, how much worse can it get?

Yours very truly,
Barbara Rosman

EAST STREET PTA MASCOT: Congratulations to Mrs. Feuerstein's P.M. Kindergarten class at East Street School. They have won the East St. PTA membership mascot—a beautiful stuffed tiger—for having the highest percentage of PTA

NSH Foster Grandparents Give Lots of Loving To Young Patients

A program at North Shore Hospital, funded by the Economic Opportunity Commission, provides part time employment for the elderly and an extra bonus of tender loving care for sick children.

For the youngster who cannot eat by himself because he is in traction - the little girl who loves to have her long hair brushed and tied back with a ribbon, the baby who wants to be cuddled because he misses his mother - the foster grandparent adds that extra touch of caring. And for a small boy who is lonely because the day is long, a man who wants to help build a house is important, too. The grandparents, all over 60, have also found a new meaning in their days.

Clarence Phillips of Port Washington, who is 80, was raised by foster parents after his own parents died when he was very young. Mr. Phillips and his wife, who is 77, have raised seven foster children and are now bringing up a foster grandchild in their home. Mr. Phillips spends twenty hours a week as a foster grandfather on North Shore Hospital's Pediatrics Floor, assisting and entertaining the sick children, and he enjoys every minute of it. He has an easygoing manner, and the children love him. He recently re-started the mechanical toys which were no longer working by "digging up a key at home."

"You should have seen their faces light up when those things started to go again," he says, his eyes warming. "Kids are great!" Marjorie Bradley of Port Washington is a gentle, quiet woman who had been unable to work for seven years because of arthritis. She finds no difficulty, however, in feeding the babies, helping toddlers go to the bathroom, or calming a restless child. Her soft voice and warm friendliness gives her small ministrations a special meaning. "I love to be with the children," she says. "The money I earn helps me - but most of all, somebody needs me."

Ethel Nadler of Floral Park comes at 7:45 AM to help with the breakfasts. She is bustling, enthusiastic, and very active. She mothers everyone, but singles out a few who require special attention. "They need us, and we need them," she says. "We try to add the little touches that make them more comfortable." She becomes suddenly restless. "Please excuse me now," she says. "My one little friend has been on a special diet for so long. I want to see his face when he gets his first regular meal."

The program at North Shore Hospital was initiated by the Department of Social Service, and the Geriatrics team. There are positions open for more foster grandparents at North Shore Hospital. If you are interested, and are over the age of 60 call 562-2471.

Hicksville Girl Scouts Meet

Cadette Scouts of Troop No. 551 meeting at St. Ignatius gave a Christmas party for senior parishioners on Saturday Dec. 9.

As invited guests arrived at 1 p.m. in the new school cafeteria the aroma of turkey, macaroni and cheese casserole, etc. greeted everyone. All guests were welcomed and presented with a Christmas corsage. Guest were then given a cup of Cold Duck Punch and shown to the beautifully decorated tables.

After lunch each of the guests were presented with a beautifully decorated plaque for their homes.

Cadette Scouts of Troop No. 2 visited the Jones Institute. Each girl baked cookies and wrapped them for the residents. The scouts put on skits, played the piano and sang holiday songs.

Congratulations to Mrs. James Owens who recently was honored by the Hicksville Service team. Mrs. Owens was presented with the "Thanks Badge" the highest honor given to a adult in Girl Scouting.

Residents Protest Tennis Bldg

BY JANET GOSNELL

Letters are being sent Town Hall, according to Mrs. Edward Owen, of 26 Lawnview Avenue, Hicksville, in opposition to the application of Four Brothers Properties to construct a 13-court tennis building and other buildings on a 92,000 square foot parcel on Broadway.

"Doesn't a petition containing 20 names constitute opposition?" asked Mrs. Owen, protesting a misleading headline in the paper last week, for which we apologize. "One thing I can say for headline anyway," she said, "is that it got a lot of people to write letters."

No one spoke in opposition at the hearing on December 5th, although about a half dozen

H.H.S. North Stars Trounce Holy Trinity

The North Stars toppled Holy Trinity from the ranks of the undefeated in a Nassau County Recreational Ice Hockey League game, Saturday evening Dec. 9th. The final score was 4-1. A sparkling performance by goalie A. Gluckett and superb defense work by P. Collins, D. Hauck and

R. Adams, contributed to the victory. Scoring for the North Stars were J. Cassagne, D. Hauck and K. Sweet with 2. Next game is Saturday evening at 12:00 against Clarke High. The number of Hicksville fans turning out for the game was very encouraging.

St. Ignatius Loyola Champs

Last week, St. Ignatius Loyola defeated a strong football team from Holy Family in Hicksville by the score 8-0. The St. Ignatius Bumblebees finished a long hard season with an unbeaten record of 9-0-1. This last win decided the champs of the "B" Division of the Catholic Grammar School Football League.

The Bumblebees scored on the first series of downs with Gerard Siry, the Bumblebee Quarterback, throwing an 11 yd. strike to Paul Rupp with 4th down and goal to go. St. Ignatius failed to convert the extra point. On the next series of downs a vicious tackle by Jim Hurley caused the HF Quarterback to fumble. The fumble was picked up by Paul Rupp, who ran 42 yds for an apparent score, but this was nullified by a clipping penalty. St. Ignatius then from mid-field moved the ball to the HF 4 yd line mainly on the running of Joe Johnston. With second and goal at the one, HF forced a St. Ignatius fumble. Taking over at the 1 yd line, HF tried to move the ball, but could only get out to the 3 yd line. The St. Ignatius defensive line completely stopped HF's offensive efforts. Then with a 4 down, a bad snap from center caused a HF safety making the score 8-0. This ended the scoring of a well played ballgame with St. Ignatius showing its superiority and the right to be the champs of the Catholic Grammar School "B" Division. The St. Ignatius backfield of Gerard Siry, Paul Rupp, John Rupp and Joe Johnston was a fine offensive unit, but this unit could not have rolled up 156 pts. without the fine blocking of John McInerney, Jim Hurley, Richie Muller, Steve Welti, Joe Haggerty, Jim Shubert, John Gennaro and Jim Santos. The rest of the championship team was made up of running backs, Mike Tuturo, Nick Talerico, Bob Willis and W.B. Tom Smith. The line men were Brian Smith, Tom Lopez, Joe Conway, and Bill Meslin. All in all, this was a well earned championship for a fine group of boys.

ACCIDENT REPORTS

Dec. 8 - 11:45 a.m. - Automobile accident on Route 106 at Columbia Dr., Jericho, involving cars driven by Carole A. DaCosta, of Bohemia, N.Y. and Thomas Lombardi of Bayside, N.Y. Both cars were going south on Route 106 at the time of collision. Madeline DaCosta of 190 10th St., Hicksville, suffered back injuries and was taken to Syosset Hospital.

Dec. 4 - 6:10 p.m. - Automobile accident on Bethpage Rd., 150 feet north of Woodbury Rd., Hicksville, involving cars driven by Dennis W. Greene, 9 Berkley Lane, Syosset; Anthony Colasuono, 24 Gables Rd., Hicksville; and Karen E. Schmidt, 291 Woodbury Rd., Hicksville. The Colasuono car was going north on Bethpage Rd., when it collided with the Schmidt car which was exiting from a service station. The Schmidt car then collided with the Greene car which was stopped to allow the Schmidt car to exit from the service station. Darlene Greene, of Syosset, suffered bruises to the left knee and thigh and was taken to Syosset Hospital.

Dec. 9 - 12:30 p.m. - Automobile-pedestrian accident on Old Country Rd. at the Seaford-Oyster Bay, Expressway, Plainview, involving a car driven by Wayne E. Kass, 31 Bucknell Dr., Plainview, and a pedestrian, Michael Henkel, of Seaford. At the time of collision, the Kass car was going west on Old Country Rd., and the pedestrian was crossing Old Country Rd. from the south side to the north side. Michael Henkel was taken to Central General Hospital suffering from abrasions of the right hand and both legs.

PLAINVIEW-OLD BETHPAGE HIGH SCHOOL Sport News

by Joe Dowd

The Plainview High School Basketball Team will make its debut on December 15th against Malverne. As in previous years, the team must overcome an extreme lack of height. Plainview's big men are often the size of some teams' small starters, and the Gull's small men have to have as much guts as talent to face relative monsters that appear every December, and don't go away until late February. By no means, however, should anyone count out Plainview in 1973.

The return of Senior Vinny Aversano and Junior Steve Tipa will breed fear into the hearts of any opponent, no matter how big. They must carry the dual burden of scoring most of Plainview's points and additionally must grab many of the rebounds. There is an air of excitement about them. Aversano came up with 67 steals last year, many coming in vital situations. Vinny's biggest steal came off crosstown rival Plainview Kennedy. With ten seconds left in the game, with the score tied 61 all, he stole the ball from Kennedy's Brad Greenberg, drove ahead of the retreating field, and laid the winning basket in the hoop. With five seconds to play in overtime in the game against Herricks, the Gulls were down 72-71. Steve Tipa grabbed the inbound pass, raced to mid-court, looked back at the clock, jumped in the air and let fly from 45 feet. The ball floated silently above the frenzied onlookers below. It swished directly through the hoop to the ecstasy of the partisan Plainview crowd.

Plainview must not rest on the laurels of Tipa and Aversano. Plainview must develop the talents of its big men. Barry Root, Jim Rice and Steve Coulaz, all Seniors and all under 6'-6", must show effectiveness under the boards of the Gulls are to be contenders. In Plainview's pre-season scrimmages, forward Dave Marshall has broken out of obscurity to become a fierce competitor. He has always been underrated despite showing great poise and hustle. Dave is a friendly, soft spoken young man who would be an asset to any team.

Basketball is more than shooting and rebounding. The man at the helm can turn a bunch of scrubs into a polished team. Without head coach James Amen, Plainview's 1973 chances would be greatly diminished. Amen is one of the finest and most dynamic coaches around. He has been the guiding light for many young, often inexperienced ballplayers.

Plainview's first home game is December 19th against St. Pius X at 4:00 P.M.

Basketball Game December 23rd

The Plainview Varsity Basketball team is sponsoring a basketball game between the famed Harlem Wizards and the Plainview Faculty on December 23 at 7:30 pm in the Plainview High School Gymnasium.

Advanced sale tickets can be purchased for $1.50 with a G.O. card and $2.00 for Adults. Tickets may also be obtained at the door. For further information please call Jim Amen at 938-5400.

Plainview-Old Bethpage High School News

Seventeen seniors were accepted into National Honor Society during an induction assembly held on Thursday, December 7, 1972: Beth Ansel, Andrea Bezwersky, Caren Brancati, Bonnie Dressler, Jill Garfinkel, Jeffrey Gorelick, Barry Kaplan, Mitchell Klebanoff, Vicki Mangiaracina, Robbin Nemeroff, Judi Nichter, Cindy Ramotnik, Barry Root, Michelle Seltzer, Alan Sherman, Sandra Stern, Robert Wolf. Acceptance is based on scholarship, service, leadership and character. The creed was manifested in speeches given by Amy Gershenfeld, president, on Scholarship; Mike Cohn on Service; Bruce Morgenstern, vice-president, on Leadership; and Vincent Ortiz on Character. The National Honor Society oath was administered by Mr. Louis F. Ferrara, Acting Superintendent of Schools. Music for the ceremony was provided by the Plainview Jazz Laboratory, sponsored by Mr. Howard Carstens, under the direction of Mr. Albert Soskin.

holiday season were prepared and served by members of the Future Homemakers of America under the leadership of Mrs. Henrietta Ferguson, home economics teacher.

At the December 5th meeting of the Plainview - Old Bethpage High School Mathletes Club, Professor Seymour Smith and Dr. Neo Cleopa, of C. W. Post College, acquainted the club members and other interested students with new college programs and career opportunities in the expanding fields of computer mathematics and "information management."

Accompanying Drs. Smith and Cleopa was Ms. Judy Ronco who enthusiastically described her work with computers as an employee of an electronics research firm.

The students agreed that the talks cleared up much of their own vagueness about how to enter the computer field and the vocational opportunities it held. The Mathletes Club is now considering trips to C. W. Post College and to P. R. D. Electronics of Syosset to see first-hand both the training programs and industrial uses of computers.

Parents of the inductees were invited to both the assembly and a reception held in the library. Refreshments in keeping with the

WE'LL MISS YOU, FOLKS: His friends in the U.S. Postal Service gave a Retirement Dinner for Vince Hannigan of Hicksville. Vince, Customer Service Representative at the Hicksville Post Office, has served 25 years of creditable service with the USPO. The Hannigans have live in Hicksville for the past 20 years and Mr. H. has served in the Hicksville Post Office for the past 18 years. He started his career as a Postal Transportation Clerk, was promoted to General Clerk, then Foreman of Mails and finally to Customer Service Representative.

ABOUT 100 Postal employees honored Vince and his "BW" at a gala dinner which was held at the Hicksville Knights of Columbus Hall, on December 1. Vince was presented with a wrist watch, a radio-cassette recorder and a photo album of the affair. Special thanks to Arty Samuelson, Art Murphy, Tom Mascaro and Ed White, who served on the committee and made this Retirement Dinner a great success.

Louis J. Milone, Director of Probation, recently released the 1971 Annual Report of the Nassau County Probation Department. The activities and workload of the Department during 1971 documented continuing high crime rates and drug abuse, an overburdened criminal justice system, and the necessity for community-based programs for rehabilitation.

In the Adult Division, where criminal offenders over the age of sixteen are investigated and supervised, the number of felony investigation assignments received from County Court increased by 73.3 per cent. District Court investigations (misdemeanors) increased by 86.9 per cent. The median age of all offenders processed by the Adult Division rose from 19.2 years in 1970 to 21.5 years in 1971.

A total of 3,905 adult offenders (age 16 and over) were supervised on probation during 1971, an increase of 27 per cent over 1970. Most of this increase occurred in the drug units which registered a gain of 49.2 per cent as opposed to a gain of 13.3 per cent in the regular supervision units. Drug and drug-related cases represented 42.5 per cent of the entire adult supervision caseload.

The increase in adult supervision cases precipitated significant increases in the probation officers' caseloads. The average caseload of the probation officer covered close to 60 in the regular units and around 35 in the drug units.

Juvenile and family cases screened by the Department's Family Division Intake Unit rose from 10,383 to 11,199. These figures include 2,099 juvenile delinquency cases, many of which were adjusted informally without court action, persons in need of supervision (PINS) cases increased by 6.4 per cent, to 1,191, while the 141 neglect cases processed through Intake represent a considerable decline as a result of the activities of the Family Court Child Abuse Section which now handles these cases directly.

Juvenile services consist of investigation, supervision and counseling of juvenile delinquents, persons in need of supervision and neglected children. In 1971, a total of 2,052 juvenile investigations were completed for the Family Court. Of these 298 were in the juvenile delinquent category, 665 were PINS and there were 224 neglect cases. Dispositions by the Family Court placed 177 juvenile delinquents on probation and 24 in institutional placement; 487 PINS were placed on probation and 58 in residential treatment. Dispositions of neglect cases resulted in 56 adults placed on probation, 67 neglected children placed under supervision, and 61 children placed outside their own homes.

In the Family Division, a total of 1,445 individuals were supervised on probation during the year, an increase of 216 over 1970. The average caseload of the probation officer in juvenile supervision was 48. During 1971, 350 drug and drug-related cases came to the attention of the Family Division, an increase of 32 over 1970.

According to Milone, "Many of the children under 16, as well as the young adults over 16, who were placed in institutions or even on probation could be more effectively rehabilitated, if we had small, local facilities in which to place them. Then, perhaps fewer of them would end up as really hardened criminals."

Citing widespread criticism of the penal system and public reaction to the unrest and insurrection which erupted in many prisons throughout the country last year, Milone said,

"Probation is the most viable alternative to prison, and until real prison reform becomes a reality the courts will be relying more and more upon Probation as a sentence. In order to best serve the community as well as the offender, we must have small neighborhood homes and communities must participate in helping offenders become useful citizens. We cannot do the job alone." He called upon local communities to participate in the Probation responsibility by helping to find jobs and training programs, by giving probationers an opportunity to share constructively in community life, and by recognizing that the rehabilitated offender is far less of a threat to society than the man who has been sitting behind bars just "doing time."

While the need for local residential facilities is uppermost, the Probation Department was able to expand its services in several other areas: with special marital and family counseling units; with a specialized unit for treating emotionally disturbed adolescents who are on probation; and through Operation Midway which provides pre-trial supervision for selected felony offender between the ages of 16 and 25 and offers an opportunity for rehabilitation prior to trial with the dismissal or reduction of charges as a possibility.

The Department also employed a group of 30 para-professional aides to assist probation officers in their counseling of young offenders. "It has been found that young people of similar backgrounds can be extremely helpful in working with young offenders on probation," Milone explained.

During 1971, the Department also completed a research study on recidivism intended to identify characteristics significantly related to the "repeater" and also aimed at evaluating the rehabilitative strength of the Probation Department's services.

In addition to its investigative and supervisory responsibilities to juvenile and criminal offenders, the Department also collects and disburses court-ordered payments for family support, restitution and fines. During 1971, the Probation Accounts Division collected over $6,000,000, mainly in support payments, and serviced an estimated 11,000 families, including 35,000 children.

Hohner Expands Hicksville Base

A major expansion of the Hicksville headquarters of M. Hohner, Inc., the worldwide musical instrument company, is now under way and will be completed by spring.

Doubling the warehouse area, the addition will aggregate more than 42,000 square feet of storage and customer service, technical showroom and office facilities.

The enlarged building on Andrews Road in Hicksville will yield important benefits in the stocking of merchandise, expediting of deliveries, consolidating shipments to Hohner's Midwest and West Coast bases, and handling of repairs.

The wholly air-conditioned and sprinklered addition, located to the north of the present structure, includes a mezzanine floor 80 feet long and 30 feet wide. The warehouse, 23 feet high, will be equipped with the most automated dock leveling devices. The parking capacity has been doubled, with a special visitors area in front.

The addition is being built by the Kjellgren Construction Company of Mineola, N.Y., which erected the original structure. John Grammas of Mineola is the architect.

Leland T. James, vice president, said that the augmented and improved facilities reflect the lessons we have learned in servicing Hohner customers.

"Fire District Election"

Ex-Chief Clifford Davis of Hicksville received a total of 188 votes for a five year term as Fire Commissioner for the Hicksville Fire Dist. Commissioner Davis has just completed a one year term as Commissioner filling a vacancy when Commissioner J. MacDonald moved from the district. Commissioner Davis ran unopposed. Commissioner Davis thanked those who turned out to vote for their support.

Exhibit Sporting Painting In December

Oiga Hoebel, Hicksville, and Rose Wenck, Jericho, are exhibiting sporting paintings in a state art show of the National League of American Pen Women thru the month of December at the National Museum of Sport, Madison Square Garden, New York. Both artists are oldtime residents of Hicksville and Jericho. This institutional exhibit is composed of pictures on sports. The women artists exhibiting in this show are members of various branches of the N.L.A.P.W. in New York State, including the Long Island Branch. Mrs. Wenck is the editor of the Seagull, a branch publication, for the branch as well as a painter. Mrs. Hoebel is historian for the L.I. Branch and has taught painting with the Adult Education Program in Hicksville. Both of them have exhibited extensively in group shows and have had one man shows, winning many awards. In New York City they have exhibited at the Union Carbide Galleries, the Seamans Bank for Savings and all its branches, the First National City Bank and the National Art Gallery of Sport, as well as at the Capitol in Albany

YOUTH A.H.R.C. of Hicksville Does it Again

Come and see a fabulous Christmas display dedicated to the AHRC Youth group of Hicksville by Mr. Lemmo, the father of Youth Members Robin Lyn and Rosie Ann Lemmo. The display is at 119 Scooter Lane, Hicksville and includes a sleigh and reindeer, nativity scene with music, and most impressive, a complete room with moving figures that almost look real. A real Santa will also be on hand to greet the youngsters. Don't miss this once a year event! (P.S. -YOUTH stands for Youth Organized United to Help the retarded children for AHRC. Association for the Help of Retarded Children, Nassau County Chapter).

One Man Show

Frances Geary, Junior High School Art teacher, is presently exhibiting her water colors at the Hollis Unitarian Church. The show is most successful.

Dripping From A Poets Pen

By Jimmy C. Cooley

To what she was, what she could have been and what she will never be again I dedicate this poem. A small Community bordered by farmlands and tree lined streets. A small group of populace souls. To such folks alive and deceased such as Dr. Curtis, Fred Noeth, and to Frank Chlumsky, Dr. E. H. LeBarron, Mr. Van Slyke, Miss Mabel Farley, The Huettners, Brauns, Schwa m b s, M a n e l s k i s, McGunnigles, Giese, Erbs, Wetteraus's, Stocks, the former Guardians of the Law, Johnny Rogers, the Jaeger Brothers, the Town Marshal and others too numerous to name I write this poem. A home for many years and some day will return to.

The friendly men dressed up in Blue
Who often waved to me and you,
The crowded churches on Sabbath morn
And farms God blessed with golden corn,
The Youths that walked with features gay
Are now but dreams of yesterday.
The Summer Picnics of corn and clams
And building Castles in the sand,
The Wreens roasts, the Cider Mill
Has vanished now...forever still Oh bring me back to years gone by
No questions asked nor reasons why,
Where is the Yesterdays I knew
Beneath those summer skies of blue
Where are the young who lived a life
Away from care and daily strife,
Oh Lord! please guide and light the way
Back down the path to yesterday.

Dreams of Yesterday

I dreamed of Hicksville I used to know
Of tree lined streets and lawns to mow.
