Business Is Booming At Mitchel Field So Is Nassau County's Economy

County Executive Francis T. Purcell recently revealed that seven new Mitchel Field projects now being nego tiated will generate an esti-mated $247 million in additional construction costs and more than $6 million in additional rental and tax revenues for the county.

Purcell made his announcement during a recent Mit-chel Field tour and press conference for the county's conterence for the county's weekly newspapers. Twenty-seven projects already completed or underway at Mitchel Field are expected to bring in more than $11.5 in rental and tax revenues. Construction costs on these projects will be estimated $545.2 million

"Mitchel Field development, and the impetus it has given to economic growth elsewhere in the county, is one of the key reasons why Nassau County is beating the national economic slump," Purcell said. "Nassau's unemployment rate is sau's unemployment rate is lower than the national average, and is one of the lowest in New York State." Total rental and tax revenues for all Mitchel Field projects -- those already underway and those now being negotiated -- will top $18 million. Purcell said. Total construction costs will be more than $792 million. be more than $792 million. with construction payrolls running to more than $100 111++++ million, and pumping some $250 million into the couneconomy

ty's economy. When all the construction at Mitchel Field is com-pleted, it is estimated that there will be an estimated that 25,000 permanent jobs there, with payrolls totaling $500 millon. The traditional 2.5 economic multiplier means that Mitchel Field will diffuse some $1.3 billion annually into the economy.

Purcell said the business boom at Mitchel Field, the heart of the county, has spurred economic growth elesewhere in the county. He said approximately 9.1 mil-lion square feet of office and industrial space have been completed or are under construction in other locations, primarily for banks and financial institutions, insurance companies, computer values and research and development firms. These projects – in Lake Success, New Hyde Park, Jericho, Syosset, Woodbury, North Hills and Hicksville – will provide an estimated 45,000 jobs.

Purcell is also helping bring business and jobs into the village of Hempstead. "Recently, he announced plans to build a $15-million district court building on Main St. in Hempstead. The court, with 350 regular employees will draw an estimated 1.000 people a day into the village center, bring-ing money, jobs and rentals to revitalize what was once the county's hub.

*Purcell negoitated an agreement with Fugazy Express, a limousine service, under which the firm will bring its corporate opera-tions headquarters to Hempstead village. The $5-million project will bring in 200 new jobs, with priority given to village residents. Fugazy will build on a fouracre site opposite the Times Square Store on Green-wich St. and Peninsula Blvd.

*Purcell said he also has information that the U.S. Internal Revenue Service will move to 250 Fulton Ave. The IRS branch will have 400 employees.

Purcell attributed Nassau's phenomenal economic growth and vitality to sev-eral factors:

*His own decision, early in 1978, his first year in office, to begin developing Mitchel Field, which had lain fallow for more than 20 vears. *A skilled and welleducated clerical, technical and professional labor force, the product of super-or school systems. • Average wages lower than in New York City. Lower wages are offset by the benefits of working close to home without the cost and frustration of daily commuting.

Advances in computer technology which have made it possible for large firms headquartered in New York City to move their back office operations to Nassau. *Commercial rental in Nassau run from $18 to $22 square foot compared $45 to $75 a square foot in New York City. *The county's clean, pleasant, suburban working environment in close prox-imity to New York City and to LaGuardia and Kennedy airports

The 1,200-acre Mitchel Field, a former Air Force base, was acquired from the federal government in the late 1950s. Portions of the field were used for construction of the Hofstra University and Nassau Community College campuses. The Nas-sau Veterans Memorial Coliscum was built there in 1972. The bulk of the 1,200 acres lay fallow until Purcell took office and recognized its potential for economic development. One critically important decision made early in his administation was to rent the land there to developers instead of selling it, a policy which facilitated developers' financing, while assuring the county con-tinued control and income.

Re: Sears, Roebuck Co., Inc. Illegal Truck Terminal Bay Avenue, Hicksville, NY

ar Mr. Colby: In reference to the above In reference to the above captioned and for your information, enclosed please find pictures taken 5:00 p.m., September 29, 1982. This is the way the truck terminal looked before October 1st, 1982, when the "HERALD" newspaper printed a letter of the gas fumes, noises, etc., and of the trouble we are experiencing. A copy of this is also enclosed.

In addition, representing homeowners, residents and signed petitioners, we know the Town of Oyster Bay has an ordinance "No loud noises or disturbances after 11:00 p.m. and not before 7'00 a.m." This is usually abided by, but apparently not in the Sears illegal truck terminal which is located on Bay Avenue in Hicksville, a residential area.

This same thing happened Monday. October 25th, but the trucks left at 11:45 p.m. The police were not called because they can't do any-thing to help us. This past Friday, October 29th, it started again. There was one exception. At about 12:15 a.m. there was an extra loud noise and we were all awakened, including babies and small children as well. They left at 1:00 a.m. but the gas fumes remained. Can you please tell me what can be done about all this? The curfew hour is suppose to be 11:00 p.m. WHO CAN HELP US?

Very truly yours, Richard Pfeifer Bay Ave., Hicksville

To The Editor:

On Wednesday, November 3rd, 1 attended a Community Relations meeting. chaired by Mrs. Honey Sin-ger, a member of the Hicks-ville Board of Education.

This meeting was attended by a mixed group of Hicksville citizens: Board of Education members, senior citi zens, resident employees, past board members, PTA members, residents; along with district employees.

This was an informative meeting and a perfect opportunity to address any opportunity to address any concern or applaud any achievement in regard to our school district; as our Board President and Vice-President were present and willing to discuss all issues. This committee will meet the first Wednesday of each month in the Board Room of the Administration Build ing, and I would urge all concerned citizens to try to attend these informal meetings. There is much to be learned by giving and taking information from all people who are interested in protecting our investment in our children - their educatioin.

For me, there is no greater privilege and joy than that of serving each of you - the res-idents of Hicksville in the Assembly. I assure you that I will continue my duties with a full understanding of the great responsibility that you have placed in me and I will do all in my power to earn your confidence. The 1983 legislative sesyou sion promises to be a very difficult one with state and city deficits projected and New York City interests in the majority in the Assembly and in control of the statehouse. I will re-dedicate my efforts to enact comprehensive tax relief and especially property tax reform, elimination of wasteful state spending and a tough crime program.

Please know that my district office, located at 3700 Hempstead Turnpike in Levittown (731-3434), is open to serve you. I look forward to your input. Thank you for giving me the opportunity to continue to work for you. Sincerely, gallon size plastic bags, to place up to 20 of these plastic bags at curbside for pickup on their regularly scheduled rubbish collection day. If a resident has accumulated more than 20 bags in one week, a phone call to 921-7347 will insure a special pickup.

Residents are reminded that leaves may not be burned or swept into the roadway. Leaf burning is illegal in Nassau County because of air pollution regulations. Sweeping leaves into the roadway is both costly and dangerous. Not only do leaves become a serious traffic hazard when wet, but they can also cause clogged storm drains which result in unnecessary flooding and dangerous icing conditions as autumn weather turns into winter's cold. Additionally, piles of leaves along the roads represent a tempting hazard for youngsters.

This year, the special leal collection program is sche-duled to end on Friday. December 10. After that date, residents who still have accumulations of leaves may place up to 10 bags of leaves at curbside for pick-up on their regularly scheduled rubbish day.

Fall is upon us and your Fire Department advises caution. Leaves can cause many unexpected problems. Wet leaves littering road-ways can be as slippery as ice-coated roads use caution.

It is not advisable to park your vehicle over leaves as the hot exhaust system may set the leaves afire and also your vehicle. If you warm up your car, be sure it's not on top of leaves. The burning of leaves or anything else for that mat-ter, is a violation of law — both the fire and health laws. Bag them for sanitation collection. Remember, any damage you cause to property as a result of your open burning — you are liable for damages.

"How To Survive Adolescence"

On Thursday, November 18 at 8 p.m. the Hicksville Senior High School PTSA will present at their General Meeting the first of this year's programs; "How To Survive Adolescence". The program, which will include a slide presentation and disa slide presentation and dis-cussion groups, will focus on such issues as: 1. Why is it necessary for kids to challenge parents kids to challe and authority?

2. Why do young people believe nothing bad can happen to them? 3. Why are peer alliances and peer pressure so strong?

With an understanding that adolescence is an important part of growing up and becoming independ-ent, learning how to deal with specific adolescent problems can be made easier for adolescents and their parents.

This program will be presented by a team from Long Island Jewish Medical Center's Division of Adoles-cent Medicine. Their expertise in opening up discussion will surely make this a worthwhile evening for par-ents and their children.

"We urge you to attend

The Nov. 4 Retirement Dinner held to honor Louis G. Dettloff of Hicksville, G. Dettion of the Superintendent of the Hicksville Water District was a huge success. Over 250 enthusiastic friends, neigh-bors, relatives, elected officials and business associates thronged the Woodbury Country Club to offer their best wishes to this dedicated member of the Hicksville community.

To say that the dinner itself was delicious, is the understatement of the year! But the program, which veered from complimentary to remarks of a "roasting nature," from his many friends at home and in business, also reached a new high

TOB To Switch To Firm Capable Of Financing And Building An Adequate Recovery System

On Tues., Nov. 9 the Town of Ovster Bay Industrial Development Agency (TOBIDA) announced that trial negotiations, which have been conducted for about with Waste Management, Inc., for a resource recovery system to handle the Town's refuse, have been discontinued.

In announcing the discon-tinuation of the negotia-tions, IDA Chairman Karl Leupold stated that the IDA has already commenced dis-cussion with a second cor-poration that is also offering proven European technoltake the almost 1,000 tons of refuse generated in the Town daily and convert it into electricity in an environmentally sound manner. Leupold said that termination of negotiations with Waste Management came became when it about byions that it would not be fruitful to continue, since Waste Management con-cluded that it would not involve itself in the type of equity structure for th ject that was required by the IDA."
