Hicksville Oil Company Denied Special Use Permit

The Oyster Bay Town Board has denied a request by Deuco Fuel Oil, Inc. of Hicksville for a special use permit to allow overnight parking of fuel oil trucks on its premises, according to Town Councilman Thomas L. Clark.

"Deuco was seeking a special use permit to allow overnight parking of two fuel oil trucks on its property, which is located in a G-1 (general business) zone at 25 Richard Street, Hicksville," Clark stated. "The Board denied the request because of the property's close proximity to residences and a school and the possible fire, safety and pollution hazards."

The Board also cited as a reason for denying the application the constant presence of fumes and obnoxious odors, which would have a detrimental effect on the health and welfare of the surrounding neighborhood.

A public hearing on the request was held on Tuesday, May 22.

Hearing Set For Hicksville Zone Change Request

The Oyster Town Board has scheduled an August 28th public hearing on an application for a change of zone in Hicksville.

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Kenneth S. Diamond said, "the application by G.B.D. Construction Company requests that an irregular parcel of vacant land on the east side of Jerusalem Avenue, north of South Dean Street be changed to an 'E' Residence District to allow for the construction of three single family dwellings."

Diamond added, "the property is currently zoned both 'D' Residence and 'F' Neighborhood Business District. The 'F' zone being at the northern end of the property and the 'D' Residence at the southern end."

The hearing is scheduled for Tuesday, August 28, at 10 A.M. in the Hearing Room, Town Hall East, Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay.

"Gandhi"

The Hicksville Public Library will show the film, GANDHI, on Friday, July 20th at 8:00 p.m. in the Community Room of the library.

The movie covers 55 years of Gandhi's life - his days as a British trained barrister in South Africa, the long struggle against the British.

the growing Muslim-Hindu rivalry. Gandhi lived long enough to see both the triumph and the defeat of his ideals. This film convinces you that he was a genuinely great man and that his ideals are worth reviving. Stars include: Ben Kingsley, Candice Bergen, John Gielgud and Martin Sheen.

On July 13 Nassau County District Attorney Denis Dillon announced the filing of charges against Mattiace Industries, Inc., D/B/A Mattiace Petrochemicals Company of Glen Cove and its Vice President and Manager of the Glen Cove site, William Mattiace, 34, of 88A Muttontown Road in Syosset.

Both the corporation and individual are charged with two counts of Unlawful Possession of Hazardous Wastes First Degree and one count of Storage of Hazardous Waste without a Permit under the Environmental Conservation Law. Unlawful Possession of Hazardous Wastes First Degree is a "D" Felony, punishable by up to seven years in prison and/or a fine of $100,000.00. Storage of Hazardous Wastes Without a Permit is a misdemeanor, punishable by up to one year in jail and/or a $25,000 fine.

According to Dillon, "On February 17, 1982, a tank trailer owned by Mattiace spilled 4,800 gallons of Methyl ethyl ketone (MEK), a hazardous substance of high volatility, on the parking lot of Delta Public Warehouse, 530 W. John Street in Hicksville. To prevent an explosion, the fire department pumped 13,000 gallons of water on the spill. At the direction of governmental officials, Mattiace began a cleanup, which has never been completed. Mattiace removed 1,180 gallons of water and foam contaminated by MEK and sent it by tank trailer to its Garveys Point Road facility in Glen Cove. Without authorization or permit, these waste materials have been stored there ever since."

The DA said on June 6th of this year the Department of health was refused permission to take samples from two trailers on the Glen Cove site. On June 19th, pursuant to a criminal search warrant, the DA's Environmental Unit took samples and tests showed the contents to be water mixed with MEK in extremely high concentrations.

Under the Environmental Conservation Law, anyone who knowingly possesses hazardous wastes at a place other than the site of generation without authorization is guilty of Unlawful Possession of Hazardous Wastes First Degree. The Corporation and Mattiace were arraigned on the charges in First District Court.

Post Office Conducts Mailable Automation Tour

Representatives explained the 5-digit zip code and the purpose of the additional 4 digits. The country is broken down into 10 geographical regions. The first number of the zip code identifies the regional destination, the next two the sectional center within the region and the 4th and 5th the addressee's delivery office. With the addition of Zip + 4, the address is further broken down into sectors (neighborhoods) in the first two digits and segments (blocks) with the final two digits. The Zip + 4 system can pinpoint mail right to your home. It is the most precise coding system ever conceived.

The Zip + 4 system makes extensive use of automated mail sorting equipment, especially optical character readers which can sort 25,000 pieces an hour with much higher efficiency. When the Zip + 4 system is viewed within this context, it is easy to see that claims of improved services by the postal service are not far-fetched.

The mailers seemed even more convinced about the advantages of the system

Business mailers are given demonstrations of how automated equipment reads and processes mail bearing Zip + 4 codes.

The Hicksville Post Office seminar included a tour of the mail facility and close observation of optical character reader, bar code sorter and flat sorting machine in operation.

when their specific questions were handled in the question and answer session.

The ultimate goal of this seminar was cooperation between major mailers and the postal service. If the two can work together, both will profit. This was best summed up by one of the mailers who said the Zip + 4 system makes good sense.

Education Concerns Aired

State Senator John Dunne today released additional results of his 1984 Legislative Questionnaire that was mailed to constituents in the 6th Senate District earlier this year. Over 3,000 households responded to the survey which focused on several state and local issues.

"Education concerns figured prominently in this year's questionnaire," Senator Dunne said. "Increased education aid, the state Board of Regents' Action Plan and the overall cost and quality of public elementary and secondary education in the state were the focus of most of the questions that were asked."

Senator Dunne said New York spends about $5 billion annually to support its public schools. He added that despite such a commitment, there remained disparities in property

Galileo Lodge News

By Joe Lorenzo

PRESIDENT PETE MASSIELLO'S MESSAGE: "Rationalizing is the tactical modern way of describing the act of fooling yourself." Old Saying Summertime offers us the period in which we should enjoy ourselves, relax in leisure-filled moments and seek enjoyable activity—and the Galileo lodge will certainly help you in this respect. For example, on Saturday, the 28th of August, the Galileo lodge presents its Italian Wedding Dance. Tickets sell at $12.50 per person, and in the offering will be an Italian hot dinner, beer, soda, coffee and cake, set-ups and pleasurable music from a leading disc jockey. Armand DeCicco will chair this activity, ably assisted by Co-Chairman Joe Gironzo, Joe Morace and Frank Matassa, all of whom are currently selling tickets, contact them by calling 931-9351. An unusual but humorously delightful event that will embellish this dance will be the unfolding of a mock version of an old-fashioned Italian wedding. Bring your own liquor.

And let's not forget the Galileo picnic to be held on Sunday, the 12th of August, at Eisenhower Park, from early morning to early evening. Members and their families are invited, children under 12 years of age are admitted free, for admission price call Tony Sica at 796-8789, and please note that various items such as beer, soda, wine, dessert and coffee will be available. In case of rain, the picnic will be held indoors at the Galileo Lodge.

And we certainly cannot overlook the pleasure-filled and leisure-filled program formulated by the ladies Auxiliary, under the supervision of Fran Ausiello (433-8783) and Mary Montelorte (938-9536). First, a day at St. Gennar Festival on September 15th. Bus will leave the lodge at 9:00 A.M. promptly. It will cost $10 per person, round trip, then on October 20th, a quiet and peaceful day is planned at St. Christophers Inn and Shrine in Garrison, N.Y. St. Christopher is situated on beautiful sprawling grounds on the Hudson river. There are picnic areas and other facilities, and for $13 you can get a box lunch and a round trip ticket on a DeLuxe Motorcoach. On November 25th, Sunday, "A Day with Engelbert Humperdink" is planned at the Westbury Music Fair, tickets at $18 and the show starts at 3:00 P.M. Also in the planning stages is a weekend at the Villa Roma in the Catskill Mountains, contact Mary or Fran as soon as possible, especially for the Engelbert show, and please note that men, women and outsiders are also welcomed.

LODGE TIDBITS: Don't forget rehearsals for the "Foolies Follies" every Tuesday night at the Galileo Lodge, from 8 to 10 P.M. A correction: Al Frigente became a great-grandfather, not as we reported, and probably the first member of our Lodge to receive this honor. Mr. and Mrs. Tony Sica announce that their daughter Karen became engaged July 1st in a ceremony at the Galileo Lodge. Congratulations, of course. Next fishing trip is set for July 29th and the next golf outing will be in August with the Galileo Lodge in competition with the Columbus Lodge. Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Posilloco proudly announce that their son Dominic has recently graduated from

Hicksville Girl Scouts To Assist At International Conference

Senior Girl Scout, Nancy Hundi, of Hicksville has been selected to represent the Nassau Council of Girl Scouts, Inc. as a conference assistant to the 25th World Conference of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts (WAGGS), July 17 - 27 at Marymount College in Tarrytown, N.Y. Nancy's attendance at the World Conference is part of an international wider opportunity sponsored by Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., which is hosting the conference. The World Conference will bring together over 600 women and girls from 104 countries who are active in the worldwide Girl Scouting/Guiding movement.

Nancy was selected by Nassau Council of Girl Scouts, Inc. and by the national organization because of her interpersonal skills, dependability, flexibility and desire to interact with girls and adults from a variety of cultural backgrounds.

As a conference assistant, Nancy will take on a variety of rotating assignments such as office assistant, dormitory hostess, desk clerk and transportation dispatcher. She will also have ample opportunity to meet with the visiting delegates who are members of WAGGS.

Wider opportunities enable a Girl Scout to meet new people, discover new places, try different skills and extend her range beyond the circle of a troop.

SALUTING HEROIC SERVICE... Assemblyman Fred Parola (left) presents a Legislative Resolution to James Nastasi (right), a volunteer with the Hicksville Fire Department for over twenty-two years, for his many years of dedicated and heroic service to the residents of his community. Jim literally became a hero of 1982 when he rescued several people, who were unaware that they were in danger, from a burning house.

Hicksville Gregory Museum Wins Federal I.M.S. Grant

The Board of Trustees of the Hicksville Gregory Museum are pleased to announce that the Museum has received a $10,000 general operations support grant from the Institute of Museum Services, a quality assessment and funding agency of the U.S. Department of Education. This is the third recognition in 1984 by governmental bodies of the worthy services and contributions of the Gregory Museum to the general public.

The Museum, Long Island's Earth Science Center and a center of Long Island and local history studies and preservation, was previously assigned $100,000 of Community Development Historical Preservation Funds by the Town Board of Oyster Bay with Nassau County and State approval for a projected 1984 Town renovation and preservation of the Gregory building, the Town-owned Heitz Place Courthouse, a Hicksville landmark structure in the National Register of Historic Places.

In addition to these official acknowledgments and encouragement of the Gregory collections, exhibits, and outreach programs in mineralogy and paleontology, the Museum's Historical Committee under the leadership of Richard Evers has been granted $5,000 from the N.Y. State Legislature through the efforts of Senator Ralph Marino and Assemblyman Fred Parola, Jr. for the specific continuance and development of the Gregory facilities for assisting teachers to instruct in the emerging studies of Long Island and local community social studies.

The Gregory Museum's capacity for strong self-support and its ability, periodically, to obtain governmental grant funding, plus its wide range of services to the village of Hicksville and its schools, it is believed, were strong factors in the recent decision of the Hicksville Board of Education to grant the Museum Trustees' request for a $10,000 increase in the cost of the service contract the School Board has maintained with the Gregory Museum since 1981.

In the weeks ahead, this summer, the Museum will be releasing specific information to the public via the press as regards the Town courthouse preservation work, the Gregory exhibits which are being enhanced and enlarged, the outreach and historical programs being planned, and the development of the museum's staff for administrative and fund raising efforts.

SOMETHING SPECIAL

There's at least one house in San Francisco that doesn't match its neighbors. When it needed paint recently, the owner opted for a giant all-over mural. The walls are covered with wooded landscapes, mountain peaks, streams, and flowers. Doors and windows almost disappear into the scene.

There are mixed opinions about making such unusual changes in a home. It may be difficult to find a buyer who wants such a distinctive frontage—yet someone might LOVE it.

Truth is, only certain home "improvements" really pay off when you sell. Except for added bathrooms and remodeled kitchens, most alterations have a limited payback. When you add to your home, it's smart to do so for YOUR enjoyment, not for eventual resale value.

Looking for answers? Ask our experts about home improvements you may be considering. We'll tell you which will improve solubility and value.

And if your house is already "something special," count on us to find a buyer who wants that special touch.

Dear Friends:

POW-MIA RECOGNITION DAY

Today, Friday, July 20, 1984 has been set aside by Congressional Resolution and Presidential Proclamation as National POW-MIA Recognition Day. The Vietnam Veterans of America Nassau Chapter will be holding a prayer and candlelight vigil at the St. Ignatius Loyola Church, Route 107, July 20th at 8:30 P.M., Broadway, Hicksville.

A march will then follow to the Kennedy Park Memorial just past the L.I.R.R. trestle to raise a flag in honor of our POW-MIA's.

This vigil is our protest that the POW-MIA issue is not resolved and VVA will not let the public nor our government forget this important issue.

Many POW-MIA parents and relatives will be on hand to join in this vigil including other political officials.

This ceremony is open to the public and all are welcome to attend.

Councilwoman Ann Gold, the first woman elected to the City Council in Glen Cove, told us she was excited upon hearing the news that a woman was named to run for Vice President.

Councilwoman Gold, Republican candidate for the State Assembly in the 13th district, said, "I know what it is like to be the first woman elected to the Glen Cove City Council. It's really exciting. I still remember the day my party nominated me. I was thrilled. I can really appreciate the excitement of Congressman Ferraro."

Councilwoman Gold, Nassau County's only Republican woman campaigning for a state legislative office this year, said she believed the selection of a woman for Vice President will improve her chances of victory this year. It stands to reason that more women will come out to vote, and that can help me and all other women seeking office this year.

"I'm encouraged that my chances to be elected are greatly improved by the announcement," she said.

As for her feelings concerning a woman being named for the first time to the national ticket, she said, "I was excited when President Reagan nominated a woman to the Supreme Court. I was excited when President Reagan named three women to important positions in his administration. I'm excited by this announcement. It's about time the Democrats gave a woman an opportunity."

Councilwoman Gold predicted, however, that President Reagan would be reelected.

THAT'S ALL for this week. Stay well and remember the "new" saying: to err is human ... but to really foul things up requires a computer!"

Navy Ensign Michael E. Walsh, son of Edward W. and Margaret M. Walsh of Brooks St. in HICKSVILLE, was commissioned in his present rank upon graduation from University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa.

The commission was received through completion of the school's Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps (NROTC) Program.

During each undergraduate semester, NROTC midshipmen complete naval science courses in addition to the academic schedule that lead to their degree. These courses, combined with annual summer training aboard ships and shore installations, served to prepare midshipmen for the duties and responsibilities of a commissioned officer.

"IN DEFENSE OF TRUCKS AND TRUCKERS,"

To the Editor:

In response to Helen Rehauser's letter in your last publication, I feel I must point out a few things.

First she opens her letter, congratulating Joe Colby and the Board of Supervisors for turning down a 3-story office building. Then she drifts to her real "beef." Trucks in her backyard.

There are already a great many commercial buildings in Hicksville, 3 stories, and higher, just open your eyes. Mid Island Plaza, the Town of Oyster Bay Parking Building at the railroad station, Manufacturers Hanover Trust on the same spot. Need I go on??? So much for the 2-story maximum building height laws.

Now we get to Helen Rehauser's real complaint — trucks in her backyard.

FIRST, does she and her neighbors feel that these trucks, and this operation (Remington Aluminum) is against the law??? As I understand, Andrews Road, which borders her property, is zoned commercial (industrial). There are many other big-name companies on Andrews Road — (Sears) and a few others. She doesn't mention any of these.

A few years back (1 or 2), Sears at Mid Island Plaza, was in the limelight for midnight freight transfers. Those neighbors complained about the same things (noise, fumes — there is no dust on a paved lot). But yet, Sears continues to transfer freight.

SECOND, no company in its right mind would allow a truck to idle (motor running) 24 hours a day, with fuel at $1.25 a gallon (sometimes more).

THIRD, she states that Remington Aluminum has about 150 trailer trucks — Yes, they have a large amount of trailers. 150??? Maybe 1/3 of that — trailers only. Tractors, which is the basis of her complaint, number about 15 or 20, most of which are on the road (Indiana, Ohio, Kansas, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, Texas, etc., etc.).

FOURTH, these same 15 or 20 tractors, which Helen Rehauser is complaining about, most of which are on the road at any given time, (not in her backyard), bring back many types of freight to local distributors — (Mid Island Plaza, Sears, J.C. Penney) and being a centrally located company here on Long Island, Remington Aluminum is helping to keep the cost of transportation of products down, and in return passing these savings on to the people of Hicksville and Long Island — many of which I'm sure, Helen Rehauser, as a cost conscious consumer purchases.

FIFTH: A truck is a mobile home to the driver while on the road; and while he or she waits to be unloaded at the point of destination. If a truck is idling, it is for the purpose of warm-up prior to departure, or to provide air-conditioning in summer, or heat in winter. Surely, Helen Rehauser has both of these, and would not deny either to the man or woman who was waiting to be unloaded. Let me say that a truck driver has no say as to when his or her trailer can and will be unloaded. It's up to the warehouse personnel.

Also, the Long Island Railroad runs very close to her backyard (500 yds) and she fails to mention the NOISE, fumes (Diesel). Maybe she has learned to accept the railroad as a FACT OF LIFE??? Trucks are just one more fact of life we all have to learn to live with, drive with, and yes, even look at. Are they really so bad??? They transport a great majority of freight quicker, cheaper, safer, honestly — Thank you.

Sincerely
 John B. Linton
 Hicksville

P.S. I never had, past, present, or future, any association with Remington Aluminum.

Dear Editor:

This is in response to a "letter to the editor" letter writing campaign being conducted by a paid staff member of Assembly Speaker Stanley Fink (Ms. Betsy Ceriello of Roslyn Heights) concerning my support of the Equal Rights Amendment.

First, to set the record straight, I am not nor have I ever been an opponent of ERA legislation. If Ms. Ceriello had extended me the courtesy of a reply to her letter of June 12, 1984 before resorting to her underhanded tactic of writing the local newspapers as a "concerned citizen" she would have been better informed as to my position on ERA. I publicly supported ERA as the Town Supervisor of North Hempstead and, since my election in April of 1982, as State Senator from the seventh Senatorial District.

I do have reservations as to the constitutionality of the ERA legislation — the so-called "clean" (unamended) version — that was hastily passed in the Assembly with much fanfare recently. For without due consideration of a Pennsylvania court decision involving state financing of abortions under a state equal rights amendment, the present bill is certain to be challenged by anti-

Model Home Banking Program For The Disabled Established

Chemical Bank has established a home-banking program at the Human Resources Center, a major facility for the education, rehabilitation and employment of people with disabilities, with the goal of exposing handicapped consumers to the benefits of banking by computer from their homes.

Under terms of the agreement Chemical's PRONTO Home Information System will be installed at the Albertson, Long Island facility, and the Center will provide Chemical with information on their experiences with the system, as well as with recommendations for making it even more appropriate to the special needs of the disabled. The cooperative effort was announced in Washington, D.C. at the annual meeting of the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped.

Chemical Bank pioneered home banking, and its PRONTO Home Information System was the first of its kind offered by a major commercial bank. PRONTO subscribers use their personal computer to perform many banking functions at home and can also pay bills and access consumer and money-management information. At present, PRONTO is compatible with IBM, Apple and Atari computers.

William Turner, executive vice president of Chemical's Metropolitan Division, said, "We are extremely excited about our agreement with the Human Resources Center as it provides us with a tremendous opportunity to fully assess PRONTO's potential to meet the needs of this market. This is one of the many exciting places PRONTO is taking us."

"The establishment of the PRONTO home banking work station at the Human Resources Center will open a new era for many of our people," said Dr. Edwin C. Martin, President and Chief Executive Officer of the Human Resources Center. "Now for the first time, these individuals will be able to pay bills, transfer funds electronically, and determine their balances without leaving the Center."

"We saw a relationship with Chemical Bank and PRONTO as a tremendous opportunity to provide full banking services without limitation to people who are disabled. The application for use of PRONTO in the handicapped persons' home — coupled with other computer software — is only as limited as the imagination. As the National Center on the Employment of the Disabled, we are constantly seeking ways to enhance the independence and employment of people with disabilities," Martin stated.

PRONTO provides a unique and valuable service for the disabled. For example, it offers mobility-impaired persons unable to bank in the conventional manner an opportunity to perform most banking tasks at home. "Electronic banking is the wave of tomorrow — available to those at home today," said Turner. "More and more persons will be banking at home in the near future, and due to the 'magic' of computers the handicapped can now take advantage of this new technology. Chemical Bank's PRONTO system is continuously expanding to be more responsive to consumer needs and demands for time-efficient money-management," continued Turner.

Currently, PRONTO offers four major services: Home Banking (including balance inquiry, funds transfer, bill paying and home budgeting), Account Maintenance, Electronic Mail and Information Services. Information Services includes economic and business briefs, tax guides, CONSUMER REPORTS articles, a guide to all Chemical Bank services, current interest rates, and news of the PRONTO system. The contents in each area will be updated regularly.

Asking Feds To Cut Natural Gas Prices

Attorney General Robert Abrams filed a petition with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission on behalf of New York and 11 other states, asking the Commission to limit the "take-or-pay" clauses in contracts for wholesale delivery of natural gas.

Take-or-pay clauses are elements of the contracts under which pipeline companies purchase natural gas from producers.

Therefore, clauses in existing contracts obligate the pipelines to purchase, and hence, to resell, higher-cost gas even when cheaper supplies are available.

Something To Think About

BILL WAGNER

ON VIEWING

Viewing the body of the deceased can serve an important function for the survivors, according to studies done by a number of respected social scientists. Though it is true that there are elements of disguise in the preparation of the body for the funeral, these efforts are no more the basis of the funeral ceremony than the use of cosmetics or a veil is the basis for a wedding. Rather, the attempt to conceal the ravages of suffering or trauma are only an attempt to facilitate a rather positive part of the ceremony. Viewing the person as best remembered can help move the grieving survivors along from a shocked denial of the death to a recognition and possible final acceptance of it.

In the same light, the other parts of the funeral service all have their place and importance. People gather together, acknowledge the death, share in the grief, participate in the mourning rites, and witness the final disposition of the body. Thus hopefully starting the healing journey back to everyday life.

Hicksville Youths Join Jet Star In United Way TV Production

Hicksville residents Debbie, Michael and Patty O'Grady were part of a television message filmed on Long Island that features Freeman McNeil, star running back #24 of the New York Jets. As members of local Big Brothers/Big Sisters groups, the three O'Grady youngsters, along with 30 other bicoastal members, represent all groups of this agency across the country in a public service message to appear on National Football League broadcasts of Jets games televised nationally and regionally.

Television announcements of this type are produced by United Way of America with a player from each of the 28 NFL teams. Each team promotes a different health or social service provided by local voluntary agencies that receive support from United Way organizations. United Way of Long Island assisted in local arrangements of the Jets' message filmed on July 12th at Heckscher Park in Huntington Village.

McNeil was selected as the Jets representative for this message because of the unselfish time he gives to two boys who suddenly became fatherless. Their fathers were the widely admired New York Jets and Giants football coach, Bob Ledbetter, and the popular musical performer, Harry Chapin.

In his remarks for television, McNeil extolls the value of adult companionship for youngsters. On Long Island, there is a shortage of men and women who qualify to be Big Brothers or Big Sisters, especially men with a variety of backgrounds.

Production of the National Football League/United Way messages is part of a national communication program directed by Mario Pellegrini, president of United Way Productions. Pellegrini has produced and directed a variety of United Way films and video productions that feature such prominent broadcasting and entertainment personalities as Cliff Robertson, Jack Lemmon, Frank Reynolds, John Madden, Loretta Lynn, Bryant Gumbel, Dinah Shore, Tony Bennett, and Ella Fitzgerald.

The National Football League is donating television time to present United Way public service messages. One of these announcements usually appears during the two-minute warning of the first half of a game.

During the 1983 football season, the NFL contributed more than $40 million of free air time for messages about numerous human-care agencies affiliated with local United Ways. These announcements were seen by an estimated 80 million TV viewers each week.

The 1984-1985 season marks the eleventh consecutive year of this public service partnership between the NFL and United Way.

Baseball - 1860's Style

"Strikers" will swing their bats at handmade yarn and leather balls trying to score an "ace" when "Base Ball," 1860's style, is played at Old Bethpage Village Restoration on the Sundays of August 12 and 19, at 2 p.m.

Nassau Recreation and Parks Commissioner Abram C. Williams said the cry of "Striker up" will signal the start of games between the "Mincola" Washingtons and the Hempstead Eureka.

The games of "base ball" — as the sport was originally called — will be played using authentic mid-Nineteenth Century rules and equipment.

A fly ball caught on the first bounce is an out, a regulation particularly helpful to outfielders since padded mitts hadn't yet become standard equipment. Other rules dictate that the ball be pitched underhand and no higher than waist level, making the sport much less of a pitchers' game than modern baseball.

Lent To Seek Eighth Term In Congress

Representative Norman F. Lent (R.C.-East Rockaway) was unanimously renominated to run for Congress in the Fourth Congressional District at the recent convention of the Nassau County Republican Committee.

Congressman Lent, who was first elected to Congress in 1970, will be seeking his eighth term in the U.S. House of Representatives. A former New York State Senator, Lent's career of public service spans 22 years. Lent, one of the most senior members in the House of Representatives, serves in a number of legislative leadership posts, including, Chairman of the Long Island Congressional Caucus and ranking Republican on the Subcommittee on Commerce, Transportation and Tourism of the House Committee on Energy and Commerce. Lent also serves on the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee where he is a member of the Subcommittee on the Panama Canal and Outer Continental Shelf and the Subcommittee on Coast Guard and Navigation. In both of these subcommittees Lent has played a leadership role in shaping legislation vital to the interest of Long Island's marine oriented environment and economy.

A staunch supporter of the Reagan economic recovery program, Congressman Lent has been instrumental in guiding the President's agenda of tax cuts and reduced federal spending through the House of Representatives. Said Lent: "Thanks to the Reagan program, more Americans are working today—in meaningful and productive jobs—than ever before in the history of this Nation; inflation, once the cruellest of all taxes, has been deflated; interest rates, although still too high, have been cut in half from the highs reached under the previous administration. The signs of economic recovery are all around us; people are working, families can afford to buy new homes, new car sales are up, housing starts are up, new factories and businesses are springing up throughout the United States."

Lent also noted that "As a result of the President's economic policies, Long Island is experiencing an unprecedented economic upsurge. We have one of the lowest unemployment rates in the country, and each day more and more industry is locating on Long Island, bringing with it thousands of new jobs for Island residents."

Congressman Lent has received literally hundreds of awards from a variety of groups and organizations in recognition of his legislative accomplishments. Among the many honors accorded Rep. Lent are: the Prime Minister's Medal of the State of Israel, the Distinguished Service Award of the Nassau County Fish and Game Association, the special Freedom Award of the Long Island Committee for Soviet Jewry and the 1983 Soviet Jewry Award of the Union of Councils for Soviet Jewry.

Congressman Lent, a lifelong resident of Nassau County, attended local public schools before attending Hofstra University where he received his B.A. degree in political science. He later attended Cornell University School of Law and received his J.D. degree in 1957. A partner in the law firm of Hill, Lent and Troescher in Lynbrook, Congressman Lent is a member of the American, Florida and Nassau County Bar Associations.

Rep. Lent is married to the former Barbara Morris of Troy, New York. He has three children by an earlier marriage: Norman III, Barbara Anne and Thomas.

WELCOME: Nassau County Comptroller Peter T. King (I) welcomes Mary Waugh of Plainview to his office where she will be working during the next several months. The summer intern program which King has developed provides the interns with a thorough knowledge of the duties and functions of the Comptroller's office.

Hence, it would make no sense to present a proposed constitutional amendment to the citizens of New York without an "abortion neutralizing" provision as proposed by State Senator John Marchi (R-Staten Island). The present bill is also faulty in at least one other area—veterans benefits. Given the United States Supreme Court's tendency toward broad interpretation, veterans could find their benefits declared unconstitutional due to the present "unequal footing" of men and women to collect such benefits. As Chairman of the Senate Standing Committee on Veterans Affairs, I have a sworn duty to question any proposed or likely threat to the continuance of such

Omnibus Banking Bill Acclaimed

The Omnibus Banking Bill signed into law on July 11 by Governor Cuomo was acclaimed by an official of the savings bank industry as "very significant legislation benefiting savings banking in New York State."

Among the key provisions of the legislation affecting savings banks are the elimination of present limitations on out-of-state lending, greater freedom to invest in securities and broader authority to make and manage equity investments in real estate.

These three proposals were among the recommendations of the Temporary State Commission on Banking, Insurance and Financial Services created by the Governor in the summer of 1983. Paul J. Fitzpatrick, Chairman of the Savings Bank Association of New York State and President of the Union Savings Bank, Patchogue, N.Y., said that the measure provides state-chartered institutions with broader new powers. "This new legislation makes New York's state-charter as attractive as any in the nation and, in effect, helps insure the survival of the state-chartered banking system in New York State."

The legislation was sponsored jointly by Sen. Jay P. Rolison and Asm. Herman D. Farrell, Chairmen of the Senate and Assembly, and was supported by Superintendent of Banks Vincent Tese.

Second Essay for Orchestra, Op. 17, Haydn's Symphony No. 88 in G Major and Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 5 in E minor.

The concert is sponsored by European American Bank as part of the EAB Free Summer Music Festival, which offers a wide variety of classical and popular music in parks throughout the New York/Long Island area during the summer. The EAB Free Summer Music Festival is now in its eighth year.

In the event of rain, the concert will be performed as scheduled in the John Cranford Adams Playhouse, Hofstra University, Hempstead.

New York Philharmonic Concerts

The New York Philharmonic Orchestra will give a free concert under the stars in the Meadow of Eisenhower Park, East Meadow, on Sunday, July 29 at 8:00 PM.

James DePriest, Music Director of the Oregon Symphony, will conduct the orchestra in a program consisting of Samuel Barber's

"SENIORMOBILE" VISITS HICKSVILLE: Hans Buchner, seated, and Peter Chichichomo, both Hicksville, Nassau County Department of Senior Citizen Affairs nutritionist Rosemary Klein, explain the nutritional value of various foods, on the "Seniormobile", the Department's office on wheels, visiting Grand Union Shopping Center, Jerusalem Avenue.

The "Seniormobile" visits Nassau County communities with a specially trained staff who assist seniors and their families in areas of benefit entitlements, tax relief, employment and volunteer opportunities and crime prevention.

A full-scale production of the smash Broadway musical "Carousel" will be staged at Eisenhower Park's Harry Chapin Lakeside Theatre Friday and Saturday, Aug. 3 and 4 with curtain at 8 P.M. The rain date for the free performance is August 7.

The play is presented by the Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks and is produced by Broadhollow Theatre of Farmingdale.

Nassau Recreation and Parks Commissioner Abram C. Williams said the Musical Theatre productions at Lakeside have been particularly popular the past two years with stagings of the Broadway hits "Oklahoma" in 1983 and "South Pacific" in 1982.

"Carousel," with such hit tunes as "If I Loved You," "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "My Boy Bill," takes place in an amusement park on the Northeastern coast of New England in 1873. It is a bitter-sweet musical which spans a fifteen-year period in the life of Billy Bigelow, a charming vagabond carnival barker who marries his sweetheart, Julie Jordan.

"Billy Bigelow" is played by Warren Schaefer and "Julie Jordan" by Teddy Zirin. Ellen Farmer is "Carrie Pepperidge" and Robert Hollinger is "Enoch Snow." "Neddie Fowler" is played by Edna Kaulman.

"Carousel" is directed by the executive producer of Broadhollow Theatre, Patricia Zaback. The musical director is Bill Holland; the stage director, Patricia Markley and the choreographer, Jon Grodeski. The set designer is D.J. Markley.

Since there are no formal seating arrangements at Lakeside, theatregoers are advised to bring chairs or blankets. The nearest parking fields are 6 and 6A. In case of inclement weather, call 542-4585 for verification or performance.

Clean-up Campaign Leader Meets EPA Chief In Washington

A local resident who has been active in community campaigns for cleanup of environmental problem sites in the Bethpage, Hicksville and Farmingdale area took part in an 80-minute meeting with William Ruckelshaus, Administrator of the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), in his Washington office on July 9.

New York Community Action Network (New York CAN) member William Steinmetz of Bethpage, who chairs the group's Toxics Action Project, was part of a 15-person national delegation of citizens living near hazardous waste sites. The group met with the EPA director in an effort to win prompt cleanup of sites on Long Island and around the country and to urge the EPA to support the HR-5640 federal Superfund reauthorization bill sponsored by Rep. Norman F. Lent (R-E, Rockaway).

"Our delegation implored Mr. Ruckelshaus to become more actively involved in the cleanup timetable for several local problem areas, including the Old Bethpage landfill, the Hooker site in Hicksville and the Liberty Industrial site in Farmingdale," said Mr. Steinmetz upon his return from Washington.

"We asked the EPA to support the Lent Superfund bill, which collects $9 billion for site cleanup and contains a mandatory cleanup timetable," Mr. Steinmetz stated. "Delegation members indicated that EPA studies have shown that between eight and sixteen billion dollars will be required to cleanup the nation's worst sites."

Mr. Ruckelshaus said he didn't want to "bring a halt to the momentum" he has established since he's been in Washington.

Although the Bethpage resident noted that Mr.

Ruckelshaus was "very sympathetic" to the delegation's concerns, Mr. Steinmetz expressed disappointment over the failure of the EPA administrator to endorse the Lent Superfund bill.

"I can only assume that 'momentum' viewed from Mr. Ruckelshaus' EPA office overlooking the Potomac River is different from momentum viewed from the Old Bethpage landfill," Mr. Steinmetz said.

The New York CAN representative presented Mr. Ruckelshaus with a list of requests to which the EPA official is expected to respond by mid-August. Among the requests are cleanup timetables for several local hazardous sites and a request for the administrator to conduct an EPA field hearing on Long Island in October.

New York CAN members report that they are moving ahead with their campaign to win passage of the Superfund bill, and invite local citizens who are concerned about community cleanup tax rates and educational opportunities afforded students in "property-rich" school districts versus those in "property-poor" districts.

"People were divided about increasing state taxes in order to fund increased education aid," Dunne noted. "Forty-four percent favored increasing taxes, 45 percent opposed and 11 percent were undecided."

"Most thought school taxes should be assessed at a county or regional level to equalize local school tax rates. Fifty-nine percent favored this approach, 27 percent were opposed and 14 percent were undecided."

"Sixty-three percent thought state aid formulas should be adjusted so that schools in high-tax, low-wealth districts receive more aid than wealthier school districts. Twenty-seven percent were opposed to adjusting school aid formulas and 10 percent were undecided."

Senator Dunne said last year's $2.7 billion Regent's "Action Plan" to upgrade public elementary and secondary school standards in the state drew mixed reviews from his constituents.

"Fifty-one percent of those who responded believed that the state should invest the $2.7 billion in its schools; thirty-five percent did not support the increase and 14 percent were undecided. However, many people were not sure the state could afford such a financial commitment. Only 38 percent thought the state could afford to spend the additional monies, while 44 percent thought the increase too costly; eighteen percent were undecided."

On specific proposals to improve public education in the state, Senator Dunne said his constituents had the following opinions.

Would you support the Regent's proposal to:	Yes	No	Undecided
• Require proficiency in a foreign language by the end of Grade 9?	46%	44%	10%
• Extend the school year 10 days for additional student instruction?	61%	32%	7%
• Extend the school year 10 days for additional teacher instruction?	53%	37%	10%
• Enroll children in Pre-K programs at age 4?	37%	53%	10%
• Require coursework in computer literacy and technology?	72%	19%	9%
• Mandate additional math and science requirements for high school graduation?	76%	16%	8%
• Extend the school day versus the school year?	52%	39%	9%
• Institute a merit pay system of rewards for exceptional teachers?	71%	21%	8%

Senator Dunn noted that after numerous public hearings and debates across the state, only the foreign language requirement, the coursework in computer literacy and technology and the additional math and science requirements were adopted by the Board of Regents.

"As we continue to find ways to improve the quality of public education and the fair distribution of state aid, it is important for me to have a good understanding of the views and opinions of the people I represent," Senator Dunne stressed. "This is why surveys and legislative questionnaires are such an important and vital part of the legislative process."
