Assistant Principal Writes Article

Dr. Lee Firester, Hicksville's district-wide assistant principal for Primary education is the co-author of, "Wanted: A New Deal for Boys," appear in the October issue of The Elementary School Journal. The nine-page article explored the problem of boys, having a more difficult time in school than girls. The strong social forces, in addition to the slower rate of male muscular and slight development and verbal inferiority are among the reasons for many boys' difficulties in school.

Dr. Firester is joined in the authorship of this article by his wife, Dr. Joan Firester. They state, "Schools with their female-oriented value system and female domination have established a reward system in which success depends on conformity to feminine values and manifestations of maleness are met with punishment and failure."

Governor, Ann Kaplan, Mayor of Monticello, N.Y., and Marge Gianelli, at a recent reception.

On Sunday, October 20, the 1974 Fire Prevention Poster Contest winners received their awards. The ceremony was held at the Hicksville Fire Headquarters on Marie St. Present for the awards, along with the winners and their families, was the Hon. Warren Doolittle, Town of Oyster Bay Councilman, pinch hitting for Supervisor Burke. Also present were Fire Commissioners Jud, Munch and Davis and Chiefs Misturini, Schaaf and Huttie. The M.C. was Ex-Chief John Specht.

Each year the Hicksville Fire Department holds this contest which is open to students in all schools from 1st grade to 8th grade. Fire officers judge the contest and come up with a list of winners. This task is not an easy one. Our only regret is that we can't give all the participants an award. The contest is sponsored by the Hicksville Fire Prevention Bureau under the direction of 3rd Deputy Chief James Huttie.

Chief Huttie wishes to thank all those who took part in the contest and all those who took time out to help honor the winners on Sunday. The contest is held to keep fire prevention up front so it's on everyone's mind. The students do an excellent job.

During this year's award ceremony the Hicksville Jr. Firemen honored a young Hicksville lad by installing him as an honorary member of their group. Brian Sibrava, 13, whose Dad and Granddad are Vamps and his brother Keith a member of the Juniors, was the recipient of the award. Young Brian has been physically disabled for most of his life, but has never let that stand in his way. Just recently he underwent an operation on his legs that we all hope will get him up and around. Brian's love of the Fire Department and the firemen, along with much love and support from his family have helped him cope with his problems.

We say congratulations and good luck to Brian, and a well-done to the Hicksville Jr. Firemen for their compassion for a brave lad. Presenting the award on behalf of the Juniors was President Nick DiPalo, and Ex-Capt. Donald Hudson, HFD advisor. Below is a list of the contest winners.

DEVOTIONS

By the Rev. John H. Krahn,
Trinity Lutheran Church

"GOOD SEX"

Winston Churchill was a member of a Master of Ceremonies club. He won every time there was a contest. He could speak on any topic at any time. They thought they had him one day when without notice they gave him the topic, "sex." He rose and said, "Gentlemen, it gives me great pleasure," then he sat down.

Sex as mere physical gratification can be fun in many contexts. I would imagine that an affair can be quite exciting ... at least for a time. Although sex is most pleasurable, it is only good in the confines of marriage. In this context and in this context alone is sex permissible in God's sight. God only permits good sex.

"Thou shalt not commit adultery," God says to us. To adulterate is to spoil something that is intended to be pure and holy. It is perversion of the good by mixing it with something less. The result of such mixing pollutes, weakens, and often destroys that which God created pure and holy.

As men, all of us are vulnerable to bad sex. Many have a sexual problem. For some it is lust, for others it is having affairs, sleeping with a girlfriend or boyfriend, or reading pornographic literature.

To overcome our problem we must first admit we can't handle our weak flesh alone. Then we should come to God and honestly say, "Help me, Lord." And He will, because He loves us. Jesus will help us see people as love-objects rather than as lust-objects.

In Christ, the goal of dating becomes a relationship of giving, not just taking. In Christ sexual intercourse is restricted for marriage because God's intention is that we become "one flesh" in a total union which includes, mind, spirit, will, and body.

Save sex for marriage. After you're married, keep it in the context of marriage. It is a beautiful gift from God ... don't misuse it ... keep it good.

Nassau County Volunteers

Volunteers - those people who give of their time without expectation of material reward - play more than a $2 million role in Nassau County government. There are currently 7,600 volunteers giving of themselves to help others - at a savings to the county of $2,406,495.

Two of the newest are Cathye Henning and Karen Howatt, newcomers to Nassau County, anxious to serve and interested in their fellow residents. They are Canadian-born wives of New York Islanders hockey players, who have taken up residence here on a nearly year-round basis.

"These two young ladies contacted me to ask if there were some kind of work they could do," said Mrs. Phi Fleer, administrator of the Nassau County Office of Volunteer Services. "I was pleased to sit down with them and discuss some of the many ways volunteers assist the county government."

Cathye Henning, who hails from Saskatchewan, was married last June to Islanders' center Loren Henning. After moving to Westbury, Cathye, a certified elementary school teacher in Canada, found she had spare time.

"I'm unfamiliar with the county, of course, and don't have family or a lot of friends here, so I thought it would be good to put in some volunteer time," she said. "It will help me possibly more than I will be helping others."

Karen was the April bride of Islanders' left wing Gary Howatt. They've taken residence in Sea Cliff. She hails from Vancouver, British Columbia, where she gave a lot of time as a pediatrics volunteer.

"Cathye and I got the idea together," she said. "We decided to find a place to help out and learn something about our new home at the same time. I'm looking forward to volunteer work."

Mrs. Fleer interviewed the two young ladies and suggested their backgrounds might be best utilized in children's work. She contacted Mrs. Ruth Dinterfass, coordinator of Children's Services in the Nassau Department

VFW Sponsors Scholarship Program

Nassau County Council Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Ladies Auxiliary will participate in jointly sponsoring their 28th annual scriptwriting contest in secondary schools throughout the County. The program is open to 10th, 11th, and 12th year students in both public and parochial schools and consists of submission of a three to five minute recorded tape, the theme of which is "My Responsibility as a Citizen".

Prizes are awarded by local Posts and Auxiliaries by December 10. Winning tapes in these contests are then submitted to the County level for further judging and awards, and the program continues on through the State and National levels where the competition results in scholarship awards totalling $22,500, plus other valuable prizes.

Believing that the young should also be encouraged to express themselves on this same theme, a 250 word written essay contest is being offered for 6th year students with suitable awards to be given.

The program will culminate at a presentation luncheon in January 1975. Contact your local VFW Post or Auxiliary for additional information.

Programs Help Pre-Schoolers

North Shore residents who have problems involving child or family can count on help from the North Shore Child Guidance Center, a member agency of the United Way of Nassau-Suffolk. According to Dr. Harvey Goldey, Psychiatric Director, treatment at the Center for individuals, and group and family therapy for those with emotional problems can mean that hospitalization or residential treatment will not be necessary in the majority of cases, and innovative new programs work directly with local school systems.

As part of this program, North Shore Child Guidance Center has established group counseling programs within some school settings in an attempt to deal effectively with children who might not otherwise get services, since they would not be seen as emotionally ill.

North Shore Child Guidance Center has provided in-service training courses and consultation for faculty of various school systems so that indirectly they might reach children of all community groups in preventive programs through schools. Along the lines of prevention, an extensive program of parent education, community conferences and other programs has been undertaken to help the average parent recognize and deal with the life situations that occur in every family.

North Shore Child Guidance Center has worked with North Shore University Hospital to develop joint programs including the Pre-school Development Program which is housed in the Roslyn Presbyterian Church, and serves children from the entire service area. This program is specially designed to evaluate, treat and educate pre-school children who show evidence of language disabilities. Children are accepted for this program as young as 2 to 2½ years of age.

Rail Act Support Snowballing

The citizens Public Expenditure Survey, Inc. (CPES) reports that a ground swell of solid support for the proposed $250 Million Rail Preservation Bond Act is evident.

CPES is the statewide taxpayer research organization based in Albany. Information coming through the CPES office indicates that an increasing number of taxpayer groups, chambers of commerce, civic groups and business associations are backing the proposed bond issue which will be on the ballot in November.

Joseph P. Halwachs, President of CPES said, "Data which CPES is receiving shows the bond issue has gained a great deal of momentum and carries endorsements to date over 75 major organizations."

He said, "Those groups which are backing the rail act are doing so because they feel it is an investment in the future of our State. They view the bond issue as a necessity if New York is to protect vital rail trackage while improving passenger and freight service. A viable rail transportation system, in turn, will greatly enhance the industrial and business climate in the state and will save and create jobs." Passage of the bond act would generate an estimated $4.5 Billion in economic activity.

Among bond act supporters are: The Building Industry Employers of New York State, The League of Women Voters, Environmental Planning Lobby, New York State Association of Realtors, Inc., Associated Industries of New York State, Inc., Empire State Chamber of Commerce, New York State Grange, New York State Farm Bureau, New York State AFL-CIO Executive Council, Mayor Abraham Beame, Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz, The Central Adirondack Association, Inc., Steering Committee of the New York State Conference of Mayors, New York Times, Citizens Union of City of New York, Long Island Association of Commerce and Industry, New York Chamber of Commerce and Industry, Livingston County Board of Supervisors, Sierra Club, Atlantic Chapter, WNBC Radio, Women's City Club of New York, Regional Plan Association, New York State Council of Retail Merchants, The United Taxpayers of Sullivan County, The Halfmoon Taxpayers Association, Inc. The Oakwood Heights Homeowners Association, The Cohoes Taxpayer Revolt Group, New York State Transportation Council, Olean Area Chamber of Commerce, Broome County Taxpayers Association, and chambers of commerce across the state.

"We are reaching the point that every time a businessman tries to make a move to hire a new employee, develop a new product, expand his plant, move into a new city, merge with another company, negotiate a labor contract, ship his goods, or raise new capital, he is confronted by a regulation that says he cannot do it unless a federal agency approves."

At Supervisors' Meeting

County Proposes Law Vs. Multi-Pricing of Food

By Janet Gosnell

The multiple pricing of items on supermarket shelves which has driven food shoppers crazy in the last few months will become illegal if the Nassau County Board of Supervisors elects to adopt an ordinance proposed by James E. Picken, Commissioner of Consumer Affairs.

The proposed ordinance was the subject of a public hearing at the County Supervisors' meeting last Monday, taking a one and a half hour chunk of time while consumer groups applauded the measure and representatives of the supermarket business on Long Island denounced it.

Said Commissioner Picken, supermarket prices are supposed to reflect a profit of 3/10 of 1 per cent on every item sold. This percentage of profit was figured into the original pricing of the item. Yet, said he, citing the instance of a box of cake mix which went from 3 for $1 to 55 cents a package with successive markings, "they raised their profits 52 per cent in six steps."

He said voluntary compliance with the regulation would be acceptable, but that supermarkets do not seem to volunteer their cooperation. Two supermarkets, according to Hempstead Supervisor Alfonso D'Amato, said they would cooperate. They are Finast and Safeway.

Voice of the Supermarkets
Irwin Cantleff, operator of the Foodtown store in Oyster Bay, says he always changes prices on the shelf on as many as 950 items per week. He opposed the measure on the basis that it was against free enterprise; that it would be of no help to the consumer; and that it would be costly to the supermarket owners. Cantleff is First Vice President of the N.Y. State Food Merchants Association.

John Greenfield, Hicksville store manager, cited a price lag between wholesale and retail increases as a justification for multiple pricing and said the term "unconscionable" used by Alfonso D'Amato in reference to supermarket profits should be changed to "stupid". The county's request that stores put items priced lower in front and those priced higher in back would result in his store being "torn to shreds."

James J. Lack, Suffolk County Commissioner of Consumer Affairs, who was to present the same proposal to his legislature on Tuesday, noted that the state unit pricing law would be effective January 1, 1975, and said he would like to see legislation against multiple pricing enacted at the same time.

Consumers Speak
Abe Hammer, representing the Senior Citizens of Freeport, better known, he said as the "doggy set" because of their regular consumption of Alpo, said "this law is vitally needed. You have the support of the consumers."

Gloria Bernstein, Director of the Long Beach Consumer Protection Council warned against the new method of computer pricing which, she said, any supermarkets will institute in the not too distant future. With computer pricing, no price markings show on the item.

Richard Kessel, Assembly candidate from Merrick, said stores were using Lysol brand disinfectant to spray out the old before marking in the new prices. Leo Davis, Chairman of the BiCounty Consumer Coalition of Long Island said the law wouldn't save anybody any money, that the real problem is inflation.

Dr. Sorley, of Rockville Centre, called the legislation a "farce".

Public Works Projects
The Supervisors approved the advertisement for sealed bids on a project to demolish and remove 27 acres of old runways and two buildings and appurtenances at Mitchell Field at an estimated cost of $500,000. Said Rockville Centre's Carl Schmidt, a regular in the audience at Supervisors' meetings, "Don't do it — curtail spending."

The Supervisors also approved a project to reconstruct the gates the Coliseum parking fields for better security at an estimated cost of $15,000; authorized $20,000 for an automatic irrigation system for the Coliseum's lawns and landscaping; authorized advertising for bids for a 20-foot by 60-foot illuminated sign facing Hempstead Turnpike in front of the coliseum at an estimated cost of $235,000; and authorized replacement of 2,942 trees and bushes at 282 storm water basins at an estimated cost of $87,415.

Inmates Law Library Opened

County Executive Ralph G. Caso officially opened the new inmates' law library at the Nassau County Jail, last week. Because the jail opening day coincided with the first anniversary of the imprisonment of Soviet Jewish citizen Alexander Feldman, Caso also proclaimed Oct. 18 Freedom for Alexander Feldman Day.

"The juxtaposition of these two occurrences is truly ironic," Caso said. "Inside the Soviet Union, a young man was arrested and prosecuted without adequate defense simply because he is of the Judaic religion and sought permission to emigrate from Russia to Israel."

"Alexander Feldman was accused of 'hooliganism' because he allegedly bumped into a woman and knocked a cake she was carrying from her hands. He was permitted no defense witnesses and allowed to ask no questions. His defense attorney was subsequently disbarred. Feldman was sentenced to 3½ years at hard labor for his

'crime.'"

On the other hand, Caso pointed out, the American system, as exemplified in the Nassau County Jail law library, stands in stark contrast.

"Our library for inmates of the jail," he said, "is specifically designed to help them obtain full protection of the law. Inmates, whether awaiting trial or under conviction, will have full use of the library to help them understand charges, research the law and help prepare a defense or appeal."

"The difference in the two systems — ours and the Soviet's — is illustrated and illuminated for all to see."

The law library at the county jail is one of three penology reforms Caso has achieved with the help of Sheriff Michael F. Senick and the Nassau Criminal Justice Coordinating Council, headed by Florence Carlson.

The holiday furlough program for inmates was introduced this year, allowing selected inmates to spend weekends or special holidays with their families.

The work-release program, in effect on a limited basis at present, will be expanded by a $1,300,000 housing and rehabilitation facility to be built on two acres of jail grounds, funded in the main by the federal government. The separate housing will allow the program to be expanded from the current 28 participants to 98.

The law library was established and equipped with $12,000 from the federal government. It is housed in a room adjoining the chaplain's office. The room was decorated and shelving installed to hold an initial delivery of more than 1,300 volumes. Reading and research tables are provided with writing materials. Current copies of decisions and opinions will be added on a regular basis.

An instructor will be provided by a publisher to teach selected inmates and corrections officers the use of the library, so information can be passed on.

Our Town Leads The Way

If the preliminary budget of the Town of Oyster Bay for 1975 is approved - and there is every indication that it will be - the residents of Oyster Bay will have to accept an increase of about 16 cents per $100. of assessed valuation in town taxes next year. For the average homeowner, this means an added $1. per month.

While the prospect of the tax increase is never a pleasant one, this newspaper would nonetheless like to commend our Town officials for doing as well as they did in keeping spending down despite the pressures of spiraling inflation which have brought fuel prices up over 100 per cent since last January. The new budget includes no new programs and no expansion of town personnel. An examination of the budget shows, as well, that many requests for additional funds made by department heads were rejected by the Town in an effort to keep spending down. Salary increases reflected in the budget are by and large moderate. The increase of about $1 million in the General Fund Budget reflects the inflation we all feel when we buy sugar, beef or other products at our supermarket - and we feel that inflation to a greater extent than $1. per month.

As with all inflationary periods - and we've been through a few - now is the time for all residents to save their pennies; make an old item do instead of going out to buy another; keep unnecessary spending down for your own good and for the good of the economy. Our Town is making every effort to meet inflation in its way - let's all try to do the same in our personal finances.

Dear Friends ...

THE SEAL CLIFF CHAMBER PLAYERS, now in their fifth consecutive season, have become, in four short years, a vital musical force on Long Island. In 1970 they began in Sea Cliff with four concerts, a small but enthusiastic audience, and the dedication of a highly talented professional group of musicians to bring first-rate chamber music to Long Island. Since then they have expanded their concert series to nearly thirty concerts throughout Nassau County. They have earned the highest critical acclaim, and they have received the support of the New York State Council on the Arts the Nassau County Office of Cultural Development as Ensemble-in-Residence for Nassau County. Several new projects are under way for 1974-75. This season the Chamber Players will move to a new location, a County facility, the Social Service Auditorium in Mineola, for a series of six Friday evening concerts. In addition to their regular concerts at the United Methodist Church in Sea Cliff and at the Nassau Center for the Fine Arts (Frick Estate) in Roslyn where new programs will include a series of children's concerts inaugurated by the Nassau County Office of Cultural Development for new commissioned works by Long Island composers written expressly for the Sea Cliff Chamber Players. In keeping with their reputation for programs of unusual interest and variety, the Chamber Players will again perform the great chamber music masterpieces as well as unusual and seldom heard new works. Three special highlights will be works of Ives and Schoenberg and an all-Ravel concert, in commemoration of the centennial of each composer's birth. For further details one may phone 671-6263 or 676-1279.

BEST WISHES for success in their new business to Charles and Betty Fetta of Hicksville, whose new "General Store" is located at 9 West Nicholas Street in Hicksville. As you can see in their advertisement on page 5 of this newspaper, their "wholesale to the public" items will certainly help many of us who are trying hard to balance the old budget.

OUR ISSUE OF OCT 31, in our last issue before the Nov 5th elections. As is customary, at this

AT T.O.B. MEETING:

Reaction Apathetic To Proposed '75 Budget

By Janet Gosnell

Not much excitement surrounded the introduction and public hearing on the preliminary budget of the Town of Oyster Bay for 1975 at morning and evening sessions on Tuesday, despite the fact that the budget will bring about the first Town tax increase since 1971 when it was set at 61.6 cents per $100. of assessed valuation.

Only a handful of people were present at both sessions, producing only about a half dozen speakers.

Civic association speakers protested the lack of citizen involvement in the preparation of the budget. Carole Fishman, of the Greater Plainview Community Association, called the preparation of the budget a "farce," and questioned the continuance of several aspects of the budget, including salaries of over $100,000 for the Department of Planning & Development; the division of Civil Preparedness; and the Director of Finance position in addition to the Comptroller. Supervisor John Burke pointed out that the latter two are required by law. Judy Jacobs, of the South Woodbury Taxpayers Association expressed similar views and protested the "misuse of funds" in the Town's having engaged the firm of Raymond, Parrish & Pine as master planners.

Mario Colletuori, accountant for Lewis Yevoli, former Town Councilman, repeated views he had expressed a year earlier that the Town over-budgets, leaving a surplus at the end of the year. Comparing amounts budgeted to actual expenditures for previous years, Mr. Colletuori concluded that the administration is carrying over only a small percentage of the surplus into the following year. He contended that the 1974 surplus plus Federal Revenue Sharing should bring the general fund tax rate down under 60 cents.

Other speakers included Albert Reinhart, of Massapequa, and James Howell, of East Norwich.

The latter's complaint centered on the councilmen's salary increases from $16,225 to $17,750, and the Supervisor's increase from $25,000 to $26,500.

Inflation Caused Increase According to introductory remarks made by Supervisor John Burke, the 1975 budget reflects no new programs or positions and represents a severe cutback from departmental requests. These requests are indicated in the budget along with the proposed figure for each expenditure.

Increases in the budget are directly related to the pressures of rising costs, he said. Two such spiraling costs are those for fuel and paper.

The General Fund budget is up over $1 million for next year, from $14,750,133 to $15,761,823. The highway budget increased from $5,725,167 to $6,654,141, and the part-town budget is up $122,257 to a total of $1,090,384. Salaries throughout the budget

Letters to the Editor

The following letter was sent to HCBE President
Dear Mr. Edelstein,

It is not our intention to place barriers between groups interested in education in District 17. However we feel a strong responsibility for keeping PTA's strict non-partisan policy above reproach.

Under "non-partisan policy" in the PTA handbook 1973-75, pages 49 and 50 it says, among other things, "The PTA is concerned with principles and issues, and not with parties of candidates," and, "The PTA as such, does not endorse any candidate for office."

Hicksville Fire Dept.
Gentlemen:

We read in the Mid Island Herald, some folks are giving the Hicksville Fire Dept. a hard time because of air sirens at night. We too have been awakened, BUT we and many others, just roll over and go back to sleep. We do not have to dress, travel in hot and humid, icy cold, wet or dry weather to tend to the needs of

While we are aware that you did not state that PTA supported your candidates for the school board, we feel that the inclusion of Council's name anywhere on a flier which asked for their support implied a connection, regardless of text. We would respectfully request that any group wishing to publish Council's name afford us the courtesy of prior approval so that we may all work together without misunderstanding for better Hicksville schools.

Very truly yours,
Norma Dagna, President
Hicksville Council of PTA's.

others. Perhaps if the 'complainers' homes were burning, they would then say the sirens were not loud enough.

We bless the volunteers and damn these small, petty people, plus the vicious and sick people calling in false alarms.

Keep up the marvelous work.

Thank you.
Sincerely,
Mrs. William MacDonald

Lindbergh Tribute Opens Saturday

A memorial exhibit in honor of the late Charles A. Lindbergh will open Saturday, October 26, at the Nassau County Historical Museum in Eisenhower Park.

The exhibit was prepared at the request of County Executive Ralph G. Caso as a tribute to the national hero who spent much of his time in Nassau County and who was a pioneer in the aviation industry so important to the history and economy of the county.

The exhibit will depict the life of Lindbergh with a display of carefully selected documents, photographs and artifacts spanning his life from his exploits as the "Lone Eagle" to his dedication to the cause of conservation in his later years.

The propeller and altimeter of the Curtiss JN-4, one of Lindbergh's first planes will be on display. Also to be shown are 1927 moments of the first solo trans-Atlantic flight - an original oil painting and model of the solo plane, the Spirit of St. Louis, photocopies of the flight log, an autographed "welcome home" photograph and a photo of the aviator accepting the $25,000 Orteig prize from the donor. Copies of newspaper stories reporting the event to the world will also be on display.

The exhibit also will contain memorabilia of Lindbergh's career as a writer. On display will be copies of his books "We," partly written on Long Island, and the "Spirit of St. Louis."

which won the 1954 Pulitzer Prize.

The memorial tribute will graphically describe the impact of Lindbergh on the world he shared from 1902 to 1974," Caso said.

The Historical Museum, operated by the Department of Recreation and Parks, is located near Parking Field 6 in Eisenhower Park. The museum is open daily from 9 AM to 5 PM. Admission is 25 cents.

The event will be held in Roosevelt Hall on the campus of Farmingdale State University, Melville Road in Farmingdale. Suggested donation is $2.00 for the general public and $1.00 for NOW members. Health organizations will participate with demonstrations, displays and workshops. New concepts will be examined and explained in such fields as prepared childbirth, breastfeeding, vasectomy, menopause and mental health. Workshops will deal with alcoholism, sexuality taboos, fetal self-examination and aging, among others. There will be a slide show on the gynecological examination and a demonstration on the art of self-defense.

Janet Brown and Andrea Kline, registered nurses, are coordinators of the Body Fair. "We aim," says Ms. Brown, "to create an awareness and demand for good health facilities as well as foster positive attitudes toward physical and mental well-being." Ms. Kline adds, "The Body Fair is a unique approach toward enhancing our knowledge of ourselves. As health care consumers we have an obligation to overcome our habit of passivity as patients. Thunderbird Camporee a Success

Thunderbird, our new boy scout district, started its season with a great turnout for the fall camporee held Columbus Day weekend at planting fields arboretum. 489 scouts and 145 cub scouts joined together in a weekend of camping and scouting skill contests. The new Thunderbird District had 35 staff members present headed by Charles Rosenfeld, chairman and Bill Grosch, commissioner. Arrangements were ably handled by our camping committee headed by chairman Bob Frenness. Campmaster Tom Burns ran a tight ship and skillfully supervised the varied activities including making welcome over 400 guests. He was ably assisted by a staff of senior scouts from post 280.

A highlight of the camporee was the landing of a Nassau County Police Rescue Helicopter and demonstration of sophisticated first aid techniques by the pilots.

Harry Ward and John Rauchkold, our two well-known roundtable commissioners, worked diligently to provide refreshments. Close to 400 hot dogs, 18 cases of soda and many dozens of donuts were devoured by the 23 troops, packs, and guests attending. The following scout units participated: Troop 195, Glenwood Landing; Troops 280, 170, 541, 112, 431, from Syosset; East Norwich sent troop 253 and Pack 253; Locust Valley, Troop 135; Glen Cove's Troop 184 and Pack 703; Old Bethpage, Troop 423; Jericho, troop 129; Bayville, 176.

After this fun weekend we are all looking forward to our next camporee when we will learn something about cold weather camping skills. We hope many boys between the ages of 8 and 10 will join with us in cubbing and look forward to seeing many new faces in our active local troops.

For information on your local community scout troop or cub pack, please contact Harry Schilling, Scout District Executive at Boy Scout Headquarters - 746-8282 - during normal business hours.

Open Letter to Olympics Supporters

An Open Letter to Hicksville Olympics Supporters
Thanks to your interest, enthusiasm and help, the 1974 Hicksville Olympic Games enjoyed a successful season. Over 800 Hicksville youth participated in various events and more than 500 medals and ribbons were awarded.

As you know, when the Olympic Games were first organized, the intention was to provide competitive events yearly. Such an undertaking was to provide competitive events yearly. Such an undertaking requires cooperation on the part of many. Merchants and organizations have been most generous in their monetary donations but lack of interest has put the running of the '75 Olympic Games in jeopardy.

In an attempt to resolve this problem, a meeting is being held at the Hicksville Public Library on November 6th at 8:30 P.M. I realize your time is valuable and your interests many, but I must once again ask for your enthusiasm and support.

Please come and bring a friend.

Traveling News
Our "Teens Division" under Michael Sini pulled a "Bye" this weekend, maintaining their 2-1-1 record for the first half of this season.

Meanwhile, Tony Camara's Bantams suffered an ill-deserved loss to Glen Cove-final score was 2-1. Micksville's score came from the foot of John Mitchell on two brilliant passes that started with Kevin Cahalan at mid-field, who passed to Bobby Andrus who instantly sent it across the goal mouth for a well timed boot by John Mitchell. This play was followed by 45 minutes of defensive work by fullbacks S. Dolan & J. Fitzgerald; half backs M.G. Shannon, D. Smyth, G. Zakian and the consistent excellent timing of Gene Tyransky at goal. The crowd thought this obvious defensive pressure would produce a winning game, since the ball was in front of the Glen Cove net for most of the game. This was the most aggressive display the team has organized against Glen Cove.

Intramurals-Boys Division
Rhode Island under P. Jung apparently enjoyed the crisp Fall temperatures when they defeated A. Bodony's Kentucky 5-1. T. Handshuh (3) and J. Stafford (2) scored the goals for R.I. with the help of K. Cunningham on repeated assists. The defensive load for R.I. was carried by half backs N. Stafford, P. Heller; full backs J. Wagda & D. Miller; while F. York maintained a strong goal. For Kentucky, D. Cleary, S. Borg & R. Skrynecki did their best to stem the scoring tide.

Later Vermont and Virginia played to a 1-1 tie. Vermont's score came on the foot of P. Rubins with the obvious effort of

Income Tax School:

An Experience in Adult Education

A large adult education effort in the United States, the H & R Block Income Tax School, will start soon in more than 2,000 communities. Enrollment is expected to exceed 40,000 students this year, so interested parties should enroll now. The Block Tax School is the largest of its kind in the nation. In recent years, more than 250,000 persons have attended the course. Classes begin in early November at local H & R Block offices and run for 9½ weeks. There are 81 hours of instruction, taught by veteran Block personnel. The school covers application of tax laws for both Federal and State returns and students will work with actual tax forms in solving problems. A $75 cost covers the expense of workbooks, tax forms, texts, supplies and registration. Job interviews by H & R Block managers may be offered to top graduates if desired, however, there is no obligation to seek or accept employment, the company states. For further information about this special adult education opportunity, contact Mr. Havel at 2723 Hempstead Tpke., Levittown or call 735-7234.

At Supervisors' Meeting

County Proposes Law Vs. Multi-Pricing of Food

By Janet Gosnell

The multiple pricing of items on supermarket shelves which has driven food shoppers crazy in the last few months will become illegal if the Nassau County Board of Supervisors elects to adopt an ordinance proposed by James E. Picken, Commissioner of Consumer Affairs.

The proposed ordinance was the subject of a public hearing at the County Supervisors' meeting last Monday, taking a one and a half hour chunk of time while consumer groups applauded the measure and representatives of the supermarket business on Long Island denounced it.

AGAINST ORDINANCE: Hicksville Supermarket manager John Greenfield spoke against an ordinance proposed by the Nassau County Dept. of Consumer Affairs to outlaw multiple pricing of items on supermarket shelves at Monday's meeting of the Board of Supervisors.

county's request that stores put items priced lower in front and those priced higher in back would result in his store being "torn to shreds."

James J. Lack, Suffolk County Commissioner of Consumer Affairs, who was to present the same proposal to his legislature on Tuesday, noted that the state unit pricing law would be effective January 1, 1975, and said he would like to see legislation against multiple pricing enacted at the same time.

Consumers Speak

Abe Hammer, representing the Senior Citizens of Freeport, better known, he said as the "doggy set" because of their regular consumption of Alpo, said "this law is vitally needed. You have the support of the consumers."

Gloria Bernstein, Director of the Long Beach Consumer Protection Council warned against the new method of computer pricing which, she said, many supermarkets will institute in the not too distant future. With computer pricing, no price markings show on the item.

Richard Kessel, Assembly candidate from Merrick, said stores were using Lysol brand disinfectant to spray out the old before marking in the new prices.

Leo Davis, Chairman of the BiCounty Consumer Coalition of Long Island said the law wouldn't save anybody any money, that the real problem is inflation.

Dr. Sorley, of Rockville Centre, called the legislation a "farce".

Public Works Projects

The Supervisors approved the advertisement for sealed bids on a project to demolish and remove 27 acres of old runways and two buildings and appurtenances at Mitchell Field at an estimated cost of $600,000. Said Rockville Centre's Carl Schmidt, a regular in the audience at Supervisors' meetings, "Don't do it — curtain spending."

The Supervisors also approved a project to reconstruct the gates the Coliseum parking fields for better security at an estimated cost of $15,000; authorized $20,000 for an automatic irrigation system for the Coliseum's lawns and landscaping; authorized advertising for bids for a 20-foot by 60-foot illuminated sign facing Hempstead Turnpike in front of the coliseum at an estimated cost of $235,000; and authorized replacement of 2,942 trees and bushes at 282 storm water basins at an estimated cost of $87,415.

"Business as Usual" at European American Bank

Although the signs are still changing, European-American Bank became a familiar name to Long Island residents overnight — literally.

The night was October 7-8 when European-American, a New York State-chartered bank for more than 53 years, acquired Franklin National's 102 banking branches.

"Business as usual" is the key phrase at the new European-American banking branches, with customers assured that their deposits are protected, that their FNB checks will be honored, and that there are no changes in their Master Charge cards, loan and mortgage payments, safe deposit boxes, or savings accounts.

Even the faces at the branches are the same, with FNB employees continuing their duties and serving customers. The only changes are in the name and in the top management.

European-American Was "Wholesale" Bank

In announcing the acquisition of FNB branches European-American Chairman Harry Ekblom explained that in the U.S. European-American was a

"wholesale" bank, with total resources among shareholder banks in excess of $96 billion, and that the addition of the FNB "retail" banking branches would complement the U. S. operation and bring its world-wide system to more than 9,000 branches.

To acquire the FNB branches, European-American bid against four other banks.

Ekblom Takes Message Via Helicopter

To reassure FNB employees that on October 8 the branches would open for "business as usual" and explain the acquisition, Chairman Ekblom, who was a senior vice-president at Chase Manhattan Bank for 20 years before joining European-American in 1970, spent the evening and night of October 7 making visits to Long Island branches via helicopter.

Described by employees who attended the meetings as "an open direct person who has a personal dedication to Long Island," Mr. Ekblom was raised in Brooklyn and spent several years in Port Washington. He was graduated from Columbia University in 1948, received a law degree from New York University in 1956, and was admitted to the New York State Bar the following year.

European-American, which was founded in 1921, has assets of over $4 billion, placing it among the ten largest banking organizations in New York, the 30 largest in the nation, and first on Long Island.

Although it counts seven out of ten of the Fortune "Top 500" companies among its U. S. customers, European-American is equally proud of its new Long Island customers, and is committed to serving them well.

It will take some time to get the new signs up, the new checks printed, and to settle in, but we are happy to be on Long Island and look forward to a long and mutually beneficial relationship with both present and future customers here," Mr. Ekblom stated.

Nassau County Red Cross Referral Service Underway

The 94 agencies supported by the United Way of Nassau-Suffolk run the gamut from very large to very small but they all have one purpose — helping people.

When her neighbor found 70 year old Mrs. L. living in a garage they called the Nassau County Chapter of the Red Cross and immediately the many services of that organization went into action. A motel room was found for her and she was brought there — her meals were paid for — the medicine she needed, but hadn't had money to buy, was provided. Because she had moved about, her Social Security checks has not caught up with her and the Medicare to which she is entitled was not in effect. When a permanent furnished room was found for Mrs. L., Red Cross paid her first month's rent and the case worker saw to it that the benefits which she should be getting were forthcoming.

The daily small dramas go on and the resources of the Red Cross are taxed in many directions. A fire sweeps through a small dwelling pushing the survivors out with only their clothes as covering. For these emergencies, the Red Cross is prepared. Clothing is provided. Food and medication obtained. Lodging is found. The Disaster Service teams swing into action when the call comes. Last year the Red Cross collected 30000 units of blood in Nassau County, taught thousands of Long Islanders to handle themselves in water, and provided all types of Geriatric services as part of its broadspectrum activities.

Lower Fees for Copies of Records

Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Caso will ask the Board of Supervisors to amend a county ordinance to fix fees for copies of public records at 25 cents per page, a reduction of 75 cents from the current charge.

The law change will go before the supervisors on Monday, Oct. 28, and, if approved, would take effect immediately.

"With the advent of the new Freedom of Information Act, which makes public records available to interested citizens, the requests for copies of documents has increased," Caso said. "I have had numerous requests to reduce the costs of records duplication."

"After consultation and study, it has been decided to reduce cost of copies from $1 per page to make them more accessible to the public."

The cost reduction will apply to most documents, but not all. It was pointed out that the cost of some copies is established by law. For example, Civil Practices Rules establish that the fee for all copies of business certificates filed with the County Clerk are $1 each.

Some Halloween Safety Tips

With the season of spooks and goblins just around the corner, here are a few safety tips from the Nassau County Department of Health, North Shore University Hospital and Walgreen Drug Stores.

Concerning Costumes

Costumes should be of light, bright colors. They should be as fire-retardant as possible—don't use paper, or other types of materials that easily ignite. The costume should also allow for freedom of movement—don't use a too-long sheet or costume that may cause a child to trip or fall. It is a good idea to decorate costumes with reflective tape so children will be more visible in the dark. All nighttime trick-or-treaters should make a flashlight part of their get-up.

When Trick-or-Treating

For the younger children, try to confine their trick-or-treating to the immediate neighborhood, during daylight hours. These youngsters should be accompanied by a responsible adult during their rounds.

companied by a responsible adult during their rounds.

Nighttime trick-or-treaters should call only at homes where the porch or other outside lights are on. All trick-or-treating should be done in groups—never go alone. Children should also be advised not to go inside a strange house.

Trick-or-treaters should always (but especially on Halloween) follow the basic safety rules developed by the National Safety Council:

Cross only at corners, never between parked cars and never diagonally across an intersection.

Look in all directions before crossing the street.

Watch for and obey all traffic lights.

Walk, never run across the street.

Use the sidewalks, not the street, for walking.

Wait on the curb, not in the street, until the street is clear to

A Word About the Treats

Children should be advised not to eat any of their treats until they bring them home for inspection. They should be told not to accept any food or candy which is opened or punctured—only sealed packages should be accepted.

Beware of Egg-Throwers

Parents should warn children of all ages of the possibility of permanent eye damage resulting from egg-throwing. An egg, which we think of as soft and fragile, can do as much damage to an eye as a large stone, and may even result in blindness.

A Word to Motorists

Driving is far from the easiest chore even under normal circumstances. On Halloween the motorist must use extra caution.

A Final Word

Halloween has always been a day for the kids, but it never used to seem as dangerous as it does now.

Georgia's single goal was booted by B. Altheus, when the ball was worked upfield by G. Skupinski, D. Skupinski and K. Rochelle.

Get Rid of Gray Hair

Some of it or all of it

Time-lapse photographs show how gradual action of Grecian Formula 16 lets you control just how much gray you slowly get rid of — some of it or all of it.

White Plains, N.Y. — Hundreds of thousands of men all over the country are now using a remarkable product to control just how much gray they slowly get rid of. It is called Grecian Formula 16 and the results are simply amazing. Grecian Formula 16 is a practically clear liquid, as easy to use as hair tonic. This remarkable formula works for any color hair because it combines with the natural chemistry of the hair to recreate natural-looking color. There is no mess and no rub-off. You simply use it every day for two or three weeks until you slowly get rid of just as much gray as you want. Some of it, most of it or all of it. You can stop where you like. You are in complete control of how much gray goes or stays. Once you get rid of as much gray as you want, simply use Grecian Formula once a week or so to keep it that way. Since Grecian Formula 16 works gradually over a period of time, even close friends won't notice the change happening. The resulting color is so completely natural that the hair definitely does not have a dyed look. Grecian Formula 16 is available at

Ban on Non-Returnable Containers

Warning that the nearly nine million tons of cans and bottles being thrown away in this country each year threaten the operation of municipal solid waste disposal systems, Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Caso today called for a statewide ban on non-returnable beverage containers.

Caso noted that discarded cans and bottles now total seven per cent of all municipal wastes and that the volume is growing by eight per cent a year.

"These containers also account for about 70 per cent of all the litter in all 50 states," Caso said, adding that roadside litter had been reduced 81 per cent in Oregon after that state had adopted a ban on throwaway containers.

Caso made his comments in a statement presented today at a public hearing held by the Nassau County Environmental Management Council to consider a ban on non-returnable beverage containers. The statement was read by Deputy County Executive James M. Shuart.

Caso said he favored a statewide ban until Congress enacts a nationwide one. He added that a county law would be unenforceable and ineffective.

Caso refuted beverage industry contentions that production of non-returnable bottles and cans consumes only one per cent of all the energy burned in the United States.

"It was that kind of thinking that got us into the energy crunch in the first place and it is that kind of thinking that is going to keep us there," Caso declared. "Ending the waste in producing these containers may be only one step, but a succession of small steps will eventually get us to our goal of energy independence."

Citing other areas in which energy consumption could be reduced, Caso said that together they could help end the nation's reliance on foreign oil and curb inflation.

"That is 7.3 million barrels of oil a day, or just about 1.3 million barrels a day less than we are now importing and for which we are paying extortionate prices," Caso said.

Public Hearing Considers Proposed Ban on Supermarket Mark-Ups

Nassau Consumer Affairs Commissioner James E. Picken appeared at a public hearing on October 21, held by the Board of Supervisors in Mineola, on a proposed county ordinance which would ban the marking up of merchandise already on supermarket shelves.

Picken charged that the stores' practice of repeatedly repricing groceries, which had originally been priced to include a profit margin, probably constitutes "not a reasonable profit margin, not even an unreasonable profit margin, but an unconscionable profit margin" for the supermarkets.

Demonstrating a box of cake mix which bore six price increases right on the package, going from 3 for $1, to 2 for 79 cents, to 43 cents to 45 cents to 49 cents to 55 cents, Picken said, "Certainly supermarkets are entitled to get their costs back. But when they first put this box on the shelf, they had all their profit margin included. They then raised prices another 62 percent in six steps."

Picken demonstrated seven other items which had been raised two or three times, with price increases ranging from 13 percent to 50 percent.

The Office of Consumer Affairs, he said, has been surveying food prices in the county since July 14, 1973. "The market basket of basic items to feed a family of four in Nassau County has risen from $46.83 per week to $54.60 per week," he said. "Consumers have had to swallow a 16.6 percent rise in the past fourteen months."

Picken asserted that his office had been flooded with phone calls and angry letters from consumers. "Already in a stew, they boil over when they see stickers pasted on stickers. They claim that stores are making additional profit as the merchandise sits on the shelf."

Voluntary action by the supermarket industry would be the best way to handle the situation, Picken believes. But in the absence of such cooperation, and in the absence of state legislation, he urged speedy adoption of the Nassau County ordinance, and assured the Supervisors that the Office of Consumer Affairs would be vigilant in enforcing it.

Levine Calls for Legislation

Assemblyman Stuart R. Levine of Bethpage (R-10th A.D.) today called for state legislation to prohibit the sale of beverages in non-returnable glass, metal or plastic containers.

In a statement submitted to the Nassau Environment Management Council at a public hearing in Mineola, Levine said the need for such legislation is imperative in view of the need to conserve energy and relieve overburdened municipal solid waste disposal plants.

"In recent years, the use of non-returnable containers has proliferated a thousand fold," Levine asserted. "We are raising a generation of young people who know of no other system except the throw-away."

Levine, who devised the first full-time, mandatory school course on environment while teaching at Plainview-Old Bethpage High School, said many young people today are beginning to see the folly of the throw-away system.

"They don't like the idea that they will inherit a system that consumes a large proportion of this country's natural resources," he stated. "As future taxpayers, they don't like the thought of having to pay taxes to dispose of cans and bottles for the beverage industry."

Levine said he will reintroduce legislation he submitted during the last session that mandated beverage containers suitable for reuse or recycling.

While continuing to serve youth of rural America, 4-H is expanding into urban areas as well. And affiliated 4-H members can be found in the nearly all major cities.

for our environment...
performance, not promises:

Our environment doesn't have as many friends as it did a few years ago, but those who are still around, like Congressman Norman Lent, are fighting as hard as ever on its behalf.

Whether the battle has been over oil rigs and sludge in the Atlantic, mothballing the SST, knocking out the planners' dreams for a "Wetport" off our south shore or the Oyster Bay bridge on our north, Norman Lent has been a "friend of the Earth."

Alternative sources of energy? Norman Lent has been pleading their case for years.

He WORKS at his job... and FIGHTS for our best interests. Like the preservation of our environment.

Urges Support of Bond Issue

The Nassau County Planning Commission today urged the public to vote "Yes" on Election Day for State Proposition No. 1 -- the proposition providing for a $250 million bond issue to aid rail transportation in the State.

The Commission, in a resolution supporting the proposition, pointed out that $46 million from the bond issue would benefit the Long Island Railroad. The funds would go for improvement of LIRR passenger cars, the purchase of diesel locomotives, and improvement of roadbeds.

Benjamin Frank, Chairman of the Planning Commission, said Long Island's economy would also benefit from the use of bond funds.
