Wall Raising On BOCES Students House Today

The exterior walls of a three-bedroom, all electric house, built entirely by teenage occupational education students, will be raised in Hicksville April 18.

The house, which has been under construction for the past year, is being built by hundreds of Nassau County youngsters who are enrolled in various building trades courses conducted by the Nassau Board of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES). The students spend half of each day in the BOCES program and the remaining half-day pursuing their academic subjects at their home high schools.

The BOCES students, supervised by their teachers, are providing all the labor in the construction of the house. Involved are students of carpentry, plumbing, trade electricity, bricklaying, architectural drafting, metal fabrication, refrigeration and air conditioning, automatic heating, welding, and ornamental horticulture.

In addition to labor, BOCES has supplied the site at 101 New South Road, Hicksville.

Co-sponsoring the project with BOCES is the Long Island Lighting Company, which is supplying all building materials and furnishings.

When the house is completed, it will be used by BOCES as a demonstration center for students of the building trades. It may also be used by LILCO as a demonstration center during non-school hours.

The completed house will have a living room, dining room, family room, three bedrooms, two and one-half baths, laundry room, full basement, two-car garage, and patio.

It will be electrically heated and air conditioned. Some of the equipment will include a counter-top stove, micro-wave oven, refrigerator-freezer, dishwasher, solid waste compacter, clothes washer, dryer, central vacuum cleaning system, intercom system, driveway snow melter, and automatic garage door.

The house was designed by Perry Levine, a student at W. Tresper Clarke High School, who submitted the best of more than 70 entries in a contest judged by a committee of Long Island architects.

The wall-raising on April 18 will take place at 1 p.m.

Citizens Plan LILCO Rally

The rally will be held on the main steps of the County Executive Building in Mineola.

"Citizens In Action would like to coordinate all the local groups on Long Island to work together against LILCO. There will be a number of prominent speakers and proposals towards steps the consumer can take to fight this outrageous rate request."

Nassau - Suffolk OTB

Nassau and Suffolk Counties today moved one step closer to establishing their own separate Off-Track Betting Corporations under legislation passed in the Assembly, according to Assemblyman Joseph M. Margiotta (R-Uniondale) and Assemblyman Robert Wertz (R-Commack).

Under the present law, Nassau-Suffolk Counties are considered one betting region. Margiotta's bill splits the two sister counties into individual betting regions and allows each county to run its own betting operation as separate corporations.

The bill also permits the two counties to each appoint their own boards of directors with each board to have three commissioners. The measure would become effective immediately, according to the Republican lawmaker.

The move in the legislature to create independent betting operations has been welcomed by Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Caso and Suffolk County Executive John Klein.

Officials of both Nassau and Suffolk Counties had sought to separate the betting operations of Nassau and Suffolk Counties when the original Off-Track Betting Bill was passed last year by the Legislature and signed into law by Governor Rockefeller.

Having failed to achieve the separation in the closing hours of the session last year, Nassau-Suffolk legislators this year pushed for separate operations as being advantageous to the counties because of the size and population of the two counties.

State of Israel Celebration

State and local government officials will join with the American Zionist Federation of Long Island on Sunday, April 21, for a 26th Anniversary celebration of the State of Israel at Eisenhower Park, East Meadow.

The 1:30 p.m. event will be highlighted by a tree-planting ceremony near the veterans monument where trees will be dedicated for each year of Israeli independence. An additional tree will be planted in tribute to Israel's war dead.

Israeli entertainers will perform following the official ceremonies.

Honorary chairmen of the event County Executives Ralph G. Caso of Nassau and John V.N. Klein of Suffolk, Nassau District Attorney William Cahn and Moses Hornstein.

Caso has issued a proclamation declaring the week of April 21 as Israel Independence Week.

Plan LILCO Rally

Since January, Long Island Citizens In Action, a consumer protection group on Long Island, has been working to organize dissatisfied Long Islanders into a mass action against LILCO's proposed rate hike and fuel adjustment factor. On Sunday April 21 at 1 P.M. Citizens In Action will sponsor a massive rally to kick off an island-wide consumer action to roll back LILCO's prices. The rally will be held on the main steps of the County Executive Building in Mineola. Richard Schrader of West

Hempstead, a member of Long Island Citizens In Action explains the purpose of the rally. "Citizens In Action would like to coordinate all the local groups on Long Island to work together against LILCO. There will be a number of prominent speakers and proposals towards steps the consumer can take to fight this outrageous rate request."

For further information about the rally or Citizens In Action get in touch with Rich Schrader or call 796-4646.

Social Security

QUES: I'm getting monthly social security checks on my husband's work record, and I'll be 65 in 5 months. When should I apply for Medicare?

ANS: If you want to enroll in both parts - hospital and medical insurance - you don't have to do anything. You'll automatically be covered under both parts of Medicare the month you become 65. You'll get information about both parts of Medicare from social security a few months before the month your coverage starts. If you decide you don't want the medical insurance, you must complete the form you get from social security and return it.

Caso Urges

"Wipe Out Earnings Ceilings For Social Security..."

Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Caso today urged Long Island businessmen to join him in pressing Congress to eliminate the earnings ceiling for social security beneficiaries.

Caso spoke at the Human Resources Center in Albertson before a management seminar on hiring people of retirement age. The seminar was co-sponsored by the New Life Institute of the Human Resources Center, the Nassau County Department of Senior Citizen Affairs and the Long Island Association of Commerce and Industry.

"Social security beneficiaries are not receiving charity. They are not wards of the state. They are not on welfare. They are getting back the money that they paid into the system throughout their working lives in order to draw benefits in their old age," Caso said.

Pointing out that Congress raised the earnings ceiling from $1,680 to $2,100 in 1972 and to $2,400 in 1973, Caso said, "I think that Congress should wipe out the earnings ceiling entirely in order to wipe out a gross injustice."

Caso said that many people over 65 are still vigorous and eager to continue working. Many of them have to work because of inflation, he said. Under present law, however, they forfeit one dollar in social security benefits for every two dollars that they earn over the $2,400 ceiling. (Only retired persons working for a salary suffer this penalty. Caso said. People with investment income can earn thousands of dollars a year while continuing to draw their full social security benefits.

Caso said that recent studies have shown that many people are retiring at a much younger age - some as young as 55. He called these experienced and dependable workers a vital human resource that industry should not neglect.

"It is one of the unnoticed tragedies of our system that it makes so many people feel useless when they are still physically strong and mentally alert, when they are still able to do an honest day's work and contribute to their communities," Caso said.

REPORT ON SUPERVISORS MEETING:

County Girds Against Off Shore Drilling

By Janet Gosnell

Any "overt" act by the Federal Government toward off-shore drilling in the coastal waters of Long Island will be countered with a lawsuit, according to County Executive Ralph G. Caso and his county attorney Joseph Jaspas, who called a special press conference after the supervisors meeting to announce the county's "get tough" attitude.

The attitude follows a report released by the U.S. Council on Environmental Quality and efforts of the Interior to bypass the environmental impact study stage and allow immediate exploratory drilling.

Constituting an overt act, Caso said, would be the advertising for filling of applications by oil companies, the issuance of permits, or other steps toward the beginning of drilling. The federal office said to be already installed in New York City to administer exploratory drilling is not considered such an act, Jaspas said.

"You have to be an injured party before you can sue," Jaspas said. "You've got to say 'ouch' before you can tell them you're hurt."

The county, however, is prepared to go to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary, to keep off-shore drilling away from Long Island. "From the other point of view, I'm sure if we should win in a lower court, the federal government will appeal the decision in a higher court," the County Executive said.

For the time being, the county executive believes the county attorney's office can handle the matter without hiring special counsel, which has been done in Suffolk county.

Pipeline Woes

About $6,000,000 is presently being held back in the ocean outfall project following evidence that some faulty construction exists in the pipeline extending out from the Wantagh sewage treatment plant, as reported.

"There definitely will be some repairs needed," said County Attorney Jaspas, limiting his comments on the pipeline pending full statements to be received later in the day from the contractor and others involved. He said five divers had testified under oath up until that time, and that further testimony would be taken.

He said the county was fully insured against excess cost due to faulty construction or materials in the pipeline.

"It's just a question of finding out where the chain of command broke down," Caso said, in the midst of laborious questions by reporters as to who inspected the divers' logs, and on whom the blame might be pinned.

Testing procedures on the pipeline currently in progress include the injection of a fluorescence dye at a point near the treatment plant. Periodic observations were to be made through Wednesday by helicopter to see where the dye comes to the surface.

"Will you then drink the effluent?" asked a reporter. "After Mr. Plock takes the first glass," was Caso's reply. (H. John Plock, Jr. is Senior Deputy Commissioner of Public Works.)

He added in relation to the reporter's dig that the effluent is not "raw sewage" but treated sewage which is almost potable. "It is bacteria free, but might contain some nitrates," Jaspas said.

Other Developments

The County Executive also announced that a meeting had been set with N.Y. City mayor Abe Beame to work out a reciprocal halt fare for senior citizens on mass transit vehicles and that the N.Y. State Cardiac Advisory Committee on Open Heart Surgery had okayed the procedure for the Nassau County Medical Center.

Regular Business

In the regular business of the morning, the supervisors approved the continuation of several mental health services and approved the expansion of drug abuse services; acted in behalf of the Department of General Services and International Business Machines Corp. in relation to a program entitled "N.C. Police Master Plan," and executed a grant award agreement with New York State in connection with the interdepartmental safety committee on a project for signs for the Nassau County Hospital.

Next Week

On the agenda for next week is a resolution approving the purchase of road signs for $460,000, and a plan to put thermoplastic markings on county roads at a cost of $600,000. The new buildings for the Nassau County Jail's work release program are on the agenda at $150,000, and so is an expenditure of $500,000, to be refunded by a N.Y. State Grant in connection with Drug Abuse Control.

Another state grant on the agenda is for $14,620, for the police department for a two-part voice identification program for crime control.

Appointments and re-appointments to the youth board will also come up. From this area, Otto Watson, of Hempstead, is scheduled for a three year term expiring September 13, 1975, replacing Oliver Melchior. Also, Lawrence Casey of Syosset is scheduled to be re-appointed for the same duration.

After the Meeting

After the regular agenda, County Executive Ralph G. Caso welcomed back county watchdog Carl Schmidt, who has been overseeing county business from a Florida vantage point for the past three months.

The Nassau County E.O.C. director, John Kearse, stepped forward to protest the expected end of federal funding for poverty programs in June.

New Law Increases School Board Candidates Petition Filing Period

State Senator Norman J. Levy's bill increasing school board elections from the present 14 days to 30 days in union free school districts, has been signed into law by Governor Malcolm Wilson. The bill was sponsored in the Assembly by Arthur J. Kremer (D-Long Beach). "Under present law, there is a 14 day period between the filing of petitions and election day", stated the Merrick Republican. "The new Levy - Kremer law gives the voters additional time to know the candidates and the issues. School Board elections present one of the most important opportunities for voters to express their views. The additional 16 days will serve the interests of an informed citizenry."

Dear Friends ....

During the past week Hicksville firemen responded to 19 alarms. 5 malicious false alarms, 8 rescue calls and 6 fire calls, Ex. Capt. Owen Magee tells us.

We certainly can't praise the continuing community service given by these dedicated volunteers enough!

AS YOU CAN SEE on page 3 a new law has been passed extending the time that school board candidates must file from 14 to 30 days. This certainly in the interests of an informed citizenry and we are glad to see that it is now a law.

THAT'S ALL for this week. Stay well and remember the old adage, "What you don't use, you lose!"

Sincerely,

SHEILA

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:

I have spent most of my adult life, in some capacity, as a member of the teaching profession, from which I am about to retire.

Looking back over the many years filled with stimulating and memorable experiences in dealing with other human beings, I cannot help but think about one man in particular - Mr. Gardiner Gregory. It was through him that my outlook on the natural world took on new and exciting dimensions. He offered to me and my pupils so much knowledge of, and feeling for, nature, most specifically in earth science, that I am deeply indebted to him, so, this letter is to acknowledge publicly my gratitude to him.

I know I express the sentiments of numbers of admirers who appreciate the talent which he has so generously shared. It would be an irreparable loss to the student body if the Hicksville School System were to dispose of his position in the name of economy. To those who feel inclined toward the appreciation and preservation of our physical environment, let them speak out in favor of continuing the services of Gardiner Gregory, whose work at the local level is basic to the national salvation of our environment and all it encompasses.

Very truly yours,
(Mrs.) Elizabeth Sennett

Exerpts from a letter to the Members of the Board of Education of School District 17, Hicksville.

Dear Sirs and Madam: As a resident, parent, teacher and long-time student of Hicksville history and one quite conversant with our school programs and with many fine administrators and teachers, may I respectfully voice an opinion in this current matter of school budget reduction by elimination of administrative positions?

It seems to me that in the last few years some of the programs which have benefited our children as a whole and enriched the education of so many others have become targets for elimination or reduction. I find it hard to accept economy which diminishes programs which have reflected credit on our community; attesting to its sense of priorities in education and life.

These activities may seem like frills to hardpressed taxpayers, but they are important to the children and our general community's morale and pride, building as they do cultural awareness and appreciation of a person's home community.

It is hard, therefore, to accept budgetary "balancing" which will reduce our educational and cultural stature here in Hicksville, particularly through a reduction of administrative positions involving our splendid vocal music program, continuing an Adult Education and the top leadership of our audio-visual and library programs.

In the matter of eliminating the Curriculum Materials Center and the position of its administrator, we may be losing sight of the vast enhancement of teaching and learning which the audio-visual media under gifted supervision may provide for children and their teachers. As a teacher, I can attest to the quality and quantity of the curriculum materials which the Gregory administration has processed and placed into circulation over the past fifteen years.

There is also the matter of ethics and honor in school personnel relationships for our Board of Education to consider.

The loss of positions and livelihood for people who are no longer young and who have lent their creative and administrative talents and energies to Hicksville over the years is a serious consideration, of which I am sure our Board members are quite aware. The elimination of positions of employment is a problem fraught with unimaginable consequences in a faculty as stable and devoted as that which comprises the Hicksville school system.

Speaking particularly of Gardiner Gregory, whom this writer has known closely for many years as an educational colleague, coproducer of educational materials and community historical slides and as an associate in the museum which bears his name and so enhances this fine old village's stature, I must say that I find it hard to believe that his economic security is now threatened, his long and distinguished service to the community forgotten or set aside as irrelevant, in the name of expediency.

In closing, I respectfully urge the Board of Education to retain the Curriculum Materials Center and the position of its director for the following reasons:

1. Its efficient, necessary and creative existence greatly assists our children's education.
2. Its retention will serve as a morale and rapport gesture, reassuring our many long-served and productive teachers and administrators of job security.
3. Its retention will serve as an expression of appreciation to Gardiner Gregory whose idealism, skill and visionary leadership makes Hicksville a worthwhile "home community" for our children and adults.

Very sincerely yours,
Richard E. Evers

Admission is free but tickets are required. They will be available to local district residents starting April 18. Others will be seated as space allows.

Rotarians Hear Harry Wappler

Harry Wappler, weatherman on WNBC-TV was the guest speaker at the April 11th luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club of Hicksville which was held at the Milleridge Inn.

Mr. Wappler's talk, entitled "Weather or Not", included the story of early meteorological experiments as well as historical and recent movies of hurricanes, tornadoes and other weather phenomena in action.

When Mr. Wappler spoke of the use of helicopters in the New York State 1972 floods, he also made note of the fact that the Hicksville Rotary Club had raised funds for these flood victims and had sent their contributions through the Rotary Club of Painted Post, New York.

Among its current projects, this active Club has recently established a William M. Payoski Scholarship Fund. Anyone interested in contribution to this fund may do so by contacting Rotarian Chris Mazur at 681-9003 or Mark Madden at 931-9777.

REPORT OF TOBAY MEETING:

Much Ado About Landmarks Law

By JANET GOSNELL

The question of whether a man has the right to paint his house purple or if his neighbors might enjoy a similar sight if his house was deemed of historic significance was the important news at Town Hall today, as ten speakers, mostly in favor, arose to address the Board on the question of the proposed Landmarks Ordinance for the Town.

This is the second hearing on the landmarks ordinance held at Town Hall. The present revised ordinance is different from that proposed in October, in that it includes reimbursement of several taxes, including the General Town Tax, for those whose property is designated to be of historic significance. Speaking again against the ordinance on Tuesday was Oscar Summers, of Oyster Bay, who introduced the housepainting theme and protested that too much property is presently off the tax rolls.

Speaking in favor were several representatives of several historical organizations, including John Gable, a resident of Providence, R.I., executive director of the Theodore Roosevelt Association; Terence Hunt, President of the Farmingdale Bethpage Historical Society; John Collins, representing the Huntington and Oyster Bay Historical Societies; and Frances Ward, Conservation Chairman of the Matinecock Garden Club. Also speaking in favor were Mary Hutchinson, active resident of Oyster Bay in historical organizations; Robert McKay, of Oyster Bay; Gail Lucien, of Farmingdale, who said her own house was built in 1700, and John Harbour, of Massapequa.

Speaking against the ordinance was George Deegan, of 291 Buckram Road, Locust Valley, longtime resident of the area, who said he owns a house which might be considered a landmark. He said he does not want to be restricted "as to what he can do with a house he bought in good faith." He asked, of those who spoke in favor, "How many are in the position of owning a potential landmark?"

McKay, in his address, asked: "What are we going to leave to future generation-golden Hamburger arches and whirling chicken buckets, or some of what was here before we came along?" Mr. Gable remarked that such an ordinance is presently in force in Providence, that it has met with no difficulty since its passage, and is generally considered to have done the city some good.

John Collins said the ordinance should prove economically good for the Town, encouraging tourism with resulting increases in associated businesses -- restaurants, gift shops, etc.

A letter in favor of the ordinance was received from Dorothy McGee, Chairman of the town's Bi-Centennial Commission.

The Ordinance
The 18-page Landmarks Ordinance provides for the creation of a Landmarks Commission with regulations for appointments and terms of office. The Commission would be affiliated with the Director of Planning Services, who would be its executive secretary.

The ordinance states that residents may apply to have buildings designated as landmarks, and also that the commission may apply for such designation without the application of the owners.

A public hearing on the designation would be held, and the Town Board promises to return a decision on the designation within 60 days of the public hearing. Pending designation of any building as an historic edifice will result in a moratorium on the issuance of any building permits on the property.

Residents have the opportunity to prove hardship to the Town Board in adhering to ordinance. The ordinance does not disallow regular repair to a structure using similar materials and colors.

Public Hearings
In other business, the Town Board set a public hearing date of May 14th for the petition of Alan

Social Security Question Box

QUES: I'm going to operate a private camp next summer, and I'll soon be interviewing young people for counselor jobs. The counselors I hire will get free room and board and a small salary. Will I have to pay social security contributions on the value of their room and board?

ANS: Yes. The fair value of their room and board plus their cash salaries are their total earnings for social security purposes and must be reported when you send in the social security contributions for them.

QUES: I understand that there is delayed retirement credit for 1 per cent a year for each year after 65 for which a worker doesn't get social security payments. Will I still get some credit if it's only part of a year?

ANS: Yes, delayed retirement credit is figured on a monthly basis. For each month from 65 through 72 that you don't get any benefits, you get a special credit of 1 12 of one per cent if you've never before received any social security payments on your work record.

QUES: I'm totally blind, and I'm getting a monthly disability payment of $175 from social security. I'm single, and I live alone. Can I get any help under the Federal supplemental security income program that just started?

ANS: Although your income is too high for you to get the basic Federal payment, you may be eligible for benefits since New York State has a supplemental benefit program. You should check at any social security office to find out if you are eligible. Your local office is at 1 Station Plaza North, Mineola, New York 11501. The telephone number is PI 7-5470.

Plainview-Old Bethpage High News

What is fast becoming a tradition, and certainly one to be proud of, is the success of Plainview High's Mathlete teams. This year, "Coach" Alan Stone's mathletes finished in fifth place in competition with over 55 other Nassau County high schools which make up the Mathlete League. The fifth place finish gains Plainview-Old Bethpage High School its fourth trophy in the past five years and our sixth trophy in all. Only those schools (teams) finishing in the first five positions are given awards, so the team's achievements in terms of trophies received is certainly indicative of an outstanding record.

This year's Mathlete team consists of five "starters" and two able replacements who together contributed enough scoring power to enable the accomplishment to be labeled a true team effort. Members of the team are: Kenneth Bernstein (captain), Kenneth Romaine, Peter Hanson, Andrew Katz, Joel Warburg, Charles Froehlich and Alan Levy.

DOT Abandons Route 107 Proposals

All current proposals to reconstruct Route 107 as a four-lane facility between Jericho Turnpike and Route 25A in Nassau County have been abandoned, State Transportation Commissioner Raymond T. Schuler announced today.

The action was taken in response to concerns expressed by Assemblymen Joseph M. Margiotta and Joseph M. Reilly and Senator Ralph J. Marino, local officials and citizens. "Our action is in keeping with our goals to be responsive and responsible," the Commissioner said.

The Department will ask local communities for assistance in determining the best way to solve traffic problems in the area through more modest improvements, the Commissioner said.

The determination to abandon current plans was made after several informal meetings between the Department and local officials. A public information meeting was held in February, when citizens expressed concern about the proposals developed to date.

"Since then," Commissioner Schuler said, "I also have conferred with Assemblymen Margiotta and Reilly and Senator Marino, who have further emphasized the community concern."

Commissioner Schuler said he would seek the assistance of concerned citizens in addition to the continuing cooperation of local officials to assist the Department's Regional Office in developing transportation alternatives in keeping with community goals.

"Problems to be considered," the Commissioner said, "include relieving increasing traffic congestion and related safety problems on Route 107 while maintaining environmental values in the area."

Special attention will be paid to improving public transportation service to the tri-campus area (State University of New York at Old Westbury, New York Institute of Technology and C. W. Post College), development of bikeways and improvements along the existing highway, particularly intersection improvements at Route 25A and Wheatley Road.

"I am confident that we can continue to work effectively with representatives of the communities to find an acceptable answer to meet transportation needs," he said.

A public information meeting which had been scheduled for April 24 by DOT Regional Director Austin Emery has been cancelled.

And A Great Time Was Had By All

The Gregory Museum 3rd Annual Gem & Mineral Show, held at Hicksville High School Saturday and Sunday, March 30 and 31, was a tremendous success. Well attended by over 3000 people, this year's show offered many fine exhibits for all ages; the Dealers' gems, minerals, jewelry was all exceptional; and the demonstrations drew a tremendous interest. Slide programs in the little theatre, on such subjects as "Heartbeat of A Volcano," Fossils, Evidence of the Ice Age, Making a Cabachon, etc., were well received. Hot appetizing refreshments hit the spot for many cold, wet and hungry visitors. A rare find a young man brought to the mineral identification table was an old cannonball found in the Hudson River with most of the outside covering worn off, evidently dating back to the War of 1812.

The Gregory Museum wishes to thank all who helped make the show possible: the Hicksville Board of Education; Mr. William Becker, Supervisor of Bldg. &

Students Visit Museum

Thursday, April 4, the Hicksville Senior High School French Club visited the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City to view the tapestry exhibit. Besides the Unicorn Tapestries from the Cloisters, there were many on loan from European Museums, with the largest majority from France. This will probably be the only time such a large collection will be assembled. Many were surprised to learn the medieval worker averaged 1 square inch per day in weaving, completing 1 to 2 square yards per year. Everyone had an enjoyable afternoon. Mrs. Sanna and Mr. Gentile are the co-advisors for the club.

Israeli Art Auction

Social Security

QUEST: I'm getting monthly social security checks on my husband's work record, and I'll be 65 in 5 months. When should I apply for Medicare?

ANS: If you want to enroll in both parts - hospital and medical insurance - you don't have to do anything. You'll automatically be covered under both parts of

Medicare the month you become 65. You'll get information about both parts of Medicare from social security a few months before the month your coverage starts. If you decide you don't want the medical insurance, you must complete the form you get from social security and return it.

PLAINVIEW-OLD BETHPAGE HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS NEWS

By Mark Silverstein

It's April which means Baseball is here. Seventeen players made varsity, nine seniors, six juniors and two sophomores. The Gulls play 21 games, eleven of them away, ten at home.
Coach Tom Murray told me that the Gulls are in a rebuilding stage but said that they are capable of playing exciting and winning baseball. There is no question that after this season there will be a complete change because nine players will have graduated.

The seniors are: Gary Burke, Craig Farina, Frank Gallina, Harold Greensberg, Jeff Lachman, Kerry McPoland, Rick Sadetsky, Steve Tipa, and Tom Yacuk. The juniors are: Paul Berstein, Barry Fried, Craig Martin, Gary Merl, George Seropian, and Jerry Zanfardino.

The two sophomores are Cliff Morello and Charles Petretti (both catchers).
It's not known how good the Gulls will do this year, but I'll predict they'll finish the season with a little bit less than a 500 per cent average. Here's the schedule:

All games are played at 4:00 P.M.

Supervisor JOHN W. BURKE REPORTS

A segment of our population that has become the victim of a particularly insidious form of discrimination is the senior citizen. It takes the form of a general attitude that, upon reaching the age of sixty-five years or thereabouts, a man or woman automatically is no longer a productive member of our society.

This image appears to be an almost exclusive product of the American culture. In other societies, particularly the Oriental, the elderly are honored and sought after for their wisdom and experience.

According to Dr. Daniel T. Peak, a psychiatrist at the Center for Aging of Duke University, aging has an unpleasant connotation in the American society. He and other medical and social psychiatrists recently participated in a two and one-half day panel discussion at an American Medical Association Conference on Aging in Chicago.

"We have become conditioned to accept the idea that growth and development stops when one reaches the early adults," Dr. Peak said. "This social delusion we have that development stops is an all too common occurrence."

The panelists urged that more attention be given to the integration into society of the older people who are eager and able to make creative contributions.

In a similar conference held here in Nassau County, it was noted that this discrimination extends into the working forces in many industries. The emphasis in industry is on the younger man or woman, particularly in open competition for employment offers. All too often, companies are finding that their mandatory retirement policies have resulted in the loss of talented, dedicated employees who are at the peak of their productivity.

It is time for all of us to give the senior citizen his rightful status as an asset to our society, the opportunity to continue to be a productive member, as well as the amenities to enjoy his golden years.

Here in Oyster Bay, we have recognized that the first need of our senior citizens is comfortable housing at a cost to match their restricted incomes. We now have six housing complexes in the Town so that our seniors can stay in the communities where they raised their families.

For their leisure hours, special cultural and recreational programs are provided by the Department of Community Services, and a schedule of reduced fees for shellfishing permits, community pool memberships and beach passes is available.

We should also focus our attention on ways to tap this vast pool of talent to the betterment of our community and the wellbeing of our seniors.

Trout Biting At L.I. State Parks

Where could one go trout fishing on Long Island today and see, on the way, wild turkeys and a doe with her fawn watched over by a big buck? Incredible? Not at all. The trout fishing season opened at Connetquot River State Park, Oakdale, on April 1, as it did at the Nissequogue River State Park, Smithtown, the newest in the Long Island State Park and Recreation Commission's system of parks and parkways. The turkeys and the deer were an introduction to the wet and dry fly fishing season at the former.

The Connetquot, or Great River, and the Nissequogue River are literally alive with brown trout, brookies, and rainbows waiting for eager anglers to wet a line and test their casting abilities.

The season's opener proved to the numerous fishermen, for whom platforms were erected at intervals along the streams, that good fishing will continue for the entire season because the take-home catch is limited to three fish, one large and two of medium size.

Permits for fishing at either park must be obtained at the Commission's office, Belmont Lake State Park, Babylon, N.Y. 11702 (669-1000). Fees for each daily session, 7 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 12 noon until 4 p.m., are $10. In addition, at Connetquot, an evening session from 5 p.m. until dark is available. No fishing will be allowed Mondays except in the case of holidays, when the park will be closed on Tuesdays instead.

Anglers were enthusiastic about the opportunity to fish in the pollution-free, sparkling waters of the swiftly moving streams. All who were queried tested their skill at casting to the fullest and each took more than 15 fish, returning all but three to the water.

Both parks are unique. Both are open on a limited basis to lovers of nature who may participate in guided tours and wildlife studies. Just now, however, the trout is king. Connetquot has its own hatchery. Each has been in existence as a game and fish preserve for slightly more than a century. The waters are crystal clear, so clear in fact that one man spotted a lazy 14-incher and used him as a target. It finally yielded to temptation and was landed in.

Fishermen for most part were from the local area, with a sprinkling from the city. One 79 year old Navy veteran of World War I and II said he had "the time of my life casting for the fish I wanted, just as I did in my native Nova Scotia."

Tobay Beach Toll Discount Books Now Available For Tobay Residents

Town Clerk Ann R. Ocker announced that the discount toll books, to allow Town residents to reach Tobay Beach through

Jones Beach, will be available at her Town Hall office in Oyster Bay and at the Town Hall annexes in Massapequa and Hicksville.

"The books, which have been made available to the Town by the L.I. State Parks Commission, can prove a great savings to residents who frequently use the Jones Beach bridges," Mrs. Ocker noted. In order to reach the Town facilities at Tobay Beach, residents must cross the bridges leading to Jones Beach.

The discount books offer 10 round-trip tickets for $7.50; 25 tickets for $15 and 50 tickets for $25. "Without the discount books, it would cost $1 for each round trip," Mrs. Ocker said.

MSBA Buses Rolling To More Coliseum Events

Public bus service to and from events at the Nassau Veterans Memorial Coliseum has been expanded, Coliseum Executive Director Arthur Scharf announced. The Metropolitan Suburban Bus Authority's new bus route schedule, which outlines all bus routes and stop-times, is now available at the bus information booths during events at the Coliseum.

Presently, there are seven bus routes to the Coliseum: Far Rockaway, Long Beach, Freeport, Jamaica, Wantagh, Flushing and the Hempstead Railroad Station. The new bus schedules are also available at many community locations, such as banks and libraries along these routes.

The bus information number (516) 626-3000 is open seven days a week for information on any bus route.

May 1 Deadline For Exemption Filing

The deadline for filing applications for property tax exemption for both senior citizens and veterans is May 1st, according to Abe Seldin, chairman of the Nassau County Board of Assessors.

"Senior citizens and veterans who are presently holding exemption applications should make every effort to return the forms as soon as possible," stated Seldin. "Waiting for the last day could cause a resident to lose his present exemption or postpone any new exemption for one year."

Completed applications can be mailed to the Nassau County Department of Assessment, 240 Old Country Road, Mineola 11501 or delivered in person. The department is located on the corner of Old Country Road and County Seat Drive in Mineola. "There are still 1,000 senior citizen renewal applications outstanding," stated Seldin. "We are making every effort to contact these residents but many are in jeopardy of losing their exemption."

"The deadline date for veterans is especially important since it has been changed from the third Tuesday in May to May 1st," continued Seldin.

Residents seeking more information should contact the Taxpayer Information Bureau at 535-2793.

AT FORK LANE: The North Central District (Hicksville-Westbury areas) celebrated National's 64th birthday of Campfire Girls by having a party on Friday, March 15, at Fork Lane School. Mrs. Terry Carwood's Adventure group, under the direction of sponsor Mrs. Barbara Cheslock, performed the opening ceremony. Each girl lit an individual candle symbolizing Friendship, Love, Brotherhood, Creativeness, Happiness, and Service. A "Bluebird" was selected to light the candle on the birthday cake. Following the ceremony, the girls enjoyed refreshments. Then Mrs. Kathy Catal's Adventure group put on a fashion show. The group had earned money, bought patterns and material, and sewed their own long and short dresses. More entertainment was provided by guitarist Michael Mort. Mr. Mort played and sang some current popular songs as well as sing-along favorites. At the conclusion of the party, each girl received a surprise birthday gift. The girls and their leaders had a wonderful time and are looking forward to next year's celebration.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS DISPLAY AT LIBRARY: March, 1974 marked the 64th birthday of Campfire Girls as a national youth organization. During the month of March, the North Central District (Hicksville - Westbury areas) had a display at the Hicksville Library. The lobby showcase contained a Campfire jacket which had been decorated with colored beads and patches as well as felt symbols. The beads and patches represent the individual girl's accomplishments in the Campfire program. The felt symbols represent the Indian name she has chosen. Also shown were arts and crafts made by girls aged 6 to 13 in Campfire levels of Bluebird, Adventurer and Discovery Club. Inside the library, several group banners and some Campfire publications were displayed on the bulletin board. Many of the groups contributed gaily decorated envelope corners that are used as page markers. They were put in boxes and were available free to anyone wishing to take them. Campfire Girls hopes that everyone enjoyed seeing the display and using the page markers.

Wolnek for a special permit use to construct and operate a nursery school on Berry Hill Road in Syosset, and a hearing for May 21st for the petition of Holzapple Realty Enterprises, Syosset to modify restrictions to change of zone granted previously.

The petition of Alan Wolnek calls for the construction of a one-story building on a parcel fronting 125 feet on Berry Hill Road 618 feet south of Fox Hunt Crescent. The school will be an Alphabetland Franchise. The property, which is about 350 feet deep, is vacant and wooded, surrounded by single family homes in Residence A, B and C zones.

A day night hearing will be held on the petition.

Holzapple, hearing May 21st, wants to add a 10.5 foot addition to its building for storage of parts and equipment in connection with its plumbing and heating business. Such an addition was prohibited by restrictive covenant on the granting of a change of zone a year or so ago. Other restrictive covenants called for no offensive lighting and the installation of fencing on the north and west property lines.

Decisions

On its decision calendar, the Town Board denied the petition of Varley Homes for a change of zone from B-1 Residential to 10-to-an acre condominiums in Woodbury; approved the petition of the Woodbury Racquet Club to install air conditioning; and approved amendments to the code of ordinances to provide Town traffic control in Shopping Centers. Centers must apply for such traffic control. The center for which it was approved on Tuesday was the Sunrise Mall in Massapequa.

The Town Board also voted to table any payment to the owners of the theatre building in Oyster Bay in connection with its condemnation for Town offices eight months ago. Present to protest, Oscar Summers, an owner of the building, was told that the Town Board would seek relief from a court order for payment in thirty days, and that supplemental information was required before payment could be made.

In post adjournment activities, Carole Fishman, of the Greater Plainview Community Association asked for town-wide newspaper pick-up. She was told that delivery of trucks to implement such a program had been delayed until June by Supervisor John Burke. He also told Mrs. Fishman that the "hazardous buildings" ordinance was "on the docket", which is the preliminary step to its being placed on the meeting agenda.

Judy Jacobs, President of the South Woodbury Taxpayers Association spoke on several topics, including her previously recommended temporary suspension of indicted Town officials and the Syosset Woodbury Master Map which she said had been "whitewashed by the District Attorney's office." She protested the fact that residents must protect their interests against Town Board actions. She asserted that the Town should know what is best for residents without their protests. She also said, "If the questions people asked were answered we would not be in the situation of eroded government in which we feel we are now."

Columbian Squires Report

The Columbian Squires who are a junior organization by the Knights of Columbus are represented in Hicksville by Circle 547. Our Chief Squire is Dan Barker and Deputy Chief is Rich De poto. Our program includes a variety of things from sports to religious activities. The group is open to boys from the ages 12½ to 18. Meetings are on Monday nights at the K. of C. Hall on Heitz Place.

An example of our program can be seen last month. We assisted the Knights in their annual blood bank by doing the paper work and serving food to the donors. We attended mass as a group earlier in the month. We also completed our basketball season with a 3-5 record. Coaches Captain Jack McCann and Diddy Della Ratta led an improving, young team. Dan Barker threw in 20 points a game and Jay Mulligan averaged 15 points. In our last game we almost overcame a tough first place Bayshore team. Steve Kenyon played excellent "D" against the leagues best player, Ronnie Jordan. Dan Barker scored 33 and Jay Mulligan added 23. Kev McCauley, Steve Haller, Ken "Q", and Steve Kenyon played well throughout the year. Softball is next and we are out to repeat as The Western Division Champions. Much is expected from this years team. We have a car wash on April 20, and a Corporate Communion on the 28. We will also attend the State Convention in June.

We must also welcome our new members, Kevin McCauley, "The" Jeff Barker, and James "Bouncer" Haller.

of the Hicksville Fire District with a population of 55,000 and millions of dollars of Assessed Valuation. Which includes over 12,000 homes, many shopping centers, light and heavy industries, many of these industries containing deadly explosive or flammable products. A lot of Responsibility, and its all done for free! The taxpayers buy the equipment. The rest of the job is free of cost, but plenty of hours and hard work go into it to keep Hicksville as safe as possible from Fire or Emergency. Aside from the fire duties there is the problem of rescue. Things in this field are changing rapidly, and in order to give our residents the best requires many hours of Planning and Training. Fire prevention is another big job and that task has been given to 3rd Ast. Chief Huttie, and experienced Fire Inspector. He will Head the 25 man Bureau of Fire Prevention.

Chief Misturini wishes to tell all our residents that he will do his best to keep Hicksville Fire Department one of the best. Along with this promise the Chief states he is going to need everyone's help. You can help by preventing fires before they start, stopping the rising number of malicious false alarms, and if fire does strike, knowing what to do so that no lives will be lost.

County To Salute Volunteers

$1,300 IDEA—Geraldine Reilly of Hicksville came up with an idea at Grumman, where she works, and it paid off to the tune of $1,300. Geraldine, who is an electronic equipment assembler, suggested putting transistor pads with components prior to installing them on circuit boards. She submitted her idea to the Suggestion Committee and now has $1,300 in Savings Bonds to help her son with his college education.

Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Caso announced that a county-wide salute to volunteer workers will be held on April 25 at the Century Theatre in Roosevelt Field from 10 AM to Noon.

The program, "A Salute to Volunteers," co-sponsored by the Nassau Office of Volunteer Services and Franklin National Bank, will be broadcast over radio station WGBB on the Ray Heatherston Breakfast Club show.

Caso has proclaimed the week of April 21 - 27 as Volunteer Recognition Week in Nassau County "to acknowledge appreciation to the volunteers - in all age levels - for the significant role they play in our society."

The day's program, according to Phi Fleer, administrator of the county's Office of Volunteer Services, will include a fashion show for men and women to be presented by J. C. Penney with volunteers of both sexes serving as models, and refreshments provided by Franklin National Bank. All volunteers working for any non-profit, non-political organization are invited to attend as guests. Patricia Di Serna will moderate the fashion show whose theme is: "The Clothes You Need for the Busy Life You Lead."

The Office of Volunteer Services is the Voluntary Action Center of Nassau County and serves as the central information and referral center of volunteer help. Residents interested in learning more about a vast number of interesting and challenging volunteer opportunities may call Phi Fleer at 535 - 3897 for information and an appointment.

Buy's Hot-Pants After Losing 72 pounds

There's nothing like reaching 30 and weighing 214 pounds. When she got off the scale, Dee McManus said to herself: "You're over the hill, kid." But deep inside, she didn't believe it. She knew she had to try to look her age—by losing weight. That's when she tried Ayds® Reducing Plan Candy.

Dee wasn't born fat. Fact is, food didn't agree with her as an infant, so her mother had to force her to eat. Well she learned to like to eat, all right . . . too much.

Incredibly, at the age of 20, she married a man who was as thin as she was fat. But that didn't help her weight problem . . . and neither did having children. After each child was born, she'd gain instead of lose—until she was the biggest parent at Parent Teachers meetings.

But the day she heard a friend say, "You don't want to look like Dee, do you?", she decided she had to do something about her weight. She'd read about Ayds Reducing Plan Candy, so she bought a box. It contains vitamins and minerals, no drugs or artificial sweeteners. You take one or two Ayds as directed and it helps curb your appetite. Following the Ayds Plan, you eat less because you want less, so you lose weight.

Now, after losing 72 pounds on the Ayds Plan, Dee McManus has a figure good enough for hot-pants. And she's going to be the first one in her home town of Butler, Pennsylvania, to wear them.

Ayds comes in four great flavors: chewy vanilla caramel, plain chocolate fudge, chocolate mint fudge, and butterscotch fudge, the latest Ayds flavor.

Would you like to know how computers operate, how they affect our lives and what the future holds for these frighteningly efficient machines? Would you like to study the stars and be able to recognize them? Would you like to know more about the culture of Italy?

These and other questions will be able to be answered "yes" by students at Plainview-Old Bethpage High School, Plainview, New York, enrolling in a group of new courses for the 1974-75 school year. These new courses were developed by teachers in response to student demands for new and exciting courses for their next school year and are described in a recently published "Course Offerings Booklet" distributed to all students and parents of the Plainview-Old Bethpage High School in the Plainview-Old Bethpage School District, Plainview, New York.

The Art Department has developed two new courses called respectively, Survey of Late 19th and 20th Century Art and Contemporary Crafts. The Survey course will be a survey of the artistic movement of the late 19th and 20th centuries. Students will discuss Romanticism, Realism, Impressionism, Surrealism, Cubism, etc. The Contemporary Crafts course will be structured to provide the student with an opportunity to express himself through the investigation of some contemporary craft mediums such as batik, tie-dyeing, needlepoint, printmaking and macramé.

A Business Department course called College Note-taking, which has met with tremendous initial response, will present students with a system of taking rapid notes while listening to college lectures and doing research work.

The English Department has developed a course called The Bible As Literature, which will emphasize study of the Bible as a collection of various literary genres (the ode, fable, parable, pastoral poem), as well as the diverse literary influences that went into the evolution of what we know as the Bible.

An exciting new course in the Industrial Arts area is called Computer Technology. It is based on a realization that there is a growing need for students to learn the basic operating principles of digital computers so that they may better understand how our business world is functioning and the concomitant effect of computers on society. Students will learn how computers are programmed, how they are used for information storage, processing and editing, problem solving, decision making and control.

The amateur star gazer or potential physicist can study Astronomy under a new course developed by the Science Department. Students will take day field trips and will also make night-time observations in their study of this fascinating subject.

A particularly relevant course offered in the Social Studies Department called Challenge '74 will deal with a potpourri of conflicts, ideas and conditions existing in areas of contemporary concern to youth. Some areas to be covered include: social psychology, family life, group dynamics and students' rights and wrongs. Another Social Studies course called Italian Culture Studies will survey traditional and contemporary Italian culture, including a study of historical and present-day problems of Italians in America.

"These courses are only part of a total of over 300 courses offered to students in our comprehensive high school as part of our commitment to provide a varied educational program for all our students," stated Dr. Jerome Botwinick, Principal of Plainview-Old Bethpage High School. "We will continue to offer new courses," continued Dr. Botwinick, "based on the expressed interests and needs of our students and drawing on the vast talents of our dedicated staff."

A copy of the complete "Course Offerings Booklet" is available upon request to interested parties. Please write to: Mr. Jack Shuel, Guidance Chairman, Plainview-Old Bethpage High School, Plainview, New York 11803, for your copy.

ON WHOOPING CRANES

WASHINGTON—Ten birds were missing from the fifty-six whooping cranes migrating from the Northwest Territories to the Gulf of Mexico. The nearly extinct flock has been slowly growing since 1941 when it contained only 15 birds. It is hoped the missing birds will be located.
