Girl Scouts Summer Plans

This summer, several Girl Scouts from the Hicksville area will be off to all parts of the Country on National Girl Scout Opportunities.

Lorraine Lipfert will spend two weeks in Wyoming at "Saddle Straddle", an event all about the out-of-doors, horses, and the American West.

It's off to Wilkes-Barre, Pa. for Elizabeth Hughes to experience "1776 all Over Again". This opportunity offers a close look at the life and times of the birth of our Nation.

Girl Scout National Center West is the setting for "Tote-N-Trek", and that's where Marjorie Gustafson will be. Backpacking, leadership, high adventure: that's what it's all about.

These girls have been chosen from among hundreds of other scouts from all over the Country. They pay for these events themselves with some help from their families, their troop and Council, and also from YOU by your support of Girl Scouting.

National French Contest Winners

The winners in the National French Contest have been announced. Catherine Savino and Rosanna Greci, students at East Street School, placed first and second respectively. Cheryl Weiss, a student at Burns Avenue School, came in third place, and Donna Delio and Donna Medoia, both students at Willet Avenue School, placed fourth and fifth respectively in the contest. Congratulations to all!

Arrangements for Mr. Graham's talk was arranged through Mr. Jack Tarantofsky, of World's Fair Liquor Store of Hicksville. Bicentennial Fair

Over thirty-five booths and exhibits will be a major attraction at the Hicksville Old-Time Country Fair at the High School grounds, on July 4th. The Fair, which is being chaired and sponsored by the Hicksville Council of Parent-Teacher Associations in cooperation with the Hicksville Bicentennial Committee, will feature exhibits and sales of hand-crafted articles, floral pieces, paintings and food delicacies. Proceeds from sales will go to the treasuries of the numerous community groups sponsoring booths.

On display will be many Bicentennial objects and projects made by Hicksville school children. School P.T.A. representatives and teachers will be helping to prepare the school exhibits at the High School grounds.

Also on exhibit, it is hoped, will be: old farm carriages; antique cars, if local owners may make them available; Fire Department apparatus; club and school floats from the recent Bicentennial Parade, and exhibits sponsored by the Long Island Lighting Company and Grumman's Corporation. Late exhibitors are urged to contact Fair Co-chairman, Millie Pino and Dr. Richard Smith for booth arrangements as soon as possible.

Among the varied Fair activities planned to capture attention and excite participation will be competitions open to the public involving hand-carved items, ceramics, paintings, sewing, quilting, cooking and baking, as well as floral and vegetable entries. Contestants may bring their contest entries to the Judging Area for display any time up until 1 P.M.

"Bicentennial Fair" prize ribbons will be awarded for the "best" and "runners-up" in each category.

HHS To Graduate 875

Approximately 875 Hicksville High School seniors will receive their diplomas at commencement exercises to be held on Sunday, June 27 on the Hicksville High School Athletic Field.

The first group, A to K, will receive their diplomas at 2 p.m., and the second group, L through Z, at 4:30 p.m.

Rev John Krahn will deliver the invocation at 2 p.m., and Rev. James Benson will deliver the invocation at 4:30 p.m.

Dr. Frederick Hill will speak and award scholarships. Diplomas will be distributed by Raymond L. Rusch, Principal of Hicksville High School.

These graduations will be highlighted by addresses to the class by the class Valedictorian, Frances Harris, and Salutatorian, Jonathan Jacobson. The Hicksville High School Band, under the direction of Mr. David J. Abt, and the Hicksville High School Choral Group, under the direction of Mr. Charles Arnold, will perform at the graduations.

New Hearing Date Set

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Thomas L. Clark announced that the Town Board has set a new hearing date of Tuesday, July 13th to consider the application of Baron-Blakeslee, a division of the Purex Corporation seeking a special use permit to construct petroleum derivative storage facilities in Hicksville.

The approximately 1.8 acres of land is located about 485 feet south of West John Street, due south of the terminus of Gardner Avenue at West John Street.

Councilman Clark, a resident of Hicksville, explained that the originally scheduled public hearing was not held due to the applicant's failure to properly notify all residents within a 300-foot radius of the land. "Those who took the time to appear on the originally scheduled date (Tuesday, June 15th) had the opportunity to express their points of view, and their comments will be part of the official record of the July 13th hearing," stated Clark.

Our Heritage Train

Nassau County's Heritage Train, which houses an exhibit tracing the county's architectural history from colonial times to the present, will be on the move along Long Island Railroad Tracks as part of a special touring train.

The Heritage train exhibit was prepared by the Museum Division of the Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks in cooperation with the Long Island Railroad and the Nassau County American Revolution Bicentennial Advisory Commission. The exhibit reviews in logical stylistic arrangement residences, churches, commercial and public sector structures illustrating the diversity of Long Island architecture over the centuries. The tools used in construction are on exhibit.

The refurbished period railroad car containing the exhibit, "Nassau's Architectural Heritage," will stop over in Port Washington for public inspection from Monday, June 25, through Wednesday, July 7; in Long Beach from Friday, July 9, to Monday, July 19; and in Mitchell Field from Wednesday, July 21, through Monday, August 2.

Approximately 150 buildings are described in an effort to represent building styles characteristic of the various eras in Nassau's architectural history. In addition to its own research effort, the Museum Division of the Department of Recreation and Parks benefited from research done for the Nassau County Architectural Survey, under the auspices of the Nassau County Planning Commission, the Nassau County Museum and the Bicentennial Commissions.

Bishop McGann To Be Installed

Rockville Centre, N.Y. (June 17) - The Most Rev. John R. McGann, D.D. will become the second Bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Rockville Centre on Thursday, June 24.

He will be installed at a special ceremony in the Nassau Veterans' Memorial Coliseum in Uniondale.

Both Terence Cardinal Cooke, Archbishop of New York, and Archbishop Jean Jadot, Papal Apostolic delegate in the United States, will attend to install the 51-year old Long Islander as the new Ordinary of the diocese.

Thousands of people - including religious leaders - are also expected to attend the installation.

Bishop McGann succeeds the Most Rev. Walter P. Kellenberg, D.D., who retired because of age. He was 75 years of age on June 3.

Bishop Kellenberg was named the first bishop of the new Diocese of Rockville Centre in 1957.

Bishop McGann was born in Brooklyn, New York on Dec. 2, 1924. He attended Our Lady of Good Counsel Parish School and Cathedral College, both Brooklyn, and the Immaculate Conception Seminary, Huntington. He was ordained to the priesthood on June 3, 1950 in Brooklyn by the Most Rev. Thomas E. Molloy, Bishop of Brooklyn.

Following ordination, Bishop McGann served as assistant in St. Anne's Church, Brentwood, and assistant chaplain, Pilgrim State Hospital until 1957 when he was appointed assistant Chancellor of the diocese. In 1958 he became assistant secretary to Bishop Kellenberg and in 1959 was named Papal Chamberlain.

From 1959 to Nov. 1970, Msgr.

Most Rev. John R. McGann, D.D.

McGann was secretary to Bishop Kellenberg, and while in that capacity was also appointed secretary to the diocesan Board of Consultants. He retained these positions until his appointment as Auxiliary Bishop was announced. From 1966 to 1969 he served on the Diocesan Commission for Sacred Liturgy, Music and Art and from 1968 to the present has been a member of the Priests' Personnel Board.

He served on the United States Catholic Conference Advisory Council from 1969 until Jan. 1971 when he was ordained Auxiliary Bishop of the Rockville Centre Catholic Diocese. Also in 1971 he became Vicar General, Episcopal Vicar of Suffolk County, and a member of the Board of Consultants, which he had served for many years as Secretary.

Bishop McGann's installation will take place after the Gospel of the Mass which will begin at 11 a.m.

After the Gospel has been read, the Papal Apostolic Delegate, Archbishop Jean Jadot, will address the congregation. The Rev. Edward J. Sweeney, Chancellor of the Rockville Centre diocese, will read the Papal Letter of Appointment.

Cardinal Cooke and Archbishop Jadot will lead Bishop McGann to the Episcopal Chair (cathedra) and ask him if he will accept his new responsibility.

"My brother, Bishop John, you have heard the summons of the Holy Father. Are you resolved, as a good shepherd, to sustain the people of God in the Diocese of Rockville Centre in cooperation with the priests and deacons who share your ministry and to guide them in the way of salvation?"

Bishop McGann: I am, with the grace of God.

Cardinal Cooke: May God who began the good work in you bring it to fulfillment.

Cardinal Cooke and Archbishop Jadot will then seat Bishop McGann in the chair. Cardinal Cooke will present the crozier to Bishop McGann. After the crozier has been presented, the entire congregation will be invited to applaud as a sign of welcome to and acceptance to the new Bishop.

Then, about 90 representatives of diocesan priests, religious and laity will come to the Chair to pledge Bishop McGann their obedience and support.

Bishop McGann has two living sisters and two living brothers. His sisters are Sister John Raymond (his twin) of Brentwood and Madeline McGann of West Hempstead. His brothers are Thomas J. McGann of West Hempstead and James F.X. McGann, who lives in Rockville Centre.

Employment And How To Get There

By Cong. Norman F. Lent

Congress is arguing over the very real issue of jobs. Who is to supply them, who will get them, what will they be, and who will pay for them are questions which are being thrashed out in the committee rooms of Capitol Hill.

For the man in the street, "full employment" means a job for every person who wants to work. For the economist, it is a delicate balancing act; trying to achieve a high level of employment without creating a level of inflation which is unacceptable.

Some people say that pumping the economy full of government spending will employ everyone who wants a job, and that'll be a panacea. Others, more familiar with the history of the business cycle in the United States, know that periods of ultra-rapid expansion and high employment have been followed quickly by tremendous inflation and a sharp swing toward recession and unemployment.

I believe that the best way to achieve a rate of steady growth needed to insure prosperity for everyone is to encourage investment and creation of new jobs in the private, rather than the government sector. Toward that end, I have cosponsored the Kemp-McClure Jobs Creation

Act. This bill would give tax incentives to individuals for saving and investing, ease estate taxes on family owned businesses so they could continue operating in the face of the death of an owner, and provide corporate tax incentives to favor business expansion and the creation of more jobs.

Last year's personal income tax cut contributed to the economic recovery we are now experiencing by putting more money in the hands of consumers. Cutting corporate taxes has been demonstrated to help recovery too. Several years ago, our neighbor to the north, Canada, cut corporate taxes drastically. Critics predicted a $450 million net loss in government revenues, but because of the increase in production capacity and new jobs generated, there was a surplus of $250 million instead.

There is another bill in the Congress aimed at full employment, the Humphrey-Hawkins Bill, which would attempt to provide jobs by making the government the employer of last resort. After an initial favorable response generated by organized labor, Congressional fear of its inflationary impact has reduced support for Humphrey-Hawkins to the point where there is now little expectation of its passage this year. I believe creating "make-work" government jobs will have a negative impact on economic recovery and will instead boost inflation. A better approach is to encourage and facilitate real jobs and expansion in the private sector.

That's why I am working for passage of the Kemp-McClure Bill. I believe it carries the potential for steady long-range economic growth, without the danger of overheating the economy.

SAFETY FIRST: Hemstead Town Supervisor Al D'Amato (center) announces that the Nassau County Board of Supervisors will approve an emergency resolution to rebuild two sludge storage tanks in Hewlett Bay destroyed by a recent explosion. However, D'Amato said he will demand a 24 hour guard and retaining dikes around the new tanks to prevent a recurrence of the disaster which took the life of one boy and dumped more than a million gallons of sludge into the bay. Flanking the supervisor are Deputy County Executive Thomas DeVivo (left) and Nassau County Public Works Commissioner H. John Plock.

Oyster Bay Town Supervisor John W. Burke this week announced the names of the 10 college and graduate school students who have been chosen to participate in the 1976 session of the Supervisor's Intern Program. Among them will be Steven Rosenthal, of Hicksville, who took part in last year's intern program, and will serve as a senior intern; Erik Eriksson, of Hicksville, and Robert Fisher of Old Bethpage.

Steven, who lives at 45 Antum Lane, majored in political science at the State College at New Paltz, and also attended Sullivan County Community College, where he was active in student government. A sports enthusiast, he was active in the New Paltz intramural football, basketball, and softball teams. He will be working in the Supervisors' office.

Erik, of 20 August Lane, is a 1974 summa laude graduate of Columbia College, and is currently attending Harvard Law School. In addition to being a Phi Beta Kappa, he has been the recipient of numerous awards and scholarships including the John Jay National Scholarship, Parker Scholarship, National Merit Scholarship and the Arthur Rose Teaching Fellowship. He will serve with the Department of Planning and Development.

Robert, who lives at 31 Voorhis Dr., is a political science major at Washington University, Missouri, and has been accepted into the school's Junior Year Abroad Program where he will be attending the University of Sussex in England. He is a member of the Pre-Law Society, social coordinator of the Zeta-Beta Tau Fraternity, and active in intramural softball, basketball, and football. He has been assigned to the Supervisor's office.

TOB Interns

Dear Friends...

ONE THING WE KNOW FOR SURE...we have enough excellent local pictures to carry through the month of July...maybe further. But rest assured, we're trying to get as many in each week as we can. This Bicentennial June is setting some kind of a record...

Hicksville School District 17 passed its "no-growth" budget on Wednesday, on the first time around, we are happy to say. Also, we extend our congratulations to the re-elected incumbents Iris Wolfson and Tom Nagle, and our condolences to their opponents, Frank Willard and John Prokopek, who, although they made a good showing, lost the election. We trust that they will not lose their interest in the affairs of our school district. We feel that it is only with the concern of many interested citizens throughout the year, that the best can be accomplished in any area. And what could be more important than the education of our young people? In this kind of election there are really no losers...only differences of opinion as to how good education may be obtained for the taxes that we can afford.

Speaking of pictures, the Hicksville High School Alumni Association sent us some fine ones of its annual Varsity Athlete Dinner held on June 9th at the Old Country Manor. Nearly 300 people turned out for this gala affair, including students, coaches, parents and Alumni members. We need help from some Alumni Association member in order to identify those in the pictures...so, Messrs. Fyfe, Pinegar or whoever has this information...please contact us on this.

TOB Supervisor John Burke tells us that the town-wide newspaper recycling program which started off with an auspicious start last July, has bogged down quiet a bit. We are glad to hear that the Dept. of Public Works is currently distributing copies of new collection schedules to homeowners for, in our opinion, it is a lack of this knowledge that is the major cause of this problem. We are going to try to get back on this schedule when we receive it. Won't you join us?

THAT'S ALL for this week. Stay well and remember the old saying, "There's no place like home."

July 5 Sanitation Collection To Be Held On July 7

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Joseph J. Saladino reminded Town residents who receive Town sanitary collection services, that there will be no collections on Monday, July 5th, in observance of the July 4th holiday.

Saladino noted that those residents scheduled for the collection on Monday, July 5th, will be provided a special collection on Wednesday, July 7th. The collections during the remainder of the week remain unchanged. The regular Tuesday and Friday collections are unaffected as is the regular Thursday collection.

According to Saladino, residents who were scheduled for a rubbish collection as well as a garbage collection on Monday, will have both collected on Wednesday. Since the initiating of the new collection schedule last April, Saladino noted, residents do not lose one of their weekly collections when a holiday falls on their regular collection day. "Instead, they are given a collection on either the very next Wednesday or Saturday to make up for either the Monday or Tuesday, or Thursday or Friday collection which was cancelled due to the holiday."

Letters To The Editor

Open Letter To The Residents Of The Town Of Oyster Bay

As you are probably aware by now, the Town of Oyster Bay plans to bury raw garbage at the Plainview landfill site.

The only independent engineers who have studied this plan (the consulting engineering firm of Holzmacher, McLendon and Murell) have reported that this proposed use of the landfill poses "a serious potential hazard to public water supplies." The Plainview Water District has stated that it is "deeply concerned of the possible contamination of our only source of water" if the Town's plan is actually implemented. The adjacent Town of Huntington, whose water supply is also threatened by contamination from runoff from the Plainview landfill, has announced its firm opposition to the Oyster Bay plan. Newsday characterizes the landfill plan as a "loony

Unfortunately, our Town Board is turning a deaf ear to all these voices, and is marching blindly forward on a path that may well lead to tragedy for our Town and its residents. They seem to think they are taking a reasonably calculated risk. We think the stakes they are playing for are far too high. If the Town loses its gamble, and the water supplies of Plainview, Bethpage, Jericho, Syosset and South Huntington become contaminated, the process is irreversible. Once the underground water supply has become contaminated by runoff from the landfill it is unusable forever. Not a very happy prospect...not a very wise gamble.

Nobody likes a lawsuit, but the Town has left us with no choice. We must take legal action to stop this ill-advised landfill plan before it's too late. A number of local civic groups have banded together and retained one of the nation's leading attorneys in the fields of environmental and municipal law to represent us in this matter. Formal proceedings will be underway shortly.

But lawsuits cost money...and this one's no different. WE NEED YOUR HELP in our fight to safeguard our water supply and to protect the health and well-being of you and your family. The issue is so important, and a contribution of only $5 or $10 can mean so much! Please send your contributions to GREATER PLAINVIEW COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION, 8 Ruth Road, Plainview, New York 11803.

This is one fight we just can't afford to lose.

'Environmental Safety In Each Step Of Solid Waste Management System,' Burke

In a comprehensive statement issued this week by Town Supervisor John W. Burke, it is clearly shown that, for more than six years, every step from site selection to the current preliminary designs has been taken with environmental safety given the highest priority in the Town's development of a solid waste management and disposal system.

In a review reaching back to 1970, when Supervisor Burke first took office, the statement points out that the first two steps of his administration went directly to the environmental aspects of the problem of solid waste disposal. Almost simultaneously the Town Board approved an upgrading of its incinerator plants to comply with air pollution standards and controls; and called on the State Pure Waters Authority (later to become the Environmental Facilities Corp. of the State Department of Environmental Conservation) to assist the Town in planning a long-range solid waste management and disposal system.

STATE SELECTED SITES
On the basis of the $10,000 study conducted by the State's environmental engineers, the State Environmental Facilities Corp., in 1971, pointed out four possible landfill sites and recommended the Town act with a sense of urgency to acquire one. The State study took into account: Town space requirements, proximity of land to residential development, availability of cover material, ground water elevation, current zoning and use of the land, zoning and use of surrounding property, access roads to the site and the distance of the site to the Town incinerator complex.

Under this evaluation, the State listed an order of preference for the sites recommended to the Town. According to the State, the Town should first attempt to acquire, in combination, 43 acres of County-owned land at Old Bethpage and 18 acres of land in Farmingdale. This preference had to be removed from consideration when the County refused to permit Town acquisition of its land because it was dedicated as park land and the State Comptroller's opinion clearly indicated that land dedicated for "park purposes could not be put to any other use."

The next preferred site recommended by the State was the 65 acres in Plainview. After Town engineers and environmental professionals examined the site and evaluated it using the same standards employed by the State Environmental Facilities Corp., they recommended the Town Board move to acquire it. After a permissive referendum in November, 1972, in which residents of the Town voted for the acquisition, the Town did acquire the land.

BURNING OR COMPACTION?

At the same time, the Town was working to fulfill other aspects of the State report. As recommended, the Town began a pilot program for newspaper recycling and began planning for a bulk burner, which the State advocated for construction at the Town's incinerator complex in Old Bethpage. However, during 1972-73 the complexity and cost of meeting revised State air pollution standards at the two incinerator plants were being realized, along with the fact that with the additional pollution control, the recommended bulk burner was being reduced to a more costly and highly complex incinerator. In 1973 the Town began a reevaluation of the bulk burner concept and, after a year of study, the Department of Public Works recommended abandonment of the recommended addition of another burning facility. To better achieve volume reduction of material going into the landfill, the recommendation called for purchase and construction of a high density compactor.

Through continued communication with the State Department of Environmental Conservation, the Town's Director of Environmental Control was able to include in his recommendation to the Town Board the assurance that State DEC would look favorably on the change to a compactor. As a result, in the same month that the Town Board approved the change to the high density compactor, the State DEC was able to approve the Town engineering specifications assuring the Town of 25 per cent reimbursement with State Environmental Bond Issue funds.

While this study was underway, the Town already had begun planning for use of the newly-acquired 65 acres as a sanitary landfill. In April, 1973, the Town's consulting engineers, Lockwood, Kessler and Bartlett, began planning for the excavation of the first of eight areas of the land. Although at that time they were operating under a sense of urgency — it was expected the landfill would be needed by October of that year — the first matter that they considered was leachate control. (Leachate is the liquid produced when rain flows through landfill waste). In May 1973 the engineers ordered deep test borings to determine the soil composition at the depth intended for the base of the landfill. The base of the landfill was to be an elevation 140', approximately 70' above the elevation of the ground water supply. The test borings showed a clay and silt base that tested to be of "very low permeability" and, therefore, an extremely desirable subsurface for a landfill. In September, 1973, excavation began.

CLAY BASE SEEMS O.K.

On the information supplied by the test borings, the Town began communicating with State DEC to determine if the clay base was considered by their environmental engineers to be a sufficient liner for a leachate control in a landfill. After meeting with State DEC officials in January, 1974, the State indicated that it would accept a clay base as such a safeguard. The State also indicated that it would require the drilling of monitoring wells at the Plainview site. Informal communications continued between Town environmental engineers and those of the State, and in August, 1974 the Town design for the landfill development with a natural clay base serving to control leachate was sent to the State. State DEC approved the plan and issued a permit to operate a landfill requiring the assurance that during development the Town must be certain that the clay base conformed to the plans.

By this time, the excavation in area 1 was well underway and the Town's consultants, along with County health officials, were better able to examine the clay base. The health officials were not sufficiently satisfied that the clay base would provide complete protection throughout the landfill and in November, 1974 the County Health Dept. issued a report citing this objection and recommending improvements in the safeguards of the Town plans.

Unit by unit, the distinctively uniformed Hicksville elementary school bands marched, in a patriotic display of fortitude, with their ever heavier instruments and their young lips, hands and feet determined to make music and keep alignment. The crowds saw some school principals on foot "with the troops", among them Murray Duncan and his Old Country School band and Assistant Principal Lou Penque proudly encouraging the Lee Avenue youngsters. The Hicksville Nautical Cadets thrilled the community on a day replete with novelty, creativity and human spirit. They came by in the sailor's dress of the era of Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry and MacDonough, sporting new black straw hats, striped shirts and white pants and led by Rupert Myers.

Music sounded the length of Broadway from Old Country Road to the Plaza: country musicians from Jabby's Tavern riding in the familiar surrey and escorted by young Jablonskise on horseback; the nationally acclaimed and precise lassies of the St. Ignatius Girls Cadet Corps with their gudons, gleaming silver horns, their serenade in brass and leader, Tom Costa, justifiably proud of his repeatedly champions. Bringing up the rear of all this glorious sound was Woodland Avenue School Band and a touching procession of students carrying their hand painted colonial flags.

Marching in an opening tribute to Flag Day, this Monday, were boys and girls carrying a striking group of Colonial flags: Boy Scout Girl Scouts, 4-H Club youngsters, Camp Fire Girls.

The Hicksville Fire Department was there in all its glory, Chief Roy Schaaf in the lead with a snappy salute for the reviewing stand dignitaries. The Department's Colonial Color Guard, the antique fire pumper wagon prepared for the Bicentennial years, the fetchingly-garbed Ladies Auxiliary, the Junior Fireme, and drivers of shining vehicles all reflected much credit on Hicksville. Caught up in the spirit of the day, as usual, was the Departmental Dalmatian mascot striding proudly in front of his handler, Gil Cusick.

Disdaining to ride in the minibus provided for them and marching vigorously along side of it were the Hicksville Senior Citizens Club.

Reminding reviewers of the great immigrant contributions to the nation were ethnic groups in native costumes, carrying their banners: the Polish National Alliance with its genial President, Tadeus Kolodziejczyk; the Hicksville Steuben Society, and the Greek-Americans of the Greek Church of Holy Trinity, Hicksville and the Hellenic Association.

Not since 1948's Tercentennial Parade have so many floats been seen in a parade in Hicksville. Among the many creations in the Bicentennial Parade, Saturday, were: the large float of the Galileo Lodge, Sons of Italy which was escorted by a fine group turnout; the interesting float of the Nassau-Suffolk Coin Club observing 200 years of numismatic history in the United States; the float of the Hicksville Soccer Club focused attention upon these young athletes whose international tournament has put Hicksville on the map as a sporting community. Modest Peter Collins and his coaches were well applauded for their efforts with youth. The Hicksville Elks float and three antique autos they sponsored rolled by as did the Public Library's float with a colonial schoolroom. Church floats were in line: Holy Family's display called attention to the contributions of Roman Catholics in United States history while a distinctive float was the "Go Ye Mission" of the Church of Christ with its House of God on wheels.

There were small floats prepared by Girl Scouts, a fine "Liberty Bell" put together by the members of Troop and Cub Pack under Scoutmaster Stan Woodeheke. Troop and Pack 158 of Dutch Lane School sported a float, marching by with its genial leader, Saul Meltzer, and assistant Scout Masters and their ladies in colonial garb.

Humor came as expected at the Broadway overpass of the Long Island Railroad when Troop 381's Holy Family Indian float got stuck under the trestle. After its large tepee center pole was lowered, the float rejoined the parade with other units, to the cheers of spectators. Lee Avenue PTA's high riding conestoga wagon, which was fashioned by Dr. Richard Smith, also came to a wedged halt briefly, until Joan Eamucci and her high-riding frontier ladies bent a protruding Indian arrow out of the way.

Among the local dignitaries and guests on the reviewing stand on North Broadway or on the dais later at the Mid-Island Plaza for a Flag Day ceremony were Edward Gier, Commander of the Jewish War Veterans; Sigfried Widder, Hicksville Bicentennial Co-chairman, who identified the parade units approaching the reviewing party with his wit and community knowledge; Sheila Noeth, editor and publisher of the Mid-Island Herald standing with Timothy Archdeacon, Bicentennial Co-chairman for the Syosset-Woodbury Bicentennial Committee; Millie Pino, Hicksville "Old-time Country Fair" Chairman; the Reverend Hugh Cannon of St. Ignatius Church, who offered a "Bicentennial Invocation" at the Flag Day service; Iris Wolfson, President of the Hicksville Board of Education and Dr. Frederick Hill, Superintendent of Schools, as well as William Feigen, Principal of the Junior High School, smiling proudly as his school's bands passed in review. Also in honored presence was Nassau County District Court Judge Julius Schwartz of Hicksville as well as Mr. James Conaghan, Exalted Ruler of the Elks Club. The very reverend Joacim Isidoridis of Holy Trinity

The old "covered wagon" float of the Lee Ave. PTA was ingeniously made by Dr. Richard Smith on the base loaned by the Red Coach Inn, and in the lower picture, the interesting float of the Nassau-Suffolk Coin Club can be seen. Pictures by Bill Clark.

GPCA Traffic Safety Committee

Under the leadership of Committee Chairman Marty Shlufman, the Traffic Safety Committee of the Greater Plainview Community Association has met with unprecedented success in the past year.

Among other things, the long awaited three-way permanent stop signs at the Central Park Road Southern Parkway intersection (the site of Plainview-Old Bethpage Senior High School) have finally become a reality, and work has started on an overhead flashing red blinker. Other intersections where GPCA's efforts brought results in the form of improved traffic control include Knowles Street, Rex Place, Marilyn Boulevard - Phipps Lane, and Old Country Road South Gate.

But Chairman Shlufman and his hard-working GPCA committee of Myron Holtz, Phil Levinson and Stanley Feigenbaum are not simply resting on past laurels. A request is in the works for a traffic survey in the area of the new "Nassau Villas" condominiums on Old Country Road, and Myron Holtz has been working diligently with Town and County officials in hopes of coming up with a solution for the access problems at the Sylvia Lane Old Country Road - Margaret Drive intersection.

Shlufman hopes to expand the scope of his Committee's activities in the year ahead. (At his suggestion, the Committee will be redesignated as the "Community Safety" Committee of GPCA.) However, he needs the cooperation and support of the community if he is to do so. "New workers for the Committee are always welcome," Shlufman observed. "Even more important, it's up to everyone to let us know when a problem develops in their neighborhood. We've got the resources to get the problem solved - but only if it's brought to our attention," he continued. "Just give me a call at 681-4605 or, even better, drop me a note at 32 Irene Lane East in Plainview."

The Committee's hard work has not gone unnoticed. "Marty Shlufman and his Committee deserve a great deal of credit for a job well done," notes GPCA President Paul Eisenstein. "They're performing a tremendous service for our community."

Plainview DECA Awards Banquet

The Employer-Employee and Awards Banquet of the Plainview-Old Bethpage High School DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) Chapter was the year-end activity of this New York State Outstanding Chapter. On June 2, the Roman Gardens Restaurant on South Oyster Bay Road held a gathering of Chapter members and their honored guests. Neighboring chapters (Herricks, Long Beach, Oceanside, Nassau BOCES), employers, administrators and parents were all there to honor members of the outstanding Chapter.

Dr. Jerome Botwinick, Principal, praised the members for their achievements. Other speakers were Brett Kingstone, of the Long Beach DECA

Chapter, North Atlantic Regional Vice-President and Robert Vischelli, of the Herricks Chapter, New York State DECNY Treasurer who also spoke of the Plainview Chapter's accomplishments and participation on both the state and national level.

Scott Mace, president of the Plainview Chapter, with fellow officers, Sally Vitale, Cliff Morello, Karen Roth, and Wendy Kugelmann, presented the outstanding service awards and certificates of appreciation to those who had contributed their time and effort to the DECA and Work Experience Programs. The county trophies and certificates and the state trophies and certificates, were presented to the Chapter members who had participated in the events by Scott Mace, Nancy Greshes, Robert Foti and Arlene Lucina. Brett Kingstone, regional vice-president personally distributed the national certificates.

Mrs. Gloria Jones, Advisor of the DECA Chapter, presented the Outstanding Student Awards to Scott Mace and Sally Vitale. DECA members who contributed the most to the 1975-76 calendar of DECA events.

The highlight of the evening's events was the announcement of the new slate of officers for the 1976-77 year. The Chapter is proud to announce that Wendy Kugelmann is the new Plainview DECA president, Karen Roth-vice-president, Mary Hansen-secretary, and Robert Foti-treasurer. The Outstanding Chapter trophy was on display during the evening's festivities and the new officers look forward to another outstanding 1976-77 DECA year.

"Bicentennial Reflections"

By Dick Evers

Every effort is being made to climax Hicksville's Bicentennial Year with a rousing Fourth of July celebration at the High School. Members of the Bicentennial "Old-time Country Fair" and the Commemorative Program, which will open the festivities Sunday, July 4th are hard at work with final preparations.

Starting with a possible non-denominational prayer service in the morning for people busy setting up Fair booths and exhibits, the day will be filled with events to please young and old, extroverts and the reflective. The Great Day will begin formally at 11:45 with a brief procession of Hicksville veterans, fraternal, church, service, ethnic, Scout and youth organizations and their banners and songs. Group leaders are asked to contact Steven Didier who is helping with professional arrangements.

The Commemorative Program which will follow will honor the Declaration of Independence and the great social and political ideals it expresses. There will be band and choral music alternated with historical narration and readings from the famous Revolutionary documents by members of the High School Thespians Society, with David Gaudio rendering Thomas Jefferson's immortal Declaration. Congressman Norman Lent will give the traditional but brief Fourth of July oration.

The Old-time Fair will open at 1:15, and from then on, the afternoon will be given over to exhibit viewing, munching of delicacies available at a variety of refreshment booths, games for the young, demonstrations of gymnastics, and dancing...At 2 P.M., the chiming and pealing of bells and carillons will reach the Fair grounds as Hicksville churches, schools, temples and the Fire House join in the nation's simultaneous "ringing of the bells" for two minutes to honor two centuries of American glory and to herald the coming of the nation's third century. In Philadelphia, at that moment, the Independence Hall Tower Bell will be ringing. It should be a sublime moment for every patriot.

The day will pass all too quickly. Entertainment Chairman, Carol Scuppen, and Fair Co-chairman Millie Pino have arranged for children's fun races to go on periodically all afternoon, while youth and adults "with it" may "rock" to the Southbound Rock Group at the tennis court during the afternoon. There will be a fine exhibition of archery by the Nassau Bowmen Exhibition Team in the Boys Gymnasium from 3-4 P.M. and dancing afterwards, in the twilight hours, to the music of the 'Thirties and 'Forties by the Hicksville Jazz Quartet.

In the absence of funds for a fireworks display - a demonstration of joy which John Adams said should always mark the Fourth of July - the Fair Committee has been arranging a "spectacular" for the day, an event in the late afternoon to salute the Bicentennial in grand manner. Details will be available in the next issue of the Herald.

Much remains to be done to prepare for a "Glorious Fourth." All folks young and old who feel they would like to help, to "do something" for America's 200th Birthday should call Richard Evers or Sigried Widder.

Greek Church was in attendance as was Colonel Bernard Saul who took the salute particularly of his motorized force of the United States Air National Guard and the continental uniformed color guard of the 411th Engineers of the army reserves.

The parade was suburb, indeed, but the Flag Day service at Mid-Island Plaza's bus terminal crowned a glorious day. Chaired by Master of Ceremonies,

Murray Margolis, who for two hours had been announcing the parade units ending their march at the Plaza, the Flag Day program included prayer by Father Hugh Cannon; and a short address by Congressman Norman Lent who spoke vigorously of his faith in America's ability to move ahead progressively. Closing this program was a stirring brief "History of the Early American Flags" rendered by Richard Evers, Hicksville historian and Bicentennial Committee Co-chairman while at eighteen flag poles fronting the Plaza bus terminal, Flag Marshal, Scoutmaster Louis Biondolillo, and his Scout leader assistants took each flag from children who had borne them in the parade, and ran the colors up the halyards in a God-sent breeze. The several hundred spectators and young people of the participating Hicksville High Band and the Chorus under William Goleeke, as well as the Holy Trinity High School Band thrilled by the words and sight of little-known and familiar historic banners flying at program's end, led the crowd in a warm playing and singing of "God Bless America".

Credit for the fine closing program at the Plaza must be given to Harvey Lewis and the Mid-Island Plaza Merchants Association, Co-sponsors of the Hicksville Fire Department which installed the sound system and to Mr. Jeffrey Rock of the Junior High faculty who assisted Mr. Margolis.

officials was the use of a plastic liner and the addition of leachate collection and removal systems to prevent leachate from remaining at the base of the landfill. State DEC adopted these requirements and the Town consultant in preparing a new preliminary design plan, that has not yet been presented to the Town Board, has embodied the recommendations necessary to solve the questions raised in that November report.

Throughout these planning stages, the Town has proposed concepts to the State DEC and County Health Dept. for review and recommendation solely for the purpose of incorporating into a final design all the safeguards that these agencies feel are necessary.

It is only as the Town plans became more detailed that more detailed questions can be raised by these regulatory agencies. As the Town now approaches the completion of preliminary concepts and prepares to develop the final design for the landfill development, more review will be conducted on each step by the State DEC and health professional. The Town will continue to incorporate into its plans the recommendation of the regulatory agencies until the final design will present a development plan that both agencies will approve as being environmentally safe.

In concluding his report Burke stated "This system assures that no sanitary landfill operations will begin at that site until and unless every detail has been examined and approved by the State DEC and County Health Department."

These lovely colonial clad ladies are members of Dutch Lane's PTA who were on hand Friday, May 21, to serve the guests of honor that day.....the Grandparents. The senior folks were given a tour of the school, met their grandchildren's teachers, heard the band and choruses put on a rousing performance, and themselves were awarded certificates for being "oldest grandmother," "youngest grandmother," "oldest and youngest grandfathers," "oldest great-grandparents," and for having the most grandchildren, the longest marriage and for travelling the farthest to come. Hicksville's Superintendent of Schools Dr. Hill, was on hand that day, too, and addressed the children and grandparents. Grandparents Day was a huge success: the perfect ending to Dutch Lane's perfect Bicentennial Week."

Church Of Christ Sets VBS

Vacation Bible School at the Church of Christ is scheduled to begin Monday, June 28. The church, which is located at 105 Broadway in Hicksville, will conduct the program from June 28 through July 2, from 7 to 9 p.m. each evening. Robert L. Bernhard, minister, and the Vacation Bible School staff extend an invitation to the families of the community to "come out and enjoy the evenings of family fun and inspiration."

The theme for the five night event is "Life Together." The programs will stress successful family living including attitudes necessary for a Christian home environment, and for peaceful, productive life in our land. The Church of Christ is well known for its personal-care nursery school programs, and this family vacation Bible school venture promises to be a fitting conclusion to this seasons sessions. With crafts, puppet shows, family singing and activities, it will provide every family member five profitable evenings.

The church at 105 Broadway is the oldest in Hicksville. It has been featured and included in a number publication articles in the past years, and the church is known for its first-century, Gospel message. With this in mind, they thought it appropriate to present this Bible fellowship week with its home and country theme for this bicentennial year. You may seek further information by calling the church at 935-3855.

The soccer nets will have to be repaired this week due to the under 16 girl's banging in 12 goals in two games this week-end. In a Long Island Cup game they defeated Northport 6-0 - came right back to nail Oceanside by the same score in a league game. The Hicksville Elks sponsor is proud of the girl's overall 8-2-1 record & with the season drawing to a close soon, they have a firm hold on 2nd place in league competition scoring 45 goals, giving up 10 and chalking up 6 shutouts. Coaches Ann Camara & Gert Conway are proud of & congratulate the girl's for their effort, determination and team spirit: the defensive unit of Theresa Dolan, Jeanne O'Shea, Susan Stafford and Kathy Dolan; the front line strikers consisting of Cathy Eichler, Sharon Humphreys, Karen Kolovich, Patty Conway, Patty Decker & Karen Jung; and the all important halfback line of Mary Jannette, Lori Daley, Shauna Leidle, Mary Flynn, Michelle Brill and Karen 'Stretch' Dolan.

Midget Reds

The Midget Red boys went to Oceanside for a 1 day tournament last weekend & played 7 games allowing only one goal the entire day. They went through the regular tournament, quarter and semi-finals undefeated & lost the Championship game to Gotschee in the dreaded penalty kick situation. Coaches John Mitchell Jack McCann were thrilled with the boys' performance as they played excellent soccer all day long including the final game which ended in a scoreless tie after regulation time ran out. This under 12 group is sponsored by the Joseph Barry Council of the Hicksville K of C and all members of the team deserve a hearty congratulations for a job well done: Bobby Andrus, Mike Andrus, Donald Barcavage, Patty Bedell, Kevin Cahalan, Anthony Coiro, Steve Dolan, Tommy Fletcher, Mike Jung, John McCann, John Mitchell, Adrian Pepi, Bobby Stenborg, Eddy Thompson, Glen Zakian and Robby Zaretsky.
