Memorial Day 1985

One of the largest tur-nouts of participants and spectators in recent years marked the Annual Memorial Day Parade and Formal Commemorative Services in Hicksville this past Monday. The weather was warm and the skies sunlit over a fine parade and community observation in the morning, before the holiday's formal opening of the summer's recreation and family get-togethers commenced.

The recently refurbished and landscaped Hicksville War Memorials at the Junior High School were a plea-sure to behold, the veterans and organizational wreaths adding to their color and symbolism to the floral arrangements and pruned shrubbery so well accomp-lished by the Board of Edu-cation's War Memorial subcommittee under Trustee Daniel MacBride and Direc-Daniel MacBride and Direc-tor of Buildings and Grounds, William Becker. The John F. Kennedy Memorial in the newly evolving center of Hicks-ville, the community's monument to its 40 heroic casualties of wartime service, was decorated with the wreath of the Disabled War Veterans.

The principal speaker for the former services at the Hicksville High School playing field was Lieutenant Fred Bauer of the United States Marine Corps who spoke in part of the ever-present readiness of young Americans to sacrifice in the service of the nation, citing the losses in the Lebanon and Grenada struggles.

The following texts are the remarks of the two Hicksville High School student speakers, Elinor La and Paul Greenfield.

Memorial Day Address of Elinor La of the Hicksville High School during the formal holiday observations and ceremonies on May 27,

It is a pleasure and an honor to speak before you.

Today, we celebrate Memorial Day, a day on which we commemorate those men and women who fought and died to preserve our nation. Their wisdom. our nation. Their wisdom, patience, courage and gallantry now enable us to enjoy the myriad of opportunities to learn, to meet challenge, to pursue and attain goals, and to thereby enrich our nation's happiness and recognitive.

mess and prosperity.

These opportunities, would have never been possible if it weren't for them.

So, let the flags, the decorations, the music, and the mapphine has the metalized for the flags.

marching be not mechanical tributes nor hollow ges-tures but expressions of our heartfelt appreciation for the deeds and the sacrifices of our heroes.

Now, we are all united to remember and to honor those who died to preserve our country. As we are inspired by their undaunted determination, let us also realize our own capacity to care, to give, and to honor, and let this renewed awareness act as the foundation on which we may resolve present and future problems and the foundation on which we may create an even stronger nation....Thank you.

Memorial Day Address by student speaker, Paul Greenfield, of the Hicksville High School during Hicks-ville's formal holiday services, May 27, 1985.

MEMORIAL DAY: Oyster Bay Town Councilman Kenneth S. Diamond and Town Clerk Ann R. Ocker were among the participants in the annual Memorial Day Parade and ceremony sponsored by the United Veterans of Hicksville (Amvets, Americal Legion, Jewish War Vets, Masonic War Vets, and V.F.W.).

Ladies & Gentlemen:

On this day we honor our war dead...Those young men and women who died in the Spanish-American War, World War I and II, the Korean War, and Vietnam. To commemorate these men and women, we place flow-ers and flags on their graves. Many organizations march in military parades, which often include the reading of Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. To honor those who died at sea, some U.S. ports also organize ceremonies where tiny ships filled with flowers are set afloat on the water.

The facts I just mentioned about Memorial Day cere-monies have been taught to me throughout my education.

However, recent experiences outside the class-room, have enlightened me in a different way.

The gathering of the community this morning shows the patriotism, togetherness and respect for the dead we honor, who by their courageousness have nourished our pride and strengthened our hearts. These fallen soldiers have taught fallen soldiers have taught me about the fervor and strength with which our country should be guarded and enriched.

Recently our senior class took a trip to Washington, D.C. As we were standing at the Tomb of the Unknown the lomb of the Unknown Soldier, watching the dedi-cation with which the honor guards performed their duties, 24 hours a day, it made me realize how truly important it is that we honor those who served us and saved us.

PRESIDENT PETE MASSIELLO'S MES-SAGE: "Every individual has a place to fill in this and is important, in some respect, whether he chooses to be so or not." Nathaniel Hawthorne.

Last Saturday night, the 25th, it was gala night at the Galileo Lodge. Yes, this was the night when the Ladies Auxiliary's May Dance was in progress. A good-sized crowd was in attendance, composed of members, friends and patrons, and they enjoyed a fabulous roast beef dinner with all the trimmings, beer, soda, coffee and cake, set-ups and some pretty nice dancing and listening music. The atmosphere was lively, the fun and merriment was spontaneous and in

As the night progressed, it became obvious that this dance was going to be a rather extraordinary one. A dance contest embellished the proceedings as prizes were also given out to the winners. A "sing-along ses-sion then took place, and to be able to sing as you danced provided some extra-pleasant moments. Mr. and Mrs. Carl and Marie Brandisi were introduced, and as their 39th wedding anniversary was announced, they were graciously asked to dance alone to the nostalgic strains of the "Anniversary Waltz

Probably due to the innovative tendencies of the Ladies Auxiliary, all those in attendance certainly did not want to see this dance end. The mood was superb and the atmosphere cer tainly conducive to good times. To successfully con-clude a dance, there has to be a great amount of work done, and this tremendous effort was supplied by Chairlady Mella Scibella, co-Chairlady Ann Palermo, and the two co-Chairladies to Ann, Marion Danseglio and Carmen Russo. Needless to mention that the successful conclusion of this dance prompted President Pete Massiello to thank all these diligent and devoted members, including Marie Brandisi and the Galileo Lodge Kitchen Force, comprised of Jim Posillico, Pat Gatto, Dom Valente, who prepared the excellent cuisine served.

As this dance came to an end, which was rather disheartening to all in attendance, I am quite sure that everyone felt, as we all should have, that the Ladies Auxiliary is an important and worthwhile part of the Galileo Lodge.

AN IMPORTANT MES-SAGE: The next regular meeting of the Board of Directors will be held June 4th, at 8:30 P.M., at the Galileo Lodge. Please attend.

Anthony Sica Corres. Secretary

They say that beauty lies in the eyes of the beholder, but I am sure that anyone who visits the lovely gardens of John lanotti of our Lodge will see only a very rare type of beauty. Here you will see the beauty of the soil and the beauty of John lanotti's love for beautiful and exotic flowers. The delicate beauty. you'll see such rare botanical gems as African Magnolias, Canterbury Bells, Fox Gloves, beautifully-colored tulips and fragile roses. And add varieties of rare peonies and New Guinea Empaients, Oriental Hot Peppers, Floridian Shrimp lants and many others too umerous to mention. See is delicately-maintained awn and incredible vegeta-bles as well. The location is 9 Central Avenue, Westbury, right off Old Country Road. This has been John's hobby for over forty years. The strains of these wonder-ful flowers and plants come from all over the United States and many parts of the orld. So fantastic is John anotti's hobby and the very rare beauty that it has created, that you have to see this wonder world of flowers and plants with your own ago, when I turned 18, and was at the Post Office signing up for the Selective Service, that I began to think of the real possibility that I might be called upon someday to serve my country.

The meaning of Memorial Day suddenly held a special significance for me. I realized what a sacrifice was made by those we honor today, who served so unsel-fishly defending our coun-try. I also realize how fortunate I am to be able to leave Hicksville High School and continue on to college in the fall .... an opportunity not available to so many who were called upon to go to war at my age. These men and women and their families deserve our highest honor, not only on this day, but on every day that we step out into this beautiful country and enjoy the gift of freedom given to us by these brave soldiers.

I feel particularly honored to have been asked to participate in this year's Memorial Service. Thank you for asking me to join you to pay tribute to these valiant heros, today and every day.

New Programs From The Hicksville Gregory Museum

As part of its service to the Hicksville School District, The Gregory Museum has developed a series of "Outreach the Elementary and Secondary Levels. One particular advantage of Outreach is the remainer. savings in transportation costs, since even a local bus has become very expensive. Another is that larger groups can be accommo-dated at one time in either the school libraries or auditoriums for an assembly type presentation.

The Elementary School

programs are developed by members of the Museum's Educational Committee: Rosemary Barrow, Libra-ry/Media Specialist at Willet Avenue School, and a Museum Trustee; Elizabeth Pearce, retired after many years at East Street, also a Trustee; Richard Evers, retired Jr. High Social Stu-dies teacher, and well known as Hicksville's historian;

The Hicksville Public

Library will show the film, "The Rose Tattoo" on Fri-day, May 31st at 8:00p.m. in Joan Scancarelli, the Muse-Joan Scanderin, the Museum's Program Coordinator, who is a specialist in Natural Sciences and Entomology; Thomas Daunt, Curator, a Geologist by Profession, and an historian by avocation.

Emphasis, as in all of the Museum's student related activities, is on stimulating students' interes( in the world about them. Every effort is made, however, to correlate programs with the curriculum on appropriate grade levels. Most of the presentations are given a "test run" at Willet Avenue then made available to other schools. Within the Hicksville School District, this is done without charge.

Most recent of the new events was a workshop on Insects, conducted by Mrs. Scancareli for the Second Graders at Willet, As usual, she brought with her a fasci-nating collection of realia:

Carrie Seir, Nancy Rojas and Mark Jovic examine a wasp nest, built tier after tier like the stories of an apartment house, as part of the Gregroy Museum program on insects. (Photo by Rosemary Barrow)

Outreach programs include such diverse topics as Ecol-ogy of the Rain Forest, mounted insect specimens from her trips to tropical forests, nesting places, live insects in jars, models of various types of insects for hands-on analysis, and, of course, magnificent slides. Other Gregory Museum Outreach programs include such diverse topics as Ecology of the Rain Forest students. students.

DIFFERENT BUYERS, DIFFERENT HOUSES

What do buyers look for? According to a recent survey, first-limers will buy if the price is right and if a property has enough space and certain basis features they want. Move-up buyers—those who already have a house and enough equity for a heity down payment on the next—are truster. They won't move unless they find improved amenities, more luxury features, something special.

Luxury is in the eye of the prospect, of course; o new property can only be judged in relation to the old one. That's one reason we question propertive buyers so correlating to find out where they're coming

We don't waste the buyer's time or ours-, most important, yours-showing a house be con't afford or won't like. Prospects we bring you are legithrate: hey know we're showing a house that's right for them. Let us tell your house, too. List with the knowhow people at:

Hands On At Holy Family School

Children not presently enrolled in the computer program at Holy. Family School are being given an opportunity to view first hand the workings of the computer.

In addition to learning the parts of the computer, the children learn how to sign on to the computer, print out their names and also how to sign off and clear the screen. Sr. Elaine's kindergarten class recently visited the Computer Lab as part of the new Computer Literacy Program, and after the class was broken up into groups of two children, each group was assigned a "Big Computer Buddy" from the 6th grade to help the younger children follow teacher Kathy Fagan's instructions.

By the end of their visit to the Computer Lab, the kindergarteners had not only grasped the ABC's of the computer, but also realized that the computer is much more than just a toy to play

Spring Symposium

On May 29, the Hicksville High School Social Studies Department held its second annual Spring Symposium.

Last year, President
Theodore Roosevelt was the subject for this day. This year, the students in the tenth and eleventh grade honors courses considered the topic - Vietnam: A Perspective.

Dr. Leo Kanwada, teacher of the tenth grade honors invited Mr. Conrad Steers, President of the Nas-sau/Suffolk Veterans of the Victnam War to address the students. A videotape deal-ing with this topic was shown and Dr. Kanawada, an Infantry Captain while serving in Vietnam, also provided some personal insights for these students.

Faculty members who served in prior wars were invited to participate in this symposium.

OUTSIDE THE IN-GROUP

Most of us want to be where it's at. We want to be where it's at. we want to be accepted, happy, fulfilled. In our quest for happiness and acceptance, we seek mem-bership in various in-groups

Among the more popular in-groups today is what I call the Enlightened Unbecan the Eningment Union

membership in this group usually begins during college. To qualify you must become increasingly impressed with yourself and what you know. You must also find faith increasingly childish. Members in this group have yet to learn that the truly intelligent persons are more impressed with their ignorance than with their knowledge. To accept God, people must first accept their own limitations.

Another popular in-group is the free and Easy Immorality in-group. Col-lege students tell me that it is really tough to practice Christian morality on campus today. Even those who have been married for many years seek membership in this group. More and more couples travel into the fan-tasy land of foolin' around. Unfortunately, at the end of their rainbow they often discover a pot full of pain and anguish. Much of what's "in" for

Madrigal Singers Visit Pilgrim State

On May 15, ten Hicksville High School students, members of the Madrigal Singing Ensemble, visited Pilgrim State Hospital and performed for patients and staff.

Under the direction of Mr. Charles Arnold, these students were part of a reciprocal program arranged by Mr. LEonard Goldberg of the Hicksville High School Social Studies Department.

Mr. Goldberg teaches a senior elective in Psychology and he includes com-munity resources in this course offering. Members of the staff at Pilgrim State address the students in this course each semester. By using lectures and slides. students are made aware of the goals and functions of this important institution.

The students who per-formed were: James Anglen, Sue Clancy, Joe DeNicola, Robert Hawxhurst, Tricia Lociale, Tina Saschs, Bob Sen, Linda Strack, Dana Tirone and Frank Walker.

Frisa Says Last Minute Summer John Still Open

Assemblyman Dan Frisa (15th A.D.) encouraged local high school seniors and college students in need of summer jobs to apply to one of Long Island's 22 day camps.

Frisa reported that Douglas Pierce, a spokesman for the Long Island Association of Private Schools and Day Camps; has announced that literally hundreds of jobs are available this summer in the day camp field. "The jobs range from life-guarding and horseback rid-ing instruction to camp-ground maintenance," Frisba said.

"These positions are paid," he continued, "but are limited to high school seniors and college students."

For information, interested students may call (516) 621-2211 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays, and noon to 4 p.m. on the

Susan Evers and Nicholas Metakis were joined in matrimony in Glen Cove's Greek Orthodox Church of the Resurrection, on Sunday, May 19. Susan's Matron of Honor was Mrs. Patricia Retcher and the groom's Best Man was his cousin Mr. William (Matty) Metakis. Following the beautiful service by Father Emmanuel J. Gratsias, the newlyweds enjoyed the "reception of the year" in Bayville, a lawn party with over 250 friends and relatives.

The bride is the daughter of Richard and Anne Evers of Hicksville. Mr. Metakis is the son of the late George and Julia Metakis of Bayville, in which community the couple will make their house.

The Last Night In Your Life?

By Francis T. Purcell Nassau County Executive

During the next few weeks, many young people in Nassau County will be celebrating their graduation from high school. Many will go on to college, while others will enter the labor force. In either case, this is a time of new beginnings, hope and anticipation.

Rut for far too many graduates each year, the joy and festivity of proms and parties turn suddenly to sadness and tragedy. All the hopes and dreams of a bright future end needlessly amid the tangled wreck of an automobile accident.

If I could get one message across to every graduate this year, it would be this: Enjoy your graduation. Enjoy your parties. And please, live to enjoy your future. Don't drink and drive.

Young drivers have the highest risk of being involved in a fatal accident. Teenage drivers are almost four and one-half times more likely to be involved in fatal alcohol-related crashes than other drivers. That is why the drinking age was raised to 19 and that is why New York State has some of the toughest drunk driving laws in the nation.

Drunk driving is just not worth the risks. At the very least you are risking a suspended license, a heavy fine or even time in jail. but more importantly, you are risking your own life and the lives of

· Career advance

I urge parents who are hosting graduation parties not to serve alcoholic beverages, particularly to those who will be driving. A full stomach can slow the rate of calcohol absorption, so have plenty of food on hand. And please, be prepared to pro-vide transportation home to anyone who has had too much to drink. Don't let anyone leave the party who appears intoxicated.

I urge graduates not to become one of this year's statistics. Don't make one of the happiest nights in your life the last night in your life. If you drink, don't drive,

ACS Seeks Summer Service Support

The American Cancer Society is seeking summer support for their service program, announced Joan C. Lesch, R.N., Patient Service Committee Chairper-son, Over the years, cancer will strike approximately two out of every three Amer-ican families. At some time, anyone could find out that anyone could find out that his or her life depended upon weekly or even daily trips to a hospital or physi-cian's office for medical treatment. This is where the Society's Road to Recovery program comes into play.

The Road to Recovery program has been successful in transporting cancer patients for a total of 2,200 trips in the last eight months. In an effort to keep up this pace, the American Cancer Society needs your help over the summer. Becoming an ACS volunteer is as easy as filling out an application. Drivers will receive identification card, window placard for their cars, and will be called upon to enable patients to travel back and forth for their treatments, directly and in

If you are a college student, retiree, or belong to a service club and have a few hours, this is a wonderful, life-saving opportunity for VOU.

One of the many projects which supports the Road to Recovery program is the American Cancer Society's Discovery Shops (thrift shops.) They are located in Amityville, Bay Shore, Franklin Square, Great Neck, Huntington Station, Lawrence, North Bellmore, Oyster Bay, Rockville Cen-tre, and Valley Stream. They are currently bringing in new summer merchandise new summer merchandise for all your needs. The shops are open Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. There is also a Shop, located in Rockville Centre, which specializes in quality, gentlyused furniture. Donations and volunteer assistance are always welcome.

Having recently returned from Hicksville Junior High School's Gifted and Tal-ented Field Trip, I am on a "Natural High"!!

The trip was to Mount Tone Environmental Center, Lake Como, Pennsylva-nia, what a wonderful expe-rience. Guided by Marie Marshall (our G & T coordinator), who used her scientific expertise, as well as her unbelievably in-depth knowledge of teen-agers, the trip went off without one single problem.
