Firefighter Saves Woman From Electrocution

The quick actions of a Hicksville Fire Lieutenant saved a woman from being electrocuted. Hurricane Gloria was fast approaching when fire dispatchers received a report of a LILCO wire down in the yard at 25 Tiptop Lane Hicksville. An engine was dispatched at 8:16 AM. Upon arrival, a youth started to approach the firefighters, as he did so, he started to shake as if he were having a seizure. Firefighters ran to help him and managed to learn the youth was getting an electric shock from the wet ground.

Fire Lt. Eugene Pietzak of Hose Co. #4 ordered all people clear of the yard. As he shouted the orders Eileen Justus of 25 Tiptop La. also received a shock and reached out to a nearby metal fence to steady herself. High voltage from a powerline on the fence and in a swimming pool arced and made contact with Justus. Lt. Pietzak ran to her and punched her in the shoulder breaking her free from the fence. As firefighters could feel the voltage, she was dragged to a safe area where she was revived. Justus was transported to the Mid Island Hospital suffering from burns to hands. Hicksville Fire Chief Owen Magee praised the heroic actions of Lt. Pietzak. "It took alot to touch a person being electrocuted by a 13,000 volt wire. In a word it was a spectacular rescue." Magee said he would recommend Lt.

Pietzak for a commendation.

Storm Duty For Local Firefighters

As Hurricane Gloria headed our way The Hicksville F.D. mobilized its forces and braced for a very busy day. The first call came in at 7:21 AM. From that time on the phones never stopped. Vamps saved themselves many useless responses by recording all wires burning in trees (nothing can be done by the Fire Dept.). A mini storm center was set up and as calls came in reporting downed trees & wires they were charted and reported to the county center.

The Fire Department responded to an actual 31 alarms. The most serious being wind blown propane tanks at a tank farm and a falling tree striking a passing vehicle injuring 3 occupants slightly.

Storm Related Fire
A split level house sustained moderate damage when a fire started on an electric stove that was left on after power loss. While the occupants a 6 Neil Court were out power was restored. The fire burned for 20 minutes before being discovered. The kitchen was gutted and part of the roof was damaged as fire spread up through a vent pipe. There were no injuries. 57 members responded under Chief Owens Magee. The alarm came in 9:23 PM Sunday, Sept. 29.

HICKSVILLE FIRE REPORT

Alarm totals for August 1985

47 fire calls
7 malicious false alarms
49 rescue calls
103 total alarms

In other Fire Department operations recently, a house fire caused by careless smoking gutted an upstairs bedroom at 51 Moeuer St. on August 28th at 8:59 AM. Hicksville Vamps responded to several mutual aid assistance calls. On Sept. 10 1 Engine assisted in Plainview and on Sept. 29th 1 Engine assisted in Jericho.

The hazardous material team responded to Jericho for a chemical spill on Jericho Tpk. on Sept. 5th. The team responded to Bethpage for an unknown chemical problem on Sept. 19th. The team also responded to 2 chlorine leaks in Hicksville involving swimming pools 4 civilians were injured at these incidents.

The Gregory Museum at the Old Heitz Place Courthouse with its familiar cupola rode out hurricane Gloria as it has other violent blasts in its ninety-year lifetime.

The relatively young trees lining the LILCO property on Old Country Road are very exposed and three of them could not weather Gloria. Here a crew from the Nassau County Department of Public Works clear fallen stumps and branches from the last tree blocking the south traffic lane.

Neighborhood youngsters and an adult friend pose amid the tumbled stumps of four tall oaks which "toppled like dominoes," blocking Heitz Plate effectively for at least two days.

Galileo Lodge News

By Joe Lorenzo

PRESIDENT PETE MASSIELLO'S MESSAGE: Knowledge comes, but wisdom lingers." A.L. Tennyson.

Well the 11th Anniversary Dance held by the Ladies Auxiliary last Saturday night came and went, as the saying goes. But the pleasant moments it brought about and the moods of entertainment it caused will linger for a long time. And its been like this with the Ladies Auxiliary for a long time, as it seems that success begets success with them. President Pete Massiello, in acknowledgement of the dedication and loyalty of the Ladies Auxiliary, wishes to extend his sincerest thanks to it, especially for making this affair a social success.

For the Fall season, the Galileo Lodge has a delightful and enjoyable Halloween Dance prepared for its members, friends and patrons. On Saturday, the 27 of October, this dance will take place, and the price of tickets is $12.50 per person, a nominal fee that entitles you to a delicious hot dinner, beer, soda, coffee and cake, set-ups and music for your listening and dancing pleasure. Armand Del Cioppo will chair this activity, ably assisted by co-Chairmen Tony Sica. Halloween costumes are optional and prizes will probably be given out for various categories of costumes. Please note that a 'bring-your-own-liquor' policy will be in effect that night. Can you think of a nicer way to spend a Fall evening than to attend this dance?

Be proud of your heritage. Be proud of your ethnic background, with its customs and standards. Well, on Sunday, the 13th of October, the Galileo Lodge will be an integral part of a Columbus Day parade, beginning at 2:00 P.M., in Huntington. This parade, obviously, honors the great name of Christopher Columbus, his magnificent exploits and adventures. He was an Italian, a part of us and a part of our blood. Skip Monteforte, in charge of the parade, hopes that the membership of the Galileo Lodge and the Ladies Auxiliary will show up en masse for this parade. Please be notified that collation will be offered to the marchers only. Other filial lodges of the Order of the Sons of Italy in America will also participate in this memorable parade.

Perhaps you are seeking an organization, ethnic, of course, that presents some interesting and delightful Fall and Winter programs. Yes, its true that the Galileo Lodge is ethnic in composition but equally true is that it is also very liberal in its policies affecting the community, the unfortunate, the needy and the handicapped.

The Galileo Lodge is a nice place to congregate hang out, mingle, associate, assimilate and establish comradeship. It is active, friendly and engaging. It has goals and ambitions. It has principles, even a code of honor. It is community-minded and oriented. It is charitable. The Galileo Lodge will always say 'yes' to the needy, the handicapped and to those less fortunate regardless of color or creed. It will cater to your heart and mind. It will say 'yes' to you if you say 'yes' to it. So come to the Galileo Lodge for a visit and see for yourself exactly what the Galileo Lodge is all about. The address is Levittown Parkway, in Hicksville."

Gloria paid a visit to Long Island, as we all know—but she damaged the property at 13 Alexander Ave., in Hicksville, as can be seen in these two snapshots, which are "before and after" scenes of a double trunk tree in front of the Previte residence. Photo by A. Previte, Jr.

Multiple Dwellings & Hotels Must Have Smoke Detectors

Senator Norman J. Levy (R, C-Merrick) announced that smoke detectors will now be required to be installed in each apartment of all multiple dwelling units and every hotel room throughout New York State under legislation recently signed into law.

Levy, a legislative leader in the area of fire safety explained that the new law becomes effective January 1, 1986, and requires the owners of multiple dwellings to equip each apartment with smoke detectors in conformity with the state uniform fire prevention and building code, except that for existing buildings, a Division of Housing and Community Renewal (DHCR) approved battery detector is permitted.

"Currently, the building code requires smoke detectors connected directly to the electrical circuit, and only requires this for newly constructed or remodeled buildings," Levy said. This act would allow battery operated detectors for existing buildings while leaving the building code provisions in effect for new buildings.

Under the law, the owner of a multiple dwelling is required to initially install a working system, however, maintenance of the detector will be the tenants' responsibility.

Levy added that in hotels, a smoke detector will have to be located in each bedroom.

Levy noting the importance of requiring the installation of smoke detectors in residential dwellings said, "of the numerous civilian deaths occurring in fires in the past year, the overwhelming majority occurred during sleeping hours.

Dear Friends...

As Gloria becomes only last week's hurricane, and, with the help of many hard-working people from the NY Telephone Co., LILCO, our Town Dept of Highways, Fire Dept and last, but far from least, our Police Dept, Long Island is struggling back to its usual gridlock normal. But not without memories of a neighborly camaraderie as many turned to help others, in countless ways. So, the hurricane of '85, which hit squarely on Long Island, becomes a part of history. Two thoughts stand out in my mind... first, how much we depend upon electricity and secondly, a sadness to see so many fine old trees upturned. Perhaps we should start a fund for tree planting, here on beautiful Long Island! In conclusion, from the First Precinct of the Nassau County Police Dept we hear that, during the period of Friday, Sept 27th from 7 a.m. through 7 p.m. (Gloria's hurricane day), the First Precinct responded to: (a) Approximately 400 calls for service, (b) 270 trees were down (c) 212 wires were down, (d) 18 alarms were received and (e) there were seven aided cases, which included one death.

Nassau County 4-H members are planning exhibits and activities in observance of National 4-H Week, October 6-12, according to Marilyn R. Meyer, Cooperative Extension Agent and Coordinator of the Nassau County 4-H Youth Program.

During this week, 4-H clubs throughout the county will display their project work in local schools, libraries and shopping centers. The largest exhibit of 4-H club work will be featured at the L.I. Fair during October 11-14 at the Old Bethpage Village Restoration. Eight-hundred craft, wood-working, horticulture and food projects made by children 7 years old and older are expected to be exhibited at this popular annual event. In addition to the exhibits, young 4-H'ers will demonstrate the how-to's of pressing flowers, animal care, quilting, and tin-craft for the fair-goers.

Nassau County 4-H'ers are among nearly 4.5 million young people across the country who will participate in the week-long celebration using the theme, "4-H'ers For Youth For America."

THAT'S ALL for this week. Stay well and enjoy each autumn day here on beautiful Long Island.

Eighth Precinct Police Report

By PO Kenneth A. Box

After an investigation which involved personnel of Sears Security in Hicksville, Police Officer Norman McCloy of the second Precinct and Detective John Hall of the Eighth Squad, two Brothers Michael Curran 30 years and Christopher Curran 25 years both of 79 Hyacinth Road Levittown, have been arrested and charged with the Robbery.

A crowd of 175 people became unruly at the LILCO Main Office on Old Country Road in Hicksville at 8:30 AM when they were told there would be no dry ice distributed at the plant.

LILCO security called the police after the arrival of a trailer load of dry ice. Apparently people had been lining up since early on Sept 29 to get some dry ice. After the trucks arrival the crowd became disorderly and demanded they open the gate and give them the dry ice. The police responded with one segant and three cars and at 9:10 AM LILCO staff advised the crowd that no distribution of ice was going to be made. The area was cleared in an orderly fashion by 9:25 AM.

It is unknown where the people received the information that LILCO was going to give away the dry ice.

The Second Squad is investigating a robbery that occurred in the Administration Building, Cantiague Park, Hicksville at 2:55 PM.

An employee, Cecilia Wicks, 35, of Levittown was in the office of the building when two unknown men walked in and demanded money. She handed them $3 dollars and for no apparent reason one of the suspects punched her in the chest.

They fled the scene on foot and the victim was transported to Nassau County Medical Center, East Meadow, treated for a contusion and released.

The suspects are described as a male black, 25,

6'7", 240 lbs, blue wind breaker, shorts and a male black, 25, 6'1", 180 lbs, shorts, tee shirt with blue lettering.

STORM RELATED ACCIDENTS AND INJURIES - Five Auto accidents were reported to the Eighth Precinct which were apparently caused as a direct result of storm damage. This included four of which happened at intersections where the Traffic lights were out. And one which was the result of a tree blocking the roadway.

Aided cases included a Hicksville woman Eileen Justis of 29 Tip Top Lane who at 8:15 A.M. 9/27 touched a fallen power line in her backyard and suffered serious burns.

Three Farmingdale Residents were taken to Brunswick Hospital in Amityville suffering stomach pains, which may have been the result of eating food which had been too long out of refrigeration.

Residents Urged To Use Island Commuter Rides

Assemblyman Dan Frisa (15th A.D.) today encouraged commuter residents in the 15th Assembly District to take advantage of car-pooling and other services offered by Island Rides, Inc. A private, non-profit, ride-sharing agency, Island Rides provides a full range of ride-sharing and public transit commuting services for Nassau and Suffolk counties' employers and individual commuters.

"Here in the 15th Assembly district, commuting within and about Long Island is part of the work day for many residents," Frisa said. "Island Rides promotes and operates a wide range of services to assist commuters in forming or expanding carpools and vanpools, and helps them to effectively utilize existing public and private transportation services."

According to Frisa, Island Rides is New York state's only ride-sharing company. It is sponsored by the federal and state government, and by private corporations and foundations, and individuals on Long Island.

"Presently, more than 2,000 Long Island residents have utilized Island Rides' services," Frisa noted. "Fifteen vanpools and 120 carpools on the road, with 10 more carpools in the formation stage as well."

Frisa added that Island Rides uses a computer to identify persons with compatible homesites, worksites and work schedules. Car-poolers are then provided with a RIDEMATCH list, enabling them to form carpools. Persons in the vanpool are matched and organized, and then are able to commute to work in new, fully equipped and insured vans.

"All employers located within Nassau and Suffolk counties are eligible for Island Rides services," Frisa said. "Also, those persons who commute to work from, to, or within Nassau and Suffolk counties may take advantage of the RIDEMATCH services."

Further information may be obtained by contacting Island Rides at the Colonial Office Building, 150 Broadhollow Road, Suite 219, Melville, 11746; telephone (516) 421-1277.

Loans Help Nassau Students, D'Amato

During the last school year, 32,655 young men and women from Nassau County were able to pursue a higher education thanks to the federal government's backing through the Guaranteed Student Loan program.

This program is not to help the children of wealthy parents nor is it to completely foot the bill with no strings attached for someone's education. It is designed to give young persons from poor or working middle class families a chance they otherwise would not have.

Borrowing money is expensive and lending institutions are reluctant to lend it with a deferred payback to someone going to college. That's why the government has "guaranteed" these loans over the years.

I remember needing a loan from the old National Defense Student Loan program to help me pay my way through Syracuse University. That still wasn't enough - so I worked part-time as a janitor and spent my summers saving for the coming school year.

Things are still the same today. Many students work their way through college, saving every cent to meet their tuition, book, and dormitory bills. To these young men and women a guaranteed student loan is the difference between going or not going to college.

An investment in education today is an investment in the America of tomorrow. If this nation is to remain competitive in the world marketplace, we must not allow the price of a college education to escalate beyond the reach of those students with ability and potential.

Today the program is again under attack because some who have benefited from it have reneged on repayment of their loans. The responsibility for litigating default cases has rested with the U.S. Attorneys, but their resources are limited and rightly targeted on criminal cases and drug traffickers.

Uncollected student loans must be collected and that is why I have proposed letting private attorneys sue the defaulters for repayment. When the $2.1 billion in debt is collected, the job of those of us in Congress who defend this program for future generations will be that much easier.

The Long Island Fair Oct. 11-14

The Long Island Fair is returning to Old Bethpage Village Restoration, but this year there is a big difference.

The visitors of 1985 will be the first to attend the Fair while initial stages of reconstruction and replication of the 1866 Mineola Fairgrounds is in progress.

This step back into history is already authenticated by the completed new Business Office which was dedicated in a special ceremony September 22.

The Long Island Fair will take place over the Columbus Weekend, October 11 through the 14, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. each day.

On Saturday, at noon, October 12, an official cornerstone-laying ceremony for the Exhibition Building, led by Nassau County Executive Francis T. Purcell, will follow a gala parade.

Nassau Recreation and Parks Commissioner Abram C. Williams said that construction of the building, which will be the centerpiece of the Fairgrounds, has been made possible through a generous gift from Mrs. J. Alfred Valentine in memory of her late husband who was president of the Agricultural Society from 1938 to 1963.

Re-creation of the 1866 Fairgrounds at Old Bethpage Village Restoration is estimated to cost $1,200,000. The County of Nassau will contribute $600,000 while matching funds raised through private contributions of money or materials, will constitute the other half.

The establishment of permanent exhibition grounds for the Long Island Fair has been launched by the Agricultural Society of Queens, Nassau and Suffolk Counties in cooperation with the Friends for Long Island's Heritage and the Museum Division of the Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks.

angel is a spiritual creature without a body, created by God for the service of Christendom and the church.

Although angels at times assume a bodily form, more often than not they remain in their spiritual state. They are sometimes visible but most often invisible. They were created by God, created before He created man. They are neither male or female nor even human. They neither marry or reproduce. There are million of them. They have super-human power.

Unfortunately, some are devils. Satan and his cohorts are fallen angels who were cast out of heaven. Alone we are no match for them, for they too have super-human strength. While there is a host of devils trying to trip us up and lead us to hell, there are millions of God's special agents. His angels, ready to protect us along the way.

Now angels are not God, so we are not to worship them. But we should thank God for them for the help and protection they provide. Angels are yet another statement of God's love and concern for us, and for that we are most appreciative.

So this coming week as we do battle with temptation and the forces of darkness, as we travel around doing our daily routine, as we seek direction to serve the Lord, we will have company. The heavenly hosts will accompany us...leading, watching and protecting.

future and to make the world more livable."

Celnik had first-hand experience with World War II in Europe. Born in Poland a prosperous family of manufacturers, he lost his mother, two sisters, and a brother as victims of the Holocaust. (His father had died before the war.) Celnik, who holds a Doctor of Law degree from the University of Krakow, joined the underground and fought the Nazis for two years from a forest base near the Polish city of Wilno. He was the commander of a unit charged with blowing up German trains, destroying telephone lines, and mining the roads. As a partisan fighter from 1941 to 1944, he also was able to rescue Jews fleeing from the Nazis. Although he has no exact count, he estimates his group was responsible for saving thousands. His personal recollections have been recorded and placed in the archives of the Museum of Combatants and Partisans in Tel Aviv.

Something To Think About

VERN & BILL WAGNER
TWO GENERATIONS OF SERVICE

NOTIONS OF SUICIDE

Flirting with the notion of suicide is not at all unusual during bereavement. Fortunately, while the idea of suicide may occur to nearly everyone who has lost someone they loved very much, usually the thought does not persist.

It may be motivated by guilt, by loss of desire to live, or by a yearning to be with the deceased again. Many people feel all alone, they don't know where to turn for help; or, turning for help are met with meaningless platitudes, superficial conversation, and, maybe, a prescription for tranquilizers.

It's a terrible and potentially tragic situation, but it's not hopeless. Often, the support and concern of others can be critical in helping the bereaved recover. No one can replace the deceased in their lives, but other caring persons can help the bereaved eventually to realize the potential for joy and meaning from other sources.

THANK YOU ROGER LOBERTO! At the September meeting of the Plainview-Old Bethpage Road Runners Club, Roger Loberto was presented with a special plaque in honor of the "retirement" of his van after 275,000 miles. "Bessie" had been a mainstay of POBRRR relays and other road trips from Montauk to Mahopac, and the plaque was awarded to Roger in belated recognition of his kindness in making her available.

Center Stage For Salads

□ With the marriage of haute cuisine and healthy eating, sophisticated salads have become the centerpiece meals of the eighties.

"The lighter, healthier meal is the latest, and likely lasting, trend," reports Restaurants & Institutions, a trade publication.

The interest in eating better without losing taste has inspired a winning combination of salad ingredients for couples, families, and singles on the go.

In fact, the salad revolution has changed salads from a summer fancy to a meal for all seasons.

"The secret to a good salad is freshness and quality," says Fred Drath, owner of the Yummy Yogurt Cafe south of the Mid Island Mall on North Broadway in Hicksville.

The cafe, which specializes in a wide variety of "creative salads" and yogurt dishes, buys its produce from New York's Hunts Point Market, to assure freshness and consistent quality.

"Our staff arrives two hours early every morning to chop up chickens, vegetables, eggs, and other fresh ingredients that go into our salads," says Mr. Drath, a North Shore resident who has been in the food service field for 12 years.

Chicken salad, white-meat tuna salad, egg salad, and seafood salad remain the favorites at Yummy Yogurt Cafe (newly renamed to reflect its wide range of food offerings beyond the traditional Colombo yogurt it has been serving).

Fast becoming popular are the pasta primavera salad, the vegetarian chef salad, and chicken basil pasta with broccoli.

Mr. Drath says that some of the Yummy Yogurt Cafe's dishes are his own creations, while others are inspired by recipes from "boutique restaurants" similar to the cafe in the San Francisco and Washington DC areas—cafe-style eateries which offer sophisticated fare for lunch, light dinners, pre- or post-theater snacks.

Guiding the creation of the salads, says Mr. Drath, is his business philosophy of "giving premium value."

"We always use top quality products and produce," he says, "and all fresh ingredients. Our aim is to please customers who appreciate light, fresh food that's prepared and served with care and imagination." □

What To Do When You Lose Your Job

Losing a job is traumatic, whether it means loss of the entire family income or a second income upon which your family's standard of living depends. According to Barbara Patrick, Cooperative Extension Home Economist, there are things you can do to ease this crisis.

First, don't panic. Don't blame yourself or think the world has come to an end. Be careful not to blame your spouse for what has happened or take out your frustrations on your family. You can still control your financial situation if you plan carefully.

File a claim for unemployment insurance benefits right away. You may be eligible for assistance on food stamps.

Communication is a family affair. Analyze what is important, and, as a family, decide on a plan of action.

Don't ignore bills. Go to your creditors and explain your situation, and work with them to make adjustments.

Be prepared to change your standard of living, at least temporarily, so you don't give up essentials.

Veterans Urged To Record Discharge Papers

"Many veterans are not aware of the fact that they can have their discharge from military service recorded, free of charge, at the office of the County Clerk in his/her home county," according to Oyster Bay Town Councilman Howard T. Hogan, Jr.

"Under New York State law," Hogan said, "the veteran can have the discharge papers filed at the Nassau County Clerk's office and, after filing, the veteran, his dependents or survivors may obtain a copy any time it may be needed. Recording the discharge is especially important," Hogan continued, "since following the death of a veteran, the survivors must produce the veteran's discharge when applying for a variety of benefits."

Regardless of when a veteran was discharged or released from service, the official papers can be recorded.

"I urge every veteran who has not already done so, to record his discharge papers in order to avoid possible future problems should the papers be misplaced or lost," Hogan concluded.

Information regarding Veterans' Affairs may be obtained from the New York State Veterans' Counselor at 977 Hicksville Road, Massapequa, 798-5626, between the hours of 9 and 4:45 P.M. Monday through Thursday.

span 2, Erik Matz, John Lozina, Jason Kilmetis, Timmy Blind, Mike Kent and Andrew Turano.

Midland Civic Association News

By Gertrude Paul

Despite heat, rain, and vacation time, the Midland Civic Assoc. has been an active presence in the welfare of the homeowners in Northeast Hicksville throughout the summer. Eileen Richards, President, has held Executive Board Meetings in June, July, August and September and a great deal has been accomplished.

Vice-President Larry Weinstock and his committee re-wrote the old by-laws and new ones were adopted by the Board. An excellent job was done and will serve as our guide for years to come.

Plans for a "Neighborhood Watch" have been further developed, particularly since "crime" has been present in our community.

An organizational meeting is planned.

Our organization was very supportive of homeowners fighting the widening of Nevada St. At the Hearing at Town Hall, where the making of Jean-son St. and Rotary St. as only "Ingress" streets to Mid-Island Plaza was discussed. Members of our Association attended and Eileen Richards read a strong statement which had been drafted by Civic Chairman, Ellie Draycott. The resolution passed. Hopefully, this will so decrease traffic on Nevada

St. that it will obviate the State's need to widen it. The date for the change is Nov. 18.

Several meetings were devoted to the problem of class size at the Willet Ave. School and members came to give statements and argue for smaller classes in lower grades. Our organization is a "listening post" for vital community matters.

As you can see, each person is important! Your vote is also important in the upcoming elections. If you are not registered, please do so on Oct. 10th, between 1 PM and 9 PM and Oct. 12 from 12 noon to 9 PM at the Junior High School.

If you have not yet joined our vibrant organization, do it now. There is a fee of $10 per household - $8 for a Senior Citizen household. Send your fee to Midland Civic Assoc., 11 Primrose Ave., Hicksville, NY 11801. We need you all to keep us strong! Be counted!

Tour Of The Holy Land

The Rev. Domenic Ciannella, rector of the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, Hicksville, is leading a group of church members on a Tour of the Holy Land. Leaving Tuesday, October 8 they will be returning Friday, October 18, journeying on Sabena Air Lines. The Tour will include primary Biblical sights in Israel, where they will visit for one week, two days in Athens, Greece and one day in Brussels, Belgium. Already, plans are being made for next years journey and interested persons are invited to discuss these plans with Father Ciannella.

The recent celebration of Father Ciannella is 40th anniversary of ordination to the priesthood in The Episcopal Church was a gala event, and he expresses his appreciation to the members of the community who shared this event with him and joined in the presentation of a most generous purse.

Learn About Feeding The Birds

As the temperature plummets and the birds of summer migrate to warmer climates, birds that spend the winter here must find food. Visitors are invited to learn more about "Feeding the Birds" in a special all-day nature workshop at Muttontown Preserve on Saturday, October 19, from 10 A.M. to 4 P.M.

Nassau Recreation and Parks Commissioner Abram C. Williams said that the workshop will start with a two-hour nature walk where participants will learn to identify some common winter residents and their naturally available sources of food in the preserve.

The afternoon session will cover such topics as food preferences of certain birds, bird seed, plantings to attract birds and other wildlife and different types of feeders. Participants will learn how to make simple feeders using recycled materials and they should bring along a clean plastic large soda bottle.

Visitors are invited to bring along a lunch and eat on the scenic grounds of the preserve.

The program is free but advance registration is required.

Muttontown Preserve is located on Muttontown Lane in East Norwich and can be contacted for further information by calling 922-3123.

Pastel Demonstration

On Monday, October 7, at 7:30 P.M., in the Hicksville Library, 169 Jerusalem Avenue, the Independent Art Society will proudly feature a demonstration in pastels by one of its most beloved and accomplished members, Elizabeth Horn- ing. A prize winning painter in several media, and an instructor in the arts for many years, Liz will share her approach to pastels with members and the interested public.

"Feel free to join us for the program and refreshments," a spokesperson for the Society urged.

DEVOTIONS

The Rev. John G. Paton, a missionary in the New Hebrides Islands, tells a thrilling story involving the protective care of angels. Hostile natives surrounded one night, intent on burning the Patons out and killing them. John Paton and his wife prayed all during that terror-filled night that God would deliver them. When daylight came they were amazed to see the attackers unaccountably leave. They thanked God for delivering them.

A year later, the chief of the tribe was converted to Jesus Christ. Mr. Paton, remembering what had happened, asked the chief what had kept him and his men from burning down the house and killing them. The chief replied in surprise, "Who were all those men you had with you there?" The missionary answered, "There were no men there; just my wife and I." The chief argued that they had seen many men standing guard, hundreds of big men in shining garment with drawn swords in their hands. They seemed to circle the mission station so that the natives were afraid to attack. Only then did Mr. Paton realize that God had sent His angels to protect them.

Who has not thrilled to read the account of the three Hebrew children, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego? They refused to fall in tune with the music of obeisance and worship to the king of Babylon. After they had refused to bow, and were thrown into a furnace, the angel preserved them from being burned alive or even having the smell of smoke on their garments. The angel came to them in the midst of the flame without harm.

In over three-hundred places in the Bible we read about angels. Their presence and reality is indisputable. Their importance is uncontestable. There is rarely a significant event that occurs in scripture without an angel present.

"But just what is an angel," you might be asking. Luther's definition is "An

Safe School Week, Oct. 20-26

Assemblyman Dan Frisa (15th A.D.) announced that Oct. 20 to 26 has been declared American's Safe School Week, and the 1985-86 school year as America's Year of School Safety and Student Attendance.

According to Frisa, a member of the Assembly Republican Task Force on Missing Children, Safe School Week is a project of the National School Safety Center (NSSC) in order to heighten the awareness of students, parents, educators and law enforcement personnel for the need and benefit of increased safety practices.

"I applaud projects such as this for their dedication to the well being of our children who spend a large portion of the day at school," Frisa said. "Through events such as Safe School Week, positive steps are being taken to create an environment that will eventually assist students to receive more out of their primary and secondary educations."

"NSSC suggests that the document be written by the school's student council president and the school principal. It should then be forwarded to NSSC," Frisa said.

"I sincerely hope that schools in the 15th A.D. will take the time to participate in this worthwhile cause. And I look forward to meeting with local PTA's over the next few months to discuss a particular aspect of school safety — protection against child abductions," Frisa said.

Victim Rights Group Gain Ground

A Maryland mother whose daughter was raped and murdered in 1982 has made the courtroom consideration of victims' rights and the prosecution of assailants more likely across the country.

Stephanie Roper was shot to death in a suburban Maryland community; her assailants were picked up hours after the discovery of her body. As the September Reader's Digest reports, her parents understood immediately the importance of a water-tight conviction. "Don't do anything to violate their rights," her father told the arresting detectives. "We want them brought to justice."

The courtroom held surprises for the Ropers. While one defendant's former teacher and his prison minister were permitted to speak on his behalf, the judge ruled that Stephanie's character and her parents' grief were legally irrelevant. Further, the jury was permitted to find "mitigating" factors in determining sentence, including consideration of the guilty man's consumption of drugs and alcohol and the despair his execution would cause his family. The sentences both men received were light.

Roberta Roper convened the Stephanie Roper Committee to draw up a list of needed legislative reforms. They included the need to eliminate voluntary intoxication as a mitigating circumstance, to force courts to consider "victim-impact statements" and to make life sentence without parole an alternative for a convicted murderer.

She traveled the state, drumming up signatures and support before she confronted the Maryland General Assembly. And when she did testify before a joint General Assembly hearing, she brought with her 24 boxes of supporting petitions signed by more than 90,000 Marylanders. By the time the General Assembly adjourned that session, three Roper bills had passed and were subsequently signed into law.

"Now Roberta turned the attention of her growing, 7000-member organization toward the courtroom," The Digest article continues. "To make sure the courts were following the new laws and to provide support for victims' families, Roper Committee members wearing 'I am a Victim' buttons began attending murder trials."

The Roper Committee — now one of the largest victim-rights groups in the United States — continues to make an impact. Three additional laws it originally drafted became Maryland state law as of July 1, 1985. Victims of violent crimes or their families can now request notification of parole hearings and decisions and can file updated impact statements. Judges need no longer sequester victims of violent crimes after they testify and may prohibit the release of a victim's or witness's address and telephone number during a criminal trial.

Kathy Russo of Hicksville, Senior Account Executive at Greenstone & Rabasca in Melville, Jon Plet (Plainedge) of Panafax in Melville, and Howard Kent (Massapequa), of Greenstone & Rabasca, received Buyer's Best Awards and Certificates of Merit from the Long Island Chapter of the Business/Professional Advertising Association in its Second Annual Buyer's Best Competition for business-to-business advertising by or for Long Island companies.

Greenstone & Rabasca Advertising Inc. and its clients won three Buyer's Best Awards (first place in three categories) and five Certificates of Merit. The winners were chosen from 132 entries and received their awards at a gala dinner in August.

Holocaust Memorial Committee Of LI To Receive $100,000 Gift

Philanthropist Natan Celnik of Long Beach has donated $500,000 worth of Meissen porcelains to be auctioned off by Christie's, New York, on Tuesday, October 8, with the first $100,000 to go to the Holocaust Memorial Committee of Long Island to help establish a Holocaust monument in Long Beach.

Celnik, who has lived in Long Beach for 20 years, will give the rest of the proceeds to the Long Beach Hospital. He has been the exclusive importer of Meissen and Dresden porcelain in the United States for more than 30 years. The fine porcelains to be auctioned are hand-made and hand-painted in Germany. The exact pieces will be selected from over two million samples in his Manhattan wholesale showroom. The auction starts at 10 A.M. at Christie's, 219 East 67th Street.

"This will be the biggest gift yet to the Holocaust Memorial Committee in the two years since the drive for funds began," said Assemblyman Arthur J. Kremer, a member of the committee. "The goal of the group is to raise $200,000 so the memorial can be built in front of the Long Beach City Hall. It will be Long Island's first Holocaust memorial built on public, rather than private, property."

The design for the memorial has already been selected, according to Dr. Stanley Robbin, who heads the committee. It will be of black granite and its four sides will depict scenes of real people who tried to rescue others from the Holocaust.

Celnik, along with his wife Feiga (Ursula), who died last December, are well known benefactors of many charities. The Celniks annually sent a $70,000 ambulance to Israel's Red Magen David, the equivalent of the American Red Cross. Hadassah, the Metropolitan Opera, the Vivian Beaumont Theater, and the Smithsonian Institute have also enjoyed their financial support. Long Beach Hospital recently received a $1 million donation.

Now in the process of liquidating his import business, the 75-year-old Celnik is arranging to donate his personal collection of antique porcelains, valued at $10 million, to the Haifa Museum in Israel. The group of Meissen porcelains which Christie's will auction includes fanciful figures from Greek mythology, military statues, French court scenes, lamps, plates, mirrors, novelty pieces such as a $21,000 set of chessmen, and elaborate candelabra painted with flowers and birds.

Celnik explained his gift to the Holocaust Memorial by saying, "The memorial is the only way people can know what happened. It is good to show the heroes who gave their lives for the

Benefit Concert

The Bob Hope/Debbie Reynolds Concert at Westbury Music Fair - Their only New York appearance this year - will be the scene of a gala evening for the benefit of Nassau Children's House and Hope for Youth. These two agencies have served long Island and its "Lost Children" for more than 100 years.

Distinguished members of the Honorary Benefit Committee include: U.S. Senator Alfonse D'Amato, Nassau County Executive Francis Purcell.

Congressmen Robert Mrazek and Norman Lent; presiding supervisor of Hempstead Thomas Gulotta, State Senators Michael Tully and Norman Levy, and Assemblypersons Barbara Patton, Fred Parola, May Newburger, and Arthur Kremer.

Co-Chairpersons for the evening are Herbert M. Myers, V.P. Citibank, Adelaide Attard, Commissioner, Nassau County Department of Senior Citizens, and John Cook, owner, McCluskey's Restaurant.

The benefit will take place on Saturday evening, October 5, 1985, 8:00 P.M. You can order tickets by calling (516) 746-0350. A tax deductible donation of $125 per person includes a pre-concert reception at the legendary Oheka Castle overlooking Long Island Sound in Cold Springs Hills made possible by Gary Melius, a prominent Long Island developer. The castle was built in 1921 by Otto Kahn and was the second largest personal residence in the United States at the time. The celebrated "Castle" was the scene of many parties where people such as the Morgans, Vanderbilts and Whitneys danced into the night. Also, it was in the library/music room that Enrico Caruso sang and Arturo Toscanini conducted.

Open Juried Art Show

The Independent Art Society proudly invites your attendance and/or participation in our Tenth Annual Open Juried Show to hang in the community rooms of the Hicksville Library, 169 Jerusalem Avenue, from Sunday, November 3 through Sunday November 17. A gala reception will accompany the awarding of prizes on opening day from 3 to 5 P.M.

As always, this will be a multi-faceted exhibit including sculpture, collage, and mixed media works as well as paintings. A prospectus may be obtained from the library (931-1417) by mail or in person. Art works will be received on Friday, October 25 from 10 AM to 1 PM and from 6 to 9 PM.

Chairperson Ann Zeif and Co-Chair Norma Dagna are pleased to announce that Richard Vaux, renowned award-winning painter, and Professor of Art at Adelphi listed in several editions of "Who's Who," has consented to serve as judge along with his distinguished colleague, noted sculptor, Thomas McNulty, who also teaches at Adelphi and exhibits and lectures widely.

Accepted works will be critiqued at the IAS meeting on Monday, November 4, at 7:30 P.M. Everyone interested is cordially invited to join us for this review and refreshments.

Hicksville Library News

The Hicksville Public Library has purchased equipment to assist the hard of hearing to enjoy the concerts, lectures, discussions and films offered in the library auditorium.

Funded in part by the Auditory Assistance Equipment Grant from the Nassau Library System, this new service includes a small pocket-size transmitter and a battery-operated receiver (about the size of a bar of soap) and a lightweight, foam-cushioned pair of headphones that are used by the listener. The receiver, which weighs in at a scant four ounces, is contained in a soft leather pouch which may be clipped onto a belt or handbag or simply held in one's lap. The thin, flexible headband is easily adjustable to head size or hairdo. Produced by COM-TEK, this auditory assistance equipment allows each listener to sit anywhere in an audience within a 200 to 500-foot range of the speaker/performer with personal control over the volume of sound in his or her receiver. There are no wires, no visible connections with the speaker's microphone or transmitter. The set enables the user to enjoy high fidelity reception without distracting room reverberation and background noise. As one first-time user described the experience, "You can actually create your own peaceful little world of sound."

In announcing this unique outreach service, Library Director Kenneth S. Barnes said, "For years, libraries have been concerned with the sight problems of patrons and have been able to offer a variety of reading materials in Large Type and in recorded 'Talking Books' format. Today, we, in Nassau County, are able to extend library service to more people and in an additional sense...through the very real sense of hearing."

For further information about COM-TEK auditory assistance equipment, please contact Ms. Suzanne Welker at the Hicksville Public Library.

In our video cassette collection, now numbering nearly 300, we have a number of close-captioned films that are usable for persons with a hearing impairment. The user must purchase a caption decoder or a television with built in closed caption capability. If you have a hearing problem and wish to know what is available, you can visit the library or call us at 931-1417 for information
