Fire Guts Tavern

By Ex-Capt. Owen Magee

Hicksville Firemen responded to a general alarm blaze at the Sherwood Forest Tavern on Levittown Parkway, Hicksville. The first alarm was reported at 4:58 Saturday July 13. Two more alarms were sounded minutes later. 80 Hicksville firemen responded, with 10 Pieces of Apparatus. Under Ast. Chief William Ferber. (R.H.)

Fire officials said the fire had been burning for some time before it was discovered. The rear door of the building, at 173 Levittown Parkway, was open. At this point it appears to be an arson case. The fire marshals office is investigating, along with the N.C.P.D. 8th Squad.

Only two weeks ago fires were set in the basement. But went out before any damage occurred. There were reports of other damage and the building had been closed until July 12th. 6 vamps were treated at the scene for minor injuries. The Jericho Fire Dept. was called in to stand-by for the busy Hicksville vamps. The fire was under control in 40 minutes. Neighboring stores sustained smoke damage and broken windows.

At one point vamps were driven back by sheets of flame and heavy smoke, which made it necessary to remove the windows. The interior of the tavern was gutted. H.F.D. Thanks Ralph Sailler, Ohio St. Hicksville for his photos.

Hicksville Receives Mini-Grant

The Hicksville Public Schools have been awarded a federally funded mini-grant of $2100.00 for the purpose of screening pre-kindergarten students prior to their entering school. The purpose of the grant, Dr. Jerome J. Niosi, Superintendent of Schools explained, is to help solve the problem of the increasing number of children who are meeting with early failure due in part to inadequate learning and/or social experiences.

The pre-kindergarten screening program, as proposed by Mrs. Ruth Levandov, reading teacher and Mrs. Gary Feldman, psychologist, will set up a systematic procedure to identify special educational or readiness needs of entering kindergarten children. This will enable the staff to plan appropriate programs for students that will minimize their failure and maximize school success so that each child will be able to realize his potential and achieve all that he is capable of achieving.

With the funds made available from this grant, supplies and materials for testing and evaluation will be obtained. In addition, substitutes will be employed in order to allow a team of staff members composed of the principal, speech teacher, reading teacher, school psychologist, school nurse-teacher, physical education teacher and kindergarten teacher the time necessary to adequately set up procedures and hold preliminary interviews with parents and their incoming children.

The program will be conducted at the Burns Avenue School.

WOULD YOUR CHILD like his picture taken as part of our own colorful jungle - seen above? Just bring the kids and your camera down to the Children's Room at the Hicksville Public Library and you'll have a snapshot to cherish. The jungle forms an enclosure for the world map on which the individual name tags for the reading game are posted. As each book is finished, and a report submitted, the tags are moved on to the next station. Take advantage, too, of the Puppet Shows on July 29th and 30th, the live plays on July 17 and Aug. 7th, the pet shows and the arts and handicrafts classes (the last are closed out now due to the huge response.) However, the reading game is still open and the shows are all free. So keep the children amused with the jumping activities at the Children's Room of the Hicksville Public Library this summer.

GRASSHOPPERS

Having spent some time in the wilderness, Moses sent out spies into the land of Canaan. They returned telling of people who were giants, of cities which were fortified, and of a land flowing with milk and honey.

Caleb, a very godly man, said, "Let us go up at once and possess it, for we are well able to conquer it." But to this majority of the spies replied, "Not against people as strong as they are, they would crush us. We were in our own sight as grasshoppers, and so we were in their sight."

If we perceive of ourselves as grasshoppers, that is precisely what we will become. Others will also see us as grasshoppers... little more than insects to be crushed under foot.

Today the church finds itself in an alienated world. It receives a bad press with few exceptions. It is portrayed on television and in the movies as either corrupt or insipid. It's not "the thing" to be a Christian anymore. Christians are speaking less and less about their faith, and when they do, they speak in apologetic terms. We are becoming as grasshoppers in the world when God is calling upon us to be spiritual giants.

Every man who claims Jesus Christ as his Lord is God's personal representative to this generation. Each of us must feel personally responsible for sharing the Story with our brother. If we don't tell him, he may never hear it.

It is not possible to be a Christian and "let George do it." There is no such thing as a secret service Christian. Be proud of your love affair with God; Hold your head high. Commit yourselves to His service. Grasshoppers make little difference in today's world.

NY State To Administer More Fed. Funds For Aged

Governor Wilson today announced that the New York State Office for the Aging had made awards totalling $7,354,116.50 for the creation of 34 Area Agencies on Aging across the State. In Nassau County the Dept. of Senior Citizens affairs is located at 1 Old Country Rd., in Carle Place. The telephone number is 535-4414. Our county's population of 60 and over is 168,076. The Federal funds available to Nassau County is $473,873.

The Area Agencies on Aging program, which was authorized by 1973 Amendments to the Older Americans Act of 1965, provides funding for the creation of governmental agencies which will be responsible for coordinated and comprehensive planning in the field of aging, as well as for the provision of social services to older persons in need. The objectives of the national program are to:

- make available comprehensive programs which include a full range of health, education, and social services to older citizens who need them;
- to give full and special consideration to older citizens with special needs in planning such programs, and, pending the availability of such programs for all older citizens, give priority to the elderly with the greatest economic and social need;
- to provide comprehensive programs which will assure the coordinated delivery of a full range of essential services to older citizens, and, where applicable, also furnish meaningful employment opportunities for many individuals, including older persons, young persons, and volunteers from the community, and;
- to insure that the planning and operation of such programs will be undertaken as a partnership of older citizens, community agencies, and State and local governments, with appropriate assistance from the federal government.

Under the program, county governments in New York State, and the City of New York, must create independent Offices or Departments for the Aging in the local governmental structure whose sole responsibility is the well being of older persons. These offices and departments, in turn, must then submit official Area Plans, enumerating local needs and solutions to existing problems of the aging, to the State Office for the Aging for approval.

In addition to the overall planning, administration and coordination by the Area Agencies, the Area Plans also provide for the development of comprehensive and coordinated systems for the delivery of social services which may be administered directly by the Area Agency, or contracted out to local public and private, nonprofit agencies, organizations and institutions.

Among the variety of such social services are: health, continuing education, welfare, informational, recreational, homemaker/home health aide, counseling, or referral services; transportation services where necessary to facilitate access to social services; services designed to encourage and assist older persons to use the facilities and services available to them; services designed to assist older persons to obtain adequate housing; and services designed to assist older persons in avoiding institutionalization, including preinstitutionalization evaluation and screening, and home health services.

In commenting on the new awards, Governor Wilson said: "These new Area Agencies on Aging will serve 92 percent of our State's nearly three million older citizens in 39 of our 62 counties, and the services which they will provide will insure that our older New Yorkers will have a richer and more meaningful life in their retirement years."

"Our own State Office for the Aging has been uniquely instrumental in bringing this new federal legislation into existence and I am confident that this new, cooperative program between both state and local governments, along with a wide variety of private and voluntary agencies, will result in a new emphasis on the needs of our older citizens and the means to eliminate and lessen their day-to-day problems."

CLOWN PRINCE OF HEMPSTEAD: Hempstead Town Presiding Supervisor Francis T. Purcell, chairman of the Board of Directors of the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Nassau County, does the honors as he presents the "Key" to the Town of Hempstead to world-renowned clown Emmett Kelly, Jr. Kelly and his circus will be an integral part of the Long Island Cerebral Palsy Fair being staged at the Hofstra University fair grounds from August 26 to September 6.

THE 1974 GOLF COMMITTEE of the Nassau Heart Association, co-chaired by Cedar Brook Golf Professional Pat Cici (Old Bethpage) and Sam Zara (Zara Contracting in Hicksville) announced the Third Annual Pro-Am Tournament will be played this year on Thursday, September 5th at the Cedar Brook Country Club in Old Brookville. The double shotgun event is expected to draw a field of 216 amateurs and 72 pros.

"There's no doubt this year's tournament will be the biggest and best so far," Cici stated. "We've gotten preliminary reports from our committee that 22 holes have already been sold at $1,000 apiece, which gives us a solid boost early in the season." Tickets for the day, including breakfast, lunch, golf, carts, cocktails, dinner and prizes cost $100, and each purchaser of a tournament hole receives 3 complimentary tickets for the day. "This event is only three years old," Board Chairman Peter F. Pill (Sr. Vice-President, Franklin National Bank in Franklin Square) remarked, "and it has become one of the finest sources of income we have. We give our golfers and our supporters the best day possible, and obviously this tournament has become an anticipated sporting event on Long Island. We're looking forward to a healthy future." Committee members are (l. to r.) Sam Zara; Philip G. Munson (Maine Maid Inn, Jericho); Cici. Hofstra Upward Bound Needs Volunteers to Tutor

Would you like the satisfaction of helping somebody to change his or her life? This summer the Upward Bound Program on the Hofstra campus invites specially selected high school students who have demonstrated their high potential for successful college work to spend five weeks at Hofstra. The problem is that these students will never reach college unless they are helped to overcome both their lack of confidence and various deficiencies in their school work.

Supervisor JOHN W. BURKE REPORTS

Last week's column on the potential hazards from certain types of wall paneling brings to mind another hazard existing on the walls of older homes.

Lead-base paint is a wall covering that was in common use many years ago. Although few, if any, modern paints or coatings contain lead today, the original lead-base paint can still be found on the walls in older houses. Its existence presents the potential hazard of lead poisoning to young children from the ingestion of the paint.

An ongoing program to combat this problem by the Nassau County Health Department has been expanded into the Town of Oyster Bay this year. The project is headed by Dr. Donald Nathan, Director of Epidemiology for the Department. Dr. Nathan noted that lead poisoning, or chronic lead ingestion, from these old paints is responsible for the death of over two hundred children between the ages of one and three each year, and is a cause of mental retardation in another eight hundred.

The project is being carried out with the assistance of community leaders, school district officials, and local pediatricians to gain the cooperation of the homeowners. The first phase is a survey of older homes by inspectors, who take samples of paint to determine if they are lead based.

If the paint is found to contain 1 percent or more of lead, and is peeling or chipping, the children are then examined for traces of lead in the bloodstream. The free medical examinations are being offered by the Community Hospital at Glen Cove.

Dr. Nathan notes that painting over the old coating does not solve the problem since the lead has soaked into the plaster walls. The best solution is to cover the walls with paneling, preferably of a fire resistant type. This should be affixed directly to the existing wall surface to minimize the fire hazards discussed last week.

I urge all owners of older homes to cooperate with the County Health Department in this program, and request that a survey be made of their painted walls. Dr. Nathan can be reached at the Department of Health, by calling 535-3471.

Van Sise Hearing Set; E. Massapequans Revolt

By Janet Gosnell

The only item of immediate interest to readers of this newspaper to arise at the meeting of the Oyster Bay Town Board on Tuesday morning was the setting of a hearing date of August 13th on a petition of Lawrence Goldsmith & Jean Goldsmith, & Howard Van Sise, executor of the estate of Israel W. Van Sise deceased, for a change of zone from "B-A" Residence District to "F" Business District on two parcels on the north side of Jericho Turnpike east of Woodbury Road in Woodbury. Fuller particulars on that petition will be given in a later issue of this newspaper.

Public hearings Tuesday were on petitions for changes of zone from Residence D to Business F in Farmingdale and Massapequa, both for the purpose of putting up branches of banks. Both petitions were opposed by residents in the vicinity, who said they wanted homes, not banks. Said Daniel Cavollo, of Farmingdale, regarding Sunrise Federal Savings & Loan, which was seeking to put up a bank on Merritts Road, Farmingdale, between Motor Avenue and Lambert Avenue: "I worked hard for my house, and I don't want to look out and see a parking lot."

East Massapequans Revolt

A lot of activity at Town Hall on Tuesday was centered around a group of East Massapequans, who were present to oppose a resolution on the agenda approving a senior citizen/low income housing development in their community. Present was Phyllis Singer, president of the East Massapequa Civic Association and several followers, including Norman Fisher, who said the Town Board had "betrayed the citizens of East Massapequa," and added that his group will continue the fight against the housing development.

SENIOR DOLE: Business was not as brisk as expected for the hand-out of free food for senior citizens staged by the East Massapequa Civic Association outside Town Hall, Oyster Bay, on Tuesday, in protest against the Town's decision to approve a senior citizen low income housing development in their community. Above, from left, EMCA representative Marvin Kefer and EMCA President Phyllis Singer are interviewed by a reporter as youthful cyclist looks on.

The development calls for 162 units of senior citizen housing and 10 low-income family units, including two three-bedroom units and eight two-bedroom units. According to Town Hall, the inclusion of the low-income units is a requirement of the Federal Housing and Urban Development department, who at first were requiring 30 low income units, but reduced the requirement to ten at the urging of Town officials.

The Massapequans delighted many elderly residents of Oyster Bay with a senior citizen food dole outside Town Hall, including dry milk, bread, coffee cake, and grape jam. "We're showing Town Hall that we can do something for the senior citizens who are eating cat food and dog food," said Mrs. Singer.

Compactor Tabled

A resolution relating to the award of a contract for purchase of a high density compactor for use in the Plainview landfill was tabled after a vote of 4 to 3. A later item added to the agenda authorized Town personnel to travel in connection with solid waste disposal, presumably permitting some councilmen to look over the compactor before it is purchased.

The Board also approved an appraisal of $481,279, for the former theatre building adjacent to Town Hall which the Town will use for additional office space.

Productivity In Government

Executive Ralph G. Caso announced recently that Nassau will present a national workshop this fall on productivity in government.

"Increasing public sector productivity to provide better and more efficient services without increasing the tax load should be the goal of every unit of government," Caso stated.

The announcement of a national workshop, to be conducted in cooperation with the National Association of Counties, came during a panel discussion on "Improving Employee Productivity," presented by Nassau's Multi-Municipal Productivity Project team for delegates attending NACO's annual conference.

Pointing out that there are hundreds of local government productivity studies underway across the nation, Caso noted that the Nassau project is unique in that it utilizes a joint labor-management approach. The project, started in 1972, is planned and coordinated at every stage by combined teams of management and civil service employee representatives.

Funded by the county, the U. S. Department of Labor, the Ford Foundation and the National Commission on Productivity, the project already has produced significant economics in operations at the county medical center and within the county Probation Department.

"The key to success in government or private sector productivity is to involve both employer and employee in the program," Caso declared.

"Otherwise, you raise the specter of efficiency experts with stopwatches intent on simply getting more work out of the workers for the same amount of pay.

"Far from being an efficiency study, the Nassau project operates on the theme of working smarter, not harder," the county executive said.

He noted that a productivity study in New York City ran into labor resistance and resentment because management developed and attempted to implement new procedures without involving labor.

"The joint labor-management approach to increasing productivity is the wave of the future," Caso said. "We are proving in Nassau that labor shares our interest in providing more efficient services and will work hard with government management to achieve it."

County Medical Center To Hold Open Board of Managers Meetings

The Board of Managers of the Nassau County Medical Center announced on July 9 that it will hold meetings open to the public, with the first such meeting to be in September.

Board President Warren J. Freeman said that the decision to hold the open meetings came as a result of lengthy discussions following the medical center's unprecedented community meeting of June 27, during which many persons expressed an interest in such sessions.

Mr. Freeman said: "The question of whether or not to hold open meetings has been under consideration by the recently expanded board of managers for several months. With the amount of interest expressed at the community meeting two weeks ago, the board, wishing to be responsive to the needs and desires of the public, speeded this consideration."

The board president said that the date of the September meeting would be announced later.

Fire Belle Contest

By Ex-Capt. Owen Magee

Hicksville Chief Mario Misturini proudly announced that Debbie Klimpel of Hicksville will represent the 9th Battalion in the 2nd annual Miss Fire Belle Contest to be held this October. One girl will be chosen from each of the 9 Nassau County Fire Battalions to compete for the top title. The 9th Battalion is comprised of the following fire departments: Bethpage, Carle Place, Farmingdale, Hicksville, Jericho, Plainview, Westbury and So. Farmingdale.

Debbie is the daughter of Hicksville F.D. Ladder Co. 1 member George Klimpel. George and his family, formerly of Floral Park N.Y. Have been Hicksville residents for over a year. George is an ex-capt of the Floral Park Dept. Hicksville has gained not only an experienced fireman, but we feel sure that Debbie will be a sure winner in the final contest. You can be sure Hicksville's vamps will be there in force to cheer her on and cast their votes. Sorry Floral Park, your loss is our gain. (P.S. This is the best assignment I've had in 17 years with HFD) O.W.M.

Debbie Klimpel

Vamps Respond To 43 Alarms

By Ex-Capt. Owen Magee

During the period July 9 to July 16, Hicksville Vamps answered 43 alarms. 20 Rescue Calls, 7 Malicious False alarms, 1 mutual aid call and 15 misc. fire calls.

A working fire at 4:58 am on July 13 at the Sherwood Forest Tavern gave Hicksville Vamps a workout. Hicksville Vamps gave mutual aid assistance to the Jericho Department on July 10 at 11:40 am. On July 10, minor damage occurred at Our Lady of Mercy School on South Oyster Bay Rd. when someone threw flammable liquids on the building at 7:25 pm. On July 14 the Hicksville Fire Dispatcher received numerous reports of an explosion on 6th St. Responding firemen found upon arrival, that a car had struck a utility pole at 6th St. & Division Ave. 2 youth, 1 male, 1 female, suffered multiple injuries, were treated at the scene and transported to the County Medical Center via the Fire Dept. ambulance.

In other news the Hicksville F.D. Ladies Aux. won 2nd Pl. Best appearing unit at the July 13 Malverne Parade. The next parade will be the N.Y. State Vol. Firemens convention Parade Aug. 25 at Lindenhurst. After that will be Hicksville Annual Labor Day Parade & Drill. More news on that event next week.

In last weeks report I made mention of the constant violation of blocked hydrants, and one in particular at 301 W. Nicholai St. The owner of no. 301 was in contact with us this past week and informed us of his efforts to keep the hydrant clear in front of his home. The way the item read it looked as though we blamed him. Actually the only reference meant was that the hydrant was in front of 301 W. Nicholai St. we beg pardon for any embarrassment to the folks at no. 301 and thank them for their help in keeping it clear and making our job of protecting that area easier.

We encourage all district residents to report at once anyone blocking a hydrant. To the county police. Only with co-operation can we stamp out these violators.

Cool it Happen To You?

A man in Pennsylvania while smoking in bed dropped his lighted cigarette in a waste basket. In time the contents of the basket caught fire. The aroused sleeper jumped out of bed, grabbed the waste basket and dropped it out the window. The fiery mess landed on the porch awning, ignited it and burned most of the porch away.

"A Fire safe home is up to You!"

Cahn's Petitions Filed

A record number of 73,738 Republicans signed designating petitions to place District Attorney William Cahn's name on the Ballot for the November 5 elections, according to Assemblyman Joseph M. Margiotta, Nassau Republican Chairman.

Margiotta filed petitions for Republican designees today at the Board of Elections. He presented the designating petitions to Republican Elections

Commissioner Isabel Dodd at the board's Mineola office.

Margiotta said that the previous high for Cahn was 58,516 signatures filed in 1971, the last time Cahn successfully sought reelection. Cahn is seeking his fifth consecutive term in office.

Designating petitions also were filed for the offices of congressmen, state senators, assemblymen, councilmen, and judiciary.

"Positive Identification" By Telephone Company

Whether you ask to see it or not, from now on New York Telephone installers and repairmen will show you their company identification card when they enter your residence or place of business.

The "positive identification" program has been instituted to protect customers and repairmen, according to a company spokesman.

"We've had numerous instances of impersonation reported around the country recently," he said. "These have often been successful because the public generally accepts at face value the statement, 'I'm from the phone company."

New York Telephone has some 1,400 installers and repairmen in Nassau and Suffolk who visit thousands of homes and businesses weekly. The company said that aside from the installation of new phones, many such visits are made to promptly resolve problems when first detected, a practice which gives Long Island phone users an overall high quality of telephone service.

Until now, employees usually showed their identification cards only on request. Every Bell System employee, no matter what his position, is required to carry an identification card.

A color photo of the employee is laminated to the card, which lists his or her name and identification number.

Before its recent introduction, tests of the positive identification program showed the public strongly favored the practice.

Subscribers also will be informed of the program through inserts in their monthly bill.

PROOF POSITIVE-Peter Gerdik, a New York Telephone installer, shows his employee identification card to a subscriber. A new Bell System "positive identification" program requires installers and repairmen to show their ID card before entering business or residential premises. The aim is to thwart con men and thieves who represent themselves as telephone employees.

Primary Learning Centers

Primary Learning Centers are in operation for the month of July in all eight of Hicksville's elementary school buildings for 2270 students who have completed the kindergarten and first grade in the district's public and parochial schools. The goal of the Primary Learning Centers is to provide additional opportunities to prevent or minimize future learning problems. Referrals are made by the pupil's classroom teachers on the basis of having worked with them. In addition, the reading teachers, psychologists and guidance counselors have administered appropriate standardized tests. The results of these tests are also utilized in making the selection of students.

The content of the summer program consists of activities which help to develop skills necessary to cope with the abstract symbols encountered in reading and mathematics. Among the area of emphasis are general coordination, eye hand coordination, visual discrimination, and language experiences such as listening, dramatizing, classification, rhyming and vocabulary development.

The Primary Learning Centers attempt to promote the child's success in learning. It makes use of a young child's natural and zestful interest in learning. Attempts are made to identify learning styles of children and to make appropriate instructional modification to meet the individual needs of the students. The fact that children are in an academic oriented program during July helps to minimize "summer loss". The diagnostic aspect of the early identification program has been furthered through use of a learning team comprised of a school psychologist, a guidance counselor and a reading teacher. The Primary Learning Center teachers employ multiple approaches to minimize or eliminate problems which could deepen.

Members of the Learning

Team - Dr. Jerome Solovay, psychologist, Mr. Martin Cohn, guidance counselor, Mrs. Arlene Cohen, reading-learning specialist, and Dr. Lee Firester, Principal of the eight elementary P.L.C.'s have met with parents at scheduled meetings at each building during July 15-18 to discuss the activities of the program and answer questions.

In addition, the Learning Team has met with each building's P.L.C. teachers to discuss the progress of each child and to help plan each individual program of instruction. An in-service course to train Primary Learning Center teachers was given by Dr. Firester during the Spring of 1974.

In the lower left are Diane Rannezzisi and Jeri McCarthy. In the lower right John Frankel is showing Denise Vitelli how quickly he puts a puzzle together - that's a fun game, too!

An Edge With An Emmy

By Mark Silverstein

In the "good old days" back when there was only radio there were great dramas. Some were the Inner Sanctum, Jack Armstrong-the All-American Boy, Mr. Keene-tracer of lost persons, The Shadow, and many others. With the "invasion" of television, radio dramas faded away.

C.B.S.' Emmy award-winning "Edge of Night" is considered by many to be the best daytime serial on T.V. The "Edge" is one of the only daytime serials that is presented live, and that could be the main reason why it's so successful. The difference between a live show and a taped show, is that a live show brings out the utmost of the entire cast because they know that 11,000,000 people are watching them; whereas a taped show does not bring out the best because the actors know that even if they make a mistake they could always do it over again.

The "Edge" is presented live on T.V. at 2:30 p.m. but there's a lot of preparing. The first series of rehearsals begin about 7:30 a.m. The rehearsals don't end until 11 a.m., then comes lunch and then the dress rehearsals. After the broadcast on T.V. there is still more work to be done. From 3 to 4:30 there are pre-rehearsals for the next day, and keep in mind that when the actors go home they have to memorize their lines for the next day's show.

The series revolves around Adam Drake, an attorney who has faced many perils. Unlike most of the other soap operas, the "Edge" is a more male oriented cast, and also unlike most other daytime dramas there is suspense, heartstopping, tantalizing and surprising scenes.

The rehearsals and the actual broadcasts are transmitted to the Empire State Building from a converted movie house at First Avenue and 76th Street. In the studio there is a control room. In it there are the producers, directors, engineers etc. controlling the camera positions and the commercials.

In acting you are faced with a lot of career decisions. There are very few jobs that are permanent. When a role is played out, the actor or actress starts looking for something else.

A brief glimpse of the personnel of the "Edge of Night" would consist of: the actors, actresses, producers, directors, writers, stage crew, lighting crew, sound effects, cameramen, engineers, make-up men, prop department and others forming what seems to be a great big "family," a very successful family!!

In the near future, I'll be doing a special feature on news broadcasting.

Voice Assistance In Emergency

Forty-six civilian telephone operators in the Nassau County Police Department 911 emergency system have been certified by the New York State Department of Health to render voice assistance to persons requiring medical help while waiting for an ambulance.

The group, consisting of 42 women and 4 men, were trained in emergency medical services by the Department's Emergency Services Unit and have been certified as Emergency Medical Technician - Dispatchers.

Captain Robert Carney, commanding officer of the Special Services Division said the procedures taught follow guidelines set forth by the Federal Department of Transportation.

"We feel that in cases where medical assistance is required the first five minutes following a trauma or an accident are the most critical and can make the difference between life and death," Carney said.

Commissioner Louis J. Frank pointed out that since the inception of the 911 system in the county last September, the Department has received voluminous calls from persons frantically seeking immediate help or guidance in controlling a medical emergency.

"Because of this experience," the Commissioner stated, "We instituted this special training program so that our 911 operators could talk to the people involved and give them the assistance they need while at the same time dispatching a police car and ambulance to the scene."

The training was given by Emergency Medical Technician David Weinstein, 27, who has been with the Department for five years. The training consists of 46 concentrated hours in various first aid techniques. When the training started in mid-December, classes were limited to five persons each, but recently were expanded to 20 with the hiring of additional operators by the Department. The program will be included in the training of all new operators.

Weinstein stated that the training includes such vital medical techniques as control of bleeding, overcoming stoppage of breathing, cardiac arrest procedures and poisoning treatment among scores of others. He related how one police officer recently gave instructions on the telephone to a distraught parent on how to give mouth to mouth breathing.

"We teach the operators to first, calm the person down and then calmly tell them what must be done," Weinstein said. So as to understand better some of the problems the operators themselves face, he took a course in their procedures.

Plans are under way to eventually make the course available to supervisors in the Communications Bureau, where 911, intended primarily to respond to emergency situations, operates, so that persons calling in will not run the risk of receiving blank responses.

In addition to certification by the State, the dispatchers have also received first aid cards from the American Red Cross.

Commissioner Frank said, "We feel this training answers a very definite need and fits in admirably with our overall program of emergency services."
