Collins Re-Elected

Peter C. Collins, re-elected president of the L.I. Junior Soccer League.

The Executive Board of the Long Island Junior Soccer League re-elected Peter C. Collins to another term as president at their final meeting of the season last month. The League had just concluded one of its most successful seasons since it was established back in 1966-by fielding close to 500 teams of children pounding soccer balls all over Long Island from March through June. This was the largest participation ever and included boys and girls playing separately in eleven age groups from under 8 to under 19 years.

Collins has a long-time reputation for his innovative & progressive ideas, long-term planning and implementing new and different projects - all with two thoughts ever constantly in mind with equal emphasis; soccer and children. Peter also has a knack of attracting interested, dedicated people to help implement his programs.

In his first year as president, besides effectively running the League during its greatest growth year, Peter's other accomplishments included: The First Annual L.I.J.S.L. Dinner Dance, The First Annual Gordon Bradley Award (presented to Frank Fergus of Massapequa), The First Girls Indoor Soccer Tournament, improved reporting and publication of game scores, the League's own coaching procedure ('F' license) under the direction of Jerry Lyons and the establishment of the League Headquarters. Thanks to Bill Cresham and Peter Cunningham, scheduling was greatly improved with open dates provided for the Cup Competitions. This eased the usual confusion and tremendously reduced the re-scheduling and postponement of League games. Although the Spring is an extremely busy season, Peter also managed to get Intramural teams involved with the League for the first time in the Soccer Paper Program and also served as District Commissioner for the Southern New York State Youth Soccer Association. With the tremendous growth of soccer in recent years, this is a very important post and helped a great deal to 'bridge the gap' between Long Island and the State and enabled the Island to get closer to and be much better informed on what's going on at the State and National levels.

With all these activities going on this year, Peter additionally found time to coach an under 19 team of boys from the Hicksville American Soccer Club and to serve as a board member of the Hicksville Club. Pete took his Minutemen all the way to Omaha, Nebraska to the National Finals of the McGuire Cup. Last winter this same team won the Ernie Green Cup (indoor) and since this was the third win in succession, Hicksville took permanent possession of the Cup for the first time. A new Cup will be made for next year's tournament. The Minutemen also won the Long Island Cup and placed second in the League.

Collins has already begun work on the League's Fall Season which again promises to reach a new high of 400 teams based on initial registration. Other projects that the League will continue to improve and implement during the next 12 months include: the L.I. Select Team Program, Special Children's Soccer, improved exposure and communication for the L.I. high school seniors, greater intramural participation in the League and several other projects.

Also elected to the League's Board of Directors for the '79-80 Season were: Jerry Lyons, Marco Malusa, John Jordan, Vinny Papalardo, Bille Cresham, Howard Rubenstein, Pat Connell, Peter Cunningham, Frank Fergus and Larry Middleton. Collins remarks "We have a truly fine

Gregory Museum: Vacation Delight

By Richard Evers

This has been a busy summer at the Gregory Museum, Hicksville, following a winter-spring period which brought over 3,000 school children and teachers to the Long Island Earth Science Center for guided tours.

July visitors continue in better than average numbers, reflecting in part, the Museum's efforts to offer tour bookings to Senior Citizen Clubs and Day and Summer Camp Children. Family groups on vacation are finding a visit to the Museum a great way to beat the gasoline shortage and to ease the national energy crisis. Staying close to home and seeing Long Island's many attractions makes sense and certainly opens one's ideas to the all-too-neglected local historical and cultural assets.

The Gregory Museum's staff are skilled in arousing an interest in basic geology and in initiating new members of the 'rock hound' fraternity. A nationally-recognized collection of rocks, minerals and fossils, as well as the Gregory Collection of butterflies and moths from all over the world, delight nature lovers and serious students. Fluorescent rocks glowing in the dark are guaranteed to hold youngsters in awe.

For those who enjoy combining nature with history in one visit, the Gregory Museum cannot easily be surpassed, particularly if time is somewhat limited or one's physical stamina is sapped by the need for much walking about. No spread-out viewing area, the Museum is housed compactly in the Heitz Place Court House, a building listed in the National Register of Historic Buildings, with its origins in the last century.

Offering a fine glimpse or study of building exterior authentic and true to the late Nineteenth Century governmental architecture, and standing freely on an airy oval mall of lawn, the Courthouse is a rare reminder of the courthouse and meeting halls of old Long Island villages. Pictures of former justices of the peace, a genuine rural jail house and the equipment of old-time constables, offer visitors a fine insight into an old-time rural 'lock-up'.

In the jailhouse, a local history exhibit currently features: "Hicksville 1900". The display recalls with photographs, advertisements, store merchandise, tools and kitchen articles the lives of our great-grandparents. The exhibit is built around materials actually once used by Hicksville families such as the Augustins, Wetterauers, Levitts and Raves, to mention some older residents recalled.

Admission to the museum is $1.00 for adults and $.50 for children. Senior citizens and preschool children are admitted free. The museum is open from 9-5 weekdays, during July and August and group tours may be arranged by calling 822-7505.

There is a Gregory Museum Gift Shop which features all sorts of natural specimens for collectors, nature booklets and jewelry crafted from natural materials. The museum, incidentally, is a self-supporting educational institution chartered by the State of New York. The museum's Board of Trustees are currently trying to find ways for long-range financial support of this outstanding Long Island resource and welcome suggestions and help in fund-raising.

The St. Ignatius Youth Community is proud to announce that "Oliver" is coming to the stage on Aug. 17, 18, 19-23, 24, 25, 26. All shows begin at 8 P.M. in the Old School Auditorium at St. Ignatius. For more information call 935-6873.

As seen above, Fagin and the Artful Dodger are scheming again. What are they planning to do now? The only way to find out, is to come see the show. Don't miss all the fun.

Golden Intruder/Indorf

By Judy Zinchak

High reliability, low maintenance and outstanding effectiveness are hallmarks of the A-6E Intruder, but men like Lt. John W. Indorf of Attack Squadron 128 make the aircraft one of the Navy's top performers.

Attack Squadron 128 is a replacement air wing squadron. It trains aircrews and maintenance people for A-6 squadrons on the West Coast.

"As a flight instructor, I familiarize the bombardier-navigators with the aircraft," said the 28-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Indorf, 97 Briarwood Lane, Plainview.

"I'm also an electronic warfare instructor and the quality assurance officer," Indorf said. He explained that as an electronic warfare instructor he introduces replacement aircrews to the electronic warfare systems and capabilities of the A-6E.

"As the quality assurance officer, I have approximately 15 highly experienced enlisted people working in the maintenance department," he said. "Our job is to perform scheduled and unscheduled maintenance on the aircraft."

Indorf explained the aircrews come to the squadron with a basic aeronautical background.

"The airplanes are very complex. We want to train the aircrews properly, basically, we're just teaching them about another airplane," he said.

The Intruder has a very effective electronic weapons system combined with a rugged, combat-proven airframe and engine.

Indorf said the aircraft is capable of high or low altitudes, all-weather attack in such roles as armed reconnaissance, tactical support, rescue combat air patrols and search and air rescue operations.

To accomplish its air support mission the aircraft can carry 30 500-pound bombs to a target about 300 nautical miles away and loiter for an hour in the area before having to return to the carrier.

"From a bombardier-navigators stand point, the Intruder is probably the best place for a Naval Flight Officer to be," Indorf said. "Because it's just a two man crew, the opportunities for becoming a mission commander are significantly greater than any other aircraft in the naval inventory."

"Opportunities for command also seem to be greater in the A-6 community," he said. "Without trying to sound conceited, the high rollers are put in the aircraft."

"It is a difficult, complex system and you have to think a little bit quicker in the A-6 low level attack environment than you would have to in some of the other aircraft."

A 1968 graduate of John F. Kennedy High School, Indorf graduated from Dowling College, Oakdale, N.Y., where he received his bachelor of science degree in aeronautics. He was commissioned in the Navy in 1972.

"At the time I entered in the Navy, the Vietnam war was still going on and there was a question of how long it was going to continue. I wanted to be a part of it," he said. "So I joined the Navy and I've never regretted it."

"At the squadron, teaching the replacement aircrews and working with the maintenance troops has got to be at the very top," Indorf said. "It's a terrific supervisory position. 'I'm going to stay in the Navy,' he said. 'If I went out into the civilian world and worked from 9 to 5 everyday, I would probably die of boredom. 'I thrive on the excitement of flying,' Indorf said. 'The Intruder is like a dream; a state of art. I wouldn't want to be anywhere else.

Purcell Attacks State For False Economics At Jones Beach

On July 26 Nassau County Executive Francis T. Purcell told a panel of state legislators that shortsighted budget cuts in Albany had spawned the problem of rowdiness and vandalism at Jones Beach and that the problem must be solved in Albany.

"Jones Beach has always been a place that belonged to families. That's the way it was. That's the way it should be," Purcell said, "and that's the way it would be still if the state had not been penny-wise and pound foolish."

Purcell's comments were contained in testimony prepared for presentation in July 26 at a public hearing, sponsored by the Nassau delegation to the New York State Assembly, in the Marine Theater at Jones Beach.

Purcell charged that the state budget cuts, which stripped Jones Beach of the manpower needed to maintain order, were not economy but sheer stupidity, threatening one of the major resources of the region.

He warned that, once the word gets around that vandalism and rowdiness are rampant at Jones Beach, it will cease to be a major regional asset and become a liability, abandoned to the mindless elements that wrecked it.

The county executive noted that, ten years ago, as many as 100 police officers patrolled the beach and the parkways leading to it.

"Today, I am told, there are as few as six police officers patrolling the entire park," Purcell said, "and the small army of attendants who kept the beach spotless has vanished."

Purcell said that the vast majority of young people who go to Jones Beach are well-behaved and cause problems.

"The people whose conduct is eroding the wholesomeness of Jones Beach are a small minority," the county executive said. "It has to be made clear to them that there is no room for rowdiness and vandalism at a family beach. There is no room for brawling. There is no room for drunken carousing. There is no room for drugs."

Purcell said that state officials who insist that there is nothing wrong at Jones Beach, and that nothing has changed, are hiding their heads in the sand.

"Something is very obviously wrong. The park has very obviously changed—and changed for the worse," Purcell concluded. "The question now is what is going to be done about it before the change becomes irreversible."

Purcell's testimony was presented by John Fitzgerald, project director for the county's commerce and industry department.

New York State Legislature Achievement Awards were presented recently to Cornelius Ryan of Plainview, recent recipient of the Nassau County Senior Citizen of the Year Award, and Louis M. Cotto of Westbury.

Police Issue Hurricane Safety Advisory

In spite of the fact that Long Island has been spared extensive hurricane damage for a number of years, the potential for a major hurricane to strike the metropolitan area does exist. According to Nassau County Police Commissioner Samuel J. Rozzi there are certain precautions and preparations that should be taken to help residents protect themselves and their property.

"Your police department, through its Office of Civil Preparedness, has coordinated its activities with other police agencies, local governments, volunteer fire departments and hospitals to be prepared to meet a hurricane emergency," stated Rozzi. "There are many steps that the homeowner or businessman can take to prevent hurricane damage and ease any inconveniences that could occur."

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration Weather Service has developed a list of hurricane safety precautions for those living along the Atlantic Coast.

A Hurricane Watch: Means a hurricane may threaten an area within 36 hours.

A Hurricane Warning: Means a hurricane is expected to strike an area within 24 hours.

Enter each hurricane season prepared. Recheck your supply of boards, tools, batteries, nonperishable foods, and other equipment you will need if a hurricane strikes your town.

WHEN YOUR AREA IS COVERED BY A HURRICANE WATCH, continue normal activities, but stay tuned to radio, television, or NOAA Weather Radio for National Weather Service advisories.

1. Check battery-powered equipment. A portable radio may become your only link with the outside world. Emergency cooking facilities and flashlights will be essential if utilities are interrupted.

2. Have your car fully fueled.
3. If you own a boat, secure it before the storm arrives or move it to a safe area. When the boat is moored, leave it. Don't return to it once the wind and waves are up.

4. Secure outdoor objects that might be blown away or damaged, or bring them inside.
5. Store drinking water—your town's water supply may be contaminated or diminished by hurricane floods.

WHEN YOUR AREA RECEIVES A HURRICANE WARNING:

1. Continuously monitor the storm's position through Weather Service advisories.

2. Flooding from the hurricane's storm surge—a rapid rise in the sea level—is the worst killer.

3. Listen for evacuation advice, and leave promptly when advised by authorities to do so. If you live in a mobile home, leave it for more substantial shelter. Mobile homes are extremely vulnerable to high winds and flooding.

4. If your home is sturdy and at a safe elevation, remain indoors during the hurricane.

5. Because hurricanes often cause severe flooding from heavy rains as they move inland, stay away from the banks of rivers and streams.

6. Tornadoes are often spawned by hurricanes and are among the storm's lethal effects. When a hurricane approaches, listen to radio and TV for tornado warnings, as well as hurricane advisories.

Levittown Pool Open Weekends

While repairs are made on a partially disabled filtration system at the Hempstead-Oyster Bay Joint Levittown Pool at West Village Green, officials are keeping the pool open to meet the summer recreation needs of nearby residents during weekends from 11:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m.

"While workmen continue to repair the filtration system, weekday swimming classes for youngsters will be held. However, the pool will be closed to the general public during the weekday to permit the rapid completion of repairs," explained Presiding Supervisor D'Amato.

"We are making every effort to insure that our residents will be able to find relief from the summer sun by keeping the pool open during weekends," continued D'Amato.

Engineers note swimming will be permitted as long as the damaged filtration system can keep the water clear so that life guards may have an unobstructed view of the bottom. Park officials are permitting West Village Green pool users to utilize nearby Parkway Pool during weekday use.

Any inconvenience experienced by pool users is expected to be minimal and parks officials say they are working quickly to bring West Village Green pool back to full capacity as quickly as possible.

Local residents who desire additional information may write or phone Richard Weiss through Levittown Hall, Hicksville.

Preventive maintenance on the nine pool that comprise the Joint Hempstead-Oyster Bay Pool District is expected to begin this fall when the summer swimming season comes to an end.

Dear Friends:

HICKSVILLE RESIDENTS will be pleased to hear that plans are going forward for a series of questions directed to all Hicksville residents in reference to how downtown Hicksville (the triangle area) should be developed. This questionnaire will be included in the Sept Town of Oyster Bay Newsletter which is mailed to every home. More on this later as those who are working together for positive results in our town have something to tell us. We are sure that in the near future, you will be pleased with the results of these studies. Who can know more about what our town wants than the people who live there?

Mrs. Carol Eisenstein, president of the Greater Plainview Community Association sends us a copy of a letter she has sent to Supervisor Colby asking that the Town Board delay no longer its ruling on the proposed PLAINVIEW Housing Project, the hearing on which took place on March 20th. The GPCA opposes this proposed project and feels that it should be turned down without further delay. This group urges the Town Board to take immediate action on this proposition.

BUSINESS NEWS: The F and D Getty Service Station located at 723 South Oyster Bay Road in PLAINVIEW is under new management. They have specials on Lube-Oil-Filters, on Air conditioning recharge, on brakes and on labor on Tune-ups, to celebrate the occasion. Stop in or call them at 935-9678 for an appointment. Best wishes for success.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS: Former Hicksvillians Clarence and Herb Johnson send greeting from Norway where they are spending a month. They will be returning to Florida on August 20th. Jimmy Cummings, Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Cummings, Sr. of Myers Ave., Hicksville, will be the featured pianist and vocalist this Friday evening, Aug 3rd at the Last Chance Resort in Poughkeepsie, New York. He will be appearing with the Duke Ellington orchestra.

That's all for this humid week. Stay cool.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Gentlemen of the Hicksville Fire Dept:

My wife and I would like to thank the men who aided and assisted in taking her to the Syosset Hospital.

It is a comfort to know that we have such facilities here in our community, only a phone call away, by volunteers that have been trained as professionals to act in an emergency.

Many thanks again.

I Remain Gratefully,
Leo V. Kanawada,
114 Halsey Ave.,
Hicksville.

To the Editor:

The Parents and Teachers of America have recently rated the T.V. programs that are currently presented by the three major networks. I think it is commendable that the National PTAs of Hicksville whose members spend many hours in front of the T.V. gathering the information needed for this study.

There isn't a group or organization that has more of a right to indicate what their children should be exposed to than the parents of school and pre-school aged children. The PTAs are the adult representatives of these children who have volunteered their time and efforts in the interest of education. All parents should acquaint themselves and support their local PTAs for these organizations are a means to improve and preserve the education of their children.

I think it is appropriate that those programs were exposed for what they are, "garbage." I think that just exposing the bad programs is not sufficient. It is time for the networks to rid themselves of programming that is inappropriate for young viewers, especially during the "prime time hours." Our children should not be exposed to distorted views of sex, violence and family life.

If the networks do not heed the warnings of the PTA, maybe the National PTA could coordinate a boycott of the sponsor's products. If the sponsors lose revenue they will withdraw their advertising support of those shows. A one-week boycott would probably be sufficient to show the advertisers that the parents of America mean business.

Pierre K. Fujimoto, Trustee
Hicksville Board of Education

To the Editor and the Hicksville Community:

At the Hicksville School Board Meeting on July 18, 1979, Mr. Arena, President, stated that the National Congress of Parents and Teachers endorsed the Strand III Sex Education / Sensitivity Training / Behavior Modification Curriculum in the public schools. It is indeed interesting to note that the Executive Council of the Hicksville Congress of Parents and Teachers, representing supposedly all P.T.A. Units of all Hicksville schools, had their letter read at the Board Meeting of June 27, 1979. In it they "applauded" and "commended" the School Board's adoption of the Strand III Curriculum in its "compliance with the New York State Health Curriculum."

Did the P.T.A. Executive Council fairly, objectively, and democratically represent the parents and children of the Hicksville Community? I think not. Each elementary school P.T.A. was supposed to hold an open, public meeting for its members, and also for the rest of the community, to discuss the Sex Education Sensitivity Training Curriculum. However, in most cases, they turned out to be secret public meetings held in the dead of winter or without wide publicity. Nobody seems to know what the true story is. Some meetings were never held, with letters sent to the School Board by the Executive Council of the individual schools "approving" the Curriculum, even though no parents were involved. Some meetings were cancelled due to snow emergencies and were never rescheduled. Did those schools "approve" the Curriculum too? Other meetings were held with lectures given by "outside authorities" favorable to the Curriculum, with parents opposed to it being allowed not equal time but a mere question-and-answer period. Did these individual P.T.A. Units notify the School Board of this opposition or did they pretend it didn't exist?

Were the Executive Council of the Hicksville P.T.A. and the officers of the Units in the elementary schools given implicit or explicit instructions by their authorities to "register" their respective schools "in favor" of the Strand III Curriculum? Why weren't these open, public meetings held on the "Open School Nights" when hundreds of parents were present to get their reactions to the Curriculum? As it was, even the vast majority of teachers, those who would have to teach it, didn't even know it existed, nevertheless being considered for implementation in the Hicksville Schools.

Many searching and serious questions must be directed to the P.T.A. Officers immediately, with accurate and prompt answers being given. Call them - L. Losche, President of the P.T.A. Executive Council - 681-6287, C. Marks, Burns Avenue and who signed the letter read at the Board Meeting - 822-3863, A. Rudin, Dutch Lane - 931-0678, L. Spach, East Street - 433-2848, L. Strongin, - Fork Lane - 822-8710, H. Singer, Lee Avenue - 935-0440, V. Cornelius, Old Country Road - 822-0854, H. McQuade, Willet Avenue - 822-4290, and M. Cerini, Woodland Avenue - 822-7458. Their names and telephone numbers are public information, published by the Hicksville Public Library, in the "Hicksville

Is the Sex Education Sensitivity Training Behavior Modification Curriculum mandated by New York State? At the July 18th Board Meeting, Mr. Bennett stated that the Commissioner's regulations, pertaining to legal mandate, are on "TOPICS, NOT CURRICULUM." In conclusion, I quote from page 3 of the School District monthly publication, "The Bulletin Board," May, 1979: "The Division of Health and Drug Education Services recommends that instruction that is designed to combat misconceptions children receive from other sources, and develop mature, responsible attitudes and behaviors regarding sexuality and family living, and interpersonal relations, should be included as an integral part of the school health education curriculum." (State Education department, January 1968, Article - "Family Life & Sex Education"). Note the words "recommends," not "demands" or "legally commands" and also "should be," not "must be."

At the School Board Meeting on June 27, 1979, ninety-five percent of the people present were against the Curriculum, yet the Board approved the Curriculum, abrogating the Constitutional rights of the Hicksville citizenry. It certainly appears that the Hicksville Congress of Parents and Teachers has done the very same thing.

Sincerely,
Mrs. M. Chapman,
Hicksville

Musical Entertainment

The Hicksville Public Library Summer program for August is a potpourri of musical entertainment. Each Thursday evening at 8 P.M. a different type of music will be presented to the public.

August 9, the Long Island Harmonica Club will be the featured attraction. This merry group of a dozen or so men play the music of the 40s and 50s, full band, or trio or quintet in the 'schmaltzy' manner that we all love, whether we are 18 or 80.

August 16 the "Shylocks" will appear. This is a quintet of young musicians who will present a program of original rock music.

August 23, the Spiritoso Woodwind Quintet will offer a program of Chamber Music in the classical manner.

The last of the series, on August 30 will be a dual performance by Katherine Luna and Danae Koutsopoulos, sopranos in a presentation of classical arias with piano accompanist.

These free concerts are presented to the community in the library's air-conditioned Community Room. All are welcome to attend.

An attractive addition to the Hicksville scene is the new exterior of Frank's Alibi Restaurant on Old Country Rd.

Parola Issues L.I.R.R. Reports

Assemblyman Frederick E. Parola today issued a report on his efforts to resolve constituent complaints concerning the Long Island Railroad and on the results of his commuter questionnaire distributed at local train stations.

"In an effort to get service and conditions upgraded at the Seaford, Wantagh, and Hicksville stations," said the Wantagh lawmaker, "I wrote earlier this year to LIRR President Gabreski and some action has been taken."

"As far as the questionnaire is concerned, only 57 per cent indicated they were in favor of the creation of a commission to study plans for better parking facilities at the stations."

"It is clear to me people don't think that more money should be spent to study a condition in which everyone knows the problem, particularly as it exists at Wantagh. The problem is clearly and simply that we don't have enough parking space," Assemblyman Parola continued.

"We have already received an agreement which has been worked out with the federal government whereby 90 new parking stalls will be added at the Wantagh station. This will help to somewhat solve the problem."

"Ninety-five per cent of those responding to the questionnaire indicated they would like to see commuters represented on the LIRR board of directors and vested with the power of a vote. Incidentally, this has already been accomplished on the MTA board through legislation I sponsored and supported to increase board membership by one so that a Long Islander now has a voice on that decision-making level."

"As to opinions on capital funding projects to connect JFK with LIRR, about 60 per cent approved. This should be tied in with the development of mass transit facilities needed to cut down the amount of auto traffic in efforts to conserve gasoline. Most would like to see improvements in the facilities we already have - LIRR."

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Notice is hereby given that Sealed Proposals for the purchase of LIQUID CAUSTIC will be received by the Board of Commissioners of the Hicksville Water District in the office of the Board at 4 Dean Street, Hicksville, New York, until 8:00 P.M. on August 14, 1979, at which time they will be publicly opened and read.

Plans, Specifications, information to Bidders and Contract forms may be obtained at the District office, 4 Dean Street, Hicksville, New York.

Each Proposal must be accompanied by a certified check or bid bond in the amount of five per cent (5%) of the bid amount payable to the Hicksville Water District, as assurance that the bid is made in good faith.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids, waive any informalities, and to accept such bid which in its opinion is in the best interest of the Water District.

BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS

Harry Borley, Treasurer
Gilbert E. Cusick, Secretary
Dated: Hicksville, New York

"The overwhelming negative response received to the question as to whether or not the trains are properly maintained is a plain indication that a proper job is not being done by the railroad as regards maintenance and service. Eighty-five per cent said the trains are NOT properly maintained."

"Most people can put up with the minor inconveniences if LIRR would only make a sincere effort to get people home on time."

"The service we receive from the railroad certainly does not warrant the high fares we pay. This is reflected by the fact that only 37 per cent would approve of major improvement if it meant a hike in ticket prices. Most people think that money should be better utilized and that we are already paying dearly for very poor services."

"Ninety per cent also feel that communication between commuters and conductors and LIRR officials is miserably lacking. There is obviously a lot of frustration on the part of commuters during times of breakdowns and emergencies, and the conductors take the brunt of that frustration. But railroad officials continue a policy of keeping people in the dark."

"At the Wantagh, Seaford and Hicksville stations, vandalism, drinking and other anti-social behavior on the part of teenagers have created problems. Beer bottles and litter abound in the mornings, women traveling at night are verbally assaulted and, in some cases, beer bottles have actually been thrown at people. We are trying to get more money for security to cut down on these disturbing problems."

"We have also fought for and obtained more trains to handle the additional use of LIRR. Out tremendous increases in ridership during the gasoline crisis, especially during rush hours, demand that even more trains be put on to keep up with seating accommodations."

"As a result of my efforts through letters to Gabreski and in meetings with other railroad officials in March and April, some improvements have been made. Loose wooden boards at the Seaford station which posed a serious safety hazard to commuters have been removed and areas on trestle platforms cemented, stairs at the Wantagh and Seaford stations have been cemented to replace broken steps and trash cans were installed at Seaford."

Children's Programs

Two children's programs will highlight the final week of special programs in the park for Plainview-Old Bethpage Community Park district residents, according to Town Councilman Salvatore R. Mosca.

On Monday Aug. 6 CAPA will

"This is a step in the right direction and I am keeping up my correspondence with Gabreski to continue improvements."

"We need to open up lines of communication between commuters and the LIRR management, add more trains at rush hours and commuters need and deserve more bike racks now that many more are pedaling to the train stations instead of driving."

"We are also going to try to get LIRR to spray non-poisonous repellent so that we can drive the pigeons back to the parks where they belong."

"A.O.K." for Energy Crisis Program

"Our energy crisis is an invisible crisis, which grows steadily worse—even when it is not in the news. It has taken decades to develop, as our demand for energy has grown much faster than our supply. It will take decades to solve. But we still have time to find answers in a planned, orderly way—if we define the changes we must make and if we begin now," said President Carter on April 29, 1977.

Seven presidents have wrestled with the energy situation and have attempted to develop a coherent energy policy to meet present and future needs. On Sunday, July 15, 1979, President Carter again spoke out as in 1977, and as others have before him. On July 30, 1979, Dr. Robert F. Savitt, Superintendent of the Plainview-Old Bethpage Central School District made a presentation to the members of the school board recommending a process that would be designed to immerse students in the complexity of the energy situation so that they will be prepared to take a more effective part as citizens in energy policy decisions now and in the future.

According to the New York State Education Department there is a "gap between the attitudes, values, and behavior that will be necessary to preserve the environment and conserve natural resources and the attitudes, values and behavior now widely exhibited in our society."

"Society must find creative ways to deal with environmental and resource problems. Our schools have an opportunity to provide leadership and to undertake the kind of educational programs that will help our society cope effectively over the long run with the twin concerns of survival and the quality of life."

According to Savitt, "Activities relative to energy education should be infused into the present course offerings at all grade levels." He stressed that, "Any emphasis on energy as a curriculum area should not carry with it additional costs in view of today's budgetary restrictions."

A display viewed by the board members showed that there exists an abundance of student teacher material available for use that would enable the school district to implement the program recommended by Dr. Savitt with no cost to the taxpayer.

"The Science Department in Albany, in conjunction with the Energy Office, has set up an extensive library of resources available for perusal by representatives of local school systems," said Savitt. Arrangements have already been made for Dr. Arthur C. Colver, Plainview Assistant Superintendent for Instruction, to meet with Dr. Thomas Boehm, heading this state project, and this conference will take place later in August.

An affirmative vote by the board gave the Plainview-Old Bethpage School District the distinction and honor of being one of the first to respond in a positive way to President Carter's call to sanity.

Included in materials forwarded to the Board by Congressman Jerome A. Ambro of the 3rd District, New York, was reference to completed congressional action that would enable the administration to apply for grants for special or pilot programs relating to the energy crisis.

Mr. Louis F. Ferrara, Assistant Superintendent for Personal and Operations has initiated an in-depth study of the situation and will keep in close contact with Mr. Ambro, who has expressed his delight with the action taken by the administration and the Plainview Board.

Heritage Festival

The Heritage Festival will fill Huntington's Heckscher Park with activities which exhibit colonial artifacts, display and sell antiques and collectibles, and renew "old country" ties with international booths. Scheduled programs such as a barber shop singing group and the Huntington Fife and Drum Corps add variety to the permanent tent and table exhibits. Demonstrations such as spinning and weaving, international cookery, hot dogs grilled by the Huntington Kiwanis Club, arrangements by local historical societies, and the authentically reproduced Henry Scudder whaleboat are some of the items which will crowd the Heckscher Ball Park with things to do, watch and buy. A whole day can easily be spent at the Festival.

Sunday, August 19th, from 10 A.M. to 6 P.M., rain or shine, is the date for the Huntington Historical Society's Heritage Festival. Admission at the gate on Sabbath Day Path, the opening on Madison Street or the lake side of the Heckscher Ball Park is $1.25. Discount tickets admitting two adults at $1.00 each are available in some Huntington stores. Fifty cents is the fee for children aged 5-14. Free transportation by bus to Heckscher Park is provided at the Gerard Street parking lot opposite the Huntington Post Office.

A brand new public playground, an area for young children, can help keep them entertained while their parents might go back to look at an old rocker which they might buy. Or perhaps sheet music of decades ago, or potholders made by the Society's "Handcraft Bees", or a potted plant, or... The scope is endless.

Lunch may be Chinese topped off by French cheese in the international area. Heaps of homemade bread and cake make it tempting to take home baklava or cup cakes.

This is a fun day and thousands enjoy the annual Heritage Festival. The Huntington Historical Society invites old friends and newcomers to Heckscher Park on August 19th. Co-chairmen Carl Anderson and Samuel McMillan will be on hand to give you a special greeting.

Flashing Red Lights Means "Stop"

Effective August 1, the requirement that motorists approaching a school bus with its red lights flashing must stop before reaching the bus will apply in New York City, as it does now elsewhere in the state. Motor Vehicles Commissioner James P. Melton announced today.

Under a law signed by Governor Carey on July 13, an exemption from stopping for a school bus in the counties of Bronx, New York, Kings and Queens was eliminated, making stops for school buses which have their red lights flashing mandatory everywhere in New York State.

"Drivers approaching a school bus from either direction must stop when the bus is stopped to load or unload passengers and is flashing its red lights," said Commissioner Melton. "This law applies even if the school bus is on the far side of a four-lane divided highway."

Melton noted that some school buses are equipped with amber warning lights in addition to the red lights. If a bus has three amber warning lights, they will be flashed before the bus stops to load or unload passengers. All school buses have red flashing lights, and these will flash when the bus stops. Once the red flashing lights come on, traffic approaching a school bus from the front, or the rear, must stop and remain stopped until the flashing red lights are no longer on.

"When those red lights are flashing," Melton said, "you must stop, unless the school bus driver clearly signals you to pass the bus, or you are directed to pass the bus by a police officer."

Commissioner Melton said that school buses are easily identifiable by a large sign reading "SCHOOL BUS" and the flashing red lights facing both front and rear.

"School children will not always check to be sure that traffic has stopped before they cross the street," Melton warned. "Their safety depends on the alertness of the driver and his obedience to the law."

Commissioner Melton emphasized that a stop is required only if the school bus has its flashing red lights on. A school bus which is stopped but does not have its flashing red lights on may be passed if traffic conditions and other applicable traffic laws permit.

Plainview Musician On European Tour

Plainview violinist David Lennon, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lennon of Garnet Lane, is currently on a five-week European tour with the International Orchestra of the North Carolina School of the Arts. Between their arrival in Frankfurt, Germany, and their departure August 18 from Rome, Italy, the 64 young musicians will have played 14 full orchestra concerts, 34 chamber music programs and, for American servicemen on military bases in Germany and Italy, more than a dozen special jazz programs. Lennon is a student at Queens College.

The International Orchestra, now on its 13th annual summer concert tour overseas, is composed of student musicians from NCSA and other major conservatories. A specialized branch of the University of North Carolina system, it is the first school of its kind in the nation, accepting students from the seventh grade through college for professional training as performing artists — actors, dancers, musicians or theatre design and production specialists.

While majoring in the career field of their choice, students also acquire high school diplomas or Bachelor of Fine Arts and Bachelor of Music degrees. Alumni of the 14-year-old school are on Broadway and on television, in motion pictures, and with major national and regional companies and orchestras throughout the Western world.

another year. Parties interested in serving as members of these Citizen's Advisory Committees should contact Mr. I. Ferrara, Assistant Superintendent for Personnel and Operations by letter as soon as possible.

Following the meeting, Dr. Savitt stated that "I am very pleased that my recommendations were approved by the Board of Education on Monday night relative to an expanded program on energy education, educational opportunities for senior citizens and authorization to accept Town of Oyster Bay grant for recreational activities. Dr. Colver, Assistant Superintendent for Instruction, will be responsible for implementing a new emphasis on energy education in the curriculum, grades 1-12, with students involved in carrying out energy conservation projects."

He continued "To the best of my knowledge, Plainview-Old Bethpage is one of the first school districts in the area to respond to President Carter's recent plea for dramatic steps to be taken to conserve energy in homes and in public institutions."

Dr. Savitt spoke on behalf of all when he expressed sympathy to the family of Henry Cassani of Levittown, who passed away on July 16, after twenty one years of dedicated service as a social studies teacher in the Plainview-Old Bethpage School District.

—Obituaries— A. Mae Byerly

A. Mae Byerly, a retired art teacher and former art supervisor for the Hicksville Public Schools, died July 25 at the age of 92 after a long illness. She retired in 1957 and lived for many years with her sister in their home on Hicks Circle. Since 1973 she had been a resident at the United Presbyterian Home in Woodbury. Funeral services were held on July 28 and interment was at Pinelawn.

Born in 1887, Miss Byerly was a graduate of the Millersville, Pa., Normal School and had also studied at the Chicago Art Institute, the Berkshire Summer School of Art and New York University. After teaching in schools in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, she came to Hicksville in 1927 as art supervisor, a position she held until her retirement.

She was an honorary member of the Hicksville Alumni Association, a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Huntington, of the first Long Island Button Club and of the New York Art Teachers Association. She loved flowers and gardening, and as long as she was able to work in it, her garden was a model of beauty. For many years, including last year, she made her own Christmas cards and until her illness participated in the ceramics class at the Residence.

A friend said of her, "She belonged to the old school. She lived with dignity and set high standards for herself."

She is survived by a niece, Matty Ruth Byerly, of Savannah, Georgia.

Contributions in her memory may be made to the First Presbyterian Church of Huntington.

Galileo Lodge News

By Joe Lorenzo

Like everyone else who battles the rigors of everyday life and who has to get away from it all, I took the enjoyable vacation I deserved, so I felt. And now I am back extolling the virtues of the Galileo Lodge, and I understand that there is quite a bit of extolling to do.

And I shall proceed immediately by stating that the renovation program aimed at the beautification of the outside section of the Galileo Lodge is proceeding so well that already fascinated onlookers are dropping 'oohs' and 'ahs' all over the place. The decor, in the design, if you will, is Romanesque and certainly in keeping with the best traditions attached to the ethnicity of the Sons of Italy in America. But weather and the purchase of supplies, rather hampered the operations of this project for a short period of time, but now, the stalwarts of this renovation program, Marie Tucci and James Posillone, report that the completion is near at hand. Thus, from what I can see and hear, it is quite possible that this outside section of our Lodge will resemble the palatial splendor of a Roman Forum!

Chairman Tony Previte wishes to acknowledge the help and assistance given to this program by all members of the renovation committee, and he overwhelmingly appreciates the loyalty and devotion they have given to our organization in order to bring this work to a successful conclusion.

Other news drifting out of the portals of the Galileo Lodge is the Hawaiian Dance scheduled for August 25th. Indigenous to any Hawaiian affair is the highly-accepted Luau and the polynesian specialties that also embellish such activities. It's stated that the Lodge has spent a tidy sum to feature a Hawaiian show and a live band, and this certainly attests to the fact that the Galileo Lodge spares neither the efforts nor the money to give people their money's worth when they attend our affairs. For tickets sales and table reservations, all you do is dial 681-2942 for additional information. So, for a summer night of tropical enjoyment, why not attend this dance. The sum of $15 per person does it all.

On September 22, Saturday, the Ladies Auxiliary will present a Testimonial - Dinner Dance in honor of Mary Monteforte. To be featured are a cocktail hour, unlimited liquor, a sit-down dinner and live music. This affair, obviously, is tribute to Mary Monteforte, former president of the Ladies Auxiliary who has performed so diligently and ceaselessly for the betterment and advancement of the Auxiliary and the Galileo Lodge. Admission is $15 per person, and all members are urged to attend. Contact Chairlady Mary Sarrere (GE-3-6289) and her co-Chairlady Grace Giordano (334-8584) for tickets, table reservations and more information on this event.

Golf outing at the Concord is meeting no resistance at all. Chairman Skip Monteforte reports that the affair will be held at the Concord Hotel, on Sunday (Sept. 9) and Monday (Sept. 10). The price of the outing is $65 plus 7% tax and included in this price will be meals and all the golf you wish to play. For additional information on this golf outing please call Skip Monteforte at (938-7081). For golf enthusiasts and all those who like any kind of an outing, this sounds like a good package.

MORE LODGE NEWS

Trustee Sam Christiane is moving to Missouri. He submitted his resignation effective August 1st. At the last business meeting held by the Galileo Lodge, Sam was given a beautiful round of applause for his work and contribution to the Lodge. On Thursday, the 23rd of August, at 8:30 P.M., the mixed Bowling League under the guidance of Joe Spugna meets. All prospective bowlers are asked to attend and sign up. If you cannot attend this session, please contact Joe Spugna at 938-4173. The Lodge lottery, as reported by Chairman Andy Eannucci, is also going quite well. Members desiring tickets can contact Andy at 938-8668 or see him at the next meeting. The Galileo Lodge, under the auspices of Don Valente, might consider the donation of $250 to the St. Ignace Girls Cadet Corps. Don will entertain the idea of trying to get this award-winning cadet corps to 'kick off' the opening ceremonies of the Galileo Lodge feast with musical specialties and varieties. And who could think of a better way to open up any festivity with the magnificent talents of this musical organization... Bingo and Las Vegas chairman still report that more help is needed at these sessions. All members are urged to give up only a little of their leisure time to aid and abet the Lodge in its quest for financial support.

LILCO Announces Long Range Energy Planning

Long Island Lighting Company and the six other investor-owned electric utilities of New York State today (July 24, 1979) announced a strategy for the 1980's and 90's that can help meet President Carter's goal for utilities, which is to cut their use of oil by half in the next decade.

The strategy calls for greater use of nuclear fuel and coal as well as other energy sources, along with conversion of some oil-fired power plants to coal.

Realistic long-range energy planning is vitally important in New York State, the utilities noted, because New York uses more foreign oil to generate electricity than any other state. This means that users of electricity in the State are more heavily affected by OPEC price increases and more vulnerable when supplies are disrupted.

In just one six-month period, between January 1979 and July 1979, the price of oil delivered in New York jumped 50 per cent from about $14 a barrel to more than $20 a barrel.

Fuel costs, the utilities added, now account for more than a third of electric bills in New York State, and electric bills go up automatically every time oil prices are raised.

To reduce dependence on oil and help hold down customer's bills, the utilities' strategy calls for the following measures:

Conversion of existing oil-fired plants to coal-burning, where practical.

Increased reliance on nuclear fuel and coal as the principal energy sources of new power plants.

Use of liquefied coal and other synthetic fuels to replace oil, as soon as they become commercially available.

A continuing strong emphasis on conservation.

Continued development of low-head hydroelectric sources, although the potential for extra hydropower totals less than the output of a major power plant.

Development of refuse, where practical, as a fuel source.

Pursuit of new energy sources, such as solar power, with a vigorous research and development program.

The principal element of the strategy is a growing emphasis on coal and uranium for generation of electricity. They are both domestic fuels, the utilities pointed out, and they are reliable, more economical than oil, and can be used safely.

In 1978, nuclear power and coal in New York State displaced the need for about 70 million barrels of oil. If that power had been generated by oil-fired plants, it would have cost customers an extra $500 million in fuel costs.

To help lessen the burden on consumers, the utilities' plan calls for the State to reduce taxes on utility bills. Utility customers, including households, farms, business and industry, are heavily burdened with the combined impact of gross receipts taxes and sales taxes now totaling more than 14 percent in some locations in the State, the utilities said. There are no sales taxes on utility bills in Connecticut or New Jersey, they added.

As the price of OPEC oil has spiraled upward, New York State utility customers have had to pay not only the increased bill for oil but also the hundreds of millions of extra tax dollars.

Their proposed strategy supports both the President's goal of reducing imports and also his call for greater use of nuclear, coal and synthetic fuels, said the utilities.

Decisions now being made by Federal and State officials will affect the price and supply of energy to the people of New York State for years to come, the utilities' statement said. To be in the best interests of the State's people, they continued, those decisions must avoid superficially attractive cure-alls and concentrate on realistic and practical solutions.

The investor-owned electric utilities of New York State are Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, Inc., Long Island Lighting Company, New York State Electric & Gas Corp., Niagara Mohawk Power Corp., Orange and Rockland Utilities, Inc. and Rochester Gas and Electric Corp.

"The Fantasticks"

The longest running show in the history of the New York Theatre, "The Fantasticks", will be coming to the Lakeside Theatre in Eisenhower Park. The free performances start at 8:30 p.m. on Saturdays, August 4, 11, and 18. Raindates are August 10 and 17.

"The Fantasticks" is produced by Best Modern Theatre Productions and is presented by the Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks. Written by Tom Jones, with music by Harvey Schmidt, the show has played in the New York area for over 20 years. An entertaining tale of a boy, a girl, their fathers and a wall, the musical features such numbers as "Try to Remember", "Soon Its Gonna Rain" and "Round and Round".

The show is free and open to all Nassau County residents and their guests. For easy access to the Lakeside Theatre, use parking field No. 6. Since there are no formal seating arrangements at the outdoor theatre it is recommended that guests bring blankets or folding chairs for their convenience.

Pinella Draws A Crowd Here

Yankee hitter and outfielder were given the opportunity to fill out entry blanks for a trip for two to next year's Yankee Spring Training camp in Ft. Lauderdale. The lucky winners from the Plainview branch will get airfare, hotel accommodations, tickets to Spring practice games, and a night on the town with Lou himself.

Besides being busy as a Yankee player, Lou is advertising spokesman for The Lincoln Savings Bank and runs his own baseball clinic for kids in Teaneck, New Jersey.

Yankee slugger Lou Piniella drew a crowd of over a thousand people in Plainview July 23rd, signing autographed pictures for kids and adults at The Lincoln Savings Bank at South Oyster Bay and Woodbury Roads.

"Sweet Lou" as he's called by thousands of fans in the New York area appeared at the bank to plug PASS accounts which are tax deferred savings plans for college educations. Piniella, who lives in New Jersey rarely makes appearances on Long Island.

Plainview Gets First T.V. Station

By Carole Wolf

High on a hill, overlooking Nassau and Suffolk Counties, sits a new transmitter and station the first station ever to be built in Plainview. Many of us have heard its name before, for it has spent a decade servicing the communities on Long Island. But it wanted to build its transmitter so that strong signals could reach Riverhead and the forks of the Island. Yes, WKIV 21 has come to Plainview.

The woods were cleared on WLIV's piece of property adjacent to the Long Island Expressway last fall and the construction crews began preparations to assemble the tower and station on November 19th, the station completed its last broadcast from its Garden City Facilities and began the delicate move of equipment to its new home. Through the cold days of December and January, the trucks moved back and forth along the dirt road leading into the facility carrying bits and pieces of a television station. Finally on February 6th WLIV came back on the air, bringing with it a new transmitter, a new tower, a new studio and a new satellite system.

WLIV did join the space age with its Satellite Reception Terminal on the campus of SUNY at Stony Brook. Through its receptor, Channel 21 will be able to receive simultaneously up to four programs beamed from the Western Union WESTAR I domestic communications satellite orbiting 22,300 miles above the equator. 149 public broadcasting television stations currently use WESTAR which offers viewers a wider range of national programming at a reduced cost. WLIV receives its signal in Stony Brook, relays it to the new transmitter in Plainview, and then it reaches out to all viewers of channel 21.

There might still be a problem of reception in the Hicksville-Plainview area because of the move. Mrs. Ialeggio, public relations director of 21, says that the lack of clarity of the channel may be due to a slight antenna adjustment because the signal is coming from a different source. If there still is a problem after the adjustment, Mrs. Ialeggio urges viewers to call the station. The engineering department will be glad to assist you.

Channel 21 is a public broadcasting station, which means that it is supported by grants from the government, donations from industry and individuals. In order to raise funds, Channel 21 together with Hofstra University is having Gallery 21 in Plainview on November 18th and 19th. 21 says that you can help by "donating a work or works of art to be auctioned off on the air to the highest bidder. Your donation is tax-deductible, you will be given a written professional appraisal, and on the air a recognized art expert will fully describe your work." Art pieces must have an appraised value of at least $100 and all accepted pieces will be available for examination at the Emily Lowe Gallery of Hofstra University from Nov. 2nd to 4th. Any questions - call Gallery 21 at 222-2140.

From the date of its first test pattern - January 6, 1969 - WLIV has been Long Island's own television station. On February 2, 1970, it introduced live daily evening newscasts and on March 15th 1970, the first mobile unit for community coverage began operations. October 16, 1971 saw the first documentary series produced locally, "Ecologic," and through a HEW grant switched to color on Dec. 15, 1972. March 23, 1974 saw the start of the 7 day broadcast week, Jan. 1975 saw the participation in a weekly Albany series and Jan. 1978 saw expansion of Long Island Events Coverage. And finally, on Feb. 6, 1979 WLIV came to Plainview.

May the station and the town have many happy years together.
