Mr. Robert (Bob) Walton, President of the Rotary Club of Hicksville announces that the club sponsored "Candy Sale" was a financial success. The monies collected by this and other fund raising programs throughout the year enables the club, according to Mr. Walton, to present baskets to those who can use them; award college scholarships.

Troop 64 BSA, Mothers Aux. Disbands After 38 Years

by Iris Widder

The Mothers Auxiliary of the Hicksville Troop No. 64, Boy Scouts of America, was organized in 1935 by ten mothers whose sons were Boy Scouts in Troop 64 or Sea Scouts of Ship 18. The Auxiliary was organized for the purpose of assisting the troop committee, the Scoutmaster, Scouts and Scouters, financially and socially; and to assist in the civic betterment movement by promotion of Scout participation in public service to the town of Hicksville.

The ten charter members were: Mrs. Raymond Abrams, Mrs. Jerry Becan, Mrs. Oscar Berry, Mrs. Herman Fricke, Mrs. Christian Giese, Mrs. Arthur Gerdes, Mrs. John Kerbs, Mrs. Eugene Staehle, Mrs. Helen Szilagi and Mrs. Frank Thorman. Mrs. Oscar Berry was the first president, with a staff of officers as follows: Mrs. Jerry Becan, vice-president; Mrs. Helen Szilagi, secretary and Mrs. Eugene Staehle, treasurer.

Card parties, cake sales and dues were the sources of revenue which enable the Auxiliary to supply the needs of Troop 64 and Ship 18. Most outstanding deed was the building of a log cabin at Half Hollow Hills, Huntington. The use of the grounds on which Camp Dodge was built was donated by Mr. and Mrs. C. Dodge of Hicksville. New Hammocks were purchased for the Camp, as were building materials, an American Flag, a troop flag, sporting goods, food supplies and other needed articles.

In addition to the aid given to Scouting, donations also were made to other local organizations, including: Hicksville Girl Scouts, American Red Cross, Comfort Committee, and Salvation Army. Scouts of Troop 64 and Ship 18 serving in the armed services a check every four months.

From a membership high of 40 in 1942 their numbers had dwindled and, because they were unable to get mothers of present Scouts to join them, the group - now grandmothers and some great-grandmothers - decided to disband.

The final meeting of the Mothers Auxiliary was held on December 19, 1973 during a dinner at Murrant's. On behalf of Troop 64, Mr. Leo Kanawada presented pins to the following last members of the Auxiliary: Mrs. Eugene Staehle, Charter Member; Mrs. Jerry Becan, Charter Member; Mrs. Thomas Cullen, Mrs. Oscar Larsen, Mrs. Loretta Arnone, Mrs. Marie Brendel, Mrs. Leo Kanawada and Mrs. Gloria Clukey.

Early Morning Fires Damage Garage, Apartment

by Ex-Capt. Owen Magee

Two early morning fires, this past week damaged two Hicksville structures at 4:58 AM Sunday, January 20. A fire of unknown nature was reported at 14 Herman Ave., Hicksville. Vamps were already up and out of bed due to a malicious false alarm turned in from the alarm box in front of Holy Trinity High School on Newbridge Rd. at Stewart Ave., at 4:42 AM.

The fire, which was found in a garage could have spread to other structures but in spite of the False Fire Alarm 3 companies were just returning to the Marie St. Headquarters. Their quick arrival enabled them to confine the fire to the garage which sustained heavy damage. Chief Mertz was in charge and requested the County Fire Marshals office to investigate the blaze. No injuries were reported.

On Tuesday January 22 at 2:36 AM a general alarm was sounded for a store fire in the vicinity of Broadway and Herzog Pl. 9 pieces of apparatus and 100 men under Chief Louis Mertz responded. The fire was located in a second floor apartment at 11 Herzog Pl. first arriving firemen were told that a man was trapped upstairs. Firemen hampered by heavy smoke searched the building. Five people were evacuated from two other apartments but no one was trapped, and no injuries were reported.

The fire, which started in a couch, was confined to one room. Several rooms suffered smoke damage, plus several windows were broken by firemen on ladders searching for the reported victim. Traffic on Broadway was blocked for a half hour by hose lines stretched to the fire scene. The fire building is one of many old wood frame stores and light industry shops and firemen surrounded the area in case the fire got out of control. Firemen were also hampered by garbage piled around the fire hydrant in front of the "Sweet Shop". Once again we wish to bring to your attention the importance of keeping fire hydrants clear of cars or anything else that prevents them from working. Your cooperation will be appreciated.

During the period Jan. 15 thru Jan. 22 Hicksville Firemen responded to 17 alarms. One Malicious False Alarm, seven rescue calls, nine fires. Firemen were out twice Saturday, Jan. 19. During the ice storm, for a rescue call and an Oil Burner Fire. Apparatus had to respond at a slow pace due to the road conditions.

We wish to remind you to be sure your heating units are in good shape, and that you keep all combustible materials a safe distance away from the unit. Just this past week 2 children were killed when a fire reported to have begun in the heating unit spread to combustibles close by. That fire was in Oceanside N.Y. The fire spread throughout the wood frame structure. The same exact thing happened this past week in a Hicksville Factory at night. An Automatic Sprinkler saved the Building. Clean up now. Save Lives.

Blau Weiss Gottschee Captures Hicksville Soccer Crown

Last weekend, the Hicksville American Soccer Club hosted its Fourth Annual Indoor Soccer Tournament for boys up to twelve years of age. Sixteen teams from all over Metropolitan New York, Nassau and Suffolk Counties were invited to compete on Saturday in the gym of the Hicksville High School.

Each club played five games and on the basis of games won and goals scored, ten teams were invited back on Saturday for quarter and semi-final play. Blau Weiss Gottschee a Ridgewood, New York team who normally competes in the German American League, captured the Midget Division title when they defeated a strong Massapequa team 4-2 in the championship round.

Individual player awards went to Vincent Blood, Massapequa, winner of the Warren M. Doolittle M.V.P. Award. Alphonso Marra of Glen Cove won the Hicksville American Sportsmanship Award while the High Scoring Award went to Floyd Kenyon of Massapequa. In addition, each and every boy (144 total) who participated in this event received a medal and soccer poster as a memento of the tournament.

For those unfamiliar with indoor soccer, it is played with six men a side. Since the playing surface is limited and play extremely fast, games are usually high scoring. The Hicksville Tournament still has two weekends to go with the Boys' Division (12 to 14 year olds) scheduled for January 26 and 27 followed by Bantams, under 8, on February 2 and 3. Play on both Saturday and Sunday will be continuous from 10 A.M. with a total of 430 boys playing over three weekends.

Local Colleges Coordinate Work Of Volunteers

The work of community service volunteers from six colleges located in Nassau County (Hofstra and Adelphi Universities, Molloy and Nassau Community Colleges, C.W. Post, Center of LIU, and New York Institute of Technology) is now coordinated by the Volunteer and Community Service Task Force, established through the Nassau Higher Education Consortium.

Through Nassau County, the Task Force is receiving a grant of $14,000 toward administrative costs of the program: an office in each of the schools, and a coordinated clearinghouse located at Hofstra University. The funds have been allocated by the County from its federal grant for ACTION programs.

More than 60 non-profit organizations and service institutions in Nassau and Suffolk Counties have requested volunteer services. They include hospitals, day care centers, elementary and secondary schools, drug and alcohol rehabilitation centers, children's shelters, and orphanages. Because of the wide variety of services requested, volunteers can work in or near their home communities, if they prefer, and in fields that match their own interests.

Anyone interested in participating as a volunteer in the Task Force program can make arrangements through one of the six member colleges, or by calling the clearinghouse at Hofstra, (516) 560-3433.

C D Office Becomes C P Office

The Nassau County Board of Supervisors has passed a resolution officially changing the name of the county's Office of Civil Defense to the Office of Civil Preparedness. The resolution was recommended by Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Caso.

The resolution pointed out that the change in the name follows the action by the federal government which has changed the name of the federal Civil Defense Office to the Office of Defense Civil Preparedness. The change in the name reflects the fact that Civil Defense Offices have taken on more responsibilities for planning for natural disasters and other emergencies that may affect their communities in peacetime. Thus the name "Civil Preparedness" has been deemed to be more appropriate to the services being performed.

Brig. Gen. (ret) Otho C. Van Exel of Hempstead continues as Director of the newly-named Nassau County Office of Civil Preparedness.

The Nassau County Civil Defense Office was originally established in accordance with Chapter 690 of the Laws of 1950, to coordinate with the state and federal governments.

Newspaper Choice Tops Supervisors' Agenda

By Janet Gosnell

The technicalities of a new local law regarding the designation of official newspapers for county legal notices still carries on, this Monday becoming the most important aspect of the meeting of the Nassau County Board of Supervisors.

The new local law, as adopted, states that official newspapers for county legal advertisements must be daily with a circulation in excess of 50,000 in Nassau County. The two parties having had the leading number of votes in the most recent gubernatorial election each have the right to select an official newspaper.

The law causes a diversion from previous practices in the selection of official newspapers, since it rules out weekly newspapers. The Republicans have chosen the L.I. Press in past years, and have selected it for 1974. The Democrats, however, in past years, have selected the Glen Cove Record Pilot or the Nassau Star weekly newspapers.

In the case of default by either party in the selection of a newspaper, the selection would be made by the leader of the party in the county. A proposed amendment to the law would give the County executive the right to select the paper in the case of default by the leader of the party. This amendment was stricken by the Supervisors on a motion from Alfonso D'Amato, of Hempstead, on Monday.

Komanoff Speaks

Newly elected Supervisor Hannah Komanoff, of Long Beach, voiced the selection of the Nassau Star as the official newspaper of the Democrats on the Board, herself and Suozzi of Glen Cove. She did, however, preface her choice with the statement that the choice was a rather desperate move, made to avoid defaulting. She said that the coming year would be much more expensive for the county with two dailies carrying legal advertisements, and recommended a full scale investigation into the placement of legal notices.

She said that legal notices should not be buried in the newspapers where no one can read them, and that daily newspapers should consider giving the county a discount on line rates for a large amount of advertising.

The idea of an investigation received the vocal approval of the supervisors.

Operation Mainstream

In other business, the Board heard four speakers representing the staffs of poverty agencies in regard to Operation Mainstream, a federally funded program to provide employment for needy residents over 55 years of age. Wilber McCall, Director of the free clinic of the Nassau County Economic Opportunity Commission asked "Who will do the outreach? Who will get to these people?" He expressed the hope that the local Community Action Program would have a hand in implementing the program.

Walter Ramsey, Director of the Garden City EOC echoed Mr. McCall's hope, as did Bill Champion, of Long Beach.

John Kears, director of the Nassau EOC said the agency had received no concrete correspondence from the County as to the role of the EOC in the program. He said it was a program developed originally "by us." The program, he said is designed for the hard core unemployed, those with no skills, or of a level from which they are unable to lift themselves. He disputed the statement that the program amounts to $753,000. Also speaking on the topic was James Couch, Deputy Director of the Nassau EOC.

New Regulations To Aid Consumers

The Nassau County Office of Consumer Affairs has adopted four new regulations under its Home Improvement Licensing law "to give the consumer a fighting chance" in the purchase of home improvement services. Commissioner James E. Picken announced last week.

The new regulations, which will take effect April 1st, are meant to remedy deceptive and misleading advertising practiced by certain segments of the home improvement industry. Picken said. They require that advertising accurately illustrate and describe the products and services being offered for sale.

In addition, advertising and promotional literature must specify:

- The existence of any extra charges for labor, installation, delivery, accessories or necessary parts
 - True comparison with usual prices if reduction is offered
 - Terms and restrictions of warranties or guarantees
- "The aim must be to inform," Picken said. "Ads quote unrealistic prices simply to lure the buyer. They omit the necessary extras. When the final price is totaled up, the consumer feels he's been taken."

He cited the example of ads for aluminum siding, offering a special price for 600 square feet and picturing a large house.

"Consumers who are baited by the bargain," Picken said, "discover later that 600 square feet barely covers the garage and doesn't even include the nails."

Similar attempts to mislead occur in ads for swimming pools (fourteen people shown in a 20-ft. pool), fences (price per foot increases after minimum footage), waterproofing and cesspool cleaning (24-hour service does not mean they will be there within 24 hours).

"We should not have to warn consumers to beware. It's the responsibility of the advertiser to state the facts fully and fairly so consumers can make an informed decision," Picken asserted.

County Executive Ralph G. Caso praised this extension of the home improvement licensing law as "another step toward maintaining an honest marketplace in Nassau County."

As soon as the regulations take effect, Picken said, the Office of Consumer Affairs will be scrutinizing all home improvement advertising and violators will be dealt with according to the law.

To further protect consumers, other regulations require that contractors print their license numbers on all memos or contracts furnished to customers and on all advertising or promotional material.

Another regulation requires a contractor who misplaces his license to file an affidavit with the Office of Consumer Affairs.

Commissioner Picken urged consumers to check for the license of any firm they hire to do general contracting, kitchen installation, central heating, roofing, paving or similar home improvement work. More than 4,200 firms are now licensed, he said. Seven contractors have had their licenses suspended until they resolved complaints.

"When a consumer deals with a home improvement vendor in Nassau County, he has recourse," Picken stated. "If the vendor starts a job and doesn't finish, we know where to find him. In effect since 1972, the law says that no home improvement firm may operate in Nassau without the county license."

Program For Boat Owners

A Nassau County-sponsored education program designed to assist Nassau's thousands of pleasure boaters through the energy crisis was announced today by County Executive Ralph G. Caso.

"Our boaters have been particularly hard hit by the gasoline shortage. This series of lectures by professional boatmen will outline energy-saving tips on how to make the most out of the limited fuel supply," Caso explained.

The five-part lecture and demonstration series, sponsored by the Department of Recreation resident of Bellport and President of Bankers Trust of Suffolk, N.A., Patchogue and Richard F. Smith, Jr., a resident of Glen Cove and President of Vanguard National Bank, Hempstead.

and Parks, will be held at Wantagh Park starting Saturday, February 9, at 2 PM in the dockmaster's building.

Subsequent sessions will take place March 2, 9 and 23 and April 6 - all Saturdays - at the same time and location. Topics to be discussed include motor tuning, eliminating unnecessary drag through proper hull maintenance and switching to sail.

"Long Island is a nationally-famous recreation mecca for boaters because of its many miles of coastal and bay waters on the south and the Sound on the north. Through this program, we hope that our boating population can continue to use these fine natural attributes to their fullest," Caso said.

Wantagh Park is located south of Merrick Road just west of Wantagh Parkway in Wantagh.

"Oriental Fantasy"

"Oriental Fantasy," this season's third Nassau County Puppet Theatre presentation, will delight the kiddie set for 15 days during the months of January, February and March.

The schedule follows: January 26, 27; February 2, 3, 9, 10, 16, 17, 18, 23, 24 and March 2, 3, 9, 10. Performances will be held each of those days at 1 p.m., 2:30 p.m. and 4 p.m.

Admission is free, but advanced reservations are necessary to assure seating. For ticket reservations or further information the number to call is 292-4183. Adults are welcome when accompanied by children.

The Puppet Theatre, operated by the Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks, is located near Parking Fields 6 and 6-A at Eisenhower Park, East Meadow.

Dear Friends:

AS WE WENT TO PRESS we were shocked to hear of the sudden passing of Bill Payoski, well-known Hicksville, who died of a heart attack on the golf course on Wednesday. Mr. Payoski who was associated with Montana Agency for many years, and an active Rotarian, was also active in many community projects. He will be missed. Heartfelt condolences to the Payoski family.

A SUGGESTION: Old Country Road traffic is very heavy, at least twice a day, and we do not feel that cars should be permitted to park in front of LILCO. It's dangerous. Police Dept. please note.

OUR FIRE DEPT. SCRIBE tells us that every Sunday at 1 p.m. a program entitled "Blue Light Brigade" is scheduled for new Channel 67 which is on Long Island. Its purpose is to acquaint Long Islanders with important aspects of their fire dept. services. It should be informative and even life-saving.

VICTOR M. RIVERA, NY Dist. Director of the Small Business Administration tells us that SBA has approved over $40,000,000 in loans to businesses in Nassau and Suffolk Counties in 1973. "We are looking forward to an even better year in 1974," Mr. Rivera said, "for not only will we continue to expand our lending program but we will also be offering increased management counseling and training services to help small businessmen and women improve their skills." Sounds great to us. As the late Martin Luther King said many times, "It's learn baby, learn, so that you can earn, baby, earn". This may be an old-fashioned concept to some, but to me it makes a lot of sense, and also gives a lot of self-respect to the working individual.

THAT'S ALL for this week, stay well, and remember the old saying, "Bread cast upon the waters gladly, shall return multiplied a thousandfold." So, why not get involved?

Sincerely,
SHEILA

Washington Report

By Congressman Norman F. Lent

As you read this, Congress will have returned to Washington following its Winter recess, which gave each of us who represent you an opportunity to get our ears close to the ground back home.

There's no question but that we heard a unanimous grumble from the citizens we represent, and it revolved around our constituency's suspicions regarding the energy shortage. In light of these suspicions, I and many of my colleagues agreed, even before returning to the Capital, to proceed with demands for a full Congressional inquiry into the circumstances leading up to and surrounding the current "crunch." More than anything else, we grew to feel that the American people simply wanted the truth about the shortage situation, and felt that they were not getting it from either the oil companies or the Administration.

I have little doubt that there is a world-wide shortage—one here is has to look as far as England and Japan to see that—but the extent of that shortage here at home remains largely undetermined. In the public interest, Congress must now shoulder the burden of prying out the facts of the situation from the petroleum industry. The net result will be, in my opinion, either of two acceptable alternatives: The public will be given sufficient proof that the shortage is real; here at home, to believe it; or, those responsible for misleading the American public will be in for the greatest ground-swell of public disgust and governmental intervention they have ever dreamt about.

"For the good that needs assistance
For the bad that needs resistance
For the future in the distance
And the good that we can do."

Letters To The Editor

Re: Bicksville Soccer Club

Dear Mrs. Noeth,
In "normal" times, no organization would waste time or effort in refuting the ramblings of an obviously disgruntled parent. However, in these days of quick tempers, anxiety and suspicion, let it suffice to say that the author of last week's derogatory letter based his remarks upon conditions that are completely untrue, non-existent and obviously misunderstood.

Any resident, parent or child who feels in any way concerned must feel free to call me about this.

Sincerely yours,
Roger Freimgen, Pres.
Hicksville American Soccer Club

Dear Editor:

The announcement that the Town of Hempstead will seek bids for a 2,000 ton per day garbage recycling plant ("the most advanced method of garbage disposal on Long Island") stands in stark contrast to the medieval approach of the Town of Oyster Bay to the problem of waste disposal.

While Hempstead apparently seeks a modern and long range solution, the powers-that-be in Oyster Bay remain in the Dark Ages. While the Hempstead recycling plant will produce revenues of an estimated $1,750,000 per year by recovery of ferrous metals, aluminum, brass and glass, TOBAY continues to bury such valuable commodities, and will inflict the expense and discomfort of a new, bigger and more expensive land-fill/garbage dump on the residents of our Town. While the Hempstead facility will occupy only 15 acres of former County land, public acquisition of the TOBAY dump site takes 65 acres of formerly privately owned land off the tax rolls of the Plainview-Old Bethpage School District.

TOBAY Supervisor Burke and the TOBAY Town Board would be well advised to take their heads out of the sand (presumably the sand at the site of the new Town garbage dump) and take note of what more farsighted Town Governments are doing about their solid waste problem.

Very truly yours,
Michael Polansky

RONCALLO REPORTS

By Congressman Angelo D. Roncallo

A lot of people are pretty down in the mouth lately about our country. They are forgetting that in spite of a lot of the problems we have had to face in the last year, we are still a free and democratic people, the last hope of so many throughout the world. It was with that in mind that I responded to a constituent's letter recently. I'd like to share that letter with you:

"This will acknowledge receipt of your letter in which you indicate that as first generation Americans you and your husband have great pride in our nation. To that extent, we have something in common."

I, too, have great pride in our country and that love and respect in my nation that was instilled in me by my immigrant parents. I have such awe for the position I hold that even after a year in Congress I find it difficult to believe that it has been possible for me to achieve this position.

I have five children, ages 19 to 12, who apparently pose the same questions regarding the future of our country, as do children all over the country. I reply to them that I doubt that it would have been possible in any other country for an individual like myself, (and of course my case is not unique) to have run for, and been elected to office. My parents were people of little or no formal education who worked hard in a small restaurant they established through their own initiative and educated three of their own children. Because of their belief and our belief in this system of government we have both benefitted from the fruits of satisfaction of achievement.

The fact that corruption existed and has existed in the past, and the fact that our government still stands is an indication that while this may be a poor system of government it is the finest of many poor systems.

My thought to my children on the problem of Watergate is an essential of life itself—being able to distinguish good from bad and right from wrong. There are those who are motivated toward good who should be involved in government and there are those who are motivated towards evil and should be rooted out. It is a poor answer to say that everyone does it—it is better to say that people who care should get involved and change the system."

I'd be interested to have your feelings on this letter and on the sentiments that inspired it.

Supervisor JOHN W. BURKE REPORTS

A number of people have been asking me about the appointments and reappointments made by the Town Board recently to various official boards and commissions.

Our Town government has actively sought to maximize citizen participation in Town administration. This assures a better understanding of Town problems, guarantees a broader spectrum of thinking, generally means greater responsiveness to concerns of residents, and results in better communication between Town Hall and our constituents.

Citizens on the various advisory groups are appointed by the Town Board for stated terms. Recently, reappointments and appointments were made to our American Revolution Bicentennial Commission, the Labor Advisory Board, Traffic Safety Committee and advisory committees on Roosevelt Memorial Park and Raynham Hall. Those appointed are Townspeople with special talents or abilities who have demonstrated an active interest in the well being of their community.

I cannot overemphasize the importance of these advisory bodies in structuring and achieving the aims and goals of Oyster Bay government. Prime examples of the value of these groups are the achievements of the Task Forces in Hicksville and Jericho that are currently formulating plans for parks in their communities. Their recommendations to the Town Board are given prompt attention, and assist in moving along these projects toward completion.

The American Revolution Bicentennial Commission is an example of the Town's successful efforts to involve residents in their own heritage as well as the Town's operational activities. Chaired by a noted historian and author, Miss Dorothy Horton McGee, the Bicentennial Commission has involved individuals of all ages as well as organizations throughout the Town in a number of commemorative activities ranging from an historical press conference for high-school newspaper editors to a spectacular commemoration of Theodore Roosevelt's birthday last October.

I and the other members of the Town Board are appreciative of the efforts of each of Oyster Bay's advisory groups and look forward to their further contributions.

TOWN NOTES: Last week at the Board of Supervisors meeting, I was greatly impressed by the sincerity and eloquence of Philip Deitch, chairman of the Torch of Hope Youth Council, a concerned group of student leaders associated with the Nassau Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults. Mr. Deitch spoke of the meaning of AWARENESS WEEK, which has been proclaimed by County Executive Caso to make the community at large aware of the problems that face the handicapped every day and motivate the community toward the elimination of architectural and attitudinal barriers that restrict the life of the physically disadvantaged.

L.I. National Bank Announces Promotions

Promotion of two top level officers of the Long Island National Bank and three other changes have been announced by James C. Dinkelacker, President, at the main office here. Raymond J. Beers, of Bethpage, who begins his 20th year with the bank, was advanced from Vice President-Branch Administration to Vice President-General Administration.

Arthur H. Jong of Garden City, who joined the bank in 1961, was promoted from Assistant Vice President to Vice President-Data Processing Department.

Other appointments, announced by Mr. Dinkelacker are: Michael J. Fassula, to Assistant Manager, Commercial Office; Ray Yungel, to assistant Manager, Personal Credit Department; and Marion Reinhardt, to Assistant Manager, Commercial Loans Department.

Mr. Beers had five years of banking experience before serving in the Marine Corps from 1952 to 1954, including a year in Korea. Following his discharge, he joined Long Island National Bank as a teller. In 1959 he became assistant cashier and a year later was named branch manager in Bethpage. In 1961 he was appointed Assistant Vice President in charge of the bank's first Suffolk County branch in Huntington. After five years there, and a year as manager of the Manetto Hill Branch in Plainview, he was appointed Vice President-Branch Administration. In 1969 he was named to branch administration and business development post.

Mr. Jong, a native of New York City, whose father was long in the import business, moved with his family to China at the age of four and remained there for 10 years. After his return to his country, he attended New York's School of Commerce before entering the Army in 1942. He served in the Counter-Intelligence Corps in India and Burma until November 1945. After five years with his father in the import business, he was employed in Republic Aviation's data processing department for 11 years. He joined the bank as a data processing officer and in 1969 was appointed an Assistant Vice President.

Day and Night You Are The One

Fred Gretsche, Jr., Chairman of the Board of The Lincoln Savings Bank, announced that a "Daynite" automatic teller and cash machine will soon be put into operation at the bank's Brighton Beach office, located at Brighton Beach and Coney Island Avenues.

The public is invited to come in now for a free demonstration. Everyday, the new "Daynite" teller will be dispensing cash prizes at random to lucky winners who give it a tumble.

When the money machine is officially placed in operation it will be possible to make deposits and withdrawals 24 hours a day. It should be noted, however, that a special "Daynite" account will have to be opened in order to avail oneself of this service.

Depositors who open the special "Daynite" account will never have to worry about banking hours again, since it will be possible to make deposits and withdrawals around the clock.

Some of the additional services this automatic teller can perform are deposits to Regular Daily Interest and Club accounts; cashing of checks, only in amounts of $25, $50, $75 or $100, payments on Life Insurance, Mortgage, Home Improvement,

Appointed

Oyster Bay Supervisor John W. Burke has announced the appointment of John A. Paider to the Town's Traffic Safety Committee; the term is effective December 12, and expires December 11, 1980.

The Committee, established in 1967, serves as an advisory body to the Town Board on all matters relating to street and highway safety and coordinates the efforts of agencies engaged in traffic safety programs.

Mr. Paider, who resides at Harbor Drive in Centre Island, replaces Charles F. Lynch of Hicksville. Both men are Deputy Town Attorneys.

Late Start, But Finished Agenda

By Shirley Smith

The Hicksville Board of Education meeting got a late start last week, but finished an agenda that consisted of many items held over from December. After a quorum was established (Dr. Madden and Mr. Nagle arrived late, Messrs. Bello and McCormack were absent), the meeting proceeded to unfinished business.

There was a lengthy discussion on a request for authorization to purchase equipment for district schools. These items were all included in the 73-74 school budget and approved by voters last July. Board president, Robert Pirrung, instructed administration to review the list several meetings ago and see if cuts could be made. The total submitted last week was $93,971.

An amount of $9200 for a mini-computer program (in math) in the High School was deleted from this total and the board approved $84,771. These items will not go to bid and administration will have to return to the board for approval of bids before any expenditures are actually made.

The school board voted separately to approve the $9200 for the computer program. Mr. Bruno wanted the motion contingent on federal funds (which are supposed to be forthcoming to pay for the program) and a report to the board. This amendment was not approved and Mr. Bruno voted against the motion.

The board of education approved curriculum writers for a foreign language program in conversational Spanish, French and Italian, French drama and Spanish for Business Opportunities to be taught in the High School next year. This had been tabled last month when the board wanted to cut the funds in half and have the foreign language supervisor write part of the curriculum. The approved motion did not include the stipulation discussed last month.

The board approved the contract for the Human Relations Coordinator, but approval for group leaders for the drug abuse program was in question for a while. These Hofstra students were hired in November by the Human Relations Coordinator without prior board approval. Mr. Bruno labeled this an "attempt to circumvent the power of the board of education." It seems to have been more an error of timing - the recommendation for hiring came too late to appear on the November 28 agenda and the board did not get to all the items (this included) on the December 17 agenda. Since the drug abuse program is only funded by Nassau County through March, 1974 and these group leaders come under that funding and thus could not wait to start their work, they began without official approval. Mr. Bruno pointed out the school board members could have been polled by phone. This objection was noted and administration said such an error would not occur again. Mr. Bruno voted against approval of the contract and hiring of the group leaders.

There was a recommendation by administration to close schools February 13, 14 and 15 (they will be closed February 11 and 12 for Lincoln's birthday and February 18 for Washington's birthday) due to the fuel crisis. However Dr. Niosi withdrew the request saying there is no longer a need. He commended Mr. William Becker, Buildings and Grounds Supervisor, for effecting a 34 per cent savings in fuel this school year.

The board authorized ad-

Town Board Meeting

A quiet day in Oyster Bay Tuesday saw little excitement at the Town Board meeting for the readers in this newspaper's communities. Speakers were present to comment on a proposed new local law relating to the establishment of a Department of Community services, including Lewis Yevoli, former Town Councilman; Harry Hiscock, Mike Galley and Lorraine Newman, all of Massapequa.

Yevoli questioned the establishment of the department of community services with the comment that it would new new jobs and more expense.

The other three speakers were in favor of the establishment of the department.

Actually the law, if approved, will separate the department of recreation from the Department of Recreation and Community Services, as it has been up to now. Community services includes senior citizen activities, drug programs, youth bureau, programs for the handicapped and cultural and performing arts.

According to the Town information department, a public hearing will now have to be set to decide how the recreation department will be handled. According to the same department, the reorganization might create one additional job.

The Town also held a public hearing on the establishment of the Town Board office which describes the status quo of office services now available to Town Councilmen.

Bureau To Conduct Public Hearing, January 27

The Nassau County Children's Bureau will conduct a Public Hearing on Tuesday, January 22, at 1 P.M. in the Board of Supervisors Meeting Room, County Executive Building, Mineola.

The hearing is mandated by the Child Protective Services Act of 1973 which requires local Departments of Social Services to submit a written plan for the provision of protective services by January 30 of each year, "after a public hearing."

Law enforcement agencies, Family Court personnel, and public and private agencies concerned with child abuse and maltreatment have been invited to attend the hearing and submit testimony.

According to Charles A. Langdon, Executive Director of the Children's Bureau, there has been a startling increase in the number of children referred as alleged victims of child abuse and/or neglect in the past year. In January, the Child Protective caseload consisted of under 2,000 children representing 740 families. As of December 1, 1973, the caseload was over 3,000 children from 1,000 families.

The Protective Services section of the Bureau has a seven-day week 24-hour emergency service program to handle this increased work load, and is working with local school districts, the Nassau County Pediatric Society, and voluntary agencies in building a preventative and rehabilitative program to serve children and their families. (In September, 1973, New York State established a toll-free number: 800-342-3720 to accept referrals from the community regarding child abuse or neglect).

Following the hearing, the Children's Bureau will submit a local plan for the provision of child protective services, describing the Nassau County implementation of the New York State law, including provisions made for inter-agency relations and purchase of service, where required.

Nassau County Commissioner of Social Services Joseph A. D'Elia and Mr. Langdon will preside at the January 22 Hearing.

MEN IN SERVICE

Airman First Class Peter A. Urbach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Urbach of 35 Janet Drive, PLAINVIEW, has graduated at Sheppard AFB, Tex., from U.S. Air Force aircraft mechanic course conducted by the Air Training Command.

Airman Urbach is a 1973 graduate of BETHPAGE.

Drug Abuse Workshop

The Fork Lane Parent Teacher Association is sponsoring a Drug Abuse Workshop for Parents: "What do I do if I know or suspect that my child is using drugs?" It will consist of three two-hour sessions and will be held in the cafeteria at Fork Lane School, Hicksville, on Wednesday January 30, February 6 and February 13, from 8 to 10 p.m.

The purpose of this workshop is to provide a realistic answer. It is not guaranteed to solve the problem because there is no easy solution. What every parent needs is an approach that will not aggravate the situation but may do a lot of good. The workshop will emphasize drug education, bridging the communication gap between parent and child and the prevention of drug abuse.

All are welcome.

Open House

The public is invited to attend an "open house" session to be held at the Cerebral Palsy Center for Living, 380 Washington Ave., Roosevelt, on Sunday, Feb. 3, between 1:00 PM and 4:00 PM. Children must be accompanied by an adult.

The event, presented in conjunction with the Feb. 2-3 Greater New York Telethon for United Cerebral Palsy, will feature guided tours of the 14-acre Center complex, live therapies in action, demonstration of an average preschool day at the Center, and Sheltered Workshop activities.

According to Nassau Telethon Chairman Paul Peyser (Merrick), items hand crafted by the handicapped will be available for purchase. Refreshments will be served.

ministration to advertise for an assistant superintendent to replace Dr. Cadden, who left last May. The salary will be commensurate with experience. Mr. Bruno voted against this motion, stating he saw no need for the position. Dr. Niosi replied that he definitely needs an assistant in the area of curriculum.

The board approved additional compensation (150) for the district clerk, who voluntarily worked before her appointment was officially approved, bringing back minutes up to date. Mr. Pirrung stated Mrs. Egan was not promised, nor did she expect, any pay for this period of work. Mr. Bruno again voted "no" on the motion, saying it was another example of hiring, then getting approval.

The school board accepted a decision of the New York State Education Commissioner to refrain from loaning audio-visual materials to on-public schools. Mr. Bruno moved this decision be made district policy with copies to be sent to Mr. Gardiner Gregory (Curriculum Materials Director), signed and returned to the district clerk for filing. This motion passed.

The board first defeated, then approved (on a move to reconsider) a reallocation of ESEA Title II federal funds for some of the districts' school libraries. There was some misunderstanding that the original grant would be re-distributed to include one of the schools which had not filed in time. However, Dr. Clancy (coordinator of federal funds) explained that the reallocation would mean an additional $850 so that none of the schools would receive less than its original grant.

The board of education approved $2400 for six members of the board (Mrs. Wolfson does not plan to attend) to attend the National School Boards Association Convention in Houston, Texas in April.

The board tabled a resolution, setting the date for voting on the annual school budget. They approved various operating expenses, personnel changes and appointments.

The next board meeting is Wednesday, January 30.

Credible thoughts for an incredible time.

Or some brief discourses about Long Island heating oil—with emphasis on the price-tag-less-ness of personalized services by your Independent Oil Dealer.

If the price you are paying your dealer for heating oil has not been the same price your neighbor is paying his dealer, that doesn't mean you are being overcharged.

Until recently, independent fuel oil marketers and dealers on Long Island have not been able to obtain the amounts of low-price domestic oil to which they have been entitled. Thus, some dealers have been put at a temporary disadvantage by being able to obtain only shipments with a higher proportion of more expensive foreign oil, and the price they charge may well have reflected this increased cost. Now, through the efforts of the Federal Energy Office, increasing quantities of domestic oil are being made available to Northville and therefore to its independent dealers. Within 30 days, all dealers on Long Island should begin to receive a greater proportion of domestic oil.

If your dealer is supplied by Northville, he is unlikely to be paying any further increase in the price of home heating oil this winter.

Most of the foreign oil we had to purchase to maintain supplies for Long Island homeowners has already passed through the distribution system. If there is compliance with the new orders of the Federal Energy Office requiring our traditional suppliers to provide Northville with prescribed amounts of domestic oil, our prices to dealers will continue to remain stable (unless, of course, our suppliers further increase their prices).

Not oil at any price, but oil at a fair price.

Northville has consistently refused oil at prices that, when passed on to our dealers and their customers, could cause economic hardship for Long Island homeowners. For example, we recently turned down a shipment of 10 million gallons of oil at a price more than four times we had paid only days earlier. We were able to do this because our own prior efforts to obtain oil from diverse sources had succeeded, and because we had increased our storage capacity. Northville will continue to develop the sources and facilities necessary to keep Long Island supplied with fuel oil at a fair and reasonable cost.

The traditional services offered by your local dealer should not be overlooked.

Some 90% of Long Island homeowners receive their oil from independent dealers. For a generation or more, many of these dealers have been providing reliable delivery, regular maintenance and round-the-clock availability in case of emergency. In times of plentiful supplies of oil, they won their customers' loyalty with old-fashioned service and dependability. These benefits should not be cast aside because of a temporary price break offered elsewhere. In these hard times, your independent dealer has been working harder than ever to keep you supplied with adequate heating oil. When the supply situation improves in the near future, as we predict, competitive forces are likely to even out the prices offered by all dealers. Then, that traditional service will be more important than ever.
