"Hicksville Vamps Track Down False Alarm Suspect"

By Owen Magee

For the past year Hicksville Firemen and residents have been endangered by false alarms in the Cliff Drive, Cedar Street area. Just this past week during extreme ice storm conditions (2:10 AM) a malicious false alarm was turned in from the box at Cliff Drive and Larch St. Firemen knew then it was someone very close turning in the alarm. On Feb. 9th at 1:49 AM and again at 2:04 AM the box at Cliff Drive and Larch St. was pulled. Responding vamps were burned up to put it mild. The roads were slick with ice and snow. Several Vamps noticed footprints in the fresh fallen snow on the first call and followed them to a house on Cliff Drive. Upon arrival a second set of prints led to the same house.

The culprit seen lurking in the shadows was confronted. The youth, 18 years old, is indeed sick and needs help. If he is caught again he may need an am-balance. As everyone knows the law states you must have a witness and at that hour there were none. The fact that his sneakers matched the only footprints at the box was not enough to have him arrested.

Due to the past history of abuse of that alarm box drastic action was taken by putting that box out of service. Last year Hicksville Vamps answered 1,130 alarms 198 of those were false alarms. Recently a newspaper article stated a local mayor was concerned because 9 out of 29 fire calls in his village in one month were false alarms. Talks are underway to remove the system before someone is killed. In Hicksville there are 10 to 20 false alarms a month, sometimes more!

We all agree some type system is required. But, if when you weigh its past record as to how many times a fire is reported compared to the false alarms reported and consistently the false alarms win the tally its time to look for a change. A survey of firemen agree 100 percent that with the gas shortage and no consideration given to firemen or other essential personnel he is going to be more selective in the alarms he responds to. 90 percent of the box alarms reported are false alarms. He needs his gas to get to work to provide for his family. The answer is simple-unconfirmed fire calls will be answered by a smaller amount of personnel. Just the nuisance of false alarms is enough to cut response after a time, the gas problem will increase that possibility. Stop and think-if the firemen don't get gas they can't respond someone in high places had better come up with the answers, and that goes for both the false alarm problem as well as the gas problem.

"False Alarms are Your problem Too!"

YOU could Be the Victim of the NEXT False Alarm."

Number of People on Welfare Decreased

Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Caso revealed that the number of people on welfare in the county decreased 12.5 percent during 1973. The decrease represented a $4.2 million saving for the county.

At the start of 1973, there were 53,987 people in the aid to dependent children, home relief and aid to the elderly, blind and disabled categories. The caseload declined by 1,558 cases during the year, reducing the number of people on the welfare rolls to 47,229. The cost of welfare was $130,282,096 in 1973, compared to $134,495,582 in 1972. Caso noted that the 47,229 figure was further reduced by 10,191 at the beginning of this year when the elderly, blind and disabled were transferred from the county rolls to the Federal Social Security Administration.

The 1973 reduction follows 7.2 percent cut in 1972. In the three years prior to Caso's taking office in 1971, the number of individuals on welfare in Nassau rose 105 percent or 27,690 persons, reaching a peak of 58,149 in 1971.

"While we recognize that other factors contributed to the welfare decline, the extent of the decrease in Nassau indicates quite clearly that tightened administrative procedures at the county level contributed significantly to the decline," Caso stated. "The percentage decreases in Nassau are far higher than those in other areas of the state and nation."

Caso who has lobbied extensively for state and federal welfare reform, said he feels the federal takeover of aid to the elderly, blind and disabled is only the first step. "We are still fighting for the complete takeover of welfare by the federal government," he observed.

Adult Ed In Hicksville

The "energy crisis" has not hampered the continuing education program in Hicksville. As a matter of fact, registration is larger this spring term than it was last year at the same time.

One of the reasons for the larger enrollment is that some new courses were added this term. The Tennis classes filled up even before open registration started while an additional Yoga class had to be formed to take care of those who were interested. Also, the new Astrology course was broken up into two sections because of a large enrollment.

Besides the Community Chorus and Orchestra, the Theatre Five dramatic group is now associated with the Continuing Education Department. They plan to produce Neil Simon's "Last of the Hot Lovers" in March. Watch the MID ISLAND HERALD for particulars.

"Our High School is humming in the evenings. With the cooperation of all concerned, Hicksville has one of the finest continuing education programs in the county," said a school spokesman.

Your Conduct . . .

Nassau County Police Commissioner Louis J. Frank is urging motorists lined up at gas stations to use common sense and courtesy so as not to inconvenience others while they wait for gas.

The Commissioner pointed out that there have been numerous instances in which drivers, while waiting in line to get gas, have created hazardous driving conditions and disrupted the normal flow of traffic.

He said, "In these times of stress and tension in the energy crisis, I ask that drivers think of the effect their actions might have on others. I feel sure that no fair thinking person would deliberately act in such a way as to cause an accident or interfere with someone trying to travel county roads or park in legitimate areas."

Frank noted that among the most serious problems presented by drivers at gas stations are blocking lanes on main roads and at intersections and driveways thereby creating not only traffic problems but safety problems for motorists and pedestrians alike.

Oppose State Takeover Of Shoreline Zoning

Hempstead Town Presiding Supervisor Francis T. Purcell recently called on the Nassau County legislative delegation in Albany to lobby to remove Hempstead Town from the jurisdiction of State Senator Bernard Smith's proposed coastal zoning bill or, failing that, to work to see that the entire bill is defeated.

"We are proud of the way we have protected our coastline and our wetlands," declared Purcell, "and we are not about to relinquish our zoning authority to a 12-member state commission." Under the Smith proposal a state commission with six regional boards would have the final authority on major land use decisions within 1,000 yards of all coastline property in the state.

"In the case of the Town of Hempstead this could mean that locally elected officials would lose direct control over zoning decisions in all of Atlantic Beach, Lido Beach and Point Lookout and over large sections of Lawrence, Woodburgh, Hewlett Neck, Hewlett Harbor, Bay Park, Island Park, Oceanside, Baldwin Harbor, Freeport, Merrick, Bellmore, Wantagh and Seaford as well as the thousands of small islands and hassocks in our bays which we are preserving forever wild," noted Purcell.

"We live here," he continued, "and we listen to our local residents before we make any zoning decisions. Only in this way can sound determinations be reached for the benefit of our local residents. To turn this power over to a statewide authority would be to take away the right of judgment from those best equipped to weigh the future destiny of these areas."

Purcell noted that under local control, Hempstead has preserved 17,000 acres of wetlands and some six miles of ocean beach and continues to protect these areas with the town's unique Conservation and Waterways Department. However, he conceded that Hempstead's methods may not be the best for everyone in the state.

"We do not want to impose our will on other municipalities," he said, "if they want this bill and feel that they need it we would not stand in their way. Just leave us out of it, but if you won't leave us out we would rather see the whole bill go down."

Republicans To Dance On March 30th

Governor Malcolm Wilson has accepted an invitation to attend the Second Annual Victory Show of the Nassau County Republican Committee, according to Assemblyman Joseph M. Margiotta, Republican Party Chairman.

The Second Annual Victory Show is scheduled to be held on Saturday, March 30 at 8:30 p.m. at the Nassau Veterans Memorial Coliseum in Uniondale.

Show Chairman, Peter DeSibio, Republican Executive Leader of Inwood, said that the entertainment this year will be provided by singing great Robert Goulet and comedian Pat Cooper.

More than 6,000 people are expected to attend the show and seats are $30 each. Distribution of tickets for the gala show is by the Republican Leader in each community in the county.

Margiotta said that he was "delighted that Governor Wilson had accepted the invitation to attend the affair."

Governor Wilson, in his letter to Margiotta accepting the invitation, said: "I appreciate your invitation, and look forward with pleasure to the opportunity of joining with you on that evening."

Governor Wilson's appearance at the show will be his first in Nassau County at a major fund-raising affair of the County Committee. Governor Wilson did attend the inaugural ball of County Executive Ralph G. Caso in January but that was held in the Waldorf Astoria in New York City.

The Victory Show is a new concept in political fund raising and replaces the old fashioned cocktail party that the committee held in past years.

County Wants More Gas

By Janet Gosnell

After a busy meeting which saw many speakers on various topics, Hempstead Town Presiding Supervisor Francis Purcell, acting in the absence of County Executive Ralph G. Caso, read a letter from the Board of Supervisors addressed to Federal Energy Commissioner William Simon asking for increased gasoline allotments from Nassau County residents.

The letter called Nassau County unique among the country's high density areas in that it depends on individual automobiles for transportation to maintain jobs and livelihoods. Other areas, like New York City, have a sufficient network of public transportation to avoid the use of cars, the letter said.

One of the most active items on the agenda was a proposal to lease fifty acres of Roosevelt Field to M.F. Development Corp. for development into an industrial park. Speaking against the proposal was Norman Blankman, of Sands Point, unsuccessful independent contender for County Executive at the last election.

He called this action, which was later approved by a 3 to 2 vote (Democrats voting nay), another example of Caso's "public be damned" development and questioned that an industrial park fitted the original intention of using Mitchell Field for "civic, educational or cultural purposes." Blankman also took this opportunity to take a few swipes at Caso's planned reference library and recreational park.

Mr. Blankman also questioned: "Why wasn't everyone allowed in on the lease? Why were negotiations carried on in absolute secrecy?"

In his reply to Blankman, which was specifically not asked for by the questioner who directed his statement at the absent Caso, Purcell noted that there is very little land left to play with in Mitchell Field. He said half of the land is committed to Hofstra and Nassau Community College. A federal office building will account for 25 acres. The Santini property will house a shopping center, ball fields and other development.

In addition, there are the plans for the library and the recreational park; the proposed hotel site; land earmarked for AHRC, CP AND BOCES; the police precinct and the firehouse; and 44 acres to be left forever in its original state as a conservation measure.

Mental Health

Speakers

There were several speakers at a public hearing held during the meeting on the proposal to consolidate the mental health, mental retardation and alcoholism services into one department under a single commissioner.

Those who spoke were primarily psychiatrists, asking that a professional psychiatrist be appointed as commissioner and that the advisory board for the new department be composed of people of different ages, from different income brackets and from different milieus. One speaker was Fred B. Charatan of Syosset, former director of the Nassau County Health Board, who, in addition to other recommendations, asked that some more satisfactory disposition be made of former mental patients turned back to the community than is now being made.

A Dr. Roth, Suffolk County consultant, asked that a better and more organized network of health care be instituted, coordinating all local hospitals as satellites of the Nassau County Medical Center.

Joan Saltzman, of Great Neck, Executive Director of Community Advocates, asked for an ombudsman in the proposed consolidated department and for open public hearings on the mental health budget. She said alternate public housing for mental patients should be a top priority.

The Rev. Clayton L. Williams of Hempstead, chairman of Citizens Concerned for Mental Health, asked for an active advisory board charged with specific responsibilities.

Other Business

In other business, the supervisors heard Jamar Rand, of Freeport, protest the spending of over $8,000,000 to improve Muttontown Park when the poor of Freeport have inadequate housing. "When you have a sick child, you can't put it in a closet and expect it to cure itself," he said. Improvement plans for Muttontown Park include a stable to house many horses.

Ask Simon To Act Immediately On Gas Shift

Nassau County's three Republican Congressmen have urged Federal energy czar William Simon to move immediately to relieve the acute gasoline shortages plaguing Long Island and the New York metropolitan area by shifting gasoline supplies here from other areas of the country.

Reps. Norman Lent (East Rockaway), John Wydler (Garden City) and Angelo Roncallo (Massapequa) said the FEO has a gas infusion plan ready for the New York area but "the inordinate delay in implementing the blueprint has brought severe hardships to millions of people who are being shouldered with a disproportionate share of the energy shortage."

The three Representatives pointed out in a letter to Simon that few other areas of the Nation were experiencing such severe shortages and urged him to mandate "emergency shipments" of gasoline supplies to the New York metropolitan region.

In their plea to Simon, Lent,

Wydler and Roncallo cited the near chaotic situation which arose this week on Long Island because of the gas deficit. Under the Emergency Petroleum Allocation Act of 1973, Simon has the powers to shift reserves from one area of the country to another in the event of acute shortages, and the three Congressmen called on him to "exercise this authority without any further delay."

Coffee Day For Crippled Children At Nassau County Restaurants

"Buck-A-Cup, Brace-A-Child" is a slogan which will be well known to residents of Nassau County and New York City by February 25th, when Easter Seal's COFFEE DAY FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN will start to perk with sales of Coffee Day buttons to customers of more than 1,000 restaurants in the greater New York City - Long Island metropolitan areas.

The idea of Coffee Day is for restaurant customers to buy a "Coffee Day - Crippled Children" lapel button for a dollar from the waitress or waiter at their neighborhood restaurant, and be served free coffee at any participating restaurant in Nassau or New York City on Coffee Day, Wednesday, March 13th.

Proceeds from button sales will go to Easter Seals, benefitting thousands of crippled children and adults in Nassau and New York who participate in Easter Seal programs, including summer day camp, physical therapy, dental care, adapted sports, recreation and field trips. Indirect help also comes to the disabled through broad statewide and national Easter Seal programs, including legislation, research, careers in rehabilitation and elimination of architectural barriers.

Coffee Day, while doing so much good for the disabled, is a fun event for restaurants, offering rewards in good will and incentive prizes for top button sales donated by leading companies in support of the event.

Restaurant owners in this community who would like to register for Coffee Day are asked to call Easter Seals at 516-747-3553. Volunteers are also urgently needed to make Coffee Day a success for our crippled children.

BOCES To Be Honored

The Nassau Board of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES) will receive an award on February 16 in recognition of its dedication to the needs of handicapped children.

The award will be presented by the Association to Aid Emotionally Disturbed Children at the organization's fourth annual dinner-dance. The Association, an organization of parents, professionals, and interested citizens, provides a variety of supportive services for the benefit of emotionally disturbed children.

The Nassau BOCES, which serves more than 3100 handicapped youngsters in Nassau County, operates programs, classes, and schools which children of many members of the Association attend.

At the dinner-dance, Mrs. Adele Cherry, president of the Association, will present a plaque to Richard L. Ornauer, president of the Nassau BOCES of Education, who will accept it on behalf of the Board.

The dinner-dance will be held at 8 p.m. at the Old Country Manor, 244 Old Country Road, Hicksville.

On Long Island, many cancer patients depend solely on the American Cancer Society volunteers to transport them to and from treatment centers several times each week for necessary cobalt, radiation or chemotherapy.

The gasoline shortage has made it very difficult for some volunteers who regularly drive to continue to meet their commitments. However, one dedicated volunteer is walking to do her own errands (including grocery shopping) in order to save gas to drive patients! The Long Island Division of the American Cancer Society desperately needs drivers. If you are willing to drive a cancer patient as little as once a every two weeks please call the Patient Service Department at 420-1111.

THAT'S all for this week. Stay well, don't waste a day, and remember the old saying from Kahlil Gibran's "Prophet", "If you bake bread with indifference you bake a bitter bread that feeds but half man's hunger. And if you sing, though as angels, and love not the singing, you muffle man's ears to the voices of the day and the voices of the night." So, have a happy Valentine's Day.

BITING THE BULLET -- CONTINUED CONTROLS OR A FREE ECONOMY?

Tempers are growing short these days what with an apparent shortage of everything except free curbside advice on how to solve the shortages themselves. The rarest commodity of late has, of course, been gasoline - but shortages of other necessities proliferate. Steel, aluminum, petrochemicals used to make plastics, paper goods and now grocery items - ambushed by the recent independent truckers shutdown - are all dwindling.

The impact of these shortages is vast, for the material deficits have a trickle-down effect, endangering jobs and our supplies of other goods and compounding our already serious problem. The circle becomes a vicious one.

In the throes of this situation, it seems clear that we've got to begin eliminating all the rhetoric and get at the problem. We must soon make the choice between returning to a free market economy or continuing the sometimes counterproductive wage price controls which many claim have already outlived their usefulness.

The Economic Stabilization Program, alias Phase IV, is due

Supervisor JOHN W. BURKE REPORTS

Last week I mentioned the need for a "new advocacy" in local government to focus more clearly on the needs of our people in terms of solutions available at the state and national levels. One such area of concern to local government is relief from the property tax and questions of revenue in general.

Every year, the property tax produces $45 billion in revenue nationally. Despite the fact that virtually every disinterested observer regards the property tax as regressive and basically unfair in its current application, little has been done to correct the situation.

Several states have passed so-called "circuit-breaker" legislation whereby rebates or State Income Tax credits are granted to both homeowners and renters whose property taxes - or presumed taxes as a portion of rent, exceed a certain percentage of household income.

Many states have recently enacted state-financed "circuit-breaker" legislation to aid low-income, elderly homeowners, including New York State. Only the State of Vermont has virtually abandoned the property tax system, and bases property taxes on the income of the occupant of the premises.

The Fleischman Commission Report on the quality and financing of education in New York State recommended state assumption of the cost of public education through the income tax, as a form of partial relief. This would be helpful in suburban areas, since in Nassau County approximately 55 per cent of the average property tax bill goes for the support of public education. Of course, one of the vital issues involved is the preservation of the control of local education by local school boards. To date, these recommendations have lain fallow.

To be sure, general revenue sharing has been a great benefit to municipalities in improving local services without increasing property taxes. We look forward hopefully, to the enactment of special revenue sharing under the so-called Community Development Act which is now pending before the House Committee on Banking and Currency. This Community Development Act would replace most of the 1,200 separate categorical and special aid programs now administered by over 600 federal and state offices and agencies.

However, new and vigorous advocacy by local government is needed to insure that these benefits of community development revenue sharing are dispensed directly to local governments. As a Town of Oyster Bay representative testified at a recent hearing in Washington, D.C., the bill, as currently drawn, prevents towns and townships of over 50,000 population from directly receiving these funds, although cities of 50,000 population will receive direct funding. Our fear is that, if the money for towns is filtered through New York State, not only will part of it be skimmed off in administrative costs, but the remainder will come to the towns with many strings attached.

RONCALLO REPORTS

by CONGRESSMAN ANGELO D. RONCALLO

The Federal Energy Office's preliminary proposals for gas rationing which were made public last week apparently plan an allocation system for our area which would equate the needs of Long Island with those of Manhattan. In other words, we would be expected to make do on the same number of ration tickets as someone in the City who can use mass transit via the subway or bus to get anywhere. Out where we are on Long Island there is little or no mass transit and unless people can get where they are going on the Long Island Railroad, they are pretty well out of luck.

We have to use our cars to get around. Statistics published earlier this week show that over 70 percent of the residents of Nassau county and more than 83 percent of the people in Suffolk use their cars just to get to work.

to end on April 30th, but there are increasing calls in Congress to sweep it aside before then, and repeal the original act which granted the President authority to impose controls in the first place.

The logic is that American business and industry will produce enough goods and services to go around for everyone if only given free rein to function without undue government controls. The other side of the coin is that all that bars a complete rape of the American consumer is government price & wage controls. The difficult answer lies somewhere in between.

The imaginative free market economy which served us so well for so long turned out ever more convenient and improved goods for U.S. consumption. The consumer welcomed these improved products - most of them time and effort savers - with little appreciation for the resources required to produce them.

A good example can be had by tracing the evolution of nearly any product from the automobile to canned vegetables. The functional cars of the early '50's gave way to gas-guzzling, chrome-plated models with buzzers to tell you everything save how to steer. Likewise, your favorite vegetable now comes pre-packaged and resplendent in a plastic pouch or

This figure does not even include the numbers of people who must use their cars for other vital reasons such as food shopping.

The way our area has developed we are, for better or for worse, dependent on our automobile. I don't even think it's too dramatic to state that we depend on the car for our very existence.

This may not be good, but it's an undeniable fact. True, we are going to develop better Island-oriented mass transit - we have to. But until we do we have got to face facts. We can't make it on the ration of gas tickets they are talking about.

With this in mind, I initiated a letter signed by other Long Island Congressmen which request a reevaluation of this rationing proposal by the Federal Energy Office.

I told the Energy Chief, William Simon, that while the spirit of sacrifice to conserve energy was very evident with our people, travel on Long Island was an absolute necessity for the area's general economic well-being. A considerable portion of our people live and work on the Island and mass transportation between local suburban areas is grossly inadequate.

I reiterated our hope that gas rationing would not come into aluminum tray. The eggbeater of old has been succeeded by a 16-speed blender which does everything from pulverize to puree and points in between. Convenient, to be sure, but at what price!?!?

Wretched excesses in all of us are coming home to roost. If we run short on natural resources, it follows we must import more from foreign lands. The more we import from abroad, the more U.S. dollars we send overseas - thereby weakening that dollar at home. The product - inflation - plus a perilous dependence on others for our staples. Inflation brought the calls for controls, and so the cycle consumes itself.

We must all begin making some critical choices between necessities and extravagances if we're to successfully break this circle. They will be difficult to make, and perhaps take some time getting used to. But government alone is not going to being. However, if it should be unavoidable I sincerely hope that it will be done by a fair system of allocations granted according to the individual needs of a certain area not the blanket requirements of a region.

These across-the-board allocations in cases such as ours would impose real hardship on the people. In my opinion the plan, as it stands now, is unrealistic.

I checked with the Energy Office before this column went into the mails and found that these rationing plans are not yet finalized.

I sincerely hope that our suggestions are taken into account in deciding on the ticket allocations and if we do have to go through rationing we start out at least fairly.

They report that they are still evaluating the "mass transit factor" in each area before the plans are submitted. That will be easy on the Island - we don't have any.

As far as home heating oil goes we have met several times in the past few months with representatives of the independent retailers who supply a majority of the homes on Long Island. We are doing everything that we can here in Congress to keep your retailers supplied.

break the cycle... the effort must begin at home.

Fire Hits Hicksville Plant

By Owen Magee
A general alarm fire, caused by a workman using a torch resulted in heavy damage to a portion of Contact Industries Plant at 848 South Oyster Bay Road. The fire was first reported at 10:17 AM (Feb. 7) by a box alarm from New South Rd. and Commercial St. This box, being a half mile west of the actual fire caused Hicksville fire apparatus to be delayed in arriving at the fire scene. A telephone call was routed to the Bethpage Fire Dept. who also responded.

Upon arrival a large body of fire was in progress in spite of the automatic sprinklers. Flames were roaring out the back onto several freon tankers. Hicksville Ladder 6 Aerial was raised and a water curtain cut off the fire from the tanks, and near by Astro Motel. The motel was evacuated, as exploding drums of chemicals inside hampered firemen's advance. 2 alarms were sounded for Hicksville vamps. The Jericho Fire Dept. sent one engine co. to stand-by at Hicksville Fire Headquarters on Marie St. Bethpage and Plainview fire units assisted at the fire scene. The South Farmingdale Fire Dept. was called in to stand-by in Bethpage. 150 firemen under Ast. Hicksville Chief Mario Misturini along with 14 pieces of apparatus responded. The fire was brought under control in 25 minutes.

No injuries were reported. The General Electric Supply House connected to the fire building continued to operate during the blaze. This fire is a good example of the close relationship enjoyed by Hicksville and surrounding Fire Departments. In many areas if a fire is reported to the wrong fire department they don't respond, which could cause severe problems. A mutual agreement in this area permits other fire units to respond while the proper fire department is notified. This way no time is lost.

Three and half years ago on June 13, 1970 a general alarm fire at this same plant damaged a portion of the Astro Motel. The problem then was the same as it is now - large storage of gas - 96 per cent of it unlabeled, thus endangering advancing fire fighters. Back in 1970 as is now the fire marshals office was called in to enforce violations which are numerous. 3 1/2 years have passed and still large gas tankers remain unidentified. We hope the proper safety officials take note before someone is killed.

Junior Fire Report

By Carl Calma, Nick Di Palo, Brian Gill

The Hicksville Fire Department Junior Firemen, were organized under the direction of the Commissioners for the purpose of training teenagers from age fourteen to eighteen, to be future firemen. Our Duties include: at major fire scenes; crowd and traffic control; changing of air bottles, and help clean up at the scene and back at the fire houses. Every Sunday morning, you can find a good number of Juniors at one of the three firehouses training or cleaning the apparatus. But in most cases when there is something to be done, the Juniors are around to lend a helping hand. In fact, to show this, about three weeks ago eight Juniors met at the Gregory Museum to do some painting and floor work. Our elected officers are; president; John R. Conta, Vice-president; Robert Dybec, secretary; Richard Christ, Financial Secretary; Anthony Corvillo, Treasurer; Mike Provanzano. Next week the beginning of the Explorers.

Your Voice In New York

by Mark Silverstein

Radio station WMCA is beginning its third smashing year of dial-log radio. WMCA may be the only chief station in the country who goes on air every hour of the day, every day of the week and urges listeners to telephone and sound off on what they think on news topics or anything else.

The listeners wake up to Ken Fairchild's Newscall. On his show he gives complete news, weather, traffic reports from the spotter corps, newsmaker guest plus his listeners expressing their direct opinions by telephone.

Then listen from 9:00 A.M. to 1:00 P.M. to Bob Grant and his antics.

Next comes Leon Lewis who really is refreshing. He has surprise guests who talk to the listeners and tell their stories.

From 4:00 P.M. to 7:00 P.M. Thelma Tierney is on and she is the first woman in radio history to be a host of an afternoon prime time program combining entertainment, news, comment information, fun, games, and two way telephone conversation.

For sports fans 4 to 7 P.M. John Sterling hosts sports call. It's a program where people call up John and ask him questions on sports. Every hour John calls up a sports figure and asks questions.

Then comes the best known interviewer in U.S. radio - Barry Gray. Barry brings together people in politics, the arts, sports, finance and entertainment.

In the late night spot it's Long John Nebel and Candy Jones (husband and wife). Long John is known as "King of all night radio" especially with Alan Douglass being fired from WNBC.

Every Monday night R. Peter Strauss, the owner of WMCA, lets listeners call him up and tell him what they think about his station.

In the summer WMCA carries the Yankee games. In my opinion it is a great radio station.

Lee Ave. PTA To Meet Feb. 20

Lee Avenue, P.T.A., Hicksville will hold a general meeting on Wednesday, February 20 at 5:15 P.M. The program for the evening will be "Losing Weight the Exotic Way" featuring Mrs. Mary Ellis who is skilled in the art of belly dancing and yoga.

Mrs. Ellis is a former elementary school teacher in the East Meadow School District who is presently attending Hofstra University to obtain her doctorate degree in reading. In order to meet the high cost of tuition, Mrs. Ellis teaches "the art of belly dancing" in the adult education program of the East Meadow School District. She is a firm believer that belly dancing is a healthful and pleasant way to lose inches.

"What have you got to lose?.....Why not attend and enjoy a sociable and fun evening. Refreshments will be served.

Increase Salary

Nassau County Police pay checks will be intact this Thursday, according to a federal Cost of Living Council ruling today. A final decision on the police 7.5 percent contract salary increase is due before the next payday, Feb. 21.

County officials and representatives of Nassau Patrolman's Benevolent Association held an informal 2-hour meeting at the CLC headquarters in Washington, D.C., with Hazel Rollins, director of the Public Sector Division and staff members.

The delegation went to Washington to answer a challenge of the pay raise by the CLC last week. The pay increase, second phase of a two-year contract signed by the county and the police last August, went into effect on Jan. 1. The contract resulted from months of hard bargaining followed by a fact-finders' report, after negotiations reached an impasse.

Chief Deputy County Executive Thomas G. DeVivo, in charge of county fiscal affairs, headed the delegation sent by County Executive Ralph G. Caso.

Marco Polo Lodge, Levittown Sons of Italy, Sponsors Hicksville Soccer Team

The Lodge is the 4th organization to sponsor a team. This particular team will be receiving more than enthusiastic moral support from its sponsors, since Jos Sanna's Hicksville American team is going to Italy in a few months to compete in Rome and Sardinia.

As of this time, there are only two teams remaining for sponsorship. Any organization or individual interested in assuming a sponsor role for these teams should contact Roger Fremgen at 433 - 2703.

This past weekend, the Soccer Club participated in an indoor-tournament at Oceanside. At the end of a fiercely competitive day, Hicksville came in first. The Club hopes to repeat this powerful performance again at Oceanside on Saturday, Feb. 16th, joining our Midget division winners, so that they will also be eligible for the finals the following day.

The Soccer Club is also looking forward to it's 3rd and final weekend of indoor soccer at Hicksville High School on February 23 and 24. The Bantam division is playing host to 16 visiting clubs. The public is invited to attend from 9:30 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. both days.

Hicksville Public Library

The Hicksville Public Library will present the second in its Academy Award Film Series on Thursday, February 21 at 8 p.m. The Oscar winner to be shown at this time will be "It Happened One Night", the recipient of the 1934 awards for the best picture of the year, and its stars, Claudette Colbert and Clark Gable for the best actor and actress.

This zany romantic comedy established a new style that became stereotyped in the hundreds of romantic comedies Hollywood produced in the 30's.

The film still holds up as a funny, funny film even after 40 years. The oldesters of the community will enjoy seeing this great film once more, and the younger people will enjoy the film that amused their parents in "the old days".

Don't forget to fill in your ballot of Hicksville's choice for this year's award winning films. The ballots are available at the library and on the bookmobile.

The next of the Award Series to be shown will be "All the Kings Men" on Thursday, March 21.

Legislative "Listen In"

For the benefit of local residents a legislative "Listen In" will be conducted in Hicksville by the four assemblymen who represent the area.

Assembly Majority Leader John E. Kingston (R-Westbury) and Assemblymen Stuart R. Levine (R-Bethpage), George A. Murphy (R-Seaford) and Joseph M. Reilly (R-Glen Cove) will jointly conduct the meeting which will take place on Thursday Feb. 21 at 8 p.m. in the Hicksville Junior High School. All interested citizens are urged to attend.

According to the four Nassau lawmakers, who have also mailed legislative questionnaires to households within the district, the one-to-one communication will provide the opportunity to discuss local problems, as well as the many important issues which are facing New York State this year. They also indicated that firsthand knowledge of community feelings will enable them to more effectively represent the interests of the community.

Where Have All the Flowers Gone? Workshop Hopes To Rediscover Them

Colt's Foot, Spring Beauty and Squirrel Corn, would you be able to identify them? Year after year, without any help from man, wildflowers have beautified the earth. Yet year after year man has taken over their living quarters and pushed them far out of sight.

Rita Sharkey, a Hicksville resident, hopes to bring back an appreciation of our wildflowers and thereby create a renewed interest in the preservation and

Rita has received a grant to conduct a workshop in Hicksville. She will provide experience in the use of camera, tape recorder and producing slides. Mr. Gardiner Gregory, Director of Curriculum Materials in the Hicksville School District, and Director of the Gregory Museum in Hicksville, has been invited to share his personal knowledge and extraordinary slide collection on wildflowers. Several field trips are also being planned.

This workshop is being done in cooperation with The Farmers' Museum in Cooperstown, and is made possible with support from the New York State Council on the Arts.

Participants in the workshop will meet in the Hicksville Junior High School on Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. starting March 12 and ending May 28. Field trips will take place on weekends toward the end of the program. The workshop is free of charge and, although some cameras and tape recorders will be available, it is highly recommended that the participants bring their own or borrow a 35mm camera and cassette recorder.

Interested people who wish to participate, may call 681-5173 for further information.

"H.A.D. Program In Need of Donated Furniture and Kitchen Utensils"

Help-Aid-Direction (H.A.D.), Hicksville's own youth and family counseling and drug abuse prevention center appeals to the residents of the Hicksville area for usable furniture and kitchen utensils for use at its 389 New South Road facility.

The H.A.D. agency can use the following furniture: sofas, couches, chairs, lamps, coffee tables, portable television, pool table, pingpong tables, other games and athletic equipment - all in good, working condition. Lumber, Paneling, Hammers, saws, any type of tools are also needed.

Furthermore, on Saturday evenings, young people and H.A.D. staff members cook and eat dinner together while other participants entertain with guitars and singing. H.A.D. desperately needs all forms of kitchen supplies, canned food, spices, and equipment. Especially useful would be: pots, pans, silverware, plates, cups, glasses, ladies, cutting knives, mops pails, coffee and tea pots. If you would like to donate anything to H.A.D., please call WE 5-6858 to arrange for pick-up or drop off the items at our 389 New South Road facility any of the following hours: Monday through Thursday 1 p.m. to 10 p.m., Friday 1 p.m. to 11 p.m., Saturday 2 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Since H.A.D. is a non-profit, tax-exempt counseling agency, all donations are tax-deductible.

Finally, H.A.D. needs to make improvements in its basement and attic. Any electrician, carpenter or handyman who could volunteer some time would be providing us with an invaluable service.

Northville Resumes Gas Sales To Resellers

Northville Industries Corp. announced today that its voluntary compliance with Federal Mandatory Allocation regulations required a change of its policy announced in January and that it would resume selling gasoline to resellers.

Resellers of Northville's gasoline include a small number of Long Island retail gasoline stations.

"Northville has been reluctant to take this step because the high prices paid for gasoline on the spot market inevitably find their way to the ultimate Long Island consumer," it was stated by Joseph J. Ackell, Northville vice president.

To comply with the new Federal regulations Northville must sell gasoline to its historical resellers in the Nassau-Suffolk area. The price at which Northville sells gasoline is also controlled by Federal regulations, Mr. Ackell noted.

Northville also sells to end-users, such as police and fire departments, who do not pay state or federal taxes. Other priority users absorb the cost of the gasoline by saving the cost of fuel wasted and time lost waiting in line at gas pumps.

"Northville will cooperate with all priority users in every way possible under the law to assure their supply of gasoline during the crisis," Mr. Ackell said.

PUTTING FOREIGN LANGUAGE SKILLS TO PRACTICAL USE-Paul Basist, an eighth grade student of Mrs. Beckner, at the Hicksville Junior High School, earned his interpreters ribbon for German from the Boy Scouts. Before being granted the right to sew it onto his shirt, Paul had to complete a series of tests. He added many words to his vocabulary, translated a two-page dialogue, and spoke for a considerable time on various topics conducting a conversation which involved both understanding and expressing himself in German. Paul will be able to help German visitors with information and assist German boyscouts whenever he meets them.

The marines - all former members of the 5th, 4th, 3rd & 6th Marine Divisions and members of supporting naval units will have as special guests officers and men of the 1st Marine Corps District of Garden City.
