Fire Report

By Ex-Capt. Owen Magee

During the 2-week period August 2 to Aug. 15, Hicksville Vamps responded to 52 alarms. There were 25 rescue calls, 20 fire calls and 7 false alarms.

House Fires

On August 4, an attic fire at 34 Washington Ave. caused $10,000.00 damage. The 1:59 a.m. alarm kept Hickville firefighters busy. No injuries were reported.

On August 5, a fire caused considerable damage to a house at 25 Glenbrook Rd. The fire gained considerable headway before it was noticed by neighbors. Intense heat caused fires to smolder all over the main floor. A smoke detector melted and fell to the floor, but still continued to sound its warning.

A neighbor broke out a small window and doused most of the fire with a garden hose, but the closed-in fire caused an estimated $10,000 damage. The alarm was reported at 9:56 p.m. The cause is under investigation.

Again on August 7, at 6:03 p.m. firemen responded to what they thought was an air conditioner fire. Upon arrival they found the room was on fire. The air conditioner, fed by a zip cord extension which melted caught fire and spread to furnishings. No one was home at the time but Vamps found several air conditioners but if you must use approved extensions made for air conditioners.

Smoke Detectors

Recently the Sears Co. recalled some of the BRR 110 volt detectors which were defective. The numbers on the units in question are 9-57047, 9-57048, 9-57049. The number is located on the base of the detector. The battery type is not affected.

Sick List

Best wishes to ex-Capt. Joe Eiseman, who is hospitalized at Central General Hospital. We wish you a speedy recovery. Joe has over 50 years of service as an active vamp in Hicksville.

PSC To Study LILCO

The Public Service Commission announced today it will conduct a separate intensive study of the way Long Island Lighting Company managed its major construction projects in addition to a general review of the utility's management and operations.

The Commission has asked about 30 consulting firms to offer proposals for either or both studies by September 6. The project management study is expected to start about December 1, the general study a month or two later. A meeting of interested firms, Commission Staff and senior LILCO officials is scheduled for 10 AM, August 19, at the utility's Mineola headquarters to answer questions from prospective auditors.

This is the first time the Commission has scheduled a special review of the way a utility manages its construction projects. While it will encompass all major construction, it will concentrate on the Shoreham Nuclear generating project, which, when completed in 1979, will be one of the most expensive nuclear plants ever built, in dollars per kilowatt, and whose cost will be several times the earliest estimates used in deciding to build the plant.

The general study of LILCO's management and operations is the second ordered by the Commission under 1976 legislation which requires such an audit of each major electric and gas utility at least once every five years. Earlier the Commission ordered, as a result of rate case decisions, two other management audits.

The primary purpose of the project management study is to assess what has been and can be learned from the Shoreham project and whether LILCO is able to use this knowledge in future projects. However, the Commission specifically instructed prospective consultants that they must notify the Commission Staff if they discover any questionable expenditures, decisions, or practices, or, of course, if they find none, to report that too.

The objective of the general management and operations study will be, as in past audits, to determine what improvements, if any, can be made and which, if any, cost-saving measures can be instituted. It will be performed in two phases: First, a broad but comprehensive look at the management and operations to learn which areas offer significant cost savings; improvements in management methods, or better service; second—a deeper analysis of specific areas authorized by the Commission after it reviews the first phase findings.

Neither study will directly compare LILCO's performance with other utilities.

In both the project management and general review, the Commission said, it expected the consultant to meet with leaders of the various construction projects to gain further information and provide an understanding of the purposes and methods of the study.

The Commission also advised the consultants that they are expected to justify any recommendations, especially those with potential cost savings, with adequate backup information, and even to support the conclusions and recommendations by testifying in future rate case hearings.

The Commission also called on any consultant offering a proposal to acknowledge that it does not have any existing contracts or agreements with LILCO, has not worked for LILCO in the past 3 years, and that the firm and staff members in this study has not participated in establishing the present organizational structure at LILCO and that the firm does not have a recent, current or continuing relationship with any organization of which LILCO is or may be a client, or customer, or whose interests may be in antithesis to the interests of LILCO and its customers.

As in past audits, the Commission will select the consultant and direct the studies through its Staff. The consultant will not report directly to LILCO without Staff approval and will meet with company employees only to obtain or verify information. LILCO will pay the expense of the audits, and may recover those expenses in future rate cases.

The Commission advised the consultant that it would make its selection on the basis of the experience of the firm, the qualifications of its staff, and the work plan. In the selection process, the Commission Staff also will review previous work products, such as written reports or systems created by the consultant, in screening the finalists.

SHIELDS-NASSAU COUNTY WEEK: Hempstead Town Presiding Supervisor Francis T. Purcell, left, has proclaimed the week of August 25, 1977 as The Shields-Nassau County Week in the Town of Hempstead. Accepting the Proclamation are Joseph Klun of Seaford, 2nd vice-president of Shields, Ed Flemming of Great Neck, and Kevin Kelly of North Bellmore, both members of the board of directors. Carry Your Medicare Card

Metal or plastic cards sold by some manufacturers are no substitute for official Medicare cards, according to Sydney Savrin, social security district manager in Mineola.

"The Social Security Administration mails official Medicare cards to people who have the protection," Savrin said. "You should always show your official card when you receive services covered by Medicare."

"It's a good idea to carry your Medicare card when you're away from home," Savrin said. "If you lose it, you should immediately ask the people at any social security office to get you a new one."

Medicare helps pay the health care expenses of people 65 and over, of disabled people under 65 who have been entitled to social security disability benefits for 24 consecutive months or more, and of many people with permanent kidney failure.

The program is explained in detail in Your Medicare Handbook, which is mailed to people who have the protection. Copies are available at any social security office.

The Mineola social security office is at 1 Station Plaza North, Mineola. The phone number is PI 7-5470.

The Social Security Administration is an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

New Program At The Hospital

South Nassau Communities Hospital has begun a program under which it will train surgical residents via participation in surgical residencies conducted by the Nassau County Medical Center and the School of Medicine at the State University of New York at Stony Brook.

Graduate physicians from the two residencies will be assigned to the Oceanside hospital on a rotating basis. Over a 12-month period, 11 residents from the two programs will rotate through South Nassau's Department of Surgery. They will receive training in general, vascular, and thoracic surgery.

A VIEWPOINT

The Welfare Tangle

A year-long analysis of the welfare tangle, by a group of citizens from various sections of New York State, has yielded a dozen recommendations, but placed them within the context of powerful social forces that preclude "solutions" in isolation.

For example, the need was cited for a new look at work practices and concepts, such as annual wage guarantees in union contracts, job rotation, more working women, and shorter or staggered work weeks. Of particular importance, with immediate bearing on welfare, is to build greater incentives to take part in the low-income job market. Also linked with welfare is recognition that housework and child rearing have economic value.

The study was conducted by laymen and women active as community leaders, who are members of the Welfare Committee of the State Communities Aid Association, chaired by Mrs. Charlotte G. Holstein, Syracuse. The association is a 105-year old statewide voluntary organization fostering effective public and private policies for the ill, the indigent, the elderly and other dependent persons.

"This welfare report is unique," Mrs. Holstein commented, "because it reflects the views of citizens with diverse concerns, coming from rural as well as urban areas. Though the Committee was assisted by staff professionals and a consultant, its report is not just another social work document, for Committee opinion prevailed at all times."

Key recommendations call for a basic national grant using Federal funds, with the Federal government assisting States in supplementing the basic benefit or meeting emergency needs.

Employable recipients would be required to register for work or enroll in vocational training. They would have to accept jobs in which they were able to engage or forfeit welfare.

Major emphasis should be placed on work opportunities; jobless teen-agers warrant special attention. Private business should be offered tax incentives to absorb the unemployed poor, and government should be the employer of last resort.

Benefits, wherever possible, should be in cash rather than "in kind," such as food stamps. The Committee believes, however, that it is not yet practical to convert medical care, child nutrition or housing subsidies to a cash basis.

While income maintenance should be Federally-administered, social services must remain a local responsibility. Such services should be available to all, not just the poor, with a sliding scale of fees based on ability to pay.

Mrs. Holstein has directed that the report, which covers a number of other elements, be conveyed to the New York State Congressional delegation, and various government officials in the hope that its findings can be helpful in shaping the Carter Administration's welfare policy.

The Committee consultant, Michael Dowling, currently is drafting a resource document on the pros and cons of various aspects of welfare, which contains no recommended courses of action but is designed for general use in aiding the public to reach reasoned conclusions on this complex topic.

The State Communities Aid Association is nonprofit, non-sectarian and nonpartisan. Its Executive Director is Thomas M. McKenna, and it has offices in New York City, Albany, Buffalo and Syracuse.

County To Receive More Federal Funds For Sewers

The county has accelerated its sewer construction program to the point where it is qualifying for more federal sewer aid than any other county in the United States - funds that will directly benefit hundreds of thousands of homeowners.

By mid-September Nassau County will have a federal commitment totaling $270,000,000 for lateral sewer construction. Involved are 40 lateral sewer contracts in Farmingdale, Hicksville, Bethpage, Plainview, Seaford, Levittown, East Meadow and Carle Place-Westbury.

"This money which your elected officials aggressively went after by cramming four years of sewer design into one year, benefits each and every homeowner in the areas included," a spokesperson for the County said. "Until the breakthrough in obtaining 75 per cent of the cost from the federal government, homeowners had to bear the full cost of lateral, street-by-street sewer work."

He added that without the federal aid for lateral construction the tax rate in a collection district such as Hicksville would have been in the area of $4.00 per $100 of assessed valuation.

"The county's initiative in obtaining more than a quarter of a billion dollars to finance 75 per cent of the cost means that the Hicksville sewer tax rate can be reduced to about $1.25 - a cut of more than a 300 per cent," he explained. "It will mean similar tax rate reductions for homeowners in the other areas also."

$52.6 million already has been committed by the federal government for eight lateral contracts, with $117 million on line for final approval by the end of the month and an additional $101 million scheduled for mid-September.

Federal funds for sewer construction originally did not include the lateral or street-by-street work, but were limited to treatment plant and large interceptor construction. In December, 1975, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency agreed to release some money for lateral work and Nassau County was told it could expect $32 million.

In 1976, however, the county became aware that the State Department of Environmental Conservation would have additional federal sewer funds available for lateral projects.

"At that point, your elected officials accelerated the schedule of lateral projects to qualify for $70 million of the federal money instead of just $32 million," he concluded.

Eglevsky Ballet

The Eglevsky Ballet Company announces its season subscription series at the John Cranford Adams Playhouse (Hofstra University), from October, 1977 to June, 1978. The company is offering new productions of "GISELLE" (full length), and "GRADUATION BALL". A revival of "COPPELIA" (full length), and old favorites, "CINDERELLA" and "SWAN LAKE". Special guest artists to be announced.

The season opens October 14, 15 & 16 with "COPPELIA". This ballet was first performed in Paris in 1820. The music is by Leo Delibes, and the production is staged by Andre Eglevsky, after original choreography by Marius Petipa. The story ballet is a fantasy of young love intertwined with jealous quarrels over a doll that appears to come to life. And, Happily, all's well that ends well. "GISELLE" is the second program in the series on February 2, 3, & 4. This new work in the E.B.C. repertory has music by Adolph Adam, and is set by Mr. Eglevsky after original choreography by Jean Coralli, Jules Perrot and Marius Petipa. "GISELLE" is the most celebrated ballet of the romantic era of the 1800's. It is a distinct emotional and physical "tour de force" for both the premiere danseur and his ballerina. It is a pretty ballet, with snow covered Willis, a mist softened by moonlight, and Adam's music that makes "GISELLE'S" enduring popularity absolute.

The third program on March 31, April 1 & 2 is "GRADUATION BALL" and "SWAN LAKE" (Act 2). "GRADUATION BALL" is a new work in the E.B.C. repertory, and one that is full of charming waik-coated cadets (full of pranks), and their adorable dates (full of sugar and spice). With original choreography by David Lichine, this ballet is staged by the Eglevsky Ballet's own ballet-master, Michael Vernon. "SWAN LAKE". The Tchaikovsky classic, has original sets and costumes by Edward Gorey, the well known illustrator.

The fourth, and final program in the series, on June 2, 3 & 4, in "CINDERELLA". This fairy tale ballet combines satire, humor, enchanting Prokofiev music, delightful dancing, and all elements that please the eye and caress the ear. The staging and directing of the work (by Andre Eglevsky & Jane Miller) reflects the stylistic version of the Bolshoi production, and the sets and scenic effects are creative and highly imaginative.

The four subscription series are:
Series 1-Friday Evening at 8:00 P.M.
Series 2-Saturday Evening at 8:00 P.M.
Series 3-Sunday Matinee at 1:00 P.M.
Series 4-Sunday Evening at 5:00 P.M. Prices are Orchestra $26.00, $18.00, $14.00
Balcony $26.00. For information, please call 799-8296.

Solve Reading Problems

A child's inability to read properly can be a serious handicap that should not be ignored or taken lightly by parents, according to Dr. Miriam Schleich, Director of Hofstra University's Reading Center and Professor of Reading.

Reading difficulties, Dr. Schleich points out, can lead to poor study habits, negative attitudes toward school, a feeling of inadequacy, and poor achievement in adult life. In most cases, she adds, reading problems in children can be solved with patience, proper diagnosis, and remedial instruction with competent specialists.

Dr. Schleich, who founded the Hofstra Reading Center 27 years ago, cites recent statistics of the U.S. Office of Education that indicate that one out of five American adults lack sufficient reading ability to cope with such everyday tasks as shopping.

"Our staff today," she said, "deal with more acute reading problems than when the Center was initiated. We are more aware of the problems of the learning-disabled child and better able to handle those problems. In addition, we continue to help average high school students develop more effective textbook reading, learning skills, as well as preparing seniors to improve reading-study techniques."

The Center has ten full-time reading specialists on its staff and an additional 50 part-time professional reading clinicians who teach in its remedial clinics for children and young adults.

"The first step in handling the reading difficulties of children who come to the Hofstra Center, Dr. Schleich explains, is a diagnostic procedure. We spend about five hours with each client. We meet with his parents and also give the parents a written report of our findings."

Diagnosis at the Center includes a battery of reading tests, screening of the youngster's vision and hearing, and lengthy interviews with both the child and his parents in an effort to discover any factors that might be affecting reading development. At times the causation is fairly simple, but at other times it is very complex.

More than 25,000 children, young adults, and adults have become more literate through reading courses at the Hofstra Center. They range from children with serious learning disabilities and youngsters with remedial and corrective reading handicaps to superior pre-college students and business executives. In addition, hundreds of elementary and secondary school teachers who have earned professional degrees in reading at Hofstra and who now work in school systems throughout the metropolitan area and beyond, have in turn taught better reading skills to many thousands more.

"We have had officers and employees of the Long Island Lighting Company, the Long Island Railroad, and the U. S. Internal Revenue Service, among other firms and governmental agencies enrolled in our courses," Dr. Schleich recalls.

She points out that while reading speed is important to develop, especially for adults, it is not the main emphasis in the Center's program. "Our goal," Dr. Schleich says, "is to teach them how to analyze, interpret, and critically evaluate what they read."

A free brochure about the Reading Center and its services is available. A copy may be obtained by writing to the Reading Center, Hofstra University, Hempstead, New York 11550, or by calling (516) 560-3421.

BETHPAGE RD. HICKSVILLE WE1-6100

Dear Friends ...

Politically speaking this has been "the summer of the primary election," which I'm sure you all know is set for Sept. 8th. Remember this year you vote for the one whom you feel is best qualified to represent your party in the November election. Republicans, Democrats and Conservatives all have primary battles ahead. This week more endorsements for Town of Hempstead Presiding Supervisor Francis Purcell, came in. Mr. Purcell is running in the Republican Primary with Incumbent Ralph Caso and State Senator John Dume making up a three-way race for the right to run on the Republican line for the office of Nassau County Executive. This week's endorsements for Mr. Purcell came from State Senator Norman Levy and State Assemblyman Thomas Gulotta, both fine legislators themselves, who can recognize quality in this field, when they see it. Mr. Purcell is the candidate of the regular Republican Party here in Nassau County, being so designated by an outstanding majority of the County's Republican Committeemen.

Sen. Dunne has recently opened a Town of Oyster Bay headquarters at Jerusalem and Nelson Avenues in Hicksville, across from the Hicksville RR station, which will serve for his base of operations in Oyster Bay Town.

Gov. Carey is certainly not endeavoring himself to anyone on Long Island. Among other unpopular stands he has taken (particularly offending the Irish), this week he adds to this by vetoing legislation that would have given Long Island a voting seat on the Tri-State Regional Planning Commission, thus excluding the voice of nearly three million Nassau and Suffolk residents on important planning matters directly affecting them, made by this Tri-State Regional Planning Commission which recently issued a "land usehousing" plan, which is considered by representatives on both sides of the political aisle as "a direct attack on the entire concept of home rule on Long Island."

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:
I am running for Commissioner of the Hicksville Water District. This elected position has become increasingly important especially in these times of pending County sewer construction and threatening local water well contamination. The two aforementioned problems, among the many others I would be faced with as Commissioner are going to prove critically important to each and every resident-taxpayer of the Hicksville Water District in the near years ahead. As a life long resident and taxpayer of our town, I can both appreciate the gravity of responsibility behind the position of Water Commissioner as well as the taxpayer's desire for an ongoing "job well done" while at the same time holding the line on local taxes. This too is important in these times of economic restraint and nationwide inflation.

As an Ex-Chief of the Hicksville Fire Department and as Ex-Commissioner of the Hicksville Fire District, I am well familiar with both the water supply system and the fundamentals of the future sewerage system of our town.

I would personally appreciate Hicksville Water District residents votes in the up-coming election. This is one election that will unquestionably effect you, your family and your taxes in the immediate years ahead....Think about it. With your help on election day, I believe I can effect those changes for you and every other resident-taxpayer in the Hicksville Water District area.

Voting will be held at the Marie Street Fire Hdqrs. on Tuesday evening, August 30th from 7 P.M. to 10 P.M.

Thank you,
B. Medard Ofenlock

To The Editor:
I would like to publicly thank the Highway Dept. of Oyster Bay for their prompt action, as follows:

For three years I have written letters to all local departments trying to get something done at the corner of Kansas and Kuhl at Cantigue Park entrance, possible in the form of a sign, or, actually, anything, to make cars and trucks aware of the fact that children are crossing at this point. The stop signs are ignored 99 percent of the time. For three fruitless years I received no action in my attempts to correct this dangerous situation.

However, the Highway Department answered my letter by having men come immediately and put crosswalks - bright, yellow lines - and signs of children crossing. Again, thank you. Mrs. Grace Knudsen to correct a dangerous condition in our community. Your actions are an inspiration to all who care about other people, as you do.

Editors note: And we thank YOU, Mrs. Knudsen, for a lengthy and determined crusade

To The Editor:
I urge my friends and neighbors in the Hicksville Water District to re-elect Harry Borley, Chairman of the Hicksville Board of Water Commissioners on Tuesday August 30, 1977, at the Hicksville Fire House on East Marie Street, Hicksville, New York, from 7:00 P.M. to 10:00 P.M.

If we want competent and faithful public officials we must prove that we appreciate and recognize such service by rewarding them at the polls - with our votes.

As Chairman of our Board of Water Commissioners, as a former Chief of our Fire Department and as a leader in the planning for our water supply, Harry Borley has become recognized an authority on this vital subject.

Hicksville needs Harry Borley, and his vast and proven experience. All of our citizens age 18 and over, who reside within the confines of the Hicksville Water District may vote I call upon all qualified voters to turn out to give Harry another vote of confidence. He deserves it, now let's prove that Hicksville deserves Harry...

Zoning Patterns Endangered

By TOB Supervisor Joseph Colby

Two broad functions of local government are service to and protection of the people. Protection is evidence through local laws, ordinances, and rules and regulations that are designed to assure that all can live in safety and comfort. This same are of protection extends to the development and retention of the balanced pattern of zoning which our suburban Town benefits from today.

Zoning never has been, and never will be, a stagnant function of government. Here in Oyster Bay, a comprehensive zoning plan serves as a model that guides our future with a view of protecting and maintaining single-family home development that is characteristic of each of our communities, while at the same time permitting businesses and business people to prosper.

The legal framework upon which zoning is established permits change, when change is reasonable and, will not have detrimental impact. Within this framework, the Town Board conducts public hearings on such matters as proposed zoning changes and special use permits, at which all parties are permitted to be heard. Some applications are approved, others rejected, in each case the decision has been made in light of all facts, consideration of balanced planning and community impact, and after most careful evaluation by those who directly represent Oyster Bay residents.

Exercising its protective function, the Town is fighting this plan with all the power at its disposal. We have contacted other municipalities that would be affected by the proposals which have been formulated by the Tri-State Regional Planning Commission and Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), and have gained their active support in opposition.

Our very way of life - yours and mine - is at stake, and for that reason it's imperative that all of us join in this battle.

Hicksville Community Council Presents Bus Transportation

By Carole Wolf

Three years ago, Nassau County absorbed nine private bus companies and formed our own Public Transportation. They have added routes and subtracted routes, and tried their best to make the system profitable. Our demands are unique and our roads are many. What do we need from Public Transportation? The direction is up to you.

Routes and times are changed every six months. If enough of us are interested in the transportation in and around Hicksville, we should let the county know about it. Did you know that CW Post, a private college, provided transportation from the Hicksville Railroad station to their campus, but there is no direct bus service to Nassau Community College?

The Hicksville Community Council is trying to provide a public service - we will be the mediator between Nassau County and you. If you feel that Hicksville needs better bus routes, quicker service and/or service that combines with train schedules, please let us know. Take a few minutes of your time and fill in the blank below. Alone, we are one of thousands; en masse, we can be heard.

Thank you for following our series. I hope that it has been a help to you. For additional information about the changes and further information about other transportation routes in Nassau, please contact the main desk of the Hicksville Public Library or the Nassau County Public Transportation Center in Plainview.

Please mail to: Hicksville Community Council P.O. Box 163, Hicksville, N.Y. 11802

Hempstead - East Meadow - Hicksville - East Meadow - Hempstead

WEEKDAY

The N 39 Bus runs from Mid Island Plaza to the Hempstead Bus Terminal in Hempstead. The buses run every half hour, from 7 A.M. to 8 P.M., with the only exception of the first bus at 6:15. At 5 minutes and 35 minutes after each hour, the buses leave the Hicksville Station and proceed to their next stop. The buses that leave on the hour arrive at Levittown Parkway & Newbridge Road at 10 minutes after the hour and the buses that leave on the half hour arrive at Carmen and Stewart at 42 minutes after the hour. All buses stop at the East Meadow Medical Center 17 minutes into the route. (For instance the 8 A.M. bus gets there at 8:17, and the 8:30 bus gets there at 8:47.) The total route to the Hempstead Bus Terminal takes 35 minutes.

The N 39 Bus from the Hempstead Terminal to the Mid-Island Plaza runs as follows: the N 39 leaves the terminal at 15 after and 45 minutes after the hour beginning with the 5:45 A.M. and ending with the 7:15 P.M. After several stops along Front Street, the bus gets to the Medical Center on the hour and half hour until the 8:15 A.M. bus. The schedule then changes to 5 minutes and 35 minutes after the hour. (For example, the 7:45 A.M. bus gets there at 8 A.M. and the 8:15 bus arrives at 8:35 A.M.) There is a mistake in the schedule at this point, so I suggest those boarding the bus on Carmen Avenue and Levittown Parkway to call 626-3000 for the correct information. The total trip again takes 35 minutes and three minutes previous to that, it stops at the Long Island Railroad Station in Hicksville. For buses leaving earlier than 8 A.M., the total trip takes 1 1/2 hour.

I'm sorry that I couldn't show you the entire printed schedule, but it could not be cut down to fit into the paper. But I hope that through this article, you have gotten enough information to become familiar with this bus line. When you refer to the map, you will be interested in the N 39 C and N 39 D routes.

A Foreign Trade Zone At Mitchel Field

The Governor has signed State Senator Ralph J. Marino's bill authorizing Nassau County to establish a foreign trade zone. The zone would be a duty free center where foreign merchants can ship materials for storage and assembly before releasing their wares for distribution.

"The purpose of the plan is to stimulate new industry and jobs in Nassau," said Marino. "Other states' experience have show that $25 million to $50 million can be pumped into the economy by this move. Hundreds of new jobs can be generated, putting a cross-section of Nassau's labor force to work."

"Our geographic location and sophisticated transportation network is tailor-made to serve as a foreign trade zone. And Americans can gain a fair share of the foreign import market."

The trade zone would be under strict federal surveillance. Only after finished products are ready for release into the economy will custom duties be paid. Manufacturers utilizing the trade zone would be able to ship components that would not be assembled until there is a demand for the finished product. The need for manufacturers to ship, pay duty on, and store large inventories of finished products which may not be sold for months would be averted. Millions of international dollars tied up under present customs requirements would be freed, making the project highly attractive to foreign producers.

The new law will help Nassau negotiate with the U.S. Bureau of Customs to operate a foreign trade zone within its borders. The Syosset Republican regards an industrial area at Mitchel Field as an appropriate site for the zone.

Jews For Jesus Couple To Speak

Mr. and Mrs. Steven Cohen

Steve and Jan Cohen, staff evangelists with Jews for Jesus, will be the special speakers at Trinity Lutheran Church, 40 West Nicholas Street, Hicksville, at 8:30, 9:45, and 11:15 a.m. on Sunday, August 21.

Jews for Jesus is a national organization which seeks to present Jesus as an option to both Jews and Gentiles. They have over fifty full-time staff members and permanent branches in San Francisco, Los Angeles, New York City, Boston and Chicago as well as three Mobile Evangelistic Teams which criss-cross the country ten months of the year.

Moishe Rosen, leader of Jews for Jesus, comments on their rapid growth: "We have been an organization since the fall of 1973, yet our rate of growth is unusually high. I guess that can be attributed to the zeal with which our staff has communicated, through creative means the message of the Messiah, Jesus."

Steve and Jan Cohen are two of the newest full-time staff members, however they have served in a voluntary capacity for some time as the Seattle-Tacoma, Washington area coordinators.

Steve is a Jewish believer from Pasco, Washington and a graduate of the University of Washington. He also did graduate work at the University of Puget Sound. He came to believe in Jesus in 1973 and he says, "Even though the town I grew up in was not very Jewish, I've always wanted to feel closer to my heritage. Jesus has truly made me more Jewish than ever."

Steve's wife, Jan, also graduated from the University of Washington chorale and toured Europe with them. She is also an accomplished organist and pianist.

The Cohens have been married for three years. Pastor Krahn invites the public to attend one of these three services.

Operation VFW

By Lou Palladino

We have added four more new comrades to our membership, two from WWII, Gerry Troiano is a transfer, and John Leon. We also got an in betweener from the Korean conflict, Paul Modrak, and last but not least Bienvenido or Ben Andujar, a young Lion of the Vietnam war. So comrades, we of the Post welcome you as one of us.

Last year we had a lot of fun roasting a Past Commander, Willie (Spike) Froehner. This year the man selected is Bob Oberhyer. It's a little bit different than our other affairs, we have a lot of fun giving the selected commander the needle. Last year it was the first time we tried it and it was quite a hit, so we decided to continue it. It will be known as the Past Commanders Dinner. There will be plenty of food and refreshments for all, and the music promises to be good. The date for this event is set for Sept. 27th and the tickets are $12.50 per person, how can you go wrong with a price like that?

Tom DeMarco reports the Americanism program is on its way. The theme is "Our Responsibility to America." Our youngsters will do a good job with this. It's amazing what these young people can think and write about. It gives us another reason for being proud of our children. These are the ones you don't read about in the scandal sheet.

Our Ladies Auxiliary invited Cmr. Vinnie Edwards and his staff to their Sept. 8th meeting. We are proud of our Auxiliary. They are always ready to help. They asked for financial assistance for the Satellite Clinic program. We understand a lot of time is put into this project. They never fail to make the Northport visit every month, which is an important program. Vinnie Edwards, and Sr. Vice Airman Barone will attend a seminar in Peekskill, N.Y. on officers training.

Max Bergsohn has tickets for a football pool, the price is $5.00, and it gives you 12 weeks of action. A different combination each week $100.00 weekly high, $50.00 for weekly low, and $25.00 for second high, it comes to a little over .40 cents a week. Sounds like a good deal.

You don't have to be told about our Bingo chairmans report, Art is always yelling for help. When he does get it for a week, the workers see so many and feel they aren't needed, so the following week it's HELP again.

Augie Barone was the lucky winner of the Post raffle. "what again?"

Why not come to our next meeting Aug. 22nd, and stick your two cents in too. Who knows, you just might stir up a discussion, so come on over.

Charlie Brown At Hofstra

The Town of Hempstead Teen Repertory Theatre will present a production of "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" on August 18, 19, and 20 at the Hofstra University Little Theatre located on California Avenue in Hempstead. The curtain will rise at 8:15 p.m., and seating is limited.

"Charlie Brown" is the story of an inept boy muddling his way through the daily trials of life, finally finding happiness. Cast in the lead role is Jeffrey Seth Aaron of East Meadow, as Charlie Brown. Other performers include: Thomas Karlya of Hempstead, as Snoopy; Jeff Gorelow of Wantagh, as Linus; Signe Hedemark of West Hempstead, as Patty; Bert Wilson of Hempstead, as Schroeder; and Tessa Garde of Levittown, as Lucy.

The Teen Repertory Theatre is a company of talented local teenagers organized by the Town of Hempstead Department of Parks and Recreation. Director of the performance is Georgia McGill of Merrick.

Most people believe that gorillas are fierce, belligerent animals. But although they are commonly portrayed that way in cartoons and movies, they are actually slow, passive, moody beasts.

UNUSUAL AND DELIGHTFUL

An unusual and delightful piano composition was created by Joseph Schillinger. Some have likened it to the works of Handel, Bach or Purcell. It was composed by plotting the price fluctuations of various wholesale commodities on a piece of graph paper and assigning a proportionate value in musical intervals to each square.

"International Island" At Plaza

The first of ten international "Islands of the World", a scenic Japanese garden area, is nearing completion on the mall at Mid-Island Plaza in Hicksville, New York, where the first phase of an ambitious multi-million dollar renovation and expansion program is taking shape.

According to Franklin L. Frank, executive partner of Mid-Island Shopping Plaza, Co., the new international theme for the mall has never been attempted in a major suburban regional shopping center of Mid-Island's size (1.5 million square feet of building area)—one of the nation's largest.

Eventually, the ten "Islands", all of them authentic replicas of their native environments, will be set in separate courtyards created by the new undulating storefronts, similar to a series of international pavilions. Completely new mall flooring of wood parquet and carpeting, plus new sculptured acoustical ceilings and dramatic lighting effects are planned both for attractiveness and maximum energy conservation.

Long in planning stages to insure authenticity, the semi-finished components for the Japanese "Island" were constructed in small sections at another site and test-assembled to check their overall appearance. They were then dismantled, trucked to Mid-Island Plaza, and carried piece by piece through the doors into the mall.

Some components, comprised of eight-foot sections of shaven polished logs, which form the main corner supports for the high peaked pagoda roofs, weigh more than 300 pounds each. Other logs, much larger sections supporting the free standing "torii" (traditionally shaped Japanese arch), weigh considerably more.

Double-roofed sections, complete with hand hewn shakes interlaced with bamboo struts, cap the shoji-screened pagodas which eventually will be used as boutique shops to offer authentic native wares from the Orient. The completed 1,100 square foot "Island" will rise some 20 feet above the mall floor. Work has started to construct the rock gardens, a sand sculpture complete with an arched bridge, live foliage, seating and other details.

End of Summer Party

For a torrid windup to a summing summer, Nassau's seniors are invited to a day-long Grand Finale party at Nassau Beach Park in Lido beginning 10 a.m. on Friday, September 2.

Entertainment in the park's East Terrace Ballroom will be highlighted by the smooth, accomplished Senior Citizens Orchestra directed by Ralph DeSanctis. Back by popular demand to amuse seniors of both sexes with her gyrations, is belly dancer Elena who gets the audience moving to mid-East rhythms. In addition, local senior citizen clubs are preparing their own acts for the appreciation of lively beach visitors.

About 500 seniors are expected to turn out for the popular event, sponsored by the Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks, the Century Federal Savings and Loan Association and the Coca-Cola Bottling Company of New York.

Three of the best works created by talented seniors, during summer arts and crafts classes conducted by the Recreation Department, have been contributed for door prizes.

Senior citizens are invited to bring a picnic lunch and join the party. Light refreshments will be provided free of charge. Regular beach parking fees will prevail.

For further information, call the Senior Citizens Unit at 292-4247 weekdays between 9 a.m. and 4:45 p.m.
