Hicksville V.F.W. Sponsors Voice Of Democracy

"Students win more than awards and scholarships when they participate in the V.F.W. Voice of Democracy Scholarship Program," said Commander Tom McCabe of V.F.W. Post 3211, in discussing the script-writing program conducted annually by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Some of the fringe benefits, according to Commander McCabe are increased self-confidence and poise, experience in communicating with others and valuable training in self expression. For the state winners, there is also the broadening experience of a five-day tour of Washington, D.C., and the opportunity to make lasting friendships with the other state winners.

In the twelve years that the Veterans of Foreign Wars has been sole sponsor of the Voice of Democracy Program, more than 3,000,000 high school students have participated. Participants write and then tape-record a three-to-five minute broadcast script expressing their personal views on their "Responsibility as a Citizen." From among the state winners, five national winners are chosen to receive a total of $22,500 in scholarships.

Herald Report Hicksville School District

By SHIRLEY SMITH

The Hicksville School Board held its regular business meeting last week. Bills for routine expenses of the district were approved, various bids for equipment and supplies were awarded and personnel changes and appointments were authorized. The board turned down the appointment of a secretary at East Street School, although they had given authorization to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of one secretary at that school. No reason was given for the vote. Trustees Bruno and McCormack stated they did not think the school board had agreed to a full-time clerk, in that position. Those voting against hiring and replacement were trustees Nagle, McCormack, Bello and Bruno. Those in favor: Madden, Wolfson and Pirrung.

After much discussion, the board approved the cafeteria contract. Mr. Bruno stated the contract gives false security to the employees and suggested the board decide first how the cafeteria will operate, then work on contract. Dr. Fred Hill, assistant superintendent, said the cafeteria employees had agreed to a "hold-the-line" salary until December. If the cafeteria is still in operation at that point, they are asking for a 3 percent raise. Mr. Campanella, school board attorney, said "in operation" must be clarified—this was stipulated in the vote to approve the contract.

Several alternatives for cafeteria operation were proposed by administration, which favors the first:

1. Continue operating as is through December (with some curtailment of the Type A lunch and modifications in labor and service patterns) and see what happens with the government subsidy. We have been receiving $90,000 in subsidies. Dr. Hill reported participation in the Type A lunch is down 30-40 percent and all participation is down 10 percent.
2. "Brown-bag" operation with snacks provided. This has turned back deficits in the Herricks and Plainview districts' cafeteria programs.
3. Outside caterer, with a "TV-dinner" type, which is prepared before bringing into the district to serve. This has failed in other district.
4. Buy vending machines or use vending machine caterers. Prices in this type of operation are high (90 cents for soup, sandwich and beverage) and there are long lines waiting to use the machines.

5. District buys frozen dinners and serves. This would require a large capital outlay to buy necessary equipment.

The board will study these proposals and decide in December what to do with the cafeteria program.

The school board approved a policy statement on individualized instruction for the district. In substance, it favors the concept and states we will have the program in the schools, with modifications. The policy, in its entirety, will be sent to all residents.

Robert Pirrung, school board president, announced foreign language for all fourth graders had never been officially approved by the board of education and therefore could not be taught. He directed the foreign language supervisor to present a comprehensive study on both elementary and secondary

Restaurant Expansion Not Their Dish, Say Residents

By JANET GOSNELL

Residents in the vicinity of Iannone's Restaurant on West John Street near Kuhl Avenue, Hicksville, don't like the idea of the Italian eating emporium's doubling in size, according to opposition voiced to Vincent A. Iannone's petition at Town Hall on Tuesday.

Mr. Iannone, represented by his lawyer Gilbert Hennick, of Hempstead, was requesting a change of zone from Resident D to Business F District for a lot fronting 100 feet on West John Street adjacent to his place of business, in order to erect a 2400 square foot addition, accommodating an additional 15 to 18 tables. The restaurant now has 13 tables and a bar.

In addition to the building extension, the petitioner stated that he planned to put a six-foot stockade fence around the property encircling a buffer zone of evergreens. Also on the lot, which is now overgrown with weeds, he said, the petitioner would put fifteen parking spaces. 23 nearby residents, some with babies protesting more loudly than they, were present to oppose the petition. Nancy Giacomelli presented a 426-name petition in opposition. Rose Tedero, the petitioner's next door neighbor, feared unpleasant effects from the nearby operation and worried that Mr. Iannone would put the refuse cans next to her house. Also opposing were James Petrone, Virginia Froehlich and Paul Andreattellis. Joe Sciales, a Syosset resident who attends meetings as a delegate of the Birchwood Civic Assn., opposed on the grounds that the petition requested a "spot" zoning decision.

Welfare Roll Reduced

Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Caso announced that the county's welfare roll was reduced 4.8 per cent during the third quarter of 1973 — bringing to more than 11 per cent the amount of reduction since Jan. 1.

The 4.8 per cent drop in the number of persons receiving public assistance in Nassau County — from 50,289 to 47,873 — was the biggest reduction of the three quarters of the year. The first-quarter drop was 3.2 per cent (1,706 persons) and the second quarter reduction was 3.8 per cent (1,992 persons). Caso, who pledged when he took office that he would keep the lid on the rising welfare load, said the latest report of Social Services Commissioner James M. Stuart shows that there are 6,114 fewer persons receiving public assistance now than on Jan. 1.

The reduction of the welfare roll during 1973 follows a 7.2 per cent cut in public financial assistance in 1972. Caso said: "From Jan. 1, 1968 to Dec. 31, 1970, the last three years of the previous administration, there was an increase of 105 per cent — or 27,690 persons. Compare that with the 11.6 per cent decrease during the three years that I have been in office and you will understand why I am justifiably proud."

Caso said that, "At this point there can be no doubt in anyone's mind that we have succeeded in halting and reversing the welfare trend of the late 1960s. And, we were able to accomplish this without in any way reducing the delivery of assistance to all those who are eligible for it."

The county executive said that the most dramatic reduction in the third-quarter of this year came in the categories of Home Relief and Aid to Dependent Children. During July, August and September, the H.R.-ADC decrease was 2,310 individuals — or 5.7 per cent. Since Caso took office, there has been a reduction in these categories of 3,489 cases — 21 per cent. The Home Relief and Aid to Dependent Children categories affect recipients deemed to have the greatest potential for rehabilitation or eventual self-support. Caso said: "It has been a particular concern of mine to get every person we possibly can back into a productive, self-supporting role in the community. Reductions in this area are particularly encouraging."

Since the beginning of 1972, the combined Home Relief and Aid to Dependent Children categories has dropped 5,911 persons — or 15.4 per cent, Caso said. Home Relief has had a sharp decrease of 3,266 individuals — 46.4 per cent during this period. A 9.6 per cent decrease, representing 3,645 persons, was registered for ADC so far this year, he said.

"I am proud that the cost of welfare has been reduced by the improved efficiency of the Nassau County Department of Social Services and I have strong belief that continued tight administrative controls will further decrease the county's welfare rolls in the months ahead."

Supervisors Authorize Capital Expenditures

BY JANET GOSNELL

Amidst a flurry of candidates and issues at the Nassau County Board of Supervisors meeting on Monday, the Board managed to get some business done, mostly spending money. Among other things, the supervisors voted on a resolution authorizing the issuance of bonds and bond anticipation notes in the sum of $1,800,000 to finance the addition of a second story to the children's shelter in Westbury, authorized the expenditure of nearly $400,000 to finance a ventilating system at police headquarters in Mineola, and approved a $100,000 expenditure for an 8-foot high, 2500-foot long chain link fence at the County Medical Center.

Making the most noise amongst the more than 200 persons present in the audience were residents of Long Beach, protesting what they called the "dumping" of welfare cases on their city. One woman also protested the placement of "mentally incompetent" people in rest homes in the city, "people with blank stares who make strange comments to their children" as they pass.

Also present was a large contingent of senior citizens, led by Lee Lambert, of Hempstead, requesting better tax breaks than now exist for seniors, exclusion of social security payments, and the bestowing of all benefits applicable to seniors to all persons, no matter what age, who are totally disabled.

Most of the candidates were once again present. Norman Blankman, independent candidate (the Un-Politician) for County Executive protested county spending, including the proposed $44 million park in Mitchell Field, which he said would cost more like $300 million by completion. Ralph Caso pointed out that the land was purchased by the county at a discount from the federal government on the provision that it would be made into a park. If a park did not develop, the land would revert to the federal government, he said.

Natalie Mulari, Democratic candidate for Presiding Supervisor, Town of Hempstead, stepped forward in favor of "constructive day care centers." She voiced the opinion that the "family home care" program presented by Hempstead Supervisor Alphonse D'Amato was not working.

Hannah Komaroff, of Long Beach, Democrat, running against Julian Jawitz for Mayor, stepped forward to speak in favor of the institution of a family planning clinic at Long Beach Memorial Hospital. She said, however, she would like to see more county funds in Long Beach to offset the burden inflicted on residents by the large number of welfare cases situated there.

In his reply to the Long Beach contingent, which came well prepared with placards, Julian Jawitz made the statement that the number of welfare cases in Long Beach had been decreased by 9.8 per cent since he took office in January, 1971, making a dent in the 68 per cent increase of welfare cases sustained during the previous administration in that city. He explained the increase of Aid to Dependent Children students in the Long Beach schools as reflecting the entrance into school of welfare families which had been living in Long Beach, not new cases. He also said that ceilings had been put on rents and that buildings were inspected for living suitability by the city agents. He was disputed on this point by outspoken resident Ruth Hansell, who said many of the welfare residences are presently over occupied.

Speaking for the elderly, Lee Lambert said: "Introducing bills and issuing publicity releases gets good publicity for the legislators, but that doesn't help the elderly one bit."

Endorsing Mr. Lambert was candidate Mulari, who said the voices of the elderly presented reflected "a cry of acute financial pain from 10 per cent of our county's population." She urged repayment of any taxes over 10 per cent of income for elderly persons. Also speaking for the elderly was Bill Deeley, Democratic candidate for County Executive.

Several seniors asked the county to endorse the easing of financial requirements for elderly persons receiving tax exemptions, now set at a limit of an annual income of $6,000 for an elderly couple. "If I have a couple of thousand dollars in the bank, just in case I get sick, I don't qualify," said Peter Suran of Elmont, who said his taxes rose from $94 in 1935 to $1,250 today.

Tobay Construction Tops $2 Million

The total value of construction permits issued by Oyster Bay Town's Building Department during the month of August is $2,182,470, according to Councilman Howard T. Hogan, Jr. This is the fifth consecutive month that the value has exceeded $2 million.

Approximately $2 (per cent) of the total, or $1,137,000 was accounted for permits issued for commercial construction, according to Hogan. Another $67,190 of the total constitutes the value of permits authorizing the construction of 32 swimming pools.

"Review of Building Department figures issued throughout the year," concluded Councilman Hogan, "strongly reflects the diversity and strength of the construction interest in Oyster Bay."

Program For Handicapped Adults

The Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks has initiated a new program designed to give handicapped adult residents an opportunity to get out and see the world around them.

The program, called "Going Places," includes trips to museums, sporting events, theatres, points of interest and seasonal activities.

All locations will be accessible to wheelchairs, and free hydraulic lift bus service will be provided by the department's Recreation for the Handicapped Unit.

The program will begin in October, and one trip a month will be scheduled through May. Handicapped residents who wish to participate in the travel program should call 292-4247.

Bicycle Jubilee

Youngsters, oldsters and in-betweeners are invited by the Long Island State Park and Recreation Commission, A. Holly Patterson, Chairman, to participate in the year's second Jones Beach Bicycle Jubilee on October 20. The Jubilee underscores the popularity of bicycle riding as a recreational activity.

The Wantagh Causeway will be closed on Jubilee Day to all but bicycles between 9 and 5 p.m. Bike riders will assemble on the parkway south of the Merrick Road overpass with automobile traffic diverted to the Meadowbrook Parkway.

State Parkway Police will direct the riders along the causeway and to Parking Field 5 via an underpass, after which the participants, avoiding the Ocean Parkway, may pedal along the Boardwalk to Parking Field 1. Cycling areas will be defined so that strollers will not be inconvenienced, nor endangered

The Long Island Columbia Association will honor its president, Salvatore J. Giordano, at the 18th annual Achievement Awards Dinner to be held on Saturday, October 13th, at Carl Hoppl's Malibu.

Mr. Giordano is with the Nassau County Dept. of Labor and has devoted most of his adult life to helping retarded children and adults.

Peter DeSiblo of Inwood is dinner chairman, and tickets, at $30 each, may be purchased by calling 374-7714.

Doolittle Pushes For Development On Second Community Park Site in Hicks.

Town Councilman Warren M. Doolittle recently announced that he will seek to have a second parcel of land in Hicksville planned by the Hicksville Park Task Force that is planning the Lee Avenue site so "the two facilities will complement rather than duplicate each other."

Doolittle said that he would like to see the task force, that will be formed to study the facilities for the Lee Avenue property, also plan for another community park at the triangle of Old County Road, Plainview Road and South Oyster Bay Road.

"I believe that both sites should be used for parks and it would seem that the task force, if given both to do, could work out plans so the facilities will complement rather than duplicate each other," Doolittle said.

The property on Lee Avenue is approximately seven acres, while the triangle is about six acres. The triangle was acquired by the Town for the Hicksville Park District in 1967. The acquisition of the Lee Avenue property was approved by the Town Board at its meeting September 11, 1973.

"I have recently met with residents in the area of the triangle who expressed concern as to whether the triangle would be given over to some other use since the Town was proceeding with plans for the park at Lee Avenue," Doolittle reported. "After discussing it with them, I felt the Town should now make a commitment to assure the development of this park at the triangle and it should be done at the same time plans are being made for the development of the Lee Avenue property."

"By doing it in this manner we will have an opportunity to offer a full variety of activities because we will actually be planning for about 13 acres of parkland rather than seven now and six later," Doolittle noted.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Mrs. Noeth:

Jewish residents in the Town of Oyster Bay and throughout the world are in the midst of the observance of Rosh Hashona, the beginning of the year 5734 of the Jewish calendar and of the 10-day period of penance which will end with Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, beginning at sundown on Friday (October 5).

On behalf of the Town Board, I would like to extend deepest best wishes on this most holy of celebrations and urge that all residents of Oyster Bay, regardless of religious preference, pray for the religious freedom and right to live where they choose for Jewish people everywhere.

Dear Editor:

I thought it would be a good idea if we had a "Hicksville Garden" prize. This year, I went for a walk, (I usually take my dog out), and these are my votes:

For the prettiest garden: 81 Vincent Street, Hicksville; 2 Adelphi Road, Hicksville; 305 Woodbury Road, Hicksville; 11 Ronald Avenue, Hicksville.

Prettiest Roof: 72 Ronald Avenue, Hicksville.

Prettiest Windows: (a tie) 16 Wilfred Boulevard, Hicksville; 90 Wilfred Boulevard, Hicksville.

Prettiest Lawn: 65 Wilfred Boulevard, Hicksville.

Thank you for your newspaper, which we receive regularly, even if sometimes we do not have time to read it all, because of the vast quantity of papers printed. I am sure, the keenly political group must read all of it, as your paper is very "people" minded.

The previous, are my votes.
Yours sincerely,
Mrs. McFeely

TO THE EDITOR OF THE MID ISLAND HERALD:

It comes to me and I'm sure many others that the Mid Island Herald completely failed to make note or mention of the removal of the police booth at the corner of No. Broadway and John Street since the removal there have been more accidents at that intersection also many robberies in the neighborhood. . . Namely Smith's Drug Store, three times and Ben Levitt's Upholstery Shop twice and most recently Ted's Superette Market.

Besides this booth being a deterrent to accidents and robberies it also acted as a landmark and an almost certain place to request police assistance. . . I believe the Herald should take some steps to have the booth put back. . . In all the years I've lived in Hicksville I've never heard of robberies in this area.

These events degrade the community!
Please help Herald!

EDITOR'S NOTE: You are absolutely right. We will do all in our power to rectify this deplorable lack.

Dear Mr. Burke:

I urge you and the Town Board to seriously re-study the problem of the "G-1" zoning in the Broadway, Hicksville business area.

The hardship this zoning is

In Case of Fire.....

By Capt. Owen W. Magee

Once again, fire prevention week is upon us, (October 7 to 13). Fire Prevention is a year-round job, not just one week per year. In October 1871 a fire all but destroyed the city of Chicago. As a reminder of what fire can do, one week a year (the anniversary of the Chicago fire) was observed as fire prevention week. Most fire departments nowadays stress fire prevention year round. Fire prevention is something you should not shelve for the other 51 weeks a year.

The Hicksville Volunteer Fire Department operates a year-round program of fire prevention activities, speakers, fire house tours, are yours upon request, along with the annual Holiday Open House in December with Santa, and displays and demonstrations. Requests for speakers and demonstrations should be submitted to Ast. Chief Mario Misurini at 20 E. Marie St. Hicksville. Fire house tours can be arranged by contacting the fire dispatcher at 931-9670. Now, with explanations behind us let's proceed to the subject of the article: In case of fire....

Fire can strike swiftly, within seconds. It doesn't always happen to the other guy. Every minute of the day a fire is starting somewhere in the U.S. So let there be no mistake, it can strike you! Fire is a bad trip, but if you are alert 365 days a year to Hazards, you might escape fire. But most of us are not alert 365 days a year, that's why we have the Fire Department to bail us out of trouble. But between the time fire strikes and the firemen arrive is a critical period. What you do during that period could be the difference between life and death for you and your loved ones. Before Fire Strikes a Draw up a home escape plan and practice your escape from every room.

Look at the windows of your home. Could you escape a fire through them? Most tragic loss of life fires occur during the night when everyone is in bedrooms. These rooms should receive priority in your escape plans. In most cases, don't count on exiting through the door and down the hall or stairs. Usually that's where the heat and smoke are at its worst. The window is your key escape route. If you can't get out through it, maybe its time for some modifications so you can.

• Of equal importance to escape is Early warning. Fire or heat detectors are better than nothing at all, but the best is a smoke detector. They range in price between $35.00 to $69.00. If you have a problem on this item contact me via a post card to fire hq. at 20 E. Marie St.

• The next step is important also. As you are leaving the building, what you do as you leave could mean a small fire or a big one. Remember to close the doors as you leave. The less air the fire has the slower it spreads. Many people think they are helping the firemen by breaking the windows and letting the smoke out. What they are really doing is giving the fire more air and new life to spread. True, firemen break the windows, but they have water ready to hit the fire before it spreads.

• Once you have all made good your escape. Gather outside, count heads, be sure everyone is out. Send someone to call the fire dept. Give your complete address and the nearest cross street to where the fire is. Someone stay out front to direct firemen, because in most cases there is no house number visible. Don't call 911 for fire. Call direct or through the operator. If you use an alarm box stay there and direct firemen to the fire.

• While on the subject of Fire alarm boxes these expensive play-toys, that what they are mostly used for in Hicksville, (out of approx. 200 alarm boxes pulled this year 149 have been malicious false alarms) Could be a life saver. It is every citizen's responsibility to curb false alarms. Report any abuse. It could save a life.

• Practice fire prevention 365 days a year, clean up - don't burn up.

foreign language to the board, at a study session, before November 1. Mrs. Iris Wolfson requested the public have a chance to openly discuss the program with the board before any decision is reached on the future of foreign language in this district.

During the public session John Maniec, program director of HAD, urged the board not to approve urinalysis testing of students to determine drug usage. He asked the board's support for a bill which would provide money to school districts for drug abuse programs.

Mary Carion questioned the recent publication and distribution of an "underground" newspaper, "Zoo." Administration is aware of it and will handle the matter.

Better Petta asked if payment was collected from parents for damaged books. Dr. Niosi said this was done, but he was not sure of the amount. Mrs. Fetta was particularly interested in the Junior High collection.

The board meeting adjourned at 11:30 p.m. when Mr. Bruno voted not to continue. Still on the agenda were items dealing with a recommendation by Mr. Bruno for urinalysis testing of students, the acceptance of the retirement of our district clerk, Mary C. Blust, and the consideration of her successor and a report from the attorney on the status of the contract dealing with the Drug Abuse Education Program.

The next meeting is Wednesday, October 10 at 8 P.M. in the Administration Building.

THE INS & OUTS OF MAKING EXTRA MONEY

WITHOUT WORKING.

If you aren't in the habit of making extra money without working, you should be. It's easy. Just forget your old ideas about savings—and think rich.

Forget about rainy days. Don't think of a Lincoln daily interest account as a place to "put away" spare cash. Think of it as an earnings account, where you keep all your money all the time—every penny earning daily interest right up to the minute you take out what you need (and only what you need) to spend.

Money is either for spending—or for making more money. In, again, out again. That's all there is to it. You don't have to tie up funds for years. You don't pay penalties for withdrawing your own money when you need it. You don't even have to pay for postage stamps when you bank by mail.

All you have to do is change your thinking about what a savings bank is really for—making money for you. (Our latest dividend of 5.25% compounded daily earns an actual annual yield of 5.47%—the highest you can earn anywhere in New York on daily interest savings.)

In theory, the in-again-out again system would work at any savings bank. Why choose the Lincoln? Because we encourage it. And once you get the hang of it, it's habit-forming. Some of our richest depositors withdraw what they need for shopping in the morning and come back in the afternoon to put back what they didn't spend.

Don't laugh. Little by little, they're getting richer at the Lincoln. Are you?

Expert Witnesses
To support the petitioner's position, attorney Hennick presented two expert witnesses. One, a Freeport mortgage expert, said he would not give a mortgage on a residence at this location in view of his considering this a commercial block. James De Leon, of East Rockaway, real estate expert, gave a survey of surrounding properties, and said the value of this lot would change from $5,000, to $75,000, with a zone change. The lot is 145 feet deep.

The bother to residents of the busy-ness of the intersection of West John Street and Kuhl Avenue emerged during the course of the hearing and in later conversations with residents. A Mrs. Green, of Kuhl Avenue, said she would not allow her children to walk in the vicinity, which is the locus of three eating places and a barber shop in addition to Iannone's, because of trucks constantly backing out into the street. Mr. Iannone himself complained that huge trailer trucks parked on West John Street in front of his restaurant to patronize the luncheonette, deli, or hero sandwich shop on Kuhl Ave. 99 per cent don't patronize his restaurant, he said, because it looks like a "tie and jacket" establishment.

Mr. Iannone confirmed that he planned to do no catering at the restaurant, and emphasized this statement after it was pointed out to him that catering would not be allowed in the Business F zoning category without a special permit. An attorney, George V. O'Hare, of Hicksville, representing the Toderos, said the restaurant now carries three signs using the word "catering." Mr. O'Hare also pointed out that a large residential section is located to the north of the restaurant.

A communication from the Town building department indicated that a plan must be submitted before parking needs could be determined.

The Town Board reserved decision on the petition after the hearing.

Kiwanis Club News

The motto for Kiwanis this year was "SHARE YOUR LIFE". While this has not always been their motto, the members of the Hicksville Club have for years shared their life by giving of their time and funds to help others in many ways. This is particularly brought out in a letter from a former Key Club member who was the recipient of their Scholarship Fund. His letter follows:

"Dear Sirs: Once again at the start of another school year at the University of Wisconsin, I would like to express my utmost gratitude to the Hicksville

Kiwanis Club and its members for the scholarship you granted to me. This is my Senior year at U.W. and now more than ever, when savings have been depleted, and the total of unpaid college loans has reached an excess, your generous financial aid is greatly appreciated. I sincerely hope this service to the community will always be available to help residents of Hicksville.

Thank you again, gentlemen, good luck to each of you and the Kiwanis organization as a whole."
