Hicksville Hockey Team Wins State Tournament

By Joan Rolston

The Holy Family Hockey Club Squirt Team participated in the New York State Squirt "B" Tournament in Auburn, New York, on March 11, 12, and 13, and came home with the Championship Trophy.

Eight teams took part in the Tournament, which was sponsored by the Amateur Hockey Association of the United States, and ironically, the two teams competing for first place were the only teams entered from Long Island - Holy Family and Nassau County South (Long Beach).

Holy Family defeated Plattsburg, in the semi-finals Sunday morning and took the 1977 State Champion title in the game with Nassau South Sunday afternoon. Excellent goaltending by Louis Schwing was the key factor in a close game that ended in a sudden death goal by Billy Wudte.

HAD Drive Underway

In several recent news articles appearing in the newspaper, Help-Aid-Direction (H.A.D.), a Hicksville based youth and family counseling, drug and alcohol abuse prevention and treatment center, reported that impending cutbacks in state funding might force this non-profit, tax-exempt charity to permanently close its doors. It has been appealing to local residents, church groups, fraternal, civic, and community-service organizations for contributions to help it survive while it, along with other Nassau County counseling centers, lobby in Albany for restoration of these state cuts.

Mr. John Maniec, a spokesman for H.A.D., has indicated that Help-Aid-Direction will receive a 20 per cent funding reduction from the state government beginning April 1. This reduction will last for at least three months and H.A.D. must either raise $4,000 in local donations during those months or lay off several of its counselors.

As a direct result of these recent pleas for help, the Church Council of Trinity Lutheran Church decided to respond affirmatively to H.A.D.'s desperate financial situation. These community-minded church leaders voted to send Help-Aid-Direction a check for $500.00.

The Reverend John Krahn, Pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, summed up the feelings of his church's council when he said: "Trinity is pleased to help H.A.D. continue the great service it provides Hicksville and the surrounding communities. Caring is an important aspect of our ministry and we are happy to help in this way. We were saddened to learn that the state cut their allocations to H.A.D. by H.A.D. THANKS TRINITY FOR $500 DONATION: Help-Aid-Direction (H.A.D.) is very grateful to the members of Trinity Lutheran Church for their recent generous donation of $500.00 to assist this local counseling center through its present financial crisis. twenty per cent. Such worthwhile agencies need to be maintained so we are hoping that these monies are restored to H.A.D.'s budget by July 1."

The H.A.D. Board of Directors, its staff and clients are indeed grateful for the caring, love, and support shown to it by Trinity Lutheran Church. Its generous donation has given H.A.D. a little breathing room and time necessary to contact other churches, temples, and community-minded organizations.

Those groups and individuals who would like to help can send their donations directly to H.A.D., Inc. located at 200 North Broadway, Hicksville, N.Y. 11801

"THE STORY OF SOUND" AT HICKSVILLE G.O.P. MEETING: "The Story of Sound - Friend or Foe" was the title of the program which was presented by Ron Engstrand of the N.Y. Telephone Company at the March 11th meeting of the Ernest F. Francke Republican Club of Hicksville. A capacity crowd was on hand at the V.F.W. Hall in Hicksville to enjoy the program which was the feature of the evening.

Plans for Hicksville's "second Old-time Country Fair" are well under way as the May 22nd festival draws closer. The Fair Steering Committee under the leadership of Steven Didier, Richard Evers, Millie Pino and Dr. Richard Smith met this past week. They have announced that exhibitor booth applications and invitations to participate have been mailed to many Hicksville organizations.

Any local club or organized group desiring to share in the festival and to augment its treasury through the sale of items is cordially invited to take part. The Old-time Fair is being held on the Hicksville High School grounds on a most historical weekend, sponsored by the Hicksville American Revolution Bicentennial Committee, the Old-time Fair will commemorate a trio of notable Long Island events: the 50th Anniversary of the opening of

Planning For Old-Time Fair

East Street Elementary School; the 50th Anniversary of Charles A. Lindbergh's epic solo flight to Paris from Roosevelt Field and the 329th Anniversary of the Robert Williams Indian Land Purchase.

Exhibitors in this year's Old-time Fair are urged to forward booth fees and applications, or official 'letters of intent' as soon as possible. The cut-off date for booth applications is April 22. Exhibitor fees are $10. for single spaces and $20. for larger areas.

Last year's Hicksville Fair was memorable for its old-time neighborliness, community pride, fun and a thrilling parachute jumping demonstration by the Long Island Sky Divers Association. Among the Fair attractions and special events being lined up for this year's Fair are an Antique Car Parade and Exhibit by one of Long Island's largest "old car" group of aficionados, a rock band, more choral and band music as well as track and field events which drew so many participants last year.

The Hicksville Old-time Fair offers an opportunity to local craftsmen, whether club affiliated or not, to enter handmade articles in a variety of competitions. Artisans may view for ribbons in such skill and

by Marcia Yeates

Millions of viewers will be watching the TV special "Henry Winkler Meets William Shakespeare" on the CBS network this Sunday afternoon at 5 p.m., but very few will be aware of the important part that Ray Hoesten of Jericho had in the production of the show.

Ray was Stage Director for the program, which is aimed at introducing young audiences to the genius of William Shakespeare, but which should have widespread appeal to all ages.

A lifelong resident of this area, Ray is well-known in Jericho and Hicksville for his active participation in the Fire Department, Little League, Cub Scouts, the South Jericho Civic Association and St. Thomas the Apostle Church.

But professionally, the affable 33 year-old Hoesten is totally immersed in the hectic, grueling, sometimes glamorous, often preposterous world of television. As owner of his own TV Production Company, Barsentone Productions, Inc., he produces, directs and stage manages TV specials, commercials, talk shows and soap operas. His work runs the gamut from PBS shows to Firing Line to Electric Company to afternoon soaps. Several of the commercials he has directed have won the coveted CLIO award, which is the Oscar of the advertising industry.

Ray is especially enthusiastic about this Sunday's special which took two weeks to film at the American Shakespeare Festival Theatre in Stratford, Conn. Fifth and sixth grade students were selected to be a part of the show. Henry Winkler introduces them to the rich treasures of Shakespeare's work, with a little help from the Bard himself. The children's unrehearsed reactions to Winkler and his players add spontaneity to the production, Ray explains. "Just watching these kids turn on to Shakespeare was so exciting," he recalls, smiling, "and working with Henry Winkler was great fun. He is extremely easy to work with and has a very keen understanding of people. He related so well to the kids."

Winkler himself was equally enthusiastic about doing the show. Although his fame as "The Fonz" has catapulted him into the rarified atmosphere of superstardom, Winkler is an intense, serious actor and an avid devotee of the Bard. During the filming of the show, he became so involved in dueling scene from "Romeo and Juliet" (he played Romeo), that he accidentally cut the actor who was playing Tybalt and continued the scene even after droplets of blood appeared on Tybalt's arm.

The show itself is set on the stage of the Stratford Playhouse, with William Shakespeare and some of his players giving the children and Henry Winkler a brief glimpse into the vivid world of Elizabethan drama. The players, in turn, get acquainted with some of the technical miracles possible in the modern theater, undreamed of in Shakespeare's time.

High School Challenge

Ray formed his own production company a few years ago after working for twelve years at WPIX and at freelance jobs in TV. He credits Jericho High School Principal Arthur Rathje with giving him a career in the industry a resounding sendoff. When Ray was a bored, turned-off teenager, Mr. Rathje put him in charge of the spanking new Jericho High School theater, with the responsibility for its upkeep and operation. He responded to the challenge and the rest is history.

A member of the first graduating class of Jericho High School, Ray did a bit of freelance lighting work before entering the U. S. Coast Guard for a four-year tour of duty. His service career took him to the Arctic Circle on an icebreaker and later to the Atlantic Ocean off Cape Kennedy aboard a recovery ship for one of the first U.S. Space missions.

After his discharge, he studied at the RCA Institutes in New York, where he received a degree in Television Production and Engineering. While he was working as a cameraman for the Mets' games with WOR-TV, WPIX spotted him and offered him a job covering Yankee games. From there he worked his way up the ladder into production. He was the Director and then Producer-Director of the Officer Joe Bolton and Capt. Jack McCarthy Shows, two very popular children's programs. He was also Director for the Ten O'Clock News.

Costly Sparks

One of his funniest recollections from the days on the Ten O'Clock News is of an incident involving the famous WPIX Yule Log, which is shown every year on Christmas Eve. After much consultation about the costs, the management of the station decided to film the blazing fire from the living room of Gracie Mansion with a radio simulcast of carols on WPIX-FM. To keep expenses down, Ray had ingeniously thought up the idea of looping the film so that actually only about eight seconds of film was needed. The biggest item in the budget, Ray recalls, was the repair bill for an antique Oriental rug which was burned when sparks from the hearth flew out onto the priceless carpet.

Word of the eight-second loop of film leaked out and Newsday TV critic Marvin Kitman blasted WPIX in one of his columns for being "cheapskates" on their Christmas show. From their original confrontation over the matter, Ray and Kitman became fast friends. Their friendship has survived even the disastrous, short-lived "Ball Four" series on which they both worked last season.

On His Own

When Ray left WPIX a few years ago to form Barsentone, he took a big chance. "It was a little scary at first," he remembers, "but my wife was very encouraging and a great help, and luckily, the phone hasn't stopped ringing since."

Despite the hectic schedule which is the name of the game in his business, Ray still finds time for the many community activities in which he is involved as well as just being daddy to his three young children. His wife, Pat, is equally active and works with him at Barsentone along with his younger brother, Dick, also of Jericho.

Favorite Projects

Ray's favorite projects at the present time are directing the Christopher Close-Up on CBS on Sunday mornings, a show he has been with for ten years, and producing and directing the new Cable TV presentations for the Diocese of Rockville Centre on Channel L. "I love the people I work with on these shows," Ray explains. "Practically everybody in my business is a little bit crazy, and these people bring me back to reality."

With all the demands on his time, Ray likes to limit himself to doing network specials and commercials. And he considers Sunday's special on Shakespeare to be "one of the biggest things I've ever done." Considering his credits, that's quite an endorsement.

WHO IS THAT GOING OVER THE SCRIPT...with Ray Hoesten for an upcoming CBS-TV special?

Dear Friends: . .

As we go to press-A coalition of angry parents, teachers, administrators, and school board members from Plainview-Old Bethpage have summoned local legislators to a Rally scheduled for tonight (Thursday, March 17.) at Mattlin Junior High in Plainview. The purpose of the rally is to develop a unified plan of action to fight Gov. Carey's 3-year program of planned educational decay.

"If the Governor's plan goes through," said a spokesperson for the group "education for our children will be minimized and the anticipated tax rate increase resulting from the cut in state aid will force many long-time residents to consider leaving our community."

Invited to the rally, which is sponsored by PTA Council, School Board, Congress of teachers, Administrators Association and the Central Administration of the Plainview-Old Bethpage School District, are Assemblyman Lewis Yevoli, State Senators Johnson and Marino.

This week the officials of the Town of Oyster Bay and the Town of Hempstead held a meeting and voted in two new wells for the Hicksville area. We met several of our Hicksville Water District officials and they told us that there was no problem obtaining the OK for these wells as they have the money needed for the project. That's good news, too.

Linda Strongin, whose story on the trip to Albany of many PTA members you can read on page 5, will be covering the Board of Education meetings in Hicksville for THE HERALD, welcome aboard, Linda.

SOCIAL NOTE: among the former Hicksvillians (and well-known bon vivants) who came into town for last month's PTA Founders Day Dinner honoring Norma Dagna, were Bill and Muriel O'Donnell who now live in Pennsylvania. Hi-folks.

THIS IS A WEEK for congratulations . . . first to the Americans of Irish ancestry on their great St. Patrick's Day programs and celebrations . . . and also to the Charles Wagner Post American Legion who are celebrating their 58th anniversary this year . . . see their membership story on page 9.

THAT'S all for this week. Stay well and enjoy the refreshing spring weather.

Letters To The Editor

To The Editor:

After reviewing the prospective impact of budget cuts sought by Governor Carey for the 1977-1978 Local Assistance Budget of the State Division for Youth, I wrote to our representatives in Albany protesting this proposal - a plan that would endanger the funding for a variety of programs and projects undertaken by the Town, school districts and private agencies for the youth of Oyster Bay. I wrote, in part:

"While holding local governments harmless with respect to general State revenue levels is absolutely necessary if local homeowners are to be protected against significant property tax increases, the importance of retaining the State portion of funds utilized for existing programs whose costs are jointly shared by State and local governments must also be recognized. Cuts at the State level that affect specific programs may appear to lessen the cost of government, but, in reality, they force the creation of circumstances, wherein homeowners face the prospect of picking up a greater share of the costs of worthwhile programs which the state has backed away from."

"The Governor's proposal (a $3 million cut State-wide) is untenable because it would, with great suddenness, require local municipalities to significantly diminish or dismantle existing programs of proven value or retain such programs by raising real property taxes. Neither prospect served the public interest."

"The Town of Oyster Bay stands to lose some $84,000 in anticipated revenue as a result of the Governor's proposal; this figure, which includes the prospective loss to school districts and private organizations that make application through the Town, constitutes a programmatic loss of $168,000 based on the shared cost formula promulgated by the State. Villages within the Town that make direct application stand to lose almost $8,900, a programmatic loss of $17,800."

"Because the proposed cuts are so drastic in nature that they seriously threaten the continued existence of on-going youth programs, and because the very nature of this proposal is precipitous and without proper forethought, I urge that you and other members of the State Legislature that represent Oyster Bay's residents act in unison in an effort to stand the State Division for Youth Local Assistance Budget at its present level."

To The Editor:

There is no more exciting sight to a bibliophile than a room containing tables of neatly stacked books selling for bargain-basement prices. Thanks to the wonderful generosity of Hicksville's lovely Library patrons, and discards from the Library stacks, this marvelous sight greeted crowds of people at the Friends of the Hicksville Library's "mini-book sale" in February. An excellent selection of quality paperbacks and hardcovers delighted an enthusiastic crowd. The Friends were able to set up this mini-book sale in record time thanks to many willing hands, and particularly five 4-H girls giving service to their community. We added a grand profit of $250 to our depleted treasury.

Incidentally, the Friends haven't given up entirely on our coveted goal to provide a "lift for the handicapped at the Library." There are still further possibilities to be explored including federal funds or foundation grants. I want to extend a belated hearty THANK YOU to all the wonderful people who voted positively last December to open up the Library's bountiful resources and activities to EVERYONE. We are so grateful for your support of this worthy goal.

And, too, may we urge all of you who support the Friends in their conviction that quality library service is important to everyone, but who are unable to attend meetings, help at book sales, etc., to send us your donation of $2.00 enrolling as members of the Friends on paper at least. March is the Friends' membership renewal month. Please leave your check at the Library or send it to our hard-working and devoted Treasurer, Mrs. Carole Wolf, 7 Harkin Lane. Thanks.

We are, of course, eager for comments or suggestions from the community and you can leave them at the Library desk. We are looking forward to NATIONAL LIBRARY WEEK beginning the 18th of April. Herne Neufeld at the Library has many exciting events lined up.

Sincerely your,
Joan Jones, President

Sirs:

This morning at 7:30 my car stalled at the intersection of 5th and 9th Sts. in Hicksville. It stopped in the direct flow of traffic and my frantic (and useless) efforts could not budge it. A young gentleman (wearing a navy blue raincoat) offered to push it to the side and then expressed regrets that he could not fix it because he wasn't mechanical. That he got the car over to the side away from traffic he will have my lifelong gratitude. I can't wait now to have the opportunity to do something to assist another person in distress. Wasn't that both a bad and good start for this day?

Sincerely,

PTA To Gov. Carey: Restore Education Budget Cuts

By Linda Strongin

More than one hundred Nassau County residents participated in PTA Day in Albany on Tuesday, March 15. Representing Hicksville were Joan Jones, Hicksville Council of PTA's; Joan Fueglistler, Willet Avenue PTA; Norma Goerke, East Street PTA; and Linda Strongin, Fork Lane PTA.

During a question and answer session with Sens. Marino, Dunne and Assemblymen G. Murphy and Gullotta, we were assured that they are working very hard to restore Gov. Carey's proposed budget cuts to education. However, there appears to be no definite answer on how this will be accomplished.

One item of great concern is arts and revenues. Under Gov. Carey's proposal, education could be guaranteed $60,000,000. Anything received above this amount would go into the general fund. THE PROJECTED LOTTERY REVENUE IS $120,000,000. Assemblyman Murphy assured us he is fighting to have ALL lottery revenues earmarked for education.

Also discussed is the need to change the current state aid formula to make it equitable but still provide a quality education for all the children of New York State.

In the afternoon we briefly heard members of the Assembly Education Committee, including Chairman Stavinsky, Assemblymen Orazio, Virgilio, Levy and Bush, answer questions relating to teacher tenure review, lottery funds for education, and state mandates. Assemblyman Levy emphatically declared that "we are using the wrong yardstick to measure the wealth of a school district", referring to the use of property values.

We also visited the offices of Assemblyman Kremer, Chairman of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee. He was at a meeting and unable to meet with us.

How does Gov. Carey's budget cuts to education effect Hicksville residents? Since our school board is proposing a no-growth budget (no tax increase) and state aid to Hicksville could be cut by $100,000 or more, it means cut-backs of services and of vital educational programs for our school children.

Residents are urged to contact Gov. Carey, telling him of your opposition to his budget cuts in regard to state aid to education. Since a vote on the budget is expected sometime next week, a Mailgram is suggested. The cost is $2.75 for 100 words (count includes names and address of recipient and signature). It is delivered in the next day's mail. Call toll free 1-800-257-2221.

Help maintain education as a New York State priority.

Quilting Bee On March 19

Join the Quilting Bee at the Old Bethpage village restoration any Saturday and Sunday in March when visitors will see vintage needlework projects demonstrated in authentic homes by costumed villagers.

Patchwork quilting, the focus of women's socials on old Long Island, will be demonstrated in the Ballroom of the Noon Inn where ladies of the village are at-way through a typical mid-19th century pattern, Clay's oice. As the pinwheel design takes shape on the frame, visitors may watch the experts stitching it then move along to the Iiams House where they may attribute some stitches of their own to the creation of another restoration quilt wryly titled "Duck's Foot in Mud".

Generations ago, ladies turned to embroidery as an outlet for artistic impulses in their scant leisure time. Colorful examples of these skills will be featured at the restoration during March. Varied needlework from the type done by Martha Washington, known today as bargo, to Victorian "berlin work" will be on display in village homes. At the modest Conklin home, the making and repair of fish nets demonstrate an age-old craft practiced by men.

As an adjunct to Needlework Month, the Friends of the Nassau County Museum will sponsor a five-hour seminar on Historic Long Island Quilts with slide talks and a demonstration of Old Bethpage quilting methods on Saturday, March 19. The program is planned for persons with quilting skills who are interested in old techniques and traditions. The quilt seminar, starting with a morning coffee get-together, will include lunch and requires a $10 fee payable with advance registration as enrollment is limited. For registration details and further information, call 516-420-5289.

The Old Bethpage village restoration, a working Long Island agricultural community, is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. every day but Monday. Admission is $2.25 for adults and $1.50 for children age 5 through 17. Residents of Nassau County with a leisure pass pay $1.75 and $1.25. Children under age 5 are admitted free. The restoration, operated by the Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks, is located on Round Swamp Road in Old Bethpage, one mile south of Long Island Expressway Exit 48.

A cafeteria and gift shop are on village grounds. Parking is free.

Community Orchestra Concert

The Hicksville Community Orchestra under the directorship of Charles Couse, will hold a concert on Thursday Evening, March 24th at 8:15 p.m., at the Hicksville Senior High School on Union Ave. in Hicksville.

The program will include: Wagner's Götterdämmerung, Brahms' Rhine Journey and Tchaikovsky's 1812 Overture. The concert will be followed by a reception and refreshments. The concert is free and open to all.

Soloist for the Bruch Scottish Fantasia will be Linda Schroeder, a 22 year old violinist.

Miss Schroeder is a scholarship student at the Juilliard School of Music in New York City, where she studies with Ivan Galamian and Margaret Pardee. She has been a member of the Long Island Symphony, the Great Neck Symphony, and the New York String Orchestra conducted by Alexander Schneider. She recently attended a chamber music seminar where she worked with members of the Guarneri String Quartet.

Miss Schroeder was a member of the Spoleto Festival Orchestra in Italy in 1975, and after studying at the Meadowmount School of Music, was awarded a teaching fellowship. She also holds a teaching fellowship in the preparatory department at Juilliard. In 1972 she won first prize in the Five Towns Music and Art Audition and was the first recipient of the Frances S. Goldstein Scholarship from Juilliard. She has performed solo and chamber music recitals in Alice Tully Hall in Lincoln Center.

The March 24th Concert, as are all concerts given by the Hicksville Community Orchestra, is free to the public. The Concerts are given under the sponsorship of the Hicksville Adult Education Program.

Harkin's Heroes

The girls U-12 sponsored by Ernie's Auto Body played a super game on Saturday. Northport was an extremely aggressive team.

Two goals were scored the first ten minutes of play by our opponents. It took Harkin's Heroes a short time and they settled down and played a great defensive game. Diana Taylor's talent in goal saved the day. Final score was 2-1 Northport coming out the winners, but Hicksville was proud of the way the team played together.

Special recognition goes to Laura Talente, Nancy Steffan, Susan Mitchell, Debbie Luongo as well as the rest of the team for a great game. Asperins to their coach, Pat Harkins to aid his sore throat he now is nursing as a result of his cheering the team on.

MIDGETS WIN

The Joseph Barry K of C Midget Red team took to the turf for the first time since last fall - this past week-end against the Massapequa Bullets. The game started off very shaky for Hicksville as they had some difficulty re-adjusting from playing indoor the last few months but "Cresham's Crimson Tide" rolled one into the Massapequa net just before halftime for a 1-0 lead. During the intermission, coach Cresham reminded the boys of how the outdoor game was to be played and they improved significantly in the second half; building the lead to 3-0. Glen Zakian played an outstanding defensive game at center full. On the front line, John McCann's harassment of the Massapequa fullback and Bobby Andrus' ball control and alert passing enabled Adrian Pepi to get the hat trick for Hicksville. Massapequa put one in in the closing minute of the game - Final Score 3-1.

Congratulations to Joe and Maxine Neto on their new baby boy, James Anthony was born March 10th. He weighed in at 6 lbs. 3 ozs and 19 inches long.

Judging from the kicks he gave his mother, Maxine predicts he is going to be a terrific soccer player.

Legion Launches Membership Drive

By Richard Evers

In Hicksville, veterans of all wars are being recruited for another campaign. The American Legion is currently driving to enlist, for the duration of the peacetime, servicemen who once proudly wore the uniform of their country in the two World Wars, Korea of Vietnam.

The Charles Wagner Post No. 221, Hicksville's oldest veterans group cordially invites wartime servicemen to become members of an organization comprising over 2,700,000 members, 16,000 posts in all states, U.S. territories and many foreign lands, whose membership has included the last seven Presidents and 66 Senators and 209 Representatives of the current United States Congress.

Calling attention to the American Legion's primary concern, the welfare of veterans of the United States and their families, Commander Palmer Walsh and Membership Officer, Vice-Commander Ann Slaton, point proudly to the Charles Wagner Post's many years of service to Hicksville veterans. Notable among the post's current activities has been the Satellite Program, an out-patient clinic, held bi-weekly at the Charles Wagner Clubhouse these last five years, and aiding the Northport Veterans Hospital by providing psychological and medical services at a convenient location for Long Island Vietnam veterans. The Legion's Satellite Program, a "first" for the Hicksville Post, makes it easier for doctors and nurses to meet out-patients for regular therapy. The Post provides its hall, refreshments and lay assistants for this most necessary service, at considerable cost each year. Among other long-time services to veterans have been the Charles Wagner Post's annual visits to the Northport Hospital with gifts, entertainment and good cheer for veterans, and special Christmas Parties for men confined to Northport. The Post also sponsors a cottage of 30 girls at Suffolk State Development Center in Melville.

Particularly appreciated by many families are the American Legion Memorial services and color guard vigils at the biers of veterans being waked in Hicksville Funeral parlors. The moving ritual in honor of the deceased who have served their country, and the Legion Color Guard of Honor, do much to solace bereaved families. There is a bond of duty and comradeship which transcends the sadness of death.

Service to youth and to the community is a major goal of the American Legion. Its promotion of the G.I. Bill of Rights for the veterans of World War II did much to raise the level of adult education in the nation in the last thirty years, as well as made possible the great migration to comfortable living in suburban America through G.I. mortgages. Today, the Legion strives for benefits for younger veterans. Long before World War II, the Legion was developing patriotic ideals and appreciation of the American heritage with such notable youth programs as: boys and girls State Conventions which provide realistic introduction to democratic politics; Annual Legion Oratorical Contests which promote student study of the United States Constitution; scholarships; annual School Award Medals for excellence in the study of American History in combination with outstanding school service and Good Citizenship Awards to every Eagle Scout. And, what Memorial Day, Veterans Day, Fourth of July, or Bicentennial Commemoration would be possible without the year-in, year-out devotion of veterans posts to foster love of country, the proper memory of men and women who serve the community in war and peace, the honor due to religion and the flag.

There are so many benefits to being an American Legionnaire: comradeship, community service, opportunity for regular help to disabled and sick servicemen and women, life insurance at unbeatable premiums, blood bank facilities, a warm welcome at Legion posts from Fairbanks, Alaska to Paris, France, help with Veterans Administration Claims (the Legion has assisted over 319,000 of these), social affairs with kindred spirits, uniformed color guard and musical band membership, youth activities for children, opportunities for leadership and membership in one of the nation's largest power groups.

All veterans-of any wartime service-are invited to sign up for (Continued on Page 8)

IRS Defines Tax Terms

When vacationing in a foreign country, knowing the language makes it easier to get around. The same holds true when making out a Federal income tax return—knowing the tax terms makes preparation of the form easier.

To help you learn the language of taxes, the Internal Revenue Service provides the following outline of some of the more common terms you'll run into. They are presented in order of appearance on Form 1040.

I. Filing Status. Determines which Tax Rate Schedule or column in the Tax Table you should use to get the right tax. Types of filing status include: single, married—filing jointly, married—filing separately, qualifying widow(er) with a dependent child, and head of household (see I. A.). For withholding purposes you should also know about:

A. Head of Household. To qualify here, you must be unmarried or legally separated on the last day of the tax year (December 31 for most people). You must also have paid over half the cost of maintaining a household for at least one relative all year long.

It is not always necessary for the relative to live with you. It depends on the relationship. A parent who qualifies as a dependent does not have to live with you, but must live in a home you maintain, for example, a rest home or home for the aged.

On the other hand, your unmarried child or stepchild must live in your home, but does not have to qualify as your dependent. Other relatives both must live with you and be your dependent for you to qualify.

Widow(er)s who are entitled to benefits as a "surviving spouse" (see II. D) may not claim head of household status.

II. Exemption. Each exemption entitles you to a $750 deduction. You are entitled to a deduction for yourself and your spouse. There also are exemptions for being 65 or over, for blindness, and for qualified dependents.

A. Exemptions for Dependents. You are entitled to an exemption of $750 for each person who qualifies as your dependent by meeting the dependency tests below:

1. Support Test. You must provide over half the person's support, which includes food, clothing, lodging, education, transportation, etc.

2. Gross Income Test. Generally, you cannot claim anyone who had at least $750 gross income during the year (see III. A.). The test does not apply to children who are under 19 years of age or who are full-time students.

3. Member of Household or Relationship Test. To qualify as a dependent, a person who is not related to you must be a member of your household for the entire year.

4. Citizenship Test. The person must be a U.S. citizen, resident or national, or a resident of Canada, Mexico, the Panama Canal Zone or the Republic of Panama for some part of the calendar year in which your tax year begins.

5. Joint Return Test. You may not claim an exemption for a dependent who files a joint return unless the dependent and his/her spouse do not have to file but do so only to receive a refund.

B. Multiple Support Statement. Normally you must provide over half a dependent's support to claim the $750 exemption. In some cases, no one person contributes more than half the support of a dependent. Instead, two or more persons might be able to claim the individual as a dependent except for the support test.

When this happens, any one, but only one, of those who individually contribute over 10 percent may claim the exemption. Each of the others provides that person with a written statement for his/her return waiving the exemption for the year.

C. Student. To qualify, a child must be a full-time student at an educational institution or in a qualifying program during some part of each of five calendar months of the year (not necessarily consecutive).

D. Surviving Spouse. For the first two years after a spouse dies, the survivor may be able to use the tax rates that apply to joint returns. But these rates can only be used if the survivor has not remarried and maintains a home for a son, daughter, stepson or stepdaughter who qualifies as a dependent.

III. Income.

A. Gross Income. All income that is not exempt from tax by law.

B. Adjusted Gross Income. On the Short Form 1040A, this is the total of wages, salaries, tips, interest and dividends. On the Long Form 1040, it is total income minus certain adjustments such as the disability income exclusion, moving expenses, employee business expenses, and payments to an individual retirement account.

C. Dividend. A distribution out of a corporation's earnings and profits to its stockholder. It may be paid in cash or property.

D. Earned Income. Amounts received as compensation for personal services rendered. Includes wages, salaries, professional fees and the like, and may be in the form of property as well as cash.

E. Net Earnings from Self-Employment. All income from a trade or business after deductions. Deductions are expenses incurred in the business, such as a farmer's cost for feed or a sales representative's travel and entertainment expenses.

F. Taxable Income. Taxable income is your adjusted gross income less deductions and exemptions.

G. Unearned Income. Income not received as payment for personal services, such as interest and dividends.

IV. Standard Deduction. Taxpayers may choose between taking the standard deduction and itemizing their nonbusiness deductions but they should use the standard deduction only if it is more than the total of itemized deductions. The standard deduction comes in the form of either a percentage figure or the low income allowance and is the larger of the two.

INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE

THE TAX RETURN'S NOT COMPLETE TILL BOTH OF YOU SIGN.

A. Low-Income Allowance. A tax-free allowance for low-income taxpayers. For single people, the low-income allowance is $1700; for married people filing jointly and for surviving spouses, $2100; for married people filing separately, $1050.

B. Percentage Standard Deduction. This is 16 percent of adjusted gross income, with the following maximums: for singles $2400; for married filing jointly, $2800; for married filing separately, $1400.

There are special rules for dependents who have unearned income.

V. Itemized Deductions.

A. Charitable Contributions. A deduction for contributions to any qualifying organization. These must be established and operated for charitable, religious, educational, scientific, or literary purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals; to fraternal organizations if the contributions are used for charitable purposes; to veteran's organizations, or to government agencies that will use the gifts for public purposes.

B. Interest. You may deduct the following types of interest: mortgage interest; "points" if you are a buyer, mortgage prepayment penalty; finance charges, separately stated; bank credit card plan interest; note discount interest; redeemable ground rents.

C. Medical and Dental Expenses. Certain medical and dental expenses may be deductible to the extent they exceed 3 percent of adjusted gross income (AGI). Medicines and drugs may be included only to the extent they exceed 1 percent of the AGI. Not subject to the 3% limitation is one-half of what you paid for medical insurance, to a maximum of $150. The rest is deductible as a medical expense under the 3 percent limitation.

D. Taxes. To be deductible, taxes must meet three requirements:

1. The tax must be deductible falling into one of these categories:
 - a. Income tax (State, local or foreign)
 - b. Real property tax (State, local, or foreign)
 - c. Personal property tax (State or local)
 - d. General sales tax (State or local)
 - e. Gasoline tax (State or local)
2. The tax must be imposed on you.
3. You must have paid the tax during 1976.

E. Miscellaneous Deductions.

1. Alimony. You may deduct alimony, separate maintenance or similar periodic payments you are required to make to your spouse or former spouse. Certain other support payments also may be deductible. For the 1977 tax year, alimony payments will no longer be claimed as an itemized deduction. Instead, they will become a deduction in arriving at adjusted gross income, similar to moving expenses, and may be claimed by those who take the standard deduction as well as by those who itemize.

2. Educational Expenses. You may deduct educational expenses such as tuition, lab fees, the cost of books and supplies, etc., if you are going to school to meet requirements set by law, regulation, or your employer, for keeping your job, salary or status, or to keep or improve skills you need in your present job. You cannot deduct these expenses if you go to school to meet the minimum educational requirements to get a job, or if your schooling will qualify you for a new trade or business, even though the courses otherwise meet the requirements outlined above.

3. Political Contributions. You have the choice of taking a deduction or tax credit for money given as a political or newsletter fund contribution. Contributions must have been made in connection with a publicly announced campaign; however, newsletter funds of incumbents do qualify. The deduction is limited to $100 ($200 on a joint return). The credit may be half the contribution, to a maximum of $25 ($50 on a joint return) and not exceed your tax.

You have to itemize to claim the deduction, but you can take the tax credit even if you prefer the standard deduction. However, you cannot take both the credit and deduction.

You can also designate $1 of your taxes ($2 on a joint return) to the Presidential Election Campaign Fund. This designation, made right on the tax return, neither raises the tax due nor lowers any expected refund. On a joint return, the election to designate or not designate is available to both taxpayers.

4. Certain Other Expenses. Employee and income producing expenses, such as dues to professional societies, malpractice insurance premiums paid by physicians who are employees; the portion of your home that is regularly and exclusively used in work; fees and licenses, the cost of a safe deposit box used to store financial papers, etc. are other deductible items.

VI. Four Other Terms You Should Know.

A. Estimated Tax. Your estimate of total taxes reduced by withholding taxes. It is normally paid in four installments and is claimed on your return as a reduction of total taxes.

B. Schedules.

1. Tax Rate Schedules. Are used to compute your tax if your taxable income is more than $20,000.

2. Schedules Attached to Form 1040. Are supplemental information sheets for special purposes, such as showing itemized deductions, reporting interest and dividends, or computing the Credit for the Elderly.

C. Tax Table. Is used to compute your tax if your taxable income is $20,000 or less.

D. Withholding. The pay-as-you-earn way to meet your tax obligation.

Many Forms of Income Not Taxable, IRS Notes

Gross income is the starting point for determining how much income tax you owe. It includes all and any type of income you receive that is not expressly exempt from tax by law.

So it is just as important to know which forms of income are not taxed as it is to know which ones are. According to the Internal Revenue Service, the list of nontaxable items is a long one.

Benefits from several kinds of insurance policies head the list. They include proceeds from accident and health insurance if you paid the premiums; disability and death payments for loss of earning capacity under "no fault" auto insurance policies; money paid under the Federal Employees Compensation Act; some casualty policy benefits; and, generally, money you receive as beneficiary on a life insurance policy.

Gifts, bequests, and inheritances are not taxable. However, if any of these produces income, such as interest, dividends, or rentals, the income is taxable.

In the employment area, nontaxable items include fees paid directly to an employment agency by an employer; the cost and upkeep of uniforms that can only be used on the job; the cost-of-living allowances paid to U.S. employees stationed in other countries; and unemployment and workmen's compensation. So is money you get from passengers in your carpool.

Social Security and Railroad Act pensions and lump-sum benefits are nontaxable income for retirees. Under certain conditions, people over 65 can also exclude part or all of the gain realized from the sale of their home.

Scholarship and fellowship grants are either partly or totally excludable, depending on whether the recipient is a candidate for a degree.

Gas Fumes Injure 5 Vamps

By Ex-Capt. Owen Magee

Five Hicksville vamps were slightly injured when they were overcome by very dangerous chlorine gas. The Fire Department received the alarm Saturday, March 12 at 8:29 PM that liquid chlorine had been spilled at the Holiday Spa located in the Mid Island Plaza.

Upon arrival vamps found no one had evacuated the building. Chlorine gas is a deadly swift moving gas that suffocates rapidly. The chemical was mishandled. It was being used for the swimming pool in the Spa. In 1976 a similar incident at the Spa injured several vamps. At that time it was reported the chemicals were not stored or used properly.

The injured vamps and others had to don air masks to evacuate and clean up the spill. Chlorine is also explosive under certain conditions. This goes for the chemical homeowners use for their back yard pools. The injured vamps removed their masks when finished but walked into a hidden pocket of the gas and were quickly felled. They were removed to Central General Hospital - treated and released. No other injuries were reported.

FIRE REPORT

During the period March 8 thru 15th Hicksville Firemen responded to 23 alarms. There were 17 fire calls and 4 rescue calls, 3 fire alarms. The false alarms came from the Sr. High School again and one from a factory at 270 Duffy Ave. The officers and men of the Hicksville Fire Dept. wish to thank Hicksville Post Office Nurse Evangeline Bennett for her donation, in honor of her late friend Anna C. Rottkamp, an infant training mannequin used for training in mouth to mouth resuscitation. On the sick list is Ex-Capt. Fred Hasbrouck of Eng. Co. 7 who is recovering from a recent illness at North Shore Hospital. Best wishes. It was reported that Ex-Chief Henry Gebhardt is very seriously ill in Mercy Hospital.

In our report last week it was overlooked that Lt. Larry Krummenacker was also presented an award for his work in public relations. Sorry about that.

Some 195 bands from nine states across our great nation will be the showcase as the Honorable James J. Comerford, Parade Chairman escorts the aides to the grand march from every county in New York State. John Sugrue, of East Rockaway, is this year's Aide to the Grand Marshall from Nassau County. The focal point of the parade for our readers will be the appearance of the 130 piece Hicksville High School Marching Band leading the Commodore John Barry Division Eleven (Division of the Green Berets), Ancient Order of Hibernians of Hicksville, some 200 strong with men, members of the auxiliary and children. The "long green line" that marks the "Queen of Avenues", Fifth Avenue, site of the parade, personifies the millions of Irish men, women and children who have bravely marched each year in the cold of mid-winter for 215 consecutive years on the streets of New York to honor St. Patrick, the patron Saint of Ireland. The Parade's Honorary Grand Marshall, Terence Cardinal Cooke, and other members of the clergy will review the parade from the steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral.

DID 'YA KNOW: that before there was a United States of America, there was a St. Patrick's Day Parade - yes in colonial America, though relatively few in number, known as the Friendly Brothers of St. Patrick kept alive their common interests and ties with their native land by meeting frequently, especially on St. Patrick's Day. Early morning breakfasts were held as early as 1734 in Boston and 1756 in New York. The "Great Day" in New York, March 17, is the most colorful and visible manifestation of the Irish in our country. Celebrations are held in 27 of the 50 states, in the nation's capitol and across the border in Montreal, Canada... 76 cities, towns and hamlets across the country honor this day. On Long Island 5 (five) parades were held; 16 (sixteen in New York State. So let it be said, "Oh, How They March", the Irish on Parade, proud we are of our culture and this great country, the United States of America.

WE HEAR THAT: N.J. International, Inc., of West Nicholas Street, Hicksville, will manufacture HO trains at their new location... Emigrant Savings Bank plan a Hicksville Branch soon... the Holy Family Hockey Club copped the New York State title in a win at Auburn, New York, last weekend - we'll have more details next week - quite an accomplishment for this "Squirt Team", William Mahoney, one of New York's finest (NYCPD) is out of the hospital and recovering - We wish the same to former District Court Judge Francis J. Donovan and Gene Ziegler - look forward to seeing you at the meetings this spring (which is by the way Sunday, March 20th)... Hicksville's Jim Greene, moderated the shut-in mass recently over Channel 9 from Riverdale, New York - this is on every Sunday morning at 10 A.M. despite the heavy rains last Sunday, Commodore John
