Hicksville Fire Department To Hold First Night Parade

Final plans are being made to hold the 45th annual Labor Day parade and drill sponsored by the Hicksville Fire Department. General Chairman and Grand Marshall is Ex-Captain William R. Stahley, Jr., while the Honorary Grand Marshall is Ex-Captain Carl Eismann, who is being honored for 50 years of service to the department.

For the first time, the parade will be held on a Sunday night. Starting time is 6:00 P.M. on September 2nd. The parade route will be the same as last year, assembling along Jerusalem Avenue, East on Old Country Road to Carl Street, North on Broadway to West John Street and will enter the Mid Island Plaza opposite the Hicksville Post Office. There will be 6000 grandstand seats available and admission for the parade only will be free. At this writing, more than 40 Fire Departments are participating, with some of them coming from as far away as Connecticut and New Hampshire. More than 30 bands are entered.

On Monday morning, Labor Day, the tournament will start at 9:30 A.M. In addition, the Hicksville Fire Department will also hold a 9th Battalion tournament on September 2nd, starting at 1:00 P.M. This is an old fashion tournament, and the participants are the Fire Departments in our area.

Further details will be submitted to THE HERALD readers, and a complete line up of the parade will be printed as soon as plans are finalized.

Leland Badler 1927-1973

By Stanley Turner

At long last, the disheartening, weary, anxious wait is over, bringing to a tragic end the brilliant career and dynamically active personality of "Lee" Badler, former President of the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce.

Last February at Phoenix, Ariz. Lee took off in his plane, with his son David, 14, for a ski vacation. The day of their return was reported as bad for small planes, with ice and sleet in the ski area. When they were long overdue, a wide intensive search was conducted for about a week, to no avail.

On July 30th, a forest ranger found the wreckage of small plane, atop a 6,500 ft. mountain, about 90 mi. NW of Globe, Ariz. The site was inaccessible except on horseback. Identification and removal were extremely difficult but completed and Lee with his son returned to Brooklyn, where they were buried last week.

In 1965, when he was elected President, Lee was Chairman of the Revitalization Committee which had just completed a comprehensive report on the operation and function of the Chamber. He was re-elected in 1966 and again in 1967. Under his administration's innovative programs the Chamber enjoyed three very successful and prosperous years.

Preparations Completed For Hearing On Community Park For Hicksville

With the passage of two resolutions today, the Town Board completed all the legal preparations prior to conducting public hearings concerning the acquisition of about seven acres of land for a community park in the Hicksville Park District.

Today's board action amended the capital budget to include the park project and set an August 28, 1973 hearing date on the issuance of $600,000 in bonds. The Board previously set the same date for a hearing on the acquisition of the land.

Town Councilman Warren M. Doolittle and Supervisor John W. Burke were pressing for completion of all the preliminary phases of the park project so that there would be no delays, if after the public hearings, the Town Board wishes to complete the acquisition.

"I have no doubt of the need for a community park in Hicksville," Doolittle said, "and I hope residents will attend the public hearings to encourage prompt action aimed at acquisition." The land is located on the west side of Lee Avenue between Ninth Street and North Drive. It is one of the largest undeveloped plots in Hicksville.

The hearings on the acquisition and bond issue will begin at 10 AM in the hearing room of Town Hall, Oyster Bay.

The girls competed against eleven top all girl corps from all over the United States and Canada, taking first place in this great international contest. Lively Summer Meeting For County Supervisors

By Janet Gosnell

PUBLIC FORUM: Among those addressing the supervisors at its August 13th meeting were (top left) Irving Flaumenbaum, president of the Civil Service Employees Assn., who protested "runaway inflation"; Natalie Mutari, (lower left), Democratic candidate for Hempstead Town Supervisor, who asked for a comprehensive water program for the county; and Norman Blankman, Independent candidate for County Executive, who questioned fiscal reports of the Coliseum.

and hotels. Public facilities already on the drawing board are a park and a central reference library.

Quietly having a fit was Norman Blankman, Independent candidate for County Executive, who questioned the solvency and accuracy of financial reports issued from the Nassau Coliseum, in regard to a proposed resolution which would allow the County Executive to execute a standard contract for commercial events. He and County Controller M. Halstead Christ got into a discussion about fiscal reporting on a cash or accrual basis which would show a different percentage of loss. He was also interested to know who had the television rights for the Coliseum. He was told by the county executive that various companies were presently putting together proposals, and that a decision would probably be forthcoming on the subject this year.

Candidate Natalie Mutari, Democrat running for Town of Hempstead Supervisor, stepped forward with a suggestion that the Supervisors work on a comprehensive water program for the county, citing the differences in water rates all over the county, with a high at Lido Beach; the raise in rates already granted to the Long Island Water Co. and a raise now sought by the New York Water Service. The later rate, to be considered by the Public Service Commission, will affect thousands of home owners from many south shore communities from an average yearly rate of $85. for water to $120., she said.

Poverty and Inflation

Others who spoke spontaneously after the stated agenda were Irving Flaumenbaum, president of the Civil Service Employees Assn. in Nassau County, who excited fear over the problem of "runaway inflation" and representatives of the Community Action Program in Roosevelt, claiming oppression by the Nassau EOC and its leader, John Kearse.

Mr. Flaumenbaum complained that all the salary gains achieved this year for civil service employees had been eroded by the pressures of inflation.

There will be a cocktail hour from 8-9 PM with unlimited drinks, hot and cold hors d'oeuvres; a seated dinner; and a short talk with slides, by Dr. Schmeer, entitled: "Mercenene: anti cancer agent from the clam."

Former Congressman Herbert Tenzer, philanthropist and President of the newly formed America-Israel Friendship League, will be the guest speaker of the evening and present an award to Dr. Schmeer.

Tickets are $12.50 per person. All proceeds from the affair go to Dr. Schmeer's research. LEGISLATION WITH A HEART: Governor Rockefeller, right, and Assemblyman Joseph M. Margiotta (R-Uniondale), left, congratulate Clifford Schmidt Nassau Police Benevolent Association President, after the Governor signed into law the recently enacted reform pension plan for state employees. The reform pension bill included at Margiotta's insistence, a provision providing benefits for police and firemen who are disabled or die due to heart disease while on the job.

Dear Friends

Nassau County Executive Ralph Caso tells me that our county has been awarded a $78,454 grant by the State Div. of Criminal Justice Services to begin a vocational rehabilitation program for women inmates at the Nassau County Jail which will provide pre-release vocational counseling and post-release activities involving job training, job placement, group counseling and referrals for supportive services such as day care, transportation, legal assistance and medical aid.

Adelphi University will begin a new four-year degree program to train management specialists in transportation, travel and tourism this Sept. This degree is needed by people who plan to work for airlines, mass transit agencies, trucking and ship lines and tourist and recreational concerns, among others. "Jobs are available," says Dr. Samuel I. Porra, founder of the PTT educational program, "because these fields have continued their expansion despite problems in other sectors of the national economy. This is a multi-billion dollar amalgam of interrelated services. It represents the second largest industry in the world," he concluded. For details call Dean Richard Melucci, 294-8700, ext. 7457.

As summer draws to a close, don't forget the varied programs being offered for your enjoyment at our Town and County parks. For details phone 292-4121.

THAT'S ALL for this week. Stay well. Don't waste a day, and remember the old saying, "A flaw in a piece of white jade may be ground away, but a word spoken amiss may not be called back." - Confucius.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Hicksville resident,

For far too many years our community has been without park facilities for our children, senior citizens and almost senior citizens. Syosset-Woodbury, Plainview-Old Bethpage, Massapequa-all have decent community park facilities for their residents. All "the powers that be" want to give us in Hicksville is a triangle near the railroad station with more vacant office space and apartment houses so we can climb another rung on the ladder to becoming the Jamaica of Nassau County. Sure they plan to give us another "walk your dog" park on the grounds of the Giese nursery, but do you want another W.Y.D. park or do you want what the other T.O.B. taxpayers have?

According to the General Tax Levy for 1973 T.O.B., the Hicksville tax rate includes .201 for every $100 A.V. for our W.Y.D. parks. Plainview-Old Bethpage pays .303 per $100 A.V.; Syosset pays .432 per $100 A.V. and Massapequa pays .455 per $100 A.V. Can't we afford a community park or maybe two, like the "other guy" has, with a pool, professional type baseball diamond, band shell, ice skating, senior citizens' area, etc.? (Hicksville taxpayers pay a special tax for the escalator at the Hicksville R.R. station of .013. YES, ONLY YOU PAY. Of the 53,000 people in our town, how many use this escalator?)

Hicksville has many activities for its residents. The youth of the community have the P.B.C., Little League, C.Y.O., Marching Cadet Corps, Soccer League, the Hicksville Jr. Olympic Games (which had to use the pool facilities at the Lutheran High School in Muttontown for its swim championships this year), etc.

HICKSVILLE HAS MANY ACTIVITIES BUT NO FACILITIES

Let's all get together August 28th at the Oyster Bay Town Board Meeting, Town Hall, Oyster Bay, New York at 10 A.M. for the public hearing on the proposal of a community park in Hicksville and tell the Board to "PARK IT" in Hicksville.

William R. Thomas

Dear Mr. Zalewski:

I would like to take this opportunity to express our family's thanks to you personally and to the music students of our district for making Thursday evenings so enjoyable and rewarding. We know the Summer Stage Band is a new venture in our district and sincerely hope that it will continue in the future, as I am sure that all the residents and their families, who attended these sessions, will attest to the fact that this is quite an exceptionally fine group. I do not know how many people realize that they gave their time voluntarily to rehearse and entertain all of us who came out to listen.

Many times we hear and read the bad publicity regarding our teen-agers. Yet, when you see a group of students composed of seniors, who graduated this past June, as well as a graduate of a few years back, who is well into his college studies and the present group who are in Hicksville High School perform as they did for our benefit, we, as parents, have to say how lucky we are to have children such as these representing Hicksville.

Last, but not least, a very special thanks to our Music Department, without whom this would not have been possible, as they provide this district with a program that is among the finest. Sincerely,

Mr. and Mrs. S.G. Asam
31 Jay Street, Hicksville

Editor's Note: This letter which was sent to Mr. Zalewski, was sent also to Dr. Niosi, Mr. Grouse and Mr. Tomains, as well as the newspapers. We think it is well worth printing.

At Hicksville Library

Two exciting early morning puppet shows have been planned for children at the Hicksville Public Library. The Nassau County Recreation Department's Mobile Puppet Units will present the "Big Apple" on August 21st and "Bewitched" on August 28th. Both performances are scheduled for 9:30 in the library's back courtyard.

Tobay To Gain $156,000 On Landfill Excavation

By rejecting all bids and going out to a second round of bidding the Town will gain a profit of $156,000 while having needed excavation work completed at its landfill park site in Plainview, Town Supervisor John W. Burke announced today.

The Town Board today accepted the bid of Cedar Brook Contracting Corporation which assures the removal of 600,000 cubic yards of dirt within an eight month period and gives the Town a profit of $156,000, Burke said.

He explained that since the contractor will sell the dirt, he is able to perform the work needed by the Town at no cost and actually pay the Town for the material removed. In addition, and most important, we have assurances that the work will be performed on time," Burke noted. "This is especially important since there is a growing need to use the landfill in the near future.

Bids that had been submitted to the Town last June 25th, were rejected by the Board at its meeting July 24th.

None of the nine bids opened June 25th showed a definite profit to be gained by the Town and one went to the extent of requiring the Town to pay $1,185,000 for the excavation work.

By changing some specifications to eliminate the possibility of ambiguity in bids and to stress the importance of having the work completed in time, the new bids opened August 8th showed two contractors offering a profit to the Town, with Cedar Brook Contracting Corp. offering the greater amount. There were a total of four companies bidding on the second specifications with one bid still requiring Town payment for the excavation work and another being rejected because it was incomplete.

In related action the Town Board voted to pay $2.49 million to the former owners of the landfill-park site. Although the final cost for the land will be determined by the courts at condemnation proceedings, the $2.49 million payment was based on the report of Town-appointed appraiser Walter J. Smith.

By making the payment now instead of awaiting a court determination of the final price of the parcel, the Town is saving on a six per cent increase charge which is required by law. State law also requires that a municipality pay 100 per cent of its approved appraisal even if the court were to decide on a lower figure.

Acquisition Of Stillwell Woods Approved By Board

Acting on the motion of Oyster Bay Town Supervisor John W. Burke, the Nassau Board of Supervisors has voted unanimously to acquire the 280 acre Stillwell Woods property in Woodbury.

The property, partially wooded and partially grassy plain, is located south of Stillwell Lane, west of the proposed Caumsett Parkway, north of the Long Island Railroad tracks and east of South Woods Road.

Burke commended County Executive Ralph G. Caso and his board colleagues for acting wisely in purchasing the tract.

He said the county will land bank the property for future development as a county park which, he said, "will fit in with the town's master plan for the area."

"The successful person is more interested in positive objectives than negative objections."

"WE TAKE BETTER CARE OF YOUR CLOTHES"

SEEING IS believing in this test. Left view was washed for three years. Washed pair are no longer wearable, while drycleaned pair are "like new".

Dryclean it better? She proves it!

A three-year test was recently conducted on two pairs of identical polyester slacks. They were worn an equal length of time and drycleaned and laundered about the same number of times, to compare the two methods.

The carefully supervised test, according to the National Automatic Laundry and Cleaning Council, was conducted in a coin-op store by Mrs. Delma Fae House, Raytown Nore Village, Raytown, Mo.

According to Mrs. House, the two pairs of Catalina brand permanent press slacks were purchased at the same time. The label reads "Machine wash — tumble dry." The garments were worn at least once a week over the three-year period. Mrs. House also worked in her slacks regularly.

As the photos indicate, the laundered slacks lost color, became very limp and the seams and seat ragged.

"Mine (the ones drycleaned) are truly like new," Mrs. House said, after three years of constant use.

Now that the test is completed, and being a very resourceful coin-store operator, Mrs. House hangs the two garments side by side in the store with signs identifying each pair. This gives her a great talking point with customers who ask questions about washing versus drycleaning, even though the label says "washable." The answer is there for them to see.

LI. National Bank To Conduct Ecology Campaign

On August 8 - Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Caso raised an ecology flag in front of the Long Island National Bank's main office, in Hicksville, in a ceremony signalling the bank's coming month-long campaign to demonstrate how business and industry can encourage greater community awareness of urgent national and local conservation needs.

The ecology banner, believed to be the first of its kind flown on Long Island, will remain aloft during the bank's campaign, August 27 through September 21, when more than 25,000 "Ecology Kits" will be distributed free through the bank's 11 offices in Nassau and Suffolk Counties. Attending the pre-campaign ceremony at which they expressed support of the ecology program were representatives of government, environmental groups, utilities, business and industry.

National Bank and president of the Long Island Bankers Association, produced a sample kit which contains packets of flower seeds, ecology label buttons, various pamphlets, reprints and other literature produced by governmental agencies, industries and conservation groups. The material deals with programs to conserve fuel and energy; anti-pollution of air and water; noise abatement; recycling of diminishing products; community beautification, and home improvements.

Also, the kit includes an 8-page, tabloid-size, publication, "The Long Island Ecologist", prepared for the campaign and reporting on ecology activities at all levels of government and among Long Island environmental groups.

At the same time, Mr. Dinkelacker announced that the bank will establish an Ecology Department which will advise Long Island residents on ways to participate in ecology efforts. It will also grant speedy loans for home improvements, landscaping, and similar programs for promoting environmental conservation.

Mr. Caso called on other Long Island business and industrial firms to "stimulate ecology programs which will help conserve our national resources, improve our communities and in other ways raise the quality of life on Long Island."

Among those attending today's ceremony were Rollin M. Huyler, chairman of the Nassau County Environmental Council; Assemblyman Stuart R. Levine of Bethpage, a member of the Assembly Environmental Conservation Committee; Albert Machlin, Regional Engineer of Environmental Quality, State Department of Environmental Conservation; William J. Seitz, executive director of the Long Island Home Improvement Council; Patrick Caputo of Hicksville, first president of the Oil Heat Institute of Long Island; Bruce Morrison of Dix Hills, representing the insulation industry, and representatives from utilities and other substantial firms.

FOR ECOLOGY... Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Caso (left) prepares to hoist an ecology flag in front of the Long Island National Bank's main office in Hicksville, with some help from bank president James C. Dinkelacker (center) and Assemblyman Stuart R. Levine (right). The ecology flag, believed to be the first of its kind flown on Long Island, will be flown during a month-long campaign.
