Two Caught In False Alarm Spree

Hicksville Vamps were called out early December 22 to answer a call from a fire alarm box at 1st and Frevert Pl. Shortly after their arrival they got information on the culprits and their vehicle. Almost at once 7 more false alarms were turned in, forcing the fire dispatcher to thin out apparatus response so that no area was left unprotected.

Several Vamps set out to cover some favorite M.F.A. box locations. Fireman Bob Rose of Co No. 3 just happened along at the right time and caught the two in the act of pulling the hook. The description given at the first alarm watched and the chase was on. County police later caught the pair.

For some reason the culprit's names were not released to the press by the police as they usually are. It is hoped that this is done so that it would deter others.

One interesting thing vamps noticed since these two were caught was there hasn't been any false alarms since.

Colleges Speak Out At The Community Council

By Carole Wolf

At the January meeting of the Hicksville Community Council, we had asked representatives from Hofstra, Nassau Community, and Post to tell us what the colleges had to offer the Community. What we discovered was very enlightening, and the evening proved very worthwhile and informative.

College is not for the very young, but for the young at heart. Nassau Community has a program in effect that encourages Senior Citizens (over the age of 60) to enroll in any course that has space available after the first week of classes. This is available FREE OF CHARGE. So, after the week of the 24th of January, we would like to see many of our Senior Citizens take advantage of this opportunity. Call 222-7000 and ask for the registration office for more details.

C.W. Post has weekend college for those adults who would like to come back to college. They are offering classes for six Saturdays or six Sundays with a future goal of a Liberal Arts Degree. C.W. Post also features Continuing Education courses, including such exotic courses as a Photo Safari to South America, and a course in mythology coupled with a trip to Greece. Students in Post range from 14 to 84.

Hofstra is a private co-educational university with 45,000 students that have 70 majors. Students from 24 countries come to Hofstra, to learn a few of the 1500 courses they have to offer. Their most popular college is the Liberal Arts, followed by Business, Education, and the New College (that has an interdisciplinary major). The average class size at Hofstra is between 20 and 22. In order to gain admission into this college, you must have scored over 1000 in SAT and be in the top 40 per cent of the High School graduating class. The cost is $3300 a year, $5200 a year for on campus residence, and they do have an extensive financial aid program.

Mr. Phil Kautzman, from Nassau Community, brought with him a set of slides showing the college's Allied Health Sciences. There is limited seating

District Meetings

Regular Meetings of the Board will be held January 18, 1977, February 1, 1977, February 15, 1977 and alternate Tuesdays thereafter.

Community Relations

The next meeting of the Community Relations Committee For Longrange Educational Planning of the Hicksville Board of Education, will be held on Monday, January 17, at 8 P.M., in the Board Room of the Administration Building, Division Avenue in Hicksville. The public is invited to attend.

C of C Board To Meet

The Board of Directors of the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce will on Tuesday, Jan. 18th at Minetta's Restaurant on Jerusalem Avenue at 12:30 p.m. in most of the health area, including nursing, operating room technician (learning in actual surgery), medical technician, X-Ray Technician (14 seats), Physical Therapy Assistant (22 seats), and inhalation therapy. 16 years ago, Nassau began with 360 students - now they are the largest Community College on one campus with 17,640 students. They have programs that help students come up to college level, including Reading Labs, Science Labs, and Math Labs. In the medical fields, a 3.5 average is necessary. Because Nassau services a full Community, selection for seats in the college is done by computer selectivity. Nassau hopes that their new buildings will be open by next January.

Several questions were then asked the three representatives. Concerning Community use of College Libraries, all three colleges said their libraries can be used by anyone, but books cannot be taken from the library. Mr. Frank Carnabuci, from Hofstra, said they have an extensive law library, and a library in the music and art department, which can be used by contacting the department chairmen.

Mr. Aaron Assael, from C.W. Post, mentioned that they have an art gallery that is open to the general public, a concert series with operas and operatic productions, and athletic events open to the whole community. C.W. Post also has a craft center.

The next question concerning Life-Experience Credit had very educational answers. Mr. Assael said that you don't lose credit from 40 years ago, and that credit can be obtained with work experience or seminars, but it is not easy. In order to obtain credit, you have to take a particular exam or have documents. The maximum Life-Experience that you can get at C.W. Post is 60 credits.

Hofstra, a traditional college, awards academic credit and you can earn up to 30 credits through exams.

Nassau accepts credit from any other college, as long as the grade was C or better. Life-Experience Credit is up to the decision of each individual department, and tests is the usual procedure.

Concerning Financial aid, all colleges said that parents must fill out a financial statement, even if the child is over 21 and still living at home. In order to be financially independent, a student must be over 21, not living with his/her parents, and not have accepted more than $600 in the previous year from their parents. All colleges suggest that contact with the financial aid office should be made before enrolling, and you should go around and shop.

In transferring from another college, a student must stay within their major or its area. You generally receive credit for anything with a B average. Hofstra gives a transfer scholarship to anyone with a B average. In order to be Pre-Med, you must have an average of 3.5. Hofstra transfers a maximum of 64 credits.

Post offers courses in Elementary Education and Special Education, and Hofstra and Post offers graduate courses. Nassau has a 2 year course in Child Care with an AS that prepares a student to work with exceptional children.

In concluding the speaker portion of the meeting, all three men gave us a knowledgeable and interesting picture of their college and proved that anyone who wants to go to college, can go to college.

TOR Councilman Clark

We were happy to have our Town Councilman, Mr. Tom Clark at our meeting to answer questions. Concerning the condition of snow in the streets, Mr. Clark explained that when it snowed Christmas Day, the highway department was off and remained so until Tuesday after Christmas. After that the trucks have been around sanding the streets. Mr. Clark was reminded that the streets are now ice and nothing would remove the ice except salt. Accidents have occurred. He mentioned that the highway department is reluctant to use salt because of what it does to the roads, and mentioned that if your street has a problem, to let him know by letter.

Tom Clark also mentioned the proposal concerning the proposed move of the Hicksville Annex of Town Hall to the parking garage. He had the blueprints with him and showed it to all who were at the Community Council meeting. There are now 10 people in the existing building, and he said that it costs $3000 a year to heat a half-empty building. The cost of placing the annex in the parking

FOR SENIORS

If you're a senior citizen with some time on your hands these days, a trip to the Special Activities Center in Eisenhower Park is likely to prove rewarding. On Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., there's "Socializing at the Center" where Nassau residents age 60 and over get together to play cards, billiards, chess or join ongoing sing-along groups and workshops in arts and crafts.

The Center is a source of senior citizen recreation information as well as a spot for hobbyists to work and learn while meeting others with similar interests. Pinochle players find partners, women share sewing secrets and everyone takes a lively part in one or more of the many activities that make the Center resound with laughter and the buzz of busy people.

All classes and programs at the center sponsored by the Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks, are free. Registration and presentation of a Senior Citizens Leisure Pass are the only requirements. A staff member of the Senior Citizens Unit will be on hand to welcome visitors to the Center located near Parking Field No. 8.

The enchanting fairy-tale favorite, "Beauty and the Beast," is the next attraction at the Puppet Theatre in Eisenhower Park, East Meadow. The popular shows are presented by the Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks on Saturdays, Sundays and school holidays at 1, 2:30 and 4 p.m.

Performances of "Beauty and the Beast" are scheduled as follows: Jan. 22, 23, 29, 30; Feb. 5, 6, 12, 13, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, and 25.

The nine-day show will feature the latest equipment from 66 manufacturers of recreational vehicles, along with RV accessories, camping accessories, fashions, campground information and the latest in places to go and things to do. However, people are still buying trailers, which give them many of the conveniences of a home at a lower cost."

Call 292-4168. If there is a question regarding snow cancellations, the number to call is 292-4153. Reserved tickets must be picked up 15 minutes before showtime, or they will be made available to others.

A "Swing and Turn" Jubilee, featuring sing-alongs and live country music, as well as arts and crafts exhibits, originally planned for Friday evening, Feb. 11, has been postponed until a later date.

To register for any of the above programs or for further information, call 292-4254.

Welfare Wastes Compound Problems

Reprinted From CPES Taxpayer

By Chuck Gridley

New York's ultra-generous welfare system has grown into an insatiable monster that devours some six billion of the working person's dollars annually, becoming the state's second most expensive tax drain. (With a seven billion dollar tab, education takes the biggest bite.)

Of this enormous figure, an estimated one-sixth, or a billion dollars, is pure "fat" in the form of waste and fraud, the result of both greed and bureaucratic inefficiency, according to Richard V. Horan, the state's highly respected Welfare Inspector General.

In the year since he took office by appointment from State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, Mr. Horan has uncovered what he terms an "unbelievable" amount of deliberate cheating by both service vendors and public assistance recipients. In his words, "It makes you sick how selfish some people can be."

Addresses CPES

Speaking in Syracuse before CPES trustees, local business leaders, and grass roots taxpayer group representatives from across the state, Mr. Horan detailed appalling examples of how unscrupulous people are "ripping off" the system on a grand scale. The November 19 meeting was hosted by Parks W. Wicks, President and Chief Executive Officer of First Trust & Deposit Company and CPES Syracuse area chairman.

Although there does not appear to be a significant solution to rising welfare and Medicaid costs on the horizon, the Welfare Inspector General believes that a computer system (which is being planned) would monitor the public dole and aid both the state and localities in eliminating waste and graft.

While it appears that the full use of such a system is at least three years off, according to a spokesman for the State Department of Social Services, Commissioner Philip Toia announced last week that a contract is about to be awarded to The Univac Corporation to set up what will be called the Welfare Management System (WMS).

Ideally, the computer system would provide local Social Service districts with a "central clearing house" for information on welfare applicants and recipients, and serve to flag potential frauds.

Computer checking on a limited scale has already provided some surprising facts. Earlier this year, Mr. Horan's office released the results of a check which showed some 1,200 state workers on the welfare rolls. Although not all of those people were ineligible for public assistance, 57.6 per cent of those in a random sample had not reported their employment income on their welfare case records.

Compounds Problem

Welfare cheating in itself is shocking, but it also serves to compound the growing problem localities have in trying to cope with skyrocketing public assistance costs and other expensive mandates. (See editorial on page 5). "The drain of welfare dollars has become a major factor in the present critical question of whether localities around New York State can continue to fund their share of program costs," Mr. Horan noted. Some counties are facing welfare expenses that comprise 50 per cent or more of their budgets (See story on page 6) and so far are legally prevented from doing anything about it. As a result, frustration, along with tax rates, is mounting.

A study by the Office of the Welfare Inspector General (OWIG) revealed that in New York City where two thirds of the state's million and a half welfare recipients live, a staggering 20 per cent of those on the rolls were ineligible. By contrast, in Los Angeles County, California, the ineligibility rate never exceeds three per cent.

It should also be noted that while New York City contains two thirds of those on welfare, it accounts for 90 per cent of the fraud.

Defy Imagination

Medicaid, the costliest of public assistance programs, is also the most lucrative for those who prey on public dollars for private profit. Abuses here "defy imagination," according to Mr. Horan.

A recent computer audit revealed that in New York City alone more than eight million dollars was paid to doctors who billed Medicaid in the last two years for services not rendered.

One doctor billed Medicaid 10 times for "first visits" involving the same patient over a period of a few weeks. An even greedier doctor was reimbursed by Medicaid (and thus, by the taxpayers) for 15 "first visits" involving the same patient on the same day.

Other examples of fraud have included charges for X-rays taken without film in the machines; X-rays of former patients used in billing for current patients; and prescriptions filled at "kick-back" pharmacies. The list goes on.

The foster care program also provides opportunities for cheating. As much as two million dollars a year is paid to parents for the support of children who are actually in foster homes. This year, one parent received $2,500 for the care of a child while during the same period New York City paid $35,000 to a voluntary agency for the same child's maintenance. Foster care costs an average of $8,300 for each of the more than 28,000 New York City children involved. It is estimated that the foster care bill will total $241 million this fiscal year.

Survey Overturms Housing Myths

Is home ownership an Impossible Dream for young people? Can only high-income families afford today's homes? These and other current housing myths are refuted by a study conducted by the Family Housing Bureau, a public information service of Chicago Title Insurance Company.

MYTH 1: First-time home buyers have been virtually driven out of the market by escalating housing costs.

FACT: The Family Housing Bureau survey shows that 44% of today's home buyers are first-time buyers.

MYTH 2: Young people cannot afford homes anymore.

FACT: The survey reveals that 87% of first-time buyers are younger than 35, with the average age being 28. Even the average age for first-time buyers of homes costing over $50,000 was only 31.

MYTH 3: The few first-time buyers who can afford homes can only manage homes in lower price categories.

FACT: While it is true that 12% of first-time buyers buy homes in the "under $20,000" category, an impressive 53% buy homes costing over $30,000. In fact, more than one fourth of the "over $30,000" set paid over $50,000 for their first homes. And the average price paid by all first-time home buyers was $34,000.

MYTH 4: Costs for single family dwellings have risen so sharply that most home buyers are turning to multi-family solutions.

FACT: 87% of first-time buyers choose single family homes, 9% condominiums, and a small 4% select multi-family. It should be noted, however, that only 14% are buying brand new dwellings; 86% have selected previously owned existing homes.

MYTH 5: Most home buyers now are spending much more on mortgage payments than the recommended 1/4 of total income.

FACT: One quarter of the current crop of first-time buyers hover around the classical rule of thumb that mortgage payments should be 1/4 of total income. Another 53% of the buyers are even more conservative, spending 20% of their total income on shelter payments.

MYTH 6: Due to economic conditions and lender requirements, down payment percentages have shot beyond the standard 2% of purchase price.

FACT: On the average, according to the Family Housing Bureau survey, the traditional 20% down payment still prevails as the norm, with over 30% of the buyers putting exactly that amount down. And another 1/3 of the buyers are putting down 10% or less.

Dear Friends . . .

CAROLE WOLF'S account of the January meeting of the Hicksville Community Council brings you in detail, much of what went on at this instructive and informative meeting. You will find it on page one of our Hicksville edition. This Council's February meeting should be equally interesting and informative, for Mr. Frank Merklin, Supt. of Construction of the Nassau County Dept. of Public Works will speak on "Sewers in Hicksville", and, Mr. Louis G. Dettloff, Supt. of the Hicksville Water District will speak on "The Condition of our Hicksville Wells." Both these gentlemen will endeavor to answer questions from the audience. These matters are of extreme importance to all Hicksville residents. So why not put Thursday evening, Feb. 3rd, down on your calendar right now and join us? Meetings start at 8:30 p.m. downstairs at the Hicksville Library on Jerusalem Avenue and all are welcome.

IN READING Mrs. Wolf's article, mentioned above, you will note that TOB Councilman Thomas Clark did report on some of the details regarding the proposed closing of the TO. Hicksville Annex on Broadway with the transfer of this staff over to the TOB garage. We mentioned this several weeks ago, with the hope that we would be able to bring you more information on this matter before it is done. Apparently it is being suggested as a way to economize. We will bring you more information as it becomes available. We would also suggest that if you want more details than are available to the press, perhaps a letter to the Town Board, c/o Councilman Clark, might be helpful. Your views are certainly important and all elected representatives are pleased to have the benefit of the thinking of those whom they are elected to serve.

THAT'S ALL for this week. Stay well and warm....

Letter To The Editor

To The Editor:

The extremely dangerous conditions of the side streets in our town has been caused by the unusual snowy days we have had during this rough winter. But it is beyond my reasoning on how the Town Highway Department can sit back and do nothing while cars are skidding and having accidents.

The Town has come around and sanded some of the corners of our local streets. But the snow has been laying on the streets for such a long time that it has formed, in some areas, mounds over 3 inches deep. Some streets are curb to curb solid ice.

Ice doesn't exist only on corners. And sand is not going to do any good on our mini-glaciers. Only salt will do the trick, but our local Town Departments don't want to be bothered.

I wish snow would only fall on Monday through Friday. Then possibly it might have been plowed when it fell. Somewhere, direction is lacking.

Before someone is killed, I hope that the center of each street in Hicksville is cleared. We are paying taxes - now let's see some results.

Sincerely yours,
Carole Wolf
Hicksville

To The Editor:

Two aspects of being Town Supervisor that have deeply impressed me during the couple of weeks that I have been in office are the amount of mail Oyster Bay's chief administrator receives and the number of citizens he has the opportunity to speak with.

The letters and postcards that come into my office are diverse in content and tone. On any given day residents throughout Oyster Bay are apt to take pen in hand to seek advice or assistance, to register a complaint, or to make a particular view known.

People who take the time to write are usually strongly motivated, and their correspondence, taken as a whole, provides insight to the thoughts and needs of the citizens who give life and character to Oyster Bay's neighborhoods.

In travelling throughout our Town I have recently had occasion to meet with many residents whom I had not had the opportunity to speak with before. Their interests, too, are diverse, and listening carefully to what they have to say is proving to be an educational experience. Hopefully these conversations also serve to give residents additional understanding of their local government, and impart confidence in its ability to act in their best interests.

In intend to devote considerable time to communicating with Oyster Bay's residents, and feel certain that by channeling my energies in this direction I will develop a deeper, more detailed understanding of our Town.

Last week I fulfilled one of the first promises I made to the people of Oyster Bay when taking office by appointing a Budget Officer who will assist the Town Board in cutting the costs of government. William H. Wright, a 21-year veteran of Town government who is an Accounting Executive and previously served as Deputy Comptroller, has already begun to play a vital role in helping the Board produce a financially sound Town that is strong enough to carry most of its current obligations. In doing so, he helps to put into action, this administration's commitment to addressing itself to real property taxation, the most important and pressing issue that faces the Town and its people today.

TOB Supervisor

Postal Workers and Public Lauded

The Postal Service enjoyed its most successful Christmas mailing season ever this year in meeting an unprecedented influx of volume generated largely from a parcel strike. Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar said today.

"Postal workers did an outstanding job in handling the increase in mail volume over last Christmas," Bailar said. "They had major assistance from the public who followed our suggested mailing deadlines, changed because of the parcel strike in a 15 state area."

"We have heard over and over from our field managers about the untiring dedication of our people in keeping offices current on processing and delivery of Christmas mail," Bailar said, "and we know there was extremely close cooperation with business mailers who depended upon the Postal Service this year more than ever before."

The Postal Service moved up its mailing deadline for parcels from December 10 to December 3, and for greetings and letters from December 17 to December 10 because of the parcel strike.

"People responded so well to the change in our suggested deadlines that originating volume reached its peak for both classes earlier than last year," Bailar said.

At one time, the Postal Service had as many as 10,000 temporary employees working expanded shifts at its 21 bulk mail centers and 30 auxiliary parcel sorting facilities to handle the unusually high volume.

St. Ignatius Girls Cadet Corps

By Don Anglin

Nineteen seventy-six has been another year in the St. Ignatius Girls' Cadet Corps history that will be hard to forget. It is the year that the director, Mr. Thomas Costa is stepping into the background and assuming a new role as advisor. It is also the year that our most dedicated business manager, Mr. Howard Zimmerman, is leaving.

The Corps was started by Mr. Thomas Costa in 1958 and has climbed to the peak that it is at today, only through a lot of hard work and dedication by him, assisted by parents and friends of the girls. He has brought the girls from two left feet to the top of the all-girl field in drum corps.

Although our girls are first in the country because of a lot of directed experience, training, and discipline, this was not his main objective. Mr. Costa's main goal was to provide enjoyment while educating a corps member through traveling and meeting other people, which is so very important today in molding an adult. As he said recently at a conference in Chicago, attended by some 450 members from other drum corps "When I meet a young lady a few years after she has left our group, I don't care how well she can play a horn or drum now. What I'm interested in hearing is how she is continuing to be a success in whatever avenue she has taken."

I extend my congratulations on Mr. Costa's selection of Mr. Larry Wallace as new director and Mr. Ray Guckenberger as business manager. His choices were excellent and all the parents with whom I have spoken agree.

The musical and marching excellence has no other match in any other youth performing sport. Perfection is their game. Some of their achievements this past year were:

1976 Drum Corps International All Girl Champions, Phil. Pa.
1976 World Open All Girl Champions, Lynn, Mass.
1976 Veterans of Foreign Wars All Girl Champions, New York City
1976 Nassau County American

Legion Champions

1976 Spirit of Music Champions, Greenway, Wisconsin

We are now recruiting new girls between the ages of 10 and 18. No musical or marching experience is necessary. Any race or religion welcome. For further information you may call either 938-3392 or 938-7939.

The pageantry of a drum corps combines the military precision of West Point, the musical blend and excitement of a well-directed orchestra, and the showmanship of a Broadway musical. Why not be a part of this by calling one of the above telephone numbers?

Travel with us in 1977 across the United States and through Canada as we compete and entertain for large audiences that is traditional to the drum corps world.

Calendars Available

More than 1,000 beautiful, large-format Congressional 1977 calendars are available free from the Washington office of Congressman Jerome A. Ambro (3rd-N.Y.).

The wall calendars, which are published by the United States Capitol Historical Society, feature attractive, 11 1/2" X 9" color photographs of Washington landmarks. All the photographs were taken by freelance lensman Michael Judge, a native of Washington who used his knowledge of the Capitol and his talent with creative wide-angle photography to present a new look of one of the world's most beautiful cities.

Each calendar date is marked by a historical event that took place on the corresponding date between 1752 and 1777, the period in which the American colonial independence movement grew into full-scale war. The days are presented as open squares large enough for brief memos.

Ambro obtained the extra calendars for distribution to residents of Long Island's Third Congressional District. Those interested in receiving calendars should write to Congressman Ambro at 1313 Longworth H.O.B., Washington, D.C. 20515. Allow about two weeks for delivery.

HOW TO COPE WITH FEAR AND ANXIETY

In television advertising we are led to believe that the greatest catastrophe that could befall us is "ring around the collar," or "medicines breath." Undue emphasis upon the importance of the body and the temporal quality of life has created a mind-set which is often more concerned with the accommodations of life's journey than its destination.

Modern fear and anxiety is not directed toward the real valid, justified fears such as an eternity without God. This is worthy of fearful consideration.

Many people today are more afraid of living than dying. Much of what we fear, much of what makes us anxious, is unnecessary fear; unnecessary anxiety. Jesus once asked "Is not life more than food, and the body more than clothing?" Fear and anxiety result when we are putting the emphasis on the wrong syllable.

Whenever our hopes are centered in anything short of God and His will for us, we're going to have problems. When we make anything else our goal, frustration and defeat are inevitable somewhere down the line. All else in life is temporary. Eyes on Christ are eyes directed toward the source of balance and security and peace.

DEVOTIONS

By Rev. J.H. Krahn

Now God has never promised to remove all our troubles and problems. In fact, the truly committed Christian is often in conflict with the society around him. To say to a boss that you can't work on Sunday because you desire to worship often creates problems. To say "no" to a date that wants what God says belongs to marriage goes against the prevailing trend of our society. But God has promised, in the midst of trouble and conflict, a genuine place, a sense of assurance and security that the worldly person never knows.

To help us cope with fear and anxiety God has promised us new resources, new strength, through the indwelling of His Holy Spirit. God, not just alive, but alive in you and in me. However, many Christians continue to harbor fears and anxieties. To cope with these we must seek out God. Fear and anxiety are the by-products of solo performances through life. The Bible says, "Cast all your anxieties on Him, for He cares about you." Some Christians have not learned that life is a partnership between God and man. Christ said, "Take My yoke upon you." When we are yoked with Christ, pulling as a team, life's burdens are more easily borne, and anxiety and fear dissolve like mist in the sun of a beautiful morning. Set your eyes away from yourself and on Him. Let God be God in your life. As we do this we'll find that our anxieties and fears will dissolve like mist in the sun of a beautiful fall morning.

Hicksville Basketball

By Brian Boschert

The Hicksville Comets boosted their record to 4-0 with three victories last week.

In the first game of the week, played at the Nassau Coliseum, Hicksville defeated Levittown Memorial by a score of 80-64. Tony Colamussi and Rick Reul led the Comets in the scoring department with 24 and 19 points respectively. John Bergin and Ray Cesare added 10 points each. The bulk of the Comet rebounding was handled by Colamussi, Reul, and Bergin. Pat Madigan came in off the bench and played excellent defense.

In the week's second game, Hicksville turned back Great Neck South by a score of 76-58. Tony Colamussi again led the Comet scoring with 20 points. John Bergin and Rick Reul pumped in 15 points apiece. Ray Cesare and Craig Ruhs helped the Comet cause with 8 points each. At one point, Great Neck South closed to within 4 points but the Comets rallied to seal their victory.

In the third game, Hicksville overcame an 8 point deficit to defeat Uniondale 79-58. Every Comet saw some playing time. John Bergin, with a number of jumpshots and twisting drives, led the Comets with 25 points. Craig Ruhs scored 13 points and did a fine job off the back boards. Rick Reul helped out with 10 points while team captains Tony Colamussi and Ray Cesare added 7 points apiece. Guards Bob McAuley and Pat Madigan played well on defense. Bob Bradley and Dean Tallman came off the bench to combine for 11 points. The Hicksville Comets shot 25-36 from the foul line.

Museum Notes Coffee Substitutes

By Gardiner E. Gregory

In this period of rising coffee prices, did you ever consider drinking Rose Hips Tea? It can cost you nothing if you gather your own rose hips, dry them and grind them up into small pieces.

Put a teaspoon of the ground up hips into a cup, add fresh boiling water and allow to steep for 3-5 minutes, add a teaspoon of honey and you have a drink fit for a king. Rose Hips tea bags can be purchased from health food stores and some grocery stores for around $1.00 for 36 bags.

Since the discovery of vitamins and the part they play for good nutrient and health, it has been established that rose hips (fruit of the rose bush) contain large amounts of Vitamin C, and their seeds, large amounts of Vitamin A.

Not only is rose hips tea better than coffee for your health, it has an excellent taste and can be obtained for nothing or at a nominal cost.

There are many other wild plants that were used by our forefathers to make tea to stimulate the body or treat certain physical and emotional ailments. Some of these plants that are still used by some people to make tea are ginseng, golden seal, the mints, boneset, chicory, yarrow, tansy, saffron, and comfrey.

Millions of orientals drink ginseng tea as well as many Americans because of its reputed nutritional and medicinal values. May West and John Wayne start the day off with a cup of ginseng tea. Books have been written on the value of ginseng tea to the good health of the human body. However, unless you grow your own ginseng plants, and this is difficult to do without the right habitat, ginseng tea is very expensive to buy.

More information can be obtained about using wild plants for food and drink from The Gregory Museum 822-7505.

The Metropolitan Suburban Bus Authority, which has experienced an increase in ridership and revenue since the institution of the county-wide 50 cents fare that includes a free transfer to two connecting routes, plans to increase service on six routes, create two short routes from one long route, provide faster late evening and Sunday service on another route, and institute several service extensions and schedule adjustments.

According to Andrew G. Schiavone, MSBA Executive Officer, these changes, which will go into effect on Sunday, January 9, have been designed to make the bus system more convenient for the residents of and visitors to Nassau County.

On the N73 Wantagh-Hicksville-Mid Island Plaza route, the 6:40 a.m. from Gardiners Avenue and Prairie Lane, Levittown, to the Wantagh

Railroad Station, and the 7:00 a.m. from Hempstead Turnpike and Division Avenue, Levittown, to the Hicksville Railroad Station and Mid Island Plaza, have each been advanced three minutes to 6:37 a.m. and 6:57 a.m. provide commuters with a better connection to their LIRR trains.

In the evening rush hour, a 6:00 p.m. trip from the Wantagh Railroad Station to the Mid Island Plaza has been added to the schedule. The 5:35 p.m. from Wantagh will no longer run through to Hicksville, but will run on the Wantagh commuter loop, via Wantagh Avenue and Hempstead Turnpike, returning to the Wantagh Railroad Station from Gardiners Avenue and Prairie Lane at 5:35 p.m.

In addition, effective January 9, 1977, the 6:00 p.m. bus from Division Avenue and Hempstead Turnpike to Mid Island Plaza, and the 6:21 trip from Mid Island Plaza to Division Avenue and Hempstead Turnpike are both discontinued.

"Since the formation of MSBA in 1973," said Schiavone, "we've seen our passenger totals grow from approximately 53,000 to approximately 68,000 per week-day, reversing a 25 year decline in transit ridership in Nassau County."

"This was done, without increasing our fleet size or number of employees, by planning and coordinating our routes and schedules to better serve the residents of Nassau and western Suffolk."

"With the upcoming January 9 changes, as well as planned future improvements, we expect to continue our growth in ridership, and the building of MSBA into one of the best suburban transit systems in the United States," he concluded.

New schedules for any of MSBA's routes, including the N72 and N73, can be obtained by calling (516) 626-3000.

Check Your Car's Battery

Each year more cars break down from battery failure than any other cause, reports the Automobile Club of New York. Many of these breakdowns can be avoided, however, by motorists who keep their battery in top shape. The local AAA affiliate prescribes the following preventives:

Make sure battery terminals are free of corrosion and replace if necessary.

Check fluid level in the battery and, if necessary, add water.

Test the battery at least once a week to insure peak power. If it is weak, it should be recharged. If the battery fails to "hold" the charge, it should be replaced.

One Day Spanish Dance Class and Performance

The Town of Oyster Bay Cultural and Performing Arts (CAPA) Division will present the Luis Rivera Dance Company in a one-day dance class on Saturday, January 22, it was announced this week by Town Councilman Salvatore R. Mosca.

The class will be held at the Bethpage High School, Cherry and Stewart Avenues, from 12:30 to 4:30, and will include instruction as well as a performance by the group. Rivera will demonstrate the techniques of heel work and castanets used in Flamenco, Seguidilla, Fandango, Alegrias, Jota, Soleares and Caracoles followed by a performance and a question and answer period. Refreshments will be served.

In a relatively short period of time, the Luis Rivera Dance Company has established itself as one of the finest Spanish dance companies. Beginning with its world debut at New York's Chateau Madrid and its concert debut at the Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival, subsequent performances have resulted in international acclaim for this young group of dancers, singers and musicians. Rivera himself recently returned from a seven month world tour as guest artist with the Jose Greco Company.

The fee for the class will be $2.00. Checks should be made payable to Town of Oyster Bay Workshops and mailed to: Cultural and Performing Arts, Town Hall, Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay, N.Y. 11771. Registration will be accepted at the door if space is available.

Town Board

by Gerry Kahn

Six Hearings led the agenda at the Town Board meeting held on Tuesday, January 11th.

The proposed amendments to the Code of Ordinances, Electrical Code T.O.B. brought criticism from two members of the audience. The amendments included eliminating aluminum wire in the lower gauges from use in the town but permitted copper-clad wire to be utilized. Arguments from two members of the electrical industry claimed that construction costs would increase and that the amendments as written required some revision to eliminate any misunderstanding. The Amendments contain permission for a homeowner to perform work on his own home if capable of passing an elementary test relative to the work he intends to perform.

The finance Hearing relative to the construction of a Wading Pool at the Syosset-Woodbury Community Park in the amount of $60,000.00 provoked comments from Judy Jacobs of the So. Woodbury Taxpayers' Association. Mrs. Jacobs claimed that if the new Wading Pool was to be constructed in the approximate locale of the existing pool it would be an exercise in futility. The reason for the cracked walls and the necessity of a new pool was that the existing underground stream was undermining the pool walls etc. She suggested that a new site be selected and that the proper test borings be made to determine the feasibility of construction on the location.

Supervisor Colby was unable to make a definite answer to the location of the proposed pool but assured Mrs. Jacobs that all the necessary surveys have been made prior to undertaking the project.

The civic leader requested, in addition, that the platforms which are around the pool and the island in the pool be eliminated in the construction plans as they pose a hazard. The children have, in the past, considered the seats as diving boards and several accidents have resulted from their use despite the conscientious policing by the pool personnel.

The balance of the 19 item calendar contained resolutions that were passed in quick succession.

The formal meeting was adjourned at 12:25.

Colby Recommends MTA Takeover Hicksville Station Escalator

Oyster Bay Town Supervisor Joseph Colby has called on the State Assembly Sub-committee on Long Island Transportation to consider having the Metropolitan Transportation Authority take over the escalator at the Hicksville station of the Long Island Railroad.

In a letter addressed to the Sub-committee which recently held hearings on the operation of the Long Island Railroad, Colby pointed out that the operation of escalators leading to elevated stations has become a service that the MTA has recognized as its responsibility to the commuter.

"I think that the MTA has rightly accepted as its responsibility both the installation and maintenance of escalators at the stations that will soon be elevated in the Massapequas," Colby noted, "and I don't believe that because an escalator already exists, it, too, shouldn't be recognized as a service to a commuter rather than to a Town resident."

Colby pointed out that at the Hicksville station, the escalator is even more a commuter service and, therefore, a responsibility of the MTA than a resident service, since that particular station is heavily used by commuters residing in other Towns.

"In addition to my feeling that it is unfair to have residents pay for maintaining a commuter service," Colby explained, "I believe it can be more economically and efficiently maintained by an agency that maintains escalators as part of its regular operations than by a Town. While an agency such as the MTA has escalator maintenance as a normal responsibility, the Town of Oyster Bay, with one escalator, cannot employ the skilled manpower on a year-round basis to properly maintain it."

In his letter, Colby noted the difficulties the Town has had in the past in attempting to keep this service in operating condition. "This single operation is quite burdensome and singularly threatened by every major, unexpected breakdown," he said. "While with each breakdown the Town must seek outside expertise, it is highly probable that the MTA has staff that can routinely diagnose the problem and affect an immediate solution."

Ecumenical Consultation Center Begins Program

In response to a growing need the Ecumenical Consultation Center, a community counseling center sponsored by the churches of Hicksville, Bethpage and Plainview will establish group sessions for "Blended Families".

Beginning in February, couples who have remarried will gather together to share and find help with the problems and adjustments of the two families now blended into a new one.

These sessions will be conducted at the Center by a "Blended Family Couple" who gave the following report:

We were married by a Lutheran Minister in a Unitarian Church surrounded by our children, seven in all. We were at that moment attempting to blend two families into one. We were going to take her children and my children and make them OUR children. We would all live so happily. They would embrace each other and at holiday time it would be one large joyous family. WRONG.

We were bright, well educated, middle-class people, old enough to be mature and level-headed. We were well trained in human behavior. We can handle all the problems of the blended family. WRONG.

His pain and upsetment regarding the divorce was now over. The new blended family and the new wife would be the only factors. His children would be happy to once again be a family. WRONG.

Her husband had died, and now there would be a new father for the children. They would embrace him, love him, appreciate the sacrifices he would make and the home he would provide. WRONG.

It's a lovely house, we'll move into her house, plenty of room for everyone, we'll be so content here in this old house. We'll change some things, but he'll fit right in. Oh so wrong.

What's wrong? Everything that should fit together, sometimes doesn't. It seems that after the "honeymoon" what honeymoon you may ask. Many blended families start off with children, money difficulties, and no provision for an adequate honeymoon. Yet we in the field of counseling view the beginning of any relationship as a "honeymoon period". It may last a week, a month or six months, but sooner or later the reality and problems of the blended family are going to surface - and the honeymoon is over.

His kid is going to say "I hate you", in a fit of rage. Her kid is going to say "my father doesn't do it that way". Then the moment comes when they look into the mirror and say "Do I really need all this pain and hassle?"

Let's quote some statistics. The U.S. Bureau of Census tells us that is usually takes 3 years for re-marriage to occur. New York ranks third in the nation behind California and Texas. In New York one out of every two marriages ends in divorce. It is estimated that there are 15 million children under 18 years of age living in blended families, 30 million husbands and wives presently involved in blended families, and at least 8 to 10 million separated, divorced and widowed people wondering what living in a blended family would be like.

We who live in this type of family know the problems, yet so few of us talk about them. It seems as if the subject, your children vs. my children is taboo. People don't usually discuss the problems. Communication can be difficult around a subject as sensitive as our children. Yet realistically, the children in the blended family can cause the most pain and upsetment. Sometimes the thought of just not having children would solve so many of the blended family's problems, but usually there are children, and problems, and much pain.

We plan to have a series of eight sessions aimed at the problems and resolution of problems unique to the blended family. We feel that if people can communicate and share and discuss some of their problems, the blended family can be a successful venture.

The sessions will begin with a short presentation by the facilitators. Some of the topics to be discussed are presented below. The children, when will they be truly ours; different feelings for children and stepchildren; how children handle the loss of their natural family through death or divorce; the children's reactions to the remarriage; fear of being left out of the new relationship. The stepmother, is it wrong to resent those children? The intrusion, the energy, the attention they need. The stepfather, "Sometimes I feel like a stranger in this family; I work so hard and get no thanks for what I'm doing, everybody always seems to have their hand out." The couple, "How do we handle the former spouse?" "How do we find time for each other?" "When will we ever be alone?" Money, does the stepfather support two families with one paycheck? Does the wife resent those child support payments? What are the children's financial expectations of the stepparent?

There are other problems that the blended families who attend these sessions will bring with them. It is hoped that even though the series will be general in nature, specific problems can be discussed.

For further information about the program and enrollment, please call the Ecumenical Consultation Center, 30 Grand Avenue, Hicksville, New York, 935-4437.

Alcohol Program

The Nassau County Department of Drug and Alcohol Addiction, in cooperation with the Plainview-Old Bethpage School District, has piloted a unique alcohol education program at the Plainview-Old Bethpage Middle School. This project, known as the "Alcohol Valuing Project," features the use of values clarification and creative arts techniques. Focusing on the process of critical thinking and rational decision-making in peer group learning situations, it seeks to emphasize the process of valuing and the "self" as a valuing person" as the focal point for meaningful preventive education in the area of substance abuse.

Youngsters in Mrs. Judy Greenberg's class who took part in the second implementation of this pilot have developed a presentation for their families and interested guests, to demonstrate their knowledge and skills and their enthusiasm for the project. They are being assisted in this venture by the project's developers, Brunetta Winthers and Jean Cintron.

The presentation will be offered tomorrow, January 14th, at 1:00 p.m. in the Plainview-Old Bethpage Middle School auditorium.
