School Board Meeting

The Hicksville Board of Education will hold its regular Sept. 26 meeting at Hicksville High School. The meeting will convene at 8:15 PM and will be conducted in the high school's cafeteria.

The topic of the meeting will be "Educational Goals for the Future" and will examine the Hicksville school district's curriculum in the light of evaluation and revision.

The decision to move the meeting to the high school cafeteria was made when it was decided that the administration building's conference room would be too small to accommodate the large numbers of parents and residents expected to participate.

More information about the meeting will be disseminated in the district newsletter, BULLETIN BOARD, which will be received in Hicksville residences a week in advance of the session.

Junior High Open House

The Hicksville Junior High faculty and PTSA welcomes parents to visit with them at 7:30 PM on Thursday evening, September 20th.

"Open House is extremely important for all parents of J.H. students, as it is their first contact with the student's teacher and an introduction to the year's work. Visitors and teachers can also take this time to stop off at the PTSA membership tables located throughout the school. It will also afford parents the opportunity to become familiar with J.H. and PTSA activities by enlisting their services to do committee work on the PTSA Board or volunteer work (chaperone dances, bake for cake sales, etc.)."

Coffee will be served afterwards by the PTSA. Mark your calendars now for this very important "first" meeting.

Sunrise Or Sunset, Great Pictures Are Easy To Get

Nature offers very little more beautiful than a sunrise or sunset. Breathtaking, spectacular, magnificent, brilliant, the words don't adequately describe the experience. However, there is one phrase that fits the moment—easy to photograph. After all, a picture is worth a thousand words.

Sunrise and sunset pictures are easy to take because exposure is not all that critical. Overexposure makes the sunset appear lighter, earlier in the day, while underexposure makes the sky appear darker, closer to nightfall, with richer colors.

For 35 mm cameras, Kodachrome 64 film (for slides) or Kodachrome II film (for prints) offer enough latitude to capture all the beautiful colors. The films also have extremely fine grain so that your best pictures can be blown up to decorate home or office.

Here are some suggestions to get the best sunrise and sunset pictures. If you are using an exposure meter, the reading should be based on the brightness of the sky or clouds. That will make the foreground dark, and slightly overexpose the sun. Any objects in the foreground—trees, buildings or members of the family—will be silhouetted against the sky to form a dramatic and, in the case of family members, personal frame for the sky.

The experts suggest that you use a long-focal length lens when photographing sunrises or sunsets. It makes the sun appear larger. It also helps to eliminate unwanted objects in the foreground.

When the sun is very close to the horizon, open the lens an f-stop or two more than you would for an ordinary sunlit subject so you can capture all the colors.

Another consideration is lens flare. It can happen when you point your lens directly into the sun, a lens hood can be a great help in avoiding it. Dust particles on the lens can contribute to lens flare so, before you begin picture-taking, make sure the lens is perfectly clean.

Although most people will take pictures of a sunrise or sunset at the beach or mountains while on vacation, they can be taken anywhere in a backyard or nearby park with the same excellent results.

New Peace Corps Director

Richard F. Celeste (L.), former Ohio lieutenant governor, was sworn into office by Vice President Walter Mondale (R.), at a White House ceremony, with Celeste's wife, Dagmar, and the Rev. Otis Moss Jr. of Cleveland, Ohio, taking part. President Carter's choice to head the 18-year-old Peace Corps, Celeste directs the work of 6,400 volunteers serving in more than 60 developing nations.

Mondale said that the volunteers "represent what is right about America. They are young, old, rich, poor, all giving of themselves to do a job that must be done." Persons interested in joining the Peace Corps may call 800-424-8580 toll free for information.

Tips For Safe Driving

—Turn on your lights as soon as daylight fades. Waiting until other motorists do so is not accurate enough when it comes to seeing and being seen by pedestrians and other motorists.

—Slow down at school crosswalks and near school playgrounds. Because many children linger on playgrounds after school, a crosswalk guard is not always on duty.

—Make sure that you can see through the windshield and the back window. Children moving around in the back seat can obstruct your view in the rearview mirror and make driving more hazardous.

—Check windshield wipers. Wipers in good condition can aid visibility.

Fuel For Runners

by Thomas Jukes, Ph.D.
Professor, Division of Medical Physics and Lecturer in Nutritional Sciences, University of California-Berkeley

Just as cars won't run without gas, people can't run without fuel.

Veteran runners are aware that spaghetti and other starchy carbohydrate-laden foods are ideal fuels for their sport. But many may be surprised to learn that another concentrated and nutritionally similar energy source is sucrose or table sugar.

The body can obtain energy from carbohydrates, fats and proteins. Although a proper diet will contain all three, a runner will want to emphasize carbohydrates because they are digested more rapidly and thus, are the most readily available source of energy.

The three types of carbohydrates are monosaccharides, disaccharides and polysaccharides. Monosaccharides are simple sugars like glucose, fructose and galactose. Disaccharides are two simple sugars joined together. Sucrose or table sugar contains one glucose and one fructose unit. Lactose or milk sugar contains one glucose unit and one of galactose.

Polysaccharides consist of many simple sugar units linked together. They include starches and cellulose. But no matter what the source, carbohydrates follow a similar route in the digestive system. Simple sugars are absorbed and carried unchanged to the liver. Complex carbohydrates are broken into their simple sugar components in the small intestine, then routed to the liver for distribution to the body.

The starch in a plate of spaghetti, the sugar that makes a piece of fruit sweet and the sugar in a piece of cake are all carbohydrates and all have the same ultimate destination: they become glucose — fuel for the body.

Sugar (sucrose) is a food and sweetening agent found abundantly in nature and is present in many fruits, seeds, leaves, flowers and roots. Sugar cane and sugar beets are the most common sources of refined sugar.

Purification and crystallization of sugar do not change its properties as a food but merely separate sugar from other materials.

A strong but unjustified prejudice against white refined sugar exists today. Critics charge that since sugar is pure carbohydrate and contains no vitamins or minerals, it constitutes "empty calories." They say the consumption of sugar puts an inordinate burden on the remainder of the diet to supply needed nutrients.

These assumptions are misleading. Refined sugar is a pure carbohydrate and lacks protein, fat, vitamins and minerals, but these nutrients can easily be supplied by other foods. The correct approach to nutrition is to select a balanced diet that supplies all the needed nutrients. Such a diet can include sugar to furnish part of the calories and various other foods including meat, fish, dairy products, cereals, fruits and vegetables to supply proteins, fats, vitamins, minerals and roughage as well as additional calories.

Those who say white sugar is bad, but brown sugar good and honey even better, are also mistaken. Nutritionally speaking, the three products are just about the same.

High sugar consumption has been linked to heart disease, diabetes and hypoglycemia, but the evidence is not persuasive. There is validity to the argument that excess sugar and other foods combined with lack of exercise do produce obesity.

The probability of heart disease and diabetes is increased by obesity. Foods high in fats are generally considered to be more deleterious to the arteries and heart than foods high in carbohydrates.

The keys to dietary health are moderation and balance in choice of foods. Moderate quantities of sugar have their place in everyday diets and the quantities may safely be increased before and during endurance sports. Once this principle is recognized, runners will be able to savor a piece of cake and savor a forkful of spaghetti with equal peace of mind.

GOOD KNOTS IMPORTANT IN TACKLING BIG FISH

That old saw about a chain being only as strong as its weakest link points up the importance of tying a good knot when you hitch your hook, lure, or other bit of tackle to the line.

Many a fish is lost when a knot quietly slips apart or breaks at the peak of a lunker's struggle to get away. More often than not, the average fisherman blames the loss on the line itself, either thinking the line was weak or the fish too heavy for the pound test he was using. Many of the stories about the record-breaking lunker that got away rest in such misconceptions.

Often, it's the knot that is at fault. But how can an angler be sure?

A crude measure of knot strength can be obtained with nothing more than a simple spring scale, a short length of fishing line, a hook and a bucket of sand. Here's how to do it.

Take a piece of fishing line about three feet long and tie a heavy hook on one end with the knot normally used. Fasten the other end of the line to a good spring scale with a weighing capacity at least double the line's pound test rating. With a friend holding the scale aloft, hang the empty bucket on the hook knotted to the line. Slowly add sand to the bucket while watching the pointer on the scale. Add more sand until the line breaks or the knot gives way. Note the scale reading at the break point.

If you don't happen to have a good spring scale, just tie one end of the section of line to be tested to an overhead support. Use enough line so that the bucket of sand is suspended no more than a few inches above the ground or floor—close enough that it won't upset and spill the sand when the line breaks. Tie the line to the bucket handle with the knot you want to test. Add sand to the bucket until the line breaks. Then, weigh the bucket and its contents on a reliable bathroom scale to determine the break weight.

Once the break occurs, it's easy to determine the failure point. If the line broke and the knot held, there will be a short piece of line attached to the hook from which the bucket was suspended. If the hook is bare, it's a good indication the knot failed. The end of the line will usually be slightly curled, indicating the knot pulled through or cut itself as one twist of filament rubbed against another when the knot tightened under load.

Despite many fishermen's belief that a knot is always the weakest point in their line, a good knot should hold up and the break should come in the line itself.

Knots for nylon monofilament must be chosen carefully and tied correctly. Knots which hold well in rope do not necessarily hold well in fishing line. There's a wide choice of knots to fit any particular tackle need.

The Du Pont Company, which has manufactured and marketed high quality "Stren" monofilament line for more than 20 years, tests its line and knots on sophisticated Instron laboratory equipment. Du Pont has run tests on the relative strength of many various knots. They have selected the best of these and published a booklet that gives simple, easy-to-follow directions so that the angler can learn to tie them. For a free copy, write to "Fishing Connection", Advertising Department, Room 37346, Du Pont Company, Wilmington, DE 19896.

Radial tires, which absorb less energy than regular tires, have saved close to 370 million gallons, reports the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association, participants in the government/industry voluntary fuel saving program.

First Annual Youth Get Together At School Board Meeting

The youth of our Lady of Mercy Parish will get it together on Sunday, September 16, when the Parish holds its First Annual Youth Get-Together from 2:00 to 6:00 p.m. in the parking area next to OLM School on South Oyster Bay Road in Hicksville.

Fun, companionship and fellowship will be the order of the day for high school students who are members of the parish. There will be basketball, handball, volleyball and tennis, and booths staffed by members of all eleven parish youth organizations participating in the event.

The purpose of the special day for youth, according to Raymond Barrett of Plainview, Chairman of the Youth Activities Program Committee, is to "revitalize the existing youth programs in OLM parish. We believe that many of our young people do not know about all the opportunities and programs we offer here at OLM, and this is our chance to encourage greater participation in the youth activities of our parish family."

Over fifty young people and adults have been meeting all through the summer months to bring the youth happening to a successful culmination with the four-hour get-together on September 16. Parish groups participating in the day for "rejuvenation of youth" at OLM are Youth Council, Youth Council Helpers, Senior High CCD (Confraternity of Christian Doctrine), CCD Aides, Folk Group, Teen Prayer Group, Senior High R.A.P., TAP (Teen Activity Program), Parish Players, Exceptional Children Program Aides, Ushers, Lectors, Cantors and Choir.

"There's something for everyone in Our Youth Activities Program," said Barrett. "Sports, culture, liturgy, sociability, music, drama, social action, Christian fellowship. You name it. We have it at OLM."

Our Lady of Mercy, which serves parishioners from Bethpage, Hicksville, Plainview and Syosset, invites all of its members who are high school students public or parochial to participate in the September 16 Youth Get-Together. There is no admission charge, and refreshments will be served.

Operation VFW By Lou Palladino

There will be a trip to Washington Another rally for the M.I.A.s. I don't know when or where the buses will leave, when we get that information we will pass it on to you. We still want all our boys there accounted for, and we won't stop until each and every one is known.

A bill has been proposed before Congress to have the Veterans organizations backing political figures. It may never come to pass, but it's being tried. We do have a record of all who votes for or against the Veterans, and their benefits. Promises have been made and slowly they are trying to waltz on their obligations.

As you know our employment agency is going full blast again, now, we're trying to up the minimum wage for these Vets., as you know in these inflationary times $3.00 an hour doesn't amount to too much, we are all in the same boat, and we can all use the extra buck to keep the wolf away from the door.

Hey, what do you know, we received another Award, and from National VFW, no less. It was for Community Service. Having the forum with Congressman Lent was a big thing for the public. We're a little Post in Hicksville, but because of our activity we have recognition on all levels, right up to National. Not bad for a little hamlet.

We have another new member who joined our Post, an old war horse from WW2 Joe Locascio, welcome Joe, and we hope he gets active enough to really enjoy our Post.

Tickets for the Past-Commanders roasting can be obtained from either Frank Lotti or Bob Obermeyer. The date is Sat. Sept. 29th, and the price of the ticket is $16.00 per, and a good time should be in the offering. You were told, the recipient to the Roasting is none other than yours truly. I still can't get over it, and I'm tickled silly.

grows the meetings are longer and this happens most frequently toward the end of the school year.

Trustee Neil McCormack suggested that Dr. Solovy, who spends 50 percent of his time servicing out-of-district special education students, numbering approximately 80, spend 75 percent "helping our students in the district. Since the district is charged by BOCES for each child and they supply another person, we could use him (Dr. Solovy) better."

Secretary Bill Bennett suggested that an additional parent of a handicapped child in the district be on the Committee and Trustee Virginia Germer suggested that Dr. Weeks consider consulting with the SEPTA (Special Education PTA) President.

Mr. Bennett presented a proposed Board policy on Freedom of Information regulations which were discussed among the Board members and administration. The policy, with any revisions proposed, will be adopted at the October 31 Board meeting.

The regulations govern when, where, and how an individual may see and/or copy public records.

Mr. Bennett complimented Asst. Supt. Dr. Catherine Fenton on "putting it together."

Mr. Fujimoto asked who would determine the required subject matter list, under which records would be kept. Dr. Fenton stated that this section would "have to be developed by each records access officer. There is no standard form. Each officer would have its own list."

Mr. Ayres questioned who would make the judgement in denying access to requests for information. He recommends that an in-service course be given for records access officers.

Dr. Hawkins added that standard (subject) lists would be at all schools with modification, and a meeting with records access people would be held to discuss easy accessibility and the subject to cover on the list.

Mr. Fujimoto commended Mr. Bennett. "You're doing an excellent job, putting in a lot of time and effort into up-dating the Board policies."

The Board approved the Free and Reduced price lunch and special milk policies. Mr. Bennett was away from the table when the vote was taken. In answer to a questions from Mr. Ayres, Mr. Weigang, Business Manager, stated that letters would be mailed to parents of each secondary students stating the eligibility requirements and the necessary information to apply for this program.

Mrs. Germer and Mr. Ayres voted not to accepting the annual audit report as of June 30, 1979, as prepared by the District Auditor, Solomon Newborn, CPA. A long discussion, concerning the terminology used, took place between Mr. Weigang and Mr. Ayres. Mr. Ayres asked what the projected surplus would be of June 30, 1980. Mr. Weigang could not give a figure. Mr. Ayres continually stated: "I can't understand this. If a press release dated Aug. 20 states that the increased projected surplus can take care of contingencies, why can't you project a surplus for the end of the year?"

Mr. Weigang stated that an the district liquidates he would be better able to project the surplus.

The Board went into executive session for about one hour and when it returned acted on the following personnel matters:

-Appointed Harriet Fleisher, Resource Room teacher in the junior high school, as Assistant Director of Pupil Personnel Services for a probationary term from 9/1/79 to 8/31/82.

-Appointed Mr. Anthony Nicoforo, Foreign Language teacher in the senior high school as Foreign Language Department Chairman for 7-12 for a probationary term from 9/13/79 to 9/12/82. -Appointed Hilary Sperber as a

A graduate of Hicksville High School, McGinley was home on leave recently before reporting to the aircraft carrier USS John F. Kennedy on August 15th. William's father served in the Navy, and his brother Frank served aboard the aircraft carrier USS Forrestal. "The Navy's been in my family for a long time," said William. "I spent twelve years as a Sea Cadet before I enlisted. It's something I always wanted to do." McGinley hopes to eventually work as a Navy Draftsman, but for now his interests are machines, boilers, air conditioning and refrigeration systems. Dear Friends ---

A REMINDER TO ALL HICKSVILLIANS: If you haven't already done so, this is a reminder to fill in and send back the questionnaire on downtown Hicksville planning which you received, along with your Town of Oyster Bay Newsletter, recently. If for any reason you haven't received this questionnaire, you may pick one up at the Hicksville Library. As we said last week, here is one place that your opinion really counts.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS: send get-well cards to Father William Galloway, Pastor Emeritus of St. Paul the Apostle RC Church in Jericho who is presently recuperating in Central General Hospital in Plainview. ... congratulations to Linda Reid of Sleepy Lane, HICKSVILLE, who has recently earned appointment as Sales Director in Mary Kay Cosmetics, Inc. ... congratulations to Kenneth Friese, and Bart Straub, both PLAINVIEW residents, who have recently been elected to the Executive Board of the Nassau Music Educators Association. Mr. Friese is a teacher in the Plainview-Old Bethpage School District and Mr. Straub is connected with Straub Music, Inc. ... Janis Doyle of PLAINVIEW served, for 6 weeks this summer, as a Given Fellow at the Human Resources School Summer Education Program, which offered adapted sports and recreation plus arts and crafts and field trips to over 180 severely physically disabled children from pre-school through high school age. Janis is a Physical Ed and Rec major at SUNY in Cortland. ... also from PLAINVIEW, Victoria Nemarich served as a Reader's Digest Fellow doing this same type of work at Human Resources School. Victoria is a Liberal Arts major at SUNY in Farmingdale. What a really great way for these two young people to spend their summer.

OUR TOWN SUPERVISOR JOSEPH COLBY has proclaimed the month of Sept. Rehabilitation Month, to help bring recognition to the need for rehabilitation programs for the disabled. As does our long-time friend Hank Viscardi, we happen to like the usage of the word "Abilities" rather than rehabilitation. For we all have different abilities which, with proper training can help to make us productive members of society. However, the cause is an excellent one, whichever word makes it come alive to you. Best wishes for success in Sept. and throughout the coming years.

Over 10 million Americans have completed the National Safety Councils eight hour Defensive Driving Course.

This course is the major thrust of a nationwide safety council campaign. Its prime objective is to significantly reduce the death toll by putting more defensive drivers on the road.

The course teaches licensed drivers collision-avoidance skills that have reduced the accident rate of course graduates up to 30 percent.

The Long Island Safety Council is offering this course to Nassau and Suffolk residents. For further information, call 231-4333.

Pottery, macrame, knitting, quilting, sewing and jewelry will be among the many items exhibited in a crafts show highlighting the talents of senior citizens. The items displayed are the work of artisans involved with Master Crafters, Inc., a not-for-profit consignment shop for Nassau County seniors.

The exhibition will take place on Sunday, September 16, in an old-fashioned gazebo on the grounds of the Nassau County Center for the Fine Arts, Roslyn. Hours are from 1 to 5 P.M. Both artisans and volunteers will be present to do craft demonstrations and answer questions.

The raindate is September 23. Anyone wishing further information is invited to call the shop at 921-5480.

THAT'S ALL for this week. Stay well and remember that now that school has resumed, some 340,000 Nassau County boys and girls are traveling to and from school, some for the first time, and not all on school buses.

Letter To The Editor

To The Editor:

In recent weeks, the local newspapers have printed a number of letters criticizing the PTA for its "approval" of the Strand III Mental Health Program. Because many readers are not aware of all the facts, and because the issue has become such a heated one, it would seem that the time is ripe for "setting the record straight."

I am not representing PTA Council or any of the units, but am writing as an individual, who as president of the Lee Avenue PTA, is in a position to lay out the facts as they pertain at least to our unit.

Last February, Tom Nagle asked the PTA presidents to get some "feedback" to the Board of Education concerning the projected Strand III program. At Lee Avenue we obtained as many copies of the curriculum as possible from Administration and distributed them to our Executive Board members to study. At the February Exec. Board meeting we discussed our findings. Our overall opinion of the program was favorable, but we had certain reservations and stipulations we wanted to convey to the Board of Education. A committee was formed to draft a letter. Among other things, the letter recommended that if implemented the course be taught by the School Nurse Teacher. We also stated that the parents should be involved and informed, perhaps with public meetings. We then placed all our copies of the curriculum in the School Nurse's office, and in the February issue of the Lee Avenue Highlights (which is mailed home to every family in the school) we included an article on the proposed program and invited all the parents who were interested to take turns borrowing the books. We urged them to convey their thoughts to the School Board. Only ten parents from a school of 600 children requested a copy. It was considered by our PTA unit at the time that unless parents had first read the curriculum, a general meeting would not serve any useful purpose.

PTA is a volunteer organization, dedicated to the welfare of our children. Each unit is made up of individuals of different religious, political and educational backgrounds. We don't all think alike, but we are united in our goal of securing the best quality of school and home life for our children; and with that goal in mind we put in many hours of our time working constructively to help where we can.

Job Program For Welfare Recipients

Nassau County's "highly successful" job program for welfare recipients - initiated last year by Social Services Commissioner Joseph A. D'Elia - may be expanded to other New York State welfare districts in the fall.

Commissioner D'Elia and the Project Coordinator were in Albany recently to describe the Department's aggressive approach to finding jobs for employable recipients of Home Relief at a State Department of Social Services sponsored Workshop Conference.

Nassau's program, which began in June, 1978, is a cooperative venture with the State Department of Labor. Commissioner D'Elia arranged for a New York State Employer Services interviewer to be assigned to the Social Services building in Mineola to provide direct, individualized job counseling and referral to employable applicants and recipients.

The interviewer has a microfiche job data bank updated daily with 1500-2000 current job opportunities, to assist her in linking potential employers with people able and ready to work.

From June, '78 - June '79 the State Employment interviewer placed 240 people in full-time paid employment. In addition, 714 job sanctions, for failure to comply with the work referral requirement, have been issued.

Commissioner D'Elia said Nassau's track record in moving employable recipients has contributed significantly to the dramatic reduction in the Home Relief caseload achieved in recent years. There are fewer than 1200 cases receiving Home Relief today, a 10% decline since June a year ago. The number was over 2,300 at the end of 1975. (Home Relief is the general assistance program funded jointly by New York State and local districts. There is no federal reimbursement.)

In announcing expansion of the employment demonstration project to other districts, the New York State Department of Social Services termed Nassau County's program "highly successful." The letter reads "This new approach is believed to be responsible for reducing Nassau County's employable caseload by 25% in the past year."

The "Jobs-Not Welfare" program earned an achievement Award from the National Association of Counties, presented in July of this year to the Nassau County Department of Social Services.

Commissioner D'Elia expressed pleasure at the State's recognition of Nassau's job performance. "As important is the dollar savings," he said, "is having Nassau County residents in meaningful employment, instead of picking up welfare checks."

Parents Warned of Liability for Vandalism

"As of July 28, parents in New York State will assume a greater financial liability for vandalism caused by their children. That's the date when parents became liable for up to $1,000 of intentional damage to another person's property," Senator Owen H. Johnson (R-Cons. 4th S.D.) warned. The rising rate of vandalism to both public and private property prompted Senator Johnson to be one of the prime sponsors of the new law. He sees the increased liability amount as a "practical and necessary" way to stem the chronic vandalism problem.

In addition, Senator Johnson pointed out that the new law is intended to encourage greater parental supervision of a child's activities because of the substantial financial liability the parent will stand to incur should vandalism take place. "It's about time we got back to a common-sense approach to rearing children. Parents should be more cognizant of their responsibility for the development of their own child's respect for the rights and property of others. There was a best selling book on the market a few years ago entitled, "Where Are You Going? Out: What Are You Going To Do? Nothing." It was exactly that kind of lack of parental knowledge of activities that nurtured the vandalism disease to the current state of epidemic proportions," Senator Johnson concluded.

IT'S CONSTITUTIONAL: Oyster Bay Town Supervisor Joseph Colby proclaims the week of September 17-23 "Constitution Week" in the Town during ceremonies in his office. Accepting the proclamation are Mrs. Mary T. Hutchinson (left) of Oyster Bay, Treasurer and Charter Member of the Oyster Bay Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR), and Mrs. Nancy Roseberry of Hicksville, Chapter Regent.

"Frederick likes to think of himself as a weekend solar collector."

Of course, the sun can be used for much more than acquiring a Sunday tan. People are talking about all kinds of exciting possibilities for the sun in our energy future. At LILCO, we are involved in the development of solar energy. In fact, we've just made a fascinating film about it. It's narrated by Leonard Nimoy (Mr. Spock of "Star Trek"), and it stars the sun in a number of different roles: as the creator of all energy on earth, including man's muscle power; as an ancient deity; and as a major source of energy for a new community of five solar homes being developed by LILCO and Electric Power Research Institute on Long Island.

If you're a Long Island school, community group or civic organization and would like to see our film, we'll make it available to you free. Simply call LILCO's Community Relations Department at (516) 228-2226 and we'll arrange for a showing.

The audiovisual director of a local school district had some kind words about LILCO's films. He recently wrote, "The teachers and children in our school district would like to thank you for making your films available. We found them to be very informative and useful in our curriculum."

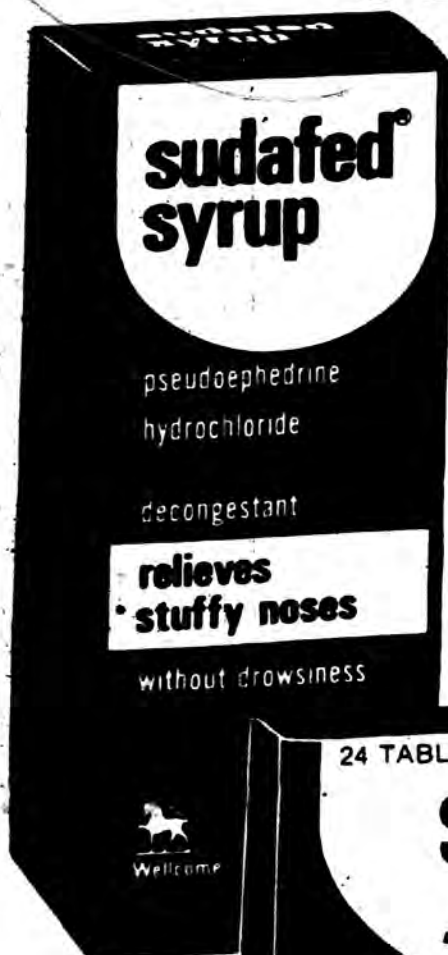

We'd like to thank him for the "fan mail."

Galileo Lodge News

By Joe Lorenzo

Weather, which at times can certainly be a factor in determining the success or failure of any outside activity, was definitely a factor last Saturday night, the 8th of September, when the Galileo Lodge ran its 2-in-1 affair - the Block Party and Las Vegas Nite. The Las Vegas program, which was held indoors, was a financial success, but the Block Party, held outdoors, obviously, left something to be desired and this too was attributable to the chilly night air and the threat of rains. But one out of two isn't bad at all. I might mention that the J-Vin band played some pleasurable music that night, a factor which caused some people to dance and made others just sit and listen. But, despite the uncertain conditions of Mother Nature, there was enough going on to hold the interests of all those who attended this activity.

The Galileo Lodge, acknowledging the fine performances of its personnel, wishes to take this opportunity to extend its thanks and appreciation to the committee and to all the other members who so diligently toiled to make this Block Party and Las Vegas Nite as successful as it was. Needless to say the food and drinks, which were sold at reasonable prices helped to round out the evening.

More Good News. The Mary Monteforte Testimonial Dance, as reported to me last Saturday night, has exceeded all expectations as far as receptiveness and response are concerned. It is almost a sell-out, and this certainly does much to prove the sense of appreciation that the members of the Ladies Auxiliary and the Galileo Lodge have for Mary Monteforte and her fine record of achievements as President of the Ladies Auxiliary for two consecutive years. The chairpersons, Mary Sarrera and Grace Giordano have done an excellent job in promoting this affair. This affair will be held on September 22, and you can get more information by dialing GE 3-6289 or 334-8384. For $15 a person, you will get a fine dinner, unlimited liquor and many extras and live music, of course.

'Foolies Follies', yes, that is the name they gave to the revue which will be presented by the Ladies Auxiliary on October 12th. Admission fee is $7 per person, and to round out the bill of fare will be such items as spaghetti, beer, soda, cake and coffee. This affair will feature talents associated with the members of the Galileo Lodge, so we can say that it is actually a revue by the members and for the members of our organization. Jo Ann Wallick, the chairlady, states that there was such a preponderance of talent, they had to eliminate some of the acts. Thus, far something different and unusual, why not attend this affair? Dial OV 1-8423 for more information from Jo Ann or dial 931-9351 and contact Joe Lappano of the Galileo Lodge who is ably assisting in this activity. You can also reach Joe at 935-6065. Rehearsals have been cancelled because preparations are now in order and the program for that night has been finalized.

Last Sunday morning, Mrs. Dorothy McGee of the Town of Oyster Bay, Tony Prefite of the Galileo Lodge and myself, met at Friendlies in Syosset to discuss possible research concerning Italian migration which started to pour into what is now called the Town of Oyster Bay. Speech patterns work habits, social and physical aspects of their existence will be researched and written about in a publication emanating from Mrs. McGee's office. We will report more on this as soon as this venture gets under way and we have something substantial to report. But for Italian-Americans, we feel that this program should add immeasurably to their culture and heritage.

Good News. The Galileo Lodge has finally found the beauty queen to represent it at the

DAR To Take Tour

Mrs. Joyce Perret of Glen Cove and Mrs. Mainard Chittenden, Jericho, will co-host the first fall meeting of the Oyster Bay Chapter DAR to be held on Monday, Sept. 17 at 8:00 p.m. at Raynham Hall, Oyster Bay.

Mrs. Theodore Rosebery, chapter regent, has announced the program will feature a special tour of Raynham Hall by Mrs. Gladys Schoverling, museum assistant, as well as a welcome to new and prospective members.

The chapter has long been a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Gatto of the Galileo Lodge and Ladies Auxiliary. Nancy was chosen by outsiders - Mrs. Ann Ocker, Town Clerk, Tony Parvis of the Marco Polo Lodge and Mrs. Caroline Alecoa, Venerable of the Aida Lodge. Nancy will be an supporter in furnishing Raynham Hall and will work within the framework of the National DAR theme for the year, "A Tapestry of Service." Chapter members are planning to celebrate Constitution Week, September 17-23.

Mrs. Charles Ardovino, East Norwich, will represent the Oyster Bay Chapter at the 83rd New York State Conference to be held in Syracuse, N.Y., Sept. 25-28. She will also be conducting a roundtable there on the Empire State News, the State DAR bi-monthly publication, of which she is state chairman.

enchanting and charming representative for our Lodge and she will most assuredly provide plenty of competition for the other contestants at the Beauty Queen Pageant. Her presence at the Columbus Parade will lend interest in this event.

Heard about a surprise birthday party that was held for Bill Pietruszewicz on August 25. Bill was really surprised. For the occasion, his family hired a very talented musician. In addition, there was eating, drinking, dancing, gifts and lots of fun. Congratulations and best wishes, Bill.

Bill and Margaret Buchman, HICKSVILLE, enjoyed the company of their two daughters, Lydia and Carol Ann, this summer. The girls both graduated this spring from San Diego State University. Carol Ann is employed as a correction services officer for San Diego County and will continue her schooling towards a Masters Degree. Lydia plans to start work shortly as a psychological aide to rehabilitate young people which is sponsored by the Federal Government. Very enterprising young women with interesting careers. Good luck to you both.

HICKSVILLE Water Commissioner, Sam Weiss, and his gracious wife, Kitty are back home for the NYS Firemen's Tournament held in Rochester recently. It was an exciting competition. We were told that Patchogue won the State Championship. The volunteer firemen deserve a lot of praise and credit for the many services they perform on behalf of their fellow citizens. And we are extremely fortunate to have such competent and dedicated volunteer firemen in our towns.

Congratulations to the following local area residents that have recently marked 30 or 25 years of service with the Long Island Lighting Company. Anthony Grella of HICKSVILLE, 30 years; Ernest M. Things have been pretty busy at the home of Jeanne and John Maiorino, Moeller St., HICKSVILLE. First of all, belated birthday greetings go to their daughter, Linda, who celebrated her 20th on Sept. 1. She celebrated with her friends in the Hamptons. Linda, an administrative buyer in the sales department of Harman-Cardan in Plainview, started at Westbury College as a business major.

School Taxes Due

Oyster Bay Town Receiver of Taxes Solomon Newborn reminded property owners that payment of local school district taxes for 1979-1980 will be due as of October 1.

"By law, a taxpayer has a 40-day grace period from this date (October 1) during which time the tax may be paid without any penalty," Newborn said, "After that, there is a penalty attached for each month."

Although the tax rates are set by each district's school board, the Receiver of Taxes provides the collection services for those districts within the Town.

The youngsters, Pam Morrissey, Sue Rothschild, Lisa Sutherland and Michael Topczewski, completed a series of rigorous tests to achieve the honor.

The certificates are signed by President Jimmy Carter, and were presented to the youths by their gym teacher, Phyllis Rubin and Hicksville district Coordinator of Physical Education and Health Diana D'Avino.

The former sixth graders now attend Hicksville Junior High School.

Hicksville American Soccer Club

By John Flanagan and Jackie Adelstein

The Hicksville "Hearts" 1972 "A" team, sponsored by Pathmark swept all three opponents on their way to winning the Peter Renzulli Tournament in Huntington this Labor Day Weekend.

In the first game on Sat. the Hearts beat the Huntington Boys Club "Sharks" 5-1. This was particularly gratifying to the boys after competing for nearly a year against older teams without a win.

The first goal was scored by Sal Perry off an assist from Chris Flanagan. The second goal was scored unassisted by Chris Flanagan. Jeff that scored the third goal with an assist to Rob Ladimir. Chris Santarelli ended the scoring assisted by Sal Perry.

Against West Islip on Sun. the Hearts scored early. Brian Spinner and Steve Pine assisted Chris Flanagan on the first goal. First half scoring was closed out by Steve Pine. On a corner kick by Chris Santarelli. Sal Perry scored the last goal of the game for the Hearts.

The pressure was constantly on Hicksville's fullbacks but Brian Spinner. Robby Franklin and Mike O'Grady consistently turned back West Islip's second half onslaught. For the second game in a row Goalie Ken Klein made saves which assured the Hearts of their second win. Prior to the final game against Brentwood. Ken Klein sprained his wrist and Kevin Morrisroe came in showing a spectacular end. At the half the Hearts found themselves in need of at least a tie for the championship and on the short end of a 1-0 score. In the second half Matt Adelstein Drew Donohue and Tom Baron helped Steve Pine control the midfield and keep the ball in the Brentwood's end. In the waning moments of the game Chris Flanagan took a throw-in from Matt Adelstein and raced it up the right side. He crossed it inside and when the ball bounced back out Chris slammed it home for the tying goal that assured Hicks of another in a long line of tournament championships. The scoring was closed out when Brentwood goalie misplayed the ball into his own goal. Bob Ladimir was there to make sure it counted.

Congrats to head coach Tony Camara and assistant Barry Adelstein. They put in many hours of work and have seen the Hearts come a long way. "Hooray and Onward Hearts!"

Energy Saving Booklet Available

Important home heating savings may be attained by following some tips provided in an energy conservation booklet, "Tips for Energy Savers," available from the office of Assemblyman Frederick E. Parola, Jr. (R-C-Wantagh).

Assemblyman Parola said: "There are some significant tips, particularly for the operation of appliances. Appliance use and selection can make a considerable difference in home utility costs. When purchasing an energy-efficient appliance, the initial price may be a little higher but that expense is more than made up by reduced operating costs over the lifetime of the appliance."

"Remember to turn appliances off when they are not in use because it is a total waste of costly energy. Try to remember to turn off radios, TV's or record players when leaving a room. Also, keep appliances in good working order so they will last longer, work more efficiently and use less energy."

"When buying appliances, read labels carefully. Compare energy use information and operating costs of similar models by the same and different manufacturers. Your local merchant will be able to help you find the wattage of the appliance."

"It is also a good idea, when considering the purchase of a new appliance which has special features, to find out how much energy is needed compared with other models. For example, a frost-free refrigerator uses more energy than one you have to defrost manually. It also costs more to buy and the energy and purchase dollars you can save with a manual-defrost model may be worth giving up the convenience.

"Also use appliances meant to do the job. When toasting bread,

Cable Pressure Monitoring System

Innovation often consists of finding new uses for common things, and New York Telephone has done just that with its latest effort to provide Hicksville residents with top-notch communications service.

The company is using something you can't see, touch or pick-up, as the key element in a major service improvement project now underway in Hicksville. The mysterious item is air, and the company has discovered that pressurizing underground telephone cables with dry air helps to detect potential service problems before they occur.

The "Cable Pressure Monitoring System" (CPMS) is part of the company's overall preventive maintenance program designed to ensure dependable communications. It was developed by Bell Laboratories, the research arm of the nationwide Bell System of which New York Telephone also is a subsidiary.

The C.P.M.S. Program should effectively eliminate major service failures due to normal wear and tear on underground cable facilities. The new system has been serving 100 percent of one Nassau area for the past several months, and there have been no failures in the monitored cable.

The new system operates via a central computer located in the company's Mid-Nassau switching center in Garden City. The system is activated by injecting dry air through a compressor into cables originating at the local central office. Then the appropriate pressure level for each cable on the C.P.M.S. is pre-programmed into the computer's memory.

The computer automatically surveys specific cables on the system at pre-determined intervals during the day, registering any significant changes in pressure. Computer readings originate from gauges, called "transducers," located at critical points along the cable route. All C.P.M.S. cables are checked at least once daily and certain high-priority cables are checked as frequently as every 20 minutes.

The C.P.M.S. computer is monitored 24 hours per day. Should a problem develop, the computer printouts provide detailed information on the location of the trouble, speeding necessary repairs. Every computer-signalized trouble is checked on a top-priority basis to prevent the development of large-scale service problems. If an undetected problem is reported, the local Hicksville office can access the central computer for assistance in pinpointing the trouble spot.

All of the main cable which delivers calls to local neighborhoods, serving 49,000 subscribers in Hicksville, will be incorporated in the C.P.M.S. program this year. Similar projects are underway in other Nassau areas, and the company expects all underground subscriber cable in the county to be pressurized by 1985.

Aeroflex Receives $2.5 Million Order

Aeroflex Laboratories Incorporated, Plainview, (O.T.C.) has received orders in excess of $2.5 million from Hughes Aircraft Company for the production of Common-Module Far-Infrared Scanners, according to an announcement by Milton Brenner, company president. These orders, together with one recently received from Kollsman Instrument Company, brings the dollar volume of Aeroflex Common-Module Scanners to about $4.5 million.

The Scanners are incorporated in the Hughes Thermal Imaging Sight (TIS), which has been designed for the XM-1 tank, produced by Chrysler's Defense Manufacturing Division. The sight enables the tank gunner and commander to see and engage targets through such atmospheric conditions as smoke and haze as well as darkness.

Aeroflex is a designer/producer of a wide variety of electronic and aerospace products and systems for industrial and defense applications.

Declares Quarterly Dividend on August 16, 1979.

Announcement of the dividend was made by Arthur Hug, Jr., Chairman of the Board.

LITCO Bancorporation of New York, Inc., has assets in excess of $1-billion and is the largest Long Island based commercial banking organization with 46 offices in Nassau, Suffolk and Queens counties.

Contracts Awarded

Amperex Electronic Corp. of Hicksville, has been awarded two government contracts by the Defense Electronics Supply Center, Dayton, Ohio.

A $262,280 contract provides for manufacture of 332 electron tubes, and a $76,500 contract provides for the manufacture of 10,000 electron tubes.

The Defense Electronics Supply Center is a field activity of the Defense Logistics Agency, with headquarters at Cameron Station, Va. The Center procures, manages and supplies common electronic parts used by the armed services, various other government agencies and certain friendly foreign nations.

New Tax Assessments

Abe Seldin, Chairman of the Nassau County Board of Assessors, will discuss the possible effects on Nassau property owners of the court-ordered "reevaluation of all property in Nassau County to 100 percent of market value." Mr. Seldin will be the guest speaker at the opening meeting of the League of Women Voters of the Town of Oyster Bay. A question and answer session will follow his discussion.

Because real property tax assessment is a controversial issue and the Office of Tax Assessor is on the ballot this year, representatives of other recognized political parties have been invited to be in the audience. The meeting will be held on September 17th at 8:00 p.m. at the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library, 999 Old Country Road, Plainview. The public is encouraged to attend. Viennese table refreshments will be served.

DEVOTIONS

By The Rev. John H. Krahn

GOD: THE STILL POINT IN A TURNING WORLD

I believe that most of us are experiencing the crunch... the crunch of living... of doing business on the planet called earth. The simple life has somehow eluded our grasp—even things that we could once take for granted like enough gas for our cars, sufficient oil for our homes, uninterrupted education for our children, and the prospect for a raise that would provide us a little higher standard of living—these things are no longer commonplace.

Often we are tempted to ask the question, "Where is God in this whole mess of living?" And the answer, I believe, is that God is the still point in a turning, increasingly chaotic world. God, I believe, can still bring calm to chaos... he is still a source of hope in the face of despair, with him we can even snatch victory from the jaws of defeat. Yes, God is the still point, the constant point, a source of hope and strength, in a turning world.

The psalmist knew that—for the world of chaos was turning even in his day. We said it this way,

"God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore, we will not fear though the earth should change, though the mountains shake in the heart of the sea; though its waters roar and foam, though the mountains tremble with its tumult." God is the only answer to chaos, for He is our refuge and strength. From Him alone we can receive strength to go on. He is the source from which we must draw the power to overcome. There is no situation that can be deemed impossible, a lost cause, or insoluble as long as we continue to entreat the help of the Almighty. "We shall not fear," the psalmist says, even if our whole world is blowing up around us, for the Lord is still with us, he has not abandoned us. Think of the verse in the beloved twenty-third Psalm, "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil..." Why? Because there is no evil to fear? Not at all, but because "Thou art with me..." God continues to touch me with his comforting presence.

The psalmist continues, "Be still, and know that I am God." In other words, quiet down, relax, and know that I am God. Oil isn't God. Cancer isn't God. Money isn't God. Yahweh, the God of Jacob, is God. He is still present. He has not abandoned the world. He is the author of life and love, so he doesn't send cancer, sickness, or death. He doesn't place greed and anger in the hearts of people, chaos and grief are not from Him. He is the still point in the turning world.

Only the fool says in his heart there is no God. Only the fool tries to go the world alone. Martin Luther looked at all the pressures of his life one day and said, "I have so much to do today, that there'll be no chance of getting it all done unless I spend at least four hours in prayer."

If your life is crowded, if grief or worry is consuming too much of your world—return to the still point—seek refuge in God, receive renewed strength from the God of our fathers who spared not even his only Son so that we could not only have victory after death but also victory in life. God says to us again today, "Be still, and know that I am God. Find refuge and strength in me."

Cold Spring Harbor High School on Turkey Lane at the Field House is where its going to happen. All monies will go for the rental and maintenance of Cold Spring Harbor Youth Center's main facility in East Side School on Goose Hill Road in Cold Spring Harbor.

So come one come all, and swing your partner. Tickets can be purchased at the Cold Spring Harbor Youth Center's main facility in East Side School (rear entrance), or at the Youth Center's office in Cold Spring Harbor High School on Turkey Lane.

Benefit Football Game

A benefit football game to support Cystic Fibrosis research will be held this Saturday, September 15th, at 8 p.m., at Hofstra Stadium to kick-off the home schedule of the Long Island Jets (Mid-Eastern Football League).

Senator Norman J. Levy (R-C Merrick), 1979 Man of the Year for the Nassau-Suffolk Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation will be on hand to throw out the first ball in what is expected to be an exciting game between the Long Island Jets and the New Jersey Rams.

Cystic Fibrosis is one of the most dangerous and common of the life-threatening illnesses of young people and is responsible for most of the serious lung diseases. It is a leading cause of death in children. Cystic Fibrosis is an inherited genetic defect for which there is no known cure and whose origin is unknown.

Levy is urging anyone concerned with helping children afflicted with Cystic Fibrosis and other lung-damaging diseases to support this worthy cause which will aid the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation in its research, patient aid and clinical treatment programs.

For further information, call the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation at 746-0080.

Final Swim Team Tryouts

The Merroque Swim Association, a not-for-profit, volunteer administered youth organization wants girls and boys ages 5 to 19 from Nassau County to tryout for their A.A.U. swim team. The MSA swim team has won the County Championships of the Nassau swim conference winter league for two years, has an "undefeated status" in dual meets for 3 years, hosted the Junior Olympic Swim Championships, and coached state champion swimmers. They are looking for new potential, and experienced swimmers for the team. 250 swimmers have already "tried out" during the last two weeks.

Swimmers practice and race in groups based on ability and age. The swim team practices will be run at the new olympic pool at Nassau Community College, in Garden City, near the Coliseum. MSA runs a program at the Central Skindivers pool in Bellmore also. Training includes swimming with extensive yardage, stroke clinics, "dryland conditioning," video taping, classroom sessions, and optional before school morning swim practices. Swimmers race in dual meets and Amateur Athletic Union sanctioned swim meets. Swimmers accepted on the team receive a pool pass. Members pay dues and participate in fund raising drives to help pay for the team operating expenses and pool rental. "Discounted family membership, and financial aid is available."

At the remaining tryout sessions the first 15 minutes will be an "orientation" describing the swim team program in detail. Each person attending a tryout session will be given a SWIM GUIDEBOOK. After the orientation, anyone wishing to tryout will be asked for a $1.50 Tryout Fee, to help cover the costs of pool rental during the tryouts.

The final swim team tryouts for this year will be held at Nassau College's new pool, located at the south end of the Physical Education building on the following days:

5 to 8, 9 to 10, and 11 to 12 year olds may tryout on Friday, Sept

14th at 6:30 pm; Sunday, Sept 16th at 2:30 pm; and Thurs, Sept 20th at 5:30 pm.

13 to 14, and 15 to 19 year olds may tryout on Tues, Sept 18th at 7:30 pm; Thurs, Sept 20th at 7:45 pm; and Fri, Sept 21st at 5:30 pm.
