Bright and early Monday morning, August 2, a group of girls representing the 4H Rosebuds and the 4H Angels of Hicksville, with their leader, came to The Gregory Museum, on Heitz Place, Hicksville, to volunteer their time with a service project. They diligently cleaned out the weeds from the circles around the trees as well as from other areas around the museum. Shown in the photo, left to right, are Theresa Wheeler, Mary Ellen Schreiber, 4H Leader Mrs. Jane E. Schreiber, Mary Mitkowskl, Margaret Schreiber, Beth Walsh and Ellen Walsh. The Gregory Museum appreciates this kind of volunteer help and encourages other groups to offer their services. For any information call 822-7565

Exhibit At Library

Now on display at the Hicksville Public Library is a mixed media exhibit by Rhoda Frank, director of the Industrial Home for the Blind Burrwood Day Center in Cold Spring Harbor. Included in this show are examples of Mrs. Frank's rug hooking, weaving, etchings, pen and ink sketches and collographs. Rhoda introduced crafts to the participants of the Burrwood Day program and as a result of her infinite patience, love and above all her artistic ability, the works produced by them have been seen in galleries throughout the entire metropolitan area. In September, a national Fine Arts show sponsored by the American Foundation for the Blind will be held in two University of Philadelphia galleries; the University Museum and the Neill Gallery. Four hundred pieces were entered nation wide for this show, seventy were chosen; ten were from Burrwood.

FULL COMMUNITY VOICE

Hicksville Park Plans Reactivated

OYSTER BAY -- Town Councilman Thomas L. Clark, expressing satisfaction at the enactment of a law permitting the residents of Hicksville to have full voice regarding the development of a local community park, announced today (Monday, August 2nd) that he "will work toward placement of a specific proposal before the public."

Clark explained that a bill giving the Town the authority to call for formal balloting on certain park district expenditures had recently been signed into law, thus "enabling residents within the Hicksville Park District to go to their regular polling place and cast their ballot on a park development plan."

The Councilman explained that his predecessor - Warren M.

Doolittle, now a Judge of the Fourth District Court - worked for two years to secure passage of the bill permitting such a referendum. Sponsored by State Senator Ralph J. Marino and Assemblyman Joseph M. Reilly, the measure was signed into law last week.

The Hicksville Community Park Task Force, a cross-section of community-minded residents, has previously conducted a series of informational meetings and mailed a questionnaire to all residents within the Park District regarding the proposed development of two parcels of land: approximately seven acres of land on Lee Avenue (the Giese property) and a triangularly-shaped six acre parcel bounded by Old Country Road, Plainview Road and South Oyster Bay Road.

development at both sites at the same time, the Task Force has sought to avoid duplication of recreational facilities and also to assure the best possible utilization of both properties," stated Clark.

The Councilman, a resident of Hicksville, said that he will call together the Task Force for a formal meeting to review what has been accomplished to date, and to discuss the course of future action.

"Adoption of the law sought by Judge Doolittle has paved the way," Councilman Clark concluded, "and I intend to foster a continuation of opportunity for complete community-wide input as the Task Force proceeds toward the referendum stage. At that time, all local residents will have a formal voice - their votes - regarding the Hicksville Community Park concept."

PSC OK's Import Of Hydro Electric Power

State Senator Owen H. Johnson expressed pleasure when he learned that, as a result of legislation he sponsored, the Public Service Commission has given the go-ahead to the Power Authority to import low-cost surplus hydroelectric power from Canada. When the line is completed in 1978, it will allow PASNY to bring in 800 megawatts of power during seven "summer" months - the equivalent of a major generating plant. The fuel costs saved by using this power will be flowed directly, automatically, and completely to LILCO customers, through operation of the fuel adjustment clause.

The Johnson bill cut through the 3-year bureaucratic red tape delay holding up the construction of the transmission lines by mandating the PSC approve the project. The bill passed the Senate but was never reported from committee in the Assembly.

In his latest newsletter mailed to constituents, the West Babylon Senator had included this legislation under the category of his disappointments. Explaining this, Senator Johnson said, "As of when I wrote the newsletter (July 1), the bill was 'killed' in the Assembly committee. I since learned that, the same week, the PSC was convinced enough by my legislation to expedite the approval of the 765 KV lines from Quebec. The Power Authority is geared up to begin construction immediately because it has stockpiled steel for the towers and has ready access to conductors, transformers, and other equipment. The construction schedule established by my bill will be followed to insure that voluntarily with his legislated mandate, Johnson commented: "What appeared to be a disappointment turned out to be a victory. The victory is one for the LILCO subscribers who will be receiving cheaper electricity once these lines are completed."

Obviously pleased with the PSC's decision to comply

School Board Meeting

The Hicksville Board of Education will hold a public meeting on Wednesday, August 11, at 8:15 P.M. in the Conference Room of the Administration Building. The public is invited to attend.

Case Attacks Plan For Mentally Retarded

Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Case characterized Gov. Carey's announced plan to return half the mentally retarded patients in state institutions to local communities as "cruel and inhuman."

The county executive was joined in his attack on the governor's proposal by Helen Kaplan, executive director of the Nassau Association for the Help of Retarded Children (AHRC), who called it "a plan for Gov. Carey but not for the retarded." She accused the governor of "dealing with statistics when he should be concerned with people."

Case said the governor, rather than tackle the problems relating to improved mental health care, has decided to dump the burden on local governments and mental health agencies. He added that the announcement of the five-year plan earlier this week came as a surprise to the local agencies involved in the mental health and retardation field.

"There was no meaningful involvement of these groups in the preparation of this plan, even though it will have a significant impact on them," Case asserted.

Case said the governor's plan completely overlooks the fact that 97 per cent of the retarded already live in their home communities.

"Yet, the governor gives no indication that the state intends to do anything to assist agencies such as AHRC, which cannot take care of existing needs, much less take on the additional burden of discharges from state institutions," he stated.

Mrs. Kaplan said that if the governor is sincere in any plan to provide what is best for the retarded, "then good faith would demand that he discuss this entire program for the discharge of residents with the community agencies who are expected to provide the services these people will require."

"Gov. Carey has done nothing to assist community groups with the financial problem of construction of new facilities and he has done nothing about increasing the present Community Mental Health Act formula for 50 per cent reimbursement of program costs," she charged.

Mrs. Kaplan cited a bill the governor vetoes as "evidence of his disinterest." The bill would have allowed agencies such as

Gable Festival

The Hicksville Library is presenting a Gable Film Festival every Thursday evening in August. The series will begin with "Gone With the Wind" to be shown in two parts, August 5 and 12. This is the first time that the film version of Margaret Mitchell's monumental novel of the Civil War has been presented in the area free to the community.

The series will continue with the spectacular film of the "1906 great quake" "San Francisco" co-starring Jeanette Mac Donald and Spencer Tracy scheduled for August 19. The final film of the series is the film adaptation of the Jack London classic "Call of the Wild" a story out of the lustrous, gusty days in Alaska during the Gold Rush.

All library films are held in the auditorium at 8pm. The public is always welcome to join in the library Film Festivals. Come and enjoy seeing the Great Gable in his most well known roles.

Carey plan is even more fiscally ominous.

"The governor has made no mention of state funds to provide for the care the patients transferred to local communities," he stated.

The county executive noted that the Nassau Mental Health Department already serves more than 24,000 residents within the county on both an in-patient and out-patient basis.

Picnic Pops Concert Set

On Wednesday evening, August 11th (rain date, the 12th), Old Westbury Gardens will present its fifth and final Picnic Pops of the 1976 season, featuring Hal Hoffman, vocalist Judy Moss and nationally acclaimed jazz clarinetist and recording star Sol Vagud. Saxophone and clarinet great Jerry Jerome also stars with Hoffman's 20-piece big band.

Although leader and conductor Hal Hoffman and his music maestros place a very strong emphasis on playing the greats of the 1930s, 40s and 50s, they do full justice to all the current hits too, playing in the style of the big bands of Benny Goodman, Glen Miller, Artie Shaw, Harry James and all the greats.

Spend a delightful evening at the Gardens. Gates open at 6 p.m. and the music doesn't begin until 7, so you may stroll through the magnificent gardens, abloom with hollyhocks, salvia, aster, helianthus and many other annuals and perennials in variety. See the Children's cottage with its delightful bicentennial exhibit showing a 4th of July party, circa 1918. The evening ends at 9 p.m. Bring a blanket to sit on, and your picnic supper.

Old Westbury Gardens is the former estate of the late Mr. and Mrs. John S. Phipps, open to the public as a botanical garden and arboretum. The concerts are held with assistance from Avis Rent-A-Car System, the Long Island Trust Co. and the Roslyn Savings Bank.

Law Will Crack Down On Violent Juveniles

A measure cracking down on violent juveniles has been signed into law by Governor Carey. Sponsored by State Senator Ralph J. Marino, Chairman of the Select Committee on Crime, the law requires mandatory two year maximum terms for 14 and 15 year olds who commit murder, rape and armed robbery or assault. Incarceration would be followed by an additional three years intensive supervision by the State Division for Youth.

The law is a compromise measure worked out with the Democratic Assembly to assure a strong reform this year, going well beyond the Governor's proposed mandatory one year term. Marino has vowed, however, to pursue further reforms in the Family Court system that hears juvenile cases in order to "back up our intention to abort the careers of violent kids who attack, maim and kill innocent victims with impunity."

Under the law, youngsters committing violent crimes may be detained in secure or residential youth facilities depending upon the defendant's criminal history and the severity of the crime. Minimum mandatory sentences for juveniles found guilty of lesser crimes range from six to twelve months detention.

No violent juvenile may be released by youth authorities without court review and approval, a provision Marino insisted upon to overcome the release of dangerous juveniles because of overcrowded conditions.

Construction Tops $3 Million

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Gregory W. Carman announced that the value of construction permits issued by the Town's Building Division during the month of June exceeded $3 million.

ditions valued at $388,273. In addition, 17 permits for other than residential alterations were issued valued at $57,643; and 4 industrial construction permits valued at $1,342,177.

Councilman Carman, Chairman of the Town Board's Standing Committee on Commerce and Industry, said that the total dollar value of all permits issued for the month of June was $3,056,026.13.

"Hot weather can kill your dog," representative of the North Shore Animal League tell us. "Over 14,000 dogs died from suffocation in closed cars last summer. Actually far more than were run over. 'Folks just don't think,' they said, 'They take their dog along when they go shopping and lock the windows up tight. Then the sun beats down and the car becomes a four-wheeled oven. It's all so unnecessary. Also, taking your pet along on a trip is fun for the pet, owner and the pet. But simply keep the windows OPEN A LITTLE - not wide enough for the dog to jump out. Always park in the shade and leave a bowl of fresh water for the pet.'" they concluded. We wonder why our government's welfare system does not take lessons from two groups worthy of praise and mention. It seems to us they could learn a lot, both from ORT and from the Mormon Church.

As you probably know, Women's American ORT is a dynamic organization that trains and schools students to become resourceful, independent persons. It teaches trades so that individuals can become self-reliant and self-supporting. ORT, while it is rooted in Jewish history, has accomplished much good in shaping Jewish destiny by their great training programs. Why can't our government do this on a much larger scale. It works. And does not result in generation after generation remaining on welfare, and thereby losing their self-esteem.

In a like manner, the Mormon Church has developed programs so that no Mormon is ever on Welfare. It is true that this religion believes in giving the first tenth of their individual income to their church, as the Holy Bible tells all who believe to do. But whatever programs they have, in using these monies, some must be training, in order to put their people back to work and not to have them on welfare.

We commend both groups for what they are doing. They can be justly proud. However, we repeat, why can't our government emulate them? The taxes we pay run well over 10 percent, of that we are all aware.

That's all for this week. Stay well and enjoy the summer.

Why Not Quadra-Town?

By Michael Polansky

Last week's final approval of "Tri-Town," the cooperative venture into solid waste disposal resource recovery by the Towns of Huntington, Babylon and Islip, stands in stark contrast to the continuing battle over the "do it yourself" Oyster Bay landfill plan. The Oyster Bay plan, which involves the burial of raw garbage in a 65 acre landfill site in Plainview, has been the subject of near unanimous criticism by environmentalists and local civic leaders.

But Tri-Town can be more than an object lesson for Oyster Bay's Town Fathers. If a regionally based resource recovery facility is an economically advantageous and environmentally sound solution to the problem of solid waste disposal in central Long Island, why should it stop at Tri-Town? Why not a "Quadra-Town" that includes the Town of Oyster Bay along with its Suffolk neighbors?

The much larger Town of Hempstead is already apparently committed to developing its own resource recovery facility. However, there is no real reason why Oyster Bay must stand alone as well.

In light of expert studies concluding that the current landfill plan poses "a serious potential hazard to public water supplies," it should be quite apparent that Oyster Bay will never implement this plan. The Town Board has already directed further studies prior to allowing the plan to proceed to the next stage. Abandonment of the plan is eventually inevitable. But then what?

What better answer than for Oyster Bay to join with its neighbors in Huntington, Babylon and Islip to form a four Town regional waste disposal district. Such a "Quadra-Town" makes even more economic sense than does the Tri-Town approach. There are certainly no

Letters To The Editor

To The Editor:
Cautious optimism is being expressed about the local economic picture, but recently announced employment figures reflect that more than 90,000 Nassau and Suffolk residents are still looking for jobs. We hope these positive economic prognostications hold true, but it could be months before the employment picture brightens significantly.

An interim palliative has been the federally funded Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA), a program that is providing gainful employment on a variety of municipal projects. In addition to the jobs created for some of the Town's unemployed, the program has resulted in the completion of a number of projects at little or no additional direct cost to the taxpayer.

A good example are the 100 wire trash baskets constructed by a CETA crew for the Division of Beaches. Each basket, which normally would cost about $42 to purchase, used about $4 worth of material plus the skills of CETA workers to produce.

Those mysterious black boxes placed in the pavillion area at Tobay Beach are another CETA project. These are fly traps, an ecologically safe method of combatting the green fly nuisance at some of our beaches. At the Roosevelt Park Marina, CETA crews installed new anchoring rails at a fraction of the cost a contractor would have charged.

Other CETA talents have been put to good use in developing new applications and programs for the Town's computer facility, special research on historic sites and program planning for our Bicentennial Commission, and a major cleanup of a park preserve area. CETA craftsmen also carried out a major refurbishment of the Receiver Taxes service area.

None of these projects could have been accomplished under our present budgetary restrictions without the availability of the CETA workforce.

To The Editor:

The Democratic Party picked its Presidential candidate recently and the man chosen had been running for that office for two years. Our present system of choosing Presidential candidates through primaries virtually requires contenders to run for at least a year.

This nation simply cannot afford to close up shop for one year out of every four to select Presidential nominees. State-by-state primaries are too expensive, exhausting, and time consuming and the people know it. This is confirmed by a recent Harris Poll which says that 56 per cent of the voters believe that "Presidential primaries are a waste of a lot of time, energy, and money and in the end, the national conventions have to choose their nominee anyway."

American primaries are decided by the few people who vote in them. The Democratic Presidential nominee, who is claiming a solid mandate from the rank and file of his party, actually won only 39 percent of the total Democratic primary vote. The turnout in these primaries was very light. The primary method has other flaws. Early defeats in small states, like New Hampshire, can knock a deserving candidate out of the race, for lack of money and inability to raise funds.

On the other hand, primaries do open up the political process to unknown candidates, affording them a chance to win national attention. They also allow the voters to pick the delegates to their national conventions, opening the political process to the people, as well. But even many journalists have critically noted that much of the so-called "momentum" for candidates along the primary trail is manufactured as a series of "media events". At many rallies and hand-shaking tours, media representatives outnumber voters. I believe some reform of this process is necessary.

Changing to regional primaries would retain recognition of the differences which exist in various parts of the country, but would cut down on the time and money needed to choose the candidates of the major parties. With regional primaries, an early defeat in one small state would no longer mean that death knell of a candidate's campaign. Regional primaries might also stir more voter interest. The New Hampshire primary is considered critical because it is the first. But the fact remains, without disparaging the wisdom of the good people of that state, that New Hampshire has less than 1 percent of the nation's population. This is hardly a cross section of the American people. More people live in the Town of Hempstead than in New Hampshire!

After the first few primaries, national voter interest slacks off, and boredom becomes an important political factor. I don't believe Presidential candidates are carefully or usefully selected by a yawning, tired electorate.

Primaries, as such, are not all bad and should not be abandoned completely. They have their problems, but serve an important function of testing our would-be leaders. The 1976 Presidential election is still three months away, but it is not too early to talk about primary reform. Keep in mind that the 1980 Presidential campaign is only two years off, at the most, and if it isn't enough to provoke interest in reform, maybe we're all still asleep from the primaries.

DEVOTIONS

Trinity Lutheran Church
Dual-A-Devotion 931-2221

By Rev. J. H. Krahn

With the coming of the Holy Spirit an exclamation point was added to the Christian witness. Excitement had arrived. Power was present. Unbelief vanished. Fear fled. God, full throttle, was busy putting punch into preaching - cracking walls of unbelief, and giving the apostles a spiritual trip that they had never imagined possible.

At Pentecost the Church is born. It had ceased to be an expectant enclave and had now become a witnessing community. What emerged that day was a congregation filled with the power, excited over the message of salvation through Jesus Christ, alive at worship, consumed with love for one another, and devoted to the Lord. Their ministry was such that Luke tells us that the whole city was favorable to them.

We all get excited over the early success of the Christian Church for everyone likes to hear a success story. But, unfortunately, in the last ten to fifteen years there have been few success stories in the Church. Any church during the period that was merely holding its own was seen as doing exceptionally well. The Church has developed a failure mentality. At times even its leadership and its pastors speak in terms of its lessening influence and its ineffective witness. Disgraceful! All hell rejoices over such negatives.

When I recite the Creed every Sunday at our services, I believe what I say. "I believe in the Holy Ghost, the holy Christian Church, the holy Christian Church." I really do. And I know you do also. I believe it not only will remain; I believe it can flourish. The promises of God and the powerful Spirit are still with us, exclamation point (!).

There is no dream, no vision inspired by God having the blessing of His Spirit, that is unattainable for us. As a salesman member of our parish put it to me, "We have the greatest product there is, Jesus Christ." To which I might add, "We have a great area to market it. We live in a community stocked with thousands of potential customers. Only forty per cent of them are worshipping today." I have only the highest hopes for the Church's future.

"I believe in the Holy Spirit," exclamation point (!). "I believe in the Holy Christian Church," exclamation point (!). Pentecost continues to happen. The Spirit's power is ours. We must seize the moment and become a dynamic church in every way to the Glory of God until the Lord comes again, exclamation point (!). exclamation point (!), exclamation point (!).

Later in the year he will be presented with an Accutron watch at Grumman's 25-Year Club Luncheon which honors all 1976 anniversarians.

A CORRECTION: it was John, not Don, Milenko, a senior at Plainview-Old Bethpage High School who was the author of the July 22nd, Plainview Page One article, entitled "Plainview Hosts Bicentennial Meet." Sorry about that, John.

Celebrating his 25th year with Grumman is HICKSVILLIAN Nicholas P. De Marino. Dr. DeMarino is in the Operations Quality Survey Systems and Procedure Department. Later this year he will receive an Accutron watch when Grumman's honors all their 25 years employees at a luncheon.

Congratulations.

You will all be saddened to hear that Hicksville's own Elery Bean suffered a heart attack while vacationing in Canada with his beautiful wife, Jo. But you will be glad to hear that he is improving every day and according to a reliable source, should be home in another three weeks. Send get-well cards to Elery c/o L'Hotel-Dieu de Quebec, 11 Cote der Palais, Quebec, Canada. Get well soon, Ellery. We all miss you.

Congratulations to Walter Szatkowski of HICKSVILLE who recently celebrated 25 years with Grumman as a job coordinator in the Facilities Engineering Department in the Bethpage facility. Later this year he will receive an Accutron watch at this company's 25-Year Luncheon which honors all 1976 anniversarians.

Condolences to Emil Immesberger, on the loss of his mother who passed away on Saturday. We are so sorry to hear this news, Emil.

It's "Happy Anniversary" to his 25th with Grumman to John G. Foley of HICKSVILLE. Mr. Foley is in the Procurement Services Department in Grumman's Bethpage. Later this year he will receive an Accutron watch at Grumman's 25-Year Club Luncheon which honors all 1976 anniversarians.

Additional Meal Funds

ALBANY, N.Y. - New York State has received $3,520,000 in additional funds to operate nutrition sites for the elderly throughout the State. Mrs. Lou Glasse, Director of the State Office for the Aging announced that the additional funding resulted from the U.S. District Court (District of Columbia) order which instructed the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to release $37.5 million appropriated by Congress for fiscal year 1976 which had been impounded by HEW.

The Nutrition Program for the Elderly, administered by the State Office for the Aging, serves hot, well-balanced noon-day meals at congregate meal sites to New Yorkers aged 60 or over and their spouses of any age. In addition, each site provides a variety of supportive services such as recreation, shopping assistance, transportation, counseling and the opportunity for fun and companionship with people who share similar interests. Outreach programs to identify persons most in need of services are also part of the nutrition program.

As a result of the Court's ruling, the level of funding for the Nutrition Program in New York State is raised to approximately $19.3 million. Presently, there are 434 nutrition sites operating in 57 counties and the City of New York. During the month of May over 26,000 meals were served daily with a total of 542,353 meals served during the month - an increase of sixteen thousand over the total for the previous month.

Mrs. Lou Glasse termed the increased funds "absolutely necessary to ensure that the Nutrition Program continues to grow to meet the needs of older persons in the State. The State Office for the Aging will work to increase the number of meals served at existing sites to a minimum of 36,000 per day and to expand the program to new sites."

In awarding the new funds, the State Office has established the following priorities: To increase the number of meals served at existing sites; to open new sites; to expand services for low income and minority persons; to increase the number of home delivered meals

FROM OUTER SPACE

The U.F.O. dilemma - are they or aren't they there? And from where do they come? Perhaps because the longer, warmer days of summer have suburbanites spending more hours out-of-doors, reported sightings of unidentified flying objects increase at this time. Dick Ruhl of the Aerial Phenomenon Research Organization has investigated and reported on numerous sightings over Long Island. He will report on them using slides of some of the most authentic U.F.O. photos available to illustrate his talk presented by the Plainview-Old Bethpage Public Library on Wednesday, August 18, at 8 PM.

Tickets are required and available without charge to local school district residents one week in advance of the program. Others will be seated just before the program if space allows.

geographic barriers between Oyster Bay and the three Suffolk towns. Indeed, it probably would be easier to physically coordinate waste disposal efforts between the northern portion of Oyster Bay and neighboring Huntington Town than between northern Oyster Bay and with North Hempstead Town. Similarly, integration of waste disposal facilities between southern Oyster Bay and Babylon makes considerably more sense than integration of such facilities between Oyster Bay and far more densely populated Hempstead.

In my opinion, the only real barrier to Quadra-Town is political - i.e. that of coming up with a workable plan for governing an expanded regional district that would include Oyster Bay. However, this problem pales in comparison to the monumental three year political struggle that preceded agreement as to Tri-Town.

I believe nobody says it's going to be easy. But far-sighted solutions very rarely are. It's time for a truly broad based regional approach to solid waste disposal on Long Island, and "Quadra-Town" seems like the best bet.

News From Suburbia Federal

Positive increases in both assets and savings capital at the half-year point (June 30th) were announced by Andrew P. Kane, Jr., President of Suburbia Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Mr. Kane said that "assets increased from $465,385,531 at year-end 1975 to $484,387,037 on June 30, 1976 - an increase of 4.1 percent. During a like period, there was a 5.4 percent increase in savings capital, from $398,514,728 to $420,012,852."

Suburbia Federal's executive office is located in Garden City. Other Nassau County branch offices include East Rockaway, East Meadow, West Hempstead, Lynbrook, and Plainview. Suffolk County branch offices are maintained in Huntington, Patchogue, and Kings Park.

Robert E. Landry a certified public accountant with offices in White Plains, has been elected a trustee of Eastern Savings Bank, it was announced today by John M. Nosworthy, chairman of the bank.

Mr. Landry is the principal in a firm that numbers among its clients the White Plains Chamber of Commerce and the Westchester County Association. He is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the New York State Society of CPA's, and is president-elect of the Westchester Hills Golf Club.

A graduate of Notre Dame University, Mr. Landry is a resident of White Plains, where he lives with his wife and three children.

Dental Assistants Graduate

The Nassau County Medical Center has just graduated the first class of dental assistants from a unique program which gives students a first-hand, day-to-day dental office experience.

Of the six graduates, three have been placed by the medical center in dental offices. Two others have decided to pursue college careers and will be entering college this fall. The six graduates are: Diane Vancott and Nancy Lecky of Massapequa, Teresa Rubino of East Meadow, Robin Fox and Lisa Bottemus of Old Westbury and Tina Borden of Port Washington.

The second class in this hospital-based, six-month program, the only one of its kind on Long Island, began its training this week and is expected to graduate in December. The courses are sponsored by the Nassau County Medical Center's Auxiliary and the Department of Dentistry.

Under the program established by Dr. Bernard Borden, chairman of the medical center's Department of Dentistry, six young women (17 to 20 years old) rotate through the various areas of the medical center's busy dental office each day. Most of their time is spent working side by side with the dentists, helping to treat the patients. In addition to giving chair-side assistance, the students work in the business office, learning to file, handle phones and keep patient records and accounts.

Besides the opportunity of gaining experience with supervision at the dentist's side, the students attend lectures and seminars given by practicing dentists, certified dental assistants and registered dental hygienists.

Dr. Bernard Borden said: "The dental assistants program being offered at the Nassau County Medical Center combines both the didactic and practical experience necessary for work in a busy dental office. Because good dental assistants are hard to come by, our objective is to train our students so they can be effective and efficient assistants in a general practice office."

Under the direction of Dr. Robert B. Raskin, D.M.D., the students rotate through the offices of attending dentists to become familiar with both general dentistry and specialty work. The first graduating class of dental assistants to receive certificates of completion from the Nassau County Medical Center acquired sufficient training for placement in a variety of specialty fields, including oral surgery.
