Hurricane Keeps Vamps On Run For 5 Hours

By Ex-Capt. Owen Magee

Hicksville firemen were kept busy on Aug. 9 & 10 when Hurricane Belle blew into town. Some 50 men under Chief Roy Schaaf stood by during the storm from 10 PM thru 3 AM. Most of the men got in a few hours sleep before they had to report to their regular jobs. The Vamps responded to 33 storm emergencies and several rescue calls. Most of the fire calls were downed power lines or wires burning in the trees. Vamps could do no more than check for fires and advise residents to stay away from metal fences as many lines were down on fences. A wire could be on a fence several houses away and if all the houses in between had fences the current could be carried down to the rest of the street.

Members of P. H. and L. Company No. 1 of Hicksville pose after winning annual Inter Company Tourney. "Keep on truckin'".

The apparatus of Hose Co. No. 4 was damaged when it was struck by a car at Plainview Rd. & Park Ave. No injuries were reported. The truck was responding to a fire call during the storm.

A smoky fire did considerable damage to a home at 64 Cedar St. on August 1st at 6:55 PM. The fire was believed to have started in a couch in the living room. The fire was knocked down in ten minutes. The home suffered smoke & water damage.

Eliminate False Alarms For Vamps

During the period July 27 thru Aug. 10 the Hicksville F.D. responded to 93 alarms. There were 27 rescue calls, 55 fire calls and 11 false alarms. There were 6 M.F.A. in one night. We list the locations to show which boxes are being abused and request residents in these areas to keep an eye peeled for anyone seen pulling an alarm. Cooperation is important as we've said. Many times in the past as a false report of a fire can delay the response of firemen to a real fire. The false alarms were received from the following locations:

Jersey St. & Meyers Ave.
Linden Blvd. (center) - 2
Shady La. & Walnut La. - 2
Cottage Blvd. & Essex La. - 2
Fordham Rd. & Woodbine Dr. No.

Parade & Drill Awards
The Ladies Aux. won a 1st place award for best marching unit at the recent Woodmere parade. The next parade and drill will be the N.Y. State Firemen's Convention to be held at Watertown, N.Y. starting August 17.

Ladder Co. 1 Champs Again
The members of Protection Hook & Ladder Co. 1 of Hicksville won top honors again this year at the annual H.F.D. Inter-Company drill held recently. Co. No. 1 "Truckies" piled up a total of 20 1/2 points. They kept on truckin' right over 2nd place. Co. No. 3 and 3rd place Co. No. 7 (both engine companies). Co. No. 1 is led by Capt. Gerard O'Brien. They were the defending champs.
Sick List - Ex-Chief Henry Gebhard and Ex-Capt. Joe Eisenman are home from a stay in local hospitals but are still off their feet. Both of these men have served the community for years. We know that all residents join with us in wishing them the best and hope for a speedy recovery. They helped make Hicksville a safer and better community to live in.

Town Approves Stop Signs On Miller Road

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Thomas L. Clark announced that the Town Board has approved the placement of stop signs on Miller Road in Hicksville at the intersections of Twin Lawns Avenue and Ronald Avenue, requiring northbound and southbound traffic on Miller Road to stop at both intersections.

Noting that the intersection of Miller Road and Ronald Avenue was the site of a tragic accident earlier this year, Clark said the Sign Bureau of the Town's Department of Public Works has already undertaken measures to improve traffic safety in the immediate area. "In addition," stated the Councilman, "I asked the Town board to consider the installation of stop signs in these two locations on Miller Road to further assure that unfortunate occurrences such as that which recently took place will not be permitted to happen again." A number of local residents spoke in favor of the additional traffic devices at a public hearing held two weeks ago. Clark, a resident of Hicksville, stated that the Board's action on Tuesday, August 10th formally authorizes installation of the signs.

ONCE AROUND THE MALL. Town and Plaza-sponsored Ballroom Dancing session held last week. Those who joined in, as well as those who just watched, were treated to an exhibition of the latest dance steps.

In Memoriam: Peter Seitz - Manou Partow

By Richard Evers
Amid the joys of Bicentennial celebration and summer vacations, Hicksville's people were reminded of their mortality by the recent passing of two men of notable service to the community. Peter Seitz and Dr. Manou Partow. It is fitting that their lives and contributions be recalled. PETER SEITZ Mr. Seitz's passing saddened many American Legionnaires and longtime acquaintances in the Hicksville Public School system where he was the district plumber for many years. His truck was a familiar sight in all our school yards. Always in good humor, Pete was quite adept at coping with the mishaps plaguing schools- the leaky faucets, toilets stuffed up with the myriad objects mischievous young scholars employ and the balky EXHIBIT "A": Nassau County 8th Precinct Patrolman Matthew Brady, left, and Sergeant William Dimmler enter this pile of bundled newspapers into their morning's log as evidence against two scavengers who were arrested earlier this week. Hicksville resident, District Court Judge Warren Doolittle, relayed his suspicions to the police after he witnessed the men busily loading their vehicle with his neighbor's soon-to-be recycled paper. Bundled newspapers placed at curbside are for pickup by Town of Oyster Bay vehicles only, as part of the Town's newspaper recycling program; a fact Judge Doolittle, a former Town Councilman, was well aware.

School Assessment Roll Increases

The Nassau County 1976-77 School Assessment Roll figures released on August 4th indicate an increase in the total assessed valuation of the county's 62 school districts of $19,729,711 for a total county valuation of $3,556,411,755 according to Abe Seldin, chairman of the Nassau County Board of Assessors. The figure represents a 558 percent increase in assessment for the 1976-77 as compared to 861 percent increase last year.

"The small increase in the assessment roll is reflective of the continued slowdown in the construction industry within the County," stated Seldin, "we see this trend changing, however, as indicated by an increase in the number of building permits being issued by the various municipalities throughout the county during the spring and summer of this year."

The negative factors affecting the assessment roll originate in three main areas. 1) Court ordered decreases in assessment coupled with reductions due to past economic conditions. 2) A minimal amount of construction in new buildings or improvements. 3) Loss of special franchise assessments caused by a decrease in the State Equalization Rate (the ratio of assessed valuation to market value). Franchise assessments, determined, by the State of New York, are those levied upon property and equipment of public utilities, such as pole and wires, which utilize public roads, right-of-ways, and cross public property.

Of the 62 school districts, 58 increased in assessed valuation while 4 showed decreases. Those districts which decreased include Valley Stream-0.36 percent, Long Beach-0.49 percent, Uniondale-0.17 percent and Hempstead-0.31 percent. Those districts with the great increases are:

- Town of Hempstead Bellmore-1.24 percent
- Seaford-1.02 percent
- Merrick-.77 percent
- Town of Oyster Bay Amityville-5.50 percent
- Syosset-3.97 percent
- Jericho-1.95 percent

BEATING THE HEAT AT CANTIAGUE PARK - From the cool waters of the Cantiguage Park pool to the igloo-like dome of Cantiguage's ice rink is the route Debbie O'Connor of Locust Valley demonstrates.

The Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks' facility is open to all county residents with a Leisure Pass and their guests. A two-hour public session at the ice rink begins daily at 1 p.m. and an evening session begins 8 p.m. every Friday, Saturday and Wednesday.

The daily pool fee and the 2-hour rink fee for county residents is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children, age 5-17. Guests pay double the resident rate.

The pool and ice rink will be open daily through Labor Day, September 6, and the ice rink is scheduled to open again on Friday, September 17.

Cantiague Park is located on West John Street in Hicksville.

Tony Bennett To Help United Way

Singer Tony Bennett, a native of Flushing, Long Island, has been selected as National Chairman of United Way's "To The People Campaign" for 1976. More than 2,300 United Way organizations, including the United Way of Nassau-Suffolk, raise over one billion dollars to support the work of 37,000 human care agencies under the United Way banner each year and over 20 million volunteers are involved. The United Way of Nassau-Suffolk's 1976 campaign goal, to help support 97 agencies and hospitals, an increase of $600,000 over the 1975 goal.

Bennett, long known for his warm touch with the lyric of a song, didn't really leave his heart in San Francisco after all. He has worked with numerous United Way agencies and programs over the years and has now been selected to head up the campaign to tell the United Way story in heart-to-heart terms.

Earlier this year, Bennett joined Jack Russell, Vice President-Customer Relations of Long Island Lighting Company and 1976 United Way of Nassau-Suffolk Marketing Chairman, in promoting Long Island's 1976 campaign. This campaign will be conducted during September, October and November and Bennett will be appearing on network television and in concert for the United Way.

Bennett has just introduced a new theme song entitled, "There's Always Tomorrow" for United Way written by Sammy Cahn and Torrie Zito. With Cahn and Bennett teaming, the disc, released on the Improv Label, promises to go to the top of the charts and all proceeds go to United Way's campaign.

Like the campaign, which also features Bennett in a series of TV and radio spots, the song talks about love and hope. "There's Always Tomorrow as long as there's love." An extensive print program with Tony has been developed also, spotlighting the United Way agencies, telling the stories of Day Care Centers, Hearing & Speech Clinics and how United Way works to help the sick and the aged.

"The United Way really does work for all of us," Bennett said, "not just the people who need help, but people like you and me who want to help. I've come to realize that United Way is the best way to do that, because at least 85 cents of every dollar we give actually goes to the agencies to help people. I'm trying to get that message of the economy of the United Way of giving across and at the same time, help people to see what their help means in the lives of people—people who but for a bad break are just like they are. It's an important message."

"But, I've got some great helpers. All you have to do is visit one of these agencies and see the children and talk to the people and you know how important giving really is. I never forget that when we can give to help someone else, we're the lucky ones, and if we can give love, that's the greatest gift."

Olympic Caliber Sports Center At Mitchel

The federal government should give serious consideration to a regional network of Olympic-caliber sports centers "to serve the athletic talents of the nation's youth," said County Exec. Ralph Caso.

"We are a nation rich in athletic ability as witnessed by the outstanding performances at the Montreal Olympic games," he observed. "Unfortunately, we are poor in the facilities our future athletes must have to develop their potential."

Caso made the proposal in letters to U.S. and Long Island Olympic officials, as well as the President's Commission on Olympic Sports.

"Our Olympic athletes already compete at a disadvantage against government-subsidized athletes from other nations," Caso said. "I do not think we should change our amateur policy, but the least we can do is see that our competitors have access to facilities that offer top level instructional and competitive sports training."

The county executive pointed out that in 1973 Nassau County developed a detailed plan for the construction of an Olympic-caliber recreation center at Mitchel Field.

"The proposed facility, which included an indoor aquatics component capable of attracting the highest level of water sports competition and a multiple-use sports center for track and field, court games and gymnastics, was designed to meet the needs of our county and our region," Caso said. "Those needs were apparent after the 1972 Olympics and are even more so today after Montreal."

Caso said the plan remains on the drawing boards because the county lacks the money to go it alone.

"It is my belief that the federal government should provide the funds to construct the planned Mitchel Park facilities, operated by recreation officials at the local level, should also be built in the other regions of the country."

Caso outlined the proposal in letters to Philip Kruman, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee; Samuel Sloane, executive director of the committee; Edward Mosler, chairman of the committee; Keith Berry, chairman of the L.I. Olympic Committee, and Michael Harrigan, executive director of the President's Commission on Olympic Sports.

It also coincided with Caso's presentation of the Nassau Distinguished Service Award on Saturday, Aug. 7 to Howard Davis of Glen Cove, an Olympic Gold Medalist in boxing at the Montreal games.

In its first year of operation, it raised a record 35-thousand dollars - helping to provide the much-needed vital support to the more than 1100 cerebral palsied youngsters and adults serviced on a daily basis at the world-famed 14-acre "Center for Living" complex in Roosevelt, New York.

Staffed by volunteers, "New Concept" depends chiefly on the donations of merchandise and the diligent participation of its staff to maintain its continued successful operation. Dear Friends ...

Victims of hurricane Belle who hope to apply for federal disaster loans should start by contacting the Nassau County Police Department's Office of Civil Preparedness.

Inspector William Hildebrand, commanding officer of the Civil Preparedness unit tells us that damage information is necessary in order to justify a loan from the Small Business Bureau.

"Victims of the storm should furnish us with their names, addresses, type of damage and estimated cost of repair and any insurance coverage they may have," Hildebrand declared, "if they hope to have the Small Business Bureau justify a disaster declaration."

Further information can be obtained by calling the Office of Civil Preparedness at 535-5555 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. from Monday through Friday.

AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHERS ... hurry ... hurry ... hurry! The "New Angles" county-wide photo contest ends Monday, Sept. 6. Rules and applications are still available at all County Parks and Museums. Who knows, this may be a step in the direction of a career in photography.

Kudoes to our County for it has been chosen one of eight sites in the entire country for an in-depth, comprehensive case study report on programs for the aging. Our County programs have successfully met the increasing needs for new services for the elderly and our programs in this area will serve as examples throughout our country.

HEAR THIS ... more than 500 senior citizens participated in the second annual Walk or Wheel-a-thon and raised over $2,000 to help in the March of Dimes fight against birth defects. Residents of twelve nursing homes and health-related facilities around our County demonstrated their concern for the health of future generations by walking or wheeling a five-mile course around their residence grounds. We think this really deserves repeating ... and should serve as an example for all of us. ANOTHER WORTHY EFFORT! was made recently by the Clients of the Adult Services Dept. of the Nassau County United Cerebral Palsy Association, who raised some $150 in a raffle to benefit the victims of the recent earthquakes in Italy. We are so proud of these efforts. They are an inspiration to all.

THAT'S ALL for this week. Stay well and remember the old saying, "A new broom won't sweep clean unless someone uses it."

How The House Of Representatives Could Save "An Easy Million"

By Cong. Norman F. Lent

The House of Representatives could save a million dollars, in printing costs alone, and endless hours of staff work every year by reforming just one House rule. I'm talking about Rule XXII, which limits the number of cosponsors a bill may have to 25 Members of Congress.

When Rule XXII took effect in 1967, Members soon learned that they could get around it by introducing an identical bill with a different bill number. Many people are unaware of the expense incurred introducing a bill in Congress. For each bill that is introduced, 3000 copies must be printed. For a two-page bill the cost of printing is $78. Eight-pages - the average length of a bill - cost $328 to print and for a 20-page bill, the cost soars to $659.

Duplicate bills result in duplicate printing costs. As of June, 16,989 bills had been introduced in the 94th Congress. Over 6,600, or 39 percent, were duplicates. When an average-sized bill of eight-pages is reintroduced on a different day, the additional cost in printing alone is $102. Multiply that by 6,644 duplicate bills and we find that $677,688 has already been wasted on unnecessary bill duplication so far this session.

Duplicate bills have another undesirable effect: confusion. At one time or another, every Member and every congressional office has experienced difficulty in tracking the progress of an issue because the volume of duplicate legislation is constantly multiplying at a rate which would make rabbits envious. The difficulties experienced by congressional staff are magnified for the average citizen trying to follow a particular issue through the legislative process.

Rep. William Ketchum (R-Cal.) has introduced H. Res. 1317 which would eliminate the limit of 25 cosponsors. I am strongly in favor of this bill, but to eliminate wasteful duplication, I have refrained from cosponsoring a duplicate resolution.

200 Years Of Franco-American Friendship

Old Westbury Gardens announces the opening, on Sunday, August 15th, at Westbury House, of an exhibition illustrating the role played by France in helping the United States gain their independence. The exhibition is on loan from the collections of the Chateau de Blerancourt (France), also known as the National Museum of Franco-American cooperation. The exhibition will be open from Sunday, August 15th through Sunday, October 31st, every day but Monday and Tuesday, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

In 1917 a group of American women under the leadership of Miss Ann Morgan, daughter of financier Pierrepont Morgan, came to France to assist women and children in the combat zone who had lost their homes. They were assigned as headquarters the Chateau de Blerancourt, in the North of France, the site of many bloody battles. Once the victory had been won the same group helped the inhabitants to reconstruct their ruined homes and lives. From that same concern came the idea of a museum devoted to Franco-American friendship. The still beautiful remains of the 17th-century Chateau de Blerancourt were acquired by Miss Morgan and her friends and restored. It was an ideal setting for a museum: a collection was assembled, soon it was presented to the French in 1925 and in 1929 became the "National Museum of Franco-American Friendship", administered and maintained by the French Government. A Society of Friends of the Museum provide funds for acquisitions.

In 1975 it was decided to celebrate the long Franco-American friendship with a special exhibition. The Kodak company was approached and agreed to take pictures of the most important items shown in the museum. Two copies were made, one with English captions, one in French. The latter was shown at the Grand Palais in Paris, extremely well received and held for several weeks. It is now showing in the provinces. The American edition was sent to Houston for the visit of the French president, Giscard d'Estaing, and is now installed at Old Westbury Gardens. It has 53 large colored photographs of the original works of art, prints, busts and memorabilia belonging to the Blerancourt Museum. It is a fascinating vignette of history, beginning with a print of the Boston Tea Party, the pulling down of the statue of George III in New York, several little known pictures and busts of Washington (by Samuel Green), Franklin, Lafayette, Admiral de Grasses, General Rochambeau. There are also numerous pictures of sea battles, sieges and the surrender of General Howe at Yorktown.

The French and the Americans have been allies in three great wars, 1776, 1918, 1945. In each war it has been this Franco-American alliance that has insured their final victory. What subject could be better chosen for this year of the Bicentennial?

The admission charge of $3.00 will include entrance to the Gardens and Westbury House, the Georgian mansion with its outstanding collection of English eighteenth century furniture and paintings. Children aged 6 - 12, $1.50 Members free.

Old Westbury Gardens is located on Old Westbury Road, between Jericho Turnpike and the Long Island Expressway, in Old Westbury, New York. For further information, call: 333-0048

New Treatment

State Senator Ralph J. Marino, Chairman of the Committee on Crime & Correction, expressed pleasure recently upon the signing into law of a bill he introduced that will help monitor and treat the criminal mentally ill in the state's penal institutions.

The measure requires establishment of psychiatric service units by the Department of Mental Hygiene in all correctional facilities starting September 1. The Department will be responsible for treating those inmates in need of psychiatric care but who are not so mentally ill that they require hospitalization.

"I am hoping the Department will move ahead quickly to organize the therapeutic services sorely needed in our prisons and jails," said Marino. "I believe their expertise, utilized in cooperation with the Department of Correctional Services, will relieve the pressures both suffered by and imposed by troubled inmates in a troubling environment."

The bill further transfers the jurisdiction of Matteawan State Hospital for the criminal mentally ill from the Department of Correctional Services to the Department of Mental Hygiene, a goal long sought by Marino.

Government Contract Awarded

A $83,200 government contract has been awarded Amperex Electronic Corporation in Hicksville, by the Defense Supply Agency's Defense Electronics Supply Center, Dayton, Ohio. It calls for manufacture of 160 electron tubes. The Defense Electronics Supply Center procures, manages and supplies common electronic parts used by the armed services and various other government agencies.

Public Pension Reform

Albany, N.Y.—Public Pension Reform became a reality when the hard-fought reform bill passed in the waning hours of the 1976 legislative session — was signed by the Governor, July 27.

Joseph P. Halwachs, president, Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, Inc. (CPES) called it "The Taxpayer Victory of the Year."

CPES, the statewide taxpayers research organization and some 200 local taxpayer groups which make up its ten regional Action Councils, have been strong supporters of the bill which will save taxpayers an estimated $1.4 billion in public pension costs over the next ten years.

The new provisions which apply only to employees hired after July 1, 1976, will replace the present program, which contains eight separate systems, with one uniform plan to cover all the State's public employees. In addition, the new law cuts back pension costs to the extent of 50 per cent of Social Security expenditures (the portion paid by the taxpayers) and requires each public employee to contribute 3 per cent of his salary to his pension fund.

"It is an enormous step toward the restoration of fiscal stability in New York," Halwachs said, pointing to "the frightening escalation" of these costs as probably the most important single factor "in bringing New York City to its knees and forcing massive layoffs and service cutbacks in upstate communities."

"It is especially gratifying," he said, "that the grassroots taxpayers played such a significant part in pushing the legislation through. It was steady pressure from people across the state that breathed new life into the bill after it was left for dead late in the session."

"It is the first time in recent years," Halwachs said, "that political considerations on a controversial issue have had to take second place — and the Legislature has so clearly responded to the wishes of the people. Let's hope it's an omen for legislation yet to come."

Programs Rescheduled

Due to hurricane "Belle," free performances at Eisenhower Park's Lakeside Theatre have been rescheduled by the Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks and include: Israeli Night for August 16 (formerly August 9) and American Heritage Night for August 23 (formerly August 16), both at 8:30 p.m.

The Israeli Night revue features actor-singer Bruce Adler; singers Norman Atkins, Gail Malmuth and Mary Wakefield; the Ayalons, a quartet of singing pranksters; violinist Sascha Tormas and an Israeli Folk Dance Ensemble.

American Heritage Night will highlight segments of each of this year's ethnic night presentations at the Lakeside Theatre, depicting America as it is — a melting pot of Nationalities — and will spotlight the United Nations Singers.

Both shows are the last two to be presented in the department's American Ethnic Heritage Night series, co-sponsored by the F & M Schaefer Brewing Company.

Modified Softball Champs

Mah Jong Restaurant's powerful team last night won the Long Island Modified Softball Association's 3rd Annual Championship Tournament by beating the Staten Island Major League's Inn by the Wayside, 6-5.

Ernie Rauch of Mah Jong won 3 games in the tournament on his way to the Most Valuable Player award for Mah Jong. Wayside's Charlie Bennett won his club's MVP trophy.

After Wayside scored a run on Bennetti's single in the top of the first inning, Mah Jong lead-off man Tommy Newman came back with an inside-the-park homer on a drive to deep right-center. Mah Jong hit the board again in the second when John Rizzo tripled and scored on Ron Lacey's sacrifice fly.

Mah Jong and Wayside scored three runs apiece in the fourth as both teams had their only serious defensive breakdowns of the night. Wayside then tied the score in the sixth on Mike Makris'

Mah Jong's winning run came on Lacey's single and walks to Rauch, Josh Gambardella and Rich Froelich in the last of the eighth. Rauch then put Wayside down 1-2-3 in the top of the ninth for the title -- and Mah Jong's 40th straight win over the past two seasons.

Mah Jong resumes its Plainview Night League schedule at Plainview Community Park later this week.

Swim Meet Set For Aug 17

Oyster Bay Town residents will feel the excitement of an evening of competitive swimming by coming to Plainview-Old Bethpage Community Park, Tuesday, August 17, when teams from the Town's four community parks race against the clock and each other in the Annual Town of Oyster Bay Swim Championship.

Town Councilman Salvatore R. Mosca explained that the teams are an outgrowth of swim instruction offered by the Department of Parks and Recreation. He said that the competitive swimming was organized in response to requests for such an activity by Town youngsters.

Each team--Bethpage, Plainview-Old Bethpage, Syosset-Woodbury and Marjorie R. Post (Massapequa)--trains through the summer under a lifeguard who is experienced in competitive swimming. The teams complete throughout Nassau County as members of the County Swim Conference. The overall emphasis is on improving skills and sportsmanship.

The Swim Championship will be held at the Plainview-Old Bethpage Community Park, Washington Avenue, Plainview, beginning at 5 P.M.

For further information on the Swim Championship, call 433-8810.

Form CB Radio Club

Some thirty employees of St. Francis Hospital and Heart Center in Roslyn have formed a "C.B." (citizens' band) Radio Club to provide a two-way communications system in times of man-made or natural disasters.

Called "Stat 1000" the new club utilizes channel 12 on the citizens' band wavelengths. According to Hematology Technologist William Forde, one of the founders, the club can offer community service by mobilizing its members to provide a communications system in emergency situations. "Since automobile 'C.B.' radios do not depend on the public electricity system, our members could be especially helpful in such disasters as power blackouts and hurricanes."

The club participated in the "C.B." Fair held at the Nassau Coliseum June 26 and 27. In a booth sponsored by S-9 Magazine, the members demonstrated the public service usages of citizens' band radios. On a recent occasion, club members acted as couriers to secure reserves of a rare blood type for an emergency open heart operation.

heating systems of the "temporaries".

Pete Seitz was widely known, also, among the veterans groups of Hicksville as a band leader and Legionnaire. Indeed, it is his over-ten years of service to young people for which Pete is most deservedly remembered. He was a familiar face and presence at so many patriotic and youth affairs over the years, marching beside his boys and girls of the Charles Wagner Post's "Bellaires". The ringing of the glockenspiel bells and the distinctive "street beat" of his drummers will never be forgotten by those who stepped rhythmically behind them on parade.

Pete Seitz was active in numerous veterans affairs. He held a Life Membership in the Charles Wagner Post of the American Legion - an honor never before accorded a 'non-commander' in Hicksville. He was also a member of the Nassau County Color Guard and the Forty and Eight organization. Pete was also proud to wear the bonnet and regalia of the Comanche Raiders, the colorful Nassau musical group.

He died as he might well have wanted to, with the tools of his trade close at hand, while advising a son on a home plumbing repair. A man of simple pleasures, of great fondness for his family and pride in his own children and his "countless youngsters" in the American Legion band, Peter Seitz leave a void his comrades find hard to fill. An honor guard of the Charles Wagner Post Color Guard, of which Pete was a long-time member, mounted guard for their departed buddy, the night preceding his funeral.

Odometer Readings

As a consumer service, the Department of Motor Vehicles has requested law enforcement agencies to record odometer readings on all impounded vehicles. Odometer readings are used to determine the mileage a car has been driven - a record that most times affects the auto's re-sale value.

"This would give enforcement agencies a mileage record on impounded cars sold at auction and would be a reliable source of accurate information in the event of a future rollback prosecution," DMV Commissioner James P. Melton noted.

Commissioner Melton added, "We are aware that many enforcement agencies do record this information, but we would like to encourage others to do so in order to protect the future consumer."

The recommendation was made by the Department following successful investigations by DMV officials into many cases of odometer rollbacks.

Hicksville Champs

Douglas Endorf of Hicksville won the Junior Kickers Golf Tournament at Cantiague Park with a low score of 35.

Daniel Garvey, also of Hicksville, carded a 38 to take second place.

The tournament for youngsters age 10-14 was conducted by the Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks.

these last ten years. An Iranian by birth, trained in Europe, Dr. Partow was a modest man with a sincere interest in his patients.

As a medical man he proved to be conservative in diagnosis but advanced in his treatment and prescription. A sometime surgeon, involved with a large general practice, he still found time for house calls. He was an unassuming gentleman, serving at times in recent years in spite of ailments of his own. Dr. Partow will be remembered for his attentiveness, solicitude and skillful diagnosis. Hicksville's medical fraternity is much the less for the passing of this Middle Eastern-American who gallantly bore his own frailty in generous service to humanity.

Letters To The Editor

To The Editor:

An alert Hicksville resident last week observed two young men in a pickup truck collecting bundled newspapers placed at curbside for pickup by Town vehicles as part of the newspaper recycling program. Despite the men's claim that they were Town employees, the resident relayed his suspicions to the 8th Precinct. Sergeant Dimmler and Patrolman Brady were dispatched to the area, and apprehended the two illegal scavengers.

This is far from a trivial matter. As mentioned in this column several weeks ago, the tonnage collected in recent months has been about half of that collected a year ago. At current market prices, it has been estimated that the Town is losing in the vicinity of $4,000 per month in revenues derived from the sale of recycled paper.

I would again urge that all Town residents assist us in stopping these illegal activities. If you observe anyone other than those in a Town vehicle picking up newspapers, please call the Sanitation Collection Division at 921-3850 with a description of the vehicle and its license number, if possible.

By the way, the alert Hicksville resident involved in the above incident is District Court Judge Warren M. Doolittle, who was an Oyster Bay Town Councilman when the Town initiated its newspaper recycling program.

During the summer months it is rare for a week to pass without this office receiving a letter from a boater praising the efforts of our bay constables in responding to a boat in distress. Recently, such a letter was received from the commanding officer of the Eatons Neck Coast Guard Station commending the performance of our men following the capsizing of numerous sailboats in Long Island Sound from a sudden squall. We are proud of the professionalism and dedication of these men.

L.I. Woodwind Quartet

Friends of the Arts present the Long Island Woodwind Quintet in a delightful program of Music for a Summer Evening on Saturday, August 21, on the lawn at Planting Fields Arboretum, Oyster Bay, N.Y. Music for a Summer Evening will include light-hearted selections ranging from Baroque to Folk.

The Long Island Woodwind Quintet, now in its fourth season, is composed of local professional musicians noted in the field of performance on Long Island. The members are: Theodore Mor-doff, flute, Nicholas Apostle, oboe, Benedict Didia, clarinet, William Katz, bassoon, and Arthur Green, French horn. Their professional experiences include performances with the Boston Pops, Radio City Music Hall, Miami Symphony orchestras, Long Island Baroque Ensemble, Broadway shows, television and recordings.

The concert begins at 7:30; gates will open at 6:30. Planting Fields does not allow picnicking, but patrons are invited to stroll around the Arboretum grounds. Bring a blanket or a chair. Admission is $2.50 for adults; children under 12, $1.00. In the event of rain, the concert will be held inside Coe Hall. Due to the limited seating facilities, only the first 120 tickets will be granted admission to the Hall. All subsequent applications will receive rainchecks. Tickets may be obtained by sending a check, together with a stamped, self-addressed envelope to F.O.T.A., Box 198, Locust Valley, N.Y. 11560. For further information, call 516-671-1843.

Plans Pro Tennis Fund Raiser

Howard T. (Tom) Hogan, Jr., Republican-Conservative Candidate in the 3rd Congressional District will undertake a unique method of campaign fund raising by holding a Tennis Exhibition later this month between a long-standing tennis super-star and the current fourth ranked professional in the United States.

Planning to pit Roy Emmerson, whose record of doubles championships is unmatched by any of today's active players, against 22 year old Vitas Gerulaitis, Hogan said, "I am hoping the exhibition will prove more enjoyable than most other forms of fund-raising events. The match certainly will be an exciting and entertaining exhibition for anyone who has been tempted to participate in this increasingly popular sport."

The Australian singles champ and two time singles king at Wimbledon has won multiple doubles championships in almost every major international tournament. In addition to his 1964 and 1965 singles victories at Wimbledon, he was part of the victorious doubles team in 1971. The singles champ at Forest Hills in 1964, Emmerson was on the victorious doubles teams at Forest Hills for four years.

In the exhibition scheduled for Saturday, August 28, 1976, at East Over on Centre Island, Oyster Bay, Emmerson will meet the highly respected Gerulaitis who this year defeated Arthur Ashe to become a quarter finalist in Wimbledon. In 1975, Gerulaitis was part of the Wimbledon doubles championship team and also reached the singles finals in the last year's U.S. professional indoor and national indoor championships.

Children's Movies

Three films for children, MADELINE AND HER BAD HAT, PHILLIP AND THE WHITE COLT, and ZLATEH THE GOAT, wind up this summer's "Monday At The Movies" at the Hicksville Public Library.

Showtime is 2 o'clock, August 16th.

There'll Be A Change In The Weather

A change in the weather is under way, according to New York Telephone. Many callers to WE 6-1212, the weather number in New York since 1939, are receiving a new electronic weather service. By Aug. 15, everyone in the Long Island, New York and Westchester-Rockland County areas will get the new service.

If a man answers, don't hang up. Each of the new one-minute weathercasts opens with a male voice giving the current temperature. Customers in Nassau and Suffolk counties will be given the current temperature in Deer Park. Through the use of a temperature sensing device, temperature changes are fed into the new weather system instantaneously, rather than at hourly intervals.

The temperature will be followed by a complete local weather forecast provided by the National Weather Service. Professional meteorologists will record the forecast, which will be updated throughout the day.

The complex, multi-channel announcement equipment necessary for this new weather service was produced by Audichron Company of Atlanta, Georgia. Unlike the old "bargain" system, each call to WE 6-1212 will now begin at the start of the message. Each caller will be given the message in 60 seconds, after which the call will be disconnected.

Inflation-Fighting Food Ideas

SAVOR SOME TWO-IN-ONE SUMMER SPECIALS

Summer's here, and with it weekends on the boat, at the beach house or in the country. Try this gem of an idea for menus in the simplest, easiest fashion. Take along some cans of wide fluted pasta with little meatballs in tomato sauce. Comes dinner time, use imagination plus additional shelf products, and you're ready to serve plenty of different dishes in minutes. Here are two great, easy fish casseroles that will keep mom out of the kitchen and satisfy those outdoor appetites, too.

ROLLER BAKE

- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 can (15 oz.) Chef Boy-ard® Roller Coasters
- 1/4 cup sour cream
- 1 can (7-3/4 oz.) salmon, boned and flaked or 1 can (7 oz.) tuna fish, flaked
- 1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
- 1 package (10 oz.) frozen mixed vegetables, cooked and drained

Saute onion, pepper, garlic in butter. Combine all ingredients except mixed vegetables. Pour half of Roller Coaster mixture in bottom of 2 quart casserole; top with mixed vegetables; add remaining Roller Coaster mixed and bake in a preheated 350°F. oven for 30 minutes. Serves 4.

TUNA DIVAN

- 2 cans (15 oz. each) Chef Boy-ard® Roller Coasters
- 2 cans (7 oz. each) tuna, drained and flaked
- 1 can (3 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
- 1 package (10 oz.) frozen mixed vegetables, cooked
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1/8 cup milk
- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
- 1/2 cup bread crumbs

Combine Roller Coasters, tuna, mushrooms, vegetables, onion, Parmesan cheese, milk and sour cream together until well blended. Pour mixture into a 2 quart casserole. Blend butter with bread crumbs. Sprinkle bread crumbs around the edges of casserole. Bake uncovered at 350°F. for 30 to 35 minutes. Garnish with green pepper rings. Serves 6 to 8.

THE WORLD of REAL ESTATE

by HOWARD L. SHONTING, Realtor

THE AMERICAN DREAM

It's the single-family home, the detached house on its own lot. It remains the American dream, the goal of most American families. This is clearly brought out in the Consumer/Builder survey conducted the past two years by Professional Builder, leading national building trade publication in Chicago.

In 1974, the survey showed 92.7 percent of active home shoppers wanted a single family home. In 1975 this figure increased to 94.2 percent. And it remains high among potential buyers — those families not currently in the market for new housing.

Many of these home buyers will eventually settle for some form of attached housing: duplex, townhouse, or condominium. But most buyers will continue to dream of the detached privacy of single family amenities. Buyers will also seek housing at a price they can afford. For most families, this means a price tag less than $45,000. Three out of four active home shoppers are seeking homes in price ranges below $45,000 and 16.6 percent are looking for homes priced under $25,000.

Of Things to Come

Builders will be offering smaller homes on smaller lots as a means of reducing costs. They will also build homes that can be expanded at a later date.

Builders will be giving guarantees and warranties because most home buyers are becoming cost and quality conscious. Also, builders are becoming aware that buyers will spend more for a home that is well insulated and that will save on future heating and cooling costs. Smoke detectors will be installed in one-family dwellings, followed in due course by automatic sprinkler systems. What price safety? In a new home, the prospective buyer is asking this question. The fire safety industry got a big lift when national attention was focused on fires by a report to Congress titled, "America Burning" made by the National Commission on Fire Protection and Control. This led to Public Law 93-498 establishing the National Fire Prevention and Control Administration.

A Good Question and Answer

Is there a vacant school building in your community? If there is, why not sell it to a builder to convert into retirement housing? New York architect, Sigmund Spiegel, A.I.A., has suggested using these idle and vacant buildings for retirement homes. He points out that they not only could easily be converted into middle-moderate-income-elderly housing, but also could relieve school districts of the financial burden of maintaining closed schools, and could help school boards pay off bonded indebtedness and put the properties back on the tax rolls. Most vacant suburban schools are centrally located, fireproof, and easily converted into housing quarters.

Q — We have lived in our home for 20 years. We now plan to sell and move to another state. The house is in good condition but needs painting outside and re-decorating inside. The cost to have this done is very high. Will we get our money back if we do this work and will it help sell the house?

—Mrs. T. J.

A — This depends. Painting the exterior of the house will certainly make it more appealing to a prospective buyer. In my experience, homeowners who have applied an exterior coat of paint to the house before selling always have a greater response from the buyer, and receive closer to the asking price of the house. As to interior decorating, you should be very cautious. Most home buyers will want to do their own interior decorating to suit their taste. A neutral white shroud be used if you paint at all. Perhaps a prime coat would suffice. One thing that is important the house should be neat and clean. Cleanliness in a home will help sell it and will go a long way toward helping you get your price.

If you have a question on real estate, send it to Howard L. Shonting in care of this newspaper, with a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Legal questions cannot be answered.

HOME BUYER

CLINIC

By Richard H. Howlett
President
American Land Title Association

Preventing Problems

Land title companies make an important contribution to the stability of the real estate market through preventive work that helps avoid costly ownership problems. The experience of a home buyer in an eastern state will illustrate.

In the title search that preceded closing, it was discovered that the two acres being purchased by this buyer formerly were part of a five-acre tract. A prior deed to the

Howlett five acres contained a restriction prohibiting use of this for any purpose other than "for a single family dwelling and the usual out-buildings."

Since the three acres of the tract that were not part of the current purchase already contained a single family dwelling, a question arose as to whether another home could be constructed on the other two acres without the danger of a successful title challenge under the old deed restriction.

The title company insuring the buyer recommended that releases of the restriction be obtained from all the owners who acquired property from the owner of the original five acres. Then the title company assisted an attorney in securing these releases so a home could be safely built on the two acres being purchased. The potential problem thus was avoided. After that, the title company issued its owner's title insurance policy to financially protect the buyer against hazards including those a search of the public records will not reveal.

Precautions before purchase are the best way to safeguard your investment in a home. For free information on what to do, write the American Land Title Association, Box 566, Washington, D.C.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

by Will Bernard

Mysterious Disappearance

Without warning, a seemingly happy husband (or wife) drops out of sight. Inquiries lead nowhere. Years pass with no clues to the missing man's whereabouts. In these circumstances, can his spouse collect on his life insurance?

Usually she can after seven years have gone by. At that point, most courts are willing to make a "presumption of death." Their logic, in the words of one judge:

"Implanted in the human breast is an instinct to return home. When the absence and silence (have) no reasonable explanation short of assuming that the individual must have died, seven years (point) to death as the most probable explanation."

But logic may also point to death in a far shorter time.

In one case a man vanished immediately after a severe emotional episode. His car was found near a deep, swift river, with footprints leading to the water's edge. His dog lingered at the scene for almost four days.

These facts, a court ruled afterward, justified a presumption of death by drowning. The wife was able to collect insurance without a seven-year wait.

On the other hand, logic may point in the opposite direction as well.

Another man had been away for eight years when his wife put in her claim. But additional facts came out in court.

First, he had been a fugitive from justice.

Second, he had abandoned his wife and family on an earlier occasion.

Third, his girl friend had disappeared at just about the same time.

Denying the wife's claim, the court said the chances were too good that her missing mate was not dead but had simply gone prudently AWOL.

Xerographic Space Fantasies

Artistic Xerography is such a new and sophisticated form of graphic art, that only recently have newspapers and magazines started publishing articles describing it. Such an exhibit is now being held at the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library. It will continue through August.

Juliana Swatko, who has her B.F.A. from Tyler School of Art, Temple University, and is about to present her Masters Thesis in Artistic Xerography at the Visual Studies Workshop, Rochester, N.Y. through State University of New York at Buffalo, first became interested in this medium in 1973 when she was a senior at Tyler School of Art. At that time she was developing her special form of photography.

In talking to Ms. Swatko, she will explain that she "makes," rather than "takes" pictures. She works her photographs through a series of changes, beginning with the selection of one that will accept extension. They can take a number of directions, through the use of copy machines - off a two-dimensional surface - change of size - or integration with other images, thereby creating new realities. She works with Xerox, photo silk screen, and various other non-silver formate.

Through the above generative system, she works her pictures into flight related serial imagery, space fantasy, dream diagrams, or an optimistic personal science fiction; all done with multiple images. Her format is in color and at times she draws or paints into them.

The thing that makes Ms. Swatko's work so unique and distinctive is that she produces her colored prints on a black and white Xerox machine, inserting her own toners.

Ms. Swatko has studied under Joel Swartz, Sonia Sheridan, and Joan Lyons, three of the five artists who received grants from the Xerox Corporation in 1973 to pursue the development of Artistic Xerography. Ms. Swatko has now received a grant herself from Xerox Corporation, and a Xerox machine to use while she continues her xerography during the next year.

Ms. Swatko is a native of Long Island who has lived in Syosset for many years. She was an Art Major graduate of Syosset and has her work on display in galleries in several states. She is an accomplished painter and has also gained recognition for her ceramics.

At The Town Board

by Gerry Kahn

Thirty items graced the calendar at the Town Board Meeting held Tuesday, August 10th.

Mr. John J. Conway representing the petitioner, E.D.J. Quality Realty Corp., spoke without counsel and in desperation, as time was of the essence relative to his petition. The request was for a change of zone from Bus. F to Bus. G and for a special use permit to operate and conduct a Bingo Business at Massapequa. The facilities he was presently operating from was to be sold for taxes and his request was to move from his present place of business, which was on the 2nd floor of the distressed building to a 10,000 Square Foot facility which was a single story building adjacent to his operation, and owned by the petitioner.

The board requested Mr. Conway to produce a conditional lease and a properly prepared statement from the petitioner permitting Mr. Conway to represent the E.D.J. Quality Realty, The Hearing was closed and decision reserved.

The 2nd hearing was for modification of condition No. 3 of Resolution No. 702-75 which granted a special use to maintain a restaurant and cocktail lounge at Massapequa, N.Y. The request basically was for additional gates in the rear fencing to permit access for loading and unloading to the rear of the stores making up the mini-shopping center. The petitioner was represented by counsel, Mr. William J. Reilly. There were no parties present in opposition to the request.

The final hearing for the day attracted approximately twenty-five people during the day session and approximately 300 appeared for the evening session which lasted until 10:45.

The Hearing was to consider proposed amendments to the Code of Ordinances, Building Zone Ordinances, T.O.B. Housing Authority & Senior Citizens S-1 Zone, relating to including in the ordinances the right of the T.O.B. Housing Authority to manage, operate and or lease premises for senior citizens with the property under the ownership of private individuals.

During the morning session the following addressed the Board, Martha Landsman of Syosset Sr. Citizens, Jack Juppe, Judy Jacobs of So. Woodbury, Taxpayers Assoc., Eileen Sullivan, Nicolas De Bianco of W. Farmingdale Civic Assoc. and Barbara Hill.

Their discussion with the Board was primarily for clarification of the proposed amendment.

Presenting negative views during the evening session were Stu Levine of Bethpage, who was opposed to creating more Sr. Citizen Housing in the middle of residential areas and Mr. and Mrs. Ruggiero, who were in opposition to the selection of the Pickens School site in the Massapequa-Plainedge area and presented a petition of 1500 names in opposition.

Mr. Cornelius Ryan and Mr. Dominic Galiardo of Plainview spoke in favor of the amendment.

Mrs. Martha Landsman of Syosset, Douglas Donge Donge of Glen Cove and Norma Cornfield of Farmingdale added their voices in approval of the T.O.B. proposal.

All of the speakers qualified their appearances by stating that they were not opposed to additional units for Sr. Citizens but felt that the proposal was another evidence of loss of Home Rule.

Supervisor Burke stated unequivocally that one of the town's primary problems today is the housing of our senior citizens. That regardless of what method is utilized in obtaining additional housing the Town Board must approve the entire package. This will include any zoning requirements, restrictive covenants and thorough control in the event of management. The T.O.B. will not accede to the whims of the Housing Urban Development and that screening of builders etc. will be prime concern. The interests and care of senior citizens as well the maintenance of the rights to privacy and domestic tranquility of all of our citizens is the primary objective of the board, Burke insisted.

The attendance at the evening meeting was orderly and there appeared to be an almost evenly divided feeling both pro and con.

The balance of the day session, 27 resolution, was dispatched in quick succession.

The formal hearing was adjourned at 12:15.

In the informal hearing that followed, the following spoke out in opposition to the granting of a building permit to The Young Israel of Plainview: The Reverend Karl Kuebler, Mrs. Timothy Snee, and Cornelius Ryan.

The construction that is proposed will include a parking lot for some 18 cars, no fencing or shrubbery and a single entry and exit.

Rev. Kuebler stated that he would like to see the Town Board qualify the permit by requesting the installation of a fence and screening, requiring a separate entry and a separate exit, proper drainage and a covenant that there be no catering etc. in the meeting hall.

Supervisor Burke assured the speakers that since it has been brought to their attention that the existant site was violating certain restrictive covenants, action has been taken to hold up any further improvements to the new site at 132 Southern Parkway.

The informal hearing was adjourned at 12:43.
