Efforts To Save Hicksville Landmark Proving Difficult

By Richard Evers

Inquiries into the possibilities of preserving the old Braun homestead and adjacent landmarks in Hicksville as historic properties are reported to have found little tangible support from Nassau County Museum officials and some local bank leaders. The property is comprised of two separately owned but adjoining parcels on East Broadway, just south of the Goldman Brothers Store. The owners are seeking a total of $83,000 for the 10,000 square feet of land and four sound buildings.

William Van Nostrand and Richard Evers, local historical preservation advocates, report that bank mortgage money would most likely not be available for such a preservation enterprise by a local committee unless an individual trustee was available as a principal party to guarantee such a loan. The property, however historically valuable it may be, is not considered prime real estate because of the restrictions on construction imposed by the current Town of Oyster Bay building requirements for the Broadway area.

County Museum leaders acknowledge the historic uniqueness of the Braun property as a fine example of 19th century economic enterprise, but advised the Hicksville preservationists that county funds are not readily available for obtaining the property. It is not old enough to be developed as part of the Old Bethpage Village Restoration even if some of the buildings could be moved. It likewise cannot be incorporated into the County's Jericho Historical Area.

Several possibilities for the preservation of this potential educational and cultural entity in the heart of old time Hicksville are still being explored. Inquiries are to be made with Federal officials and with other governmental groups as to the possible purchase of the area as a permanent and rare landmark of educational value to Hicksville's children and citizens.

Time, however, is running out as the property owners have received some commercial offers. Both owners have delayed selling the properties in order for possible community efforts to act on. Thomas Braun, well known local butcher and business leader, whose memorabilia and trade artifact displays have enriched Broadway for years, in speaking for the Braun family, has expressed much interest in helping to retain the family homestead and its one-time out-buildings. Davis and Davis, Inc. of New York City have likewise, generously deferred a sale of their parcel containing the rare ice house and slaughtering barn.

The familiar Braun house is over a century old, and the out-buildings which once comprised the homestead and butchering business of the pioneer settlers, the Brauns, date from the last decades of the 19th century. The house is in good, stout condition and has been lived in to the present time. Many architectural features of the mid-Victorian era are intact. Passersby are familiar with the red brick ice house in which were once stored tons of block ice cut by saws at the Jericho ponds and carted by wagons to the property for deep storage and use in warmer months. Behind the quaint ice house now facing demolition is a large barn which served, in part, as a slaughtering quarters for the Braun family who once provided Hicksville residents with much of their meat provisions.

The barn is historically unusual in that it still retains, suspended on an axle between supporting walls, a great wooden wheel which was used to easily raise the heavy animal carcasses by means of ropes and pulleys. A small "wash house" also stands on the property to complete this unique Victorian Era commercial site. "An effort by a philanthropic individual(s), a community group or a governmental body to save Hicksville's most distinctive remaining historical site would earn the thanks of generations to come," Mr. Van Nostrand and Mr. Evers believe.

Due to the reporting of the many fires in recent weeks I haven't had much space or time to remind our readers about Fire Prevention. Remember - "Fire Prevention is Everyone's Job" Don't be a vital statistic for 1973. A fire safe home is up to you!

MAD Against Tobay Seeking Traffic Aids

by Janet Gosnell

Judy Jacobs, President of MAD (Mothers Against Death), a subgroup of the South Woodbury Taxpayers Association, appeared before the Town Board on Tuesday to once again urge that pressures be put upon the agencies involved to complete the road which will siphon GEICO traffic away from their residential development and to install the much needed traffic light which will control rush hour traffic.

"What shall I tell my members at the meeting scheduled this Thursday?" she asked. She noted that the traffic light had been promised to them by February 1st. The question of the road has been traveling through the red tape of several state departments involved. Bid invitations are not out yet, she said, although she had received some encouragement previously that plans for the road were proceeding.

"I don't know if we're doing the right thing, being the 'good guy,'" she said. "Perhaps pressure would work better." She also said she could not preclude a decision to apply pressure tactics by her group if progress was not seen.

TELEGRAM to David Lloyd Kreeger, Chairman of the Board of Government Employees Insurance Co., Washington, D.C., is read to the Oyster Bay Town Board on Tuesday by Judy Jacobs, President of MAD (Mothers Against Death), a subgroup of the South Woodbury Taxpayers Association. Mrs. Jacobs said she could not be responsible for decisions her association might make to apply pressures if traffic problems in her area due to the GEICO building were not alleviated.

Mr. Jacobs read a telegram she said had been sent to David Lloyd Kreeger, Chairman of the Board of the Government Employees Insurance Co. in Washington, D.C. It said in part: "We are in no position to stop the community from deciding to take action on this matter at our meeting on Thursday evening."

The agenda for the MAD meeting on Thursday will include a discussion of a new building proposed by Gilbert Tilles for the Froehlich Farm property.

Syosset Woodbury Plan
 Mrs. Jacobs told reporters at the meeting that a petition containing more than 100 names had been submitted to the Town Clerk requesting a night hearing on the Syosset Woodbury plan.

600 Attend Driver Education Meeting

The horrors of war or the havoc of the highway—where are you safer, in the front line of combat or the front seat of an automobile? At a special meeting of driver education students and their parents on Wednesday, Feb. 7, Frank D. Ganley, supervisor of the driver education program at Hicksville High School, pointed out that more Americans have been killed on our streets and highways than in all the wars in our history.

The meeting was called to acquaint the parents and students with the rights and obligations of the under-18 driver in Nassau County, and was attended by some six hundred, including fourteen of the driver education instructors. Following remarks by Mr. Raymond L. Rusch, Principal of the high school, and Mr. Ganley on the driver education program and its importance to the student, the meeting was turned over to Ptl. Galgan of the Nassau County Police Department. Ptl. Galgan pointed out that it is absolutely illegal for any 16 or 17 year old to drive in Nassau County unless he or she can meet three requirements: be enrolled in a high school driver education course, have a valid learner's permit, and be accompanied by a licensed parent. He further stated that when the student earns a junior license, he loses the right to drive in Nassau County until he reaches the age of 18 or completes the driver education course, whichever comes first. Following his talk, Ptl. Galgan answered questions from parents and students on points concerning the young driver and the law.

Hicksville instituted the evening meeting of parents and students last fall as a means of improving communication between home and school, especially in the area of the under-18 driver, where, due to the many special laws in Nassau County, there is much misin-formation and misunderstanding. The meeting also gave the parents a chance to see and meet the driver education teachers who will be closely associated with their children for the next half year. With parent, student, and teacher working together to instill skills, attitudes, and good driving habits, it may just be possible to reduce the carnage on America's highways.

CUB SCOUTS, HICKSVILLE PACK 377, from the Burns Avenue School, visited the Nassau County Police Headquarters in Mineola last Saturday. The boys were shown through the (teletype room, the garage and the communications center, which is pictured in both photographs above.

Editorial

March, 1973

Far-off, unseen, Spring faintly cries:
Bidding her earliest child arise,
March!

—Bayard Taylor.

March is a turning-point month, when winter begins to give way to warmer weather and the first signs of spring appear. In early colonial days, the year began in March. The music of the month comes from Mars, which in ancient Italian meaning was the name of the God of War.

Spring officially begins on the 20th of March, this year. St. Patrick's Day comes on the 17th and the month is a notable one for New York, Texas, Maryland and Massachusetts. Maryland Day falls on March 25th. Albany became the capital of New York on March 10, 1797, and the United States Military Academy was established at West Point on March 16th, 1802.

In Massachusetts Evacuation Day in Boston is commemorated on March 17th. The Boston Massacre took place in March of 1770.

For Texas March is an historical month because on March 2nd, 1836, even while Santa Anna was besieging the Alamo, Texas was declared to be independent of Mexico. March 6th is also Alamo Day in Texas, the anniversary of the fall of the Alamo, which came about on March 6th, 1836.

Several major birthday anniversaries occur in March. March 3rd is the birthday anniversary of Alexander Graham Bell; March 7th that of Luther Burbank; March 8th that of Simon Cameron, who founded a political dynasty in Pennsylvania which lasted for decades; March 16th that of President James Madison; March 17th that of Roger B. Taney, fifteenth justice of the United States Supreme Court; March 18th that of Grover Cleveland, the only American President to serve two non-consecutive terms as President; March 19th that of William Jennings Bryan, and March 29th that of President John Tyler, the tenth President of the United States.

Also in March come Girls' Scout Day on March 12th, and Seward Day on March 30th, in Alaska, the anniversary of the day in 1868, when Russia ceded Alaska to the United States for $7,200,000.

Total Environment

Assemblyman Stuart R. Levine introduced legislation calling for required study in all public schools of the total environment. Such a program would begin in the fourth grade and would include information on the protection and preservation of wildlife, soil, water and air resources.

"The purpose of this program," Assemblyman Levine said, "is to encourage a complete awareness of the total environment including the social and economic implications of its abuse."

The bill is being co-sponsored by Armand D'Amato, (R-Island Park) who is also a freshman assemblyman from Nassau county.

A code of ethics for all officials and employees of the Town of Oyster Bay was adopted by the Town Board on February 13. The new code expresses in detail what has always been the policy of this administration: To govern and to serve the people of the Town of Oyster Bay to the best of our abilities at all levels of government for the betterment and well-being of all its citizens.

It is the right of every Town resident to expect no less.

As stated in the code, every Town official and employee is considered to be a trustee of any Town property, assets or funds entrusted to his control or management.

The code defines specific prohibitions and requirements for the disclosure of information pertaining to organizations engaged directly or indirectly in business with the Town.

But the code is more than just a set of restrictive commands; it is a guide for all of us in public service to follow in order to continue to serve the community and justify the public's trust in its government.

TOWN NOTES: Town Clerk Ann Ocker has been assured by Nassau County Police Commissioner Louis Frank that the police are aware of the possibility of discrepancies between license plate numbers and those on parking permits due to the State issuing new plates this year.

A list of restaurants offering a 10-percent discount to senior citizens of Oyster Bay can be obtained by calling the Town's Department of Recreation and Community Services at 921-5875.

Dear Friends...

A 5-3 opinion written by Justice William H. Rehnquist of the Supreme Court last week hits very close to home. Restoring a plan drawn up by the Virginia legislature which had been thrown out by a lower court because it denied the principle of "one man, one vote," the opinion in effect says that state legislative districts may vary in population in order to keep city and county boundaries intact.

What's good for Virginia may be good for the county of Nassau. At this writing, the plan for reapportionment presented by the Nassau County Board of Supervisors has been declared unconstitutional by the court because it presents a weighted voting system. In vetoing the plan, Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Case said his action was predicated on his belief in the principle of one man, one vote.

Did not the Supervisors say in presenting the plan that one of its virtues is the retention of the representation of the cities of Glen Cove and Long Beach on its Board? One specific goal of the plan was to keep the internal boundaries of the county intact.

The case for the Nassau County reapportionment plan is now under appeal. We'll be interested to see what effect the Supreme Court's decision in regard to the State of Virginia will have on our own Nassau County government.

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), a federally funded project of the Nassau County Department of Senior Citizen Affairs, plans to recruit and provide training for senior citizen volunteers to serve in Central Park Road School in Plainview.

Men and women 60 and over will work with individual children and assist teachers. Transportation will be arranged if needed.

Teaching experience is not necessary, but volunteers must enjoy working with children, and must be willing to serve at least two hours a week. For further information or to arrange for a visit to the school, please call Mrs. Zita Hamer, 528-4442.

THAT'S ALL for this week, stay well and don't take a walk on Broadway in Hicksville, across from the TOB Annex for if you do you'll have to look at the horrible condition the empty lots have once more been allowed to get into... old tires, deep mud puddles, and varied junk, including what appears to be an OLD ice box with a sign on top of it! This is absolutely unnecessary. Also people who have been smart enough to make millions in and around our town, really should be willing to plow just a small amount back, and KEEP THIS AREA CLEANED UP!

Help For Us The Consumers

Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Caso announced today that he has sent to Albany a package of bills to tighten and expand consumer protection laws — including one that would require food stores to make more conspicuous the scales that they must maintain for customers to check the weights of pre-packaged foods.

The bills, drawn up after an intensive review of existing consumer protection laws by the Office of Nassau County Consumer Affairs Commissioner James Picken, are being sponsored by members of Nassau's Republican delegation in the State Legislature. The proposed legislation would strengthen laws governing consumer credit and the sale and packaging of food-stuffs.

"Our review of existing laws shows that unwary consumers can still be victimized by unscrupulous business practices," Caso said. "The new laws that I am proposing will impose stricter regulations and stiffer penalties to safeguard the consumer in Nassau County and throughout New York State against exploitation by the small number of businesses that capitalize on consumer ignorance."

Customer Scales
Caso proposes to make customer scales more conspicuous by forcing food stores to paint a red stripe on such scales and to place them in clear view. The bill will be sponsored by Assemblyman Stuart Levine and State Sen. Ralph Marino. Present law requires that food stores provide an accurate scale for customers to check weights of pre-packaged food products and that the scales be no more than 30 feet from the pre-packaged food display. However, the scales are sometimes "camouflaged" among other displays and some customers do not know that they are available.

Fines to Be Raised
Caso also proposed several bills to raise the maximum fines for various violations of the state's Agriculture and Market Law governing sales of food products from $200 to $2,000 for a first offense and from $400 to $5,000 for each subsequent offense. Caso said that the present maximum penalties are not effective deterrents because they are too easily absorbed by large companies. He said that fines levied under existing laws are frequently less than the costs of investigating and prosecuting violators. (Sponsored by Assemblyman Stuart Levine and Senator Ralph Marino.)

Weight, Not Volume
Another bill would require that frozen desserts such as ice cream be sold by weight rather than by volume. Caso said that some frozen desserts meet weight-by-volume requirements but do not fill the container or package in which they are sold. Consumers are misled by the size of the package, he said. Caso's bill would require that the weights be clearly marked on the package and that frozen desserts be sold only in fractions or multiples of pints, quarts and gallons. (Sponsored by Assemblyman Milton Jonas and Senator John Dunne.)

Credit Practices
Proposals regulating consumer credit practices include:
A bill to redefine home solicitation sales. The Home Solicitation Sales Act passed in 1970 provides a three-day "cooling off" period during which a consumer who had signed a purchase agreement with a door-to-door salesman could cancel the contract without penalty. The 1970 law defines home solicitation sales as those in which the number of installment payments was four or more.

Caso said that his Consumer Affairs Office has received numerous complaints about high-pressure home sales solicitors who have been writing sales contracts with fewer than four payments in order to circumvent the protection afforded consumers by the "cooling off" period. Caso's bill changes the definition of a home solicitation sale to one in which the purchase price is payable in two or more installments instead of in four and extends the act's coverage to other transactions taking place outside the home but not in the vendor's place of business. (Sponsored by Assemblyman Stuart Levine and Senator Ralph Marino.)

Bills to increase the amount of wages exempted from wage assignments and garnishment proceedings against defaulting consumers.
A wage assignment (frequently contained in small print on a credit contract) authorizes the creditor to take 10 per cent of the debtor's weekly wages over $30 to satisfy an unpaid debt. Having signed the contract, the debtor has no defense even in the case of a legitimate dispute with the creditor over defective merchandise. Garnishment of wages is obtained through court order. Presently, 10 per cent of weekly wages over $85 may be garnished.

Caso pointed out that present exemption levels are unrealistic in light of the high costs of living even if the original debts were incurred through improvidence or lack of foresight. Taking as much as a worker's wages as allowed under present law could

Hicksville To Form Soccer Club

On March 9, at 8 P.M., a meeting will be held at the Hicksville Public Library for the purpose of forming the Hicksville Soccer Club. Because of the interest in soccer, a number of residents have requested that an organization be formed whereby boys could play soccer on a year round basis.

Coaches in Nassau and Suffolk point out that State Laws hinder the growth of soccer on Long Island. Presently children cannot compete simultaneously in both school and outside soccer leagues. Since schedules of both often conflict, players must choose between the two thereby diluting talent and limiting playing time. New York City resolved this problem by allowing boys to play in both leagues at the same time. Furthermore, in order to lure talent, City leagues are allowing Long Island teams to enter their leagues and play around local school schedules. As a result,

City talent is developing faster and competition is of a higher caliber.

It will be the intention of the Hicksville Soccer Club to enter teams in City leagues thereby allowing boys to compete and still remain eligible for local school competition. Furthermore, the organization will work actively toward the revision of State Laws so that in the future boys could compete locally on a year round basis.

The March 9 meeting is open to all adults interested in developing a club which will continually expose boys between the ages of six to eighteen years of age to the highest caliber of play on a year round basis. A knowledge of the game, although helpful, is not a prerequisite to joining the club. Much help will be needed in achieving Club aims, raising funds and general administration work. All interested adults are welcome.

JOHN F. KENNEDY JAZZ CONCERT

Rock met big band jazz on Long Island Wednesday, February 28, at John F. Kennedy High School's Jazz Concert, when Lew Soloff, solo trumpet in the world famous Blood, Sweat and Tears, played his greatest hits with the Jazz Foundation of Kennedy, an award winning jazz ensemble from Plainview, Long Island.

Lew Soloff, a graduate of the Eastman School of Music, has played with Blood, Sweat and Tears, for approximately six years. He is renowned in jazz rock circles for his brilliant tone, extreme range and creative solo work, evident in such rock-classics as "Spinning Wheel" and "Lucretia MacEvil." He proved his artistry on Wednesday night. The Jazz Foundation of Kennedy, played "Lucretia MacEvil" arranged by senior bandsman Elliot Semel, at the Berklee School of Music Jazz Festival, where they were awarded second place for outstanding performance. Special recognition was given to drummer David Hirsch, trombonist arranger Elliot Semel and baritone sax arranger, Michael Maisel who graduated last year. The Jazz Foundation is directed by Dr. Kirby Jolly.

Also featured at the Jazz Concert was the Suffolk Community College Stage Band, directed by Leonard Goldberg, the East Meadow High School Stage Band, directed by William Katz and Clem DeKossa's famed College All-Star Band.

All groups performed very well and an enthusiastic sell-out crowd gave all four groups and soloist Lew Soloff, tremendous applause. It was a jazz event of theater on Long Island.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY INDUCTION

The John F. Kennedy High School Chapter of the National Honor Society held its fall induction on February 20 in the Resource Center. The new members are Debra DiMartino, Robin Fish, David Grossman, Michael Jonas, Phyllis Kaplan, Tracy Kaplan, Brad Koshar, Michelle Mazzola, Joseph Spirito, Jeffrey Starr, Leslie Wimentz, James Yao.

Dr. Robert F. Savitt, Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Charles Mattingly, President of the Board of Education, and Mr. Barry L. Gleim, Principal, addressed the group. Also in attendance were school board members, Mr. Harvey Brickman, Mr. Alvin D. Delman, Mr. Sidney Horn, Mr. Mitchell Laub, and Mr. Joseph Scholnick.

Miss Frances Barbera performed two vocal selections accompanied by Mr. Herb Bradensten. Miss Bonnie Meneserent excerpts from "Impact on Society" and "Ulysses."

Miss Roxanne Nersesian acted as mistress of ceremonies. Refreshments were served by the Future Homemakers of America, under the direction of their advisor, Mrs. Louise Doff.

In the last week, the United Nations Club of Kennedy High School regained its reputation as one of the top, if not the No. 1 group of its kind in the country. In competition against 1700 high school students from 50 states at the Tenth North American Invitational Model U.N. Kennedy swept two delegations and one best delegate award. At a regional conference at Keasarge High School in North Sutton, New Hampshire, Kennedy had the top delegate at the conference, the second best delegation among the 80 present, and several other honorable mentions.

Eighteen members of the U.N. Club of Kennedy traveled to the Shoreham Hotel in Washington for the annual nationwide competition sponsored by the International Relations Club of Georgetown University. Chaperoned by Social Studies teacher Hillard Boss, the students were greeted by Representative Roncallo on Capital Hill. They had an opportunity to question the Representative, and came away quite impressed by his replies. Representative Roncallo also arranged for gallery passes to the House and Senate, and for lunch. At the conference itself, delegates were addressed by Dr. John Stoessinger, Director of Political Affairs for the U.N. They also visited the Embassies of the nations which they were representing. The delegation of Chile in the Economic and Social Council, led by senior Brad Koshar, was declared the best delegation. Other members of the delegation were Tracy Kaplan, Shelli Goldberg, Mark Freeman, Robert Lincer, and JoAnne Johnson. In addition, Tracy Kaplan received an honorable mention as best delegate for her work on the Economic Advisory Commission. In the larger General Assembly, Kennedy High School was named to an Honorable Mention, Best Delegation. Student Council President Nathan Salant was the Ambassador of this delegation, representing Panama, and its other members included Leslie Stevens, Sara Wexler, Alan Bernstein, and Stephan Mallenbaum. Kennedy also represented the Sudan, under the guidance of senior Roxanne Nersesian.

Also in the February 21-25 period, Kennedy sent 10 students to the smaller North Eastern Regional Model U.N., held at Keasarge Regional High School in the small town of North Sutton, New Hampshire. Representing the United States and Italy, the United Nations Club dominated the conference in proposing, speaking, and passing more resolutions than the other schools combined. In the plenary General Assembly, junior Paul Slavan was named best delegate of the 150 participants, for the highest single honor at the conference. Paul's speaking ability and dedication attracted the admiration and attention of students and advisors alike. Inviting for the best delegation at the conference, Kennedy placed second with its United States delegation. Mitchell Deutsch, newly-elected President of the U.N. Club, was delegation leader, and group-included Steven Silverberg, Howie Schwartz, Mindy Fuchsberg, Micki Friedman, and Slavan. The trip also featured stays in hosts' homes, speakers on Communist China, and sightseeing in picturesque New Hampshire and Vermont.

Senior Stacy Widelitz of John F. Kennedy High School was named "Best Delegate" to the 21st Annual West Coast Model United Nations Conference, held from February 15-17 on the campus of the University of California at Berkeley. Widelitz was one of ten students so named, out of 1300 high school participants. Student leader of Kennedy's delegation, he is completing his third year as a member of the United Nations Club. He earned his honor through skillful negotiation and forceful rhetoric on the issue of the Suez Canal. By combining several resolutions in his committee into one joint resolution, he persuaded Arab and Israeli delegations to agree to reopen the Suez Canal and to settle this roadblock to Middle Eastern peace.

The entire Kennedy delegation was showered with accolades from their fellow delegates. Kennedy High School had been invited to the Berkeley conference not only as representatives of their own school, but also as representatives of high schools on the East Coast, in the hope of initiating an exchange program among schools on both Coasts. In addition to Widelitz, the Mongolian delegation included seniors Scott Ansel and Bruce Farberman, and juniors Neal Brickman and Larry Eagle. Brickman was particularly effective on the floor of the plenary General Assembly, as he attempted through parliamentary means to forestall a vote on drug control, which Mongolia opposes. Other subjects discussed at the conference were international boundaries, multinational corporations, and nuclear arms limitation. The Kennedy participants felt that their West Coast counterparts were better prepared and more well-researched than in the East, but that the large size of some of the committees tended to detract from an otherwise high caliber conference. At the opening session of the conference, Kennedy High School was given a special introduction and a prolonged ovation by the other 1100 students attending. The Berkeley affair also included a dance, and a keynote address by Professor Frank Newman, former Dean of the University of California Law School. Dean Newman spoke about the United Nations in the context of international law, focusing on the Greek Colonels' case.

The five Kennedy students left Plainview on February 9 for several days of sightseeing before attending the conference. In Los Angeles, they visited UCLA, Disneyland, and a television studio. Driving up the Coast, they toured the historic Hearst castle at San Simeon, as well as scenic spots such as Monterey and Pebble Beach. At Stanford University in Palo Alto, they visited the Hoover Institute on War and Peace, which included a special exhibit of memoirs of the late President. Finally, San Francisco sightseeing included Chinatown, Fisherman's Wharf, Muir Woods, and of course, Berkeley itself. While at the conference, Kennedy was housed in Chi Psi fraternity.

United Nations Club conferences, such as the one at Berkeley, serve many important purposes in educational development. In preparing for a conference, under the direction of club faculty advisor Martin Vinokur, students are taught how to research policy positions of foreign countries. A visit to the U.N. Mission of the nation they will represent is also included in the preparation; here they can question those officials whom they will attempt to simulate at the conference. The next step consists of the preparation of resolutions calling for action on a topic for discussion; Final preparations include position papers, writing speeches on resolutions to be considered, and learning how to function under parliamentary procedure. At the conference itself, the students learn lobbying techniques, and how to get along with fellow students from all parts of the country. Working as a delegation team, they are involved in the role-playing of their country, and in decision-making and compromising. The value of this preparation can be seen in the success of former U.N. Club members in college and in social

William M. Gouse, Jr. Post No. 3211
By Lou Palladino

Before going into any further business, lets start by notifying you of our three new members, two are young tigers, Bill Krumm, Jr. and Pat Carroll, and a WW 2 vet Adam Shenocka. Welcome to our post fellas and glad to have you.

Now you just have to hear about our dinner dance. Our Comm. did a fine job it was chaired by Frank Lotti, and ably assisted by Mike Znaek, Tom McCabe, and Vinny Edwards. As hard as they worked to make this the kind of affair we are accustomed to expect, the town house tried to louse up. We didn't have nearly the amount of people we usually do but it was a good congenial crowd. These four guys worked real hard to make it a success, and by golly, in spite of the caterers we did. We had a terrific band, and the house had nothing to do with that. We got our own combo, anyway after this we'll have it in our own place. Fellas, you are to be congratulated. I didn't see anybody leave, until the party was over. That's a good sign, we all have a good time. So this unworthy opinion says, our charter night was a huge success.

I would be negligent not to tell you how great our ski trip was. The only trouble was, the weekend went by entirely too fast. The food was great and so were the accommodations, and plenty of activities for everybody. Even yours truly got on skis for the first time, and landed on his ear. If you happened to see a cauliflower war, you know its mine.

Lucky winner of this week's raffle was Jerry Vitale. Still don't know how these guys do it. Willing to learn.

Next meeting will be March 12. Hope to see you there.

Major appliance manufacturing topped all previous totals for the 12th straight year, a record 31,199,000 units in 1972.

reduce the family's income below the poverty level, he said. Caso's bill raise both exemption levels to $125 (Sponsored by Assemblyman Armand D Amato and Senator Norman Levy.)

A bill to regulate multiple sales collateral. Under current law, a buyer who puts up personal property as collateral for a single credit purchase and later makes additional purchases from the same creditor can find his original collateral still being held against the subsequent purchases long after he has paid all the original debt. In many cases, the consumer must pay the creditor far more than the collateral is worth. Caso pointed out that the most frequent victims of this practice are the poor. His proposed legislation would make the practice illegal.

Sponsored by Assemblyman George Murphy and Senator Norman Levy.

In Conclusion

Concluding his summary of the county's consumer protection package, Caso expressed his strong support for Governor Rockefeller's proposal to license all auto and TV repair shops. He said that statewide licensing is needed to control those auto and TV repair firms that gouge the public with inflated charges for work not performed and mislead consumers with false advertising.

Oyster Bay Agency Offers Aid To Returning Vets

With the cessation of hostilities in Vietnam signalling the return of many servicemen, Town Councilman Howard T. Hogan, Jr. today issued a timely reminder to families of veterans that the Town's Veterans Service Agency is ready to handle all requests by veterans for assistance in returning to civilian life.

Hogan said the agency, under the directorship of Joseph Mc-Carthy, will be able to advise and counsel veterans and their families on their benefits, privileges and rights under federal, state and local laws and regulations.

In addition, the agency can advise and assist servicemen and senior citizens of Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid and other welfare matters, as well as on real property tax exemptions applicable to them.

"There are many benefits being offered to veterans and their families," Hogan stated. "The Veterans Service Agency can help them determine which ones are available to them and help the veteran make a smooth transition to a productive, civilian life."

Hogan also noted that veterans of Korea and World War II are eligible for many G.I. benefits and urged them to check with the agency and see if they qualify for any, if they have not already done so.

The agency is open daily from 9:00 AM to 4:30 PM. It is located in the Hicksville annex of Town Hall at 65 Broadway. The telephone number is 931-7630.

Hicksville School Board Report

By Shirley Smith

At Monday's school board meeting, Thomas Clark announced the board is interviewing attorneys to fill the position of school board attorney left vacant by the death of Harry Goebel. Mr. Clark said the position would be filled through June of this year. He also announced the district has received a notice of retirement, effective June 30, from Donald Abt, professional consultant.

The board of education voted to have the budget and candidate vote in May. There was some confusion as to whether May 1 or 3 is the date designated by state education law - the first Thursday or the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May. The legality will be checked and the appropriate date established.

Recommended staffing changes for assistant principals in the secondary and elementary schools and for clerical assistance in all schools were tabled. Mr. Abt, our professional consultant, is currently working on a study of all aspects of staffing in the district the board decided to wait for this before making a decision on the superintendent's recommendations.

Edward Bello was appointed liaison between the Hicksville School Board and BOCES regarding the closing of the Beechwood School and regrouping of brain-injured students with emotionally disturbed and physically handicapped. The board did not seem in favor of this proposal, but is waiting to get more information before taking an official position.

George Pappas objected to the absence of Dr. Niosi and Dr. Hill, who were attending an administrators' convention in Atlantic City. He is opposed to any conventions, at district expense and stated he would not vote for a transfer of funds if board members spend more than the allotted $100 for the National School Boards Association

Convention in California in April. He said convention expenses for district employees is costing $20,000. Mr. Pappas asked for a report on all convention expenses since July 1, 1972 (including substitute fees.)

During the public session, Murray Goldstein, president of the Hicksville Congress of Teachers, said the total for convention expenses in the 1972-73 budget (for teachers, supervisors, department heads and principals) is $2,043. This does not include substitutes' fees. He further stated that no teacher has been paid more than $100 in expenses this year, regardless of where the convention has been held or its duration.

Mrs. Phyllis Frankel spoke on behalf of the lay help at the High School. She said the monitors were forced to take a fifteen-minute break due to changing of classes, and they receive no pay for this time. There are other problems which she pointed out to the board and she asked them to come to a meeting of the lay help this Wednesday night. Mr. Clark placed on next Monday's agenda (public budget meeting) the problem of fifteen minutes extra work without pay. The board will discuss the matter of payment for the extra time.

Mrs. Norma Dagna asked the board if candidates for the BOCES School Board must first receive approval of their local boards. They must submit their names to their own boards and be approved before they are entitled to seek election.

Mrs. Muriel Schwartz asked the board to keep PTA Council apprised of its progress with BOCES regarding closing of the Beechwood School. She expressed Council's concern for these students and offered any help the district may need with this matter.

Administration was directed to look into various aspects of the Bloomingdale School in the Bethpage School District (it is located, geographically, in Hicksville) - student capacity, whether it can be rented, leased or bought, etc. These facts will be reported to the board.

The school board approved various bills for routine operating expenses of the district. The board also approved requests of the Lions Club and the Leukemia Society of America for use of the buildings. The St. Ignatius Girls' Cadet Corps was allowed use of the football field for its drill competition in July. The board approved the purchase of various textbooks, audio visual equipment and other educational supplies.

Due to the budget date set in May, the board could not approve the library's request to have a separate vote. Since the library must vote six weeks prior to the school district and advertise four weeks in advance of its own voting date, there is not enough time between now and May 1. Therefore, the library budget and candidates will be voted on at the same time as the school budget and trustees.

The board tabled an evaluation of individualized instruction and a decision on the 1973-74 school calendar. The meeting adjourned at 11:30 when Mr. Pirrung voted not to continue.

There will be a public budget meeting Monday, March 5 at 8 p.m. in the Conference Room. The next regularly scheduled meeting is Friday, March 9.

More Plans To Develop Mitchel Field

Another phase of the plan to develop Mitchel Field for the benefit of all Nassau residents was announced by County Executive Ralph G. Caso.

The county executive released a plan for the construction of Mitchel Park on 67 acres of land purchased by the county from the federal government in 1967.

"The land was bought at a 50 per cent discount with the stipulation that a park be built as soon as possible," Caso noted. "Essentially, it is a use it or lose it proposition. We can't afford to lose this valuable acreage, so we're proceeding with a plan to use it."

The L-shaped parcel is northwest of the Nassau Veterans Memorial Coliseum and adjacent to the area set aside for the new Nassau Community College campus.

Caso said he intends to gather a consortium of architects and engineers to develop the Mitchel Park plan under the direction of the Nassau Department of Public Works, which will oversee construction.

The preliminary design plan calls for a year-round Olympic swimming pool complex with seating for competitive events; free-form adult and children's pools; indoor and outdoor ice skating facilities and a speed tennis courts; an indoor rifle and pistol range; a band shell and concert area; children's playground and community sports facilities such as basketball courts.

Mitchel Park also would have rose gardens and formal areas with walkways and terraces, terraced plazas and sitting areas with restaurants and cafes and a public assembly plaza and mall.

"In planning this major recreational facility, we wanted something that would meet the leisure needs of the people for years to come," Caso explained. "That is why there is emphasis on year-round recreation."

The recreational facilities will be designed around an artificial lake with connecting waterways extending to smaller lakes, fountains and reflecting pools.

"In addition to its environmental and aesthetic value, the lake would be utilized as a fire protection water supply basin for the area," Caso pointed out.

According to the preliminary plans prepared by Liu Urban Design Associates, Mitchel Park would be without visible boundaries so that it is environmentally contiguous with adjacent areas. The area to the west of the park is slated for office and commercial development.

The county executive noted that ratables facing the park will be enhanced by its high amenity value and the county consequently would benefit from higher real estate values. He added that the name Mitchel Park is being used at the present time, but may not necessarily be the facility's permanent name.

Nassau Recreation and Parks Commissioner Richard A. Fitch said a unique concept of shared parking with surrounding commercial areas, which are not in use during peak park usage times, will be incorporated into the design. He added that an aviation and history museum tying into the history of the field also is under consideration.

It is estimated that Mitchel Park would cost between $30 and $40 million and take three to five years to complete. The Nassau Office of Federal and State Aid has already met with officials of the U.S. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation to discuss federal funding for the project.

studies related careers. Many current club members have expressed the view that participation in Model U.N.'s has been the single-most valuable educational experience in their high school careers.

Mr. Martin Vinokur, Faculty Advisor and founder of the Kennedy United Nations Club, has been a Social Studies teacher at the school for the past six years in World History and Psychology. In 1970, he was advisor to the East Coast Model United Nations Conference, which brought 1,000 students and advisors from Maine to Puerto Rico to Plainview for 4 days. His current club has 115 members, and has won 14 awards so far this year, highest in the history of the club. Mr. Vinokur received his B.A. in history from Clark University and his Master's degree, also in history, from Columbia University. He is presently a doctoral candidate in political science.
