Life-Long Hicksvillian Becomes N.Y. Telephone V.P.

Grace J. Fippinger, general commercial manager of Brooklyn and Queens, today was named vice president and secretary-treasurer of the New York Telephone Company.

She is the first woman elected to officer level in the Bell System.

Her promotion was one of three executive changes announced. Rocco J. Marano, vice president of finance and comptroller of New York Telephone, was elected vice president for operations of New Jersey Bell Telephone Company.

Frank A. McDermott, Jr., director of sales development at the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, succeeds Marano.

The appointments are effective July 1.

Miss Fippinger, a lifelong resident of Hicksville, joined New York Telephone as a business office representative in 1948 after graduating from St. Lawrence University in Canton, New York.

She rose through general commercial manager for Queens and last year this position was expanded to include Brooklyn.

Vandals Set Fire To JHS

By Ex-Capt. Owen Magee

Hicksville vamps responded to a general alarm at the Hicksville Jr. High School on 2nd St. Sunday July 7th. The alarm rang in at 10:31 PM. 90 vamps and 10 pieces of apparatus responded under Chief Mario Misturini.

Chief Misturini reports that vandals broke into a classroom in the east wing, went through the file cabinets and with the contents set several fires in the classroom. The fires caused considerable damage to the class. The fire marshals office is investigating. No injuries were reported.

Car Wash Sat., July 13

The St. Ignatius Loyola Circle of Columbia Squires, No. 547 in Hicksville is sponsoring a car wash on Saturday, July 13 at the K. of C. Hall on 45 Heitz Place. The outside of the car will be washed for a meager $1.25.

"In the past the readers of THE HERALD have supported us in a great manner and we hope they will continue to do so, said a spokesman for the organization.

"We will be open from 11 AM to 4 PM. Your participation would be greatly appreciated," he concluded.

Fewer Welfare Families In Motels

The number of public assistance families housed in emergency hotel and motel accommodations reached a new low of 36 this week, a level last attained in 1967, Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Caso announced today.

"Motel living is bad enough for an individual but family life under such cultural, social and psychological restrictions is impossible and intolerable. My goal is that no family in Nassau County will have to live under such conditions," Caso said.

The county executive said that the new low is a result of ongoing efforts by the Social Services Department and private, non-profit agencies to find conventional housing for the affected families.

The high point was reached in February of 1971 when 347 families - more than 2,000 people - were being housed at public expense in more than 30 hotels and motels throughout the county.

That same month, in his first State of the County message as county executive, Caso attacked the previous administration's practice of housing families in motels as "disgraceful" and ordered the Social Services Department to mount an all-out drive to move families out of motels and into suitable, conventional housing.

Social Services Commissioner - now Deputy County Executive - James Stuart consolidated the department's Housing and Community Relations bureaus into a new Office of Community Relations. Working with private agencies, the office launched a campaign to find decent living accommodations for all public assistance families. The department also provided coordinated follow-up services to the families that had been relocated so that none would be forced to return to motel emergency living.

The number of families in motels has declined steadily since, going below 200 for the first time in February of 1972 and dropping to 91 by the end of the year.

Under Commissioner Joseph D'Elia, the department has intensified its campaign to find suitable housing for all public assistance families. The 36 families still housed in a handful of motels are the most difficult to relocate, according to D'Elia, but the department's efforts will not be relaxed until the motel population has been reduced to zero.

The following are the numbers of families housed in motels and hotels at the indicated times: January, 1967 - 13; January, 1968 - 37; December, 1968 - 112; December, 1969 - 175; December, 1970 - 314; October, 1972 - 147; December, 1972 - 91; and June, 1974 - 36.

Hicksville Wins Grant For Audio Studio

As a result of a recent $13,000.00 Title III matching grant, students at Hicksville High School will have an opportunity to study music literature "in depth" right in their own school library. According to Dr. Manus Clancy, Administrator of Federal Programs, a portion of the High School library will be redesigned to accommodate turntables, tape decks, records, scores and musical anthologies which will be used by students. High fidelity headsets will be used so that as many as sixteen students can listen at one time.

The establishment of the Audio Studio was stimulated by the need of music students to hear, analyze, and compare many styles of music as part of the courses offered by the music department at the High School.

Dr. Charles Gouse, Supervisor of Music, and members of the High School music staff have recently instituted several new programs, the most important of which is Comprehensive Foundations of Music. In keeping with recommendations of the State Education Department, listening should be a central part of this course. Music theory, music literature, and music history are studied together so that relationships between the three aspects can be identified properly.

In addition to being designed with music students in mind, the Audio Studio will also be used by all students who have listening assignments as part of their school programs. While one group listens to Machaut's songs, another might well be studying his poetry in the spoken form.

Mrs. Dorothy Hanrahan, Chief Librarian, and her staff will be responsible for setting up the entire operation.

In Service

Navy Seaman Roger E. Metzelaar, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Metzelaar of 7 Link Lane, HICKSVILLE, graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego.

He received nine weeks of intensive instruction in seamanship, small arms training, fire fighting, close order drill, first aid and Naval history.

He will now report to a forgoal school for specialty training or to a ship or shore station for on-the-job training.

Hicksville students who excelled in the study of American History and who were also outstanding in school citizenship and service were rewarded recently with American Legion School Award Medals and Certificates.

Among the public and parochial school winners announced for the 17th Annual Charles Wagner Post Presentations by Americanism Committee Chairman, Richard E. Evers, were the following distinguished youngsters: East

AT SUPERVISORS' MEETING:

Judges' Salary Hearings; Govt. Grants Allocated

By Janet Gosnell

The citizenry at large of Nassau County evidenced little interest in a proposal to raise the salaries of the judges of the district court, family court and county court effective July 1st, 1974, at Monday's meeting of the Nassau County Board of Supervisors. Only two people spoke at the public hearing on the proposed local laws, these being Supervisors "buffs" Dr. Ralph Sorley and Carl Schmidt, both of Rockville Centre, who regular protest any fiduciary outgo.

The uneventful public hearings were concerning two proposed local laws which would raise the salaries of the county and family court judges from $43,000 to $48,998, and those of the district court judges from $30,000 to $42,000. The president of the board of judges of the district court would be raised to $44,000.

Decision was reserved after the hearing.

Grants Allocated

Most of the other activity on the agenda for Monday, July 8th concerned the allocation of N.Y. State and U.S. Government grants to various local agencies.

These included a State grant of $445,848, for youth services; $227,247 to train aides to work with youth to suppress delinquency for the "Youth Justice Program"; $254,450 for the "Long Beach Youth Mobilization Project"; $445,238 to the Department of Drug and Alcohol Addition for work with youthful drug abusers, and funds for a program titled "Pre-University Project," a grant from the U.S. Department of Labor, to be administered by the office of the County Executive.

The Supervisors also voted to authorize the issuance of $3,500,000 in serial bonds and bond anticipation notes to purchase computers for use by county offices. According to a spokesman for the Supervisors, the funds will be used to buy computers now being leased by the county. As explained by the County Executive to one speaker on the topic, the measure is one of economy for the county, the cost balancing itself out over a period of five years.

"Chief System"

The supervisors ratified the act of the County Executive in executing a grant application between the county of Nassau and the State of New York in relation to a project called "Chief System", a new project which would "provide an automated environment capable of solving local data exchange problems and providing interfaces with local criminal justice agencies and with state and federal data sources." The State's part of the expenditure: $319,280. The county's $35,476.

Another federal grant of $87,000 for the "Eisler Plan" for Nassau and Suffolk Counties is directed toward increasing minority employment in the construction industries.

The Supervisors also approved a contract with Marvin Sugarman to televise events at the Nassau County Veterans Memorial Coliseum, a contract which carries an option to renew after five years and provides for renegotiation, if necessary.

County Executive appointments confirmed were: Edward Margolin, of Woodbury, District Court Judge; Thomas E. Ryan, Jr., N. Massapequa, District Court Judge; H. John Plock, Jr., Oyster Bay Cove, Commissioner of Public Works; County Attorney John F. O'Shaughnessy, member of the Traffic Safety Board; Nathan Kalikow, Atlantic Beach, member of the Nassau County Bridge Authority; and H. David Parker, Hempstead, Robert M. De Poto, Syosset; Deuncan Kennedy, Elmont, Paris Swoopes, Roosevelt, and Francisco Guerrero, Rockville Centre, as members of the Nassau County Commission on Human Rights.

Department of Public Works

DPW items approved included the installation of a structural steel crosswalk on the Long Beach Bridge at a cost of $5,000; construction of a 1,600 foot x 12 inch water main at Eisenhower Park at a cost of $40,000; installation of a closed circuit television center at the Dynamic Care Center of the Nassau County Medical Center for security purposes at a cost of $50,000; leak stopping activity on the Coliseum plaza at a cost of $10,000; elevator adjustments at the Holly Patterson Home at a cost of $12,000, and the de-silting of Grist Mill Pond in Great Neck at a cost of $215,000.

Of interest to Wantagh residents was the approval by the supervisors to advertise for bids for construction of the Bellmore-Hicksville Drain, West Branch, from Jerusalem Avenue north about 680 feet. Estimated cost of the construction is $140,000.

Speakers

Most dynamic speaker after the agenda was Richard Kessel, Democratic candidate for Congress from south Merrick, who protested the alleged misuse of funds received for student activities by Nassau Community College officials for cocktail parties and other uses removed from student benefits. Kessel asked for the resignation of the president of the college.

The topic, which came up originally about two months ago, has been investigated by the County Controller, who issued a report on it, and has been discussed by county officials according to Hempstead Supervisor Alfonso D'Amato, who answered Kessel. D'Amato who is a member of the Board of Trustees of the College, said that measures are being taken to assure that such misuse would not be repeated, and that the articles of incorporation of the College, which in some interpretations would allow the use of student funds for faculty cocktail parties, would be redrawn.

Also present at the meeting was Al Epimond, new president of the Nassau Senior Forum, putting in his word for more benefits for senior citizens.

Many IRS Checks Undelivered

Some 6050 taxpayers in the IRS District for Brooklyn, Queens and Long Island have undelivered refund checks waiting for them at the Internal Revenue Service.

Any taxpayer who has not yet received his refund should call or visit his local IRS office as soon as possible, Charles H. Brennan, Director for the district, said today.

The dollar value of the undelivered refund checks totals an estimated $2,357,000.

The most common reason for an undelivered check, according to Mr. Brennan, is that the taxpayer has moved and left no forwarding address with the U.S.

Postal Service.

In cases where the taxpayer suspects his check may have been lost or stolen, Mr. Brennan urged the person to get in touch with his local IRS office as soon as possible, so that the IRS can put a tracer on the missing check.

Some refunds may have been delayed because of errors or omissions on tax returns, according to Mr. Brennan. Taxpayers affected should follow the instructions received from the IRS in order to speed up issuance of their checks.

Mr. Brennan stressed that in all refund inquiries to the IRS, the taxpayer should be prepared to provide the name and address as it appeared on the return, the actual name and address, if different, the social security numbers, and the type of form filed.

The IRS can re-mail an undelivered refund check to the new address within a relatively short time, up to October 1. After that date, all undelivered refund checks are cancelled, and the IRS must follow a more time-consuming procedure to issue checks in response to inquiries.

Nassau taxpayers can contact the IRS by calling the following number: Nassau 248-3620

Nassau County Continually Rates Its Beaches

the May report.

The Biltmore Beach Club in Massapequa, rated "Unsatisfactory" at the end of 1973 and rated "very good" in both April and May reports this season, will also be carefully monitored.

Other beaches which slipped slightly from "excellent" to "very good" from April to May are the Creek Club and the Piping Rock Club, both in Laitingtown, the Laurel Hollow Beach Club, and Ransom Beach and Stehli Beach, both in Bayville.

Caso noted the beaches with improved ratings, up from very good to excellent, are the Bay and marina beaches at Tobay.

The ratings provide a yardstick of water quality for bathers. They are based on the Log average, total coliform of a series of five or more samples in a 30-day period.

Coliform counts are a measure of the number of bacteria found in beach water samples. The coli, present the digestive tract of man and warm-blooded animals, are not harmful, but are used as an indicator of other organisms which may affect humans.

In all, 51 beaches received a cumulative rating of "excellent" in the May report, with 22 "very good," one "fair," and five "passable." All the ocean beaches along the South Shore were rated "excellent." No beach is currently rated "unsatisfactory."

The coli counts, health officials explained, are generally lower at this time of year than during the middle and late summer. Increased use of the beaches during the hot months as well as other pollution influences add to water contamination, driving the coli counts higher.

Dear Friends:

WE HEAR THAT, once again the boys of Troop 377 held their annual Coat of Arms Program at the VFW Clubhouse, in Hicksville, under the direction of Scoutmaster T. Virga and Assistant Scoutmaster A. Boyce. Robert Somma was the first boy of this troop to make Star Scout. In September he will take over the job of Junior Scout Master, while Peter Virga takes over his old job as Senior Patrol Leader. Other members of this active troop also won some awards. This Troop is sponsored by the VFW Post 3211 of Hicksville and cordially invites all twelve year old boys who are interested, to come on down and join up.

We were pleased to hear from Mrs. Agnes Holzheimer last week. She sets the record straight as to the Lee Avenue School Academic Awards which we reported or in our June 27 issue, because two students won this coveted award. Mrs. Holzheimer writes to say that in 1973 James Black and Gary Putlock were the proud recipients of this academic award from Lee Avenue School. They also walked off with several other awards and got the class's highest average."

THAT'S ALL for this week. Stay well, enjoy this summer wherever you may be spending it, and (although I know this applies to such a small minority) please don't litter... remember, "If you are not part of the solution you are part of the problem." And, while it is true we have many serious problems to solve on all levels, littering, is a serious problem, and spoils so much of our beautiful landscapes everywhere. Let's be proud of what we have and take care of it.

Sincerely,

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,
As you know, the Hicksville School Budget was defeated for the second time. We are now on austerity. I am the mother of a handicapped boy, who attends the Cerebral Palsy School in Roosevelt. I was informed by the bus co. that the school district will not pay for bus transportation this summer. I called Mr. Rozran's office. I did not speak to him but to one of the women in his office. I was told that there is a state law that states if a district is on Austerity they need not supply transportation. The Cerebral Palsy Center is more than a recreation Center. It is a Center for living.

The summer program is an extension of the school year. They have speech, physical and occupational therapy. They also have teachers for the summer who work with these children.

If there is such a law, it should be changed. I know most parents of handicapped children feel the same way. In the case of my son the cost to the district would have been $80. Because of this ruling my son will not get therapy this summer. I cannot afford private transportation and I have to have an operation and cannot drive him myself.

Yours truly,
Mrs. Pat Shea

Newspaper Pickup Days Assigned To Town Communities

Town Supervisor John W. Burke has reminded homeowners living in areas where Oyster Bay's newspaper recycling program is currently in effect, that separation of newsprint from other refuse is now mandatory. Special newspaper pickup days have been established for these unincorporated communities.

"Letters are being distributed to each of approximately 16,000 homes now in the recycling program indicating that newsprint must now be separated and tied in bundles not exceeding twelve (12) inches in height," explained the Supervisor.

"Newsprint recycling will ultimately be mandated by the Town for the approximately 64,000 homes in the unincorporated area of Oyster Bay," continued Burke. "With full compliance, the recycling of newspaper will become a self-sustaining program."

Principal benefits of the separate collection of newsprint are the decrease in the amount of material processed at the Town's two incinerators and extension of the lifespan of the Town's limited landfill area. The recycling of newsprint also assists in the preservation of a natural resource.

The special pickup is for newspapers only, and does not include magazines, cardboard or other paper products. The bundled papers should be placed at curbside before 7:30 AM on the assigned pickup days.

The communities within which newspaper recycling is now mandated are Bethpage, Farmingdale, Hicksville, Jericho, Locust Valley, Massapequa, Oyster Bay hamlet, Plainview and Syosset. For further information contact the Division of Environmental Control at 921-7347.

Washington Report

Congressman NORMAN F. LENT

A new bank has just opened in the 4th Congressional District, with an announcement that it is making 1.5 billion dollars in "soft loans" available to interested parties, repayable over fifty years, with a ten-year grace period, at NO interest, burdened only by a three-quarters of one percent "administrative charge." With few "average American taxpayers" able to secure ANY form of loan these days, even at interest rates ranging from eight to eleven percent, you can picture how quickly that vast sum of readily available money would be spoken for - guaranteed by the United States government, at that.

Well believe it or not, the House of Representatives voted that enormous sum for just such loans last week, with only one flaw in the formula. The tax monies to be distributed under the guidelines

I've just described won't be available to any "average American taxpayer." They are going, instead, to the International Development Association, an agency of the World Bank, to be made available to "developing nations" who, in turn, will be permitted to loan these funds to their own citizens at substantial rates of interest.

Granted, the House action might sound somewhat incredible, with the national budget deficit this year alone already in the tens of billions of dollars, but it should also sound familiar.

The House of Representatives was presented with the identical opportunity to drop $375 million of our money into the World Bank coffers (in four yearly installments) last January, and the measure was defeated, 248-155. Then, as now, I voted against the ill-timed giveaway

Last week, however, the proponents of the measure resubmitted it for a vote - this time adding on the enticing tinsel of an amendment which would restore the privilege of owning and trading in gold to the American taxpayer. What happened??? The restoration of that logical right, which I would have supported on its own in separate legislation, was enough to turn the tables and insure the passage of the World Bank "soft loan" contribution, 225-140.

Sticking to my belief that the deep economic penalties of tacking another billion and a half dollars onto our already burgeoning national debt was too stiff a price to pay for the privilege of restoring gold-ownership rights as part of the same bill, I voted against the measure.

Supervisor JOHN W. BURKE REPORTS

Warning: Walls can be dangerous to your health. This paraphrase of a familiar caution might well be posted in many of the homes throughout our Town.

Last month, a serious fire hazard from thin, imported wall paneling was brought to the public's attention by Hempstead Town Supervisor Alfonso D'Amato following two fatal fires in homes decorated with this material. The wood paneling in question is unadvised to resist fire and, although advertised as being 3/16 inches thick, often is less than 1/4 inch thick due to shrinkage.

When this paperlike material, often coated with a flammable lacquer, is installed over studs without a sheetrock backing, the homeowner has a live bomb on his hands.

Homeowners faced with this situation can take several steps to reduce the fire hazard. If the rear side of the wall is accessible, interior fireproof insulation should be affixed between the studs to the paneling. There are also foam-in-place materials that can be used.

Also on the market are several brands of Class B fire retardant varnishes that can be applied to the face of the paneling to slow down the burning rate. These are clear and will not affect the beauty of the wood. Another alternative is to rip it out.

I want to commend Nassau County Consumer Affairs Commissioner James Picken for the quick action of his department on this matter. Through his efforts, the paneling industry has agreed to adopt a nation-wide requirement for labeling of wall panels that are untested for flammability.

TOWN NOTES
Governor Wilson has signed a bill introduced by State Senator Ralph Marino prohibiting Liko and other utilities from automatically passing along to the consumer so-called fuel-adjustment costs without a formal request to the PSC and a public hearing.

Town and County Plan Study Of Town Youth Programs

Town Supervisor John W. Burke today (Tuesday, July 9) announced an agreement had been reached between the Town and Nassau County to pay for a complete study of the Town Youth Division programs to make them more effective and more closely coordinated with programs of the Nassau County Youth Board.

"Our Youth Division, with a council in each of the Town's 11 school districts, has done an outstanding job of developing and maintaining community-based programs to assist the young people of Oyster Bay," Burke said. "However, we are hoping to discover ways that our division can grow and be more effective without the need of greater spending."

Burke noted in the past four years that the Division has been active among the young people, it has been a focal point of youth activity in many communities. "By conducting a re-evaluation study, we are hoping to find ways to more precisely evaluate the effectiveness of various programs offered through the Youth Division and develop a system for better coordination and cooperation between Town and County youth programs."

The study, approved by the Town Board today, will cost a total of $16,000 with the Town and County sharing the costs and with the State Division for Youth reimbursing each municipality up to 50 percent. The study is expected to be completed within one year.

The Nassau County American Revolution Bicentennial Advisory Commission is encouraging community participation in advance planning for the 1976 celebration.

such as books and period costumes, and a chronology of local Revolutionary events from 1760-1785 to aid residents in planning local celebrations.

Persons interested in Bicentennial planning are encouraged to submit program ideas for the Commission's consideration. Materials accumulated during Bicentennial preparations will be used for local exhibits and in a Bicentennial mobile unit which will travel throughout the county during 1976.

"Who Am I?"

I cannot speak, but I stand on street corners all through the town.

I wear no badge of authority, but yet I guard you, your loved ones and your home.

I stand under the hot blazing sun during summer and during the snow and sleet during winter.

When Fire occurs I stand there ready to help you. What I don't like is when some kids make me a victim of graffiti.

I become disconsolate when some people make use of me falsely, bringing fire apparatus to the scene when there is no fire.

I do know that in many cases, firemen have been injured or killed while responding to false alarms.

I ask you to respect me for what I am your protector. I feel sad at times when those who use me falsely are not fined or jailed.

When I am abused, I can leave you temporarily without proper protection.

I oft times wish that teachers in our schools and parents would point out my great value.

All I ask is that you respect me and use me only when I am needed.

Who am I? I am the corner fire alarm box. (Thanks to Mrs. G O'Brien of Suffolk, a former Hicksville resident for this article.) HFD.

1st. Pl. Award. Hicksville also won 1st Pl. for Best Appearing Apparatus. The Drill Team, who are having a rough season due to injuries took a 2nd Pl. in Efficiency - Replacement Hose Contest. The next Parade & Drill will be this Saturday July 13th at Malverne N.Y. Parade Time 6:30 PM - Drill Time 9:30 AM

In other News the Hicksville Fire Dept. has begun an effort to make it a Misdeamnor to sound a false Fire Alarm and a felony if a death results. Its high time the sick persons who yank False Alarms get more than a slap on the wrists.

The Law should also be applied to those who make a habit out of Parking in front of Fire Hydrants. One regular Violator is the "Kind" Folks at 301 W. Nicholas St. Corner of Underhill Ave. A delay in obtaining water could be fatal. Its great to see how many folks could care less about the Safety of themselves and their neighbors.

ANOTHER SAFETY TIP - For Bar-B-Que Owners. Don't use an excessive amount of Fluid to start it. Once lighted don't add Fluid and Don't use Gasoline.

Burns Park, Massapequa, on Tuesday, July 16 at 8:30 P.M., it was announced by Town Councilmen Gregory W. Carman. Sponsored by the Cultural and Performing Arts Division, Town of Oyster Bay Department of Community Services, this program is the third in the Town's Performing Arts Festival which is running on consecutive Tuesday evenings until August 6.

The American Concert Band, under the direction of its founder, Dr. Kirby R. Jolly, is an ensemble of professional musicians who are dedicated to performing the finest concert band literature for Long Island audiences. They will present a salute to American music in honor of our Bicentennial, and feature musical styles from John Philip Sousa to Scott Joplin and Marvin Hamlisch.

The Performing Arts Festival continues on Tuesday, July 23 with the appearance of the Rod Rodgers Dance Company, a powerful theatrical lecture, depicting dance characters and images which have grown out of Afro-American experience.

This festival has been made possible from a grant given by the New York State Council on the Arts, and the Music Performance Trust Fund.

For further information, call Lois Manning, CAPA Superintendent, at 921-5944 or 5875.

In case of rain, these performances will be held at Berner High School, Carman Road, Massapequa.

Receives Grant

Supervisor John W. Burke announced that the Town has been allocated a grant of more than a quarter of a million dollars ($250,000-plus) by the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation. The allocation was awarded after application, and the funds are part of the State's Environmental Quality Bond Issue.

Citing the massive amounts of solid waste generated within Oyster Bay each day, Supervisor Burke indicated that the awarded $277,250 would be of significant assistance "in our continuing development of a program for the effective disposal of solid waste in an efficient and environmentally sound fashion."

The Town will receive $200,000, a reimbursement of 25 per cent of the cost of high-density compactor equipment; $43,750, 25 per cent of the cost of an "elevated" scraper (a heavy duty earth $28,500, 25 percent of the cost of a bulldozer; and, $7,000, 35 percent of the cost of chippers. Chippers shred tree limbs, and the wooden chips can be used for mulch or compost. The proportions of reimbursement are established under the guidelines of the Bond Issue.

Sagas In Mime

The Plainview-Old Bethpage Public Library will sponsor Serendipity Sagas, a duo featuring ethnic folk stories from many different cultures, on Wednesday, July 24, at 8:30 P.M.

Patrick McDermott, movie actor and performer in experimental theatre, and Heather McDermott, singer and songwriter, will enact in mime and music, tales from the Hebrew, Chinese, African and Indian cultures.

Free tickets for this exciting program will be available at the library one week in advance to local residents. Other will be seated just before the program as space allows.

Picture Your Baby Now For Lasting Enjoyment

NEW YORK (ED)—Babies never cease to amaze us with expressions of joy, discomfort, and bewilderment as they learn and develop in a strange new environment. Capturing your baby's "once-in-a-lifetime expressions" with pictures can bring much enjoyment in later years.

Your baby changes so rapidly from day to day that a picture opportunity occurs only once, so you must be ready when the baby is. This means the camera should be loaded with film and a supply of magicubes should be handy.

The Kodak pocket Instamatic 10 camera, which allows you to just aim and shoot, is ideal for catching those special moments. Because of its small size, it can be stored almost anywhere such as baby's play area, his bedroom or even in an apron pocket.

Some simple suggestions from Kodak experts should help you get good satisfying shots. It is important that you hold your camera steady to avoid blurry pictures. The most unique facial expression can be lost if the camera changes position while you are shooting.

Although there is no right or wrong time to take a picture, if you want your baby at his best, just after nap time—when he is rested and alert—presents a perfect opportunity. Bathing and feeding are also excellent occasions for a series of shots.

Try not to become so concerned with getting the shot that you forget about the background. If you're planning a mealtime picture, for example, the high chair should be placed in front of a plain wall, rather than a cluttered counter. If the baby and the action cannot be moved, an angle change might help in eliminating a distracting background.

Candid shots are often funny and reflect the baby's mood at a particular moment. But posed pictures are just as precious when you look back in later years. If you plan to pose the baby, remember that the infant is not going to cooperate automatically just because you want to take his picture. A toy to distract him when signs of crankiness begin to show might help to hold his attention while you get the shot.

Shooting at the baby's level—even if it means get-

The beautiful innocence of infancy is captured in this close-up shot. Notice that the background is free from anything that might interfere with the effect of the baby's expression.

ting down on the floor—is important. You don't want to cut off any part of his face, taking away from the total effect of the expression. One last tip is to stay as close as the camera allows to capture every change of expression. Being in close range will also cut down on a distracting background.

A baby doesn't remain a baby for very long, so every picture-taking opportunity is important if you want to look back on those cherished moments of infancy for years to come.

This shot, taken after nap time, portrays an alert, wide-eyed little fellow ready to take advantage of his waking hours. The inclusion of a sibling adds a new dimension to the picture. Use your imagination and write captions for unique shots like this one.

This face is truly an example of a "once-in-a-lifetime" expression. If you keep your camera handy, you can add something as delightful to your picture collection.

THE SPORT OF SNACKING

No matter what's your favorite sport, you'll want snacks with a plus—snacks that give you instant energy without empty calories. Dried fruits make a delicious treat, and here are a few simple ideas that may make your eating breaks almost as much fun as the sport itself.

Back-Pack Snack: Here's a natural, quick-energy tote packed with nutrition for hikers and bikers. Combine 1 package (12 oz.) pitted prunes, quartered, 1 cup enriched dry cereal, 1 cup unblanched almonds, 1/2 cup raisins. Pack in small plastic bags and nibble as you go!

Pre-Softball Breakfast: If it's your turn to feed the amateur big leaguers, batter up some pancakes. Make them extra tasty and iron-rich with the addition of 1/2 cup Sun-Maid Raisins to 1 cup batter. Cook pancakes as usual, serve with honey, jam or your favorite syrup. It's a great pitch!

Sailors' Snacks A'Breeze: Keep the sails smooth and leave the wrinkles to the snacks. Dimpled pitted prunes in handy air-tight cans make chewy, tender shells for your favorite spread. Mound each Sun-sweet Pitted Prune with 1 teaspoon chicken filling or cheese spread. Iron ahoy!

Ladies' Tee Pleasers: Ladies' day at the golf club! Here's a quickie for tea sandwiches off the tee. Spread nut-bread slices with jam and a blend of cream cheese and snipped Blue Ribbon Figs. Cut into triangles.

Now, get that hole-in-one! Beach House Compo: Try this effortless fruit compote for tired swimmers. Layer assorted fresh fruit (bananas, melon, peaches, pears) with chewy raisins and snipped prunes in clear plastic cups. Top each with dollop of sour cream, sprinkle with brown sugar. I'll have another!

Dog Paddle: You'll row to the nearest shore for this hot-dog sidekick. Toss 2 cups sauerkraut with 1/2 cup snipped Sun-sweet Pitted Prunes and 1 cup grated carrots. Sprinkle with caraway seeds. Serve chilled.

Saddlebag Stuffer: Slow airtight cans of moist pitted prunes in your saddlebag for easy snacking and instant energy.

Raisin-Able Ending: After all the fun and games, here's a sweet ending for a summer supper. Soak 1 cup raisins in 1/3 cup rum; stir into 1 quart softened vanilla ice cream. It's old-fashioned rum raisin ice cream!

So eat, sport, and be merry. Dried fruits can add endless variety (not to mention nutrition) to your snacking pleasures.

In the 14th century, rhinoceros horn shavings were considered a good cure for epilepsy.

Some Scots believe that people born on Halloween have the gift of second-sight!

SHADES OF ELEGANCE

Contrast makes the difference in this outstanding room. Dark walls are set off by white furniture. The printed fabric of the sofa emphasizes the velvet of the chair. And the white vinyl floor stands out against the dark shag carpet.

The furniture of English Regency motifs achieves new sophistication through fresh applications of bamboo turnings, fretwork and lattice detailing. It's the Allegro II book from Thomasville Furniture with new finishes that are a decorator's dream: Pearl, a lovely brushed white; subtle glazing; and Fresh Lemon, a lively brushed yellow. Custom designed hardware is color-matched to the exciting finishes. It all adds up to a look of elegance with universal appeal to people who want rooms with style.

Other pieces in collection such as low chests, cabinets, desks, corner units and decks can be used in numerous arrangements to fit any size room. They offer unique multi-purpose storage flexibility for dining room, youth or master bedroom, living or family room. The graceful, high backed chairs display a rare delicacy of design and scale.

The tempo of modern living, Allegro II successfully utilizes another musical phenomenon: counterpoint.

BACKGROUND ON BUSINESS

HOW TOURISM AFFECTS EMPLOYMENT

From Mexico, which has become the fourth leading country of the world in tourism, comes an interesting new set of figures on the relationship between tourism and employment.

At present more than 2.5 million tourists visit the interior of the country while an estimated 60 million a year stop in the border cities.

Each $80,000 (one million pesos) spent by tourists creates 44.6 jobs. Of this number, 20 are in services directly related to tourist activities, 18 are in agriculture, 2.3 in the textile industry, 1.5 in food processing and 2.8 in other sectors.

This information comes from a statement by Julio Hirschfeld Almada, head of the government's Department of Tourism. Tourism has become such a dynamic force in Mexico's economic development and its potential growth is considered so great that the federal government has taken a major role in providing the basic infrastructure for the industry while private enterprise is concerned with providing and operating facilities and services.

to the region's tourism and economic activity.

However, international experts believe Mexico has only begun to develop its potential. Hirschfeld predicted that the number of tourists to the interior will grow to more than 5 million by the end of 1977, requiring greatly increased facilities and services.

"Foreign capital has an important and constructive role to play in the development of the tourist industry," according to Hirschfeld. "This type of investment helps to equalize the balance of payments."

During the past year this industry earned $1.6 billion and a new law aims to increase revenues from this source by some 19% annually.

Some 88% of all tourists to Mexico now come from the United States, with Texas, California and Arizona heading the list. Visitors from New York and Illinois are also numerous.

Increased airline service has resulted in the number of European travellers increasing by 500% in the past decade and many a Japanese tourist is sporting a Mexican sombrero.

Commander Frank Lotti of the V.F.W. was on hand to award the medals and ribbons. He was aided by William Thomas, president of the Olympic Games and Ray Chalan, Chairman of the table tennis tournament. This job was made even more gratifying by the honesty of one of the contestants. Paul Bergerson, a finalist in the 14-15 year old category, had already been presented with a 3rd place medal when he requested the officials to recheck the scores, explaining that he thought he placed 4th rather than 3rd. A double check showed he was right and he gave up the medal to receive a ribbon in its place. The Olympics Committee congratulates Paul on his sportsmanship and integrity. Just as his parents must be proud of their son, we are proud that he is a resident of Hicksville.

The Olympics Committee would like to express its appreciation to all those who made the four nights of the table tennis competition a success. Thanks to Ray Cahalan and his expert crew for a job well done. Thanks to Mr. Bell of the Newbridge Road Carvel who presented all the winners with a book of gift certificates. And a special word of appreciation to the William Gouse Jr. Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars which donated the medals and Mid-Island Plaza which donated the ribbons that were awarded to the winners.
