School Board Approves Program For Special Ed

By Linda Strongin
The Hicksville Board of Education approved participation in a program which was recommended by the Committee on the Handicapped. Mr. Martin Lapidus, Coordinator for Special Education, explained the proposal which provides for the hiring of 26 part-time aides. Approximately three hundred Hicksville students in special education programs, both in the district and at BOCES, will benefit from this program. The cost, which is entirely funded by Title VI-B, under the Federal Act to Educate the Handicapped, is approximately $16,500. The program is a joint-proposal with other districts to be administered by BOCES.

Mr. Lapidus also explained that these funds cannot be used toward any on-going programs, but only to enhance these existing programs. Also, the funds must be applied for and used before June 30 or next year's funds would not be forthcoming.
The District will make the final decision on the hiring of the aids. Trustee Neil McCormack suggested that college students in the special education area be recruited.
The Board also approved an Elementary Intramural program consisting of basketball and volleyball for an eight-week period, beginning January 30, and one week of interschool competition with a championship game on April 15. The program will cost $3,200 which includes the salary of eleven staff members. Trustee Iris Wolfson pointed out that over 750 students participated in the program last year and thought the cost was well worth it. Voting no to the motion were Secretary Dan Arena, and Trustees Neil McCormack and Bill Bennett.

What Happened At The Community Council

By Carol Wolf
The second half of the evening featured continuing and adult education with Marge Giannelli. Marge has lived in the Hicksville Community for 32 years and presently she is the Director of Continuing Education and Adult Education for the Hicksville School District.
Marge Giannelli told us that the taxpayers can be very proud of the Continuing Community Education Programs. There are five programs in all. Elery Bean started Adult Education "way back when," and it has since grown to services 3,800 people. Adult Education runs four nights a week for three sessions - the fall or 10 week session, the winter or 10 week session, and the mini-session of 5 weeks. There are 206 different courses and 113 were offered in the fall. If you are 65 years of age or older, you can attend any course without charge.
The second part of her job is a Senior Citizen Program for the 4 Senior Citizen groups in Hicksville. Over 500 Senior Citizens in the area are involved in these groups. This also includes a nutrition center which is very important, for many senior citizens are alone, living in a room, and the meal offers them some companionship.

Evening High School is part three of Continuing Education. This program is seven years old and the total cost is $24,000 a year. There are 15 courses available and approximately 35 graduate each year with a full High School diploma. The students seem to be getting older and older.
There is a High School Equivalency Course which can be passed based on Life Experience. There are Reading Courses available, because to enter this course, you must read at the seventh grade level. Approximately 26 get diplomas each year.
The Basic Education Program has just begun. This program offers English and Math to people who have never had a chance for an elementary education. There are 71 people enrolled and a great many of them are native born. These are people who work very hard for very little money. An Americanization Course is also available for the foreign born.

Evening High School is the only program that is not self-supporting. The fees for Adult Education are $15 for a hobby, $25 for dancing, and $5 extra for out-of-Hicksville residents.
An SAT Preparatory course is being offered on a Thursday afternoon. The limit is 20 a course and it is held in 6 sessions, 3 hours a session for a $25 fee and a book.
Registration for Golf and Tennis will be held on the 25th of January. Evening High School registration is January 16th, 17th & 18th, and Adult Education registration is January 30th, 31st, and February 1st. The first class starts February 6th. Some new courses now being offered are fencing, introduction to gourmet cooking, the Occult, Chinese cooking, Basic First Aid, CPR,

Hicksville's Code Is 273

Residents of Hicksville Union Free School District are advised that the 1977 New York State Legislature passed a law requiring that beginning with taxes paid in 1978 all State Income Tax Returns will be required to identify the school district. The code for HICKSVILLE is 273.
On the upper right hand corner of the New York State Income Tax form, you must place the name "Hicksville" and the Code 273 in the column titled "School District in Which You Reside." This new column will be found beneath the social security numbers of the individual and spouse.

This code will be required on all State Income Tax Returns and will provide information for possible consideration in school finance law.

A Message From Our Supervisor

Local governments recognized another victory in their fight against the Tri-State Regional Planning Commission's proposed housing plan last week when the Commission voted to delete a section of the report to which I had strenuously objected and New York's representatives on Tri-State prevented the plan from being adopted.

As Chairman of Nassau County's ad hoc committee opposing Tri-State's Housing Element, I've spent the last six months presenting detailed argument against sections of the proposal that would jeopardize the rights of local governments. Major achievements had been recognized previously, but it was only last week, when the Com-

"friend of the court" in future mission intended to approve the plan, that another of the proposals I've been fighting was removed - the concept that Tri-State should have special status in court proceedings.

I objected, stating that Tri-State's data is a matter of public record, that its testimony can be secured by subpoena and that Tri-State, if it is to appear in court at all, should be subject to the same procedures that any other witness would be, including that of cross-examination.

I'm pleased that the Commission removed the "friend of the court" concept, which would have given Tri-State staff members unwarranted prestige and special rights.

LILCO Receives Rate Increase

Assemblyman Armand D'Amato (left) recently met with Assembly Minority Leader Perry B. Duryea (R) to discuss Mr. Duryea's tax proposals. Assemblyman Duryea, who has announced his intentions to run for Governor, has introduced legislation in the New York State Assembly which could provide $500,000,000 (M) in tax relief over the next two years for home owners on local real property taxes including school taxes.

Recently the Public Service Commission authorized Long Island Lighting Company (LILCO) to increase its electric rates by $44.7 million annually above interim rates in effect since last August 1, or a total of $59.7 million, as compared with the utility's request for a total increase of $100.6 million (154.7 percent) annually.

The total increase, the Commission said, is 8.4 percent over the revenues LILCO would have received under the rates established in its last major rate case. "This is equivalent to about 5.6 percent per year—a rate roughly in line with the price increases...for other goods and services in this period," the Commission said.

The effect of the increase will vary somewhat among various classes of customers. The Commission directed LILCO to submit detailed rate schedules conforming to its guidelines and obtain specific approval before they can take effect.

The bulk of the increase, the Commission said, is intended to improve the company's cash flow so it can obtain the financing it needs to complete its billion dollar $20 megawatt Shoreham nuclear plant without undue delay.

"We have provided the revenues necessary to continue the project because we believe it is needed," The Commission said, "and any further construction delays will only add to its cost and create even greater future burdens on the Long Island economy."

At the same time, the Commission declared, "the remedy for LILCO's financial problems does not lie in more generous return to its stockholders. Indeed, in the light of financial market conditions, we find it feasible to reduce LILCO's allowed return on equity from 13.75% to 13.3%."

Despite LILCO's apparent prosperity—its earnings are now close to 14 percent on common equity—the utility would be unable to issue bonds to finish construction of Shoreham without an improvement in the cash portion of its earnings, the Commission said. That is because more than half of LILCO's earnings now result from interest it credits itself on funds used in construction, while no more than 10 percent of the recommending a total permanent increase of $64.9 million annually.

Judge Block also recommended—and the Commission adopted his proposal—that LILCO be permitted to file next summer to recover the expenses of a new collective bargaining agreement provided the utility showed that the increase "was in line with those granted in comparable wage agreements."

The Commission also approved in full LILCO's claim for $1.4 million in additional local real estate taxes billed last month. Judge Block's recommended decision had made an allowance of $6.3 million for increased local taxes.

The Commission also: -Limited LILCO's advertising expenses for rate purposes to 0.075 percent of revenues—7.5 cents per $100 of bills—a reduction of $395,000 from the amount the utility claimed. In addition, the Commission said half of the Communications Services Department payroll should be allocated to advertising expenses.

-Upheld Judge Block's recommendation that LILCO's charitable contributions be allowed as a rate expense, since neither party contesting the allowance "offers any new basis for changing our policy" recognizing reasonable amounts of contributions.

-Concluded that "no actionable offense had occurred" when LILCO paid about $8,000 from its stockholders' earnings to finance a bus trip by some employees last June to a pro-nuclear demonstration at Seabrook, N.H. In essence, the Commission found the expenditure was too small to require its prior consent.

-Found that LILCO had supplied evidence that its executive compensation is comparable to that offered executives in analogous positions; a party objecting to the inclusion of executive salary increases and directors' fees in rates did not respond to LILCO's evidence.

-Directed LILCO to investigate the possibility of easing refunds by the State of one-month's overpayments of sales tax, resulting from Nassau County's reduction of the rate from 4 percent to 3 percent. Sales taxes are not a factor in determining utility rates, the Commission noted.

earnings to determine its bond-issuing ability may come from such non-cash sources. LILCO's cash earnings provide no leeway in meeting requirements of its bond indenture, which provide that it must have earnings equal to at least two times annual interest costs in order to issue more bonds, the Commission said.

The Commission provided the additional cash earnings by including an estimated additional $125 million of construction work in progress at Shoreham in rate base, where it will generate cash, and making some interperiod tax allocations. "These remedies are ultimately the least expensive for the ratepayers," the Commission pointed out.

Referring to the "critical impact of the Shoreham project on LILCO's current financial position," the Commission said that when the rate case was filed the utility estimated its 1978 expenditures on that plant at $166.7 million, but since revised it twice to a total of $247 million.

"We are deeply concerned with these spiraling construction costs," the Commission said. "They indicate even in these inflationary times, a situation that must be thoroughly investigated. It now seems certain that Shoreham's total cost will be in excess of $1 billion. LILCO's going forward with this very expensive project has burdened its ratepayers and concerned its investors. We have provided the revenues necessary to continue the project because we believe it is needed and any further construction delays will only add to its cost and create even greater future burdens on the Long Island economy. LILCO's management of the Shoreham project is now under close review in our audit of the company's operations. We will consider the results of that audit carefully in future LILCO rate cases, or otherwise."

While the Commission based a major portion of the increase on the need for Shoreham, it said "we are unwilling to permit any rate increase for Jaquesport expenditures since that facility has not received a certificate...from the New York State Board on Electric Generation Siting and The Environment."

Administrative Law Judge Edward L. Block, who conducted 27 days of hearing on LILCO's rate request, issued a report

Winter Driving Hints

Winter is the time for special driving care. Snowstorms, icy roads, and always the unexpected add up to important advice for drivers — "slow down." Reduced speed pays off for those who drive in winter months.

The drivers who sit behind the steering wheels of Greyhound buses, which log more than a million miles a day as they travel the more than 120,000 miles of Greyhound routes, undergo intensive training periods before safety professionals approve them for service. These drivers observe a rigid set of rules which they feel should be passed along to all drivers.

For your own safety during the traffic-heavy winter months ahead, here are some highlights of Greyhound safety instructions.

1. In bad weather, get the feel of the road and slow down to adjust driving speed to meet conditions.

A Message From Our County Executive

The proposal to put a bridge over Long Island Sound from Oyster Bay in Nassau County to Rye in Westchester County was like trying to sell refrigerators to Eskimos. The last thing we need is more cars and trucks clogging the roads in Queens and western Nassau. But what would have been the inevitable result of putting a third bridge nearly side-by-side with the existing two. The Oyster Bay bridge would not have opened up Long Island's dead-end. And it would have made a bad traffic problem even worse.

A bridge further out on Long Island — from Suffolk to Connecticut — is the obvious answer. As things stand now, anybody on Long Island heading up for up-state New York or New England must first drive west — nearly the opposite direction from where he wants to go — and then endure the horrors of bumper-to-bumper traffic as he crawls over the Whitestone or Throgs Neck bridge. Another bridge in practically the same location would have meant more cars crawling over three bridges instead of two. That made no sense at all.

But a bridge from Suffolk to Connecticut makes a lot of sense. It would be far enough away from the other bridges so that it would relieve congestion instead of adding to it. And it would be a shot in the arm for the economies of both Long Island and Connecticut. It would really open the dead-end for motorists and truckers. The latter could reduce their costs, and pass the savings on to us, by making deliveries on Long Island and then proceeding on to New England instead of returning empty to New York. Long Island residents would be able to commute to jobs in Connecticut and Connecticut residents would be able to hold jobs here. The Sound would become a link between two states instead of a barrier.

A Suffolk-to-Connecticut bridge has the support of leaders on Long Island, including the Nassau and Suffolk county executives. Since it makes such good social and economic sense, why hasn't it been built a long time ago? The answer is that Connecticut state officials are opposed to it. But I don't believe that the officials are really speaking for the people of their state who recognize, as well as we do, that the bridge would be an asset for both of us. For that reason, Suffolk County Executive John Klein and I are planning to carry out campaign for the bridge to Connecticut's business leaders. We think it's a good idea whose time is long past due. We think they agree.

Dear Friends...

Weather conditions and power outages being what they were for the past week, this newspaper could be entirely filled with incidents of people helping their neighbors... It is at times like this when disaster hovers over all, that true humanity in the individual comes out of the shadows of daily living and becomes a reality. Everyone who could help was doing so, and the instinct of being "my brother's keeper", became more than an ideal. So, the bad news was the ice storm... but the good news, I have mentioned above.

As you will see in our lead picture on page one of our Hicksville edition, plans are underway to move the TOB Hicksville annex over to a part of the TOB Hicksville parking garage. There must be some merit in this small move or our Town Fathers would not have decided to do it. It is not, however, a change that Hicksvillians have been pushing for, to our knowledge.

HOWEVER, we cannot urge you strongly enough to attend the monthly meetings of your Hicksville Community Council as the programs each month are filled with many matters that affect Hicksville residents. Town Councilman and long-time Hicksvillian Tom Clark is always present with a report on what is planned for our

What Happened At The Town Board Meeting

By Gerry Kahn

The Town Board Meeting held on Tuesday, January 17th, completed its 25 item calendar and concluded at 11:00.

The Moratorium on Building Permits in the area of downtown Syosset was extended for an additional three month period.

The Town Board will meet with residents, proprietors and interested parties at the next T.O.B. Board Meeting which will be held on Jan 24th. Relative to the extension.

The petition of Arthur Moss, d/b/a Thrift Auto Body was rescheduled for the evening meeting of March 7th because of improper notification of affected parties within the 300 ft radius. The Hearing is for a Special Permission of the Building Zone Ordinance to use, maintain and operate an auto body and fender works at Burns and Keats in Hicksville.

On the local scene, two resolutions directing the Town Clerk to advertise the hearing date of Feb 7th for Gilbert Tilles to Petition for Special Use Permit to construct, maintain and use (2) one-story Office Buildings in an Ind H District at Woodbury. The area is within the Froelich Farm Industrial Park n/o Sunnyside Blvd Extension and s/o Woodbury Rd.

Item No. 13 directed the Town Clerk to advertise for the application of Metrohouse Construction, Inc. for a change of zone from "A Residence District to B-A Residence at Woodbury, w/s Woodbury Rd. s/o intersection with Uphill Lane.

Item No. 17 was the passage of the resolution that released the Guarantee Bond for the construction of storm drains and appurtenances for an overflow from Tinkers Pond to Crossway Blvd., Woodbury.

During the informal dis-ussion that followed the regular meeting, Judy Jacobs spoke out in opposition to a 1975 T.O.B. law that held in fiduciary confidence the name of a party who files a complaint relative to an ordinance violation.

Mrs. Jacobs claimed it unconstitutional not to reveal the name of the informer. It seems that someone has indicated to the T.O.B. Building Dept., that the Jacobs' had a fire place and an air conditioning system installed without applying for the proper permits.

Councilman Clark asked if, when she added the appointments to her home, she had given any thought towards a higher assessment and increased tax liability.

She responded, "Frankly, no".

There was no further discussion and the meeting adjourned.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Ms. Noeth:

Since our homes must be reassessed in the near future, I wonder what the ultimate tax burden for the proposed park complex for the residents of Hicksville

School District No. 17 will be? Hicksville is obviously a large industrial and business center with many commercially-taxed properties, such as the Mid-Island Shopping Center. When these commercial properties have their tax rates lowered, who will make up the difference? The local homeowner.

Also, residents of Hicksville will soon be facing the addition of sewer taxes.

As a young homeowner facing more than 20 years of high mortgage payments, I find it increasingly difficult to maintain the same lifestyle I have enjoyed in the past. With all indications pointing to higher taxes, I doubt very much that I could afford a family membership in the proposed complex.

I feel it is time to stop demanding more and more from our governments, especially on the local level. We cannot change our minds after the park is built; we must look to the future now!

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Margaret Theis
33 Malone Street
Hicksville, New York

38 Alarms For Vamps

Hicksville firefighters, hampered by very dangerous road conditions for two days during last weekend's ice storm, remained on duty at the three fire stations. They responded to 38 alarms, most of those, burning power lines.

In the case of the burning wires, there is little the Vamps can do but check and try to notify LILCO.

The apparatus of Ladder Co. No. 1 suffered serious damage due to icy road conditions at New South Rd. and Edward Ave., when while responding to a house fire that injured two, it struck and sheared off a telephone pole.

There were no injuries as a result of the accident. The house fire was at 59 Edward Ave. A candle ignited a plastic TV set and caused considerable smoke. Two occupants were taken to Central General Hospital with smoke inhalation.

A TV set or phonograph caused a fire in the attic at 93 Spindle Rd. The blaze caused considerable damage to the structure. The alarm came in on Jan. 2 at 8:19 p.m. No injuries were reported.

During the period of Jan. 2 through Jan. 15, there were 86 alarms; 1 false alarm, 54 fires, and 31 rescue calls.

Dues are nominal and help only to pay for the postage to send out monthly notices to its members. So, why not come on down and become aware of all that is happening in Hicksville through its own Community Council? We wish there was a Community Council in every area in Nassau County, for Hicksville's has proved to be most informative and helpful in the seven years of its existence. The first Thursday in February is the next Council meeting, which starts at 8:30 downstairs at the Hicksville Library.

OUR SUPERVISOR (Continued from Page 2)

preventing its passage - said they did so because the former New York City Planning Commissioner, a member of the Commission, was assuming another position on the Commission as the representative of a State agency and had not reviewed the plan for its State-wide impact. However, a Tri-State spokesman subsequently told a reporter that the committee responsible for the proposed Housing Element would soon be meeting with New York's representatives to find out what changes are necessary to secure their approval.

I continue to have objections to the plan, and one of the strongest has to do with Tri-State's apparent intention to use the status of local municipality assisted housing efforts as a criterion in passing judgment on applications that local governments make for federal aid.

While housing is a logical criterion for judging housing-related applications, it should in no manner be considered in connection with non-housing applications. Tri-State has previously amended the language of its plan in an attempt to respond to this logic, but the Housing Element still permits housing to be a criterion for review of all applications.

I intend to reemphasize my objections to this and other Tri-State proposals, with the hope that New York's Commissioners will insure that the rights of local governments cannot be threatened or infringed upon before they permit the Housing Element to be adopted.

Hicksville American Soccer Club

BOYS UNDER 11

Despite the ice, snow and power failures, the Club managed to complete the 1967 boys indoor soccer tournament last week-end at Lutheran High. The games originally scheduled for Saturday had to be cancelled but, thanks to some quick thinking and fast action on Saturday by Jeff Kugler and a lot of hard work on Sunday by board member Gene Maguire, the tournament was held on Sunday and was a great success. This shows the dedication of these men to the youth as, if the tournament was cancelled, these boys would not have been able to play at all this season. All other week-ends are filled until the Spring season begins. Only one team (from Queens) did not show so 18 teams from Long Island and one from Willingboro, N.J. took to the gym floor and played 5 rounds (45 games) to decide which would qualify for the quarter finals. The teams that survived (in order) were: Massapequa, New Hyde Park, Hicksville Red, North Babylon, Plainview, Bay Shore, Northport and West Islip.

Hicksville's second entry, coached by Harry Habersaat, did not make it back on Sunday but played pretty good soccer. They won two games and lost three and gave up only 4 goals in 5 games. These nine boys did creditable job and are now getting ready for their Spring season in the Long Island Junior Soccer League: Matty Bell, Frankie Christiano, Robert Cunningham, Gerry Dolan, Mark Habersaat, Troy Levy, Sam Masiello, Freddie Musumeci, and Dean Spadero. The Quarter Finals consisted of a one game elimination round and the four teams to make it to the semis were: Massapequa, North Babylon, Northport and Hicksville Red.

In the semi-finals, a very strong North Babylon team upset a previously undefeated

Pat McHugh, coach of the under 12 Hicksville Red team, is beaming as he accepts his 1st place trophy for winning the 1965 Division Championship in the 8th Annual Hicksville Americans

Massapequa club 2-1 in a sudden death overtime period and Hicksville Red did the exact same thing to Northport by the same score. A ten minute intermission followed to give the finalists a break and then Hicksville and North Babylon took to the court. After a thrill-packed match, the two teams were deadlocked at two, so the next step was a five minute sudden death overtime period. Both teams took a short rest to talk things over and began playing again. In the fourth minute Hicksville scored and it was all over. Hicksville has now won the first three of 10 indoor tournaments this year (U/10, U/11 and U/13).

Congratulations go to coach of the Hicksville Champions Ben Brutschin and his nine players for a job very well done: Ronnie Brutschin, Jeff Knuth, Kenny Kugler, Billy Maguire, Michael

CUMMINGS 'N GOINGS

By Jim Cummings

CONGRATULATIONS: Mr. & Mrs. Danny Donovan of Sydney Street, Plainview, proudly announce the birth of a daughter, Maureen born just prior to the icy storm last Friday, January 13, 1978, at Central General Hospital, Plainview. Dan & Peggy are most active members of the Hicksville AOH, where Dan directs sports activities and his wife, Peggy, is a past president of the Ladies Auxiliary. Maureen weighed 6 lbs, 13 oz. The Donovan clan in review are: Daniel, Jr and Patrick; Eileen, Peggy, Mary and now Maureen. Good health and success to two wonderful people.

HIBERIAN INSTALLATION: This Sunday afternoon (come whatever the weather) the members of Commodore John Barry Division Eleven, Ancient Order of Hibernians and their Ladies Auxiliary will be installed by County President Mary Barrett, in an impressive ceremony at 2 PM in the Msgr. Bittermann Chambers of the Joseph Barry Council, Knights of Columbus, Hicksville - admission is only for members and their families of the AOH - a private reception will follow with music by Frank Keegan's Band (featured regularly at the Molly Magurie Pub, South Bway, Hicksville. Congratulations to

John Campbell, Division President and his slate of Officers and to Katherine Roemer, President of the Ladies Auxiliary - good wishes during your tenure in office is our wish to this most active community organization celebrating its 20th year in the Hicksville community.

DID 'YA KNOW THAT: many Hicksville families were without heat and light during the unpredictable weather conditions last weekend - in fact a few shorted out again during the current storm earlier this week - hope weather is improved this weekend as the annual pilgrimage and March of the Right To Life Committee will be held in Washington, D. C. on Sunday and Monday - if your planning on attending contact your local chairman - the recent publicity has been excellent and you can expect even a larger turnout than last year - don't forget to forward your roses to President Carter and your representatives reminding them that in unity their is strength. Lectures on Irish Cultural Heritage will be held Monday evenings commencing January 23 to February 20th at the Community Room, No. 2 at Marjorie Post Park, Unqua Road, in Massapequa - the admission if free to AOH members and their guests.

HEARD AROUND: that many TV viewers are upset with static which occurs round 6-7 PM evenings - reports CB interference on local channel connections - or what? quite annoying from the number of reports - respectfully suggest TV stations check this out. Community spirit was quite evident during the recent storms with neighbors offering their friends and families shelter during the icy spell - St. Ignatius Hall, Hicksville High School gym and alike were put to good use - we're in a great community. Word is around that Pat Roper and Tommy Doyle were in Hicksville last weekend to review with AOH President John Campbell their special (in person) show for dancing and entertainment at the 20th Anniversary Dinner-Dance to be held on March 4, at the Joseph Barry Council, Knights of Columbus. Contact 681-8983 for ticket information evenings. 2nd Annual J. Vincent Jones Scholarship award will be presented Sunday afternoon, January 22nd to the AOH installation. Airman James Mahoney of Indiana Street has returned to his California base.

Mrs. Annette Blitzer of Plainview, is shown here (standing) conferring with Mrs. Samiha Badawi, (seated left) wife of the Deputy Ambassador of Egypt to the United Nations, and Mrs. M. Milton Perry (seated right), President of the Women's League for Conservative Judaism, at a meeting in New York City, called to assess Arab-Israeli peace prospects. This was an unprecedented occasion marking the first time in 30 years that a top Arab leader met with representatives of a major Jewish women's organization. Mrs. Badawi was graciously received by the representatives of the Jewish group, and was presented with a Menorah, Symbol of the State of Israel, by Mrs. Perry. Both women expressed strong hopes for the conclusion of a just and enduring peace in the Middle East. They described the misunderstandings and suspicions that had been allowed to develop between Arabs and Jews over the past generation. They called on women everywhere to make their voices heard to "end the tragic loss of sons, husbands, and brothers, which brings grief to mothers, wives and sisters."

Board, questioned the Board's attitude toward the Taylor Law and asked if this "was the goal of each Board member."

Also speaking on the recent Bulletin Board issue was Mr. Robert Sklarz, a Hicksville resident and teacher, who said it "looks like a declaration of war." Mr. Mike Senna, a Hicksville teacher, asked for permission to speak. However, Board members Bill Bennett and Dan Arena explained that Board policy permitted only residents to address the Board and Mr. Goldstein, therefore, should not have spoken. A discussion ensued with Mr. Senna declaring that Mr. Goldstein represented a group of 600 district employees, 300 of whom were Hicksville residents and should, therefore, have the right to speak.

President Tom Nagle expressed his view that employees "should have the right to speak since it may be the only time for the Board to hear them." He can, as presiding officer, give permission for a non-resident to speak. He can also be overruled by other members of the Board.

Mrs. Shirley Smith asked if the information appearing in the Bulletin Board was the policy of the Hicksville Board or a basic policy statement of the Nassau/Suffolk School Boards Association. She also stated that "I cannot go along with the item to do away with contract extensions. They have worked for community benefit financially and also created a good educational atmosphere."

President Tom Nagle explained that at a recent meeting of the Association, a senator stated that school boards should speak out and no longer be silent. The Bulletin Board was presenting a legislative information program.

Student Government President Barbara Goldman read a letter referring to the "intolerable cold conditions and lack of heat" mostly in the wing section of the senior high school. Dr. Hill explained that despite the temperature being set high, many units were frozen due to the unusual high winds.

Student Carrie Clark reported that eighteen music students recently participated in an All-County music festival. She expressed her appreciation to the music department teachers for their dedication which enabled so many music students to participate in this event.

The Board approved the authorization to purchase various equipment totaling $4,038.43. The Board questioned the need for the large number of cassettes at Woodland Ave. School. Asst. Superintendent Dr. Clancy explained that they were needed to replace worn-out and obsolete cassettes used in the Individualized Instruction program. Voting no to the motion was Trustee Bill Bennett.

The Board awarded bids totaling $28,701.13 for athletic supplies; science and industrial arts equipment; and physical education equipment.

Also approved by the Board were various clerical and personnel appointments; routine expenses; a request for a leave of absence; and the reclassification of three employees.

The Board accepted a gift of science supplies and equipment from Mr. Vincent Polo, a Hicksville resident who recently retired to Florida.

The next meeting of the Hicksville Board of Education is scheduled for January 25, 8:15 p.m. at the Administration Building.

Community Council

Scrap Art, Water Color, and making miniature furniture for doll houses.

The Citizen Advisory Committee is looking for people. This Committee approves any suggestion of possible courses to be offered at Adult Education.

We then entered the hobbies portion of the program at the January meeting of the Hicksville Community Council. We had 4 hobbies that night, and since we went alphabetically, Helen Hannah, from Homemakers Council was the first to speak. Helen told us that at Homemakers Council, they teach each other. Helen brought with her some quilting and patchwork that she had done. She feels that quilting is an heirloom object, besides being utilitarian and beautiful. It can be worked either by machine or by hand and it is done block by block and then joined.

THE CHANGING SIGNS: Oyster Bay Town Supervisor Joseph Colby officiates at a sign changing to mark National Council of Jewish Women Week in the Town. Joining him are Barbara Gobetz of Bethpage, president of the Mid Island Chapter of NCJW, and Linda Voltz of Plainview, vice president of community services for the Mid Island Chapter.

Elizabeth Horning represented the art field, since she teaches four classes of art at the Hicksville Public Library sponsored by Hicksville's Adult Education. She has been teaching daytime classes for the past 12 years. A wide range of people come to her classes, including housewives, young mothers and older women, and retired men and women. About 2/3 are beginners and a few have become professional. There is a basic drawing class, watercolor, and Japanese printing.

Genevieve Kozalka has been teaching beaded flowers for the past 7 years at the Adult Education program. All types are people interested in beaded flowers, for they can be sold to given as gifts. Beaded flowers are expensive if you buy them in the stores - they range from $45 up to the hundreds. Genevieve has surprisingly not had one male in her class and she encourages men to come and register for her class the end of January. Men handle pliers and wire very well and those are the tools for her craft.

Dr. Richard Smith looked up the meaning of hobbies in the dictionary and found that it was any favorite, persistent thing that one pursues with delight. Dr. Smith grew up with his Dad and Grandfather, and they involved him in all types of woodworking. He went to the saw mills and helped sharpen saws for the trades. When he married and bought his home, he was very unhappy with the furniture available, so he attempted to build his own. He bought his first set of plans and that was a mistake, for the plans were wrong. So he purchased a lathe from Sears and Tools from Botto's and went to work. Dr. Smith now has four sheds full of lumber. When his grandchildren came along, he couldn't find decent toys, so he made them. He now had heat and light in his workshop and has constructed kitchen cabinets, tables, five fireplaces, chairs, hutches, banisters, and of course, trucks and trains. Dr. Smith belongs to the Kiwanis Club of Hicksville and has his practice in town. He concluded by saying that a 'person can do what they want to do'. They don't have to get an ulcer. But the first step is having good tools.

The quilts of Helen Hannah, the paintings of Elizabeth Horning and her students, the beading of Genevieve Kozalka and her students, and some of Dr. Smith's woodworking projects were on display after the meeting for all to see.

At the Town Portion of the Hicksville Community Council meeting Ken Barnes, Director of the Library, announced that the Library is featuring a soprano on January 29th, in its series of Sunday concerts. And an Open House will be featured on the first night of Adult Education Registration during which tables will be displayed demonstrating the crafts of the classes that Adult Education provides. Stella Giovenco will chair the open house in the gym of the High School and all are invited to come and take a look.

Next month at the Council, we will be featuring Real Estate, both Residential and Commercial. We will delve into the idea of how to avoid overpricing your house out of the market, we will take a further look at the G-1 zoning of downtown Hicksville and discuss with the United States Post Office the possibilities of a future site for their new depot. We invite all interested Hicksvillians to attend the meeting on February 2nd, at 8:30 downstairs at the Library.

HJHS Concert

The concert originally set for January 26th has been changed to Wednesday, February 1st, at 7:30 P.M. at the Hicksville Junior High School Auditorium.

This concert will include the Advanced Orchestra, 8th Grade Girls Chorus, 7th Grade Brass Ensemble, 9th Grade Mixed Chorus, and Advanced Band.
