An Open Letter To The People Of Hicksville

I would like to thank all of the people who attended the Hicksville Council of PTA's Founders Day Dinner on Thursday, February 27 in my honor. It was a most gratifying and warm experience for mespecially since I will always enjoy working for the PTA. In my speech, I made reference to the fact that our School Superintendent, Dr. Jerome Niosi has done much for this district. I was not politicking -I meant it. He has given to this district a stature and cohesiveness it has not enjoyed for a good many years. In these days of economic problems, it seems like a waste to hire someone else at a very substantial salary to start to re-learn everything that the superintendent already knows after three years on the job.

It seems to me that Performance counts above personality con-flicts. There is always room for individual differences - this is what keeps us a democracy.

The seven members of the Board of Education represent your school taxdollar. It is up to you as voting taxpayers to let them know how you feel about this issue. Write to the Board of Education at the Administration Building on Division Avenue.

Sincerely.

At The School Board Meeting

It was a fairly quiet meeting for the Hicksville School Board last week with routine business completed in an orderly manner.

The only "excitement" came during the public session, when two residents spoke in favor of renewing Superintendent Jerome Niosi's contract.

Thomas Clark, former school board president and one of the trustees responsible for bringing Dr. Niosi to Hicksville, said he supported the superintendent because he had not been a "push-over" and he always considered him "educationally-minded." He cautioned the board to think how the next school board will react to their choice of a new superintendent.

Charles Fetta, former president of LI.F.E. (League for the Intelligent Financing of Education) asked board members to give their reasons for not bers to give their reasons for not renewing Dr. Niosi's contract. Board president, Robert Pirrung, said he had given his reasons before and the other trustees would have to speak for them-selves. Daniel Arena objected to Mr. Fetta's questions, saying he did not think personnel matters should be discussed publicly. He refused to give his reasons for not renewing the superintendent's contract and Mr. Fetta asked him why he did not think the public way ne did not think the public was entitled to know what prompted the board's action. Mr. Pirrung said the public had the right to ask questions, but to give many reasons for not renewing the contract might he contract might the contract might be detrimental to the superintendent and would not help the district. The only other major action of the meeting was the board's decision-following a lengthy executive session-to waive the requirement of returning to the festivate for one wear following a district for one year following a sabbatical and allow A. Glass (principal) of the Junior High, presently on sabbatical) to retire at the end of June. This waiver is allowable under the terms of the administrators' contract. Mr. Pirrung, who made the motion, stated this in no way implied the board is setting a precedent for other principals in the district who are near retirement. Mr. Bruno and Mr. Nagle voted against granting the waiver, Mr. Arena abstained and Mrs. Wolfson, Mr. Lari, Mr. Mc-Wolfson, Mr. Lari, Mr. Mc-Cormack and Mr. Pirrung voted in favor of it.

The resolution further stipulated that Mr. Glass must submit a letter of resignation by April 1, to be effective no later than July 1. Although all of the district's principals are entitled to subbaticals (they have all been in the district about 20 years). Mr. Glass is the only one under current employment who has taken one. The one exception is a one-half year's leave for health reasons granted to one of the principals last year. The position of Junior High principal will now be advertised and the vacancy filled Wilham Feigin is currently acting principal.

Mr. McCormack and Mrs. Wolfson have been appointed by the board to visit the district elementary schools and report back to the board on the utilization of floor space in these buildings. They hope to complete their inspection within the next month, in order to make some needed determinations with regard to special services, the number of rooms to be used next year and reputs to the temporaries.

The next school board meeting is Wednesday, March 12 at a P.M. in the Administration Building.

Trotta Acquitted

In at atmosphere charged with emotion Gerard P. Trotta, former TOB Public Works Commissioner, heard the jury acquit him of charges of allegedly tampering with the award of town parking-meter contract, allegedly attempting to have the Town lower the price of newsprint sold by the town's recycling program and allegedly granting. Illegal dumping privileges to two companies.

Mr. Trotta, who is presently serving as Assistant Sueperintendent of Parks, was obviously relieved at the end of his ordeal which lasted for two years and has cost him his former job and his position as Hicksville Republican leader.

Judge Henderson Morrison stated that if the jury had decided the end of his ordeal dechemical have set aside. In at atmosphere charged with Judge nemerson wortson stated that if the jury had decided otherwise he would have set aside its verdict as against the weight of evidence. He issued the following statement:

"Now that the jury have retired for their deliberations. I wish to for their deliberations. I wish to make a statement for the record in the presence of the defendant, his attorney; the District As-torney and the court reporter, before the jury returns with a verdict. The procedure I am adopting in this case is perhaps unusual, but in the light of all that has transpired I am of the opinion that it is more than justified. At the end of the People's case and at the end of the entire case yesterday morning, Mr. Lyon, the attorney for the defendant, moved for a trial order of dismissal and those motions were denied. I listened attentively to his arguments and was then and am now of the opinion that all three counts of the indictment should be dismissed as a matter

However, it is imperative that the unsubstantiated rumors and voiced suspicions of impropriety that have been made publicly and privately concerning the facts surrounding this case be put to rest. It is equally proper and fair in this case that this defendant have the benefit or the vin-dication, if you will, of a verdict of acquittal from a jury of his peers, and that he and others not peers, and that he and others not be deprived of that verdict simply by a judicial deter-mination that the evidence is legally insufficient as a matter of law. This formed the basis of my determination in this case to deny the motions where under or-dinary circumstances they unquestionably would have been granted.

I propose to permit the jury to continue their deliberations until they have reached a verdict. However, in order to relieve the defendant of any further anxiety. or apprenension as to the out-come of this case and to advise all of the parties of my intention, I will state now that if this jury should by some stretch of the imagination return with a verdict of guilty on any count, I propose, to set such verdict aside as grossly against the weight of evidence. # 330.30 Subd. I C.P.L.)

The second count of this indictment is not unlike bringing in a howitzer to kill a fly. The charge is even less serious than making a personal call on company time But here there was no impropriety whatsoever. The act of having the letter typed, even if it was done by the defendant, was of mutual benefit to the Town and the contractor. It was clearly done to expedite delivery of that letter to the Town Board in time for the meeting that day. To expose a public servant to the possibility of criminal sanction every time fie extends a courtesy or helping hand to the public or to someone doing business with the municipality would constitute a fudicrous distortion of the laudatory purpose of this statute and severely impede the efficient operation of most public offices and officials.

How was the Town damaged by the acts ascribed to the defendant in the third count of the indictment? On the contractor, and the Town needed clean fill. The site had been long abandoned as a land till site, and it was contemplated using the property for an additional parking field, storage space, and possibly a golf course Instead of commendation for a prudent exercise in discretion, the defendant has been rewarded with a count of a criminal indictment. In the light of the facts as testified to by the People's

by Senator Jacob K. Javits

Are public service jobs an effective element in reducing high unemployment or are they just "busy work?"

This question appears to stem from views of the Depression-era Work Projects Administration (WPA) which sion-era Work Projects Administration (WPA) which placed an average of three million workers on the public payroll each year from 1933 to 1939.

Much has changed in the administration of public service employment since the WPA began: WPA spent 78 per cent of its funds on public works—such as road and buildings; and 21.6 per cent on education, and other community services. There was often little inb training with munity services. There was often little job training with WPA so that workers could move off the subsidized payroll on to a regular payroll.

Let's compare that with a modern public service employment program authorized under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973 (CETA). The act contains two authorities for public service employment: Title VI, which authorizes $2.5 billion in fiscal year 1975 for approximately 330,000 public service jobs (at $7,800 per annum per job) and Title II, which provides assistance for the creation of public service jobs only in areas having unemployment rates of 6.5 per cent for three consecutive months. Under these authorities, approximately 250,000 public service jobs have been filled.

public service jobs have been filled.

Surveys conducted under the Public Employment Program (PEP) show that jobs were provided in meaningful fields. Public works and transportation, for example, account for 23 per cent of the jobs while other categories include aducation. 20 per cent; law enforcement, 12 per cent; health and hospital services, nine per cent; parks and recreation, eight per cent; social services, six per cent; environmental protection, four per cent; fire protection, two per cent, and general employment, 17 percent.

There are several distinct advantages to a public service There are several distinct advantages to a public service employment program:

employment program:

A program of public service jobs may be started faster than one for public works and therefore the program acts to counter heavy unemployment sooner.

For each public service job, one added job in the private economy is created.

The net cost of public service employment is much less than its gross cost. A $4 billion program would be offset by $300 to $350 million in savings of unemployment in and tax revenues of between $163 and offset by $300 to $350 million in savings of unemployment compensation, and tax revenues of between $163 and $322 million. Even more savings can be realized in reduction of the food stamp, Medicaid, and other programs. In times of extremely high unemployment, public service jobs are extremely helpful to both unemployed individuals and society in alleviating hardships dealing with recession.

'Christ On Canvas' Art Lecture

A pre-Easter lecture on "Christ on Canvas" will be given at the Nassau Community College Firehouse Gallery on Thursday, March 20, at noon by Prof. Leonard Goldblatt, curator of the

Though he has scheduled his lecture as an Easter season event, Prof. Goldblatt will focus his attention not on the religious aspects of the works, he says, but on the aesthetic and sociological factors that depict a great universal experience

Through color slides he will discuss works going back to the 13th Century, but the highlight of his talk will be an examination the "Christs on Canvas" of El Greco. Michelangelo, Rem-brandt, Breugel, Dali, Roualt, Matisse, Chagall and others. "The representation of Christ as a moul and motivation for artists throughout the centuries arusis throughout the centures makes a fascinating study. Prof. Goldblatt says. "In addition, each country's customs as they are incorporated into the artist's attitude made the final work 'truly representative of a restricted culture."

Particular culture.

"Yet in each case of great approaches to Christ on Canyas" there is a deep sense of univer-sality — both to the beholder's sense of religion and esthetic experience. experience."

There are many paintings which carry this feeling of a great experience, said Prof. Goldblatt. but to me the standouts are El Greco's 'Ascension' and 'Crucifixion.' Breugel's gripping Christ on the Road to Calvary; Rembrandt's 'Descent from the Cross,' Dali's 'Crucifixion' and most notable Rounit's "Christ Macked by the Soldiers."

"These," he went on, "portray to me a great experience that a viewer will rarely lorget."

Much of the sculpture, paintings and drawings that is sold or publicly displayed lacks conviction in expressing the significance of Christ's life, Prof. Goldblatt said, adding that his lecture will attempt to show how the artist coordinates the understanding of his medium and his subject to offer a portrait in controlled sensitivity—not in blatam semimentality.

The lecture will at the same time be an outline of approaches to sculpture and painting from the 13th Century to the present. There will be a chalk demonstration and an opportunity for discussion.

A fund raising drive that won't ask for money has been announced by St. Ignatius Loyola School (Hicksville). According to Sister Roseann McHale, Principal, the fund raising will be a painless process because a major painless process because a major share will come from Bonus Gifts points which can be collected without additional cost whenever members of the group go grocery

The points, which appear on more than a hundred everyday food and household products, can med for cash and have already proven their ability in other parts of the country to help schools, churches, charities and other groups get such things as buses and fire engines.

Security Social

QUES: I have a foster child in my home, and receive payments from the agency which placed mm here. Will these payments reduce my supplemental security income checks?

ANS: Foster care payments you get will not affect your supplemental security income payments if the child is not en-titled to supplemental security income checks himself, is living with you, and was placed in your home by a licensed public or non-profit private child placement or child care agency.

QUES: I just got my social security card, It's attached to a bigger, perforated card. Do I have to keep both cards?

ANS: A social security card is issued with two parts. The smaller social security card should be detached and carried in your purse or wallet so you can show it to your employer. The larger part should be kept in a larger part should be kept in a safe piace as a permanent record of your social security number. Then, it you ever lose your card, you'll have the part with your number on it and will be able to get a duplicate card faster.

Hicksville Soccer Club News passed to A. Coiro, who scored. This is an excellent example of what teamwork is all about. The Bantam Reds defeated the East Meadow Kickers 1-0 This should have been a much larger win as the game was played almost entirely in front of the E. Meadow goal. The winning score came as the result of a well executed corner kick by A. Pepi followed by a perfect head ball into the net by J. McCann. The teams defense was illustrated by the score.

Eleven traveling teams for the Hicksville American Soccer Club responded to the opening whistle of the L.I. Jumor Soccer League this past weekend. The Club broke more than even with seven wins and 4 losses

witnesses with respect to the second and third counts of the indictment, the sinister motives ascribed to this conduct become absurd:

As to the first count of the indetment, certainly a recommendation for a distributorship is not an official act. There were no irregularities in the plans, specifications or bidding even remotely demonstrated. It was the same meter, the only difference being the security vault. The allegation of the indictment that the meters tid not conform to the standardization resolution is simply not so. No one else to the standardization resolution is simply not so. No one else having bid on the contract, and in the light of, the exclusive dealership by M.H. Rhodes, it is not unreasonable that this occurred. The representation that N.R.D. Corp. was the only responsive and responsible bidder was not, as charged in the redictional. indictment, an erroneous representation.

The early start of the job was expressly authorized by the contract under substantial risk to the contractor, and this was clearly set forth. In the light of the possible consequences to the Town and the apparent lack of urgency at the time theoral order was transmitted, it is not at all unreasonable that the defendant and Mr. Antitomaso insisted on having the order in writing. There was also a conflict of opinion as to whether the insurance had in fact been furnished, and there is a strong possibility from what we know that the insurance policies had been misplaced by a Deputy Town Autorney. The letters of the Town Autorney are silent as to the question of insurance and fail to set forth any clear explanation of and Mr. Antitomaso insisted on question of insurance and fail to set forth any clear explanation of the reason forthe stop order. This would appear to give further justification for the defendant and Mr. Antitomaso to defer notifying the contractor until the reason for the stop order was notifying the contractor until the reason for the stop order was clarified and the instructions to them put, in writing, Again, to ascribe criminality to these actions is totally unwarranted. This criminal indictment bespeaks not only of a misuse and misapplication of the statute involved, but virtually a deliberate effort to promulgate unsubstantiated suspicions into allegations of criminal conduct at all costs. Regardless of its con-sequences to the reputation and good name of the one accused, as well as those innocent people who became involved or who were affected in the various tran-sactions. All at substantial cost

SUPREME COURT: NASSAU COUNTY, THE GREEN POINT SAVINGS BANK, Pilt, vs. WALTER KALBERER, et al., Didts., MARIASH, LEVY & SUPER, Pilt's Atlys., 16 Court Street, Brooklyn, New York. At this point, I want to state that I do not criticize in any way the conduct of the Assistant District Attorney, Mr. Irace, who tried this case. It is clear to me that this indictment is the product of unsubstantiated suspicions, an inadequate or non-objective investigation, and either a distortion or lack of comprehension of the statute involved. The indictment should not have been returned
