Industry Encroachment A Menace To Neighbors

By JANET GOSNELL

The petition heard at Town Hall, Oyster Bay, Tuesday morning and evening this week for a special permit use to put offices in an industrial area in Hicksville with accompanying rescission of restrictive covenants on the property reflected an all too unfortunate circumstance in which many Nassau County homeowners find themselves as "progress" marches on.

The petition of Champion Construction & Engineering Co., Inc., a $6 million company which is in the business of erecting, installing and maintaining large environmental control equipment at various locations, is the contract vendee of a parcel of land fronting a little over 200 feet on Willis Court, in the center of a triangle of industry adjacent to the Bloomingdale residential area of Hicksville. Although separated from them by the industrial area and the spacious holdings of Grumman, the 300 homeowners in the Bloomingdale area are nevertheless part of the Bethpage School and Fire Districts, with accompanying inconveniences.

The triangle of industry, land formerly owned by George Spohrer and now by the 111 Bloomingdale Road Corp., a real estate agent, is bounded on its other side by non-residential uses, including the Farmer's Market, the Post Office's Central Processing Plant, Hicksville Road, and Grumman. In 1952, according to information brought out by the attorney for the petitioner, Henry Barrett of White Plains, Mr. Spohrer, the then owner, with the consent of residents, asked for and was granted a zone change to light industry for the parcel, with restrictions set upon it by the owner in cooperation with residents.

Long term residents of Bloomingdale said that at the time such a change seemed desirable, as the land was then being used as a dump. Restrictions included no building on less than two acres of land, a restriction to 50 percent coverage of plot, no building erected within 75 feet of any street nor within 50 feet of any plot line, parking spaces to be used only for vehicles, no loading or unloading in the parking area, and no dismantling of cars.

The fact that adherence to the restrictions has been less than good was pointed out in the fact that a 7,515 square foot building, which Champion would like to renovate and air condition, is not existing on the plot, which is less than two acres. The building is also about 10 feet from Willis Court. Other violations now existing brought out by speakers at the hearing included parking of large trailers on the sidewalk on Bloomingdale Road and dumping of industrial wastes in the recharge basin adjacent to the industrial area on the south.

Headquarters Only

As explained by the president of the petitioning company, Thomas J. Rogers, of East Northport, the company owns no heavy equipment except 6 flatbed trailer trucks and an office trailer. No more than two or three vehicles would be on the property at any time, he said, the others being out on a job.

Parts used for installing are shipped directly by the manufacturer to the site of the job, and heavy equipment used on the job is rented and also delivered direct to the site. Champion does own a lot of "I-beams" and scaffolding, which would be stored on the premises, stacked to a height not higher than a buffer fence to be installed on the boundaries facing Bloomingdale Road. The fence height suggested was eight feet, if such a height is within two ordinance.

Equipment used to stack the "I-beams" would be a "Cherry Picker," rented strictly for that purpose and dispatched from the Willis Court premises when its job is completed.

Mr. Rogers said that the Willis Court building and property would be used by Champion strictly for the headquarters of its business, including the office of the president and his staff; accounting personnel; engineers; and a few mechanics to repair hand tools. All repairs would be done inside the building, he said.

Eventually, he added, the site would become the main office for Champion, now located in Poughkeepsie, New York.

Rescission of Covenants

There was some foginess in the matter of the rescission of restrictive covenants on the property. According to the 1952 instrument listing the covenants, said covenants could only be removed by the fee owner with Town Board approval. Whether Mr. Barrett and Champion should be going through the complicated business of a public hearing or not was mentioned by Supervisor John Burke, who later agreed with the attorney that the matter might as well be taken care of at the same time as the special permit to put a commercial use in an industrial area, which required a public hearing.

There also had been shown that some part of the industrial area had had the covenants lifted, and Mr. Barrett was not certain whether this parcel was included. It was later brought out after research by residents that the Post Office parcel was the one which had been granted a rescission of covenants. Not being located within 300 feet of any residence, no homeowners were notified.

Difficult Existence

Through the testimony of the 15 Bloomingdale residents who spoke there unfolded a picture of a difficult existence for homeowners who are far from schools and services, and hemmed in by a busy, dangerous and onerous industrial area which, like them, uses the narrow (one lane in each direction) Bloomingdale Road as their only means of direct ingress and egress.

The abuses of the industrial area were brought out most strongly by Frank Macchio, of 411 Bloomingdale Road, who said the real estate agent who showed him the house would only show it on weekends and evenings, when the industrial area was quiet. A police officer who often works the night shift, he said he is awakened at 5:30 A.M. by garbage removal for the Demac plant across the street. One hour later, at 6:30 A.M., he said a truck comes to supply raw materials to a plastics fabricator down the street. He also noted that the Demac company also uses his grass for parking and that he had to redesign the front of his house after a vehicle from the industrial area crashed through it.

Mr. Macchio expresses fear, as did others, for the children who are bussed to school out of the area. One resident noted that a boy who went onto the industrial area some time ago was killed by a bale.

Leader of the opposition was Henry Porzio, of 46 Scooter Lane. President of the Bloomingdale Property Owners Association, he presented a petition which he said contained 541 names in opposition to the granting of Champion's petition. He also noted that at one point on

WASHINGTON EVENTS AFFECTING OUR COMMUNITY

Good news for Social Security recipients: next June a 5.9% cost-of-living increase will go into effect, to be reflected in your July, 1974, checks. Vital force behind increased benefits has been Russell Long (D., La.).

Want to save about a dime an hour on your next automotive outing? Well, according to a Washington Post reporter, you can do it simply by driving at 50 mph. instead of 60 or 70. Two experimental trips around Washington's 1495 Beltway proved to the reporter that 1/5 of a gallon of gasoline or more could be saved for each hour of driving at the lower speed!

Concurred Sen. James McClure (R., Idaho). "Such savings in gasoline consumption would help alleviate a large portion of the current gasoline shortage."

In addition, Sen. Edward Gurney (R., Fla.) and Rep. James Haley (D., Fla.) offered a resolution asking motorists to save gasoline through 10 mph. reductions in posted highway speeds. Savings of about 10% result for each 10 mph. down to 45.

Median U.S. family income for 1972: $11,116.

Ever wonder how long to keep those old tax records, checks, receipts, and the like? Internal Revenue Service language is somewhat vague, but is summed up by the statement that "records must be retained as long as their contents may be material in the administration of any internal revenue law." Still confused? Write for free IRS booklet.

At least one government official says that while construction of an oil pipeline across Alaska will do much to help alleviate the current energy crunch, there's one other untapped petroleum resource: the Atlantic continental shelf. John N. Nassikas, Chairman of the Federal Power Commission, advocates a "massive" offshore exploratory drilling program, citing a vast potential for oil and gas.

In agreement with Nassikas is Standard Oil of Indiana's board chairman, John E. Swearingin, who told an audience at Washington's National Press Club recently that unless the nation launches an immediate concerted effort to expand domestic energy supplies, "we are going to drift closer and closer to a genuine crisis in which the country could be paralyzed." Swearingin called on government, industry and the media to work together in solving the energy situation.

HOW TO WASH PERMANENT PRESS SUCCESSFULLY

Permanent press is it a miracle or a myth? That depends on the big IF — if permanent press items are laundered properly.

From home economists at the Whirlpool Corporation, where extensive tests have been performed to discover the best way to launder permanent press items so no iron characteristics are retained, here are some suggestions.

1) Wash frequently — Because permanent press garments stay fresh looking, it's tempting to delay laundering. But avoid this because body oil stains (not always noticeable) may build up, making them difficult to remove.

2) Pre-treat stains — Saturate stained area with concentrated liquid detergent or with a paste made from regular detergent. Oil stains (especially collar ring) on brightly colored shirts can be particularly embarrassing. To remove them, simply saturate area with dry cleaning solvent — then with concentrated detergent and wash regularly.

3) Sort properly — as you would for a regular load. Permanent press naturally develops static electricity which attracts lint fibers from lint receivers in both washing and drying.

Separate white, light and dark colors, too, because permanent press items pick up color readily.

CROWDING

4) Wash smaller loads — CROWDING causes wrinkles.

5) Wash in the permanent press or wash and wear cycle — using hot or warm water (depending on amount of soil and cold rinse water temperature).

If your washer does not have a permanent press cycle follow this procedure. At the end of the wash period, let the washer drain almost completely, then slowly advance the control until the washer begins to fill for deep rinse. Allow washer to complete the cycle automatically. Finally put the washer through an additional rinse cycle. Always use hot or warm water and cold rinse temperature.

6) Use a fabric softener — in the deep rinse to reduce static electricity and prevent clinging. Follow hang-tag instructions regarding bleach use.

7) Tumble drying is recommended — but don't overload the dryer since garments must tumble freely to avoid formation of wrinkles. Drying smaller loads helps avoid wrinkles, too.

8) Remove clothes from the dryer as soon as possible — to avoid wrinkles. That's how to launder permanent press items so you won't have to even touch them with an iron. One additional caution, though...

quality of permanent press items may vary from brand to brand. And, of course, a poor quality garment will not retain permanent press characteristics no matter how well you wash it. So, when shopping, look for a brand name you know and trust. Select garments with flat seams without puckers.

Then, with proper laundering, your permanent press garments will be much more likely to impress you than depress you.

Save Time and $$

Ideas To Aid Consumers

Here are some ideas that can save you time, money and worn nerves. (You may want to keep this column handy for future reference.)

Save on pork chops. Buy a pork roast and cut the chops yourself. Buy cheese in blocks and you do the grating or slicing. You'll find it's less expensive.

Be Your Own Tax Collector

Find it difficult to save money? Try this every time you spend any money — no matter how small an amount — tax yourself 10% of the amount. For every dollar spent, save a dime. Put the money aside. You'll be amazed how fast your savings add up and how "painless" the system works.

If you dial a long distance call and get a "wrong number," don't redial the number immediately. Instead, dial the long distance operator and tell her about it. She'll give you credit for the call.

Cleaning and Fixing Ideas

When washing large items — sheets and tablecloths — try to balance the load with small items such as pillowcases and towels. Mixed loads make for better handling in both the washer and dryer.

For appearance and longer wear, clean rugs and carpets weekly before dirt has a chance to build-up. Wiping rugs with a damp mop also aids in the removal of surface dust. Coat the covers of cook books with clear shellac — spills will wash off easily.

When painting walls, always dust or clean the wall beforehand. This bit of extra work will result in longer paint wear.

At least one bathtub caulk does a lot more than caulk tubs. Researchers at Dow Corning have developed a silicone rubber bathtub caulk that's really a fix-it kit in a tube. It mends, seals, waterproofs and handles many jobs around the house. In addition, handy men even use the caulk — which comes in six colors — for insulating home and auto electrical connections and for anchoring basement wall partitions to the concrete floor.

Shopping Don'ts and Dos

Avoid shopping when hungry, depressed, angry or tired. Emotion can effect your shopping judgment — especially on expensive and "impulse" items.

Men can usually save money when buying clothes shopping in the campus or university shop of large stores instead of the men's department.

GOLDEN TOUCH OF HOSPITALITY

from Best Foods Kitchens

Tempura — Classic Japanese Dish

Tempura is batter coated, deep fat fried food. For a seafood-vegetable tempura include asparagus, green beans, zucchini and sweet potatoes along with haddock or cod and shrimp. Unless they are unusually long, asparagus and green beans are left whole. Other vegetables are cut into quarters, slices or strips — depending on the shape of the vegetable.

The fish should be cut into 1-inch strips and the shrimp, shelled and deveined. Dust fish with flour before dipping into batter. Dip vegetables and fish into Tempura Batter and fry in corn oil in a sturdy, flat bottomed kettle or deep fryer. Bling utensil no more than 1/2 full. Heat oil to 375°F. and fry foods — a few pieces at a time, turning as needed until puffed and delicately browned, 1 to 2 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve immediately with fluffy rice and a dipping sauce.

Tempura Batter

1/2 cup sifted flour

1/2 cup corn starch

1/2 teaspoon baking powder

1/2 teaspoon baking soda

1 cup water

1 egg

Sift together flour, corn starch, baking powder and baking soda into bowl. Stir in water, then egg. Beat with rotary beater or wire whip until smooth and frothy.

BLUNDERS that made candy wonders!

The blunders of a few distracted cooks created two of the most popular types of candy we have today.

According to legend, a New England woman around 1890 was making peanut taffy in her kitchen

Surrounded by rows of unlabeled bottles and jars, she added baking soda instead of cream of tartar to the syrup bubbling on her stove. The result — peanut brittle — a purely American accident.

Fudge, according to the National Confectioners Association, was merely a batch of Philadelphia caramels gone wrong. The blunder took in a candy kitchen tasted the kindly crystallized, non-chewy substance and cried,

"Fudge — Bah!" thus adding a new word to the American vocabulary and a whole new taste for candy lovers.

Carve A Strong Self-Image

There's a story about the great Michelangelo, who, while working in a stone quarry, was overjoyed at the sight of a huge, oblong block of stone. He touched it, and within it he saw the spirit of Moses. After many hours of working on the stone, he brought forth his great work of art: Moses and the 10 Commandments.

Now, be your own sculptor. Your tools — compassion and understanding — so that you can see in your mind's eye the best that is in you and work to make and keep this image a reality. For it's your self-image that can guide you to years of dynamic living.

Jeannie ON THE SPOT

Be it ever so humble, there's no home like a home that sparkles with chrome. When stains appear on chrome, baking soda is a truly tremendous polish. Just rub it on dry, using a dry cloth. Then use a damp cloth to clean.

Going through the millweed needn't be as grueling an experience as going through the mill. Soak in naturally soured milk overnight. Rinse and expose to sun until dry. Another method is to rub salt on stain with lemon juice and place in sun.

Want to kiss lipstick stains good-bye? Outside of commercial removers, glycerin (available at drugstores) may be applied and left to set. Wash as usual. Or rub with lard or petroleum jelly. Wash in Ajax Laundry Detergent. If any stain remains and it is safe for the fabric, rubbing alcohol or hydrogen peroxide may be used. Wash as usual.

When it comes to removing ugly tobacco stains from fabrics, try using rubbing alcohol. Rub the spots using a wash cloth or piece of cotton.

Special Bus Service To Gershwin Concert Oct 14

Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Caso and Metropolitan Transportation Authority Chairman William J. Ronan announced today that seven new bus routes to the Nassau County Veterans Memorial Coliseum would be added on Oct. 14 — the night of the public service concert in memory of the late George Gershwin.

Caso and Ronan said that the new routes would originate from points in Freeport, Hempstead, Long Beach, Wantagh, Flushing, Jamaica and Far Rockaway. Passengers will be picked up along the routes and connections with Long Island Rail Road train arrivals will be made whenever possible. Return trips will be scheduled to depart from the coliseum at the end of each night's event and passengers will be discharged at points along the route to the points of origin. Fares will range from 50 cents to one dollar each way, depending on the distance traveled.

Caso said, "I am glad that this new, experimental service will begin in time for the Gershwin concert. It will give people who might not be able to get to the coliseum otherwise the full opportunity to see this special, public service tribute to a great American composer. The county executive said the county and the Metropolitan Suburban Bus Authority would be watching ridership on the new night routes to determine how interested the public is in their continuation."

Ronan said, "I am pleased that we were able to make this special coliseum transportation available. We believe that this is an ideal utilization of public transportation, getting people to where they want to go, when they want to go there. We believe this to be just one of the many innovations that will be made to give the people of Nassau County the best possible in mass transportation."

Tickets for the Gershwin concert will be only $2 each and there will be no parking fees charged for the 8:30 P.M. tribute.

Peace Corps-Vista Seek Tradesmen

"Who, me? Join the Peace Corps or VISTA? I have only a trade and no college education, and I'm 36 years old. Why would the Peace Corps want me when they can get all those college kids?"

The above statement would be a pretty likely response if you were to ask the mechanic, plumber, electrician, or machinist in your neighborhood why he didn't join the Peace Corps.

What he doesn't know is that over 12 percent of all Peace Corps Volunteers are older, married tradesmen, who do not have a college degree. And the number keeps growing and growing. In recent years, developing countries throughout the world have found out the American blue collar worker gets the job done. Since 1968, tradesmen participation in the Peace Corps has grown by leaps and bounds. All levels of tradesmen have joined, from the apprentice to the journeyman to the master. They come from all walks of life, both young and old.

A special team of Peace Corps and VISTA representatives will be in Long Island, N.Y. October 15-19, located at the Holiday Inn, 369 Old Country Road, Westbury, Long Island, from 9:00 a.m. - 9:00 p.m. A special telephone number is available, if you would like to call: (516) 997-6150 during the campaign. A movie on Peace Corps will be shown Thursday night at 8:15 p.m.

Everyone is welcome to come in and talk with a Peace Corps and VISTA representative Monday, October 15 through Friday, October 19.

Caso Urges Conserve Fuel At Weekly Press Meet

A strong step toward keeping the weekly press of Nassau County in close touch with the workings of government was taken by County Executive Ralph G. Caso on Friday, October 5th, with the first of a series of press conferences specifically for the weeklies of the county.

Intended to be a "rambling" discussion, as Caso's press officer put it, the conference touched on many topics. Primarily covered was Caso's exhortation to residents to conserve fuel oil in the face of the expected shortage this winter. Giving assurance that his family would also follow the rules, Caso recommended that county residents maintain their thermostats at a constant temperature. He mentioned 70 degrees. He also suggested that home owners check for air leaks in their homes, and when cold, put on a sweater rather than turn up the heat.

Caso also touched upon his differences with the Nassau County Board of Supervisors and with some of the leadership of the REPUBLICAN Party in Nassau on the question of reapportionment, a controversy still battling in the courts.

In response to queries regarding his veto of the original reapportionment plan presented by the supervisors and closely resembling the present system, Caso said he felt it was at best a "tortured application" of the one-man one-vote doctrine required by law. As noted, the reapportionment plan was declared unconstitutional by the Nassau County Supreme Court, whose decision was upheld by the appellate division The N.Y. State

Court of Appeals subsequently reversed the Nassau Decision, and the matter is now in the hands of the U.S. Supreme Court.

He envisions a legislature of seven men representing equal populations in the county. Eventually, he said the matter will go to the voters in a referendum.

Campaign Queries
The proximity of the forthcoming general election prompted campaign queries from the press. Paraphrased, Caso statement was, "I have five men running against me. Not one of them has any experience in government, either in an elective or appointive office. I stand on my record. For the first time in years, we have had a budget surplus and a lowering of taxes. I have encouraged federal revenue sharing. I have reduced the welfare case load and reduced crime in the county with a beefing up of the police force.

"This administration has also improved public transportation in the county and seeks to create cultural centers so that our residents need not go to Manhattan for them. One of these is the central reference library planned for Mitchell Field. Another is the Coliseum, which will present its first public service concert, a tribute to George Gershwin, on October 14th. Admission is only $2, and new bus routes from various points in the county will be launched that day to accommodate those attending."

New Look Coming For Nassau Children's Shelter

At the regular meeting of the Nassau County Board of Supervisors on Monday, September 24th, the Board approved the expenditure of $1,800,000 for improvements and additions to the Nassau County Children's Shelter on Carman Avenue just south of Old Country Road in Westbury.

The culmination of an effort dating back to 1967, and beginning as a much larger effort, the expenditure will finance a new second story to the existing building, renovation of the entire building, including central air conditioning, and two "non-secure" cottages for 12 boys and 12 girls each on the seven-acre grounds.

According to Richard Ornauer, Commissioner of Social Services, under whose general jurisdiction comes the Nassau County Children's Bureau, administrator of the shelter, the goal of the improvements to the installation are to meet state requirements for more "non-secure" accommodations of children without parental supervision for one reason or another.

The project began as a $5 million dollar recommendation in 1967, and awaited N.Y. State approval for about 4 years according to county sources. At that time it was discovered that original plans would cost more like $10 million to carry out. In addition, a close look at the declining population in the shelter, from an average of 42 children per day in 1968 to an average of 26 children per day today, showed that such an expenditure would not be justified.

Mr. Ornauer said that the plan for improvements, approved by the New York State Division for Youth, were arrived at after input from the Nassau County Department of Social Services, Family Court judges and the Department of Probation. The renovation is aimed at improving the facilities for present programs, including regular school classes with instructors brought in, skill development and "personal pride." There will be a co-mingling of delinquent and non-delinquent populations at the shelter until the non-secure cottages are completed, he said.

It is the general feeling of the N.Y. State Division for Youth, he said, that non-delinquent children should be separated from those who have been involved in criminal or anti-social activities. Now known as the children's shelter, the program's name will be changed to the "Children's Remand Home," with the renovation. It is now a "secure" institution for several hundred children per year, delinquent and non-delinquent. They are not allowed to leave the facility. Their average age is nine to seventeen, and their average length of stay is 12 days. Several hundred children per year are serviced by the facility.

The new second story will contain large single bedrooms, classrooms, interviewing rooms, offices and a gymnasium. The proposed cottages on the grounds will have their youthful residents supervised by "substitute parents." Those living in the cottages will be bussed to their own school districts to attend school.

CHILDREN'S SHELTER of Nassau County, located on Carman Avenue just south of Old Country Road, Westbury, is slated for a $1,800,000 program of addition and renovation aimed at providing more "non-secure" accommodations for children, according to the Department of Social Services. The name will also be changed to the "Children's Remand Home."

Dear Friends:

A friend of mine for many years, Paula Margiotta of West Hempstead, whose courses in international cooking are well known throughout Nassau County, is going to give cooking lessons at the Plainville Library (Exit 29 on Southern State Parkway, then north one half mile to Hicksville Road). Mrs. Margiotta has been teaching Italian, French, Spanish, Greek, Chinese and Indonesian cooking and doing demonstrations and giving lectures for over ten years. "I shall try to help the homemakers through this present food crisis by teaching them the basis of these international cuisines," she told me. "Low or moderate cost ingredients will be used," she explained. These courses will begin on Oct. 17th, so if you are interested, call Mr. Eisner of the Plainville Library, (735-4133) for further details.

Fires In the Home Number One Killer

By Capt. Owen W. Magee

Fires in dwellings, caused by smoking in bed, carelessness with matches, do it yourself electrical work, use of flammable liquids inside kill more people than any other type fire. Many deaths occur in the wee hours of the morning.

If you don't want to become a statistic heed our warnings don't smoke in bed. If a fire does occur in a mattress or stuffed chair don't mess with it. The more you disturb it the worse it gets. It is ok to put water on it but stop there.

Check for worn or frayed electrical cords, don't overload electrical circuits. If a fuse blows or a breaker trips, don't reset or replace it without trying to determine what caused the problem.

Using flammable liquids inside can be fatal. Fumes can be ignited very easily. Keep them outside.

Use of flammable tile cement is also dangerous. Use only approved "safe" brands.

Storage of flammable or combustible items near heating units can cause you problems too. Just this past week a fire started on top of an oil burner in a Levitt house. Cause? A rubber ball and other small items fell onto the burner and after a period of time ignited. No one was home but the fire was spotted in time. Covering the Levitt type oil burner in the kitchen was a combustible wood louvered cover protected only by a thin layer of fiberglass and tin foil a cover of any material other than metal is dangerous. A fire at this point in a Levitt house can cut off escape from the ground floor bedrooms during the past few years several fires of this type and situation have occurred.

McKinney Endorses John W. Burke

Donald A. McKinney, who has twice waged campaigns against Republicans for a seat on the Oyster Bay Town Board, announced this week that he is endorsing Republican John W. Burke for reelection as Town Supervisor and will serve on a Citizens Committee for Supervisor Burke.

McKinney, who ran for Town Council in 1971 and 1972, lives at 52 Grape Lane, Hicksville.

"During the course of my two campaigns, I had frequent occasions to observe our incumbent Supervisor," McKinney said. "Burke's integrity is beyond question and he has worked long and hard for Hicksville, as well as other communities, particularly in trying to halt the spread of unplanned development, in providing for housing for senior citizens and in moving forward toward the development of not one, but two community parks for Hicksville — the one on Lee Avenue as well as the recently announced park for Plainville Road."

McKinney said the choice for the voters was between Burke and responsibility or for his opponent and irresponsibility.

PLAINVIEW-OLD BETHPAGE HIGH SCHOOL Sport News

By Joe Dowd

Since the football team has not made a great deal of positive noise thus far this season (losing 32-0 and 48-0), this week we will turn our attention to a Plainview team that has been making quite a racket.

The Soccer team has a record presently of 6-1-1 and is in a three way battle for the championship of North Shore Division 11. The Gulls lost their season opener to Levittown Division, but bounced back with four straight victories. Plainview then tied the league leader Great Neck South and, at this writing, won their next two games.

One reason for Plainview's success has been experience. This year's squad is made up of 17 seniors, a squad that has scored 38 goals and only given up 9 to the opposition. 18 of those Plainview goals have been credited to junior sensation Ronnie Taussig, who has clearly dominated the Plainview scoring attack. Ron holds letters in Basketball and Track, as well as Soccer.

A strong defense has made Plainview a contender, but the loss of goalie Ed Weissman to a leg injury recently, was a big blow for the team. Up until the injury Weissman had made 47 saves.

The team is under the fine veteran coaching of Mr. Irv Goldstein, a teacher as well as a coach in Plainview High School. Mr. Goldstein is respected both as a coach and as a fine leader of young men, respected both as a coach and as a fine leader of young men.

The soccer team has been a neglected organization at Plainview for quite some time. This is quite unfortunate because the soccer team, like all the other sports teams at Plainview, works very hard all season. The soccer team has risen from the depths of anonymity, and deserves our respect and support.

Comet Football News

By Bill Kirsch

Farmingdale made Hicksville its 22nd straight victim on Columbus Day but it didn't come easy. The Comets refused to merely roll over and die when the famed Daler grid machine came to town. Instead, the Comets threw a scare into last year's champs before finally bowing 20-6.

Farmingdale marched to the Hicksville 25 yd. line early in the game where the Comets forced a fumble. The Dalers had started the drive on the 50 after receiving the opening kickoff. When Hicksville was unable to advance the ball the Comets were forced to punt. Following excellent blocking by his teammates the Daler punt returner raced 60 yds. for their initial touchdown. After the conversion was stopped the score stood 6-0. After several exchanges of the ball Hicksville got the ball on their 30 yd. line. Cannone, under heavy pressure from rushing linemen, unloaded a beautiful pass to Ken Lawhon to bring the ball down to the Farmingdale 25 yd. line. The Comets unfortunately were intercepted on the 15 to thwart their drive for the T.D. The Dalers were stopped by the Comets tenacious defense and decided to punt. Joe Diange, the Dalers' star quarterback, fumbled in the endzone where Tony DiGuseppe pounced on the ball for the first Comet T.D. of the season. The extra point kick by the Comets was blocked. The Dalers received the ensuing kickoff and launched a sustained drive which was capped off by a short run by Diange for the T.D. The conversion run was also good to make the score 14-6. Paul Curcio had a 20 yd runback of the kickoff to the Hicksville 40. Steve Cannone passed to Lawhon to bring the ball to the midfield stripe and then ran to the 43 yd. line but as the clock ran out for the first half neither team was able to advance and they exchanged punts.

The second half was relatively uneventful compared to the first. After exchanging punts the Comets found themselves on their one yd. line. Three runs by Paul Curcio left the Comets inches short of a first down. Steve Cannone ran a quarterback sneak on 4th down and the gamble paid off. Curcio ran for 6 and Cannone for 10 but the Comets were hurt by a clipping penalty. Early in the fourth quarter Farmingdale scored another touchdown by a 2 yd run. After a clipping penalty on the first conversion try the Dalers attempted a pass play that fell short. Neither team was able to mount an effective offensive drive for the remainder of the game.

The Comet defense played well as a whole and individually James Carbonaro, Tony DiGuseppe, Leo Orsino and Walt Sygney were outstanding.

Hicksville will be looking for its first win when they meet Herricks in the Homecoming game this Saturday. Come out and see the festivities, including the crowning of this year's Homecoming Queen.

John F. Kennedy High School News United Nations Club

The largest and most popular activity in John F. Kennedy High School, the United Nations Club opens the new year in a whirlwind of activity. The club, winner of fifteen local and national awards last year, now consists of over one hundred members, and an Executive Board of four students, and two faculty advisors.

The first major event of the term was the staging of a mock session on Soviet Jewry for the Sisterhood of the Plainview Jewish Center by ten active members of the club. The unusual session which lasted for 1 1/2 hours, focused on a draft resolution, composed by the students, advocating the end of discrimination and the initiation of free emigration for Soviet Jewry. Spectators gained an interesting insight into typical United Nations debate and the implementation of parliamentary procedure.

The club is presently constructing its own Metropolitan Model United Nations Conference, planned for Friday, November 16-Sunday, November 18. Students from sixteen schools on the East Coast will be representing the most controversial nations in the world in discussion of political, economic, and social issues. Plans for speakers, recreational activities, and meals are in the final stages of preparation. The weekend, hopefully will prove to be both educational and enjoyable.

Six conferences are being considered for participation of club delegates this year, besides a numerous number of model congresses. Some present plans for this year will include the possibility of going to Den Haag, Holland, Washington, D.C., Toronto, Canada, Boston, Mass., Berkley, California, New Hampshire, Ann Arbor, Michigan, Rhode Island, New Jersey, New York City and other local conferences. The U.N. Club is still expanding and we still hold the reputation as the best model simulation group in the country and hope to continue with this reputation in the future.

Hicksville Cross Country Team News

The Hicksville Junior High Cross-Country team has 29 members this year. We will be trying to extend our winning streak of 11 consecutive meets (62 of last 63). We have several outstanding runners. In cross-country, the team with the lower score wins. The first five finishers for each team score the amount of points their finishing position indicates. (There are slight variations, but this is the basic way cross-country meets are scored.)

Our home meets start at 4 o'clock by the stands near the football field. Home meets will be held on October 12th, 18th and 26th.

Hicksville easily defeated Bethpage H.S. at C.W. Post by a score of 16-43. Hicksville's record is now 2-0 in league.

Once again Senior Kevin Cavannagh led the way. Closely followed by junior Mark Staehle. Taking third and fourth places were Hicksville's Joe Leo and sophomore John Lehmann. Harold Johnson took 6th place completing Hicksville's scoring.

Bloomington Road, there is a weight limitation of 8,000 pounds. Mr. Rogers noted that his eight-ton flatbed truck, fully loaded with tools, could go up to 20 tons.

Mr. Porzio said the residents could live with the Champion company in the industrial area if it could adhere to the restrictions, not be onerous, and perhaps find some other means of ingress and egress to its property than through Bloomington Road.

Richard Galanek, of 1 Alancress Drive, said that several truckloads of industrial wastes recently removed from the recharge basin included, among other things, 400 tires and 400 sets of brake shoes. Albert Manachino, of Bloomington Road said he lost 2 cars through accidents caused by vehicles from the industrial area, and that only five of the original home owners are left.

William J. Stephen, of 15 Alancress Drive, observed that residents had obviously been living with abuses by the owners or tenants of the industrial area which are contrary to the covenants of the area. "Believe me," he said, "We're gonna wipe them all out next week!"

Others who spoke included Katherine Hind, of 6 Albert Road, and Emil DeMarco, of 6 Elliott Drive, both of whom were concerned about property values. Marlene Spitaliere, of 16 Elliott Drive, who was concerned about traffic, Kathleen Murray, of 18 Elliott Drive, who complained about pollution from the Rheingold trucks. Also speaking in opposition were Susan Doyle, of 12 Elliott Drive, Frank Liggera, of 141 South Fordham Road, Elaine Porzio, Harold Naparstek, of 8 Belmont Road, and Janet Stelan, of 10 Alancress Drive.

Doolittle Responds

Councilman Warren Doolittle, himself a Hicksville resident, was sensitive to the problems of the residents. "If you're having trouble of this nature," he said to one speaker, "Call me at home I'm in the phone book."

He also said that finding another means of ingress to the proposed Champion parcel would be a difficult one, requiring a general survey. One resident mentioned using Lowman Road, which was later said to be a private road. Another mentioned Engineers Drive, now used by the Post Office trucks. Both roads would lead onto Broadway, keeping trucks away from Bloomington Road. Widening Bloomington Road would not be feasible, he said, because residents would lose frontage by the condemnation.

Communications

Among communications regarding the petition was one from the building department declaring the parking allowance of 25 cars inadequate. The requirement being 38 spaces. A communication from Jerry Spiegel, owner of the Farmers Market, requested that the petitioner be required to install solid fencing so as not to affect surrounding property values.

At the close of the hearing the Town Board reserved decision.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Doyle are the proud and happy parents of a long-awaited baby girl, Bridget Elizabeth, born September 20. The DoYLES, who live at 170 Dartmouth Dr., have two sons, Mark and Brian.

Hicksville J.H.S. Soccer

This year the Hicksville Junior High Soccer Team has had an unlucky beginning. After an opening loss 1-0 to Salk Junior High, the team responded with their first win at home against McCleary Junior High. Winning by a score of 3-0, the Hicksville Squad was led by 8th grader, Kevin Anglin, who scored 2 goals. George Fitzgibbons, Scott Hirsch and Martin Schneider also played important roles in the victory. However, the luck ran out against a tough Mattlin Junior High squad. After outplaying Mattlin for 3 quarters, Hicksville found itself behind 2-0 with four minutes remaining. A quick goal by Mike Garger gave the team a slim chance of tying. The outcome looked bleak and with two seconds remaining in regulation time, Kevin Anglin scored on a corner kick. After all the excitement died down, the two teams played 2 three-minute overtime periods and during the second period, Mattlin scored, thus spoiling a dramatic comeback by the Hicksville squad.

The remainder of the schedule poses quite a challenge for coaches Pete Dizinno and Edward Moeller. But, with players such as Robert Murphy, Shahe Halajian, Tim Cusack, Tim Brady, John Harkin, Jim Censo and the remainder of the team, the future of Soccer '73 looks bright. Home games are played at Lee Avenue School and all are invited to come out and support a great bunch of soccer players. October 4th, 11th, 18th, 25th, and 30th are the remaining home games.

Hicksville J. H. S. Football

For the first time in 10 years, Hicksville Junior High is fielding two football teams. There were 115 candidates for the team and 60 boys are suited and being trained. Hicksville American Capture Mid-Island Soccer Crown

The Hicksville American Junior Soccer team (boys 15-18) captured first (1st) place in the Mid-Island Soccer League edging out Glen Cove by one (1) point. Upon completion of the season, the Americans and three other teams found themselves eligible for Cup play. For those unfamiliar with the sport, cup play is similar to the Stanley Cup playoffs.

First place Hicksville opened against fourth place Syosset, defeating them 2-0. Meanwhile, third place Plainview Kennedy defeated second place Glen Cove 3-1. As a result, the Hicksville Americans found themselves in the championship round against Plainview Kennedy.

After seventy minutes of championship play, the game remained tied at 0-0. A five minute overtime followed in a defensive struggle with no change in score. With less than one minute remaining in the second five minute overtime, Chip Scanlon of the Americans received a pass in front of Plainview net and scored. Final score in favor of the Americans 1-0. This championship team consists of the following: William Heller, Robert Allen, Bill Wayte, Rob Noirjean, Ian

SOCIAL SECURITY

QUES: I recently surprised my grandson with a savings account for his birthday. When I went to the bank to open the account, the bank clerk said she needed my grandson's social security number for the bank's record. Why was this necessary?

ANS: The bank reports earned interest over $10 a year to the Internal Revenue Service by the name and social security number of the account holder. If your grandson doesn't have a social security number, ask his parents to contact any social security office for information about applying for one. Your local office is at One Station Plaza North, Mineola, NY 11501. The telephone number is PI 7-5470.

QUES: I'm retired and my wife gets monthly social security checks as my dependent. She just started working and will make more than $2,100 this year. How will this affect our checks?

ANS: Your benefit will stay the same, because your payment is only affected if you work. But your wife's payments will be reduced according to the amount she earns.

QUES: I'm 66 and not eligible for social security benefits. I'm unable to work and I cannot get along on my small monthly pension. Can you tell me where I might obtain some assistance?

ANS: Applications are now being taken by the Mineola Social Security office for the new Federal Assistance Program, from needy aged, blind, or disabled persons. This new program called Supplemental Security Income Provides for the Federal takeover, beginning January 1, 1974, of the adult Welfare categories previously run by the State and City Welfare Departments. The address of your local social security office is One Station Plaza North, Mineola, NY 11501. The telephone number is PI 7-5470.

QUES: I'd like to find out if I'm eligible for monthly social security payments, but I have trouble getting around. Can I call my social security office to get some information?

ANS: Yes. Many social security questions can be handled by telephone. You can call any office. The number is listed in your phone book under Social Security Administration.

QUES: A friend told me that my grandson, who lives with me, might be able to get social security payments when I retire this year. Is this true?

ANS: In certain cases, a grandchild can get payments based on a grandparent's earnings record. The grandchild's parents must be disabled or must have died before the grandparent started getting monthly benefits. The grandchild must have been under 18 when he began living with the grandparent. If you want more information, call, write, or visit any social security office.

EDWARD SAUERACKER, Hicksville High School senior, regales Commander Frank Molinari and Americanism Chairman, Richard Evers with observations of his week of political science training in the American Legion's well known Boys' State Program, this past summer. Edward, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Saueracker, was reporting at a recent meeting to the members of Charles Wagner Post, his sponsoring organization.

PLAINVIEW CHANNEL SWIMMER, CITED: A Nassau County patrolman and member of the Eastern Marathon Swimming Association, Richard X. Boulianne Jr., Plainview, accepts Citation of Merit from Glen Cove Mayor Vincent A. Sacco at a City Council meeting in the presence of his wife, Frances, and children Michele, 3, and Peter, 6, for being "an outstanding member of this community; serving his neighbor in beneficial, constructive manner as a member of the Nassau County Police Department for more than a decade, and credit to this community with his outstanding feats of long-distance swimming; successfully crossing and recrossing the English Channel on September 15th and 18th, 1973."

The team, made up of six Nassau County policemen, accomplished only the third round-trip swim of the unpredictable

Channel distance in 98 years in what the English Coast Guard officially reported as "the worst water and weather conditions in the history of Channel Swimming". Their successful attempt set three American records with a total time of 29 hours, 46 minutes, adding to their team credits of holding the world's open water distance record of 150 miles from Montauk Point to Sheepshead Bay, set in August 1972 and earning them a place of honor in the International Swimming Hall of Fame in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida. Boulianne, proprietor of Cove Diving Center in Glen Cove, is an accomplished underwater diver, who founded the Nassau County Police Underwater Search & Recovery Team eight years ago in Glen Cove. Upon accepting the plaque Boulianne remarked, "When we did this, we represented all of us, we represented the United States."

GREAT FINDINGS: The Gregory Museum Art Treasure Sale, held Sept. 29 and 30th, at the American Legion, Hicksville, was indeed successful. Tables laden with books, jewelry, glass, paintings, bric-a-brac, collectibles, kitchen ware, etc. all combined to offer a very varied and tempting selection to both "browsers and buyers." The museum wishes to thank the American Legion for the use of the hall, all the hard working volunteers, young and old, who gave of their time, Chairman Jo Lindo for her guidance, photographer Ed Tidy who took photographs, Val Conover for her posters, committee staff Rosemary Barrow, Nancy Palahouk, Dick Evers, Mrs. Ed Bady, Ellie Goldberg, and last but not least a special thank-you to all the generous people who donated items to be sold. Proceeds will further work on the museum's classrooms. Again, many thanks for the support of so many wonderful people!

FOR A BETTER HICKSVILLE: Payer removing center mall from Old Country Road in Hicksville, the first step in a $335,880 Nassau County Department of Public Works project covering a 4,880-foot stretch from Railroad Avenue to South Oyster Bay Road. In addition to removing and paving the mall, the shoulders on each side of the road will be paved and left-turn lanes created by means of pavement markings.
