Blaze Injures 7 Vamps

By Ex-Capt. Owen Magee

A flash fire in a building at 32 Barclay St. Hicksville, caused considerable damage to the structure, and destroyed 1 vehicle and heavily damaged two others. The fire, on Dec. 27 was reported to the Hicksville F.D. at 5:29 P.M. The building was occupied by the Rapid Auto Radiator Inc. whose employees were working when the fire started.

Employees had to use hand fire extinguishers to make good their escape from the building. 7 Hicksville vamps were overcome by acid fumes and heavy smoke.

The Jericho Fire Dept. responded with one ambulance to help transport the injured. The N. C. Police also provided an ambulance and assisted at the scene with traffic and crowd control.

76 vamps, 10 pieces of apparatus responded. Fire operations were directed by Chief Roy Schaaf. A routine investigation was requested. The cause of the fire was listed as possibly originating in one of the vehicles being repaired.

The injured were Lt. Douglas

Quinn, Lt. Jack Kelly of Engine Co. 2. They were held at County Medical Center for observation. Carl Schieferstien, Ted Lakaski of Co. No. 2 also were treated and released. One interesting note was - while vamps battled the blaze a large sign in the office window stated - "We Make Heaters-Hotter" - That is really truth in advertising.

Fire Report
During the period Dec. 12 thru Jan. 2nd Hicksville Firefighters responded to 95 alarms. They are the usual malicious false alarms (7) 39 fire calls and 49 rescue calls.

Most alarms during this period were of a minor nature, but a fire at a sheet metal factory at 34 Washington Parkway caused considerable damage to a duct being readied for shipment to the Shoreham Nuclear Plant. A welders torch sparked the blaze which gave off a large amount of smoke. The fire occurred on Dec. 16 at 11:41 AM.

On Dec. 27 Hicksville Vamps and 1 Engine stood by for Plainview Vamps as they did battle with a serious fire in a cement plant on Sweet Hollow Rd.

Smoke Detectors
Smoke detectors were in the headlines recently when it was reported that a smoke detector in a box under a Christmas tree, given as a gift, went off when a fire started and gave warning to a sleeping family. They escaped with their lives. This incident happened in Conn.

Recently in the headlines, were reports of several people dead from smoke inhalation or burns. One fire officer was quoted as saying "if only they had a smoke detector". Its a proven fact that smoke detectors can save lives.

The device is reasonably priced, easy to purchase, easy to install, easy to maintain. Still, it is difficult to understand why many of the fires we respond to in Hicksville - there are no detectors in use.

If you have any questions, fears etc. let us know. We may be able to convince you to buy a life saving device. Don't be in the next news story. A smoke detector, any brand, is better than none.

"Thirty Nine Steps"

On Friday evening January 13, the Hicksville Public Library will present the 1935 Alfred Hitchcock classic "Thirty Nine Steps".

The film, loosely adapted from the John Buchan novel stars Robert Donat and Madeleine Carroll, was made in England (before Hitchcock began his Hollywood career) and is the most famous of this period. The escape, and the chase that follow, is handled with great finesse and marvelous touches of macabre humor. Hitchcock, in his later films attempted similar situations, but was never able to match the continual suspense he achieved in this film.

All library film programs are held in the library auditorium at 8:00 p.m. The public is always welcome to attend with no admission charge.

GOP To Install

The Ernest F. Francke Republican Club of Hicksville will hold their regular monthly meeting at 8:30 P.M. on Friday evening, January 13th. (The hall is situated south of the Firestone Store and north of the H.I.P. Building). Refreshments will be served.

On this month's program the installation of officers and directors will take place.

The new officers of the "YR" (Young Republicans) and "Tars" (Teen Age Republicans) will also be installed.

Veterans To Unite For MIA Rally

BY JOSEPH NORMANDY

On January 28, at 10 AM various veterans organizations will be meeting at the United Nations Plaza to protest the North Vietnamese's Delegation in refusing to release information regarding the M.I.A.'s and P.O.W.'S of the Viet-Nam Era War.

Past commander Dan Hoison of the AMVETS and Joseph A. Normandy, past commander of the VFW, are the representatives from this area who will be attending the rally. These two veterans and many other veterans from various organizations have been pursuing the plight of these 'Lost' veterans for the past three years. Previously letters were hand delivered to the north and south Vietnamese delegation by the Hicksville based veteran organizations and Harry C. Wurth, past county commander of the VFW.

No action has been taken by the Vietnamese as of this date. We feel that the federal government has taken this matter too lightly by way of declaring these thirteen hundred (1,300) M.I.A. and P.O.W.'S as officially dead. This is a trick ... A cop-out by the federal government in not exerting more pressure for the return of these men. We veterans who have returned from the various wars will not forget. We also feel that if we were P.O.W.'S, it would make things a lot easier if we were aware that veteran organizations at home were fighting to see to it that we were returned to our loved ones. It would at least give us hope.

If it is a policy of our government to write-off the P.O.W.'s just to make things easier for themselves, I.E., for the government, we would be afraid that if this country was ever in another war or conflict no one with any brains would serve in the armed forces. It is incumbent upon the government, who took these boys into the armed forces, to see to it that they are returned in whatever form or shape they may be.

We appeal to the U.S. congress and senate to take under advisement these matters we have raised and to start an investigation and that a committee be formed to do this. We firmly believe that not just politicians should be on this committee but veterans from the rank and file be selected from the various veterans organizations to serve on this committee whose responsibility it will be to go to Viet-Nam to investigate first hand. We believe that previous efforts were unsuccessful because only politicians were involved and there were no veteran representatives to confront the politicians of Hanoi, and, further, would you believe that the parents of these boys were denied permission to go. The president all too readily accepted the findings of part of the committee. Half disagreed with the story the president released to the press. At least one member of the select committee was denied access to the White House and his name is congressman Ben Gilman of Newburgh, New York. The others who had the courage to dissent were: Ottenger of New York, Moakley of Massachusetts and Guyer of Ohio.

This fall some of the wives of the missing men were in New York for a federal hearing on a status change, K.I.A. (Killed in action) to replace M.I.A. (missing in action). A holiday fell during the week so the women spent their day at the United Nations trying to see the North Vietnamese delegation. They got lucky and a little time was allowed them. After a few words, the question was asked - "Isn't it possible that some American men are still alive over in Viet-Nam?" The answer was - "It is possible but we can't discuss it any further until we receive 3.5 billion in reparations!!"

We had something more valuable than the monies asked and that was their admission to the United Nations that they wanted desperately but our expert State Department directed by the White House gave it to them FREE.

What have we Americans subjected ourselves to? Are we going to allow this country to be

MID-ISLAND KAWASAKI CYCLE TIPS.

Getting To Know Your Bike

The correct riding position on a motorcycle offers both comfort and control.

Experts at Kawasaki Motors Corp., out of its Santa Ana, Calif., Headquarters, offer the following suggestions for the beginning rider:

- Be sure you can easily touch the ground with both feet when you are sitting in the motorcycle saddle. Otherwise, the bike is too high for you.

- When seated on the bike, you should also be able to reach all hand-operated levers, controls and switches.

- When your arms are outstretched, your wrists should be on the pegs, forward of the main part of your body and permit you to operate the hand controls with ease.

- After you've found a comfortable position on the seat, adjust the mirrors on your handle bars so you can readily see traffic behind you.

Before attempting your first ride, you need to get the feel of the motorcycle.

With the engine off, walk along the left side of the bike, pushing it toward a designated target. Then, mount the motorcycle in a riding position and straddle the cycle to a designated target and back. Dismount.

It makes sense to really get the feel of a motorcycle before you start it up. Just remember, every motorcyclist started as a beginner. Kawasaki wants you to have a safe, enjoyable ride.

This beginning rider is "getting to know his bike" by touching the ground with both feet and holding all hand-operated levers before riding.

Japanese Dinner

For a change of pace, let's take our tastes traveling with Japanese food. We'll serve Tempura, of course. Very popular today and ideal for small informal dinner parties. You bring the electric skillet to the table and carefully arranged Tempura foods double as your centerpiece. Then guests dip in and prepare their own dinner. Serve tea throughout the meal. For dessert, fresh fruit with rich little almond cookies. To add more Oriental flair, seat guests on cushions around a large coffee table. Choose a red tablecloth, some black accessories, fingertip towels as napkins scented with jasmine cologne. Simple? That's the beauty of Japanese hospitality.

TEMPURA

- 1 can (7 ounces) large shrimp, rinsed and drained, or 1 package (7 ounces) frozen shrimp, cooked
- 1 pound lean pork, cut into 1/2-inch cubes
- 1 green pepper, cut into 2 x 1/4-inch strips
- 3 stalks celery, cut into 2 x 1/4-inch strips
- 2 carrots, cut into 2 x 1/4-inch strips

1/2 pound mushrooms, sliced
1 can (20 ounces) pineapple chunks, drained
Batter (below)
Vegetable oil
Sauce (below)
Grated radishes, drained
Mound shrimp in center of large round serving plate. Arrange pork cubes, green pepper, celery, carrots, mushrooms and pineapple in wedges around shrimp. Refrigerate until serving time.

Prepare Batter: Heat oil (2 inches) in electric skillet to 350°. Dip shrimp, pork, vegetables and pineapple in batter. Fry a few pieces at a time in hot oil until golden brown on all sides, about 2 minutes. Drain on paper towels. Guests dip foods into Sauce, then into radishes. 6 servings.

Batter: Mix 1 1/2 cups Bisquick® baking mix, 3/4 cup water and 1 egg.

Sauce: Mix 1/2 cup soy sauce, 1/2 cup water, 2 tablespoons cooking sherry, 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish, 2 teaspoons sugar and 1/2 teaspoon salt.

You have a flair for gracious Japanese entertaining - I read it in my tea leaves.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

by Will Bernard

Too Permissive Parents

Four-year-old Lucy had a "thing" about matches. To her, they were the most fascinating of playthings. One day she tried something special: she set fire to a little boy's shirt.

The boy suffered a painful burn, and a damage suit was brought on his behalf against Lucy's parents.

"We often did take matches away from her," they recalled in a court hearing. "That was about all we could do."

However, evidence indicated that they also left matches where Lucy could get at them. A jury decided they had been too permissive and held them liable for their negligence.

Parents are not entitled, legally, to take a hands-off policy toward their offspring. If they know of a bad habit involving danger to others, they must take affirmative action to control that habit. On the other hand, the law recognizes the practical limits to parental authority. In another case a teenage girl, playing football in the street, collided with a passing pedestrian and knocked him down.

Could he hold her parents liable for not preventing her from playing in the street? A court said no. That degree of restraint was too much to expect, said the court, in an era when "strict control of children is so rare."

Nor are the parents responsible for an accident that simply could not have been foreseen.

A four-year-old boy, in a burst of affection for his baby sitter, threw his arms around her legs. As if tackled, she hit the floor with a thud.

Although the woman was injured, she failed in her effort to collect damages from the boy's parents. The court said no one could have foreseen any harm resulting from a child's impulsive act of love.

They Could Save Your Family's Lives

They are inexpensive and easy to install, yet they could save your family's lives.

"We believe they are the single most effective piece of equipment ever devised to prevent fire deaths," Richard Strother, Associate Administrator of the Commerce Department's National Fire Prevention and Control Administration recently told TIME Magazine.

Chicago may require them in about 235,000 of that city's 1.2 million apartments. The Federal Government will not approve VA or FHA new housing loans unless structures have them.

A number of states require them in new consumer housing and Montgomery County, Maryland, will require all homes to be equipped with them by July 1, 1978.

A growing number of families whose lives were saved by them offer enthusiastic testimony to their effectiveness.

"They" are fire and smoke detectors, new products being sold like appliances but with a key difference: they literally can save lives by sounding a piercing 85-decibel blast when they detect fire or smoke.

About 7,000 people die in residential fires in the United States each year, about three-quarters of them at night. Many of those lives could have been saved, had their homes had fire and smoke detectors.

But not all fire and smoke detectors are alike, Sunbeam points out, and consumers would be well-advised to spend a little time in comparison shopping before entrusting their lives to the unit or units purchased.

Some detectors are plug-in, others are battery operated. The battery operated units don't rely on house current not being interrupted by a fire and can be installed anywhere, whether there is a nearby outlet or not.

When the battery gets too weak to power the unit, the horn "chirps" once a minute to alert the consumer to replace the battery. Sunbeam's Centurion fire and smoke detector, when the battery is low, "chirps" each minute for 30 days.

A key point is whether the unit being considered meets various safety and performance standards. The current Underwriters Laboratory standard becomes much tougher on July 1, 1977, when UL Standard 217 takes effect, but there are units on the market now that already comply with the UL217, including Sunbeam's Centurion fire and smoke alarm.

The California State Fire Marshall has standards for fire and smoke detectors as does the National Fire Protection Association under its Standard No. 74.

For maximum protection, a unit that complies with all those standards should be chosen.

Federal and State radiological health agencies have advised that investigations indicate that home fire and smoke detectors do not present radiation hazards to health.

Finally, choose a unit that has readily replaceable low cost batteries, not a special or expensive battery that has to be ordered from the maker or purchased from a specialty store.

One caution: if ever the instructions should be read and followed for any product, this is that instance! The better units describe proper installation and testing of the detector and even list the type of UL-listed batteries that should be used when the battery provided finally gets too weak for safety.

Experts estimate up to 60 percent of the lives lost due to home fires could have been saved if fire and smoke detectors were present.

Is your home protected?

Dial-A-Bus For Seniors

Call 922-9800 for the new Oyster Bay Dial-A-Bus, run by William Maher of Hicksville Transport.

This new service is designed to give preference to senior citizens north of the Long Island Expressway, who need and want convenient and economic transportation. The cost is $1 one way from Oyster Bay to Hicksville, however there is now a special offer to senior citizens of "5 for 4." Ride the Dial-A-Bus four times, get the fifth ride free. The bus will make stops at the caller's designated locations along the way, where they can board the bus. The service is designed to emphasize serving small groups (2 to 5 persons) rather than single individuals traveling to the same area.

This new means of personal, flexible, responsive transportation is designed primarily for senior citizens who now must use taxi service at a much higher cost. Dial-A-Bus will hopefully help senior citizens to enjoy facilities which were out-of-the-way and not possible to easily reach prior to this service.

Some highlights along the route include:

- 1) Mid Island Plaza - where Korvettes offers seniors discounts on Wednesday
- 2) Ray Heatherston Show - At the Twin Theatre (Mid Island Plaza) on Thursday mornings at 10:00 a.m.

Dear Friends . . .

Well, here we are well launched into 1978, which, like every year that has preceded it, gives each of us another opportunity to learn and grow. I hope that we all do just that, for progress on all levels can only come about when large numbers of individuals expand their level of understanding.

Tuesday was a working day for us so we were unable to attend the induction of our Supervisor Joseph Colby along with Councilman Joseph Saladino, Howard Hogan, Jr., Kenneth Diamond and Plainview's own Ann Ocker as Town Clerk on Jan. 3 in Oyster Bay, but we take this opportunity to wish everyone a most successful term. We realize that they have many problems to solve, but we are confident of their ability to come up with sensible solutions. Best wishes, gentlemen...and lady.

Congratulations to the Mental Health Association of Nassau County who celebrate their 25th anniversary today. They have met so many challenges, have solved so many problems and have kept up with so much progress that all we can say is... "have many many more years of this kind of accomplishment. We need you."

That's all for this week. Stay well and remember the old saying, "Be sure brain is engaged before putting mouth in gear."

A Message From Supvr. Colby

With winter now officially here, I want to remind homeowners in the Town of Oyster Bay that, while frozen water lines may be their own responsibility, information or assistance on handling the problem can be obtained from local water districts.

Continuing subfreezing temperatures have frozen water service lines to some homes in the past, and many of these unfortunate homeowners have called my office and the Town Building Division for relief. However, water districts are autonomous governmental bodies - much the same as school districts - and have sole authority over their operations.

I'm not trying to pass the buck, but the Town really has no authority in these matters nor would we have the expertise of the water district.

I might also note that, under the ordinances of most water districts, the homeowner is responsible for the water service line from the curb line or the water main into his house. This would include responsibility for the thawing of frozen lines.

Some water districts do not have the equipment or manpower to thaw frozen lines, but I am sure they will be glad to advise

- you where such services can be obtained.
- The following are the phone numbers of water districts in the Town of Oyster Bay:
- Bethpage Water District: 25 Adams Avenue, Bethpage WE 1-0093
 - Hicksville Water District: Dean Street, Hicksville WE 1-0184
 - Jericho Water District: 125 Convent Road, Syosset WA 1-8280
 - Plainview Water District: 10 Manetto Hill Road, Plainview 931-6469

Taxpayers Union Views "Moral Obligation" Bonds

By Mario V. Colleluori, Vice Pres. Taxpayers Union of Long Island

One would think that after the State of New York barely escaped financial ruin as a result of the Rockefeller Conceived Moral Obligation Bonds, no politician in his right mind would again suggest their use as a means of financing anything.

Moral Obligation Bonds were devised by former Gov. Nelson Rockefeller to circumvent the New York State constitution under which only the people are empowered to authorize the issuance of long term bonds. When duly authorized by the people the bonds carry the full faith and credit of the State. That is, the State incurs an irrevocable obligation to repay the debt.

Rockefeller soon found that the people were not anxious to approve Long Term Bonds to finance his ideas so he had to find a way to accomplish his goals without the approval or disapproval of the voters.

It was then that Rockefeller hit upon the idea of creating public corporations, such as the Urban Development Corporation, which could issue Long Term Bonds. Bonds issued by public corporations do not carry the full faith and credit of the state, there is - only an implied moral obligation on the part of the state to insure repayment. By this method Rockefeller effectively circumvented the peoples constitutional right to control the State's Long Term Debt, totally approved, by the people, amounted to about $4 billion. During the six year period from 1968, the first year of Moral Obligation Bonds, through 1974 more than $10 billion was added to the State's long term debt without voter approval, culminating in near bankruptcy of the State during the fiscal crisis year of 1975.

Did the history of Moral Obligation Bonds terminate their use as a means of Long Term Financing? Apparently not.

A report from Albany, Newday, December 23rd, 1977 reveals that the Assembly Ways and Means Committee and its chairman, Assemblyman Arthur J. Kremer, (Dem. Long Beach) now advocates the use of Moral Obligation Bonds as a means of paying State Aid to local governments and school districts on a current basis. The long term debt being considered for this purpose amounts to $2 Billion and would run for 30 years. If this debt carries a 6% interest rate, the total cost to the taxpayers would amount to $4.0 Billion, not counting the cost of the additional bureaucracy generated by the creation of a new public corporation.

The proposal, which amounts to a contemptuous disregard for the constitutional rights of the people of the State of New York, looms more ludicrous in that it has already been endorsed by such stalwart fiscal watchdogs as U.S. Senator William Proxmire, (Dem. Wisconsin) and New York City Comptroller, Harrison Goldin.

New York Republican politicians were quick to give their support to the Democratic plan to issue Moral Obligation Bonds.

According to assemblyman Kremer's top fiscal aide, John Hardy, the State would spend $100 Million to $150 Million more each year and "local governments would save at least as much as $150 million, and probably more." With the staff available to Mr. Hardy his estimate of the cost to the State should be much more accurate than the $ 50 million spread he provided to the press.

At a 6% interest rate the additional cost to the State will be $186.7 million in the first year down to $67.7 million in the 30th year. The cost would not decrease to $100 million until the 23rd year of repayment, and will remain above $150 million annually for the first ten years. And

News from Young Republicans

Citing the need for educational alternatives for "the unrich, the unpoor, and the unbrilliant," the Nassau County Council of Young Republicans has endorsed a bill which would provide for Tuition Tax credits for middle income families—a concept first introduced in the United States Senate by Senator James L. Buckley.

The bill, S. 2142, is sponsored by Senator Robert Packwood of Oregon, along with 46 additional Senate co-sponsors. An identical House version, HR 9332, has been introduced by Rep. William Frenzel of Minnesota, and has obtained 41 co-sponsors there.

The measure would provide a tax credit for an individual's tuition expenses or those of a spouse or dependent, in the amount of 50 percent of tuition payments up to a total of $500 per year for each full-time student.

Families whose total tax bill amounts to less than 50 percent credit would be entitled to receive a "negative tax" or rebate to help meet tuition payments, thus providing vouchers to low income families.

County Young Republican President Chris Braunlich, of Wantagh, noted that a measure of this type was necessary to free the middle income family from the prohibitive cost of education.

"No one is more aware of the escalating cost of higher education than the high school and college-aged young people who predominate in our organization. We have seen, first-hand, the effects of increases in tuition and fees. Between 1970 and 1977, fees at educational institutions in this country have risen anywhere from 52 to 130 percent. This has caused a decrease in the number of lower and middle-income students attending college—since 1969, the figure has dropped 20 percent."

Braunlich noted that "Middle income students are financially locked out of college by having too much income to qualify for federal aid and too little to afford education beyond high school without help."

The Hofstra graduate said that "In a very few years, unless steps are taken now, only the very rich, the very poor, and the very brilliant will have realistic prospects of a college education."

James P. Drohan, Jr., of East Rockaway, Chairman of the Council's Issues and Resolutions Committee and sponsor of the resolution, noted that the Packwood bill would also provide tax credits for students attending private elementary and secondary institutions, as well as technical and trade schools.

"In the last 10 years," Drohan said, "private elementary schools have lost 35 percent of their enrollment and private high school enrollment has dropped 13 percent, even though the total secondary enrollment has risen 18 percent. Fifty-one percent of private school students come from families with incomes below $15,000 and unless lower and middle income families are assisted in their efforts to educate their children, we are going to see a further erosion and ultimate destruction of our educational system."

Drohan noted that the House-Senate conference on the recently-passed Social Security bill refused to consider a rider sponsored by Republican Senator William Roth of Delaware, which would have provided for a $250 income tax credit for college tuition.

"It was deeply disappointing to find that, instead of trying to aid middle-income families, the Democrat-controlled Congress voted to 'soak it to them' even worse by raising taxes $27 billion over ten years."

Holiday In Prison

Nassau County News Service
By Michael Bux

Most of us were lucky this year, we spent the holidays with family and friends, the people we love.

But for the 560 men and women in the county jail in East Meadow this was not so. Yet according to one jail official the 515 men rather than 45 women in jail this Christmas are able to cope better with their difficult situation.

"Men are more independent," says Michael P. Seniuk, the county sheriff who is in charge of the jail. "The women we have in jail here have been dependent on one person or another most of their lives and the only reason they are in jail because their welfare checks run out, or their husbands left them and they don't have money for food so they commit a crime to get it."

Life in prison becomes, so depressing during the holiday season that recently inmates asked that christmas carols not be played.

"Their tempers really grow short this time of the year," the sheriff explained, "They begin to push each other and fights break out, and so a number of them (15) have had their privileges like using the library, or going to the movies have been taken away."

So Sheriff Seniuk issued an complete amnesty to all those inmates who have had their privileges taken away for various minor jail infractions.

The 15 prisoners were either being held in punitive or administrative segregation, as well as in special housing.

The amnesty does not involve the more serious violations that four inmates recently have been accused of committing.

The sheriff granted the amnesty in part because during the holiday suicide attempts increase.

"A number of the prisoners were skeptical of the amnesty," says Sheriff Seniuk. "Many of them feel the outside world has forgotten about them and they feel extra alone at the holiday season."

But there are people on the outside who care about those in jail. Volunteers from social agencies visit the prisoners each holiday season with little gifts to try to cheer them up.

"So I thought I'd do my part," says the sheriff, "It's the first time I have granted such an amnesty in my seven years as sheriff here."

Hicksville Kiwanis Visits Jones Institute

Thursday night, Dec. 22, the Hicksville Kiwanis Club made its annual Christmas visit to the Jones Institute. Arranged by Kiwanians John Bertone, Director of Jones Institute, and Frank Chlumsky, Kiwanis provided entertainment and Christmas gifts for the residents.

Kiwanian Murray Margolis entertained as Santa Claus, George Montana played accordion and Doris Brower, Christina Feund, Diane Otten and Bonnie DeVault of the Sweet Adelines sang for the residents. They concluded by leading everyone in Christmas Carols.

Plainview Man Is Pre-Professional Scholar At Western Reserve University

Matthew Berchuck of Plainview believes dentistry will allow him to combine his talents with the lifestyle he'd like to pursue. And that's one reason he's a Pre-Professional Scholar in Dentistry at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland (O.).

"I like working with my hands. I'm interested in art. And I've always been interested in the sciences," explains Matty, who is a sophomore Biology major at Case Reserve.

As a Pre-Professional Scholar, he is one of a select group of undergraduates in CWRU's Western Reserve College who have been guaranteed admission to one of the University's nationally-known professional schools. Each year the schools of Dentistry, Medicine, Nursing and Law join with the liberal arts college in choosing from 10 to 12 highly qualified freshmen each, who then begin their college careers knowing they will be admitted to their respective professional schools.

Matty's brother Andrew graduated from Western Reserve College in 1976 and is currently attending the Case Reserve School of Medicine. President of the National Honor Society when he attended Plainview High School, Matty still hasn't ruled out medicine as a possible career, despite the guarantee of admission to dental school.

"I'm very interested in art. For instance, I've been spending a lot of my free time doing pencil sketches this semester," explains Matty. "Dentistry is an art and I believe I'd enjoy it. I also like the free time a dental practice would probably leave me to participate in sports.

"But as a Biology major I want to learn all I can about the human body from the top of the head down to the tips of the toes," he adds. "I'm impressed by how thoroughly Andrew is learning about the human body in med school. I find that very appealing. I think my grades will be good enough that I can get into med school, if I decide that's the way I'd like to go."

That choice is two years away. Meanwhile, the former varsity basketball player from Plainview High has participated in "lots of intramurals" at Case Reserve; his team won the intramural basketball championship last year. He has been his class's president for the past two years.

But the extracurricular activities he has enjoyed most so far is that of House Counselor in a freshman dormitory.

"The job of the house counselor, very simply, is to make dorm life as happy as possible," explains Matty. "The counselor has to establish a friendly relationship with the students on his floor. There are a lot of small services I perform, like getting a master key when someone gets locked out of his room. But the important part of the job is being available to help the freshmen get oriented to campus life."

Matty describes his job, which brings with it a small reduction in tuition, as "the best thing I've done here." He says he's enjoyed meeting people from varied backgrounds, and especially several art majors among the freshmen on his floor. They have encouraged his own artistic interests.

Matty says he might enter Case Reserve's "Junior Year Abroad" program. But he likes being a House Counselor so well that he says it would be hard to leave the campus and not do it again next year.

"You have to have your priorities," he concludes.

Right now, Matty's priorities include enjoying his college years, getting good grades, and deciding whether medicine, dentistry or some related field is where he'd like to do his life's work.

His father is a top administrator with the New York City Schools. Mr. and Mrs. Irving Berchuck reside at 124 Central Park Road in Plainview.

HOW TO KNOW THE WILL OF GOD
How often has each of us struggled over an important decision? We considered the variety of alternatives; often we discussed the decision with our family and friends. Sometimes we prayed over it and sought God's direction. "What would God want me to do?" we asked ourselves.

Unfortunately there is much confusion about the subject of the will of God. The words, "It is the will of God," are often used so freely. A catastrophe happens and people say glibly, "It's His will." I, personally, am not so sure. We sometimes do inappropriate things and pass them off by saying God willed that we did it. Many talk about searching for the will of God as if it were somehow lost and needed to be found.

First and foremost in God's will is that all men be saved. In II Timothy 2:4 we read that God wills all men to be saved and come to the knowledge of the truth. Throughout the Bible we find basic to the will of God that everyone have the joy of Jesus as their Lord and Savior. To not have Jesus is to be firmly in sin's control... to have faith in the Son of God is to be alive to our full creative potential as He controls our lives. Through a cross and a vacant grave our salvation has been secured. Jesus, unlike any of the gods in other religions, is a personal God, and those who know Him personally will be well on their way to know the Father's will. To have said, "I believe in Jesus Christ as my Savior" is to have taken the first step.

Our second step in knowing the will of God is to be Spirit-filled. In Ephesians 5:17 we read, "Therefore do not be foolish, but understand what the will of the Lord is." To not be willing to understand the will of the Lord is to be foolish. Another word for foolish is dumb. "Don't be dumb," Paul says, "seek to know the will of the Lord." Now what is the will? We continue to read in verse 18 (Ephesians 5:18), "And do not get drunk with wine, for that is debauchery; but be filled with the Spirit. Now most of us are at least qualified to discuss what it is like to be filled with the Holy Spirit is to be controlled also by an agent within. We have no more control ourselves that we would have if we were crocked with alcohol. To be filled in the Spirit is to be dominated and

Ecumenical Meeting

At their last meeting, the clergy of the Mid-Island area made plans to observe the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity, January 18-25, 1978. An ecumenical service is planned for Sunday evening, January 22, at Trinity Lutheran Church, Hicksville. The interfaith clergy committee planning this service anticipates the massing of choirs from the respective churches.

The clergy assembled were particularly happy in receiving The Rev. Father Vasilios Remoundos, the newly appointed priest for the Greek Orthodox Church now sharing the facilities of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, Hicksville. The corporate prayer of the Mid-Island clergy was offered in thanksgiving for the growth of this new christian community in its area. Prayers were also offered for God's blessing upon the people of the communities of Hicksville, Levittown, Plainview and Bethpage for peace and good will, sound learning and industry and for the furtherance of the ecumenical encounter.

controlled by the Spirit. Our third and final step in discovering the will of God for our lives you're really going to like, you'll eat it up. It is to do whatever you want to do. That's right. Do what you want when you have a decision to make. In the Book of Psalms we read, "Delight in the Lord, and He'll give you the desire of your heart." Notice that it says the desire of our hearts is given to us by God when we delight in Him. God puts the desire in our hearts so that what we want is really what God wants. His will becomes our will, and conversely, our will is His will. The third step is possible when we have taken the first step of believing and the second of being filled by the Holy Spirit. Having taken the first two steps and having become well-versed in Scripture, we follow our desires (really His) and live according to His will. We set out in life without fear, and as we make our way He provides us with the necessary corrections along the course.

Runaways

Nassau County News Service
By Michael Bux

Mostly it happens to the low or middle income families in this county. But there is no hard and fast rule. A dispute over a career choice among a family in Great Neck could easily cause a young person to become one of the untold number of runaways in Nassau each year.

But according to Pat Bambino, the coordinator of Runaway Youth Coordinating Council in Hempstead the chances of having a runaway child in your family is highest if you live in the Mid-Island area.

"There is a large young population in that section of Nassau," says Mrs. Bambino. "Most of the families are in a low or middle income level and they feel the stress of the ailing economy the most."

The rising divorce rate and a situation where both parents work leaving an unsupervised youngster are other factors which may cause youngsters to leave home.

However when young people in Nassau County leave home there is no place they can go for a few weeks so they can rethink their situation.

"The young people leaving home are not going to Hollywood to seek their fortune," says Mrs. Bambino, "they're doing it because there has been a breakdown in communication within the family, and they need someplace to go for a few weeks while they resolve the matter in their head." So last week Mrs. Bambino appeared before the County Board of Supervisors at their weekly meeting and asked them to help her find a facility where youngsters can live while she and her staff of social workers intervene in this crisis situation.

"What we do is practice short term crisis intervention," notes the slender framed Mrs. Bambino, "It's our goal to open the lines of communication so the problem can be resolved and the family can stay together."

Over the last year and a half Mrs. Bambino and her small staff have been successful in reuniting 40 percent of the runaways to their families but she says her work is greatly hampered due to the lack of a home for them to live while their problems are being resolved.

"We envision it as a home that is able to sleep 6 runaways at one time," she said during an interview in her Hempstead office. "But before we take up any residency in a community we plan to go before the people there to get their permission."

Currently the only facility where runaways can stay in Nassau is the Middle Earth Switchboard, a crash facility in Hempstead that is able to accommodate youngsters for up to three days. After that Mrs. Bambino has a list of volunteer families who will take care of runaways while they attempt to straighten out their personal problems.

Mrs. Bambino warns that if a facility for runaway youngsters is not provided soon those who might have stayed in the county and resolved their dilemma may wind up in New York.

"That's something we really fear," said Mrs. Bambino, "when runaways hit the streets of Manhattan they often become prey for pimps and other exploiters."

Under the present system once a runaway passes the age of 16 he is considered by the Nassau County Police Department as a missing person.

"It makes our job of inventoring runaways nearly impossible," Mrs. Bambino said with frustration. "We are losing a lot of these kids that we don't even know about."

Consequently the statistics she supplied are based only on the limited help her office was able to supply.

From June 30, 1976 to September 30, 1977 her staff served 110 males and 130 females. 80 percent of which were over 16 and twenty percent were under that age.

Sixty percent had travelled under 10 miles from their home, while 40 percent had come over ten miles.

Manufacturers Hanover Sponsors Educational Film Series

Diana Ulrich, Laurie Cornwell, and Joan O'Campo display their puppets made under the supervision of Willet Ave. Art Teacher Marie Schneider. (Upper picture)

With their completed puppets: Ronald Swierupski, Michael Kraemer, Richard Hazelton, Steven Swierupski. (Pictures by Rosemary Barrow).

Sales of phonograph records now exceed two and a half billion dollars each year, making the record business, not television or motion pictures, the largest part of the entertainment industry.

This month's edition of the Screen News Digest traces the history of the phonograph record, from its birth in 1875 when Thomas Alva Edison recorded "Mary Had a Little Lamb" on a sheet of tinfoil wrapped around a brass cylinder, to its status today as the center of a multi-billion dollar industry. The award-winning educational film motion picture series is made available to junior and senior high schools in the metropolitan area as a public service by Manufacturers Hanover Trust.

Screen News Digest cameras explore Edison's West Orange, New Jersey laboratory, the birthplace of his "Talking Machine." The report examines the transition from tinfoil to wax as a recording medium, and the introduction of electrical recordings in 1925, which freed performers from having to shout into a huge horn.

The report on the history of the phonograph is the third Screen News Digest issued in the 1977-78 school year. Each film is accompanied by an outline, summarizing events and suggesting questions for class discussion.

Approximately two million junior and senior high school students are expected to see the films during the current school year.

Year Of The Puppet

In planning ahead for the year's special activities at Willet Avenue School, Hicksville, it was decided that this would be the "Year of the Puppet". Mr. Monfredo's fifth graders began work on scripts for a puppet show, and Marie Schneider, the Art Teacher, assembled materials for puppet construction

What a happy coincidence that the Mid-Island Plaza Merchant's Association should conduct a "Best Puppet" contest at just this time. Willet Avenue School submitted a variety of entries - all original creations representing different techniques of puppetry construction.

for the first 14 years the annual payment for interest will exceed that for principal.

State aid to school districts should be put on a current basis - that is the districts should again receive 75% of their state aid between July and March of their fiscal year as they did before Rockefeller's-gimmick of rolling over state aid as a means to balance his budget for the year ended March 31, 1973. The scheme to use Moral Obligation Bonds for this purpose is costly and fiscally unsound and this time will not withstand a challenge on constitutional grounds. Lacking the full faith and credit of the State, these Bonds may incur an interest rate far in excess of 6% making its cost prohibitive.

The fiscal gyrations engaged in by the City and State of New York must stop before both end up in bankruptcy.

Under the guise of sound financing, the Municipal Assistance Corporation continues to convert the City's deficits and short term notes into long term debt carrying high interest rates. And year after year the City's budget continues in deficit.

The taxpayers should understand one thing - it makes no difference whether the City, State or some Agency created by either, issues long or short term notes - they will have to foot the bill. When the total debt, incurred by the above mentioned combination of fiscal manipulators, reaches the point that current revenues cannot pay for it we will experience financial bankruptcy.

State aid to school districts should be made on a current basis but it should be accomplished without incurring a long term debt.

The $2 billion required for this purpose should be raised from current revenues and spread over a five year period. That would add approximately $400 million to the State Budget for five years - but after five years is over it is done with - not linger on for 30 years. The savings to the taxpayer would be a minimum of $2.0 billion in interest costs.

The financial problems of New York State will not be solved by new gimmicks or by the use of old fiscal gymnastics. Until those responsible for preparing and implementing public budgets develop the courage to reduce expenditures the tax induced bankruptcy of New York State and its local governments will one day become a reality.

News From The Galileo Lodge

By Joe Lorenzo
Amid the sounds of the dance band, the excellent aroma of fine food and the festive hospitality emanating from within the confines of the Galileo Lodge, it was obvious that it was New Years Eve and that over 300 people were awaiting the arrival of 1978.

In essence, then, it is the human element, the members whom we have mentioned here and whom we have mentioned before in other columns are the very foundation of the Galileo Lodge. Venerable Tony Monteforte of the Galileo Lodge, together with the entire Lodge membership, wishes to express his sincere thanks and appreciation for jobs well done by all who helped.

areas where his efforts were needed, and never missed an opportunity to be useful and helpful. Al Frigente is a main cog in the huge wheel that operates the Galileo Lodge.

John Monteforte, the son of Venerable Tony Monteforte, is another member who performs in a ceaseless and untiring manner. He is presently the Master of Ceremonies of the Lodge and is considered the youngest officer in the Order of Sons Of Italy In America. John Monteforte belonged to the Bingo, House, Kitchen and Renovating com-

THEREFORE, you, and each of you, are cited to show cause before the Surrogate's Court of our County of Nassau, at the Surrogate's Court, Nassau County Court House, at Mineola in the County of Nassau, on the 25th day of January 1978 at 9:30 A.M. of that day why the said Will and Testament should not be admitted to probate as a Will of real and personal property.

Those who attended were served meatballs, sausage, stuffed macaroni and clams, a filet mignon dinner, salads, and all the alcoholic (and otherwise) beverages that one could consume. Then add a continental breakfast to put the finishing touches to the evening. What a party - what a way to welcome in 1978.

But it takes people to make a good party - people who give a good deal of their time by 'pitching in' and providing their time, efforts and services. It gives me great pleasure to mention their names.

Joe Ianotti, who handled the kitchen chores and food, Skip Monteforte and Ralph Vestuti, who handled the tickets and seating arrangements. Tom Pasquarella, Fred Vevante, Joe Giordano, John Serrano and his wife Mary, (a husband and wife who always perform in a diligent manner at all affairs). Add Joe Piccolino and Al Frigente and Mickey, whose last name I failed to obtain, Joe Lappano who is another member who always gives his time willingly. Pete Massiello, another member who never misses a chance to help out. And there were others whom I may have inadvertently left out who certainly deserve praise for their efforts.

The Galileo Lodge will run an old-fashioned Valentine's Day dance on February the 11th. Music and fun to be provided by Johnny G and his group. More information concerning this affair will appear in later installments.

In keeping with our policy to choose members of the Galileo Lodge who have contributed much to its advancement and growth, we would name Al Frigente and John Monteforte.

Al Frigente, a Trustee of the Lodge, actually performed miracles of labor as he was the main worker associated with all the plumbing work done within the inner areas of our Lodge. Such work, laborious and painstaking, obviously saved the organization thousands of dollars, and this saving came at a time when it was most needed.

As is customary with members like these we mention here, Al Frigente's dedication did not end in this respect. He was a member of many committees of the Lodge, engaged himself in other
