Hicksville Park Gets A Push From Burke, Doolittle

The Oyster Bay Town Board, took the initial step toward the creation and development of a Community Park in Hicksville. This action, announced by Oyster Bay Supervisor John W. Burke, approved a Town Public Works Division map designating property to be considered for acquisition in view of establishing the new recreational facility.

The interest of Hicksville Area residents and the relative density of the Town's central lands have been two important factors in considering the formation of a local Town park in Hicksville, said Burke. Recognizing these points the Town Board has made careful evaluation of the park proposal. A public hearing has been scheduled for the Board's August 28 meeting, and we anticipate receiving valuable citizen commentary at that time.

Town Councilman Warren M. Doolittle noted that the Hicksville community, although the largest unincorporated area (51,000 people) in the Town, does not have a Community Park.

The property designated by the Public Works map, is owned by Giese Florist, Inc., and consists of approximately seven acres and is located on the west side of Lee Avenue between Ninth Street and North Drive. One of the largest undeveloped plots in Hicksville, the property has been recommended as a park site by Planning Associates, consultants hired by Oyster Bay for development of the recreational aspect of the Town's Master Plan.

Burke and Councilman Doolittle, who have been committed to the Hicksville Community Park Concept, said that they anticipated the formation of a Task Force comprised of interested local residents and Town officials, should acquisition of the property be approved, the goal of this group would be to determine logical priorities for park development, based in response to the needs and desires of the local public.

Primary Learning Centers In Hicksville

Primary Learning Centers are in operation for kindergarten and first grade students of Hicksville's public and private schools, recommended by their classroom teachers. Each week-day during July, 235 primary grade children meet with teachers in each of Hicksville's eight elementary school buildings for one-and-a-half to three hour periods. The emphasis of the Primary Learning Centers is an early prevention, diagnosis, and effective remediation of learning disabilities among kindergarten and first grade children. The concept of the Primary Learning Center was developed after a careful review of the needs of the Hicksville school district, the research on how different children learn, and the personal experiences of the teachers and administrators. The summer of 1973 marks the third year of operation with modifications and improvements in program and material being added by the staff.

The summer diagnostic-prescriptive approach to teaching is consistent with the goal for developing effective practices for general classroom use. In a structured situation and under controlled conditions, the Primary Learning Centers at each elementary school avoid any singular approach or program reflecting a specific diagnostic prejudice. The Centers take into account that research indicates that the greatest growth in oral, perceptual and motor sensory skills, so necessary for successful school work, occurs before age seven or eight. The Primary Learning Centers provide opportunities to prevent or minimize future problems of a learning, and possibly emotional nature, by providing for a variety of concrete first-hand situations, a child's ability to cope with abstract symbols such as letters, words and numbers is vastly enhanced. The teacher uses a variety of programs which encourage the development of auditory perception, visual discrimination, language skills and number concepts. The teachers concentrate on general coordination, balance, eye-hand coordination, eye movement, form recognition and visual memory. The materials used also focus on activities related to experiences with listening, speaking, numeration, colors, shapes, senses, rhyming, classification concentration and vocabulary development.

Primary Learning Center teachers are: Burns Avenue School: Mrs. Margaret Booth and Mrs. Barbara Keating; Dutch Lane School: Mrs. Claire Kaitlin and Mrs. Pearl Blaustein; East Street School: Miss Betty Banys and Mrs. Louise Uran; Fork Lane School: Mrs. Harriet Arnone and Mrs. Evelyn Grib; Lee Avenue School: Mrs. Ruth Schiavetta and Mrs. Nancy Stewart; Old Country Road School: Miss Catherine Dillon and Mrs. Jeannette Kornbluh; Willet Avenue School: Mrs. Barbara Leskody; Woodland Avenue School: Miss Elayne Kabakoff and Miss Beverly Stahart. In addition a Learning Specialist Team works to conduct additional pupil evaluations, conducts parent conferences, aids in pupil placement, the selection of appropriate learning activities and conducts follow-up evaluations of pupil progress. The team consists of: Reading Teacher—Mrs. Ruth Levandov; Psychologist—Mrs. Gail Keer; Guidance—Mr. Pat Quinn; Administrator—Dr. Lee Firester.

Mineola Social Security On The Move

Monday, July 30, 1973, will be moving day for the Mineola Social Security District Office. Mr. Sydney Savrin, District Manager, announced that the office will relocate to the fourth floor at One Station Plaza North, Mineola, New York 11501.

The new quarters located in a recently completed office building adjacent to the Mineola Railroad Station, will provide additional space to more adequately serve the public. In addition to more pleasant and attractive facilities, every effort has been made to improve conditions for both employees and visitors to the District Office. Mr. Savrin pointed out that the increased office area will facilitate interviewing activities and allow for greater privacy for callers with even the most sensitive problems. Arrangements are also being made at this time for the installation of more up-to-date computer facilities which will help to speed communication between offices and to improve overall workload processing.

Mr. Savrin stated that the need for additional office space became more urgent as a result of recent changes in the social security law. Some of the improvements brought about by this new legislation provides for more liberalized earnings requirements for persons receiving cash benefits, medicare protection for disability beneficiaries and coverage of renal dialysis or kidney transplant.

Mr. Savrin also pointed out that the recent amendments set up a new Federal program of Supplementary Security Income for eligible needy people who are 65 and over or blind or disabled. First monthly benefits under the Supplementary Security Program will be made in January 1974. While the Social Security Administration will administer this program, it is not the same as social security, since payments will be financed by Federal general revenues.

The Mineola Social Security Office which serves a population of over 750,000 residents of Nassau County will continue to provide services for all aspects of social security programs. This includes provisions under the Retirement Survivors and Disability Programs as well as Medicare.

Although the larger facilities at the new office location should help to improve overall operations, Mr. Savrin stated that the primary aim of social security has always been service to the public. One recent innovation has been the emphasis upon the telephone service. Under the teleservice system the public can in most cases avoid the necessity of a trip to the district office. Through the use of the telephone, questions may be answered and applications completed. Savrin stressed that this teleservice program can save applicants time, trouble and the need for a personal trip to the office. The District Office telephone number 747-5470, remains the same.

Mr. Savrin concluded that he and his staff welcome this change to new and larger quarters and the opportunity to better serve the public.

Classic French Twosome - Cheese And Wine

During these warm weather months, the American homemaker's motto is "stay out of the kitchen!" Here's a tip from convenience-minded French homemakers to make summer meals easy and delicious. A cheese tray makes a delicious luncheon accompanied by a tossed green salad, or served as a dessert for a flavorful finale to any meal, or a refreshing light snack anytime. Do as the French do, prepare your cheese tray with a variety of six to eight cheeses.

One well-known French cheese to include is creamy, textured Camembert from the province of Normandy. Lovely, creamy l'aprice des Dieux is oval-shaped and similar in flavor to Camembert. Snowy white and creamy soft is Boursin, a triple-cream wrapped in foil. It is available plain or with herbs and spices.

French goat cheeses, known as chevres, are favorites with connoisseurs and are constantly gaining new friends here and abroad. Among them are Valençay, pyramid-shaped, and Brie de Neuchâtel, which has a characteristic chestnut leaf wrapping.

The cheese that says France all over the world is a sturdy Roquefort, sometimes called the King of Cheeses. It is a product of southern France with 2,000 years of cheese-making know-how behind it. Roquefort is easily identified by its red-sheep label. Less pungent than Roquefort is French Port Salut, soft and mild, originally made in the Trappist monasteries of France.

These delicious cheeses of France make sensible eating because they are high in protein and low in calories when compared with other snack or dessert foods. You may eat the cheese "naked" or with a piece of French baguette - thin, crunchy bread. Tangy fresh fruit and unsalted pecans are a good choice to complement the flavor of the cheese and add just the right sweet touch.

In France cheese is never served without pouring a glass of wine. In fact, cheese and wine are as classic a French combination as straw berries and cream is to Americans. The natural affinity of cheese and wine provides one of man's gastronomic delights. With a selection of cheeses described here you should serve a medium red wine - either a soft, light Beaujolais, such as a Fleurie, or a "Country Wine" from the Côtes-du-Rhône.

MONEY-SAVING IDEAS ON TRIPS ABROAD

Although getting there may be half the fun, it can also be a whopping percentage of total holiday cost.

But one way to beat the system is off-season vacationing, when most airline fares hit rock bottom. Charter group and youth fare flights are even cheaper.

Another off-season holiday bonus is that you'll be seeing your vacationland as the natives do, and at more sensible prices. Munich, for instance, is at its milkiest guest during the autumn Oktoberfest. Christmas in London recalls Dickens from misty gothic to midnight mass in Westminster Abbey. It's the season, too, for attending the Royal Danish Ballet in Copenhagen or the Opera in Paris.

Year-round, some of the best things in life are free. It costs no more than the effort to stroll the Pacific beaches of Waikiki, or Acapulco or dip into the emerald waters that wash Antigua or the Bahamas.

And don't overlook the potential of complimentary hostel services. For example, no-charge extras are standard at Holiday Inns in about 30 countries. These include free parking, baby cribs, ice and television. Also, there's no charge for under 12 youngsters who share their parents' room.

Before leaving home, change $10 or $20 into the currency and coins of your destination country for tipping phone calls from the airport and ground transport. Otherwise, vacations have been ruined by lost or stolen cash.

In these days of motor travel, it's no longer necessary to stay at the midtown Grand Hotel or the equivalent, with its exalted prices and dress-for-dinner formality. U.S. standard inns that

Our Health

By C. H. Tracy, M. D.

What is the difference between hypoglycemia and diabetes?

Both hypoglycemia and diabetes are chemical disorders of the body. Hypoglycemia is characterized by low blood sugar, while diabetes mellitus is characterized by an elevation in the amount of sugar in the blood and also by the appearance of sugar in the urine. Diabetes is caused primarily by the inability of the islet cells in the pancreas to secrete sufficient amounts of insulin, and occurs more frequently in persons who have a family history of diabetes and who are overweight. Since diabetes is a glandular imbalance, it may also occur in those who have an abnormally functioning liver, or adrenal or pituitary glands. Don't attempt to diagnose either disorder yourself. Your physician can determine the presence of diabetes from a blood sugar analysis, urine analysis and/or a glucose tolerance test, and hypoglycemia from a simple blood sugar analysis. Both disorders may be controlled by diet, but most patients with diabetes will also need medication. While there can be other causes, hypoglycemia occurs most often in persons who are taking insulin to control diabetes, when the insulin dosage causes the blood sugar to drop to an unusually low level. In these cases, the hypoglycemia is known as "insulin shock."

I am planning a cross-country camping trip. How can I prevent my skin from becoming dry and itchy?

On a cross-country camping trip, you're bound to experience all sorts of climates. The quick change in climate and temperature will affect the skin. Alpha Kerin Spray, a bath oil in a spray, would be ideal for you. It comes in an unbreakable can, and you can spray it on after a shower or "wash-up" at the nearest lake or stream. It forms a protective coating on the skin to seal in natural moisture.

THE MOST DANGEROUS ANIMAL IN AMERICA

In one year, sheep ranchers poisoned 213,000 wild animals. Bobcats, bears, mountain lions, coyotes, foxes and even—God help us—hundreds of American bald eagles.

No good. Senator Birch Bayh wants to stop this abominable dangerous poisoning with his Senate Bill S-819. The bill's passage requires letters from everybody who cares about America's wild animals. Write us. Together we can stop this insanity.

Dear Friends ....

Young men must still register with Selective Service at the time of their 18th birthday even though there is no draft, Dr. Charles R. Artale, Chairman of Selective Service Local Board No. 3 told us.

He urged those men who have not registered to do so promptly. "Failure to register is a violation of the law," Dr. Artale emphasized, "and could result in prosecution by the Department of Justice."

Young men must continue to register and their local boards will classify them as to their availability for possible military service should Congress authorize the resumption of inductions in the event of a national emergency.

Dr. Artale said the law requires that all male persons, except certain nonimmigrant aliens, in the United States must register with Selective Service within the 60-day period commencing 30 days prior to their 18th birthday. He stressed that young men actually have three legal obligations: (1) they must register at age 18, (2) they must notify their local Selective Service boards when they change addresses and (3) they must carry their draft cards with them until their liability expires, which for most men today is at age 26.

Selective Service is undergoing a major reorganization at this time, Dr. Artale explained, as the System reverts to a standby operation with no inductions taking place. Many local boards are being relocated or consolidated at a fewer number of administrative sites across the state. To eliminate the need for young men to travel to these administrative sites, Dr. Artale said Registrars and Advisors to Registrants have been appointed in most communities. With no inductions now planned, few problems should arise for the registrants which would require them to visit the administrative sites, Dr. Artale reported.

The Selective Service local board site operates at 1447 NORTHERN BOULEVARD, MANHASSET New York, with office hours from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Nassau's aspiring young Grand Prix drivers and automotive engineers will have a chance to show off their skill when Grant County Park in Hewlett holds its eighth annual Soapbox Derby on Thursday, August 9, at 11:00 a.m. The event is open to all Nassau boys between eight and 13.

Trophies will be awarded based on time and prizes will also be presented for the best designed and best constructed soapbox car. Registration will be held immediately preceding the event.

Town Councilman Howard T. Hogan Jr. told us that the Third Annual Midget Football Clinic will be held Saturday, July 28th, at the Ellsworth W. Allen Park on Heisser Lane and Motor Avenue, Farmingdale. The clinic, which is open to all football players, parents and coaches from Long Island, will begin at 9:30 AM and continue until 4 PM. During the day college and high school football coaches will offer advice on some of the physical and technical aspects of the sport.

THAT'S ALL for this week, stay well, don't waste a day, and remember the old saying, "The woman who henpecks her husband, is liable to find him listening to some other chick."

Washington Report

Congressman
NORMAN F. LENT
MI District, New York

THE WAR POWERS ACT (?)

The Congress last week was supposed to hunch up its collective belt, clench its fists, and prepare to reassert its power over the decision to make war - a prerogative which began withering away under Presidents beginning with Harry Truman.

What resulted instead was a House vote which seemed to confirm the very reason Congress dribbled this power away to the Presidency in the first place - a lack of fortitude to personally say "yes" or "no" to a Declaration of War in a recorded vote.

The bill that came to the House floor was dubiously dubbed the War Powers Act of 1973, but a more fitting title might have been the "Pass the Buck" Act. The War Powers bill as presented, in essence, granted the President the power to commit U.S. troops in an emergency with the proviso that he had to report to the Congress within 120 days on the necessity for his actions.

Logically, it would follow that the Congress would then have to either OK the decision or turn "thumbs down" on it, in which case U.S. troops would have to be withdrawn.

Quite the contrary. The bill which gained approval said instead that if the Congress took NO action, troops would have to be withdrawn. I could only reason that this approach provided a new tack on the part of some members of the Congressional leadership, in confirming their own impotence rather than reasserting their rightful power.

Many of us thought that things should be the other way around - that each Representative ought to have to stand up and cast his vote one way or the other - approving or disapproving the President's actions - and an amendment was introduced which would have required that. In fact, I joined with 199 other Representatives in supporting this change, sponsored by Rep.

Charles Whalen of Ohio, but it was defeated by a scant eleven votes.

The question the public must now be asking is: Has the Congress grown so weary and ineffective that it could declare its responsibility to be inaction on a matter of great national consequence such as the commitment of U.S. troops to combat? I am afraid the answer is "Yes."

I firmly support the concept of the War Powers Act and feel that the Presidents of the future should be required to come before the Congress to get approval for any lasting commitment of U.S. troops.

I cannot understand, however, how we would be restoring one iota of power to Congress by writing legislation that, on a matter of highest national consequence, would affect the result by doing nothing. The bill passed by the House is all conceived and probably unconstitutional. I voted against it.

New Community College Campus

"From its infancy in the corridors of the Old County Courthouse through its adolescence in vintage World War II buildings at Mitchell Field, Nassau County Community College has matured into the finest institution of its kind in all of New York State." Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Caso declared today at groundbreaking ceremonies for the new community college campus at Mitchell Field.

"Today we are taking the first step towards giving our community college a campus to match the excellence of the education that it is giving to so many of our young men and women," Caso said.

Construction of the new campus on 225 acres in the northeast portion of Mitchell Field will be carried out in four stages. It is scheduled for completion by 1978. The estimated $115 million cost will be financed by a 30-year State Dormitory Authority bond issue that Caso requested last year. The county's cost will pay half the debt service over the 30-year period.

Phase I, which begins today, entails construction of a physical plant building to serve as maintenance headquarters and a warehouse and storage area. Phase II, construction of the library and of two instructional wings to provide additional classrooms and laboratory space, will start in the fall. Phase III, construction of an administrative office building, the north parking structure for multi-level parking, physical education building and athletic fields, will get underway in the spring of 1974. The final phase, construction of a third instructional wing, a media center, a theater, a student center and the south parking structure, will begin in early 1975.

To minimize interference with ongoing education programs on the campus, the architects plan to use prefabricated structural components, constructed in factories and assembled on the site.

The Nassau Community College first opened in a wing of the old county courthouse in 1960. Two years later, it moved into abandoned World War II barracks buildings at Mitchell Field. Its present enrollment is 18,000 full and part-time students.

The college is the largest of 38 locally-supported two-year institutions in the State University system and the second largest in undergraduate enrollment of the system's 72 university centers and institutions.

Town Moves Toward Mandatory Newspaper Recycling Program

The Oyster Bay Town Board today (Tuesday, July 24, 1973) took a major step in developing a Town-wide newspaper recycling program, according to Supervisor John W. Burke. The program, termed "both viable and vital" by Oyster Bay's chief executive, takes precedent from the Town's existing newspaper recycling program.

The Town Board's action authorized preparation of an ordinance to mandate separation of paper from garbage and rubbish by residents and amended the capital budget to implement the program.

"Expansion of this environmental protection program is vital," Burke, "for the conservation of the useful life of the Town's sanitary landfill space and for the preservation and conservation of virgin natural resources."

"Because responsiveness to the needs of the community is a primary necessity in the effective operation of Oyster Bay government, we must act now to protect and preserve the healthy atmosphere of our suburban environment."

The pilot newspaper recycling project, a voluntary program operating within selected collection routes, has met with increasing response and participation since its inception in January, 1972. Last May alone, 441,600 pounds of newspaper had been collected from the 14,600 homes served.

The proposed Town-wide program is supportive of the overall Solid Waste Program currently being developed by the Town's Division of Environmental Control and the currently operating Resource Recovery Program. Respectively, these programs are designed to reduce the quantity of solid waste being treated and disposed of on a daily basis and to salvage usable solid waste commodities.

An authorized expenditure of $268,000 will be utilized in the purchase of 12 new compactor garbage trucks. The Town will trade in six trucks currently in use and designate another six

Hicksville Retailer Fined $750

A Hicksville retailer was fined $750 Wednesday, July 18 for knowingly selling pirated tape recordings, in violation of New York anti-piracy law, by Nassau County District Court Judge William Gitelman.

The retailer, Edward B. Smith, operates Broadway Records and Tapes in Hicksville. He is believed to have sold several hundred tapes.

This is the first conviction by a jury of a retailer for selling bootlegged tapes.

Assistant District Attorney Joseph Famighetti handled the case. Thomas Costello, of the D.A.'s office, was the arresting officer.

Recording piracy is widespread throughout the United States. Nearly one in three tape recordings purchased in the U.S. is a pirated copy of a legitimate recording. The pirates divert some $200 million annually from legitimate recording companies, artists and composers.

Hicksville Soccer Club to Hold Registration

The membership of the Hicksville American Soccer Club have elected to open registration to all boys interested in learning and playing soccer. In the past, only those boys with previous knowledge and experience in the sport were admitted as playing members.

Recently, the Hicksville American Soccer Club voted to open registration and teach the sport to all boys on an intramural level. Registration will be held every Saturday throughout August at the Hicksville Public Library between 9 A.M. and 1 P.M. Membership is open to boys between the ages of 5 thru 12. No previous experience is necessary as the Hicksville Soccer Club plans to develop the sport among interested youth who will complete evenings throughout the fall and spring. From this group, players will be selected for the clubs traveling teams which compete annually against the finest competition available in the Metropolitan area.

A registration fee of ten dollars per child or fifteen dollars per family (more than one child) will be required to cover insurance and uniform cost.

Since registration is limited, boys will be signed up on a first come first served basis.

Supervisor JOHN W. BURKE REPORTS

New York State recently unveiled its master plan for a statewide, long-range program for the preservation and improvement of our environment. Commissioner Henry J. L. Diamond and his Department of Environmental Conservation are to be commended for a comprehensive analysis of a subject that has been neglected, misunderstood and ignored by too many for too long.

The 91 page report delineates the wide range of environmental problems that we have brought upon ourselves through unrestrained technology, growth and development. Some of the problems are regional in nature, others are national in scope and of epidemic proportions.

I would like to make the distinction, however, between a problem that is regional in scope and nature and one that is common to many areas but local in nature. The former requires action on a regional scale, but the latter can best be solved on a local level using local knowledge. This is recognized, to some extent, in the proposed state environmental plan which notes that "what is done should be done by the level of government in the best position to benefit the most people."

This is of particular importance in the case of land use, which has a major influence on man's environment. Each piece of land has its own topographical and geological characteristics, and, on the basis of these natural attributes, is inherently suitable or at least preferable for a certain type of development, whether it be recreational, conservational, residential or industrial-commercial.

Environmental factors have been a major criteria throughout the preparation and development of the Town of Oyster Bay's Master Plan. And it is this capability of local officials to best recognize the particular natural character of land and integrate this knowledge with the needs and desires of the local population that mandates that this important environmental responsibility remain with the local government.

The Town of Oyster Bay has been in the forefront of the battle to preserve and improve our environment through its establishment of a Division of Environmental Control and the Environmental Control Commission, strict legislation controlling oil spills and cesspool waste disposal, efficient incinerator air pollution control systems and the preservation of our valuable wetlands.

The proposed state environmental plan is still undergoing intensive review by Town experts. This will result in a report of constructive comments designed to make the plan even more effective.

On Drunk Drivers

Nassau County Police Commissioner Louis J. Frank, concerned over the increasing number of highway fatalities in the county has ordered his department to step up its drive against drunk drivers.

At a staff meeting with senior commanders Frank told them that the "alarming" increase in highway deaths was of sufficient proportions to further intensify the drive to get drunk drivers off the road.

The Commissioner noted that despite increased police activity there have been more people killed in automobile accidents within the police district so far this year than there were during a comparable period in 1972.

As of mid-June, 48 persons have died as the result of automobile accidents as compared with 39 in 1972 during the same period of time. This despite a marked increase in the number of arrests for driving while intoxicated.

Since January 1st, there have been more than 2,500 persons arrested for drunk driving in the district and projections indicate that some 5,400 will be arrested.

Frank has instructed his commanders in the Police District which takes in the eight precincts in the county and in the Highway Patrol which is a headquarters unit, to impress upon the men of the force that apprehending drunk drivers before they have an accident is a top priority item.

"I want the men on patrol to think, not so much in terms of arrest, but in terms of preventing someone from being killed," he said.

The Department has for some time been engaged in a crack-down on drunk drivers, not only at the precinct level, but through the special Alcohol Safety Patrol which was created through a federal grant, but will be continued through county funds and is specifically aimed at keeping drunk drivers off the roads.

"There's no such thing as enough enforcement when it comes to keeping people from getting killed," Frank stated "and I won't go along with the actuarial theory that because there are so many cars, there are going to be so many people killed."

Just this past weekend, three people died in two automobile accidents in Nassau which saw two men jailed for driving while intoxicated.

Accident Reports

Moderate Changes In Youth Diet Now May Protect Hearts Later On

In the spring of life, a young one's fancy should be turned towards foods that will help a heart later on, the Nassau Heart Association says in a spring-time message to mothers.

Their aim should be to set a table that serves less fatty foods and to watch their children's intake of calories so that overweight is prevented. While this is good advice for every member of the family, it is particularly important for children who on testing by physicians are found to have high levels of fatty substances in their blood, or who have one or both parents with this condition.

Atherosclerosis—a disease of the arteries that is closely linked with heart attack and stroke—is caused by deposits of cholesterol and other fats found so abundantly in snacks favored by youngsters—hot dogs, fatty hamburgers, oil-soaked French fries and potato chips, ice cream and other rich desserts.

Many studies have shown that this disease can start early in life, so a sound eating pattern developed in the early years can do a great deal to lower the risk of dying from coronary artery disease in the prime of life, Nassau Heart Association states.

In most cases, moderate changes in food serving can achieve the goal of helping young hearts. Generally, these are the points for homemakers to follow, says Nassau Heart.

YOUTH DIET

Serve more meals of fish, chicken, turkey and veal. If beef, pork, ham or lamb are used, make sure that they are lean, and serve moderate portions per person.

Most hot dogs have a high percentage of fat. You can continue to serve hamburgers, but use lean ground meat and broil, if so the melted fat drips out. Hamburgers fried or done on a griddle cook in—and absorb—their own fat.

Avoid frying other foods, but if you must fry occasionally, use a non-stick pan so you can get by with a little polyunsaturated oil or margarine.

Also substitute margarine for butter as a spread and in other uses, including baking. Be sure to use a margarine that lists liquid oil as its major ingredient. This would be the first item mentioned on the label and should be corn, sunflower or safflower oil. Avoid coconut oil; it is high in saturated fat.

Cut back on use of luncheon meats, sausages and salami. These, like hot dogs, are high in saturated fats, the kinds that tend to raise cholesterol levels in the blood.

Encourage the use of fresh fruit and puddings made with non-fat milk to take the place of ice cream.

For more information on a heart-helping diet, ask Nassau Heart Association for the meal plan leaflet titled "The Way to a Man's Heart," and its companion recipe booklet, and for the leaflet titled "Healthy Eating for Teenagers."

Social Security

Question Box

The most important aspect of retirement is the planning before retirement. Sydney Savrin, manager of the Mineola Social Security district, said "Pre-retirement planning often makes the difference between a full, happy, retirement and one which ends in disaster."

Major retirement planning is usually centered around finance. For example, what do you want to do in your retirement? Do you have sufficient retirement income to do it? If you have sufficient income to retire, what would happen if you or a member of your family became seriously ill, or injured? Do you have enough hospitalization insurance, or savings to cover these unexpected expenses?

These are just a few of the questions that need to be answered while you are planning your retirement. But, where do you go to get answers to your questions?

Mr. Savrin answered the question this way. "One of the first steps in complete retirement planning is the local Social Security office. The Social Security office can give information on the amount of your Social Security retirement income, explain your Medicare benefits, and help you get answers to your questions that are not related to Social Security."

For more information about your retirement, or any Social Security question, call or visit your local Social Security office. The office in Mineola is located at 1505 Kellum Place, the telephone number is 747-5470.

"Last Of The Red Hot Lovers"

"Last of the Red Hot Lovers," Neil Simon's comedy hit which ran on Broadway for two years, will be the dinner-theater attraction from August 1-12 at Carl Hoppl's Malibu in Lido Beach.

Featuring an all-professional cast, the three-act comedy will be presented Wednesdays through Sundays at Malibu situated on the oceanfront in Nassau County.

The price for dinner and show on weekdays and Sunday is $9.95, with dinner starting at 7 PM and curtain at 8:30 PM. On Saturdays the price is $11.95, and dinner is at 7:30 PM with curtain at 9 PM. Reservations may be made by calling (516) 432-4597.

"Last of the Red Hot Lovers" deals with a 47-year old roly poly seafood restaurant owner who, after 23 years as a faithful husband, decides to join the sexual revolution and undertakes a foray into adultery with disastrous but hilarious results.

David Carroll portrays the fling-seeking husband, a role which rocketed James Coco to stardom in the show's Broadway presentation. Suzanne Dawson, Sheila Lynne Barash of Bethpage and Maxine Bernstein appear as the three women the inept Lothario seeks to seduce.

Time Magazine called the show "a laugh orgy." Clive Barnes of the New York Times described it as an "uproarious but touching portrayal of a sad sack who just can't succeed in sinning." Richard Watts, Jr. of the N.Y. Post said it was "a genuinely brilliant play. Delightfully hilarious and witty."

The Malibu production will be directed by Ed Williams. Costumes will be by Stephen Fuhr and stage design by Gary Grossman of East Meadow.

Malibu is currently presenting Woody Allen's "Play It Again, Sam" through July 29. During Aug. 13-Sept. 2, Malibu will present another Neil Simon comedy, "Barefoot in the Park."

"Quarter-Pounder" Isn't A Quarter Pound

McDonald's much-advertised quarter-pounder isn't a quarter-pounder at all - at least not in Nassau County, a Consumer Affairs investigation initiated by County Executive Ralph G. Caso revealed today.

Caso said that the Commodity Control team in the Office of Consumer Affairs weighed more than 150 raw hamburger patties at five different McDonald locations in the county and found them to be lightweights - some by as much as a quarter of an ounce. Consumer Affairs Commissioner James E. Picken said that the team went back to three of the McDonald's a second time and found that they were still selling less-than-quarter pounders at that time.

"As a continuing program and particularly now, because of the severe rise in food costs, we sent our commodity control team out to find out if the fast-food counters were giving the people what they claim to be giving," Caso said. "What we discovered is that a lot of families and young people who spend money at McDonald's aren't getting what they pay for." Picken said "a quarter of an ounce may not seem like much but multiply it by the billions of hamburgers McDonald's sells and it amounts to plenty."

As a result of the action by Picken's office, the McDonald Corp. of Bloomfield, N.J. has been charged by the county with false advertising. The corporation is due for arraignment in First District Court, Mineola, on Aug. 9 to answer the county's charge that it violated Sec. 190.20 of the New York State Penal Law in its ads. Section 190.20 prohibits "false or misleading statements in any advertising addressed to the public or to a substantial number of persons."

Caso said that "this administration will not tolerate any situation in which the public does not get what it pays for and expects to get. Our investigation will continue and any establishment that offers steak or hamburger by weight had better make certain that the weight is correct before cooking."

The McDonald's burgers cost 60 cents each and are widely advertised on radio, television, in newspapers, and large window signs at each drive-in. The signs state that the hamburgers are "made with a quarter pound of 100 per cent beef," Picken said that "McDonald's makes a big pitch about a full four ounces of meat. Let them give an honest four ounces - or else call their hamburger the 'not quite-a-quarter pounder'."

Picken said the patties were made for the McDonald's drive-ins by a meat packer who supplies the county area. The packer is not charged at this time and the name was not revealed. The commissioner said he had no evidence that the short-weighted hamburgers were being sold at McDonald's drive-ins in Suffolk or elsewhere in the county but that all information his office has will be turned over to the Fair Trade Commission for investigation into such a possibility following the arraignment.

The McDonald's drive-ins where it was found that the hamburger "ain't what it ought to be" were in Syosset, Plainview, Wantagh, Elmont and Franklin Square. Caso said the investigation of the Office of Consumer Affairs would continue. "With the rising cost of living, the public deserves a break today," he added.

New Computer System Makes Title Searches Faster

A new computerized system that is expected to reduce substantially the time needed to complete title searches has just become operational by his office, it was announced by Nassau County Clerk Harold W. McConnell. The new system will aid title searchers, attorneys, credit investigators and, particularly, the general public.

Believed to be more modern than any other in the State of New York, the computerized system will allow professional title searchers to make judgment searches in much less time than heretofore. Because of the ease of searching now made available, more accurate reporting will be attainable, County Clerk McConnell said. The public will now find it less confusing to locate information about judgments.

The County Clerk revealed that the indexes to records of judgments are computerized and a hard-copy printout covering a 10-year period is available. Why this period of time? Because, Mr. McConnell said, there is a 10-year statute of limitations for a judgment to be a lien on real property and it was determined that this period would cover most cases where a search was required.

"These indexes will be kept current by daily updating," he stated.

The new computerization system is under the supervision and control of the County's Department of General Services, the director of which is Henry W. Dwyer. It is a graphic demonstration, County Clerk McConnell said, of the coordination and cooperation between not only his office and the Department of General Services, but of other offices of Nassau as well.

The County Clerk's Office has

BOCES Offers

Free Job Skill Courses

The second three-week session of a free occupational orientation program will begin on July 30. Twenty-four courses are available in the program which is open to all Nassau County residents over the age of 15.

The federally funded project is conducted at occupational education centers operated by the Nassau Board of Cooperative been recognized for its modern method of maintaining records. The County's real property records have been indexed both alphabetically and geographically by computer for a number of years, Mr. McConnell pointed out. He said that these same records have been microfilmed for added protection, with a security copy of each stored in the Iron Mountain Atomic Storage Corporation's security vaults near Hudson, New York. Over 14,000 rolls of film from Nassau County stored in these vaults, he added.

Educational Services (BOCES) in Freeport, Mineola, North Bellmore, Syosset, and Westbury.

More than 800 job-hunters, housewives, teenagers, college students, and senior citizens were enrolled in the first session which will end on Friday of this week. Many are so enthusiastic that they expect to continue during the second session.

Of particular interest to housewives is the ornamental horticulture course in which the students learn how to care for, select, and arrange dried and cut flowers.

"My children were away during the first session, so I had no problem," says one student. "But I'm getting a baby sitter for the next three weeks because I don't want to miss a minute of this course. I've learned so much."

College students and teenagers have been attracted to the courses in building mechanics (carpentry), masonry and bricklaying, child care, cosmetology, and commercial art.

Other available courses are animal care, auto body repair, automotive mechanics, aviation trades, commercial food services, data processing and computer techniques, floral design, office occupations, key punch operations, office machine operations, oil heat servicing, photography, radio and television repair, refrigeration and air conditioning, small engine repair, trade electricity, and welding techniques.

The second session of the program will run from July 30 to August 17. Courses are conducted daily from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

To register or for further information, call 292-9292, 9293, or write Summer Occupational Orientation Program, BOCES Adult Education, 96A Main St. Hempstead, NY 11550.

Local Scouts to Attend Jamboree in Sweden

Barbara Hughes, Jayne Trentanove, Donna Ventruella and Carol Maynard, of Hicksville, are four of the twelve Girl Scouts who have been chosen to represent the United States at a World Wide Scout Jamboree in Sweden. All of the girls are from Mid-Island Council Girl Scouts, and they will be accompanied by ten Boy Scouts, also from this area.

The group will be staying in homes outside of Stockholm and will be sightseeing in that area. A short visit to Norway is planned and then they will return to Sweden for the International Jamboree.

During the past several months the group has been meeting to acquaint themselves with Swedish customs, language, money, food, and geography. They are under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Kalz, who originally received the invitation. Two young adults will also accompany them on the trip.

Everyone is looking forward to departure on July 22. The date of return will be August 13.

YOUR LIFE INSURANCE
Q. Suppose my life insurance policy is lost or my survivors cannot find it—what then?
A. Your policy represents a valuable asset. If you lose it, by all means promptly notify your insurance agent. He can tell you the steps necessary to get a replacement policy. If your survivors cannot locate the document, your agent will advise them how to proceed to collect payment.

Q. Can my insurance policies ever be attached by my creditors?
A. Sometimes yes, but most states have passed legislation which, in certain circumstances, exempts in whole or in part life insurance policies payable to named beneficiaries from claims of the insured's creditors.

EXPOS WIN PENNANT AND PLAYOFFS IN 3rd GRADE LEAGUE

Expos Season Leading hitters - Bobby Clark .833 John Toner .594 Dan Friel .391 Jack Volpe .579 Most Runs batted in - Bobby Clark .23 Chris Delardi .17 Jack Volpe .17 John Toner .16 Pitching: Bobby Clark - 8 wins 0 losses; Jack Volpe 3 wins 0 losses; and Tom Blake 1 win 0 losses. In addition to his 8-0 record, Bobby Clark struck out a total of 62 batters in 27 innings while walking only 19.

AMERICAN, NATIONAL & INTERNATIONAL LITTLE LEAGUE TOURNAMENT RESULTS: The CYO team was made up of 3rd and 4th grade All Stars. We beat the International Little League in the first round, 29-3. Hitting stars were Jack Volpe (2-2), Bobby Clark (1-1 and 3 walks), Bob Keenan (2-3), William McCullough (3-3), Dan Bowen (3-3) and Mike Tarnell (2-3).

We went into the Finals against the Little League National League and they upset us 7-6 in 7 innings (1 extra inning). It was quite an emotional game. Out boys are 8-9 and some 10 year olds - Their boys are 9-10-11 and they also had four 12 year olds. We played our hearts out and lost on a sacrifice fly in the bottom of the 7th. All the boys played well and particularly outstanding were Bob Clark with 2 for 3 and a credible 3 innings of pitching. William McCullough with a big clutch double that temporarily put us in the lead, Dan Bowen with 1-1 and a walk, another big hit, and lastly Mike Tarnell who excelled in the field. Stuart Hoffer also pitched 3 innings of ball and did exceedingly well. 5th and 6th GRADE CYO BASEBALL REPORT

In what may be considered the climax to the 5th and 6th grade baseball season, the St. Ignatius all-stars won the Mythical Championship by defeating the Hicksville International All-Stars, coached by Bob Herold, 7-6, and by beating the Hicksville Nationals, coached by Norm Stafford 15-14.

The St. Ignatius All-Stars were made up of pitchers Bob Ryan, Glen Tyranski, Eddie Recek, catchers Frank Caputo, Scott Cahalan, and Peter Fletcher, infielders Peter Collins, Mike Howe, Don Anglin, Mike Bell, Chris Bradley, and outfielders Joe Walker, Jeff Barker, Richie Sommers and Joe Drake. They were managed by Rich Howe and coached by Gene Tyranski.

In the first game, St. Ignatius was held hitless until the 8th when Don ANGLIN singled, and before the inning was over, they had tied the game at 4-4 with the big hit being a two-run double by Scott Cahalan. In the 7th inning, Mike Howe walked and scored on Frank Caputo's double. Two batters later, Don Anglin doubled two more runs which they needed as the Internationals rallied for two runs and had the rally shut-off on a great catch by Mike Howe in left field to save the game. Glen Tyranski was the winning pitcher in a very fine relief effort.

After the American had lost to the National 13-6, St. Ignatius played the Nationals and as on the previous night they fell behind right away. The National led 11-4 in the third, but St. Ignatius never gave up as they scored in every inning, and climaxed it by banging across five runs in the sixth inning. Tyranski walked, Anglin singled and Collins walked to load the bases. Mike Howe singled in one run and Joe Drake doubled in two more, and Jeff Barker got the other run with a single. St. Ignatius held them in the seventh, thanks to a sparkling play by Mike Bell to end the game. Bob Ryan and Glen Tyranski again pitched very well for St. Ignatius in relief. All fifteen men were on base at least once for St. Ignatius in a fine team effort.
