Catalano Appointed Executive Assistant

Oyster Bay Town Supervisor John W. Burke announced on December 31, 1974, the appointment of Joseph C. Catalano of Hicksville as his Executive Assistant. The appointment, approved by the Town Board, was effective January 1.

Mr. Catalano has served as a Deputy Town Attorney since 1971. In addition to his regular assignments, he was responsible for establishing the legal framework necessary for the internal restructuring of Town government. Catalano's background includes extensive experience in public employee negotiations; he was a member on the management team for the negotiations leading to the Town's recently ratified 2-year CSEA pact.

Among other professional affiliations, Catalano is a member of the American Bar Association and the Catholic Lawyers Guild; he is also a panelist for the American Arbitration Association.

A resident of Hicksville for the past 20 years, Mr. Catalano is an active participant in community affairs. He and his wife, Dorothy, and two of their three children reside on Andover Lane.

1,327 Alarms In 1974

BY EX-CAPT. OWEN MAGEE

During the past year the Hicksville Fire Department responded to 1,327 calls for assistance. The break-down is as follows: sounded alarms - 545; silent alarms - 436; rescue calls - 586; fires causing damage - 263; malicious false alarms - 226; working fires - 19; mutual aid calls - 8; fires - no damage - 244. The loss due to fire for the year was estimated at a little over $500,000. A very low figure for the amount of calls received.

There were several major blazes during 1974 - the worst fire being the explosion and fire on April 8 which destroyed the entire structure at 33 W. Cherry St. There were several injuries due to that fire, but happily we can report no loss of life due to fire in Hicksville. Still, that is not good enough reason to let down your guard when it comes to fire. It can strike anyone, any time, very swift. Many of our fires were caused by just plain carelessness. Poor smoking habits, over-loaded electrical circuits, accumulations of rubbish, dirty heating units, careless use of flammable liquids.

In 1973 there was a total of 1,130 alarms in Hicksville, with 198 false alarms. During 1974 malicious false alarms rose to 226. It is estimated that each time fire apparatus responds it costs the tax payer approx. $175 - $200 per call. That includes maint., fuel etc. Missing is the cost of manpower. Many hours are donated by the members for training as well as actual fire-fighting duties. False alarms are your problem too.

Rescue calls rose from 341 in 1973 to 586 in 1974. The Fire Department is keeping pace with up-to-date training and equipment. 1975 will see Hicksville vamps installing the latest in telemetry and heart monitoring equipment in its rescue vehicles. A new 1,500 G.P.M. pumper is also expected to arrive in the Fall of 1975.

There were 28 line-of-duty injuries to Hicksville Vamps in 1974.

The Fire Prevention Bureau under Asst. Chief Huttig completed 139 fire inspections during 1974.

Bicentennial Plans

BY JACK LANDRESS

The Bicentennial-- the 200th anniversary of the founding of the United States of America -- is to be a many-splendored, many-sided event.

It will be a community-by-community celebration. It will be a time for America to appreciate its origins and what's happened in the past 200 years. It will be a time to project ahead to see what are the problems and likely achievements of the next hundred years. And it will be a time of festival, of fireworks, of the reenactment of famous battles and stirring events.

A few Americans thought the Bicentennial should be an Expo-type, single-city, great event. But more people felt that it should provide an opportunity for individuals and communities all across the nation to participate. Every American can, if he or she wishes, have a hand in the celebration. Each community -- each city, town, village, hamlet, Indian tribe, overseas possession, is being encouraged to think up something to contribute, to develop, to celebrate.

This is the way it is to be. An infinite variety of projects are underway. A slum is to be eradicated here. A children's theater is to be inaugurated there. An encyclopedia of Indian history is to be published. A revolutionary battle is to be restaged. A statement of goals for America's third century is to be published. An array of tall sailing ships is to reach New York Harbor on July 4, 1976.

A giant folk festival highlighting the Summer of '76 on the mall in Washington, D.C. A series of ethnic paintings and sculpture is to be unveiled. A bicycle trail from the Pacific to the Atlantic will be opened. Trees, types which played a role in early American history -- are to be planted. And so it will go.

Whatever celebrates the United States of America, recalls its past, projects its future, improves its environment, is grist for the Bicentennial. Plus some fun and enjoyment in the celebrating of all this. From Alaska to Maine and from Guam to the Virgin Islands, the Bicentennial is moving ahead.

There is a further aspect to the Bicentennial. Americans are also celebrating, memorializing and examining something which began to happen in 1776: the translation into national policy of the outlook and aspirations contained in the three tremendous documents: THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE, the CONSTITUTION and the BILL OF RIGHTS.

When we stop to think about it, we realize that it is the wisdom and direction imbedded in these powerful documents which has made the United States the oldest continuously existing republic on earth, operating under its original constitution.

Celebrated, too, will be the idealistic yet pragmatic genius of the men who, on the shores of a wilderness, drafted these fundamental documents.

Nearly all Bicentennial programs, be they national, state or local, fall within three thematic areas:

HERITAGE '76: A survey of America's past achievements and history which shows how the country grew to a nation, in stature and in responsibility.

FESTIVAL USA: A topic designed to celebrate present-day America and its culture and traditions, both to Americans and to the world. This includes travel, parades and fireworks, the reenactment of battles and scenes out of America's early history, and a look at the rich art, music and crafts which are a part of the national culture.

HORIZONS '76: In which Americans look ahead and examine what will be the conditions, problems and programs of their country in the next, the third century, of the independence of the United States.

It would perhaps be correct to say that the overall goal of the Bicentennial is to gain the greatest individual participation and to forge a new national commitment -- a new SPIRIT for 1976 -- a spirit which revitalizes the ideals for which the Revolution was fought.

Thousands of communities have signed up with their chosen projects. A nationwide perspective can be gained by recounting some of the projects under their special themes.

For instance, under the theme of HERITAGE '76, there is a project entitled "ABOVE GROUND ARCHAEOLOGY" which has attracted much attention. In essence, the program seeks to recover, restore and make available important historical artifacts now gathering dust in trunks, attics and forgotten storage areas across the nation and on Long Island. The program has a special appeal to youth, particularly students who can have fun while learning something about the history of their community.

Also under the heading of "Heritage" is a project to develop the South Street Seaport, an urban, historical and cultural park in Lower Manhattan, in New York City. This is billed as a project to "make the multiple meanings of our maritime history accessible to the public". New York will end up with a restored, usable port area, plus a park.

Still another project is an AMERICAN MUSEUM, wholly devoted to Americana of all sorts.

A vast array of projects are grouped under the heading "FESTIVAL USA". "FESTIVAL USA" has as its overall objective the sharing with fellow Americans -- and the people of the world -- the traditions, the culture, the hospitality and the character of the United States and its people. Programming encompasses travel, the arts, hospitality, fairs, festivals, athletics, exhibits, education and special events.

Current projections estimating how many travellers will be coming and going in the United States during the Bicentennial are staggering. It is clear that there will be an increased number of visitors coming from abroad, and more Americans will be travelling around the land (energy crisis or not), than can be handled under present systems. Additional arrangements to cope with the "tourist influx" are underway with many Federal agencies, participating with various city officials.

Under the heading of travel come the "BIKICENTENNIAL" -- the proposal to set up a bike trail or trails, using largely secondary and non-super highway roads, from the Pacific to the Atlantic Ocean. Two couples, riding across the continent on bicycles, have traversed the west-east route and pronounced it feasible. Hostels, waystations and attractions along the route would be added, if the route is extensively patronized.

Meanwhile, under the general heading of travel, low-cost accommodations for travellers are being readied, and under-utilized facilities, such as church buildings, schools, college dormitories and other public buildings are being designated as temporary accommodations for travellers during peak Bicentennial travel periods.

In another Festival activity, what is being called the World Theatre Festival, a composite of top-ranking productions, theatrical companies and artists from more than twenty five nations, plus American performers as well will tour the United States in 1975 and 1976.

Also under the heading of "FESTIVAL USA", and experimental pilot program has been underway to stimulate communities across the country to "rediscover" their own individual cultural heritage.

In this pilot program a task force of professional artists (an architectural historian, a decorative arts historian, a graphic artist, a photographer and a coordinator) work with the local community to identify evidences of artistic expression and cultural heritage within the community. These evidences are to be dramatized by using the facilities and resources available in the community.

In this home-front project, community participation of all sorts is encouraged -- such as exhibits of artistic handwork done by community members, tours of homes made available to visitors, the development of local museums, exhibitions by local artists, exhibitions of local industry products.

These are only a few of the activities which have sprung to life from the basic concept -- a befitting celebration of "Bicentennial". Many happenings which do not fit directly under the named themes of Heritage, Festival or Horizon, are underway.

In an effort to get the Bicentennial underway in Hicksville, the task force, comprised of many interested citizens has met several times at the Historic Gregory Museum, Heitz Place, to get the projects underway. A gigantic costume ball is proposed for 1976, a large community parade will be held.

The Gregory Museum has provided their historic museum section for the project "Above Ground Archaeology". The museum seeks to recover, and to make available, important historical artifacts that may be gathering dust in trunks, attics and forgotten storage areas, even those items that are on the walls decorating the homes are needed to recount our history.

The Gregory Museum will accept all artifacts during their normal hours. The museum phone number is 822-7505.

Topic House to Be Relocated Temporarily

Topic House, Nassau County's residential drug treatment center at Mitchell Field, will be relocated in July on a temporary site in another section of the field, Nassau Drug and Alcohol Addiction Commissioner Harold E. Adams announced today.

Adams explained that the temporary relocation will involve the moving of 11 trailers and several barracks buildings from their present location off Stewart Avenue to a site south of the new Nassau Community College campus. The county-owned site is adjacent to two former Air Force buildings which will be renovated to provide a permanent home for Topic House and other department programs currently operating out of 214 Glen Cove Road, Carle Place.

"We have been looking for a suitable site for many months and have decided that the optimum location will be buildings 12 and 113 at Mitchell Field," Adams said. The county's Public Works and General Services Departments will coordinate on the relocation and extensive renovation needed on the old, three-story military buildings. The renovation, expected to start by summer, will take approximately a year to complete.

The Michael N. Petito-Topic House now stands on a 15-acre site owned by the federal government, which recently announced plans to build a new radar-control center for metropolitan-area airports on the property. Topic House, the largest such facility on Long Island, has about 65 resident patients.

Adams announced his decision after conferring with County Executive Ralph Caso, who had given his total support to the continuation of the treatment center.

Nassau County Community Basketball League Growing

The Ivanhoe-Glen Cove Recreation Adult Basketball League has successfully completed the first month of its 1974-75 season. The fast growth of the league in recent years has forced the league to operate as a two-division league with an overall total of 18 teams - ten in the "A" Division and eight in the "B" Division.

The teams represent communities and organizations throughout Nassau County including the Nassau County Police, Friends Academy Faculty, St. Pius Church, etc. Communities represented include East Meadow, East Williston, Freeport, Glen Cove, Hempstead, Hicksville, Levittown, Lindenhurst, Locust Valley, Oyster Bay, Valley Stream, etc.

All league games are played at the Friends Academy Boys Gymnasium in Locust Valley-Glen Cove. The season started December 2nd and will close on March 24th with each team playing eighteen games. Doubleheaders are scheduled on both on weekday evenings and Sunday afternoons and the public is welcome to all games.

Strict roster control is maintained and National Collegiate Athletic Association rules prevail. League referees and umpires are members of the International Association of Approved Basketball Officials.

In discussing the Community Adult League, Ivan Kovac, a top league official from Glen Cove stated - "We feel that the league represents all of Nassau County and we thank Friends Academy for the use of their fine gymnasium and for the most cooperative community spirit extended to our league by the Academy."

Traffic Down on Nassau Roads

Traffic volume on seven representative Nassau County roads decreased 6.9 percent in 1974, Public Works Commissioner H. John Plock, Jr. announced today.

Data compiled by the automatic traffic counters of the Traffic Engineering Division of the Department of Public Works showed a decline in every month compared to the same month in 1973. The largest drop - 15.5 percent - occurred in February during the worst of the gasoline problem. The smallest drop - 2 / 10 of one percent - was recorded in December.

"Prior to 1974, Nassau traffic volume on major arteries had been increasing at an annual rate of 3 percent," Plock said. "So we can consider the 1974 decline of approximately 7 percent as really representing a 10 percent drop over normal expectations. The minute drop-off in December, however, may herald a return to pre-1974 driving habits."

Monthly comparisons with 1973 are as follows:

Month	Percent decline from 1973
January	5.6
February	15.5
March	9.9
April	10.0
May	2.4
June	9.4
Month	Percent decline from 1973
July	6.2
August	4.7
September	8.7
October	5.6
November	4.7
December	2

Plock said the Department would continue to monitor and report traffic volume on the same basis in 1975.

AT SUPERVISOR'S MEETING:

County Joins Oil Suit For Potential Savings

By Janet Gosnell

At the meeting of the Nassau County Board of Supervisors on Monday, January 6th, County Executive Ralph G. Caso requested County Attorney John F. O'Shaunessy to prepare the necessary legal documents to make Nassau County an "amicus curiae", or friend of the court, in a legal action now in process in Chicago and other cities instituted by American Oil Company to block a federal oil allocation program.

The recommendation to do so was made in a statement after the regular meeting by Hempstead Town Supervisor Alfonso D'Amato that the Federal Energy Office recently ordered a new distribution of so-called "old oil" in a manner that would result in a $15,000,000 savings to the Long Island Lighting Company. The savings, he said, would be passed on to the consumer in the form of lower electricity bills. Amoco's suit is attempting to stop the program.

Because of its geographic location, the northeastern states have been blocked from receiving less expensive domestic oil, he said, and forced to purchase the more expensive mid-east oil. The difference in price, D'Amato said, is $12 to $13 a barrel for foreign oil, against $5.25 for older domestic oil.

Appointments

A brouhaha arose at the meeting when Long Beach Supervisor Hannah Komanoff demurred over appointments to the Nassau County Environmental Management Council with a statement to the effect that she didn't know about the qualifications of the individuals named. In regard to her abstention, Caso said she had the calendar information two weeks before the meeting and had ample time to review their qualifications. Mrs. Komanoff was endorsed in her position by floor speaker Richard Kessel, of Merrick, who said he was merely interested in having a democratic government in the County, "Democratic with a capital 'D'."

you mean," replied Caso.

Appointed to the council were Prof. Robert Johnson, of Uniondale; Sherwin Allen, of Baldwin; Frances Roosevelt, of Oyster Bay; and J. Kemp Hanson, of Garden City, all for terms expiring July 31, 1976.

In other appointments of individuals from this newspaper's readership area, Hon. Alfred S. Robbins, of Hempstead, was appointed to the Traffic Safety Board; and Mrs. Ann C. Reich and Ann Ocker, both of Plainview and Michael Rossa, of West Hempstead, were appointed to the Nassau County Board on Consumer Affairs.

The Supervisors also approved the acceptance of a 1968 Ford Falcon Ranch Wagon from Charles A. Lindbergh for use at the Guggenheim division of the Department of Recreation and Parks in Sands Point.

Speaking after the meeting was Dr. Ralph Sorley, of Rockville Centre, and Carl Schmitt, Hempstead businessman, also a resident of Rockville Centre.

Seniors Urged to Respond to SSI Redetermination

Commissioner Adelaide Altard of the Nassau County Department of Senior Citizen Affairs has issued the following alert to Nassau County elderly who are now receiving monthly Supplemental Security Income checks: "We urge that a prompt response be made to letters concerning redetermination which are now going out from Social Security District Offices, to avoid having SSI payments cease," warns the Commissioner.

Under federal mandate, recipients of benefits under the Supplemental Security Income program must be re-certified for eligibility on an annual basis. The redetermination procedure starts with a letter to the recipient, asking that a visit be made to the local Social Security office within ten days. At that time, the following records must be presented: Record of income from employment; award letters for pensions, veterans' benefits, workmen's compensation, unemployment insurance or disability; bank and check books; life insurance policies; stocks and bonds; real estate tax statements and auto registration. If the beneficiary is unable to come to the office in person, other arrangements can be made - but only if the Social Security office is contacted within ten days from receipt of the letter.

If no response is made to the initial letter, according to Commissioner, a second letter goes to the recipient advising that unless some contact is made with the Social Security office within thirty days of the second notice, SSI benefits will be discontinued. The Department of Senior Citizen Affairs is mounting a massive public information campaign to alert the senior citizen community to the importance of responding to these letters of redetermination through its four offices, its Seniormobile, its Nutrition sites and the 160 senior citizen clubs and centers in Nassau County.

"In too many cases," says Commissioner Altard, "the loss of SSI benefits can spell disaster for those elderly who are struggling to survive in today's economy. We urge those who receive these letters of redetermination to respond at once."

For further information on the SSI redetermination procedure, contact the nearest Social Security office or the Nassau County Department of Senior Citizen Affairs, One Old Country Road, Carle Place, 11514 - telephone 535-4414.

Major County History Published

A major history of Nassau County, which traces the area's tremendous growth and history since its formation in 1899, has been published by the non-profit Friends of the Nassau County Museum organization.

Authored by Nassau County Museum Director Edward J. Smits, the 320-page history, titled "Nassau - Suburbia, U.S.A.," was recently printed and is currently being distributed by Doubleday & Co., Inc., Garden City. The important work, published during Nassau County's 75th anniversary celebration, features over 200 carefully-selected historic and contemporary photographs and prints of Nassau County places, people and events which graphically record the progress and problems of a contemporary suburban area.

"Nassau - Suburbia, U.S.A." explores the suburban movement of the twentieth century and the changes in Nassau County which were caused by a population growth from 55,000 to almost 1,500,000 since its creation in 1899. The book's eight chapters, titled "Rural Queens County," "Changes in Government," "Aviation on the Hempstead Plains," "The Roaring Twenties," "The Sunrise Homeland," "Suburbia Triumphant," "A Maturing Suburb" and "Governmental Reaction" tell the fascinating story of Nassau's development during three-quarters of a century.

The events that helped shape the county's future - including run running during prohibition, KKK intolerance and the complexity of governing and providing schools for an exploding population, are all covered in this fascinating drama. And the individuals who played a part in making it all happen, whether they be Theodore Roosevelt, the Duke of Wales or Robert Moses, are there too.

During a current era when a be on the decline, "Nassau - Suburbia, U.S.A." is an outstanding contribution to all Nassau County and metropolitan New York residents who continue to feel and maintain "roots" in their chosen community. The book is also a valuable reference work for writers, researchers and students, and was published by the Friends organization as part of its publications program. Other hardcover Nassau County historical reference works are planned.

"Nassau - Suburbia, U.S.A." is available in a regular edition format for $12.95 or a special numbered, slip-case edition priced at $15.85. Copies can be obtained at regular book stores and all Friends Gift Shops located at Nassau County Museum facilities including the Old Bethpage village restoration in Old Bethpage and the Historical Museum at Eisenhower Park in East Meadow. All profits and royalties will be used by the Friends to assist museum programs.

Dear Friends ...

FOR YOUR INFORMATION: County Clerk Harold McConnell tells us that the Hicksville Office of the Motor Vehicle Bureau, located in the Mid Island Shopping Plaza, is closed for alterations, as of Mon., Jan. 6. The alterations will be an enlargement of the facility so that better and quicker service may be given to the public when it is reopened. Business will be carried on as usual at the main office at 1500 Privado Road in Westbury, next to Orbachs.

THE HICKSVILLE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE series on Downtown Hicksville, will continue next week with a two-part series on Downtown Parking, followed by a concluding summary. And this, will be followed by a round-table discussion on this all-important subject. This will be held on Thursday, Feb. 6, starting at 8:30 p.m. in the Hicksville Library. The panel will be made up of land owners, residents, chamber members, some members of the Chamber and of the Town Board, plus a representative of the Town of Oyster Bay Planning Commission. Why not mark this down on your calendar, right now? We'll have more on this before the meeting.

AND SPEAKING OF THE COMMUNITY COUNCIL, the Jan 2nd meeting was one of the most inspiring I have ever attended.... but then, it should have been, for nine clergymen and three rabbis took part in a Community Report as to their outreach into Hicksville and the rest of the world community. There was so much reported on that we have decided to make a short series on this meeting, which will begin in next week's issue.

IN NEXT WEEK'S ISSUE we will also have a detailed report for you on the progress of the Eileen Morace Memorial Fund, which is progressing well. We thank you all for your continuing help extended to your neighbor's family, in their time of need. Suffice to say that a housekeeper (or should we say "homemaker") is presently working at the Morace home, and the baby is now back with his family. Much more, next week, friends.

Sheila

Scientists and researchers are doing their job - the rest is up to you. Cancer can be conquered. Help is needed now. Won't you volunteer to give one hour a month? Phone Mrs. Pat Miller, 681-6115 or write her at 158 Myers Avenue, Hicksville, 11801.

Vets Reminded Of Tax Exemptions

Veterans who own their homes were reminded yesterday by the Veterans Administration that most of them are entitled to local real estate tax exemptions of up to $5,000 PROVIDED THEY FILE A FINANCIAL AFFIDAVIT with their tax collector.

Paul M. Nugent, Director of the VA's New York Regional Office, said veteran home-owners qualify for the exemptions if they have received compensation or pensions from the VA. Also, educational assistance allowances or insurance dividends, or mustering out pay from a branch of the Armed Forces.

Nugent said that veterans eligible for exemptions should make application to the VA for proof of payments at least 60 days before local real estate tax filing deadlines.

The deadline in New York City is March 15. In Nassau County it is May 1, and in Suffolk June 1. Local Tax collectors, Nugent said, should be contacted for other filing deadlines.

Information about VA insurance dividends may be obtained directly from the VA Center, 5000 Wissahickon Avenue, Philadelphia, Penn. 19101. General or specific information about other benefits may be obtained at the VA Regional Office, 252 Seventh Avenue, by veterans in the Eastern half of New York State.

In the Western half, the contact is the VA Regional Office, 111 West Huron Street, Buffalo 14202. In New Jersey, 20 Washington Place, Newark, 07102. Veterans making application for information must state their VA claim number and the type of Benefit they received. Credit for state bonuses must be obtained from a state agency.

DISPLAY: Students enjoy a display of Rocks and Minerals loaned by The Gregory Museum as part of the Mineral Identification Project in the Willet Avenue School Media-Center, Hicksville. The project also included many "touch" specimens of minerals and fossils contributed by teachers and students. It generated considerable interest in the wonders of nature, and provided practical help for a number of young "rock hounds". It stimulated many youngsters to read books about rocks and minerals. The Resource Person was Rosemary Barrow. Left to right are Christopher Eby, Tommy Mikan, Eileen McQuaid and Patricia Kokoris.

History Of Weddings And Wedding Rings

The bridal customs so dear to a young girl's heart have their origins far back in time.

For example, the primitive bride sat before her cave displaying the circle of rushes about her wrist or ankle as proudly as today's young women show off their platinum wedding band, or diamond engagement ring. Each season the wife got herself a new circlet. In time her mate, deciding the union was going to last, replaced it with a band of iron to signify the permanence of the relationship. So much for Neanderthal newlyweds!

In times when marriage by purchase was customary, a prospective bridegroom began with a pledge and part payment to prove his worthiness and good intentions. Gifts of cattle, food or jewels to the bride-to-be and her father were called "earnest money." Later, the gift to the bride was a personal ornament or ring presented at the betrothal, and from this came the practice of using engagement rings.

The betrothal ring used by the Egyptians, Greeks and Romans was adopted by early Christians in the second century and later became the wedding ring. The engagement ring set with a precious gem came into use in the Middle Ages; the diamond attained popularity in the 15th century and became customary around 1800.

Today many brides are selecting platinum as the setting for their wedding bands and their diamond engagement rings because it is superior in wear resistance and in retaining its original appearance. It not only protects and enhances a precious stone, its own value as an extremely rare, precious metal becomes an integral part of the investment.

Although white gold is popular, platinum is appreciated because of its harder, more durable qualities: it resists nicks and scratches, it's tarnish-proof and never needs polishing.

The trend to precious white metals is relatively recent, but white has been the favorite color for bridal garb of the Western world for a long time. Not so in the Far East. For example, the Chinese bride used to be married in a red silk gown symbolic of happiness and permanence. Instead of a bouquet she carried a purse shaped like a lotus as protection against her mother-in-law's slander!

Some European brides still court luck by weeping all the way to church. We may walk down the aisle to be wed, but gypsies married simply by jumping over a broom.

Why are brides carried over the threshold? The custom goes back to the Roman bride, who was reluctant to leave her father's house and had to be lifted over the threshold of her new home. It was also believed that evil spirits hovered at the threshold of the house, so the bride was carried over to insure her protection against them.

And while newlyweds are sure that their honeymoon will never end, they might not know how the honeymoon tradition started. It was like this: The early Teutonic couples drank a honey drink, known as mead or methglin, for 30 days after their wedding, or until the moon had waned. Hence, the honeymoon.

It takes a man and a woman and a platinum ring—with all the trimmings—to make a wedding, but only two loving hearts are needed to make a marriage.

PLAN YOUR PROPERTY PROTECTION

Prepared by The Society of Chartered Property & Casualty Underwriters, the national professional society whose members have earned the CPCU designation by meeting high educational, ethical and experience requirements.

Q. My Dad's always paid for my car insurance and I guess I've always taken things like that for granted. Now that I'm paying for my own, my interest in auto insurance knows no bounds. Just what I'm paying for and how am I protected?

A. A good question. Actually, there are five types of coverage to protect you from financial loss.

Liability Insurance: Protects you against loss caused by damage to others or their property. If you have caused an accident and are judged to be at fault, your liability insurance covers this.

Collision Insurance: Protects you against loss when your car hits another car or object. It covers only the car, and losses are subject to the deductible amount which is stated in your policy.

Comprehensive Insurance: Protects you against loss caused by damage to your car from most sources other than collision, depreciation and normal wear and tear. It covers fire, theft, hail, storm, vandalism and glass breakage.

Medical Payments: Medical coverage will take care of medical expenses for all persons injured in your automobile without regard to fault, up to the limits specified in the policy.

Uninsured Motorist: Protects you and your passengers in the event of bodily injury caused by an uninsured, financially irresponsible or hit-and-run driver. It does not pay for damage to your car. Your collision coverage takes care of that.

BOUNDARY TROUBLE

Before buying a home, remember that the real estate you are shown may not be exactly the property you ultimately own. An example in point recently occurred in an eastern state:

In this case, the transaction was completed before the buyer learned that an error in a previous deed caused his property, as described, to overlap several feet onto his neighbor's property.

As a result of this mistake in description, it was necessary for an attorney to prepare a new deed to correct the error. Fortunately, the buyer had obtained owner's title insurance at the time of his real

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Selfish Barber

When Harry bought out Joe's barber shop, he insisted that Joe make him a special promise: to stay out of the barbering trade for the next four years.

At first, Joe managed to keep busy with other work. But finally, lonesome for the old way of life, he opened a barber shop in another part of town.

Harry lost no time in suing him for violating their agreement. But at the hearing, Joe was able to prove that none of his old customers were coming to the new shop—and that they were not likely to come in the future either.

Finding that Harry was being unreasonably selfish, the court ruled that Joe could continue to snip and clip in his new location.

Agreements not-to-compete are common when one person sells his business to another. Generally speaking, they are considered a lawful means of protecting the buyer from having his customers lured away by the seller.

But, as Harry discovered, courts are reluctant to enforce an agreement that reaches beyond the buyer's legitimate needs.

Obviously, it is a matter of degree. In another case a baker promised, in selling out, not to open another bakery within a five-block radius during the next three years.

But this time, when the baker tried to go back into business close by, a court held him to his promise. The court said this moderate amount of protection was no more than the new owner of the bakery really needed to safeguard his investment.

Roughly the same rules apply to the sale of a professional practice. A small-town doctor sold his practice to a younger man, promising not to open another office in the same community. When he later tried to do just that, the local court blocked him with an injunction.

As another court noted, a doctor could justify a good price in selling his practice only by "guaranteeing the genuineness of his retirement."

estate purchase and the insuring title company paid the legal fees.

The enduring nature of land makes it possible for a home buyer to be challenged by claims arising from the past after purchasing real estate. For protection against errors in description, other mistakes, and additional types of land title hazards, the home buyer needs a title search and owner's title insurance. A title search makes it possible for problems of record to be disclosed before a transaction is completed. Owner's title insurance, based on a search, covers protection against hazards including those a search will not reveal—such as a mistake in public records or a forged deed that transfers no title to real estate.

NORWAY SARDINES FOR THE HOME TEAM

Norway sardines have been man's best friend since the days of the robust Vikings. Then, they smoked their sardines to preserve them. Modern Vikings still smoke them over slow burning oak embers—but now it's done for that special smoky flavor that no other sardine has.

Sardines are one of the best low-cost sources of protein, according to the U.S.D.A. A 3 3/4-ounce can of Norway sardines contains as much protein as the same weight of ground beef, with less fat and fewer calories. That same amount of Norway sardines also provides more calcium than a cup of milk.

Isn't it wonderful that such a nutritious food is not only convenient and low-cost but delicious as well? Smoky sardines are great in combination with other good-for-you foods such as eggs, cheese and vegetables.

Here are two ideas for mini-meal sandwiches with savory sardines—healthful foods to nourish the home team. Great for armchair sportsmen, too!

Mini-Hero Sandwiches

- 6 tablespoons soft butter
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- 1 can (3 3/4 ounces) Norway Sardines, drained and broken into bite-size pieces

- Salt and pepper
- 4 French rolls
- 4 slices onion
- 4 strips cooked bacon, cut in half
- 4 lemon wedges

Combine first three ingredients. Season to taste. Spread on French rolls. Garnish each sandwich with onion rings, bacon and lemon wedge. Makes 4 servings.

Nordic Koldtbordiches

- 1 cup grated Cheddar cheese
- 1 can (3 3/4 ounces) Norway Sardines, drained and broken into bite-size pieces
- 1/3 cup grated onion
- 1 cup cooked, cubed potatoes

- Salt and pepper
  - 8 slices dark rye bread
- Toss together all ingredients except bread. Butter bread, if desired, then sandwich filling between rye slices. Makes 4 servings.

A variety of exciting, Nordically-inspired sandwich recipes have just been published by the Norwegian Canning Industry. The beautifully-illustrated booklet contains some 30 savory recipes to help you in planning parties, picnics, every-day family meals and even breakfast. ## DEVOTIONS

EVERYDAY AND ITS POSSIBILITIES

In the Peanuts Comic Strip we find Sally waking up in the morning. She jumps out of bed, walks into Charlie Brown's room, wakes him up and says, "Duck, Big Brother. Here comes another day."

Everyone of us have experienced similar feelings at one time or another. If we visualize the new day as something to be ducked, we will not be anxious to get out of bed. On the other hand, if the world and life is seen as a great opportunity, then we cannot wait to get back into it each morning. Although all of us have our ups and downs, it is God's will for our lives that each dawn brings a new beginning, a new joy as we are blessed with yet another opportunity to sample His magnificent creation. Yet so many people drag through life, missing much of what it has to offer. They come across an opportunity for their lives, and they think of why it won't work for them. These people are worry creators and optimism deflators.

The devil has a merry time in hell rejoicing that these negative, self-distrusting thinkers are literally stewing in their own juices. Satan wants them to forget that God Created them in His own image. He wants Jesus' promise of an abundant, worthwhile life to seem little more than a pious, pulpit platitude. But the Bible says, "With God all things are possible." Satan detests the fact that God is suggesting to you that you can become a somebody in a world of too many nobodies, a success in a crowd of failures. He does not want you to live up to your God-given potential, instead he wants you to be down on yourself, to hate to get out of bed in the morning.

Tomorrow morning when the alarm rings be the person God says you can be. Proclaim with the psalmist, "This is the day the Lord has made, let us be glad and rejoice in it." Next upon your lips should be the verse, "I can do all things through Christ, who strengthens me." Then jump out of bed and meet the day head-on, walking with the Lord and finding pleasure, possibility, and fulfillment in each step.

Birthright Celebrates Ecumenical Service

BY LARRY LAMARCA

On December 29, 1974, an Ecumenical Service was celebrated at Holy Trinity Episcopal Church here in Hicksville by clergymen from three faiths.

The Service was offered for Long Island Birthright, an all-volunteer, non-sectarian organization that offers a unique form of help for girls and women. Birthright will assist anyone who is distressed by the problems of an untimely pregnancy, regardless of age, race, religion, or marital status by providing what it calls "positive alternatives to abortion."

Since it was first established in 1972, Long Island Birthright has been contacted by well over 1000 women and girls in search of help. The Service on December 29 was held, in part, to give thanks for the help Birthright has been able to provide to those women; the Service was also intended as a display of sorrow over the women and unborn children the organization did not have the chance to help and who thus may have been "lost" to the abortion industry.

The clergymen who jointly celebrated the Service included: Father Dominick Ciannello of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church; Father Paul Driscoll, Human Life Coordinator of the Rockville Centre Diocese; and Pastor Lester Messerschmidt of St. Luke's Lutheran Church. Joining them in the Service was a Lay Speaker for Long Island Birthright, Mr. Bruce Duncan, Vice President of the organization and a regular worshipper at Holy Trinity Episcopal Church.

Explaining why an Ecumenical Service would be of importance to Birthright, Mr. Duncan said, "For too long, major spokesmen of the abortion industry have attempted to convince the public

Diamond Holds Meeting With Commuters and LIRR Heads

The problem of getting from the major Hicksville Railroad Station to the Hunterspoint Station before 8:30 AM without having to change at Jamaica will be re-examined as a result of an evening meeting Oyster Bay Town Councilman Kenneth S. Diamond arranged between the commuters and the railroad.

Diamond, who heads the Town Board Committee on Public Transportation, contacted the railroad to request they be on hand at a meeting to discuss the Hicksville-to-Hunterspoint question with commuters who are demanding the resumption of service which was dropped when the new schedules were put into effect.

"I had heard the commuters' arguments favoring the direct run and felt that the railroad should at least have an opportunity to explain why it has been so reluctant to include one in the new schedules," Diamond explained. "So I asked the railroad to meet with me and two of the commuters who have been actively seeking a change in the railroad schedule, Margaret Snyder (of Plainview) and Jules Bernstein (president of the Center Island Commuters Association)."

At the meeting held in Town Hall, Diamond reported that the railroad claimed that its survey showed no need for the schedule being requested by Mrs. Snyder and Mr. Bernstein. "However, I pointed out that despite the railroad survey, Mrs. Snyder had demonstrated to me that there was sufficient commuter demand for such a schedule change,

HICKSVILLE TO HUNTERSPOINT? Oyster Bay Town Councilman Kenneth S. Diamond, seated center, looks over some of the Long Island Railroad time schedules as he attempts to put commuter needs and railroad policy on the same track. Diamond, Chairman of the Town Board Committee on Public Transportation, held the meetin with (from left) Joseph Metzler, railroad timetable manager, Margaret Snyder of Plainview, commuter, Lawrence Dixon, Assistant Superintendent of Transportation for the railroad, Jules Bernstein, Center Island Commuters Association President and Eaton K. Goldthwaite, Assistant to the railroad president.

especially since the direct service was previously provided by the railroad, and I further suggested that the survey on which the railroad was depending might be slightly off in its conclusions."

Diamond noted that at the meeting both sides seemed willing to cooperate with each other. "The railroad said that it would conduct another survey of commuters at the Hicksville Station that would concern itself solely with the need for a direct run to Hunterspoint arriving before 8:30 AM. The commuters felt certain that a new, properly conducted survey will support their claim."

Diamond said that the railroad will send him a report on its findings and possible solutions early next month.

1,327 ALARMS (Continued from Page 1)

Since the last report of December 17, there were 23 fires to date, 28 rescue calls and 13 malicious false alarms. No injuries were reported. Hicksville was blessed with a safe and happy Christmas.

On behalf of the chiefs, officers and men of the Hicksville Fire Department, I wish our residents and neighbors a happy, healthy, fire-safe New Year. We hope that in the coming year you will help us help you - by preventing fires, educate your children on the dangers of sending in a false alarm, keeping clear of fire hydrants with parked vehicles, and yielding the right-of-way to responding Vamps who display a blue light and responding fire apparatus.

PHOTOGRAPHY-WITH-SOUND

Girls and boys will make their own slide programs, with voice and sound effects.

Best wishes to "Mr. Fireman" Ex-Chief Henry Gebhardt who is back home after a brief trip to the hospital. Hope you are feeling much better. Gep. H.F.D. is not.

Six sessions with Mrs. Hoffman, Children's Librarian, will begin on Saturday, January 18, from 10:30 AM - 11:30 AM for children in grades 4, 5, 6 and 7 at the Plainview-Old Bethpage Public Library.
