Superintendent's Contract Not Renewed

By SHIRLEY SMITH
By a unanimous vote, the Hicksville Board of Education will not renew the contract for Superintendent of Schools Jerome J. Niosi. Dr. Niosi's contract expires June 30, 1975 and the school board has decided to find a replacement rather than rehire him. (It should be noted that trustee John Lari was not present at Tuesday's meeting, therefore his vote on the contract was not recorded.)

Before the vote Tuesday night, the board met behind closed doors for over an hour while a small group of taxpayers and employees waited for the meeting to continue. The action did not come as a complete surprise to those who have been attending board meetings regularly, but most did not expect it to happen at this particular time. The superintendent and school board have had a number of public confrontations during the past year and his actions have not always been acceptable to them. The board of education will now investigate various agencies to conduct a search for a successor superintendent. Dr. Niosi has been in his present position since October, 1971, when he was hired by the school board then in power to replace Donald F. Abt. Mr. Abt was named Educational Consultant until the end of his contract in 1973.

The school board also voted to accept a fact-finder's report on the state of negotiations with the Administrators' Council. This organization of Hicksville principals, assistant principals, supervisors and department chairmen reached an impasse in negotiations with the board in June. The report will now be voted on by the Council and, depending on the outcome, settlement terms will be worked out or bargaining will resume.

The board again discussed school monitors and trustee William Bruno asked the board to replace those eliminated by a $30,000 budget reduction. Administration is to submit a report by Friday and at that time the board will be polled by telephone as to what action should be taken.

The school board approved the payment of bills, award of bids and personnel appointments and changes. Also approved was a plan of activities for handicapped and special education students to obtain state aid in financing these programs.

Several items on the agenda were not discussed before the meeting adjourned and will be taken up on Wednesday, October 9 at 8 P.M. in the Administration Building.

For tickets contact chairmen Bob Jackson at 681-6198, Tom Connolly 938-9363 or Joe Ferrandino at 796-6282.

In addition to the Cocktail Party a TV set will also be raffied off at the affair. Chance books are available from the above named chairmen.

Hicksville Community Council to Meet

The first meeting of the Hicksville Community Council for the 1974-75 season will be held on Thursday, October 10, at the Hicksville Public Library at 8:15 P.M.

Normally, the Council meets on the first Thursday of each month, but because of the Fair sponsored by the Library during the first week in October, the Council will meet on the second Thursday.

The scheduled program for this meeting will be a preliminary report to the people of Hicksville by the Hicksville Community Parks Task Force. Members of the Task Force will be on hand to discuss some of the results of the questionnaire which had been mailed to Hicksville residents some time ago, asking the residents to tell the Task Force what facilities they would like to have available in the Hicksville Community Parks.

Our Council is pleased to have this opportunity to bring the Task Force and the residents of Hicksville together for an exchange of information on some future plans for Hicksville.

Dissemination of information is one of the major purposes of the Hicksville Community Council. Naturally, after the Task Force presentation and discussion, questions from the audience will be encouraged.

Besides the scheduled program, the public portion of the Council meeting will provide time for any announcements and questions from the audience on any subject, providing, it pertains to Hicksville.

This should be a very interesting and informative evening, and all residents, business and professional people in Hicksville are invited to attend.

The Council is concerned about the future of Hicksville. Come and join us at the Hicksville Public Library on Thursday, October 10, at 8:15 P.M. as we continue to work "For a Better Hicksville".

To The Residents of Hicksville

The Publicity Committee wishes to apologize to the residents of Hicksville and to our fans in town who didn't get the results of the Parade and Drill, until now. The reason for this is the results were given to the Dispatcher at Headquarters and someone borrowed them and forgot to return them. Needless to say, the Chief, Chairman, Vice Chairman and the Firemen never found out who took the honors.

The Nassau County Drill Team Captains-Asst. and Parade Officials decide who takes top honors and they submitted a result of the drill to a rival newspaper, which will remain nameless. It seems everyone was aware of this except Ex. Captain Owen Magee. Well anyhow, here's some of the results, "thanks" to Captain Walter Nygren who got the results from his trophy records.

GOP Cocktail Party

The Hicksville Republican Committeemen's Council will hold their annual Fall Cocktail Party and Dance on Friday evening Oct. 18th, at Old Country Manor, HERE'S THE SCHEDULE: William Buchman (right), President of the Hicksville Rotary Club, hands Oyster Bay Town Supervisor a schedule of events upon his arrival at a recent meeting where he addressed the membership. Looking on is Treasurer Don Hart. Meetings of the Rotary are held at the Milleridge Inn.

Openline Planned

Governor Wilson today announced that he will establish early next year a toll-free "openline" to the Governor's office to strengthen the partnership between New York State's citizens and their government.

The Governor made his proposal at the Yonkers Republican Dinner Thursday night. Excerpts of the Governor's remarks follow:

"One of my prime objectives for the next four years will be an open government.

"The 'openline,' which will be toll-free and operate six days a week, will provide a centralized information and referral service for citizens who have questions about or problems with state government.

"Professional staff in my office will research legitimate concern and complaints and either answer directly or have the appropriate state agency respond directly."

"The principal goal of this program is to make state government which has grown increasingly complex, more responsive to the citizens is supposed to serve. In addition, it will serve as another avenue to encourage citizen participation in New York State government."

"This new action builds upon action taken at the 1974 session of the Legislature to increase openness in government. I was pleased to sign into law the Freedom of Information Act, which established a mechanism through which citizens may gain access to governmental records and should increase both citizen understanding of and participation in the working of government.

Free Art Festival in Hicksville

Doolittle has announced that Town residents will have the opportunity to attend an outdoor festival entitled, "A Harvest of Talent" at the Gregory Museum, Heitz Place, Hicksville, on Saturday and Sunday, October 5 and 6, from 9 AM until dusk. Admission is free.

Co-sponsored by the Cultural and Performing Arts Division (CAPA), Town of Oyster Bay Department of Community Services, the festival will consist of an exhibit of original works in: oil and acrylics; watercolor graphics, and mixed media; gems, minerals, flowers, and plants; and sculptures in wood, stone, metal, plastic, pottery, and ceramics. Proceeds from the exhibit will go to the Gregory Museum.

In case of rain, "A Harvest of Talent" will be held the following week, October 12 and 13 during the same hours.

This year's series of Coffee Houses, beginning Friday evening, October 4th at 7:30 P.M., promises to offer varied entertainment, choice wines, beer, coffee, donuts, and a friendly atmosphere.

Government Productivity

The first national workshop on productivity in government will be offered by Nassau County on Oct. 30 and 31, County Executive Ralph G. Caso announced today.

The plan for a workshop was worked out by Caso and the National Association of Counties in Miami, Fla., last July at NACo's annual convention after the Nassau Multi-Municipal Productivity Commission presented a program on "Improving Employee Productivity."

"With the aid of NACo and other municipalities engaged in productivity projects, we have sent invitations to individuals around the country including officials at all levels of government and the private sectors of business," Caso explained.

The workshop, to be held at C.W. Post College, will concentrate on productivity methods and measurements. It is being sponsored by Nassau's Productivity Commission and NACo, with the assistance of the County Supervisors Association of California, officials of Fairfax County, Va., and the city of Nashville, Tenn.

According to Vincent J. Macri, the Nassau Productivity Commission director, the schedule includes registration and breakfast at 8:30 AM on Wednesday, Oct. 30, followed by a plenary session, workshops, a luncheon and additional workshops. The following day's schedule will start with 9 AM workshops, a luncheon and panel presentation and field trips to various Nassau municipal installations.

Among the speakers will be Mayor Beverly Briley of Nashville, Deputy County Executive Douglas Harmon of Fairfax, Gary Foss, personnel director for Santa Clara County, Calif., Mark Stagier, deputy city manager of Scottsdale, Ariz., Robert B. McKersie, Dean of the Cornell University School of Industrial and Labor Relations, Basil Whiting of the Ford Foundation, Leslie Bander of the Joint Congressional Subcommittee on Economics, and a representative of the City of Detroit.

Caso and Chief Deputy County Executive Thomas G. DeVivo also are scheduled to speak along with Dr. Edward Cook, acting president of Post College.

In advancing the workshop, Caso emphasized the importance of an exchange of ideas in the area of productivity in government.

"In a time when greater efficiency in government is a must in the face of rising taxes and spiraling cost of living," he said, "municipalities everywhere must cooperate."

"We, in Nassau County, have gained some vital knowledge in this field and will share it with others for the betterment of all."

Caso pointed out the Nassau program was unique among hundreds across the U.S. in that it utilizes a joint labor-management approach. It is planned and coordinated at every stage by combined teams of management and civil service employee representatives. Funded by the county, the U.S. Department of Labor, the N.Y. State Office of Local Government, the Ford Foundation and the National Commission on Productivity, the Nassau Commission was established in 1972 and covers the county and town governments.

Double Dual Wrestling at Nassau Coliseum

Three of the country's top collegiate wrestling powers and Long Island's best local team have accepted invitations for this year's Nassau County Double Dual Wrestling Meet at the Veterans Memorial Coliseum.

The second annual event, scheduled for Sunday, December 8, will bring together Oklahoma University, the 1974 National Champions; Iowa University, the Big 10 Champs and number 4 in the national championships; Michigan University, the country's second best team; and Hofstra University.

The first of two dual meets will begin at 1:00 p.m., with Oklahoma University meeting the University of Michigan. Both of these teams staged a see-saw battle for the NCAA Championship last year, which was seen on television in the Wide World of Sports Show on ABC. This will be their first meeting since that dramatic encounter, and Michigan's Wolverines are still smarting from that defeat.

On the other mat, going at the same time, will be the University of Iowa meeting Hofstra University. The Iowa Hawks won the Big Ten Tournament last year and placed fourth in the NCAA meet. Hofstra University, coming off its best year, boasts much local Long Island talent.

At the conclusion of the first round of matches, the teams will switch and, on the first mat, the University of Iowa will be meeting Oklahoma. On the other mat, Michigan will wrestle Hofstra. These matches are slated to begin at 3:00 p.m..

The event is cosponsored by the Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks, the Nassau County Wrestling Coaches Association and Roosevelt Raceway. All profits from the event will be placed in a college scholarship fund or deserving high school wrestlers.

"Friendly Fall Luncheon" Brings People Together

A "Friendly Fall Luncheon" designed to bring handicapped and non-handicapped adults together for an afternoon of good food, socializing and entertainment will be held Saturday, October 19, at the Holiday Inn in Hempstead.

Handicapped individuals, their families and their friends who attend the gala affair can look forward to a social hour starting at 12:30 p.m. followed by a gourmet luncheon and, for their listening pleasure, the exciting sounds of the All American Jazz Band.

The luncheon is open to all persons 14 years of age and over at a cost of $4.25 per person. Reservations should be made by Monday, October 7, through Ms. Ann Malin, Department of Social Services, County Seat

Drive, Mineola, 11501. Checks should be made payable to "Friendly Fall Luncheon."

The event is the product of a joint effort on the part of the Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks, the Social Services Department, the United Cerebral Palsy Association, the Muscular Dystrophy Association and the Westbury Recreation Department.

Caso: "Property Tax Cannot Support Rising Costs..."

Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Caso recently warned Congress that local property taxes alone cannot support the rising cost of public transportation.

In a joint statement prepared for submission tomorrow in Washington to a joint House-Senate conference committee hearing on federal transit aid, Caso and William Lister, chairman of the L.L. Citizens Committee for Mass Transit Aid, characterized the problems facing transit systems across the country as a "crisis."

"Along with countless other counties and cities across the nation, we have all labored under the growing burden of trying to save our existing bus and rail systems," Caso and Lister stated. "Increasing fares offers no relief since action results in decreased ridership and penalizes those who rely on public transit for their mobility."

Lister, vice president of L.K. Comstock and Co., was appointed by Caso last week to head a committee of Long Island business and labor leaders to work with government officials in their effort to obtain federal aid to save transit fares.

Lister and Chief Deputy County Executive Thomas DeVivo will attend the conference committee hearing tomorrow, along with state, city and county officials from across the nation. The significance of the hearing is underscored by the fact that House-Senate conference committees rarely hold public hearings.

Caso warned that transit costs are growing at such a rate that there is a crisis as to where New York City, Nassau County and other jurisdictions in the metropolitan region can find the funds to keep the systems operating.

He pointed out that in 1972, Nassau County expended $6.9 million in the field of public transit for subsidies and support.

"In 1974, our transit subsidy costs are expected to increase to more than $17 million, while in 1975 it is projected that we will have to budget considerably more," Caso stated.

Caso and Lister warned that failure to maintain rapid transit facilities at reasonable cost levels will adversely affect the economy of the New York region, increase unemployment, add to the welfare rolls and deal a serious blow to the effort to preserve the environment.

Touch Football Tournament

The third annual Nassau County Intramural Touch Football Tournament will be held at Eisenhower Park from Tuesday, October 15, to Friday, October 25. Approximately 16 eight-man teams of high school age are expected to compete in the tournament, which is being cosponsored by the Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks and the Security National Bank. Teams will be comprised of youngsters who are not on school football varsity. Registration will be held through October 2 by the department's Sports Unit at 292-4284.

The public is invited to attend the games weekdays between 4 and 6 p.m. No games will be held on the weekend. Spectators may use parking field No. 1 off Merrick Avenue north of Hempstead Turnpike.

Dear Friends:

The Hicksville Task Force on Parks is busy evaluating the results of the questionnaire which was sent out to every home in the Park District (same geographical area as the Hicksville School District). Computers help break down the results of the returned questionnaires and it is now the duty of the Task Force which is only advisory to the Town Board, to interpret these findings to the community. So, on Thursday, Oct. 10 at 8:15 p.m. in the Hicksville Library, as part of the program of the October meeting of the Hicksville Community Council, those present will be hearing a preliminary report. Although we hope that most of you are, you do not have to be a member of the Council, to attend. Why not come on down and join in this important segment of community planning?

Mr. Bruno of the Hicksville Board of Education wrote us at length about his disagreement with the other members of this Board, in a matter pertaining to the employing of teachers vs lay help in certain areas, such as "lunch duties." Mr. Bruno feels that teachers should not do this. The rest of the Board (and the PTA and the Teachers Association) apparently disagree. At least they have not actively opposed using teachers in this way. We feel that these matters should be settled by the Board of Education. It is one of the many duties which they assume when elected. However, those who regularly attend Board meetings, or who regularly read Shirley Smith's articles in this newspaper, covering Board meetings, have already decided, either that this particular matter has been solved to their satisfaction, or they have notified the Board of Education in writing, of their difference of opinion.

Congratulations to Jack's Beauty Salon of West Marie Street in Hicksville. They have just entered their second year in business. Jack celebrated by enlarging, redecorating and refurbishing his already attractive Beauty Salon. It really looks beautiful. Best wishes.

That's all for this week. Stay well, and enjoy each day.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:

Recent statements and letters by Mr. William Bruno and Mr. Charles Lioacono illustrate the problems which the Hicksville School District has faced for some years. For some reason, it does not appear possible for some to accept the fact that reasonable men may disagree. Mr. Bruno's accusation of "blackmail" and "empire" building on the one hand, and Mr. Lioacono's protestations of "disenfranchised" citizen on the other, would almost lead one to despair. It is unfair for both gentlemen to imply that the Board has ignored any arguments simply because their recommendations were not accepted.

To carry this further, one must recognize that both arguments, which sound like "you should give the community a choice" (a fine idea in principle), boil down to "you should put my ideas into the budget." We must recognize that the School Board was elected by the people, and their task is to assemble a budget for the community to ratify, or to oppose. Their task is not to "cop out" and present several possibilities, but to exercise their judgment based on their access to all the relevant information. Of course they must listen to the community, and the reductions made in the second and third budgets presented show that they did so. And the large majority which passed the budget shows that this was understood by the voters.

Supervisor JOHN W. BURKE REPORTS

In 1970, as the result of the Supreme Court edict of "one man, one vote," neighboring Suffolk County changed from a Board of Supervisors form of government to a legislature composed of representatives elected from equal population districts. Now, just four years later, the Supervisors of the ten Suffolk towns have found it necessary to form an association to combat what Smithtown Supervisor Paul Fitzpatrick calls "the erosion of home rule."

With the new legislative body representing many small pockets of self-interest, the towns' Supervisor have experienced an increasing disregard on the county level for the needs and problems of their own local governments. At the same time the Suffolk Supervisors have seen an increasing encroachment by the county into a number of areas that have been traditionally the responsibility of town government.

Similar experiences have been reported in Westchester County which also established a legislative body in 1970. Town and city Supervisors, experienced and active in running their own governments, were barred from serving on the new legislative board and were effectively cut off from the deliberations of problems affecting their own communities on the county level.

Faced with the same judicial directive, the Nassau County Board of Supervisors developed a modified weighted voting plan which retains the basic structure of the board while complying with all constitutional requirements. With this modified plan, town government, which is the heart of home rule, retains its voice in the county legislature. It also leaves intact a basic working system of representative government in Nassau County which has a proven track record of 76 years through periods of tremendous growth in population.

Washington Report

Congressman
NORMAN F. LENT
5th District, New York

OUR SOVIET "PRISONER OF CONSCIENCE"

Just prior to last week's Jewish Holidays, I joined with other Members of the House of Representatives, along with the leadership of the Greater New York Conference on Soviet Jewry and its Long Island Committee, to urge a mass-action program aimed at publicizing the plight of Jewish prisoners in Soviet slave-labor camps.

As a result of that somber meeting, each of us in the 4th Congressional District has become, through my proxy, the benefactor and friend of HILLEL BUTMAN of Leningrad, currently serving a ten-year sentence for "anti-Soviet propaganda" and other "crimes." The constituents of other Congressmen in our area have similarly "adopted" as their "prisoner of conscience", other imprisoned Soviet Jews to whose plight they will devote their attention.

Now serving the third year of his sentence, Hillel Butman's case is tragically typical of the harassment faced by activist Jews throughout the Soviet Union—a fate only partially obscured by that nation's developing relaxation of its emigration policies.

Now 42 years of age, Hillel Butman is the married father of two children currently living with their mother in Israel. He graduated from the Leningrad Institute of Law and Leningrad Polytechnic Institute in 1954, but was forbidden entrance into an Institute of Foreign Languages because of his religion. He reacted to this discrimination not by "caving-in" to Soviet pressure to abandon his faith, but by beginning instead to compile extensive historical records on the Jewish people and their heritage, and studying Hebrew.

By 1960, Soviet authorities had learned of his deep interest in Judaism and he was dismissed from his job as a legal investigator—to be reassigned to work in an electrical equipment welding plant. In this less prestigious position, he continued his historical work until his arrest three years ago (while vacationing with his family) on charges of "anti-Soviet propaganda," "anti-Soviet organization" and "treason." Sentenced to ten years imprisonment at the now-famous "Second Leningrad Trial", he maintained his resolve—compiling a 12,000 word Hebrew dictionary even though in prison—until he was thrown into an isolation cell three weeks ago.

With the tragic figure of Hillel Butman as our "Prisoner of Conscience", I will be working within the Congress and with the Long Island Committee for Soviet Jewry—and all of you—to dramatize his plight and that of thousands of other incarcerated Soviet Jews, hoping to secure their release and right to emigrate.

You'll be hearing a great deal more about Hillel Butman as our joint campaign on his behalf develops. I sincerely hope that I'll have your cooperation in this effort, for basic personal freedoms should be everyone's concern.

Neighbors Oppose Rezoning to Business

By Janet Gosnell

Neighborhood opposition was expressed at Town Hall on Tuesday morning (Sept. 24) to the petition of Carnation Property, Inc., for a change of zone from Residence D to Business G for a parcel of land on the northeast corner of Burke Avenue and Broadway, Jericho.

A previous petition for a business zone made by Carnation for the parcel was denied by the Town Board; however, a later decision by the Supreme Court declared a residential zoning unconstitutional for the corner parcel.

The present petition includes that parcel plus other lots which run from Broadway through to 18th street about 100 feet north of Burke Avenue, forming an L-shaped parcel. Neighboring properties on Broadway are zoned Business G. On the south is a branch of the Bankers Trust Co. On the north is a parking lot serving an office building owned by Jerry Spiegel.

The residential square of land filling in the "L" of the subject parcel on the corner of 18th street and Burke Avenue is owned by Jerry Spiegel.

The property is presently improved with a frame building being used for business, one of the bones of contention of the neighborhood opposition. The business involves the presence of two large trailers which, they say, have brought crowds and unsightly litter to their neighborhood.

Apparently the trailer business was installed without a permit, and is presently under litigation pending the outcome of Tuesday's hearing.

Petitioner Speaks

Speaking for the petitioner was attorney Charles Feisel, who said his client wanted only to continue the business now operating in the existing building. He also said his client would accept restrictive covenants limiting the business use to approximately the "F", or neighborhood business, category.

Two letters of objection from neighbors were read into the record by Town Clerk Ann Ocker. Leading off the spoken opposition was Joseph Mueller, of 28 Burke Avenue, who zeroed in on traffic congestion on Burke Avenue brought on by the bank, the trailers, a church at the east end of the street, and the general busy-ness of Broadway. The trailers are a problem, he said and the property in question is poorly maintained.

The attorney for Jerry Spiegel asked that the parcel be used only for parking for business being conducted in the present building, and that no access be allowed onto Burke.

Wini Gaines, speaking for the Jericho Joint Civic Council, read a letter from President Milton Mensch stating the council's approval of the present use or of an office building, but no other use.

Patricia Bauerlein, of 19th Street, said a child on a bike had recently been hit by a car in the vicinity of the Bankers Trust Co.

At the close of the hearing, the Town Board reserved decision.

Plainview Leader Speaks

At the close of the agenda, Carole Fishman, representing the Greater Plainview Community Association, spoke regarding a dilapidated house and barn which has been allowed to remain standing on Old Country Road a few blocks east of South Oyster Bay Road despite the Town's unsafe buildings ordinance. She also said her organization had not been receiving town meeting agendas in advance as promised by the Board.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Bum Steer"

With mounting impatience, Walters drove for 15 minutes behind a slow-moving truck on a winding road. Finally the truck driver waved him a go-ahead signal.

But as Walters swung out to pass, a car loomed up from the opposite direction. A collision followed, and Walters landed in the hospital with assorted injuries.

In due course, he filed a lawsuit against the trucking firm.

"Their driver gave me a 'bum steer' when he waved me on," Walters charged in a court hearing.

"But it was an innocent mistake," countered the company. "He was just trying to be helpful. Besides, Walters still had the final responsibility for his own driving."

However, the court granted Walters' claim. The court said that the truck driver, having once undertaken to give directions, had to do so with caution.

Courts generally agree. It is worth noting, however, that Walters had no real chance to see the danger ahead. If he had and took a chance anyhow, he might well have been found negligent himself, regardless of the misleading signal from the truck driver.

In fact, a motorist continues to bear some degree of responsibility even when he is obeying the signal of a traffic officer.

In another case a motorist, waiting at a busy intersection was waved ahead by a policeman who was there directing traffic. He started forward immediately, knocking down a pedestrian who was still in the crosswalk.

Could the motorist escape legal liability by blaming everything on the policeman?

The court said no. "The driver had a right to rely to some extent on the (policeman)," said the court, "but he had no right to abandon all care."

the answer PREVENTIVE MEDICINE

by H. Rudolph Alsleben, M.D.
Anaheim, California

Toward the end of my first year of practice, more than a decade ago, I received a phone call in the early hours of the morning, from the wife of one of my patients. She said worriedly, that her husband was very ill, and was on his way to the hospital. She asked me if I would call ahead and make the necessary arrangements for emergency care. Because his complaint was in the chest, I notified the intensive-care personnel at the hospital and the attending heart specialist. When I arrived at the critical wing, the patient was under the oxygen tent. Intravenous fluids were running into his arms. Oscilloscopes and monitors were flashing and beeping all over the room. The cardiologist came away from the patient and, as he passed me, he casually muttered, with an unlighted cigar dangling from his lips, "Sub-endocardial M.I. (myocardial infarction, heart attack). Routine orders. I'll see him in the morning. Only 31 years old. Too bad."

I turned and walked to the bedside. Zipping open the flap of the oxygen tent, I leaned closely to the opening and said, with an air of surprised arrogance, "Well, John, you've had a heart attack."

John looked at me with a puzzled and final look on his face and struggling to speak said, "How come, Doc? I've been coming to you for over a year now."

You can see now what I mean by preventive medicine. You can see what I mean when I suggest an early discovery of problems? We were all standing there watching our fallen comrade — me with embarrassment — his wife with the panic of expected loss — the nurses with the boredom of work — and the machines ... the machines. I watched them, my eyes fixed on the heart monitor, watching for a change in the pattern that would show him faltering. I suddenly realized that my mind was impersonally playing with his life. My eyes were watching for bad patterns, not good ones. I was expecting the worst, not the best. I couldn't stand it any longer. I left and, as I walked down the long tunnel-like, white corridor of the intensive care unit, I made my first preventive medicine discovery.

This man has hardening of the arteries. For all of his life, before this tragedy, there was NOTHING done, and now after this tragedy, there was EVERYTHING.

Intensive care. What is this thing called intensive care? In reality, even now, it is just intensive watching. We were simply watching him die. All of us, the doctors, the nurses, the family, and the machines. It would be the machine that would make the first announcement to the expected few by the continuous high-pitched buzzer, that his heart had stopped. Here is the point. This man was dying of a corruption of his blood vessels. It was growing in his body for 30 years. No one looked, no one treated, no one advised. They just waited until it was so bad that the patient told us of his problem by his collapse.

These changes can be measured in advance of their critical stage. They can be MEASURED, TREATED, and ELIMINATED simply, safely and inexpensively!

Phone and Feet Save Energy

Oil embargo or no oil embargo, energy conservation will be part of American life for many years to come.

One good way to save fuel is to make better use of the telephone, the U.S. Department of Commerce advises. A barrel of petroleum in the telephone industry does the communications work of 250 barrels in the transportation industry, according to government estimates.

We have 140 million telephones in this country. Let's use them more efficiently to conserve energy, urges the U.S. Independent Telephone Association, which represents the 1,700 non-Bell telephone companies serving one of every six phones throughout the country.

The best advice is to substitute the telephone for that favorite automobile whenever possible. Call out-of-town friends and relatives instead of visiting them. Use long distance calls and conference calls in place of business trips, too. And substitute a phone call for some local visits, as well.

When going shopping, first check the Yellow Pages and "let your fingers do the walking." Remember, many stores accept orders by phone for scheduled delivery. If you are going shopping, phone ahead to be certain the stores are open and the products you want are available. This saves time and money, as well as fuel.

And when you must travel, try walking, bicycling, car pooling or public transportation when feasible.

WHAT AM I BID?

Auctions, which have become one of the great American spectator sports, take place in a variety of arenas from New York's prestigious Sotheby Park-Bernet on Madison Avenue where a 28-inch polished bronze sculpture recently fetched three quarters of a million dollars to a barn in Lancaster County where molds and butter churns go for less than ten dollars and chests and chairs of dubious age and ancestry are often bid up to multiples of their worth by eager collectors.

Collector's fever shoots up dangerously at auctions and while major houses such as Sotheby's issue catalogues in which articles of sale are described with considerable accuracy, at country auctions the bidder has only his own knowledge, instinct and self-discipline to save him from folly. Buyer beware is the motto that should be drummed into everyone who's addicted to bidding at country auctions. Here are some simple rules for your protection.

Never bid on anything you haven't examined—carefully—before the sale. If it's a set of china, count the pieces. How many are chipped and cracked? Does it have a mark you recognize? If it's a desk with a drawer that's locked, is there a key to unlock it?

Don't be carried away by competitive bidding. Never bid more than you decided it was worth when you examined it. Don't buy white elephants. If your living room has a nine-foot ceiling where are you going to put the ten-foot-high armchair that caught your fancy? A tape measure is a good thing to carry in your pocket or purse when you're on a tour of inspection before the auction.

If you're buying something you plan to use, make sure it's in usable shape. If the rocker slats are missing and the mahogany bureau's minus a foot, they'll have to be replaced. If you're not an expert cabinet-maker, the cost of repair has to be added to the cost of your "find."

Learn to spot fake furniture antiques. Old carvings are often sharp-edged because years of dusting, cleaning and rubbing smooth the edges. Fake wormholes are straight and tend to be near the surface; real wormholes meander and go far into the wood. Finely made dowels are an indication of age but not necessarily proof. Handmade nails have been reproduced and are also not necessarily an indication of age.

Old wood is heavier than it looks, new wood lighter. Dark stains on the undersides of furniture often disguise new wood. Painted finishes that are genuinely old show some flaking. If an old piece has been repainted, as is often the case, careful scrutiny may show some of the old paint underneath. And just because the auctioneer says a piece of furniture comes from a "famous estate" or an "important collection" doesn't necessarily make it an authentic antique.

Learn how to care for today's variety of flooring materials—linoleum, tile, vinyl, wood, stone and even concrete. Write to me at the address below for a FREE booklet called Floor Care.

On the other hand, if you come upon a good piece of "attic" not-so-antique furniture that's in good condition and buy it at a reasonable price, the pleasure of owning it will be enhanced by the memory of how and where you bought it. To familiarize yourself with distinguishing marks that identify antiques such as silver, porcelain, or pewter check the books at your local library.

And, of course, judicious cleaning and waxing of a piece of cherry attic furniture will give it a beautiful patina, just as a well-polished ladle (don't recycle old silver; it diminishes its value!) will add a lovely warm glow to your dinner table.

Dear Kathleen,

Why does the top of my mahogany dining-room table look streaked and cloudy even though I wax it regularly?

Mrs. Judy Schloss
Glenview, N.Y.

Dear Mrs. Schloss:

You may be applying too much wax or applying it incorrectly. Fine quality furniture waxes such as Pledge contain cleaners and solvents that remove soil and also remove the previous coat of wax as they are applied. But if the wax is applied too heavily and/or not thoroughly dried, the excess wax and loosened soil will dry on the surface and leave a streaky finish. The best way to avoid this problem is to apply wax sparingly and immediately switch to a clean dry polishing cloth when the wax in use becomes soiled or damp.

Around Our Town

Lynda Noeth Scotti - 796-1286

Double congratulations are in order to a popular Hicksville couple. First to both Angie and Frank Sotallaro, Prince St. residents who celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary on Tuesday, September 24. Secondly, to Angie, whose birthday was celebrated on Monday, September 23. On Saturday, September 21, a surprise party celebrating the Sotallaro's wedding anniversary was given for the couple by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gray, at which time many friends and neighbors helped to celebrate this occasion.

Happy anniversary to Helen and Tony Finnerty of Linden Boulevard, Hicksville, who celebrate their 28th wedding anniversary on September 21.

Leslie Andrea Moskowitz is the brand new baby daughter of Norman and Toby Moskowitz of Joyce Rd., Plainview.

Engagement

Adeline Lanzilotta daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Frank Lanzilotta of Hicksville to Stephen Belden son of Mr. Robert Belden Jr. also of Hicksville.

HCBE Meets

The initial meeting of the Hicksville Citizens for Better Education for the current school year was held at the Public Library on September 10. A budget discussion was held featuring Dr. Fredrick Hill, Assistant Superintendent for Administration, and Mr. Robert Pirrung, President of the Hicksville School Board.

The lively discussion of current budget problems was somewhat overshadowed by an eloquent plea by Dr. Hill for HCBE, and other community representatives and organizations, to involve themselves in long-term planning for the Hicksville School District. Dr. Hill felt that the current budget problems are, to some extent, a result of the lack of real direction by the community. The statement of goals and objectives completed last year was an excellent start, but must be continued.

Other subjects discussed at the meeting were the current cafeteria problems and transportation in the district. Mr. McCormack, Mrs. Wolfson and Mr. Nagle, Trustees of the School Board, also attended and provided information concerning the various items at issue.

Listen Grads

College graduates are a dime a dozen, which is quite a bargain for an item that costs $10,000 to produce.

For the second straight year the unique combat shooting pistol competition will be in effect at the Eleventh Annual Pistol Match sponsored by the Nassau County Police Department and the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association.

The competition will be held for three days, September 27th through 29th at the department's outdoor range on Weir Street in Hempstead.

More than 300 police officers from federal, state and local agencies will take part in the matches, with representatives coming from as far away as

Washington, D.C. and the state of Maine.

Competition will begin each morning at 8 a.m. and continue through 5 p.m.

CAMPUS POLICY

present policy. Betina Margolin, senior high student asked, "Why must the majority suffer for the mistakes of others?" It was pointed out by a PTA spokesman that the great majority have not abused the privilege and an effort should be made to find those who have. She also pointed out major difficulties in enforcement and distinguishing between seniors and other students. Student leader Barry Leibowitz called the contemplated change an, "unrealistic solution to an overmagnified situation."

Dr. Savitt, Sup't of Schools, also recommended a continuation of present policy which has been in effect for 4 years. He said that if all students are restricted to campus, "all optional activities will be glutted," and, "from an educational standpoint, reverting back, could only result in a deteriorating situation." He went on to say, "True, we have received complaints, but the majority of students have shown responsibility." He suggested (1) the status quo for the remainder of this year (2) that steps be taken to 'tighten up,' (3) re-evaluation next year based on this years performance.

Board members Taubenfeld, Natter and Scholnick spoke in favor of the proposed change, while Mrs. Porta, Mr. Miller and Mr. Bernstein opposed the original motion. Mr. Bernstein commented that if vandalism continues he could change his mind. Mr. Natter said that he went to a shopping center during the lunch and feels that the "safety factor is serious."

Board President Delman made an amendment to the original motion which was accepted by the maker of the motion and the seconder. The amendment would authorize open campus privileges for all senior high students in grades 9, 10, 11, and 12. The amended motion was defeated by a vote of 4 to 3.

The next board meeting will take place at the Oak Dr. School Thursday, Oct. 10.

At Nassau County Supervisors Meeting

Handicapped Workers Seek Medical Assistance

By Janet Gosnell

The particular plight of gainfully employed handicapped adults requiring medical attention, a situation which county executive Ralph G. Case says has his "hands tied legally," was the topic of an address to the Nassau County Board of Supervisors on Monday, September 23rd by Steven Bloom, Democratic candidate for New York State Assembly in the 17th A.D. and two of a half-dozen handicapped individuals he brought with him.

The case in point was brought by wheelchair-bound Connie Panzarino, of Hempstead, a former county employee for three years who was forced to resign in order to qualify for welfare and adequate medical care. Under her modest salary, such needed care could not be afforded. Public assistance for medical care, however, was denied her as an employed individual.

This policy is costing the government and the taxpayers money," declared Jim Lenz, of Valley Stream, speaking for "Disability in Action," declared Jim Lenz, of Valley Stream, speaking for "Disability in Action," and also confined to a wheelchair. He said that there are 2,000,000 handicapped individuals in New York State, half of them in the greater New York metropolitan area.

"This is a cruel and inhuman law-one which is counter-productive," said the county executive, as the lights and cameras from NBC news played over him. He invited those present to meet with him to form an organized, legal "attack" against the law. He pointed out, however, that should the county make any exception to the law, in effect violating it, however justified, the county's entire program of federal aid could be put into jeopardy.

According to Miss Panzarino, many qualified handicapped individuals, able to hold a job and earn a living with proper medical assistance, are now confined to the Holly Patterson Home for the Aged as public wards because the salaries they would earn do not meet their medical needs.

Candidate Bloom announced that he was joining with three disabled persons, Miss Panzarino and Karen and Richard Maltzer, to form a Disabled Workers Movement.

"The objectives of this movement are two-fold," said he. "The first is to change the governmental definition of disability, based upon one's ability to independently perform activities of daily living. The second is that necessary medical expenditures for the disabled worker should be provided in full or part by federal, state, or local government-when an individual cannot fully afford them."

Homeroom begins promptly at 7:45 P.M. Coffee will be served at the conclusion of the 8th period in Cafeteria A. We are sure you will enjoy and profit from meeting with school personnel and other parents during this stimulating evening. Remember, communication leads to understanding.

the staff in setting up the Fair, on September 30th, October 1 and 2. Assistance will also be needed to help "watch" the many beautiful and valuable entries to the Fair on October 3-6. The Friends also plan to have a membership booth at the Fair. President Immesberger said, "Once more, we are appealing to all interested members of our community to join the Friends. We work with the Library Administration and Staff on many programs and Library activities. This past summer, the Friends assisted the staff at the Library Noontime Concerts, the Children's Pet Show, and the Children's Story Hour Party. The Friends also conducted a very successful Book Sale and, to date, have raised a thousand dollars which we plan to apply to the purchase of an elevator for the library. The elevator will be used by the handicapped and infirm residents so that they can use the lower level of the library. We have many plans but our membership is small. We would like to welcome many many new members".
