Hicksville High threw a blanket defense at South Side of Rockville Center Tuesday night, and hurdled into the third round of the Nassau County Basketball Tournament 70-49.

An evenly divided house of 1,000 fans at Hicksville, saw the Orange and Black sputter in the first quarter.

Seeded third in the championships behind undefeated Great Neck North and Hempstead, Hicksville broke a nagging press which fell back to a zone, to move against Wantagh.

The game is Saturday (tomorrow) at Roslyn High School, 1 p.m.

The South Side press was broken by the ball handling of Mike Magee, Dan Skarka and Dave Smyth.

Trailing by seven points mid-way in the second period, Coach Wayne Bryan's men clamped down on defense. Three clear side baskets by Bob Russo broke the Comets spell of erratic shooting. This bait was complimented by Skarka's two quick clean baskets.

Hicksville, in defending the home floor for a season unbeaten status, lead 26-24 at halftime.

Two of his rebounds in the second half, lead to sparkling baskets by Bill Cheslock after long passes from Magee.

Smyth-Skarka steals paced an 17-11 scoring third period and let Magee uncork a dandy long shot at the buzzer.

With 6:06 left a Smyth-Magee to Cheslock dunk electrified the Hicksville stands.

Time on the clock reduced slowly and with 4:55 remaining South Side was still eager to go to the races at 52-39.

Hicksville Water District Plans Long Island's First Air Stripping Plant

Special Budget Meetings

The Hicksville Board of Education has scheduled two special budget meetings for Tuesday and Wednesday, March 6 and 7, at 8 pm in the conference room of the Administration Building. These sessions will be devoted to careful examination of the proposed budget for the 1984-85 school year.

All interested residents are welcome to attend and observe the budget-building process while learning about this important aspect of school district operations.

A Moment Of Silence In Hicksville

As I sit here I shall think of

Many things, days gone by
Or those that are yet to come
Maybe I shall see
Even think of my fellowman
Needing my help in the future
To help save someones life

Or study harder to Find ways of

Stopping wars, finding new cures
In medicine and I shall think of
Loved ones, my family and friends
Even if they are of a different faith
New ideas shall enter my mind
Causing my moment of silence
Ever rewarding.

However, the voting itself will take place at the seven election districts, between the hours of noon and 10 pm on April 11.

Those registered will be

Those wishing to run for this seat must present a nominating petition signed by at least 25 qualified voters of this District. These petitions must be filed with the School District Clerk between the hours of 9 am and 5 pm on March 12.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Mrs. Noeth,

I have been reading in the Herald lately, the discussion about "silent meditation" in the schools and I have a few thoughts on the subject I would like to express.

My first thought is a picture of children who are not accustomed to prayer. What are they doing with that time? Probably they are pecking around to see what others are doing or fusing with things at their desks. For them it is a waste of time.

What about those who come from homes where they were taught prayer (usually at bed-time.) Even they, I think should have guidance as to what this silence is for and how they should use it.

Children learn first and best through example. How many of their parents begin their work day by prayer?

Prayer is, I think, a matter for home and church, and if it is practiced there, it is not of great importance if one more prayer is added to the day, though it is nice for those who wish it. But to me it should not be quarreled about. It is a very personal thing to many. In the schools I do not believe "prayer" necessarily means "silence."

I do hope that parents that feel strongly about it are teaching their children at home and possibly beginning their day at home with family prayer.

But let's not force it upon those that don't want it.

Prayerfully yours,
Harriet A. Spink

Dear Mrs. Noeth,

I have just sent a letter to Mr. Jay Schwartz and the members of the Hicksville School Board. It reads as follows:

I have been a member of the Hicksville community for over thirty-three (33) years. My children were educated in the district, and I oppose the ruling that the school board has made in regards to doing away with the moment of silence or meditation. How can you disregard the rest of the community by doing, and going along with one person's opinion. Since when do we have this sort of government and conduct in Hicksville.

I am sure you are all very surprised by the reaction of the citizens of this community and I think in the future you had all better take heed before making any more decisions.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Frances Simile

Dear Sheila,

Under normal circumstances, it is not good practice for Board of Education trustees to write letters to the editor regarding issues currently before the Board.

However, the decision we now face concerning the elimination of the period of silent meditation, is of such importance and has affected the community so deeply that I find it necessary to share my thoughts as a Board trustee and parent and community member with all of you.

For some reason this issue has become considerably distorted. At no time has the Board majority disagreed with the community regarding the value of prayer or meditation. We are deeply concerned just as you are over the fact that the moral fiber of our society has been eroded to the point where the traditional values we were raised with seem to be non-existent. Mr. Ayres and myself are practicing Christians, and Mrs. Rudin and Mr. Wolfson are active members of their synagogues. We all believe in the power and importance of prayer and respect and uphold the religious traditions. But the value of prayer is not the issue here. If it were we would all be together in this.

The issue is this: We are facing a lawsuit brought by the ACLU and a plaintiff parent in our district unless we remove the portion of our opening day exercise which allows for a period of silent prayer or meditation. At the present time, the courts are ruling that the words silent meditation or moment of silence have the same intent as prayer, and as you know the United States Supreme Court ruled against prayer in the public schools back in 1962. Our respected school district attorney, Mr. Joseph Campanella, who is an expert in such matters, has strongly advised us to withdraw the policy in question or face a costly court battle which he believes we are sure to lose.

In light of this legal advice it would be irresponsible for me as a Board trustee to vote in such a way as to put our community in legal jeopardy. In addition, the Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Catherine Fenton and staff have presented the Board with the projected School Budget which you will vote upon in June. This budget has the highest increase I can recall, well over $2.00 per one hundred dollars assessed valuation. On top of this projected increase we are facing a large cut in State Aid and we will have additional mandated costs when the Board of Regents proposals come through. We will have no choice regarding those proposals. It will be very difficult for our homeowners to face such increases. How can we heap additional costs for a no-win court case on top of all this? Remember, you and I as taxpayers will pay for this case no matter what the final costs are.

To those members of the community who firmly believe that prayer or meditation should have a place in our public schools, I submit that this is not the proper forum for getting results. It is idealistic but futile to proclaim, "Let's fight it even if we lose!"

It is only by initiating letter writing campaigns to your congressmen and senators and otherwise putting pressure on the federal government that your efforts may gain success.

In closing, may I take a plea for better understanding between all of us, no matter what our beliefs. We have worked too hard in Hicksville building up a caring community to see it divided, ironically over an issue involving prayer; for when it comes down to it we know that prayer is a profoundly personal thing between each one of us and our Maker.

Respectfully,
Honey Singer, Member
Hicksville Board of Education

Dear Mrs. Noeth:

I find myself needing to add my comments concerning your recent articles on the controversy of "Silent Prayer", which has been broached by a Mrs. Rubin.

Although, I no longer am a member of the Hicksville community my roots are still there, from Terry St., to W. John St., where I am employed at the Hicksville Post Office.

Having been educated at both parochial, (St. Ignatius) and Hicksville Jr. and Senior High Schools my thoughts return to me. We were taught to be both Proud to be an American and to give Thanks for what our parents had achieved in life, and what we were able to have.

I find it ironic that the board begins their session with a prayer, yet is willing to deny the students the same.

We print "In God we trust" on our money, and sing "God Bless America" on holidays and many of us begin each day acknowledging our Creator.

Prayer in school does not represent a threat to the separation of church and state rather it is in keeping with the beliefs and habits of the originators of the Constitution who themselves began by asking God's guidance.

To Mrs. Rubin, and other Hicksville residents that still have doubts ask the ten (10) families of the young men who were taught in the Hicksville School system, and gave their lives in VIETNAM. "I know, I was almost one of them."

Sincerely,
Robert L. Ordon

Dear Sheila:

The issue of the right of our students to "Meditate" at a prescribed time of day, is very basic, and is protected under our Bill of Rights, and the Constitution of the United States, and has been lost in the world of legality.

The central core of our issue, as it relates to our Policy is clear: 1 - We have a State Law that permits the free exercise of Silent Meditation. 2 - It has never been challenged in the courts, since its enactment in 1971.

3. The United States Supreme Court has not ruled on the constitutionality of Silent Prayer or Meditation, and no legal body or government, or school board, or board attorney, can act on behalf of the highest court in the land. And finally, as citizens of the United States NO ONE can prevent an adult or child the freedom to think, be it in a public school or public park.

A moment of prayer or meditation can be a powerful inner force for our children during the start of their school day, it is a good practice, an act of caring, an act of displaying reverence towards our Creator, an act of love and compassion for others - why stop a good practice in the face of a world that often rejects the values that we want our students to build on. We want our students to be tolerant towards others, practice brotherhood, the very things that the American Civil Liberties Union purports to DEFEND! In a material world that has gone crazy, with declining moral values, disrespect for authority, use of profanity, by some of our young students - must we now take away from our students the right to reflect and meditate on the good things of this world? Perhaps this is Hicksville's opportunity to turn the tide? and follow our example of starting the day with a meaningful practice.

Why not allow our community to VOTE on the acceptance or rejection of our policy on this issue? The public will not be deciding a legal question, for after all, we have a State Law that permits silent meditation, and the community will be letting the board of education know where they stand, and perhaps the Board will follow the wishes of the people that elected them?

I propose to make such a recommendation to my fellow board members, this coming Wednesday, February 29th, at the Senior High. And will also request that the Board Majority, Mr. Ayres, Mrs. Singer, Mrs. Rudin, and Mr. Wolfson, reconsider their June 13th annual vote. The people want to vote NOW, not June 13th. Our Board last year allowed two special propositions dealing with education to be placed on the ballot, and they, the Board, agreed, and the people voiced their opinion, and the people WON. perhaps, we can again use our democratic process, and WIN THIS ONE for our children and their teachers. COME TO OUR BOARD MEETING ON FEB. 29TH, at 8:15 P.M. at the Senior High School, AND VOICE YOUR OPINION.

Sincerely,
Bill Bennett
Member Board of Education.

Dear Mrs. Noeth:

Years ago, Hicksville won world fame for its efforts to find a legal way to acknowledge the importance of God and spirituality in its public schools. A Newsday writer.

did make fun of Hicksville in 1962, calling it the "Bible Belt" because its school Board tried to substitute a verse from the National Anthem when the U.S. Supreme Court banned the New York Regents' optional prayer from school morning exercises. But, I remember reading newspaper letters from all over the nation and the world praising that earlier Hicksville school board which put spiritual needs of children above any question of materialism or dubious constitutional law.

A generation later, the majority of Hicksville people still want "that old-time religion" to infuse and motivate our schools, even if it is only in the form of an optional moment of meditation as the school day starts. However, today's School Board majority-usually sensible leaders, responsive to the larger community's wishes and not reluctant to wisely spend school tax dollars, is making a morally and politically unwise stand against having to spend about twelve dollars of each resident's total school taxes to defend our present Board policy of having a "moment of meditation", in the Courts against the doctrinaire American Civil Liberties Union!

It is not too late for the School Board to rescind its recent ban on "meditation" and, if necessary, let it be defended by the Board's highly paid and successful school attorney. It is not too late for Hicksville to retain its outstanding reputation as a village of spiritual, tolerant and courageous people.

Name Withheld
Upon Request

I am outraged by Mr. Bennett's letter which appeared in your paper last week, as well as your "Alice in Wonderland" editorial comment. To clarify the issue, WE DID NOT CHANGE THE BUDGET VOTE DATE. WE ESTABLISHED THE DATE, SELECTING ONE OF SEVERAL OPTIONS WE HAD ASKED FOR!

Mr. Bennett accused Mr. Ayres, Mrs. Singer, Mr. Wolfson and me of, "derailing a very sound, carefully prepared educational plan for 1984-85," by selecting June 13th for the Annual Budget Vote.

Balderdash! Our stand on June 13th took into account the following:

1. The proposed budget reflects a $2.14 INCREASE, the HIGHEST in Hicksville's history. It needs line-by-line review. When we bring it to the community we should be confident that it is as cost efficient as possible. To do that we need ALL the information necessary to make intelligent decisions. As present, for example, we have NOT received the complete staffing needs for next year.

2. Assemblymen Yevoli and Parola in letters dated 1/27/84 and 1/30/84 notified us that we are in jeopardy of LOSING 5.13% of our current State Aid. This could add an ADDI-TIONAL 37¢ to the budget figure, or would have to be taken from programs or staff.

3. The Regent's Proposals will be finalized in late March - early April. Any proposals that are mandated for next year would impact on the budget.

4. June has been the month for our budget votes in 9 of the past 12 years WITHOUT harming our educational system.

For a man who claims to be a fiscal conservative, who believes in a line-by-line approach to the budget, why is Mr. Bennett in such a rush to railroad this budget through? I believe there ARE reasons, but that they are POLITICAL in nature rather than EDUCATIONAL.

When elected, I promised to see to it that budget brochures reached the community in a timely manner, and

Galileo Lodge News

By Joe Lorenzo

VENERABLE SKIP MONTEFORTE'S MESSAGE: "The longest journey in the world starts with the first step." Old Saying.

The old adage always holds true, that nothing succeeds like success and last Saturday night was no exception, for that was the night when the Galileo Lodge held its Valentine's Day Dance. Over 240 people attended, eating and dancing to their hearts' content. Tony Sica conducted this activity in fine fashion and was ably assisted by many members of our Lodge and the Ladies Auxiliary. A note of thanks to all these hard-working members from our Venerable Skip Monteforte.

Spring is such a beautiful time of the year that I would imagine we all eagerly look forward to its arrival, and with it's arrival, or in close proximity, is the Galileo Lodge's St. Joseph's Dance, scheduled for Saturday, the 17th of March. Tickets will sell at $12.50 per person, and in the offering will be a delicious hot dinner, coffee and cake, beer, soda, set-ups, and some very nice dance music to get your feet moving as well as your bodies. Tickets will be on sale very soon and a committee will also be named in a very short time. Note also that "zeppoli", a cake delicacy associated with St. Joseph's Day will also be included in the dinner, so keep attuned with the events listed in this column and for further details.

Newly-elected officers of the Galileo Lodge for the year 1984 are as follows: Venerable, Peter Massiello; 1st. Assistant Venerable, Joe Giordano; 2nd Assistant Venerable, Peter Sarandrea; Ex-Venerable, Carmine Monteforte; Orator, Joe Lo Presti; Recording Secretary, Rocco Lombardo; Financial Secretary, John Keiper; Treasurer, James Posillico; Trustee: Armand Del Cioppo, Pat Gatto, Frank Matassa, Joe Morace, Anthony Sica, Fred Vevante, John Sarrera. A Good Luck wish to all these dedicated officers of the Galileo Lodge.

LODGE TIDBITS: Nice to see Mr. and Mrs. Jack and Rose Riccardi back at the Lodge after an extended months trip to California to visit their families. Nice to hear the report that our Lodge's basement recreation area is almost near completion. Thanks to the members who worked so hard to get this big job done.

OPERATION V.F.W.

By P.P.C. Carmine A. Somma

We at the V.F.W. Post in Hicksville are very concerned with Fraternal and Community Organization in the Hicksville area about the "Moment of Silence in the School. Those who attended the meeting were P.P.C. Joe Normandy Sr. Vice Comdr. Tony Chapak, William Bennett and Jerome O'Brien from our Post. We, as a veterans Organization in Hicksville are in favor of having the "Moment of silence" in the Hicksville School. Those of us who went to the schools in New York City remember that there was some kind of prayer or moment of silence for our men and women who were in the armed forces during WWII. We prayed that they would come home safe and we prayed for peace around the world. We all remember President F.D. Roosevelt who in all his speeches mentioned "God".

On Feb. 13, at the V.F.W. Hall we had our 37th Annual Voice of Democracy Awards Nite. Our Dept Comdr. Ralph Demarco Presented the first Awards to Donna Fitzgerald from Holy Trinity H.S.

Congressman Norman F. Lent made a presentation to Patricia Chapak daughter of our Sr. Vice Comdr. Our Comdr. Mike Cialdella give first place to Kristen Mund from Old Country School. Pres. of our Auxiliary Eleanor Gerlach made a second place presentation to Kenneth Klein of Dutch Lane School.

Sig Widder made the third place presentation to Thomas Mauro of Willet Ave School.

Special Achievement Awards was given out by Comdr. Tony Capone N.C.C.V.F.W. Pres of the Auxiliary N.C.C.V.F.W. Joanna Morgan, Town Clerk Ann Ocker, Councilman Tom Clark, T.O.B. Judge Jeery Dempsey.

The other school and students participating were Burns Ave. School (Patrick Grecco, and Jennifer Grecco), Dutch Lane School (Tom Witting & Andrea Zuzzolo), James Hundermark, Carolyn Weber, Holy Family School (Meagan Ryan & Beth Skarka), Lee Ave. School (Michelle Eger Janet Sullivan), Our Lady of Mercy (Emily Jean Schmidtmann & Mike Clark), Trinity Lutheran School (Kevin DePaola & Troy Pieper), Willet Ave School (Mike Plemann Shipra Patel), Woodland Ave School (Keyy Kinsella Andrea Love Kathy O'Grady Dierdre Liquor), Holy Trinity H.S. Marie Colreavy & Virginia Mc Carthy Alicia O'Mara Stephanke Meier, Vivica Mitchell John Mc Kenna, Walter Wolf, Salvatore Galanye, Thomas Magiacapre and Lisa Adams.

We would like to thank the school, and teachers and all who has helped to make this program a success.

Mr. Philip Provost (Dutch Lane School); Mr. H. Smith (Dutch Lane); Mrs. Pfizenmayer (Lee Ave); Mr. Starns & Mr. Buchel (Woodland Ave); Mrs. D.

Phillips (Willet Ave.); Mrs. M. Daur (St. Ignatius Loyola); Mrs. S. Rand (Holy Trinity); Mrs. Kearns Hicksville Sr. High; Miss J. Wells & Mrs. M. Michaels (Old Country School); Mrs. T. Wells (Burns Ave); Mrs. Madden, Mr. S. Archacki, Mrs. Keegan; (Holy Trinity Diocesan), Sister P. Saunders Holy Family Miss V. Roten; Our Lady of Mercy Mrs. Scott.

Our next Las Vegas night is set for March 10. On that night one half of the nights proceeds will be donated to the Central Location & Modifying for the L.I. Nat. Cemetery.

On May 12 we will give one half of the night's proceeds to the Special Olympics Fund.

Our condolences to P.P.C. Frank Lotti and his wife Lucy on the passing of Lucy's mother, Margerita Nardo. Speedy recovery to comrades and sisters and their families who have been hospitalized or ill during the month Sr. Vice Pres. Louise Normandy Carolann Fullerton and Post Member Art Hirsch. Congratulations to P.P.C. Mike Znack becoming a "Grandpa". Good luck Mike.

Weddings Are Wonderful, But They Take Planning

By Mary J. Morgan

Researched by Valerie Pakaluk

Weddings are big trouble. They take time and money to plan--plus the tact of a diplomat, the strategy of a general and the forbearance of a saint.

But weddings are also fun! Not fun like reading a good book down at the pool. More like jumping off the highboard or completing six laps instead of the usual two.

The word perhaps is exhilarating. We see a risk taken--for the joining of a man and a woman is always risky business. But the risk is overcome by love, the trust and affection of two people, one for the other. How attractive it is to see, how it evokes in us kindred feelings of tenderness and joy! Is it so surprising that weddings, with all their work and cost, are more popular than ever?

Still, romantic though they are, weddings do have a practical side. A number of steps must certainly be taken to prepare for this important day. Here are a few pointers we hope the prospective bride and groom will find useful:

THE WEDDING DATE

If the wedding is to take place in a church or other house of worship it is advisable to consult with the clergyman at least one year ahead of time. At that meeting the couple can find what dates are open and the options for a morning or afternoon ceremony. An appointment can also be made for instructions, in the case of an inter-faith marriage. Should a civil ceremony be contemplated (before a justice of the peace or a judge), the time requirement is less stringent.

THE RECEPTION

Couples are advised to give themselves at least one to one and a half years prior notice if they have a specific date and time in mind. January and February are slow months. May, June and September are very busy wedding months for caterers. Friday nights are being chosen by some people due to the heavy demand for Saturday and Sunday.

Home or hall catering requires at least four months' notice. Parties can be arranged from the simple champagne cocktail at $7.50 per person to $30.00 per person for prime rib dinners. Most will supply everything except the priest, pastor or rabbi. They boast that time is not limited. A party can last over five hours since they set up a buffet table before the staff leaves the affair. Most will travel anywhere. Distance is not a factor.

GOWNS

The bride-to-be should start looking six months to a year prior to the wedding date. Her mother or a trusted friend should accompany her. Many girls have an idea of what they would like or they bring along a magazine clipping. The wedding gown is chosen first. Then the bridesmaids' dresses are selected and members of the bridal party are asked to come to the bridal salon for their opinions and fittings. The average price of a wedding gown today is several hundred dollars and the cost may reach $1000. A bridesmaid's dress is $100 or more.

MEN'S DRESS

Greys are very popular this year. They are available in five to six varying shades. The wedding party should start looking at least six weeks before the date. The couple should make the selection and then bring in the rest of the party at a later date for fittings. Technically, the fathers are not part of the wedding party. Most tuxedo outfitters will advise the fathers to coordinate their colors with the mother of the bride or groom.

FLOWERS

They should be ordered after the bride chooses her gown and those of the bridesmaids. She may bring along swatches of material in order to get matching colors. One month's notice is appreciated by florists; however, rush orders can usually be accommodated. This year, colors are bolder. Some brides are choosing navy and black with a free, natural look. Tied bouquets are popular.

MUSIC

Most houses of worship say traditional music continues to be the most popular. They advise that the music should have some relevance to their faith commitment. Musical arrangements should be firmed up at least two weeks prior to the date. However, if special requests are made the musician should be allowed time to obtain, practice and feel comfortable playing it. Trumpet voluntaries are big favorites. One church is playing music from West Side Story, "One Hand, One Heart" at a wedding scheduled. Couples usually know what they want because they have a favorite song or have heard the music at another wedding. Music directors will play samples if there are any doubts.

CAKES

Cakes need at least three days' notice. Everything goes well, from fudge to coffee cake. Lemon is popular in cake, strawberry in filling. Ornaments are available in various sizes and price ranges. There is a delivery charge. The cost can be figured at approximately $1.10 per person.

HONEYMOONS

Bermuda and the Islands continue to rank high. Aruba and Cancun, Mexico are coming up. A booking should be made when the wedding date is set. The longest honeymoons are one month and they usually combine business and pleasure.

LIMOUSINE

Early reservations are advised for spring and summer months since most limousine services do an extremely heavy prom business. Cars in all styles and colors are available. The driver is included in the charge for a car.

PHOTOGRAPHER

The couple should look for a photographer who is established and has a studio. A good photographer is busy and arrangements should be completed well in advance of the wedding date. Photographers specialize in candid wedding photos, they should stay in the background, not mingle, but still get their shots. Most will dress according to the occasion. A professional will not arrive in a sport shirt at a formal affair. You can expect the proofs in about two weeks time after the wedding. The order, depending on the placement date, can be expected to arrive within two months.

Furnish it with flair

By Debra Cooper

"Once you've found him, build your world around him" is the way the song goes. Now that you're getting married and decorating your first home, the lyrics have a new meaning.

If you're like most newlyweds, you're setting up housekeeping with a hodgepodge of possessions — his old studio couch, your teenage bedroom suite — supplemented by whatever was in the attic that nobody else wanted. Not exactly House Beautiful material.

Begin by getting rid of everything you loathe. There's no point in decorating around hand-me-down monstrosities, so donate the flamingo-pink formica dinette to the local thrift shop.

Then sit down together and look at decorating books and magazines. It's the best way to discover what both of you like and dislike — colors, furniture styles, window treatments. It's also a lot easier and less expensive to remove the cabbage rose wallpaper from your decorating plan than it is from the wall.

Tom Burak, fashion director of Pennsylvania House, advises planning the entire room at one time. "You should decide on the furniture, the color scheme, the carpeting and the fabrics even if you can't afford to do it all at once. You can begin with the basics and then add pieces as you go along. But the room will look pulled together from the start," Burak says.

He also recommends buying traditional, classic designs that never go out of style. "Buy from a company that makes a fine-quality collector's line. It will have continuity through the years and, as your income and living space grow, you can add new pieces," he says.

For your first living room, start with a sofa and two side chairs. Together they create a comfortable conversation grouping — and you can purchase the matching loveseat later. Select a coffee table in the style and wood you like best.

Chances are your dining area is an alcove or part of the living room. If so, a small round or oval table, a drop leaf or flip-top console are all good possibilities. Choose the chairs with a mind to using them in the living room when necessary. Chairs upholstered in a coordinate of your living room fabric make this transition gracefully.

In today's smaller bedroom you might consider a chest-on-chest, armoire, mule chest or highboy to provide more storage than a traditional dresser while taking up about the same amount of floor space.

There are a few other things to keep in mind. "Since you're just starting out, you're probably inhabiting less-spacious quarters than you hope to in the future," Burak notes. "To make sure you're buying furniture that will grow with you, evaluate each piece for flexibility."

HOME WEDDINGS

Planning one? Don't do it!

By Marie Doty

Let us consider the planning of a home wedding.

My advice is: Don't!

Offhand, I can't think of anything more fraught with work, confusion, anxiety, panic — not to mention expense — than a home wedding.

I'm convinced that only children with an innate desire to see their parents cry ever have weddings at home.

My youngest daughter's wedding was planned down to the last detail. However, we made some tactical errors.

I decided to give our two bathrooms a final cleaning rather than watch the rehearsal. Advice to the mother-of-the-bride: to beck with bathrooms. Go to the rehearsal.

As it turned out, I was not the only one missing. My husband was still milking, one of the bride's brothers (and usher) was running errands while the other brother-usher was waiting at a train station for a bridesmaid.

"I guess we're lucky you could be here," the minister told the bride and groom with a sigh.

Later, he asked my daughter, "What kind of flowers are you and your bridesmaids carrying?"

"None," she said.

"Oh! Well... ah... er... a simple wedding is nice."

What she didn't tell him — because she wanted to surprise her husband-to-be — was she and the three attendants were carrying parasols. The ceremony was planned for a garden area where roughly 3,000 pink petunias were planted, so at the florist's suggestion she wore only a single camel-lia on her hat.

Advice to the bride: It's OK to surprise the groom but it's a mistake to surprise the minister.

Five minutes before the ceremony was scheduled, I sent our youngest son down to ring the ship's bell. I figured five minutes was just enough time for the guests, who were wandering around the farm, to be seated.

What neither my son nor I realized — because we had not been at the rehearsal — was that it had been decided to ring the bell just as the bride and her attendants arrived in the garden area. And the Arriving In The Garden was to have been preceded by:

- The vocalist's first song and,
- The entrance of the minister, groom, best man and groomsmen.

It's hard to say who was the most surprised when the bell rang: the wasps, who had built a nest inside the bell; our son, who had to run for his life when all those very cross wasps swarmed out; the groom and entourage, who thought the bride was on her way; the bride and bridesmaids, who thought they had somehow missed the entrance of the men, or the minister, who was just driving in as the bell sounded and thought the entire wedding had started without him.

The ushers hustled the groom's parents and me down the aisle in nothing flat.

I sat smiling and nodding to all the guests who were still trotting up breathlessly. However, I was having a problem with the soloist who kept asking, "Shall I start now?"

Shaking her off, I waited for the minister and groom to show up at the sundial... er, altar. They were still huddled out in the bushes.

Turning to the nearest guest, I hissed, "Tell the minister we're ready to start. Pass it along."

When the message reached the lilacs, the minister meekly trudged in, followed by four thoroughly confused young men.

The vocalist, deciding it was now or never, leaped to her feet and with a nod to the accompanist, launched into the first song. Up at the house, the bride, my husband and the bridesmaids, who couldn't hear a thing, saw the groom and minister waiting and came out to meet them.

As it turned out, all the guests thought it was a lovely innovation to have the wedding procession while the vocalist sang. We did not tell them the organist had to scrap his professional.

Then there was the matter of the parasols. The groom looked surprised, all right.

The minister appeared stunned.

My daughter and her bridesmaids had practiced lowering the parasols in unison. Reaching the sundial — altar — they smartly whipped the parasols down and closed them in one smooth motion.

Only fancy footwork saved the minister from being gored in the eye by the brides' descending parasol.

"It was a beautiful wedding... so well organized," several guests told us. "But is the minister well? He was trembling."

The Statistics Of Weddings

Weddings recorded in 1983 in Nassau County -
Town of Hempstead 6805 (highest month August with 927)
Town of N. Hempstead 1881
Town of Oyster Bay 1507

N. Hempstead and Oyster Bay do not keep monthly totals. The highest months for issuance of licenses are May, June on the average. Figures have been going up steadily over the past few years.

The couple must bring blood test results to Marriage License Dept. where a license is issued. The officiating person at the wedding must complete the form and return to the town for filing within 5 days after ceremony.

The local Villages do not issue any marriage licenses, nor does the county, only the townships. However, the Village Mayors, by recent state law, may perform marriages.

PARENTS OF THE GROOM

There's more to it now

By Maria Marchese

Every bride's family once considered a daughter property until marriage. And since the wedding festivities symbolized the last claim they could make on her, all the pleasures and responsibilities involved belonged to them.

With today's spirit of equality, this is no longer the case. Marriage now is seen as a joining of two people, with both families — the groom's and the bride's — free to share in sponsoring the celebration.

As with all new roles, this is bound to cause some confusion. If your son is getting married, you may not know how to get more involved. Barbara Tober, Bride's magazine editor in chief, says to "talk it over with the bride and groom and see what they'd like you to do." Following are some possibilities.

To begin with, don't neglect to carry out the one tradition that always has been the province of the groom's family — initiating a first meeting with the bride's family. This could be at your home or at a restaurant, over dinner or cocktails — whatever you like. Of course, you may be acquainted already. But if you're not, your graciousness can get things off to a good start.

A wedding planning task you might want to assume is assisting out-of-town guests. Many probably will be your relatives and friends anyway, since most weddings are held in the bride's hometown.

It would be helpful for you to send them a list of nearby hotels. Or, if possible, you might reserve a block of rooms. You also could mail ahead a packet including road directions and ideas on where to eat and what to see and do in the area, in case guests plan to make a long weekend of it.

Though customs vary in different parts of the country, it's becoming more and more common for the groom's family to give the traditional dinner following the ceremony rehearsal.

Don't let the name fool you — a rehearsal dinner doesn't have to be a "dinner." It can be any gathering that suits your style — a barbecue or picnic, cocktails or simple coffee and dessert. It's a good idea to check with the bride's family on whom to invite and what time is best.

Perhaps another contribution you could make is to assume some of the reception expenses. "There's a definite trend toward the groom's family sharing in the expenses," Tober says.

The trend is based in part on practical economic considerations. The average cost of a wedding runs about $4,500. "But," Tober says, "it's at least as much the result of a new attitude that asks why shouldn't the groom's family be more involved in the wedding of their son?"

Selection, use and care

By Dean Carroll

The silver you receive for wedding gifts can be a beautiful reminder of the commitment you made together — why store it away? Using your silver on a daily basis also adds festivity and joy to simple meals.

Most couples don't know that the more silver is used the better it looks, developing a wonderful patina over time. But be sure to rotate place settings for even wear.

Cleaning silver needn't be the big chore imagined by most newlyweds. Veronica Williams, consumer consultant for Reed and Barton Silversmiths, says: "Hot water can't harm silver. In fact, the more you wash it, the less it will tarnish and the less you'll have to polish. Most silver flatware and casseroles can go in the dishwasher. Ask your silver salesperson to be sure."

When you wash silver be sure to have clean, dry towels on hand for immediate drying to avoid spotting.

To make sure you get the silver you really want, register at your favorite store. "To choose your brand," Williams advises, "compare prices, weight, balance and craftsmanship. Hold pieces in your hand — are edges smooth, designs finely finished?"

"Look for 'sterling' stamped on the back. This indicates the piece conforms to U.S. government standards," she says.

When it comes time to polish your silver wedding gifts, use liquid or creams from reputable companies. Avoid chemical dips. Williams recommends using gentle, lengthwise strokes.

"Polish the ornate and intricate pieces first," she suggests. "Don't worry about every curve and crevice of pattern. Polish the ornate pieces just as you do the simple ones, without rubbing. The dark shadowing left behind will define the sculptural beauty of the pattern."

To store silver not used or displayed every day, find a spot away from the open air like a closet, cabinet or chest. Place each piece in a tarnish-proof flannel bag or a specially coated fabric case. Don't use rubber bands to close storage bags. Rubber contains sulfur, which causes tarnish.

Williams suggests displaying your silver wedding gifts in a buffet with glass doors. "A buffet is the perfect place to spotlight your silver pieces while protecting them. When lighted from below, all the gleaming curves really show. At the same time you will enhance the look of your dining room with gifts that always will remind you of that special day."

WEDDING GOWNS

Here today, heirlooms tomorrow

By Carol Roberts

This spring, thousands of brides will be going into bridal stores to purchase their wedding gowns. They may not be one-time purchases, for many women pass their wedding gowns on from generation to generation.

If you want your gown to last for several generations to become an heirloom, you must choose the right fabric and take proper care of it. Bill Seitz, executive director of The Neighborhood Cleaners' Association, has some tips for brides-to-be.

According to Seitz, "Silk is extremely delicate and requires special care. Perspiration as well as anti-perspirants will stain and deteriorate the fabric."

"If you wear silk," advises Seitz, "use a quick-drying anti-perspirant and underarm dress shields. Do not put on your gown until your anti-perspirant has dried."

"Rayon," says Seitz, "also is used for wedding gowns. But rayon's sizing may be removed from liquid spillage or during the cleaning process. It is extremely difficult to replace because of the intricate tailoring of most wedding gowns."

So what materials are recommended for that all-important wedding gown? Cotton, nylon, polyester, acetate or blends of these fibers are far easier to care for and preserve than either silk or rayon.

Seitz recommends that you take your gown to a cleaner as soon after the wedding as possible. If you do that, you won't give stains a chance to set.

When it comes time to store your gown, do not put it in a plastic bag, for the gown will retain moisture and invite mildew and atmospheric fading. Many dry cleaners can prevent this by placing the garment in a special bridal gown box and sealing it. At home, keep the box in a cool, dry area.

If you do this, "in years to come, when marriage is again in the air, your heir may be putting on your well-preserved heirloom," Seitz says.

TRADITION Modern couples opt for older ways

By Jan Jennings

Interested in a romantic wedding laced with all the traditional trappings?

Following are some pertinent facts gathered from bridal shop owners and managers, tuxedo rental managers, a bridal registry, brides and bridegrooms:

THE BRIDAL GOWN

Bridal shop prices range from a low of slightly less than $200 to $1,500. Average expenditure is $500 to buy a wedding dress.

There is no one particular look, but popular features include a low waist, off-the-shoulder neckline, puff sleeves, long cathedral train, full skirt, lots of lace and beads. Taffeta and satin are particularly big.

"Most brides are in their mid-to late 20s and have careers," said the manager of one bridal shop. "They like a storybook look."

According to another shop manager, many brides are paying for their gowns themselves, so are budget conscious.

BRIDESMAIDS' DRESSES

Prices average from $80 to $100 to buy a full-length gown. Styles vary. A popular color is lavender.

Most weddings average five to eight attendants, in contrast to two to three in recent years.

THE BRIDEGROOM

Tuxedo rentals average slightly less than $50. Shoe rental for groomsmen is another $8. According to the owner of a tuxedo shop, about 75 percent of bridegrooms wear tails with their groomsmen in tuxedos.

"The bridegroom coordinates color with the bride's dress," the owner said. "A popular color for groomsmen's tuxedos has been a silver tone."

Modern etiquette authority Charlotte Ford in her "Book of Modern Manners" acknowledges the trend today for bridegrooms "to want to look as festive and dazzling as the bride."

"Cutaway coats and tails are being replaced by ruffled colored shirts and variously styled Edwardian jackets or tailcoats in a wide variety of colors," Ford notes.

According to a major department store manager, couples continue to register for practical gift items such as china and silver and traditional housewares.

DISCOVERY

Humphrey Robot--To The Rescue

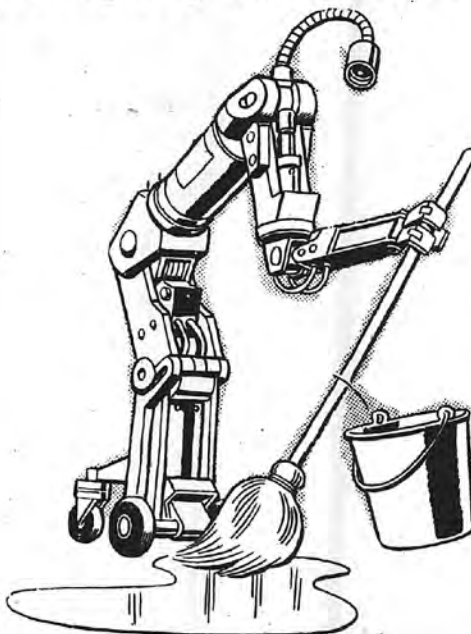

SEE PAGE TWO

DISCOVERY

Humphrey Robot--To The Rescue

THE ROBOTS HAVE ARRIVED

The American Crafts Museum is the home of "The Robot Exhibit" and robotophiles will have an opportunity to meet Topo, Robert the Robot, Tot and Punk Robot.

Topo talks. Tot can guard your home, vacuum your rug and speak to you in German, Spanish, or any other language for which he is programmed. Tot can also vacuum a carpet and move on his four-wheel-drive "legs".

HOWEVER, none of the robots do windows!

By Marjorie Wolfe

In Maine lingo, I'm known as a scurryfunge--a person who does a "hasty tidying of the house between the time I see a neighbor coming and the time she knocks on the door." My husband, tired of being a "henhussy" (a sexist term for a man who does housework) decided to enlist the aid of a robot. He dialed (212) GET-HELP and within hours, UPS delivered Robot Redford, a 135 pound, $5,000 hi-tech robot with a Star Wars body.

As he entered the living room, the voice-activated system said, "Hello, Wolfe gang. My name is Robot Redford, but you can call me 'RR' for short. I can climb stairs, vacuum, dust, mix drinks, make bunk beds, search a shag rug for loose change, BUT...I DON'T DO WINDOWS."

"You don't do windows? Well, in that case, RR, you won't do." "That's OK," said RR, "Your home has so many windows and skylights that I would probably get cross pollution anyway."

The next day B.O.B. arrived. B.O.B. is an acronym for "Brains On Board" or "Brain On Body." He resembled something out of a science fiction movie--a squat 3-foot critter, manufactured by Androbot, Inc. Carefully wiping his feet on the mat, B.O.B. proceeded to ride around on two obliquely mounted wheels. His control panel began to operate and with his synthesized speech said, "I can help you with the cooking, entertain the kids, and even bring you a cold beer." With that he went to the refrigerator and removed a can of Matt's premium beer. He polished off the contents of the can, gulped down a second one, and rapidly consumed a third.

"B.O.B., I think you've had enough," I said.

"Oh, beer is about all I can drink or I get asthma and people think I'm passionate."

Much to my disappointment, B.O.B. had a drinking problem and subsequently developed "Beer drinker's finger," a malady described in the Journal of American Medical Association as the swelling of one's finger as a result of pulling the rings of pop-top beer cans. In addition, he was unable to help my 16-year-old solve these SAT practice questions:

Topo: Glutton:

- a) stout : thin
- b) thin : stout
- c) drinking : eating
- d) eating : drinking

Foam : Beer ::

- a) surf : ocean
- b) straw : soda
- c) glass : liquid
- d) snow : water
- e) grain : alcohol

Next came Merlin, who could put a needle seven one-thousandths of an inch wide through another needle's eye that is nine one-thousandths of an inch wide without touching the sides. Unfortunately, Merlin couldn't distinguish Hallmark paper plates from fine china, and disposed of my Lenox china, service for 12.

Then HERO arrived--direct from California's San Fernando Valley--y'know. Just one foot tall, he could play "Ringolevio" and "Dungeons & Dragons." He could even detect the beginning of "sneakerosis." However, after one week of "Grody to the max!, Fer sure!", and "Gag me with a Spoon," he was "like totally" replaced.

After six months of searching for a household robot, my husband awarded me the "Good Spousekeeping Seal of Approval" and bought me two gifts: A 16" x 21" poster which reads:

HEALY'S LAW

Keep your housework done and clean and shiny and you will never have company;
but let your housework go one day and the doorbell will never stop ringing.

and a $5.95 Humphrey Robot. Three-dimensional and standing 12 inches high, the robot comes with a cutout wardrobe that turns into a butler, doctor, business executive, vacationer or trench-coated Robot Bogart.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Marjorie Wolfe lives in Syosset. She is a business teacher in Plainview-Old Bethpage High School, and a robotophile. She can be found at "The Robot Exhibit" at the American Craft Museum in Manhattan--looking for a robot who does windows.

Most Input Callers Favor Silent Moment In School

Most callers to Input believe that there should be a moment of silence in schools in answer to this question: "Hicksville School Dist. is being challenged by the ACLU on retaining a rule mandating a moment of silence each morning in schools. Do you think the District should continue the policy?"

GOING TOO FAR

I think the Hicksville School District's policy of mandating a moment of silence each morning in schools is constitutional. The First Amendment says that the Congress shall make no law respecting the establishment of religion or prohibiting the exercise thereof. As long as no one is coerced into praying during this moment of silence, people are free to stand and meditate about their day or problems, or say a prayer. There's nothing wrong with that. In this day and age I think we're going too far in the other direction of preventing people from praying and limiting people's civil rights. Also this would help instill discipline requiring everyone to stand. If a child did not agree he could always leave the room or be seated. I'm sure the district would not force anyone if their parents gave permission for them to abstain. The same is true of the Pledge of Allegiance. Unfortunately, we're going the wrong way. We don't discipline enough. Discipline is sorely lacking in teenage youth who are getting high on drugs, alcohol and smoking pot before school and there is very little control. I don't think the silent meditation is unconstitutional and I think the ACLU should stay out of the affair and help the poor blacks and whites and Mexican Americans down south who could use their help rather than meddling in Hicksville school affairs. J.M.

PRINCIPLES

When I was a child, I can remember a fight or two that I got into where I knew I would lose, but I fought anyway because I knew I was right. We have here the same situation. The Hicksville School Board refuses to fight for the Moment of Silence because they are sure they will lose. Does anybody stand by principles anymore? Secondly, if Mrs. Rubin's child has a right not to have a moment of silence, doesn't my child have the same right to have the moment of silence. The Hicksville Board should reflect the feelings of the community. They should take a popular vote and do as the community wishes. E.B.

NO RIGHT

No. In Hicksville they have mandated that the meditation should be for prayer and no school has the right to tell someone when they should be praying. J.R.

NO STANDARDS

Yes, I think the Hicksville School District should continue the Moment of Silence. Thanks to the ACLU we have no standards whatsoever. The ACLU is bringing upon us anarchy of every kind.

WATCH DOGS

If there is one thing I am sure I don't need, it's the ACLU who have designated themselves as the watchdog ostensibly to guard the precious liberties of all Americans. Their intrusion into the Hicksville decision to retain the daily moment of silence in its schools is symptomatic of their own biased judgement as to what does and does not constitute a violation of the rights and liberties of all American citizens, ignoring the fact that an essential part of education is to give our students the right and ability to learn to form their own opinions. In my own view, I see no reason to discontinue the mandated moment of silence. Hopefully, it will give the students an opportunity to start the day in brief and private communion with their particular deity and if not that, at the worst a few thoughts of self-appraisal and resolve toward self-improvement. Obviously, the ACLU have visions of an enforcement of religious views on the pliable minds of unsuspecting children and possibly even an eventual enlargement of the sixty seconds into something more insidious. In my view, the decision is up to the Hicksville parents as in the final analysis, they are the ones who will exert their efforts toward the full and profitable utilization of the time their children spend at school including the moment of silence. P.G.S.

GODLESS SOCIETY

I think the district should continue the policy. I cannot understand why the American Civil Liberties Union is spending so much trouble trying to make this a Godless society. The Constitution does not say it is a Godless society! It says that no religion shall be established by the state. There is a big difference between the two.

AGAINST PRAYER

I am definitely against prayer in the school. I believe there should be separation of church and state. And I don't believe praying or God will make better students of our children at all. J.T.

LONG TIME

Yes, I believe the school district should continue its practice of a Moment of Silence. It has been around since 1962 and prior to that a Regents prayer was said and that goes back to 1951. It is a Hicksville School District tradition to start the day with the Pledge of Allegiance to our flag as a sign of respect for our heritage and followed by a moment of meditation. The child can use this moment as a tribute to God, to their families, to their inner feelings about themselves or others. It is a private matter between the child and their thoughts. No one has a right to take that away. B.B.

ORGANIZED GROUP

There is no question that those who want school prayer in school are organized and not individual representatives of the people at large. Proof that the family is not praying and observing together is lack of respect, behavior and attitude. This starts at home and is followed through in the school. We need this legal money to help police and organize organizations like youth councils to remedy behavior problems like drugs and community responsibility. I have seen the results of organizations of this sort. I have never seen the results of a moment of silent prayer in school surrounding, whether it be in dress, behavior, respect to the adult community and even in the attendance at synagogue or church. A.A.G.

EXCELLENT FISH

The Surfside Restaurant is a new one in New Hyde Park. It is one of the finest fish restaurants to come on the scene in a long time. There are all varieties of fish and all very fresh. You can have flounder, sole or lobster tails and it will all be delicious as our party of four found out last week. In addition they have a regular meat menu all well prepared and great.

We think the decor is nice at the Surfside and the price is fair for such good service and food. We recommend it to your readers. T.G.

COMPLETE SALAD BAR

If you have readers who want a really full meal, steer them to the Steer Barn. We went there last Saturday and although it is somewhat crowded it turned out to be one of the best restaurant parties we have had.

The great thing about the Steer Barn is that it has a really complete salad bar including shrimp and now fresh peeled oranges. The meal includes soup and of course bread.

The entrees range from Italian fish dishes through veal and beef. It is really great and the price is moderate. G.H.

Restaurant Guide

If you have Questions about etiquette or dining out you may call them in to WE 1-0027 and we will find the answer.

Recently, when four of us were dining out - two married couples - one of the husbands left the table for a few minutes. The remaining husband, left with his wife and the wife of the other, lit the cigarette first of his friend's wife, then of his own. His wife felt that as her escort he should have lit her cigarette first. Which is correct? R.T.

As one woman was left alone, the husband and wife remaining are, in effect, her host and hostess for the moment. Therefore it was correct for the remaining husband to light the guest's cigarette first, then his wife's.

Recently I was a guest at a club luncheon in a restaurant. Accidentally, I overturned my tomato juice. What was the right thing to do? The waiter didn't see the accident immediately. T.L. A waiter seeing such an accident would immediately change the cloth, or if that was impossible at a long table, would spread a clean napkin over the spilled food. As the waiter did not do this because he was busy elsewhere, at a large luncheon you could have spread a napkin over the spot yourself, without undue discussion of the incident. Everyone occasionally has things like this happen.

What do you do with the wrapper on a lump of sugar when you are dining out in a restaurant? Do you put it on the tablecloth, in the saucer of your cup, or in the ash tray? A.M. This is one of those things for which there is no real rule. You just use common sense. I would say put it on the tablecloth, for if you put it in the ash tray it may start a fire, and if you put it in the saucer it may cause the cup to tip over when you put it back in the saucer.

ALWAYS GOOD

Lauraine Murphy's is a restaurant that we have gone to for many years and it never lets us down. Last Saturday we had a short wait for a table but found that it was once again worth it. The fine friendly service was still there. The popover was warm when served and the food, a prime ribs entree and an entree of scallops, was deliciously cooked and was fresh. The atmosphere in Lauraine Murphy's is enhanced by the strolling singers who serenade tables on various nights. Your readers should like this one as we do. Thank you for giving us the change to be a 'critic'.

READER RATINGS
FRIENDLY, EXCELLENT

My family visited the Rex II Restaurant on a week night recently and found it had a warm, friendly atmosphere and excellent service. It was quite busy the night we were there so reservations might be a good idea.

Complimentary garlic bread with melted cheese was served while we were waiting to be served. My children were delighted by this extra treat! My husband and I were delighted by the children's menu (for youngsters under 12), in which smaller portions were served for a smaller price.

Our family enjoyed a variety of foods, including chicken parmigiana, fettucini Alfredo and ravioli. The salad tasted as if it were made with real olive oil.

Our favorite was the Italian cheesecake, with raisins, which we found extra good. We topped the meal off with espresso and coffee (milk for the children).

Best of all prices were reasonable. Our bill for four persons, including a few drinks for the adults, came to $41. Not bad in these days of inflation!

We were surprised to find a small restaurant could be so good!

RARE PLEASURE

We have been to Arlindo's twice. This Portuguese restaurant is a rare pleasure. Last Thursday we had Paella marinera and it was a delicious combination of shrimps, clams, mussels and other fresh seafood over rice. The flavorful sauce on the rice gave it an unforgettable taste.

A large mural of a Portuguese sea landmark decorates the main dining room of Arlindo's.

The service was good and considering there has been a large increase in business at the restaurant since the first time we visited it a month ago it was amazing that service was so perfect.

We recommend Arlindo's. G.L.

FINE RESTAURANT

The Washington Manor is once again a very fine restaurant. We were there Monday night, and it was sheer delight. The Manor has been completely redecorated, filled with interesting antiques, and decorated in the fashion of the early 1700's. It was built in 1758. The staff was dressed in Colonial costume, one of the staff was dressed to represent George Washington, knee breeches, frilled shirt, tri-cornered hat et al. There was fife and drum music, a huge birthday cake with 252 candles, and it read "Happy Birthday, General". The party paraded throughout the restaurant with the cake to the strains of fife and drum. The waitresses were in the parade too, wearing lovely Colonial dresses and caps. It was a fun evening.

The menus, too, were copies of an original Painting by Colonel Trumbull and read "Happy Birthday, General". I plan to have my complimentary copy framed.

The dinner was superb. We had prime ribs of beef, baby carrots and baked potato, with a fresh, crisp salad. All in all, it was a most memorable evening.

Oh, compliments of the house, our picture was taken with the impersonated George Washington. The new operators are the same folks who run the 300 year old Milleridge Inn in Jericho and Remsen's in Greenvale. The restaurant has only been opened for three weeks. I am certain it, too, will be a restaurant landmark in Long Island.

I heartily endorse this delightful restaurant. Good luck to the new owners, and happy dining to its patrons. E.H.

"Individual dishes here are both complicated and intricate....However, Chef Maurizio Benevides....bringing together the diverse elements, and coming up with gold. The fish here is properly fresh, and the meat is properly aged, and great care is taken in their presentation. No matter how good the main dishes....the desserts are better....marvelous service."

Antique or Junque

By James G. McCollam
Member, Antique Appraisers

Q. I have a platter decorated with birds and flowers. The mark on the bottom is enclosed.

Since it is different than any Wedgwood mark I have ever seen, I would appreciate anything you can tell me about it.

A. Your platter was made by Ralph Wedgwood of Burslem, England, not Josiah Wedgwood, who made the famous Wedgwood blue-and-white jasperware. He was active from 1796 to 1801 and his china is relatively rare. This piece would sell for $175 to $225.

Q. I'm confused about Mission oak furniture. Why should two armchairs that look almost identical be priced so differently? Some are from three to five times more expensive than others.

A. Mission furniture was made by at least a dozen different manufacturers.

The pieces made by Gustav Stickley in Eastwood, N.Y., and bearing his label bring the best prices. There were other Stickleys making similar furniture, which makes it more confusing.

Q. This solid walnut cradle has been handed down by many generations of my family. Would you please tell me about when it was made and its value?

A. This Victorian cradle was made about the time of the Civil War and is a very desirable antique. It would sell in the $500 to $600 range.

Eat Yourself Slim

By Shirley
Bright Boody
Registered Dietitian

Dear Shirley: I am supposed to be on a low-salt diet and I was going pretty well, but I must say that I really miss good old salt on my food.

I had dinner at a friend's house recently, and her food tasted so good that I asked her what she had used instead of salt (she knows I can't use it). She said that she uses only sea salt and that it is much better for you than regular salt because it has a lot of minerals in it.

She says it won't hurt me and that I should use it, but I am a little concerned about it, so I want to know what you think about me using it. — T.W.

Dear T.W.: Under no circumstances should you be using sea salt as a safe substitute for regular salt. It contains the same sodium chloride as ordinary salt, and it is the sodium that must be lowered in a low-sodium diet (salt) diet.

The tiny amount (5 percent) of "minerals" in sea salt is mostly magnesium and calcium and is of little or no consequence nutritionally because these minerals are found in so many other foods. In addition, sea salt loses its iodine content in the drying process.

For those who can use salt, especially in the areas of the country where goiter may develop, the iodized kinds are the best.

There are many good salt substitutes on the market now, so check around to find which you like best.

Lemon, vinegars, herbs and spices are wonderful additions for more flavorful meals.

Dear Shirley: I am going to have my 67th birthday next month and I am not overweight — yet. I am so afraid that I will get fatter as I get older because I still eat the same way as I always did, but that I don't want to change it either.

I read a book by a doctor that said people need less food as they get older. Why is that?

Do you have any good ideas that I can use to avoid becoming fat and still enjoy good food? — Mr. H.H.C.

Dear Mr. H.H.C.: Yes, by increasing your physical activity every day, you can still eat your normal meals without gaining weight, if you are wise.

The reasons many people tend to become overweight as they get older is that there is a decline in muscle tissue and physical activity, and so fewer calories are needed to maintain their same weight.

Since many of us are procrastinators by nature, you may have to use some strong discipline on yourself to get started and then keep going on your increased physical activity.

Do something that you enjoy and it will be easier. Walking is easy, cheap and very effective. There are many sports too, that will keep you active and interested. Check your neighborhood to see what is available for you.

To Prospective Advertisers

One ad in Consumer Confidence goes into seven newspapers and has the impact of a giant advertiser's message because it is backed with the Consumer Confidence pledge in writing.

Here's How

By Gene Gary

Q. For three years now, I have gone to the attic of my home and each time found the undersurface of the roof all wet. I have called my contractor and he said I need more ventilation in the attic.

The house is only 3 years old. What can I do? Would it be possible to stop the moisture by painting the roof or should I put insulation up against the roof? Or is there something else I can do? — N.B.J.

A. The condensation is caused by warm, humid house air coming in contact with the colder roof.

Ample air circulation and ventilation should be provided in the attic space. Louvers should be installed at opposite sides of the roof, as high as possible, of a size sufficient to allow one square foot of louver opening to each 300 square feet of attic floor space.

Also, to prevent the escape of house heat into the attic, it would help to insulate the ceiling or attic floor, either with batt-type insulation or the poured-in kind, including a vaporproof barrier.

Also clipping the nails projecting through the roof if any, close to the underside of the roof, will help prevent moisture.

Q. My daughter spilled red Kool-Aid on my carpet and I did not discover it until the next day when it was really dry and the stain set.

Is there any way to get this stain out? — Phyllis L.

A. Since the spot had dried before you discovered it, try warm glycerine diluted with two or three parts of water and scrub the stain with a stiff hand brush. Rinse with clear water and apply a blotter.

Here's another mixture you could use on old stains: Four parts denatured alcohol to one part each of glacial acetic acid (99 percent), oxalic acid and glycerine.

If you anticipate future stain problems, stain removal kits are available. These include chemicals for all sorts of common stains, along with complete instructions for use.

If you find difficulty in removing the stain, I suggest it might be better to call in a professional carpet cleaner.

Q. Water has seeped into our basement sometimes when we had a lot of rain. Books, furniture and other storage items were covered with mildew. All were put outside to air in the sun.

The places where water seeped in have been sealed and we have a dehumidifier going all the time now. Mice have also intruded from time to time.

Now, whenever I go into the basement, I can smell the odor from both. What can I do to eliminate these odors? I always read your column and enjoy it very much. — Mrs. C.C.

A. If you have no floor covering on the concrete, scrub with a solution of trisodium phosphate, two-thirds cup mixed with one-third cup detergent, one quart of household bleach and three quarts of warm water. When floor is completely dry, apply a concrete sealer. Thompson's Water Seal is one recommended brand.

If you had any type of floor covering when the mildew problem first developed, it needs to be removed before you proceed with the cleaning as suggested above.

After the concrete has been thoroughly cleaned and sealed, it would be a good idea to install indoor-outdoor type of carpeting, or you can use vinyl asbestos or pure vinyl tile, installed with moisture-proof adhesive.

I would advise using a product such as Decon for control of mice.

Will you please answer the following questions regarding the use of the above:

1. How often should the two teaspoons of vinegar and honey be taken?

2. What kind of honey is recommended? (We have about six different kinds of honey here in Arizona). — Lewis K.

Dear Lewis: I didn't recommend any kind. This was in a letter from a reader. A few other letters have said the vinegar didn't do them any good.

I'm still waiting for more evidence on the vinegar treatment. And most important, I don't think there is any "cure" yet for arthritis — only treatment to reduce or eliminate the pain.

And of all those I have personal experience with only one, Certo and grape juice. I have used it and I have seen the pain go away in a day or two and not return.

No, I don't have any stock in the Certo company.

Mainly For Seniors

By John T. Watts

Dear John: Medical insurance and other related costs have gone up again. Where is it all going to stop?

When I retired more than 10 years ago my supplemental insurance cost about $20 a quarter. Now it is more than $130. And Medicare, of course, is the hardest bit of all. — Jerry W.

Dear Jerry: No one knows. We can only watch the trends and the general thinking.

The American Association of Retired Persons has recently disclosed that 81 percent of Americans over age 25 believe that limited hospital and physician charges is the best way to save the troubled Medicare program. This figure was reached through a nationwide survey of public opinion by the AARP.

Also, 72 percent of those surveyed favor the idea of cost controls throughout the health care system. The consensus in favor of limiting fees is intensive and pervasive among all income, education and age groups, according to the AARP. Fifty-nine percent of those favor direct federal or state controls on health care costs, in contrast to anti-regulatory sentiment in general throughout the country.

They don't believe such controls would hurt the quality of health care, according to the AARP. The survey found little support for the other two options, raising taxes and reducing benefits.

The public believes that, by 3 to 1, if limits on medical fees are established, they should be across the board and apply to all patients, not just Medicare ones.

Hospitals and doctors are seen as the chief cause of rising health care costs, with nearly three to four Americans contacted in the survey suggesting that "excessive charges by hospitals" contribute a great deal to the problem and many holding the same view of "excessive charges by physicians."

The survey reported that a clear majority of the public has done or would consider same-day surgery, outpatient care and a second opinion on surgery. The survey was based on a nationwide sample of 1,523 respondents over age 25.

Cy Brickfield, AARP executive director, said that merely shifting Medicare cost to beneficiaries or workers will do nothing to solve the real problem of health care cost inflation.

"It is time to stop worrying about finding more revenue to pay for the nation's skyrocketing health care bill and start doing something to reduce the bill," he said.

Dear John: In a recent article vinegar and honey was recommended as a cure for arthritis.

Doctor's Forum

Q. I am a 35-year-old man who had rheumatic fever as a child which resulted in a heart murmur. About two years ago I noticed I started having "skipped beats" and I was told it was an extra beat that was probably a flow murmur.

What is a flow murmur and are these extra beats harmful? — D.S.

A. A flow murmur is a sound which originates from the heart. A doctor frequently hears the sound when he listens with a stethoscope. The sound is caused by the flow of blood through one of the valves in the heart.

Flow murmurs generally do not cause any problem for the patient. They are to be distinguished from other kinds of murmurs which can represent an abnormality of the heart or one of its valves.

Since you had rheumatic fever as a child, there is a possibility that one of the valves of the heart may have been affected and may be slowly developing an abnormality. Slowly refers to the fact that rheumatic fever causes a gradual onset of an abnormality which occurs over a period of years and therefore is associated with a slow onset of symptoms.

It would be important for the physician to determine if there is any specific abnormality occurring in any of the heart valves which might be related to a murmur. If abnormality is found, the patient should be followed closely to treat recurrent streptococcal infections of the throat, and to administer antibiotics before dental surgery and other types of surgery which could result in septicemia (blood-borne infections). The reasons for these precautions are because there is an increased likelihood of developing a recurrence of rheumatic fever in a patient who has previously had rheumatic fever and because abnormal valves, as compared to normal heart valves, are more likely to become infected by blood-borne infections.

The second part of your question concerned extra beats of the heart. Extra beats of the heart must be distinguished from a flow murmur. Occasionally extra beats can cause a murmur to become apparent when it is otherwise not heard. However, generally skipped beats and flow murmurs are not associated with each other.

There are two types of extra beats. The first is that of a skipped beat and the second is that of an early or premature beat. Many otherwise normal patients have experienced these extra beats. In general, physicians are concerned about extra beats when they are associated with symptoms such as dizziness, fainting, chest pain or shortness of breath.

In the absence of these symptoms and in the absence of significant heart disease, no therapy would be required for these extra beats.

— Dr. John Longhurst, associate professor of medicine, University of California, San Diego School of Medicine.

Cooking Corner

By Toni Griffia

Ever since flint struck flame, the concept of grilling meat has been a hot item. The addition of a spicy sauce to charbroiled meat yields today's increasingly popular barbecue flavor, for grilled meats such as beef, pork, fish, poultry and lamb.

But there are some who claim that nothing beats chomping into a round of barbecued ribs — with a side dish of extra sauce — for the best in hearty eating. Their eyes glaze while describing a pungent slab of ribs hanging over plate's edge. They salivate while dreaming of the tender-yet-crackling finger food. They wax patriotic when serving a heaping platter of the glistening mahogany bones and meat, claiming the steaming spicy pile to be an American institution.

Pork and beef are the two most traditional meats barbecued in the West and South, although lamb, poultry and fish come in a strong third. Here's a background on rib varieties:

Beef ribs — Be sure to have fat trimmed from each of the two kinds of ribs: Short ribs are cut from the end of the prime rib roast and weigh about 3½-5 pounds. Buy ribs sliced between the bones as individual ribs, cut in 2-inch lengths. Chuck short ribs are sold in 1-inch-wide narrow strips, cut across the bone.

Pork ribs — Country-style, back ribs and baby back ribs, are basically all from the front (blade) end of the loin. The name "baby back" ribs has no relationship to the age of the pork. The bones, short and curved and reputed to be particularly tender, are called that because their source is the smaller eight ribs in the back rib section near the loin. Spareribs, which have less meat to the bone, are cut from the pig's belly section and are often marketed slab-style with breastbone attached. Spareribs (often called St. Louis ribs) have long bones and are flatter and leaner than the baby back.

Looking for a rib-tickling recipe to create in your kitchen or on the local barbecue? Here is a terrific collection of ways with pork, beef and lamb ribs. Try one — or try them all for hearty meals that'll stick to the ribs.

HICKORY-SMOKED RIBS.

Hickory chips
¼ cup ketchup
½ cup finely chopped onion
¼ cup olive oil or cooking oil
¼ cup tarragon vinegar
¼ cup water
3 tbsps. lemon juice
2 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce
1 tbsps. brown sugar

2 tps. dry mustard
2 tps. paprika
2 tps. chili powder
2 cloves garlic, minced
2 bay leaves
1 tsp. cumin seed, crushed
1 tsp. dried thyme, crushed
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
4 lbs. pork loin back ribs or spareribs

Soak hickory chips in enough water to cover for about 1 hour before cooking time; drain. In saucepan, stir together ketchup, onion, oil, vinegar, water, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, brown sugar, dry mustard, paprika, chili powder, garlic, bay leaves, cumin seed, thyme, salt and pepper; simmer 10 minutes.

Lace ribs accordion-style on spit; secure with holding forks. In covered grill, place hot coals on both sides of foil drip pan. Sprinkle coals with some dampened hickory chips. Attach spit; position drip pan under meat. Turn on motor; lower grill hood or cover with foil tent. Grill ribs over hot coals until done, about 1 hour. Sprinkle coals with chips every 20 minutes. Brush ribs frequently with sauce mixture during last 15 minutes of cooking. Pass remaining sauce. Makes 4-6 servings.

ORANGE-GLAZED SPARERIBS

4 lbs. spareribs
1½ tps. salt
1 (6-oz.) can frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
¼ cup honey
3 tps. vinegar
½ cup finely chopped onions
1 clove garlic, finely minced

1 tbsps. prepared mustard
6 whole cloves
3 to 4 drops Tabasco sauce
¾ cup water
1 tsp. cornstarch
2 tbsps. orange-flavored liqueur (optional)

Cut ribs into two- to four-rib sections. Place in shallow baking pan; sprinkle with salt. Cover ribs with aluminum foil, crimping foil firmly to edges of pan. Bake in 350-degree oven 1½ hours.

While ribs are baking, combine orange juice, honey, vinegar, onion, garlic, mustard, cloves and Tabasco sauce; stir. Simmer to blend flavors, about 15 minutes. Blend together water and cornstarch; stir into sauce. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is slightly thick. Stir in liqueur, if desired.

Drain drippings from baking pan. Brush ribs generously with sauce; return to oven and continue cooking until meat is tender, about 30 minutes. Brush ribs with sauce several times during last cooking period. Serve ribs with any remaining sauce. Makes approximately 12 to 16 appetizer servings, or 4 to 6 entrée-size servings.

TWEEN

By Robert Wallace
Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 15 and my boyfriend for the past 15 months is 16. About two months ago, Jimmy moved out of town and now lives about 70 miles from me. I haven't seen him since he moved but I write to him every day, but I haven't received a letter from him because I know he doesn't like to write.

I also call him once a week, but the last time I called he told me that I was calling too often. He also said that his mother wants him to date other girls.

Do you think I should end our relationship or hang in there until he gets his driver's license? He should have it in a few months. — Julie Julie: It's obvious that Jimmy wants his freedom, so give it to him, now!

Dr. Wallace: As a member of the Women's Sports Foundation I am pleased to see that you are strongly supportive of girls' sports!

Although women have made some strides forward in the field of athletics under the Title IX program, unfortunately, many males of all ages, including those in high governmental offices, do not agree with this policy and are attempting to chip away at the progress that has been made.

Today's young women, who may have participated in team sports throughout their school years, after college graduation find they still are unable to join professional teams (where the money is) because there are none!

Those readers who want to work for a change in the women's sports area may contact the Women's Sports Foundation (founded in 1974) to encourage and support the participation of women in sports.

Please write to W.S.F., 195 Moulton St., San Francisco, Calif. 94123 or call the national toll-free number: 1-800-227-3988.

Dr. Wallace: My question isn't earth-shattering but I do have a problem and can't find a solution. And, since I'm a teenager and your column is for teens, I'm turning to you for the answer.

I love Brazil nuts, and for Christmas my grandmother gave me 50 (yes, I said 50) pounds of my favorite snack. The problem is she presented me the nuts with the shells on. Have you ever tried to shell Brazil nuts?

If you have, you know it is a very, very difficult chore.

My present method is smashing them with a hammer. For the past two weeks my snacks have been Brazil nut slivers and smashed Brazil nuts.

There must be a better way to shell the nuts but I don't know the secret — neither do my family, my friends and even my enemies. No one can help me. You are my last hope. HELP! — Connie enjoy Brazil nuts but I no longer buy them in the shells. I, too, used the "hammer" method but I wound up hitting my fingers more often than the nut.

Connie: I'm like you I

But now we know what to do. My research took me to a local high school home economics teacher who solved our dilemma. She offered two solutions: You can bake the Brazil nuts at 350 degrees for 15 minutes, or freeze the nuts. Then use a nutcracker and, wham — perfectly shelled Brazil nuts.

Since you have all the goodies, try our newfound method. Then write to me and let me know what happened.

Dr. Wallace: Please help me. Whatever you say, I'm going to do.

I'm almost 19 and graduated from high school last June. I don't take drugs, drink alcohol or fool around with boys. I have a decent job and I'm well liked at work. I'm dependable, intelligent and industrious.

I attend church regularly and am involved in church youth activities.

My problem? I'm still living at home and my dad won't allow me to date. He thinks I'll get into "trouble." I liked a boy when I was in high school but my father had a "fit" when the boy called me on the phone.

Now I've met a boy at work and we care for each other. He asked me out to a movie and dinner and I said yes. When I told my dad he said that I had to tell the boy that the date was off.

Dr. Wallace, I can't do that. My only hope is to move out and live at my grandparents' home. My grandparents (my mother's folks) are realistic people and can't stand my father. They haven't talked to Dad in several years.

Do you think I should move out or just defy my dad and take the consequences? — April

April Your father is being totally unreasonable. Go out on the date and if your father makes it unbearable, move to Grandma's.

JUNIOR EDITION

Aunt Tilly's Corner

This is our last issue for February. As most of you young readers know, this is the shortest month of the year. However, February, 1984, is a leap year, meaning there will be 29 days, instead of the usual 28, this month.

Leap year comes once every 4 years and it is a way of "correcting" our calendar. It takes the earth about 365 1/4 days to travel around the sun and at the end of four years these four quarter days add up to a full day. Hence, the leap year.

However, there is still one more "correction" to be made in order to make the calendar even more accurate. Only centuries exactly divisible by 400 are leap years. Thus, 1200 and 1600 were leap years, but 1800 and 1900 were not leap years. The next "century year" to be a leap year: the year 2000.

Your "timely" friend,

Aunt Tilly

Points On Pets

Was pup a victim of insecticide?

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q. Our 4-month-old puppy died recently. The puppy became very sick very rapidly and was extremely weak when we took it to our veterinarian. Our veterinarian was unable to do anything for the puppy and it died within a few hours after arriving at the veterinary clinic.

We have an ant problem and recently treated our home with insecticides. Is it possible that the insecticide caused the illness and death?

A. Of course it is difficult to state whether your puppy died because of the insecticide with only the limited information you provided. It is certainly possible that the insecticide contributed to your puppy's death.

Many of the ant poisons, herbicides and insecticides contain arsenic. Puppies become poisoned by ingesting these substances.

The onset of clinical signs usually occur from one to several hours following ingestion. The early signs of arsenic poisoning include vomiting, extreme restlessness, whining or whimpering, and excruciating abdominal pain.

These signs are usually followed by diarrhea. The diarrhea may contain blood. Dogs poisoned by arsenic refuse to eat. The vomiting and diarrhea soon lead to extreme weakness, dehydration and circulatory collapse. A severe anemia may develop.

Arsenic-poisoned dogs become completely depressed. An occasional whining or yelping may be noticed.

Internally, the gastrointestinal tract suffers the greatest injury. Occasionally, the kidneys and livers are also affected.

If an animal is observed consuming arsenic containing substances, treatment is aimed toward emptying the stomach before the arsenic passes into the intestinal tract. If you cannot get the dog to a veterinarian immediately, vomiting should be induced at home by giving powdered mustard or salt. The animal should then be hospitalized for further observation and treatment.

If the poisoning is not noticed until further clinical signs are apparent, the dog should be hospitalized and treated with specific antibiotics. In addition, intravenous fluids and other supportive treatment should be administered by the veterinarian.

After a dog dies due to suspected insecticide poisoning it should be taken to a veterinary diagnostic laboratory for a postmortem examination. Your veterinarian can aid you in locating the veterinary diagnostic laboratory closest to you or submit the dog to the laboratory for you.

In using insecticides or herbicides, one should be careful to protect pets and children from contacting them.

VETERAN BURIAL ALLOWANCES

The government will pay a lump sum toward burial expenses for veterans eligible for VA pensions or compensation and those who die in VA medical facilities. This also applied to peacetime veterans who die of service-connected disabilities, or who were receiving a pension or compensation. The cost of transporting the remains to the funeral home and the place of burial may be borne by the government if the death occurred while the veteran was hospitalized under VA care.

A further sum is payable to the next of kin as a plot or interment allowance when the veteran is not buried in a national cemetery. A considerably higher sum is paid if the veteran dies of a service-connected disability. The Social Security Administration will make an additional lump-sum payment toward funeral and burial costs for veterans with Social Security credits.

We will be more than willing to help coordinate if assistance is needed, as we do this regularly for the families we serve.

To The Editor,

A recent flyer mailed to members of St. Ignatius Loyola parish stated that since funding was no longer given to C.Y.O. by Hicksville Youth Council each family would be required to pay $15.00 at registration. While true, that funding is no longer available from our agency for umpires and referees, the statement made in the flyer is at best misleading as it does not present the reason for the termination of the funds and implies that Hicksville Youth Council willfully ended the program. In fact, the Board of Directors was forced to terminate these allocations in May of 1983 when we were notified by our primary funding source that the use of funds to pay referees, umpires or similar sports officials was forbidden and in direct violation of the funding guidelines of the New York State Division for Youth. C.Y.O. was one of the groups receiving an allocation for umpires and referees and was notified that although we could not pay for sports officials we would continue to support them through allocations for other job functions which were allowable.

For many years, the Youth Council has enjoyed a very positive and productive relationship with the groups that we were able to provide small youth employment allocations to and it is deeply distressing that we are no longer permitted to fund these programs. The staff and Board of Directors have always been committed to youth employment and community service and will continue to remain so.

I thank you very much for the opportunity to clarify the issue and remain

Very sincerely yours,
s/William M. Heberer, Jr.

Dear Friends:

On Wed., Feb. 29th, on Channel 4 starting at 8 pm, Kay Frielingdorf of Plainview will appear on "Real People."

This friendly lady, who was appointed Senior Citizen of the Year 1983 by the Town of Oyster Bay, was selected for this national TV appearance because she is well known for her appearances at many nursing homes in the area, where her act never fails to please.

You'll just have to turn on Channel 4 next Wednesday night to hear and see all about it. We know you'll be glad you did, as this lady is an inspiration to all who know her.

THIS WEEK we are really cramped for space, and the "Letters To The Editor" are numerous. So, don't worry if your story or picture didn't make it this week...it will, in the near future.

SHEILA NOETH

That's the word around the Swimming community nowadays when you compete against the Hicksville Varsity Swimming Team. After a great fall season saw the Girls Swimming and Diving Team finish with a 9-3-1 record plus 6 All-County Awards the Boys team is hot on their heels compiling a 9-3 record thru the 17th of February. With two meets left before the Counties the Boys team has tied the school record for wins in a dual meet season previously done in 1979 and 1980. What is more remarkable about the boys team is that the top 5 swimmers from last year's team either graduated or moved out of the district.

Coach Walter Olsewski has completely redone the team stressing versatility and team goals. The result speaks for themselves. Starting with a December victory over Cold Spring Harbor the Comets have been on a roll that they hope will last thru the Team Championships in early March at Hofstra University. The team relies heavily on its strong contingent of 8th and 10th graders. Three year letter winners Drew Blake and John Montalto are this year's captains - both 10th graders.

Drew has already qualified for all four freestyle events in the post-season championships in addition to breaking the school sophomore scoring record this past week with 199 1/2 points.

John anchors the medley relay that has been able to give Hicksville the lead in most meets plus he is the team's leading breaststroke swimmer.

Another outstanding swimmer is Donald Sirey. A 10th grader Donald recently finished 2nd in the 100 backstroke at the LI Swim Coaches Invitational Meet. During the season Donald has broken the record for 100 back set back in 1978. He has his eyes set on the Counties where he hopes to finish in two events and achieve All-County recognition.

The junior high swimmers are well represented on this year's team especially Mike Defina (a leading IM'er and Flyer) Scott Epstein (Fly and the Breast events) Robby Kratochvil (IM and the Back) and Chris Dibiase (free, fly and the back).

Rounding out this team are freestylers Derrick Corrado (a consistent scorer in both distance freestyles), Terry Dahl, Tom Harran, Eric Altman, senior Jay Slezak and divers Adel Ibrahim, Jim Lap and Nick Hoffman. Diving has been a big help this year in keeping the Comets in most of the tight races. With further coaching all 3 divers should be able to qualify for the Counties next season. With only 1 senior on the squad the Boys Varsity Swimming Team seems to be hitting its stride and we look forward to many future triumphs in the pool.

Watch Out World here we come!!!
