FIRE REPORT

By Capt. Owen Magee

Hicksville Vamps closed out the 1973 holiday season on a quiet note. During the period, Dec. 19th through 31st there were 33 alarms. 9 False alarms, 15 Rescue calls and 9 Fires, the fires were all minor. There were no fire deaths in Hicksville during 1973 but there were many close calls. We remind all our residents that fire prevention starts at home. We call to your attention - again - the hazards of storing gasoline in your home or car trunk. The few more miles it gets you is not worth the loss of life, the years of suffering serious burns or loss of property. Don't Be A Statistic - Follow The Rules Of Fire Safety.

As we start 1974 we ask our residents for their prayers for two Hicksville Firemen who at this time are in very bad condition. Fireman Robert Young, 43, of Ladder Co. 1 is in a coma in Syosset Hospital due to a heart attack brought on by an unknown virus. As of Jan. 1 his condition is critical. The other fireman is Lt.

Mario Piscitelli of Floodlight Co. 8 who fell 50 feet while working in New York City on his job. Happily, although he suffered serious injuries, Mario is on the mend and is now at home, but a long recuperation and rehabilitation may be in store for him. The courage of both these men have brought them through their ordeals. For Bob a major portion of his ordeal goes on.

The men of the Hicksville Fire Department ask that you remember both these men in your prayers. When you needed help they responded, now they need you. The spare time they devoted to protecting you and yours from fire or emergency could have been spent with their family. We hope you will come to their aid. Thanks.

As we go to press: The news came in that Robert Young passed away on January 1, at Syosset Hospital after his brief illness. The men of the Hicksville Fire Department mourn his sudden passing. Mr. Young is survived by his wife, Ida and son Robert 6.

Traffic Flow Map Prepared

The 1973 Nassau County traffic flow map prepared by the Department of Public Works shows a 5 percent annual increase over 1971 in traffic volume at the Queens and Suffolk lines but a mixed picture on major internal roads and intersections.

Based on data compiled by the Department's traffic Engineering Division, the maps are issued every other year and cover most County, State and other major roads. They show the number of vehicles using each road on an average 24 hour day based on traffic counts taken on both weekdays and weekends during 1972 and early 1973.

Vehicles crossing the Nassau-Queens line at more than 50 points averaged 711,600 daily, up from 679,000 in 1971. The Suffolk line was crossed by 460,200 vehicles as compared to 396,000. The total of 1,171,800 vehicles traversing Nassau's borders each day was a gain of 105,800 from the 1,066,000 recorded in 1971, the first time that the million mark had been reached.

Although there scarcely seems room, volume on the Long Island Expressway continued to rise, reaching 158,000 per day up from 149,000, a 3 percent annual gain. Southern State Parkway traffic levels rose from 116,000 to 123,000, also a 3 percent annual increase.

Two of the three most heavily trafficked County roads—Glen Cove Road and Long Beach Road—showed fractional traffic declines but Old Country Road (between Glen Cove Road and Meadowbrook Parkway) racked up another gain from 48,500 to 51,000.

First place in the Nassau's busiest intersection competition went to the Old Country Road-Merrick Avenue-Post Avenue intersection in Westbury which jumped from 62,000 in 1971 to 72,000. This intersection had been second in 1971 before the full impact of the State Motor Vehicles office at Roosevelt Raceway was felt. 1971's busiest intersection—Hempstead Turnpike and Merrick Avenue, East Meadow—declined from 68,000 vehicles to 63,600 and dropped to second place.

Copies of the map may be obtained without charge by writing to Paul Streb, Director of Traffic Engineering, Old Court House, Mineola, 11501 or by going in person to the Traffic Engineering offices on the first floor of the Old Court House. Telephone requests will not be honored.

Acting Public Works Commissioner H. John Plock, Jr. cautioned that the map should not be confused with the official County highway map which closely resembles the type given out by gas stations.

Hicksville Citizens For Better Education Meeting Notice

The initial meeting for the new year of the Hicksville Citizens for Better Education will be held on Thursday, January 10, at the Hicksville Public Library. At this meeting, Mr. Robert Pirrung, President of the Hicksville School Board will address the group on the topic "Plans for '74'".

In addition, reports will be made concerning some of the issues which occupied us last year. Business to be conducted at the meeting will include the election of members of a nominating committee, which will propose candidates for our election of officers at the February meeting.

The job of bettering education is never done. Please join us in continuing this important effort. Among the issues that will be discussed this year will surely be priorities for spending. This issue concerns our tax dollars, and therefore, all of us.

We look forward to seeing all interested residents of our town and welcome all on January 10 at Hicksville Public Library at 8:00 P.M.

New Type Signal

A new actuated-traffic signal will be installed at West John Street and Kuhl Avenue, Hicksville, it was announced today by Acting Public Works Commissioner H. John Plock, Jr.

The traffic-responsive signal will turn red on when a vehicle is actually waiting to enter from Kuhl Avenue.

The installation, which will be completed within the next seven to eight weeks, is part of a two-year contract between the County and Broadway Maintenance Corp.

This winter,
oil to heat Long Island homes, schools and businesses is costing you up to 40¢ a gallon.

Last summer, we could have bought and stored this same oil for 33% less, and saved you over $10 million in heating bills.

Why didn't we?

The answer is simple enough. We didn't have the facilities to store the oil.

Next question: why not?

The answer to that isn't so simple.

Back in the mid-1960's it didn't take a crystal ball to know that Long Island was going to require a major expansion in oil storage capacity. Every indicator was pointing in the same direction—up. Population. Households. Schools. Business. Industry.

And since there are no oil wells on Long Island, and no oil refineries, the only way an independent distributor like Northville could prepare to meet the Island's growing need for oil was by increasing storage and improving distribution.

After all, Northville does not produce or refine oil itself; the major oil companies do that. We buy oil—and gasoline—from them, and other sources, and distribute it to you through local independent dealers.

So, in 1969 we planned for the facilities we would soon need to serve Long Island. Key to these plans was a program to increase our oil storage capacity by 50%. We also supported and implemented a plan to link Long Island's growing communities with a pipeline, a system proposed by a Nassau-Suffolk regional planning board as environmentally sound.

But today, our oil storage capacity in the center of Long Island is exactly what it was in 1969. We didn't build additional inland storage facilities that we needed because these plans were successfully opposed.

So while the population of Long Island increased by 106,000 people, while the number of dwelling units increased by 145,000, while the number of job holders has grown 50,000, while the demand for oil predictably increased by 58,000,000 gallons, our capacity to store additional oil close to the consumer did not increase by a single barrel.

In fact, measured in terms of days-of-oil-supply-on-hand, our capacity has actually decreased. If our earlier plans to expand storage had been approved, we could now have 25 per cent more heating oil on hand.

You might compare the situation to that of a large and growing family that has only one small refrigerator—and no freezer. It's impossible to stock up when sales come along and you're constantly running to the store.

Right now, in these days of diminishing oil supplies and wildly escalating prices, that's just what we're doing. Northville is fighting to keep our dealers and homeowners supplied with adequate heating oil at the lowest possible price.

Last summer's bargain oil is gone forever, and there's nothing we can do about that. But we can look ahead, and in light of what we're experiencing today, plan sensibly to satisfy tomorrow's demand for oil to heat our homes, our schools, hospitals, and factories.

In the meantime, Northville will continue to fight for all the oil we can get. The government's mandatory oil allocation program stipulates that any producers who sold us oil and gasoline in 1972 must continue to supply us. In addition to that, we are literally scouring the world for additional oil for Long Island.

Of course, we all have to pull together to conserve what oil we have. By setting our thermostats lower. By making sure our buildings are well insulated. By using electricity carefully. By driving less. The point to remember is this: The oil—and the money—you save is your own.

Carpentry Students Brings Women Power To BOCES

While other women may be building castles in the air, Martha Wallace of Hempstead, is building a house in a classroom.

A former college teacher and a staunch believer in the women's movement, Martha plans to get a job doing interior carpentry and cabinet making.

"I believe that women can do anything they want," she says. "And I'm proving it."

Martha is enrolled in the building trades course at the BOCES Adult Center in Albertson which is operated by the Nassau Board of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES) and offers ten other courses for adults. From 9 to 4 every day, she learns carpentry, plumbing, electrical installation, and masonry, and is helping to build a house as a class project.

Although she is the only woman in her class, Martha says that she encounters few problems with her fellow students and that her teachers are very cooperative.

"I don't consider it a compliment, however," she says, "when a male classmate tells me I swing a hammer like a man. I swing a hammer like a person who knows how to swing one. That's all."

A tall, attractive brunette who looks younger than her 28 years,

Martha adds, "I come from a family of craftsmen, but we never had any craftswomen. Until now."

Martha was one of the founders of the women's movement in the Storrs-Willemantic area of Connecticut and has taught women's studies at the University of Connecticut's Experimental College and at Eastern Connecticut State College. She holds a bachelor's degree in English literature and a master's degree in American Literature and has also taught freshman English and world literature at the University of Connecticut.

Always eager to try something new, Martha learned to play the flute within the past two years and has performed at colleges and has made a recording.

She is also writing a book on the political philosophy of the women's movement. She cooks and sews. And at home with her 4-year old daughter, Martha has built a coffee table, a toy chest, and bookshelves.

"I want my daughter to know that a woman can do traditional things and work with tools, too. I like to be myself and I'd like her to grow up in a society where people can be themselves."

THE ONLY WOMAN in the building trades course, Martha Wallace of Hempstead helps to build a model house with a classmate at the BOCES Adult Center in Hempstead.

AT CEREMONIES this past week, Greater New York Blood Program Director Robert L. Hirsch (right) presents a plaque to Inter-County Blood Banks Assistant Director Helen Lenahan in honor of Mr. Leone Madden, the founder, who pioneered Long Island blood banking efforts for over 30 years. With them is GNYBP Long Island Administrator John Butler. Inter-County and Greater New York merged on January 1, 1974, forming the biggest blood service center anywhere in the nation.

President Nixon, seated, shakes hands with Congressman Norman F. Lent (R - East Rockaway) after the Chief Executive signed into law Lent's bill which will place the United States on year-round daylight saving time. As the first in the 93rd Congress to propose this measure, Lent was particularly pleased that it became the first energy-saving measure to become law during the current crisis.

Lent was also hopeful that some fringe benefits would result from this legislation. Said Lent, "The fact that we are now leaving our offices in darkness rather than daylight provides an obvious reminder of the increased dangers that accompany nightfall on our streets and our highways. Hopefully, the added hour of daylight will help to cut down crime and reduce the nation's highway accident toll, in addition to conserving energy."

In recognition of the primary roll played by Lent in the passage of the daylight saving bill, President Nixon gave him the pen used to sign the bill.

Don't forget, clocks are to be turned ahead one hour at 2 a.m. on Sunday, January 6.

Famed Diva Maria Callas Will Come To Nassau County On April 9th

In a joint announcement, Robert Bernstein, president of Island Concert Hall, Inc., Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Caso, and John W. Maerhofer, Director of the Nassau County Office of Cultural Development, take pleasure in welcoming one of the 20th century's greatest opera personalities, Maria Callas, to Nassau County.

Island Concert Hall, in cooperation with the Nassau County Office of Cultural Development, has contracted for Mme. Callas' appearance on Tuesday night, April 9 at 8:40 P.M. at the C.W. Post Auditorium, Brookville, L.I. Billed as "An Evening With Maria Callas and Giuseppe di Stefano", Mme. Callas will be joined by the noted Italian tenor, Giuseppe di Stefano, who will collaborate with Mme. Callas in opera duets.

The Honorary Chairman for Mme. Callas' concert will be Ralph G. Caso, Nassau County Executive.

Tickets are all reserved $20.00-$15.00-$10.00.

The long-desired return of Maria Callas to the concert stage has been awaited for years throughout the Western world.

The tempestuous Greek soprano, already an opera legend, returned to the concert stage this month in London after a "retirement" of eight years. She won an almost riotous, standing ovation from a jam-packed crowd in London's Festival Hall. Her fans, many of whom had paid up to $250.00 per black market ticket, went wild over Mme. Callas, and tossed a virtual snow-storm of flowers onto the stage.

The London critics praised her courage, her still majestic dramatic art, her glamor and spectacularly enduring beauty and the intensity of feeling with which she infuses her art.

After a second concert in London on her 50th birthday, Mme. Callas goes on to Paris, Amsterdam and then on to American tour managed by S. Huruk that starts in Boston on February 3rd.

Maria Callas will make her Long Island appearance on Tuesday evening, April 9 at 8:40 P.M. at the C.W. Post Center Auditorium.

Tickets $20.00, $15.00, and $10.00 are obtainable by sending checks or money orders (payable to Island Concert Hall, Inc.) to Island Concert Hall, Inc., Box 372, Roslyn Heights, N.Y. 11577. For any and all information about Maria Callas tickets, phone (516) MA-14444.

For any information regarding educational opportunities at a location nearby, county residents can call our special Hot Line Number, 293-9299, on Thursday, Friday or Saturday, Jan. 17-19, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 9 p.m., or contact the local director of continuing education in their community for assistance.

Attention Senior Citizens

Dear Friends:

HICKSVILLIANS WERE really in the daily newspapers this week, what with a robbery and kidnapping taking place at the Pamper Cleaners of North Broadway. Two gunmen kidnaped the store's owner, Stephen Birchell of 266 Plainview Road and an employee, Helga Schrubba of 12 Peachtree Lane. The robbers stole $3,000 and forced their captives to drive them to Manhattan where they later released them, according to authorities. County detectives are still working hard on this case.

THE EAST NASSAU CHAPTER JDL has scheduled a lecture by Rabbi Elihu Kasten, an attorney and co-editor of the Rabbinical Council Record and founder and first vice president of the Long Island Commission of Rabbis, for Monday, Jan. 7 at 8 p.m. at the East Nassau Hebrew Congregation located at 310A South Oyster Bay Road in Syosset. Admission is free. Rabbi Kasten's subject will be "Non-Militancy and Judaism."

THE LACK OF A POLICE BOOTH on Broadway in the center of Hicksville, where one has been located for many years, is causing store-keepers in this area much concern. Several robberies have been attempted here. In the past, the very existence of this police booth has had a discouraging effect. At least we must conclude this to be so, when robberies did not occur in this area in the past, and now that the police booth has been removed, robberies are being committed. We would suggest that the Nassau County Police Dept. consider replacing a booth at this location, where it has done so much good through the years.

ALSO, the white line indicating where cars should stop for a red light in the outside lane of New South Road, in front of Temple Shalom Zedek, facing south at the intersection of Old Country Road, should be placed back by at least one car's length, because of the sharpness of the corner around which cars must turn if they are making a right turn off Old Country Road onto New South Road going north. I have seen accidents due to the sharpness of this turn at this particular corner on several occasions. Moving the white line back may not eliminate all such accidents, but I think it would at least help.

THAT'S ALL for this week. Stay well, and remember the old prayer, "Dear Lord, please make all the bad people good, and all the good people kind."

Sincerely,
SHEILA

Supervisor JOHN W. BURKE REPORTS

With 1973 behind us, it is time to reflect on some of the past year's activities and to reaffirm our continuing pledge to meet the needs of Oyster Bay residents and to plan for and protect that way of life which, today, makes our Town such a uniquely enjoyable place in which to live.

Just a few of the events that highlight the past year are:
—the defeat of "the bridge," accomplished after the Town and its residents remained united for many years - finally to achieve success.

—the adoption of the master plan for Jericho and Syosset-Woodbury, still further progress in our long-range goal to preserve the suburban character of Oyster Bay Town.

—the opening of the Massapequa Town Hall Annex, which complements the Hicksville Annex and Town Hall in bringing many services literally minutes from the doorstep of each of the Town's residents.

—the adoption of waterways, oil spill and tree ordinances, as well as the establishment of a Town-wide newspaper recycling program, to protect and govern the use of our natural resources.

—another blow against rising costs and inflation was dealt as we held the General and Part Town tax rate for '74 at the same level it has been for the past three years.

These activities, as well as planning for increased Senior Citizen housing and the current development of parklands in Hicksville and Jericho, typify those aims which we hold constant.

We haven't ignored the difficulties which face representative and responsive government, but have met them head-on. Most of them we have effectively dealt with, and some - such as the current energy shortage - we are still working on.

The pledge of Town government remains the same: to act in the best interests of all the residents of Oyster Bay as we provide vital services, recreational and cultural enjoyment and plan for a secure future.

Areas To Form Car Pools

Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Caso announced that the county officially opened three parking areas where commuters can form car pools on Wednesday, Jan. 2.

Caso said county workmen today began putting up signs to direct motorists to the parking areas and to specific staging areas within the parking centers for specific destinations in New York City.

The parking areas are at the following locations:

—Mitchel Field - On the north side of Hempstead Turnpike, east of the Uniondale Avenue extension, between Hofstra University and the Nassau Coliseum.

—Christopher Morley Park - Entrance of Seaview Road, just north of the Long Island Expressway, North Hills.

—Eisenhower Park - In the center of the park. Entrances at Merrick and Stewart Avenues and Hempstead Turnpike and Newbridge Avenue.

Residents seeking additional information should contact the Nassau Department of Transportation at 535-3255.

Senior Citizen Bus Fare Schedule

In response to inquiries regarding senior citizen half fares on Nassau County-owned buses, the Department of Senior Citizen Affairs, in cooperation with the Metropolitan Suburban Bus Authority, has just published a "Senior Citizen Bus Fare Schedule". In addition to listing specific senior citizen bus fare rates, the brochure also gives information on Leisure Pass

The Nassau County Leisure Pass must be shown when boarding, in order for passengers 60 and over to be eligible for fare reductions between the hours of 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. on weekdays and all day Saturdays and Sundays. The Department of Senior Citizen Affairs also schedules a mobile unit which issues Leisure Passes at senior citizen clubs, centers and housing projects.

To secure a copy of the "Senior Citizen Bus Fare Schedule" or for information on the mobile unit, contact the Nassau County Department of Senior Citizen Affairs, One Old Country Road, Carle Place, 11514 - telephone 535-4414.

Box Hill Estate Accepted As Historic Place

Parks and Recreation Commissioner Alexander Aldrich announced that "Box Hill" Estate, Moriches Road, St. James, has been accepted for listing on the National Register of Historic Places.

Located on a prominence overlooking Stony Brook Harbor and Long Island Sound, the summer residence of noted 19th century architect Stanford White is a rambling, multi-gabled structure surfaced in pebble-dashed stucco. To a degree simple and restrained to belicit a rural retreat, "Box Hill", especially within, is a fine illustration of White's theory that all things intrinsically good can be brought into harmony.

The main hall features a bannisterless staircase of apple green tiles; the walls and ceiling of the living room are covered with split bamboo. In the dining room, one wall is glass, one is Dutch tiles, and the remaining two are covered with cardboard and hung with Majolica plates.

The grounds surrounding the main house boast formal gardens and open spaces as well as numerous structures including carriage house, stable, and, most notably, an orangery - used for storing the orange trees which during the summer lined the main drive.

Today the 20 acre estate is owned by White's grandsons with the main house remaining as White created it.

The largest savings bank in America opens new, larger quarters in Westbury.

Here's what's in it for you:

"The Bowery's new office is going to make banking a pleasure in the Westbury-New Cassel area."

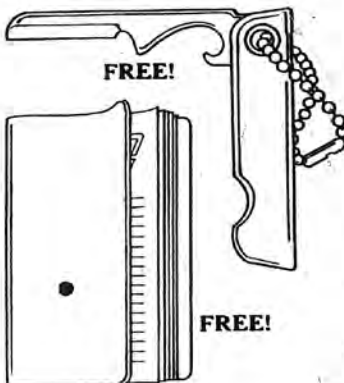

JOE DIMAGGIO

WHEN THE BOWERY opened in the Westbury-New Cassel area more than a year ago, we took the first available space we could find. A fried chicken stand.

While we love chicken, a short-order place is not exactly ideal for banking. So, we've built a big, beautiful, spanking-new building near the old place. And it's terrific, if we do say so ourselves.

New Features

In addition to all this new space, we've got some new features for you: safe deposit boxes, two drive-up windows and one walk-up window.

The Grand Opening of FREE! the fabulous new Bowery office is December 24, 1973 through January 19, 1974. There'll be free prizes, all kinds of gift certificates for lucky sweepstakes winners, special events, and last, but hardly least, high rates on all savings and term accounts and 33 other services. (Home Improvement Loans, for example. In the market? See Manager Peter Pranzo.)

Free Prizes

We've ordered something like 24,000 gifts and we'll be giving them away absolutely free of charge to help celebrate the opening of The Bowery's new Westbury-New Cassel office. Here's a rundown:

FREE!

Metal key tab... perfect for keeping together all those loose keys you've got in nooks and crannies all over your house. (Offered week of December 31 only.)

How to get to the new Bowery office in Westbury, New Cassel, Long Island. We're at 947 Old Country Road, between Westbury and Hicksville, one mile west of Wantagh Parkway. Convenient to Westbury, New Cassel, Hicksville, Levittown, Old Westbury, Williston, East Meadow, Carle Place and Mineola.

Penknife. Pretty sharp blade for such a little knife. Will make you want to whittle, even if you've never tried before. (Offered week of January 7 only.)

Ballpoint pen in "Bowery" red. Fine tip, blue ink. Ideal, if we may suggest, for writing deposit slips at The Bowery in order to take advantage of our high rates. (Offered week of January 14 only.)

P.S. There will also be lollipops and balloons. For your kids.

Special Sweepstakes

Each week for four weeks The Bowery's Westbury office will be running all kinds of sweepstakes. Every day we'll give away three $5 Ohrbach's Gift Certificates. Every week we'll give away three $50 Fortunoff Gift Certificates. And there will be Grand Prizes: One $250 Fortunoff Gift Certificate and two $150 Fortunoff Gift Certificates.

All sweepstakes are open to everybody. You don't need to be a Bowery depositor to qualify. (But why not become a depositor? Think how much money you'll make on your savings.)

We are open from:

9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

9 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. Thursday and Friday.

9 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Saturdays.

Drive-up windows open at 8 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Remember our Grand Opening Celebration ends on January 19, 1974. Looking forward to seeing you and saying hello.

1973-Tragic Year For Vamps

By Capt. Owen Magee

The year 1973 was a bad one for Nassau Firemen. Three firemen lost their lives in the line of duty. Firemen in Woodmere and North Bellmore died fighting fires. A fireman in Wantagh lost his life in an accident returning from a false alarm. The firemen, all volunteer, gave their lives for a cause. A cause that started back in Ben Franklin's era, when the volunteer fireman had his beginning. The cause as you well know was and still is to protect our fellow man from fire. Through the years that cause grew. Firemen now not only fight fires, but try to prevent them before they start. Before they destroy, before they burn helpless children. The prevention phase is carried out by inspections, and public information programs.

Firemen now man ambulances and in addition to the many hours of schooling in fighting fires, preventing fires. They must learn the most advanced techniques in rescue and first aid. The latest obligation thrust upon the firemen volunteer and paid alike is the medical technician course which will help the vamps treat injured victims, in particular the heart attack patient. In the last two years tremendous advances have been made in this field.

The sad part of all this is the harassment of firemen volunteer and paid continues to rise. False alarms continue to jeopardize citizens as firemen respond to these malicious alarms. Just recently a false alarm in Hicksville delayed vamps from getting to a serious house fire. The communities seem to be responding less and less to their firemen. The false alarm problem shows this, plus the failure of the public to yield the right of way to fire apparatus responding to a fire. Their attitude seems to be that their errand is more important than the fire fighters.

The carelessness of people who cause needless fires—how many brush fires did you cause by throwing that butt out the car window?—Records show that fires now cause more injuries to firemen than to the people who live and work in the buildings that catch fire. In N.Y. counties there were 3,026 firemen injured compared to 1,781 civilians. However there were 498 civilian deaths compared to 13 firefighter deaths. People are still blocking fire hydrants, delaying firemen in getting water, street signs being vandalized etc.

What we need now is a higher level of personal and community support in educating the people about false alarms, getting out of the way when you hear a siren, reporting fire hazards etc.

The firemen have enough problems to cope with without human thoughtlessness and carelessness and malicious acts. Your firemen respond to your calls for help 24 hours a day in any weather. Please won't you pass the word to respond to our call for help before more needless deaths or injuries occur. Firemen fight fires not people. The life you save may be your own.

Hicksville Public Library

Now is the time to get rid of all the "White Elephants" you received as gifts for this and past Christmases. The Friends of the Hicksville Public Library are planning a White Elephant Sale to be held shortly. The date will be announced later in the month. All types of merchandise will be accepted for this sale except large appliances and clothing. The Friends will pick up everything that you are willing to donate; call Mrs. Bennett at 681-3183 or the library at WE1-1417 for arrangements of time for pick up.

The Friends group recently purchased an 8mm film projector for the library from the proceeds of the used book sale held in August. They hope to provide something as useful and necessary to the library from the proceeds of this sale. The newly formed Friends group at the Hicksville Library have accomplished many useful things in the short time they have been in existence. They helped with the budget vote; had a reception for the 325th Anniversary of the Rogers Williams purchase of Oyster Bay; held a book sale; and provided refreshments at the Annual Holiday Concert in December.

At the sale a membership drive will be made to enlarge the group. If you are interested in joining the Friends of the Hicksville Library, call the above numbers to have your name included in the mailing list.
